ROTARIANS ENDORSE THE LONE STAR TRAIL PROJECT

At its regular weekly luncheon the Rotary Club heard a talk by Mr. J. M. Hughes, who is here in the interest of the Lone Star Trail project, and gave hearty endorsement thereto. It was decided to join with the Chamber of Commerce in an effort to put over this important work, and there is little doubt that Mr. Hughes will be given all the assistance it is possible for our people to render.

Among the other guests were Messrs. W. G. Winter, division commercial superintendent of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company; G. B. Bell, district manager of the same company; Rev. Jephtha Swan, former rector of the Episcopal church here; and Mr. Tom Cleveland, member of the Beaumont Rotary Club and an always-welcome visitor.

Mr. Claude Hazle favored with a beautifully rendered solo, and the usual music by Smith's Novelty Orchestra delighted those present.

HURT IN FOOTBALL GAME, OPERATED ON MONDAY

Bernard ("Cotton") Olds, tackle on Nacogdoches High School football team last season and who is playing center on the "Lumberjacks" of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers' College, was operated on at the Nacogdoches Hospital Monday morning for the removal of a blood clot on the brain. The young man was injured Friday afternoon in the game between the "Lumberjacks" and South Park Junior College of Beaumont. Doctors Nelson and Samuels, attending physicians, state that while the young man's condition is serious, it is not critical, and that his recovery should be rapid.

Harvard is providing a course for freshmen in which they will be taught how to think and to express themselves effectively. If the course is successful Harvard can abolish all the rest and still be a great university.

MRS. R. B. WALTHALL DIES AT HER AUSTIN HOME

Austin, Texas, Oct. 16.—Mrs. R. B. Walthall, wife of R. B. Walthall, chief supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, died Tuesday morning following an operation last Friday for appendicitis. The body was sent to Garrison, Nacogdoches county, for burial. Mr. and Mrs. Walthall came to Austin in January, 1921, when Walthall became private secretary to Governor Neff.

The state departments were closed for two hours Tuesday out of respect.

1923 CHRISTMAS SEALS

Austin, Texas, Oct. 17.—Six hundred and thirty six miles of tuberculosis Christmas seals for the 16th annual seal sale in Texas have been received by the Texas Public Health Association and its local associations.

Texas' quota this year is 40,300,000 seals. The seals are one inch long. If placed end to end they would reach from Denison to San Antonio following the Katy tracks and from there to Houston following the S. A. & A. P. tracks. Although the seals sell for only one cent each, the amount of good that they can accomplish is tremendous. The seals make possible health educational work, clinics, children's camps, nursing, health lectures and demonstrations, the Modern Health Crusade, etc.

The seals this year show a small child seated before a fireplace and the smoke of the fire forms a picture of Santa Claus. The words "Merry Christmas 1923" appear at the top and the double barred cross, the emblem of the nation-wide fight against tuberculosis, is at the sides.

Accompanied only by her three young children, Mrs. Thomas D. Schall, wife of the blind congressman, recently drove her own car from Washington, D. C., to her home in Minnesota.

THOUSANDS ARE HOMELESS IN OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 16.—Staggered by the greatest flood in the history of the state and virtually isolated by rail and highway, Oklahoma City tonight sheltered her little army of refugees and waited for the muddy, turbulent expanse of the North Canadian river to recede and reveal the damage it has wrought.

Although the river had fallen approximately two feet from the 25-foot crest that swept down on the city at 5 o'clock this morning the swift rush of the waters was still swirling through the streets heretofore immune from the ravages of the fitful stream.

More than 2,000 of the 15,000 persons who fled before the onrush of the water were still homeless tonight. They are quartered in halls and churches throughout the city. The remainder of the host had returned to their homes by means of vehicles that passed, often hub deep, through streets still filled with backwater.

Death List Now Two

The known death list stood at two, but city officials and members of rescue crews declared it probably would be greater when the receding waters make possible a thorough search of the flooded areas.

The dead thus far known are Mrs. R. H. Loose and her daughter, Clara, eight years old, who were drowned when a boat in which they attempted to gain land, after tarrying in an effort to save their personal effects, had capsized. Loose and another daughter, Bessie, 10 years old, were rescued from the top of a large tree into which they had climbed when the boat went over. They had been there 12 hours when a skiff driven by two intrepid oarsmen finally nosed its way among the trees in the park and brought them to safety. Loose was taken to a hospital where his condition was pronounced serious as a result of exposure.

Rescue squads were still working at top speed tonight. A negro family brought to land over more than a mile of racing waters told their rescuers that at least 75 other negroes were marooned on the brow of a hill, the only unsubmerged spot on what had been a negro settlement. They were reported without food or water and efforts were being continued to bring them to safety.

Flood is Subsiding

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 17.—Oklahoma, emerging today from the most disastrous flood in the history of the state, set about relief and reconstruction measures. With thousands homeless and two known dead in Oklahoma City, millions of property laid waste, railroad traffic paralyzed and public utility service demoralized, the flood waters were rapidly receding and most of the refugees returning to their homes. It is estimated that not more than 1,000 are now under the care of relief agencies.

(Jack Reavley, Nacogdoches' radio fan, picked up a message Wednesday morning to the effect that more than 150 houses were damaged, 100 city blocks were under water and 15,000 people were driven from their homes in the flood at Oklahoma City.)

GOVERNORS IN SESSION

West Baden, Ind., Oct. 17.—Governors and executive representatives from 37 states and territories, including Governor Neff of Texas, came here today for the annual conference of governors. Prohibition enforcement, taxation, agriculture, uniform legislation, water power development and railroad valuation were the principal subjects considered.

QUIET IN RIOT DISTRICTS

Berlin, Oct. 17.—City authorities have announced the immediate opening of 14 feeding kitchens for the distribution of free meals and free allowances of wood and coal to aid the unemployed. The districts where food rioting occurred yesterday were quiet today, following the announcement of relief measures.

The multiplicity of aspirants indicates widespread credence in the kindergarten bromide that every man has a chance to be president.

More than 100 different industries now depend upon cold storage in greater or lesser degree.

TODAY IS ANNIVERSARY OF JOHN BROWN'S RAID

Washington, Oct. 16.—Sixty-four years ago today the entire nation was aroused by the news that John Brown had captured the arsenal at Harper's Ferry. The following day United States Marines, under the command of Colonel Robert E. Lee, captured the raider, who was afterward tried, convicted and hanged. Despite the insignificance of this event, it led to tremendous consequences. Like the assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand provoked the European conflict, so the Harper's Ferry affair fanned the smoldering spark of public sentiment into the flame of the Civil War.

COMMANDER OUSLEY WANTS LIMITATION OR PREPAREDNESS

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 17.—Problems of organization policy, athletic contests, sight-seeing tours and an elaborate aerial program vied with each other for attention of delegates to the convention of the American Legion today.

Alvin Ousley, national commander, in an address at a banquet, declared that military safety for the United States can only be assured through real limitation of armaments or the assembling of the most powerful fleet of airplanes the world has ever known, combined with adequate land and sea forces.

YANKS ARE CHAMPIONS

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 15.—The New York Yankees are the kings of the baseball universe for 1923. Coming from behind in the eighth inning, when defeat seemed certain, the American League champions crushed McGraw's last pitching ace, Art Neff, and scored five runs. The final score was 6 to 4.

In the three previous games the Yankees had won, brute force was the deciding factor; but today Manager Miller Huggins, emulating Manager John McGraw of the Giants, mixed in some strategy and so bewildered Arthur Neff that the giant southpaw went completely to pieces and the game was lost.

Huggins threw in two pinch hitters and two extra runners in the decisive eighth inning, and the Yankees scored five runs on two hits, three bases on balls, and a third hit helped along by the error of Cunningham, Giant outfielder, who overthrew the plate in trying to get a runner.

Yanks Bat Around

Neff had pitched wonderful baseball, allowing only two hits and striking out two men. He was given brilliant support by the Frisch infield, particularly by Frank Frisch, "the Fordham flash," who made three brilliant features of fielding.

Frisch also distinguished himself at the bat, making three consecutive hits and scoring two runs.

The Giants went to the field in the eighth inning with the game on ice. They had rolled up a lead of three runs, one of them a home run by Frank Snyder, in the fifth inning, that matched the circuit clout that Babe Ruth made in the first inning.

But in the eighth the Yankees batted all around, the second time in the series that "murderers row" has accomplished this feat.

It was the first time that a New York American League team had won the world series. The loss of the game was a severe one to Manager McGraw.

Colonel Jacob Ruppert, now the sole owner of the Yankees, was seized by the crowd after the game and police had to make a way for him out of the stands. The colonel, who has spent a fortune and made another one in building up the Yankees, was all smiles.

BAIL FOR CHEROKEE MAN

Austin, Texas, Oct. 17.—Bail in the sum of $10,000 was granted by the Court of Criminal Appeals today to Jeff Hicks, held in jail in Cherokee county on a charge of killing Ocie Payne. Hicks shot Payne, it was charged, as the result of a quarrel.

The state's motion for a rehearing in the case of Luther Collins, a Harris county negro given the death sentence on a charge of criminal assault, was denied by the court. The conviction was recently reversed and the case sent back for a new trial.

Holland exports $55,000,000 worth of dairy products a year.

WORTH MORE THAN THE WHEAT CROP

Dallas News. From Chicago comes the news that the American hen contributed more to our national wealth last year than the wheat crop did. Four years of chickens and eggs in the United States now would more than pay for the cost of prosecuting the entire Civil War. The poultry crop in this country is now well up into the billion dollar class. We are going to have to revise some of our notions about it. On the farm "butter-and-eggs money" used to mean what pin money does in town. Throughout the Southwest "chicken money" means petty change. But a billion dollar crop is different.

It is time we gave more attention to the hen and to attempts to make her a more efficient bird. Chicken fanciers are going ahead with it, but of course they have ends of their own which do not necessarily show up on the consumer's table or the producer's ledger. It makes a big difference in chicken-judging contests whether the tail feathers are all "just so," though a industrious hen with defective show plumage may deliver more eggs in the trap nest than the sleek and lazy bird with splendid appearance. But even at that it is marvelous just how a genuine judge of hens can pick out from a flock the ones that are earning their way and leave the ones who are merely boarding at their owner's expense.

With a demonstration or two in poultry management here and an article or two there, by the word of county demonstration agents and the example of intelligent poultrymen through chicken clubs and associations, the knowledge of the hen and her possibilities has spread throughout the land. Perhaps in no other sort of farm production has the value of breeding and care so abundantly justified itself as in the raising of poultry. The justification of it is in the size of the yield. A billion dollars' worth of chickens and eggs means something. It means an industry of unsuspected importance and magnitude which promises still greater things, if properly encouraged.

LAST CALL ISSUED FOR RESERVE OFFICERS

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 16.—The last call for former officers of the United States Army to affiliate with the Officers Reserve Corps without examination has been made for the Eighth Corps Area, United States Army.

According to government regulations as at present, all former commissioned officers who wish commissions in the Officers Reserve Corps must place their applications before November 11th, 1923. After that date the applicant must take a regular army examination, providing there is a vacancy which he wishes to fill. All reserve officers are eligible to promotion after three years service.

To be a member of the Officers Reserve Corps carries no obligation of any kind, the reserve being called out only in cases of national emergency. Attendance on summer training camps is also optional. Any man who served as an enlisted man in the world war is eligible to take the examination for a commission in the reserve.

For application blank or further information, address Major William Noble, Box 1213, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

WOMAN AUTO RACER DIES BENEATH SPEEDING CAR

Beaumont, Texas, Oct. 16.—Mrs. Numa Wesson, 29 years old, was almost instantly killed Sunday afternoon when her racing car overturned on the Beaumont Speedway while traveling about 65 miles an hour.

She was running last in a race for women drivers at the time of the accident. Her mechanic, R. C. Adams, who was in the machine with her, was badly injured.

RURAL CARRIER CHARGED WITH KILLING POSTMASTER

Center, Texas, Oct. 17.—Calvin Boles, rural mail carrier of Choice, Texas, seven miles from Center, shot and instantly killed Bill Cook, postmaster at Choice, Tuesday morning, according to a report here. The cause of the shooting is not known. Officers have gone to the scene of the shooting to make an investigation.

SAYS LEGION STRADDLES OVER KU KLUX KLAN

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 16.—Charles Kendrick, San Francisco business man, past national vice commander of the American Legion, bitterly scored the legion's policy on the bonus and what he called the "straddling" of the Ku Klux Klan question and spoke warmly of its continued loss of membership in a caucus here yesterday which was presided over by Hanford J. MacNider, past national commander of the legion.

Kendrick, who was loudly applauded by the legion men present, said he realized that he was courting his own destruction as a legion leader, but added that his personal prestige was secondary to the welfare of the national organization.

Kendrick has been mentioned as a strong possibility for national commander at the fifth annual convention of the American Legion, which opened here yesterday.

The legion has been steadily losing member since 1920, Kendrick told the caucus members and during the past year the loss was approximately 68,000. The total membership today, he said, is about 625,000, or 1 1/2 percent of the total service men in the country.

"This indicates that something is radically wrong with the organization, or else with the things the organization has been trying to do," he said. "It is evident that the things the legion has been doing for the last three years do not greatly interest its members. It is possible also that the plan of organization, or its operation, is such as to forfeit the continued interest of its members."

A radical change is necessary in the organization and its operation and a different type of activity must be undertaken by the legion if it is going to hold the enthusiasm of its membership, Mr. Kendrick declared.

DENOMINATIONAL AFFILIATIONS OF C. L. A. STUDENTS

Denton, Texas, Oct. 17.—From a religious census taken at the College of Industrial Arts last week, it was found that only eighteen girls out of an enrollment of more than fifteen hundred are without church preference. Of the church members, there are between 500 and 600 Methodists, between 300 and 400 Baptists, over 250 Presbyterians, 150 Christians, 75 Episcopalians, 50 from the Church of Christ, 26 Catholics, 15 Lutherans, 15 Christian Scientists, nine of Jewish faith and five Congregationalists.

Students at the college are being encouraged to take a more active interest than ever this year in religious activities. This work is being carried on under the direction of Miss Estella G. Hefley, dean of women and director of the Christian Association.

Denominational group meetings were held at the College last Friday. Friendship committees of townspeople met with each group. These committees strove to become better acquainted with each girl student present and to interest her in some particular phase of church activity.

KU KLUX BILL IS TABLED BY LEGISLATURE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 16.—A resolution introduced in the lower house of the legislature yesterday afternoon calling for an investigation of all house members to determine whether they belonged to the Ku Klux Klan, was tabled after three minutes' discussion. Suspension of the rules was necessary to expedite the action. The house was in session only 29 minutes.

The resolution was introduced by E. P. White of DeMa, Bryan county. It declared the klan violates the constitutional guarantee of religious liberty and provided for the expulsion from the house of all members found to belong to the organization.

The senate did not have a quorum and no session was held.

The house will not meet again until Wednesday.

Meanwhile the house investigation and impeachment committee continued its investigation today.

Among the witnesses summoned were employees of Governor J. C. Walton's office.

King Alfonso is said to have been able to discharge an overdue debt for jewels by going to Deauville and staying a month. His presence there drew "easy marks." It must be great to be a king.

LIQUOR CHALLENGES A STATE

Houston Chronicle.

Chronicle specials advise the public that the liquor sellers and those allied with that business in Pennsylvania scorn to resort to the mountains and gorges and other hiding places, or to put up secret hooch stills, or employ the intermediation of a bootlegger to get and sell liquor.

They buy it in the open market and sell it in open barrooms, with the white-jacketed barkeeper, the brass footrail and all the aforesaid accessories.

Their response to the warning of the government that violation of the law would not be tolerated, and the warning of the federal authorities that the injunction processes of those courts would be employed, was to throw open the doors of their saloons and in effect say: "Now what are you going to do about it?"

Liquor and lawlessness have always been synonymous and convertible terms, but The Chronicle recalls no instance before when it has openly, boldly and defiantly through the gauntlet in the face of a sovereign state and challenged it to battle.

The issue is squarely joined and every state is interested in the result. Good men may and do differ about prohibition as a policy and about the Volstead law; but there can be no difference between good citizens upon the question whether liquor or the law shall prevail anywhere. That question is not debatable. There is no room for its discussion in a land where the people rule.

When by constitutional and orderly proceeding the people of this nation have declared that liquor shall not be sold, that action foreclosed discussion. The action of liquor in Pennsylvania foreshadows what conditions would be if the enemies of the Volstead law could achieve their desires.

CAN'T SOLVE PROBLEM BY JOKING ABOUT IT

"The cruelest and most unfair thing we know about," says the Southern Telephone News, "is the habit of joke comedians, just for the sake of getting a laugh, to harp continually on the idea that all telephone service is slow and careless and that the operators are indifferent and rather prefer giving the wrong numbers."

Of such jokes a banker of Dallas, Texas, writing in a banking publication, made this pertinent and illuminating comment:

"Many of us have fallen into the error of complaining of the telephone service, because it seems to be faddish. Let a man or woman use the telephone 99 times and get perfect service and then on the hundredth attempt fail to get service and the telephone is condemned in nine languages, eight of which are never seen in print. "We call a man on the other side of town, the other side of the state or the other side of the world and talk to him. In doing so we are using equipment that cost many millions of dollars; we have two, five or twenty persons working for us to complete the call; we have an army of hundreds of thousands back of the call, keeping the equipment in such shape as to make our call possible. "If we enter a department store or a bank and find the place crowded we line up to wait our turn, and think nothing about it, but when we pick up the telephone, regardless of the 'rush hour,' we expect to get instant service.

"The jokesmith who hangs his humor on the telephone does the telephone company a great injustice, but the greatest injury is to the public, for he encourages premature opinions and superficial thinking. "No great problem is ever solved until the public gives it serious thought."

IT CAN'T BE DID

The Nacogdoches Sentinel has never been hostile to labor organizations seeking to better industrial and economic conditions of the working class, but it has this to say:

In two years since the railroads went out from under government operation they have constantly increased in efficiency and are today handling a larger tonnage with fewer men.

In building trades of the east, labor unions have adopted policy of forcing employment of largest number of men as possible and "laying as few bricks as possible."

That policy is contrary to honesty in employment or production and as a general policy of labor organizations will defeat the ends of industrial justice and "It can't be did." It is not the law of life and civility.

SHRINERS CARE FOR CRIPPLED CHILDREN

One of the most beautiful scenic spots in America is the site on which stands the famous Mosque of the Moslah Shrine. Like a gigantic guard on a high bluff overlooking beautiful Lake Worth, this proud edifice rears its head to the skies as a signal to Shriners throughout the entire Southland to come to the Moslah playground and enjoy a day or a week of rest and recreation. The bluffs on the shore line of Lake Worth where the Mosque is situated rise almost perpendicularly a 100 feet or more from the water's edge and are thickly thatched and carpeted with trees, shrubs and foliage, affording a setting of beauty unsurpassed.

Indeed it is doubtful if there is another Shrine feature in the whole United States that affords as much real enjoyment to Shriners and their friends as the Mosque at Lake Worth and the continued and rapid increase of its popularity shows that visitors are passing the word along of the royal entertainment afforded by Nobles of the Moslah Shrine to Fort Worth visitors.

An Imposing Structure.

The Mosque itself is a most imposing and beautiful structure, designed along semi-Arabic lines; massive, yet graceful in contour; commodious and luxurious in interior fittings and decorations it is truly "a thing of beauty and a joy forever." Ample sleeping and dining accommodations are afforded for 100 guests at a time. Large open air sleeping porches; cool cafe where good home-like service is given; a great home-like living room in which comfort is maintained; a large music room and a ball room in which the largest dance floor in the Southwest affords ample room for 1,000 couples are some of the features of this ideal Shriners' week-end retreat. To those who know the Moslah Mosque the vacation problem possesses no difficulties for a day, week or a month may be most enjoyably spent among these delightful environs.

Recreation Features.

Fishing, bathing, boating, tennis, motoring, hiking and dancing are sports the Mosque affords outdoor enthusiasts, while beautiful broad piazzas and great comfortable living room offer quiet and rest to those of more sedentary habits; but white a popular idea exists and to a great extent justly so, that the Shrine is the playground of Masonry, still those who have trekked across the blazing sands and donned the emblematic fez wisely mix the serious problems of life with their fun, and, while enjoying the many pleasures afforded by this branch of Masonry the Shriners are thinking of those unfortunates in the world whose outlook on life gives them little to hope for.

LABOR CONDITION UNBALANCED

Certain classes of labor have been receiving the main benefits of the era of prosperity which has been prevailing, and this is reflected in higher manufacturing costs and unnecessarily higher freight rates, both of which tremendously affect the farming classes.

The situation is manifestly unbalanced when the average farmer working an entire season produces, say, twenty bushels of wheat or corn per acre for which he obtains, say, 85 cents per bushel, or $17 gross for a year, in contrast to a plasterer who receives $12 to $18 net for a single day's work, or the auto mechanic who receives $1 to $1.25 per hour.

German doctors now recommend a "substantial breakfast." The idea won't appeal to the woman who extends to her husband the privilege of "getting his own."

One of the grandest philanthropic and humanitarian works ever attempted has been inaugurated by the Shriners throughout the jurisdiction of North America. This work consists of the caring for crippled children and it is to the great credit of the Nobles of North America that such a splendid work has been undertaken. The plan has not only been inaugurated, but it is well under way and already two of these hospitals have been completed and are performing their work of mercy. The results already accomplished and being accomplished in the two hospitals now in operation will furnish a foretaste of the tremendous benefits which are to flow from this movement when its dozen or more hospitals are in full operation and the trustees state that they believe results will surpass the most enthusiastic Nobles as the benefit to the nation in the way of rescued wrecks of humanity converted into health producing instrumentalities, dawn upon the realization of those who see beyond the immediate effect upon the individual.

Hospitals are being allocated to points where the largest practical service can be rendered and the work of completion is being rushed with all possible speed.

Building Twelve Additions.

All told, twelve hospitals have been decided upon and the points at which these official Shrine hospitals for crippled children, which are being built and are to be supported through the assessment of every Shriner in North America at the rate of $2.00 per man, are to be located are: St. Louis, Montreal, Portland, San Francisco, Shreveport, Minneapolis, St. Paul (twin cities), Chicago, Rocky Mountain district, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the New England states, while one mobile unit is maintained which is now operating in Hawaii. Some of these hospitals are now under construction, some are yet to be started, but the Shreveport and the Twin Cities' hospitals are completed. The Twin Cities' hospital having been dedicated April 14, 1923, and up to May 1, 1923, reports that 35 boys and 28 girls have been received as hospital patients; 33 operations performed, 16 with casts and one a major operation. The hospital was completed at a cost of over $320,000.00. The Shreveport Hospital at a cost of $295,000.00, was dedicated April 20, 1923, and up to this time there have been more than 300 patients examined and 150 accepted for treatment while more than 60 have been discharged as cured or permanently improved.

It is such great works as these that endear the heart to the wonderful systems of fraternal organizations of the country and prove that "brotherly love" is still the golden rule that rules the world.

U. S. POPULATION TO DOUBLE

Our nation has just passed its three hundredth birthday, an infant compared with other nations of the earth. In 1790, when our first census was taken, we boasted of less than 3,000,000 people; in 1820, at the close of our second century, we had less than 10,000,000 population. In the century just passed we have increased almost 100,000,000 as against the 10,000,000 for the entire two centuries before. Statisticians have estimated that our population at the close of the present century should be more than 220,000,000.—McClure's Magazine for October.

Mrs. Hugh Brittain of Patroon and Mrs. J. D. Ellington of Nacogdoches, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Hamp Bell, of Patroon, were in the city Saturday, guests of their sister, Mrs. J. H. Ellington. Dr. J. D. Ellington motored over from Nacogdoches Sunday and accompanied Mrs. Ellington home in the afternoon.—San Augustine Tribune, 11th.

"IT'S YOUR FAIR--SO BE THERE"

FACTS DEFLATE PESSIMISM

E. T. Meredith of Des Moines, former secretary of agriculture, cites following facts from the United States Department of Agriculture: On July 1, 1922, the price of corn per bushel on the farm was 62.2 cents, and on the same date this year it was 86.5 cents per bushel.

The farm price of winter wheat slumped from 93 cents to 87 cents per bushel; oats increased from 37.3 cents to 42.5 cents per bushel and barley from 52.2 to 55.7 cents per bushel.

These prices were taken as of July 1 each year, and are the farm prices, not the price at marketing centers from which transportation charges have to be deducted.

The department also furnishes statistics on the production in bushels of each crop and its value at the prices given above.

These figures show that the total value of these principal grain crops on July 1, 1922, was $3,183,682,000 while on July 1 of this year the total market value at the farm of these same grain crops was $3,683,506,000, or $499,824,000 more than last year.

It is time to deflate pessimism in this country, political pessimism not sustained by facts. This does not mean that everything is rosy with the farmer.

He has borne an unjust share of the post-war liquidation. The prices of the things he is called upon to buy are still too high. But this does not mean that conditions are steadily getting worse or that the American farmer is bankrupt.

ROADS MUST CONNECT

A small dog, barking loudly, chased madly after a passing express train up a country railroad station platform.

"What makes him run after it?" asked a traveler of the station agent, owner of the dog.

"I dunno," answered the agent, thoughtfully. "But that never bothered me so much as what will he do with it if he catches it!"

There are many communities which talk loudly about the need of good roads, the value of good roads, the use of good roads. They talk themselves into a bond issue, or a road tax, and build one, two, ten miles of good roads. Too often those miles neither begin anywhere, nor end anywhere; do not connect with any good road at either end. Travelers wonder what they will do with their good roads now they have caught them.

There is no magic in a few miles of paved highways. The farmer who must haul produce through mud to get to a paved highway, and over ruts and stones after leaving it to get to market, experiences no real economy. The economy and benefit of improved highways comes when they are improved for all their length. A chain is no stronger than its weakest link. A regiment is no faster than its slowest soldier. A road, for economy of horse flesh or motor capacity, is no more economical than its worst mile.

WOE IN NEW ENGLAND

Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

This thing has got to stop. Electing democrats in Republican bailiwicks out on the Pacific coast is bad enough, but to elect a Democratic first selectman in a rock-ribbed Republican town in Connecticut like Bethlehem, is a violation of all the decencies. It recalls the irreverent wag who observed that in the philosophy of Editor Clark of Hartford, the Creator had made two mistakes. The first was in having inflicted the world with Democrats and independents; the second was in failing to correct the first after reading of it in the country's oldest newspaper.

The Pacific Northwest has enough standing timber to rebuild thrice over all the wooden frame structures in the United States.

ROADS ALWAYS WITH US

"What's the use of building great highway systems at an expense of millions and millions of dollars, when in a few short years all the freight and passenger traffic will be carried in the air?"

The question is always being asked by some one, usually some one who is unendowed by nature with a faculty of thinking straight, but sometimes by those who think, but without data on which to go.

The next ten, or the next hundred years, will see enormous strides made in aviation. Mail, some express, some passenger traffic will go via plane, and much sport and travel will use it. But no future development in aeronautics can overcome the fundamental fact of nature, that to raise a weight in the air and maintain it there, requires power, and that power is equivalent for value; in our terms money. Therefore, no matter how desirable otherwise, no system of transportation which requires an expenditure to support a weight, can compete in cheapness with those in which the weight is borne by the earth.

There will always be railroads, always be vessels on the water, always be roads and road vehicles. They will change, improve, become more economical, more speedy, more safe, but the earth will continue to carry the bulk of the traffic, simply and solely because it doesn't charge anything for holding up the weight; whereas nature makes ups pay, and heavily, hold the weight up in the air, while we transport it.

Those who build roads today will not live to see, the time when their roads will not be used. Those who bond themselves for roads today will never see the day when those bonds are outstanding against disused highways. The airway will be increasingly used, but not for freight.

THROTTLING NEW INDUSTRIES

A recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission which denied the Virginia Railway permission to construct a one-mile extension to new coal mines in operation, carried a powerful message to thinking people.

Under the "public convenience and necessity" principle, regulatory bodies both state and national, have prohibited the building of competing public utility and transportation lines where adequate service was already being rendered. The theory for this was that if the states regulated rates of public utilities on one hand, they should protect them against needless or unjust competition on the other.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has gone a step further and virtually denied the right of an industry such as coal mining to open up a new property. On the same theory it might deny a common carrier permission to build a spur into a wheat country, a fruit section, a new sawmill or a new mine on the ground that there was an overproduction of the commodity which contemplated new development.

It would seem that this is a dangerous precedent to establish. It means the discouragement of new business and eventually a shortage of certain commodities with resulting high prices to consumers. The Commission's act may have been justified in the present case, but it should not have the power to place its judgment above all others in saying what new industry may be built up.

MONOPOLY OR COMPETITION

It is a fundamental principle of socialistic teachings that state monopoly in any line of service is to do away with competition.

As a general principle, government service is only efficient when it meets with direct stimulus of competition with private enterprise.

Postal charges compete with express and insurance and banking rates maintained by private corporations that carry on successfully.

Socialistic propaganda continually seeks to take away all private competition and thus fasten upon the public governmental monopoly. Complete governmental monopoly brings stagnation to any country, for it kills the initiative and enterprise of its citizens.

PROLONGING LIFE

A Chicago scientist prophesies that with progress of glandular treatment a life duration of 100 years will become a mere infant age. While he does not specify whether said infant age will be of the first or second variety, he presumably counts on prolongation of life to great length. If human age can be prolonged 100 years, why could it not be prolonged 1,000 years? Why couldn't it extend without end and thereby effect immortality?

Oh, well! dreams of eternalizing youth and immortalizing life have been with man since creation. Fountains of youth have from time to time been reported and sought in many quarters of the earth. And man is still dying, more or less according to the ancient span of life.

THE BIG DIFFERENCE AND WHERE DOES IT GO?

Most everyone will admit that $1.10 a month, $13.20 a year; 10 years $132.00; 20 years $264.00; 40 years $528.00 is cheap insurance for men and women from 16 to 50 years of age, and nowhere can you get it for such a small amount. Still if we had been collecting $1.10 a month, whether any deaths or not, after paying all death claims and expenses, 64 deaths in 14 years in the Mutual Benefit, we would now have on hand a surplus of $88,000.00, and for 6 years in the Brotherhood, a total of 24 deaths, we would have a surplus of $39,600.00, a total surplus in the two orders of $127,600.00, and could stop assessing until 127 members died before it would be necessary to begin assessing again. And remember, there have only been 88 deaths in the two orders and all death claims and all expenses have been paid. Is not this vast saving by the Dorsey Way worth something to the people of the county?

Talk about Life Insurance the Dorsey Way is head and shoulders above any other Life Insurance and grows more in favor of the insuring public and grows stronger and stronger as time goes by. Life is uncertain and death is sure. See Dorsey today. We have openings all along in Orders that are worth $1,000.00 the day you get it should you die.

KLANSMAN GETS TWO YEARS IN JAIL

Amarillo, Texas, Oct. 13.—T. W. Stanford, alleged Ku Klux Klansman, was found guilty in district court late yesterday on a charge of whitecapping in connection with the recent flogging of E. T. McDonald here. He was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. Defense counsel immediately filed a motion for a new trial. The State charged that Stanford was the leader of a band of masked men who ordered McDonald to leave Amarillo before flogging him.

The verdict of guilty was based on the third count of the indictment against Stanford, the jury reported. This count involved the wearing of alleged Ku Klux Klan robes by the men, which the jury held constituted a threat within itself. The men wore klan robes on the night they ordered him to leave the city, McDonald testified.

Judge Bishop had ordered the jury to return a verdict of guilty if, in their opinion, the wearing of such regalia constituted a threat.

GERMANY HAS DICTATOR

A defection in the ranks of the socialists had threatened the measure.

The reichstag today voted the first two paragraphs of the authorization bill, but when the bill as a whole came up for final vote the entire Nationalist party left the chamber. This left the body without a quorum and it adjourned until Saturday, when a final vote is expected.

ELECTRIC CHAIR FOR HOUSEFLIES INVENTED

Vienna.—An Austrian inventor has built an electric chair for the express purpose of electrocuting common, ordinary houseflies.

The contraption—on display at the Vienna Fair—draws the flies up to it by means of an electric light. When the flies light on a charged wire they are immediately electrocuted. The machine is encased in a protecting frame work so that it can not harm curious children or careless grownups. The inventor claims that the electric chair, left overnight in a roomful of flies, will draw every single one of them into its death trap.

It is pointed out that this method is the sanest on record—practically instantaneous and painless, leaving no smeary fly corpses about the place. The dead flies drop into a chute and then into a drawer, and may be emptied at intervals.

A WEEK TO SPUR EDUCATION

By formal proclamation President Coolidge has given official recognition to the proposed observance of "American Education Week," from November 18 to 24 inclusive. Thus the cooperation of civil administrators throughout the nation may be expected confidently by the educators of the land. The president has provided the watchword for the week:

"Every American citizen is entitled to a liberal education. Without this, there is no guarantee for the permanence of free institutions, no hope for perpetuating self-government. Despotism finds its chief support in ignorance. Knowledge and freedom go hand in hand.

"Therefore the encouragement of education is a primary duty of good citizenship."

In order that an education "week" shall be more than an occasion for abstract preachments, it is essential that the necessity of education shall be viewed as closely bound up with the major problems of every-day life. The program of the week seeks to do. The opening day, Sunday, will place emphasis upon the relation of education to a proper attitude toward God and country. Monday will be marked as "American Constitution Day." Tuesday is denoted as "Patriotism Day." Wednesday will be the "teachers' day." Thursday will point out the menace of illiteracy. Friday will emphasize the place of the school as a community center and Saturday will be devoted to the importance of physical education in building a sturdy citizenship.

An enviable opportunity is thus offered civic leaders in every city and rural community to strengthen popular appreciation of the service rendered by educational institutions in general and the public schools particularly. Too often the schools are taken for granted. Yet they are capable of increased service to the community in direct proportion as citizens co-operate to make them more directly an instrument of advancement.

RURAL SCHOOLS OPEN; PATRONS SHOW INTEREST

The County Board of Education met the first of the week and apportioned to the various school districts of the county the amounts which will be due them from the state scholastic apportionment. There is a cost of about 20c per scholastic apportionment and administering the fund and each district will get $11.795.

There are 59 common school districts in the county. Nacogdoches is the only strictly independent district in the county. More than 500 scholastics are required to make a district strictly independent. Heretofore Garrison has been in this class, but this year went back among the lesser independent districts with less than 500 students.

County Superintendent Miss Lewis states that there will be 45 applicants for state aid this year, according to present indications. However, no school will be eligible for state aid unless it has a 75c tax on May 1st and this may reduce the number which expects to apply now.

Of the 59 districts in the county five have no local school taxes at all. These districts are Fairview, Palestine, Twilight, Pleasant Grove and Gravel Ridge. The sole source of revenue for operating schools in these districts is from the scholastic apportionment. All are one-teacher schools except Fairview, which has two teachers. The pupils of the Twilight district were transferred to other districts this year because there were less than 20, and there is no school at Twilight.

Miss Lewis also states that most of the common schools opened Monday. She expects a very profitable school year. Several new schools houses have been built. The qualifications necessary to secure state aid have been the means of constant improvement among the rural schools and the requirements this year in the way of an increased tax will have an important bearing on their improvement. Several districts in the county have a dollar tax. Among these is the Caro district, which previous to voting the dollar tax had no maintenance tax.

A few minutes later the senate convened, and both branches then recessed for a joint session to receive the governor's message. The governor did not appear personally. A committee from the house brought the message to the assembly. In the message Walton called upon the legislature to enact an anti-Ku Klux law to save the state from the disaster which he says it faces through the existence of that organization. He said the law must have teeth. He offered a bill, prepared by himself, providing for the unmasking of all citizens and compelling secret organizations to publish a list of their memberships. The executive charged the klan with responsibility for hundreds of outrages. He laid before the legislature the transcripts of testimony adduced by military courts of inquiry, requesting the solons to examine the records and then publish them.

The house then proceeded with organization. W. D. McBee of Stephens county, democrat, was elected speaker over Leslie Salter, republican.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD AND PROHIBITION

Houston Post.
Common fairness and an understanding of the American theory of government should preclude opposition to the candidacy of Senator Underwood on the ground that he was formerly classed as an anti-prohibitionist.

The Alabama senator makes no secret of the fact that he opposed adoption of the amendment. In a frank address to his own constituents in Alabama he tells them why he adopted this course.

"When the issue was before the people, I opposed the adoption of the amendment because I thought temperance could be better obtained along another line, and because it was not consistent with my ideas of local self-government," he says. He had a right to those views. Millions of his fellow citizens entertained similar ideas.

But that is not the important question at this time. What is of importance, now that the issue has been settled, and prohibition is the law of the land, is the attitude of the senator toward the law as it stands. On this he is equally as clear and emphatic.

In the same address he says: "But just as the States of America in the beginning delegated to the federal government the right to control interstate transportation, just as they delegated to the federal government the power of declaring war, and the power of peace over this nation, the States of the Union have now delegated to the federal government the right to prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages. That decision by the people of this country foreclosed the broad issue so far as I was concerned. In my last campaign I stated to the people of Alabama that now that the amendment is the supreme law of the land I would enforce it in its entire integrity. Every appropriation that has been presented to the senate for funds necessary to enforce prohibition in this country I have voted for."

The test of a man's eligibility to serve in public position is not what his original attitude toward some proposed law was, but what is his attitude toward the laws on the books. Senator Underwood certainly meets that test on the prohibition question.

If they oppose Underwood on this ground, then they logically should oppose every man who stands for States rights as against federal centralization, and every candidate who at some time approved of some proposed legislation which now happens to be in force.

Under that theory of government every man who sympathized with the Confederacy during the War between the States would have been disqualified for a federal office after the war.

A fundamental American principle is that of majority rule. When issues are legally settled, the minority is expected to acquiesce and support the law. Senator Underwood, now standing for the enforcement of a law formerly opposed, is a better American than those who oppose him solely on the ground of such former opposition.

The Post is not saying that Senator Underwood is the most desirable candidate for the democrats to select. But it does say it is unfair to discriminate against him because of a former position on a settled issue.

THE LEAGUE AND SMALL NATIONS

Houston Post.
The Italian dictator, Mussolini, finds fault with the League of Nations because it permits small nations to interfere with the affairs of great nations. Mussolini doesn't believe in the equality of nations. Having failed to sanction the murderous attack on Greece recently, the League, with its many small nation members, is an impediment, in his view.

The dictator's remarks are interesting here chiefly for the reason that that partying the league as a very different organization from what its opponents in the American senate predicted it would be. If Mussolini is right, then the gentlemen who were so sure that it was just a scheme to permit the powerful nations to dominate small ones, are worthy of little honor as prophets. And the incident Mussolini complains of proves just how poor was the vision of these advocates of American isolation.

But going further in exposing the short-sightedness of the opponents of the league, the New York Evening Post recalls that since the guardians of small nations in the United States senate defeated the ratification of the league covenant, and the league came into operation in spite of them, the leaders of small nations have since been ed well. Ireland, for instance, is free and has voluntarily joined the league. Egypt is free. Shantung has been returned to China. Austria, left prostrate and stripped of all but a small portion of her former territory by the war, is being rehabilitated rapidly under the financial assistance of the league. It may be remarked in passing that Austrian bonds, underwritten by the league, were snapped up in this country as gilt-edge securities.

The Evening Post might have gone further and noticed that many of the high officers of the league have been chosen from small nations. And England "with six votes" has not undertaken to override any small nation.

But the significant vindication of the charge brought by Senators Johnson, Lodge and others of their political school that the rights of small nations would be jeopardized by a few powerful nations, comes in the fact that the first important complaint lodged against the league comes from a stronger power which failed to get the sympathy of the league in a marauding expedition against one of the weakest nations in Europe.

The Australian lemon or desert Kumquat is the hardiest of all evergreen citrus fruits and grows in regions where the temperature sometimes falls nearly to zero.

The first requisite of a publicity agent is pep, according to a magazine article. The first requisition in taking what some of them hand you is a grain of salt.

A funny mistake was that of the alien who thought "Tex" Rickard discovered America. "Tex" discovered only one of the easy ways to get Americans' money.

The present status of the mark keeps reminding us of that old expression, "typical German thoroughness."

Governor Proctor demands the immediate elimination of the extortion in coal prices. He made the demand during the debate on the "War Emergency" bill in Washington.

FRENCH NAMES IN LONDON
Their Influence Can Be Found in the British Capital Wherever One May Go.

The French influence in London names is evident wherever one goes. Charing Cross, which is the modern Londoner's "center of the world," where Kipling says, one may meet the one he seeks if he but wait long enough, is an English corruption of a one-time French name.

When Edward I was bringing the body of his queen from the North, his retinue in their route to Westminster abbey deposited the hier at nightfall where they struck camp. At each resting place a cross was erected, it is recorded.

Throughout England there are new towns, villages and hamlets that bear the name of "cross." One can thus almost trace the course of the cortège. The last resting place they reached before they got to Westminster was "Chere Reine Croix" (Dear Queen Cross), now corrupted to "Charing Cross."

"Birdcage Walk," in St. James park, is an interesting example. Popular belief generally is that in medieval days they used to hang bird cages with song-birds in them from the boughs of trees that mark the walk. That is erroneous. "Birdcage Walk" is nothing more than a corruption of the French word "Bo-cage" (grove). And Birdcage Walk is indeed a pleasant grove, where lovers have been rambling since the Norman conquest.

LONDON'S WEEKLY REST DAY

Easy for Even the Blind and Deaf to Recognize the Sabbath in the Big Metropolis.

In no country in the world, writes Ward Muir in the London Graphic, is Sunday so different from the week days as in England, and this quite apart from religious observances. It sounds different and it smells different. A blind man could recognize the arrival of Sunday in London by the cessation of the traffic's roar and the increase of the tolling of church bells. While a blind man could tell Sunday by its silence, a deaf man could tell it by its smells. Muffins, maybe, are odorless, but sausages are appetizingly aromatic. Throughout the week it must be easy for any aviator flying over London's chimneys when breakfasts are in preparation, to sniff a scent of frying bacon. On a Sunday the scent would be that of sausages.

In enormous numbers of families the midday dinner is also a specialty of Sunday—and this, too, alters Sunday's odor. For some years I lived in a slum district, and it was noticeable that in the houses of the poor the only day on which noontime cooking occurred was Sunday. The master of the house carried his midday meal with him to his work on week days, but on Sundays he consumed steak and greens by his own fireside, and in no part of London does Sunday smell so different from week days as in the slums, for this reason.

The Ordeal of Water.

France, occasionally harks back to the Middle Ages, as recently when a justice of an inferior court allowed the old ordeal of water to decide a case. It appears that the case was that of a dye company against which charges were brought by the prefect of the department with a society of fishermen joining action to prevent the company emptying coloring matter into public streams. They received 5,000 francs for damages done to fishing. Counsel for the defense, in summing up, declared the water near the mouth of the company's drain was not harmful to fish and asked to make a demonstration. "If the fish die it will be a sort of judgment of God renewed from the Middle Ages, and we will have lost our case," he stated. A bucket of healthy fish was then presented to the judge, who placed them in a bowl of alleged contaminated water. In less than two hours all the fish had died.—Scientific American.

Planet With a 15-Hour Day.

On the planet Uranus, heavenly bodies rise in the west and set in the east. Its day is only 15 hours long. The frigid zones on the earth extend 23 1/2 degrees from the poles. On Uranus these poles are 94 degrees and extend almost to the equator. Thus as the planet pursues one of its long, sweeping long years about the sun, half the planet will be shrouded in half-hour darkness while the other side will have daylight without break.

Every Piano an Engineering Job.

The supporting structure for the strings of a piano, notes the Scientific American, involves a very careful engineering design in order that it may withstand the tension of the strings, providing perfect stability under all temperature conditions so that the piano will not get out of tune. The total tension of all these strings in a standard piano is between 25,000 and 50,000 pounds.

Mistakes Are Hatful.

A woman forgets the lovers she has dismissed as quickly as possible. Their memory is hateful to her, like the memory of all mistakes.

Life would be so much simpler if we'd all make up our minds that what other people think about us does not signify in the least. It's only permitting it to signify that permits it to enter.—From "Black Oxen," by George Atherton.

GOD NICKNAME FOR SENATOR
Oliver Morton Was Long Known Among Colleagues as the "Devil on Two Sticks."

"The Devil on Two Sticks" was a nickname given to Oliver P. Morton, American senator. For many years he was afflicted by a dangerous and probably incurable disease. He visited Paris for the best medical advice, and submitted to the most treatment. It relieved him considerably, and doubtless prolonged his life, but did not restore the paralyzed legs. He was compelled to use a walking-stick in each hand. In the ordinary course of debate in the senate for the last few years he generally read and spoke in a sitting posture, the courtesy of his brother senators admitting that position. When dealing with questions of national importance he spoke standing, supporting himself against his desk and on one of his canes, but sometimes against a standing support, consisting of an iron standard surmounted by a small wooden reading desk.

During the fierce partisan debate in the senate near the close of the Civil war, and especially while the reconstruction measures were being discussed, he was a stalwart and excessively pugnacious fighter on the Republican side, and earned the appellation of "The Devil on Two Sticks."

UNPLEASANT MODE OF TRAVEL

Camel Litter Probably Most Uncomfortable Conveyance That It is Possible to Imagine.

"All of the passengers across the Syrian desert save only ourselves made the journey in camel litters, than which no more uncomfortable means of transport could possibly be devised," relates Alexander Powell in the Century Magazine.

A litter consists of a pair of shallow wooden boxes, slung one on each side of the camel like panniers, and held in place by a network of stout cords. On each pannier are a thick mattress and a number of bolsters and cushions, on which you half sit, half recline, hanging on for dear life to the cord network or anything else that offers. When the camel kneels or rises, unless you have tight hold of something, the chances are that you will be thrown violently to the ground.

The litters used by the women are covered with slatted sides, and look like chicken coops. These litters necessitate a very cramped position on the part of their occupants, whose legs, incased in gaudily striped stockings held up by pink or yellow garters, frequently protrude unblushingly; for the only part of her person that a Moslem woman is particular about concealing is her face.

Sugar Trees.

It has been suggested that in all probability the bears were the first to locate and patronize trees that furnish sugar, the animals breaking down great branches to obtain the sweet material. The Indians were also in the secret that a rare kind of sugar might be had for the gathering from the Douglas fir in the dry belt of British Columbia and eastern part of the state of Washington.

The sugar output from this source varies. That it develops at all seems to be the result of atmospheric conditions. Firs growing on the northern and eastern slopes have proved to be the best sugar producers. Certain qualities possessed by this tree sugar proclaim it a valuable article in chemistry and in medicine. It is hardly likely, however, that the white man will ever eat fir sugar to any extent, since the supply is limited, and every Douglas fir in the dry belt has more orders than it can fill.

Preferred the Cash.

Youngsters that come in contact with the public become most worldly wise. Johnny shined shoes and knew the ways of the world from intimate, and sometimes bitter experience. One day a prosperous-looking old gentleman stopped up into the shine stand. He eyed Johnny with a friendly interest. "Young man, you look like a bright, intelligent young fellow," he remarked. Johnny looked up at him unimpressed. "Say, mister," he retorted, "I've had that line pulled on me before. What I want to know before we go any further, is this a cash shine or when I get through will you pat me on the head and tell me I'll be governor some day?"—Kansas City Star.

Well-Named Club for Girls.

A group of high school girls recently entered the office of the father of one of their number, a well-known man and a prominent lawyer.

"Well, young ladies," said the legal gentleman in an affable tone, "what can I do for you today?" Thereupon the elected spokesman told him that they wanted him to help them select a name for their club.

"It is for the building of character," she said earnestly. "No men are to be admitted at any time. We have no use for men," she added with emphasis. "Then why not call it the Building and Lone Association?"

Etiquette.

Mr. Tomkyn—Brown was very short in his manner to everybody tonight!

Mrs. Tomkyn—Yes, but we must forgive him, as I hear he's just had some heavy business losses.

Mr. Tomkyn—My dear, a real gentleman does not give vent to that sort of thing till he gets home to his wife.

REPORT OF FERTILIZER TESTS

on REDFIELD PLOTS ON J. B. THRASH FARM, 1923

Kind of Fertilizer	Amt. Per Acre	Cost Per Acre	Yield Per Acre
X-1 Acid Phosphate	200	$2.35	880lbs
Y-1 10-1.65-1	200	$3.35	990lbs
Z-1 10-2.47-3	200	$3.90	940lbs
Unfertilized	000	$0.00	560lbs

This series of plots are on red sandy soil that has grown eight crops of cotton without any rotation whatever. This fact should be taken into account in considering the yields of this field.

Please note that Plot X-1, receiving 200 pounds of "straight" acid phosphate, costing $2.35, made 880 pounds of seed cotton worth (at 11 cents) $96.80.

Plot Y-1 received 200 pounds of "mixed" fertilizer, costing $3.35, and yielded 990 pounds of seed cotton worth $108.90. In this test, the addition of $1.00 worth of nitrogen and potash increased the money returns by $12.10 per acre.

On the unfertilized plot there was a saving of $3.90, if we consider the highest priced fertilizer, and a resultant loss of $41.80 in value of product.

Kind of Fertilizer	Amt. Per Acre	Cost Per Acre	Yield Per Acre
X-3 Acid Phosphate	300	$4.45	770lbs
Y-2 10-1.65-1	300	$5.02	910lbs
Z-2 10-2.47-3	300	$5.85	940lbs
Unfertilized	000	$0.00	560lbs

This series of plots shows a money increase of $15.40 per acre where the fertilizer changed from "straight" acid phosphate to a "mixed" fertilizer costing only 57 cents per acre more than the acid phosphate.

Likewise, it shows a money increase of $18.70 per acre where a still better quality of mixed fertilizer was used. And this better quality of mixed fertilizer cost only $1.40 per acre more than the acid phosphate.

Also, this series shows that the application of fertilizer costing $5.85 resulted in a money increase of $41.80. We arrive at these figures by contrasting plots Z-2 and the Unfertilized plot. Plot Z-2 received $5.85 worth of fertilizer, and made 940 pounds of seed cotton. The unfertilized plot made only 560 pounds of seed cotton.

Kind of Fertilizer	Amt. Per Acre	Cost Per Acre	Yield Per Acre
X-3 Acid Phosphate	400	$4.70	790lbs
Y-3 10-1.65-1	400	$6.70	910lbs
Z-3 10-2.47-3	400	$7.80	1000lbs
Unfertilized	000	$0.00	560lbs

Here we have a net gain of $20.00 per acre when a high grade fertilizer is tested against acid phosphate. We arrive at these figures by taking the cost of 400 pounds of each kind of fertilizer from the money returns made by each.

The medium-priced mixed fertilizer costing $33.50 per ton showed a net money gain (per acre) of $11.00 over the acid phosphate costing $23.50 per ton.

The results of these experiments should be studied in connection with the results from the "Grayfield" (gray sandy soil) published in last week's papers. And it should be borne in mind that all these tests taken together do not justify final, definite conclusions as to the value of the different kinds of fertilizer used in the experiments. As stated in our first report, it will require experiments extending over several seasons to justify final conclusions in this important matter.

The experiments conducted on the old fruit farm, two miles south of town, where fertilizer was applied on a very deep, poor, light sandy soil at the rate of 100, 300 and 500 pounds per acre, will be reported in these columns next week. These tests were conducted with the aid of young Jack Blankenship, an intelligent high school boy who made enough money from two and one-half acres of cotton to enable him to attend high school this winter.

Watch for the report on these tests. You will find it of interest.

A TREAT FOR THE ELK

Dobbs took his wife and children to one of the exhibitions at which there were many fascinating side-shows. They proved to be so numerous and the family so extensive and eager that before long Dobbs realized that he was likely to become penniless. Whereupon he proceeded to steer his family to the main exit.

The exodus was on the verge of accomplishment when the family caught sight of a poster advertising the Great Elk. All the children clamored to see it, and even Mrs. Dobbs thought it ought to be done.

In a state of despair it occurred to Dobbs that he might try to bring off a business deal. He made his way to the entrance of the sideshow and asked for the proprietor, who appeared in response to his inquiry.

"What is it?" he asked. "Well," said Dobbs, "I have a large family and they all want to see the Great Elk. Couldn't you make a reduction for a quantity?"

"Well," said the showman, "I don't know about that. How many are there of you?"

"There's the missus and seventeen children."

"How many children?" "Seventeen."

"Don't you worry about seeing the Great Elk," said the showman. "I'll bring the Great Elk to see YOU!"—Ex.

RESPONSIBILITY OF PUBLIC OFFICIALS AS RESPECTS PUBLIC HEALTH

State Public Health Bulletin.

Every city and county public official is more or less responsible for every death from preventable diseases occurring in the area under their jurisdiction. Within reasonable limits it is within the power of these officials to control the death rate.

An intelligent public must co-operate with the officials in the eradication of disease in order to obtain maximum results. The right to enjoy health is quite as sacred as that to possess property.

Generally speaking our sanitary laws are good but their administration leaves much to be desired. It is just as much the duty of the peace officer to enforce the sanitary laws as any other law.

To ignorance, carelessness and shirking of responsibilities, may be charged much of the causation of avoidable disease in the past.

Responsibility is a word of tremendous import. Its significance is akin to trust, and those men who are responsible for and serious minded in the conduct of human affairs realize their liability to be called to account when honored with leadership. These are men, however, upon whom responsibility rests lightly, perhaps not willfully but because circumstances beyond their control and in their management they become indifferent to only too common signs of inefficiency, which ultimately results in retrogression.

The purpose of the government is to protect its citizens, and a government which fails to shield the people from preventable disease cannot be truthfully called either responsible, intelligent or moral. The greatest asset of any town, city or county, is the health of the citizens, and the officials who secure this in the highest degree are those who appreciate the responsibility placed upon them in this very important matter.

In the light of the scientific work at the present time, disease in its horrible wholesale form is controllable, if it cannot be entirely eliminated. This control or reduction is possible only when there is an awakening of the sense of responsibility on the part of those who have been elevated to the high places in government.

Step up! Pep up! It's your liver holding you back and making you feel so miserable. Your money back if you don't like it. TEX-RET don't fix it.

an official realize that you personally are more or less responsible for every death of a preventable nature which occurs in the area under your jurisdiction, unless you are consistently and persistently doing everything possible to prevent such a death?

RED MILLION AND HALF
The committee on citizenship of the American Bar Association estimates that there are in Our Country 1,500,000 Reds.

One and a half million radicals, all the way from red-mouthed anarchists to parlor Bolsheviks and socialistic college professors.

These figures are based on detailed returns from the Secret Service department and include the I. W. W. and all constitution overthrowers.

It is estimated that $3,000,000 was spent last year on radical propaganda, and that 5,000,000 read radical newspapers and magazines.

There can be no doubt that the world war stimulated the development of lawlessness, and the millions who disregard the Vosted act and Eighteenth amendment swell the armies of discontent.

The radical movement in Our Country will have to be checked by the common sense and patriotism of the masses of the people and by the enactment of less freak laws and better enforcement of all laws.

Prof. John R. Commons of Wisconsin University says the wage earners "manifest a dogged determination not to accept any cut in wages," but that they are less revolutionary than a few years ago.

The teaching of the Constitution of the United States should be required by law in every school in the land. A thorough understanding of our own government is the best way to beat the Reds.

The circulation of German marks runs to 16 figures, it is stated, and that is one instance in which figures if it is contended that they represent money.

SUBSTITUTES FOR COAL

Newspaper dispatches from all parts of the country show increasing use of fuel oil in homes, apartment houses, factories and public building, instead of coal.

For several years the public has been subjected to a periodical coal strike with resulting hardships from lack of fuel and unreasonable prices.

The public interest in the coal industry has apparently been lost sight of by both the operators and the miners.

The day when lack of coal can cripple a whole nation is drawing to a close. The public is sick and tired of the annual outrage.

Electricity, fuel oil and gas are the coming substitutes for coal in the average home and factory.

Public utility plants operated by coal, will use oil or operate their own mines to the great advantage of the public.

Coal mining will get the same lesson that is eventually meted out to any industry that in its own operation loses sight of the public interest. A substitute that gives better service will take its place.

KEEPING IT FROM THE KIDS

Sophisticated Washington, viewing with its accustomed cynicism the present interlude of economy in some phases of government administration, has been rudely shocked of late to discover that 20,000 pupils in the District of Columbia public schools are victims of a curious economy.

An inquisitive parent pawing over the text books brought home by his child is astonished to learn that Franz Joseph is alive and back at the old job, the German Empire is quite unimpaired, the capital of Russia is St. Petersburg, where the Czar, Czarina and Czarevitch dwell in opulence and grandeur, the Sultan is still the works at the Golden Horn and there has been no world war.

While congress points itself for a necessary $100,000,000 public building program, is in order to suggest that among the first departures from a speed-nothing policy must be the purchase of a few modern school books.

The only 'ism that appears to thrill and content a cake-eating highbrow is an aphorism.

A SHAVE IN PEACE

A man carrying a small hand bag entered a barber's shop, and proceeded to take various things out of the bag.

"I don't think I want anything today," said the barber.

The other showed him a bottle. "This is a very fine bay rum," he said.

"Possibly," returned the barber, "but I've got plenty."

"Shaving soap?" said the other, producing it.

"No, thanks," replied the barber. "Face powder?" queried the caller, producing another packet.

"No, it's no good," said the barber; "I must get rid of my stock first."

Apparently undaunted, the other produced various other things—a bottle of hair tonic, a tube of face cream, and so forth.

"No, no, no!" said the barber, in desperation; "I don't want any of those things."

"I know you don't," was the calm reply. "Then why do you ask me to buy them?" asked the barber angrily.

"I don't ask you to buy them," declared the other. "I only came to have a shave, but I wanted to show you before we started that I'd got all the toilet articles I want."

DAD

These are innumerable poems, songs and essays on "Mother," but those dedicated to Dad are few and far between, and his love is just as strong and just as true as mother's is; while mother loves as only a mother can, Dad seems to be a larger brother or a dependable pal.

H. C. Taylor says, "If he's wealthy and prominent you can stand in awe of him as he deals him 'Father.' If he sits in his shirtsleeves and suspenders at ball games and picnics call him 'Pop.' If he tills the land or teaches Sunday School call him 'Pa.' If he wheels the baby carriage and carries bundles meekly, call him 'Papa,' with the accent on the first syllable. If, however, he makes a pig of you when you're good and too wise to let you pull the wool over his eyes when you're not; if moreover you're sure no other fellow you know has quite so fine a father, you may call him 'Dad,' but not otherwise."

Dad—just Dad—Oh, what fine breaths around that name wrought

by love itself. If fathers suffer, they never tell, for they hide their hurts as warriors hide their wounds. It has often been said that a boy's best friend is his mother, then why is not a girl's best friend her father?—The Burleson News.

It is time the citizen realized that enacting laws is what is heaping up the increasing burden of taxation. When the legislature enacts several hundred new laws it creates offices, increases public payrolls and multiplies taxes. There is almost no legislation to limit expenditures or produce new revenues without a direct tax, but nearly all laws cause expenditures.

TAXES AND PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Property owned by the federal government is not subject to taxation. If public ownership were adopted in this country and the tax-free exemption continued, there would be enormous losses to public treasuries, quite enough to force a radical revision of public expenditure or a hunt for new sources of income.

During 1921 railways paid taxes amounting to $275,128,134. Of that sum $37,176,773 went to the United States government and the remainder, $237,951,361, went to the state and local governments. Public ownership would mean the loss of all that sum to the public treasuries.

There is an increase in taxation paid by railways. Statistics indicate the total for 1922 will be about $304,000,000. On these properties in 1916 the taxes amounted to $162,474,733. In that year the railways paid taxes of $681 per mile of track, while in 1921 the taxes per mile had been increased to $1223.

These are some of the practical questions involved in any campaign for public ownership of utilities and transportation. They are of interest to the public because the information has a large value to the taxpayers, who will be affected by heavier taxes falling on all property that remains in private ownership.

BEGINNING OF RESULTS FROM GOOD-WILL TOUR

Horace Wilson, who, it will be remembered, was captain of the Good Will Tour the Chamber of Commerce made on August 7 and 8, reports that on Tuesday of this week a family from Denning, San Augustine county, came into his store and bought a bill amounting to more than $100. The wife of this San Augustine county farmer explained that this was her first trip to Nacogdoches and that it was the visit of the Good Willers to her community that brought her here. This good woman explained that since she heard the Partin Band boys play and sing "The Love-Sick Blues," she had wanted to come to Nacogdoches. Both she and her husband were delighted with their purchases and with the splendid treatment accorded them by our merchants.

Incidentally, Horace promised her that we would visit the Denning community again next summer and that the Partin Concert Band would be one of our attractions.

This incident simply shows that with improved roads and automobiles, our trade territory can easily be doubled or even multiplied by four if we will only "go after it" in the right way.

Our merchants have the stocks, the right prices and know how to give the service. Enlarging our trade territory, then, becomes rather a simple matter; it is merely a question of extending our friendships.

THE CHURCH RALLY AT NAT

The good people of the Nat community held an interesting meeting at the church Saturday night. The purpose of the gathering was to raise money with which to complete the church building, which is a union house. Under the direction of John Partin, one of the leading men of the community and also a member of the Partin Concert Band, a program of music, readings and addresses was followed by a box supper, the proceeds of which were applied to the church fund.

Addresses were made by Prof. E. F. Davis, head of the department of Education of the Teachers' College; Prof. J. H. Hinds, head of the Department of Agriculture, and by Secretary McKnight of the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Bernardine McKnight gave two readings that were greatly enjoyed. The Partin Concert Band and the Partin Quartette added materially to the entertainment.

The reporter did not learn the amount of money raised, but feels sure that the response was liberal. Rev. Weimer, pastor of the Methodist congregation at Nat, was present, and added to the amusement features a sound, serious discussion of the church needs.

Of the amusing numbers on the program was a quartette composed of Cort Baker, Ernest Russell, Rev. Weimer and H. L. McKnight. This group had not practiced for the occasion, but they rendered "Mary Had a Little Lamb," and "Ruben-Rachel" (adapted to Big John Partin.)

The Nat community is one of the best in the county, and is to be commended in the effort to complete their house of worship.

WITH THE BAPTISTS

The pastor preached on the Baptist 75 Million Campaign at the morning hour. He reminded his people that the Fall Campaign for cash or pledges is here. During the illness of Bro. R. C. Monk, the financial secretary, payments will be made to Hugh Davis, at Baker-Williams.

In the afternoon the Laymen's Union had a fine meeting. Inspiring talks were made by A. W. Birdwell, W. U. Perkins and H. L. McKnight. Mr. Hughes of Winnfield, La., was introduced and made a "peppy" speech. The Union is planning to organize flying squadrons to visit rural churches where their services are desired.

All B. Y. P. U.'s were crowded and helpful programs were rendered. Many new members are joining. At night the pastor preached on "A Promise for Every Day," using Deut. 33:25 for a text. It matters not what duties and trials the day may bring with that day there will come a sufficiency of strength to win.

There were four additions to the church during the day. The hand of fellowship was extended to a number who were baptized last Wednesday night.

Timpson can now boast of a "white way" the current being turned on Wednesday night for the first time. The ornamental posts with the large globes add considerably to the appearance of the public square and the city park, and at night the old town presents a metropolitan appearance.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING FOR LONE STAR TRAIL

At an enthusiastic meeting held in the county court room Friday night, the first Texas unit of the Lone Star Trail Association was perfected, with Ben T. Wilson president and H. L. McKnight, secretary. The meeting was addressed by H. L. Brian, former secretary-manager, Winfield, La., and J. M. Hughes, the present secretary, Winfield, and by V. D. Fugler, editor of the Texas Highway Bulletin. Mr. Fugler represented the State Highway Association.

Telegrams and letters of regret were received from Captain J. D. Fautleroy, state highway engineer; B. W. Bailey, national treasurer, Winfield, La.; Hy. E. Hardtner, national president, Urania, La., each of whom was unavoidably kept away from the meeting. The Chamber of Commerce of Natchez, Miss., wired as follows: "Chamber of Commerce, Nacogdoches, Texas: "Understand your organization considering worth of Lone Star Trail Association. This organization has done excellent work in promoting an east-and-west highway through this section."

"Natchez Chamber of Commerce." The Lone Star Trail is a national highway, which, when completed, will extend from St. Augustine, Fla., to Los Angeles, Cal. This route will be more than 500 miles shorter than the Spanish Trail, and will traverse a country where road building is much less expensive than along the Gulf Coast. Nacogdoches is situated at the Western terminus of the Natchitoches-Nacogdoches cut-off and on the main line of the trail through Mansfield, La.

The route from Nacogdoches west will lie through Alto, on the "Camino Real" (Kings Highway), and from Alto will go by either Rusk, Palestine, Fairfield, Teague, Mexia to Waco, or from Alto will go by Crockett, Centerville, Franklin, Temple and points beyond. El Paso is the Western Texas terminus of the Texas division of the trail.

The last link of trail trail lying between Nacogdoches and the Louisiana line, a seven-mile stretch between Milam and Pendleton, will be contracted on October 15. Sabine parish, La., has completed arrangements for the early construction of the link between Sabine River and Many. Sixty percent of this trail between Nacogdoches, Texas, and St. Augustine, Fla., is now a standard, hard-surfaced road, and the missing links in many counties are under actual construction, with supervision by the several state highway departments.

W. B. Gill, secretary-manager of the Natchitoches, La., Chamber of Commerce, talked to the meeting through 1,000 feet of Fox film, showing scenes along the Trail as it passes his city.

METHODISTS AT WORK

Led by their pastor, the Methodists have launched a campaign of mapping out the city of Nacogdoches into four or five districts for the purpose of getting at closer grips with the work that is now expanding so rapidly.

North street and adjacent streets have been organized into one district, and henceforward on one particular Friday in the month the pastor will meet the people of that district for prayer and for consultation. The individual members will report to Mrs. H. T. Perritte, the district leader, any items of interest to the church. All of these items will then be forwarded to the pastor and his committee.

A similar district has been organized with Mound street and all adjacent streets for its sphere and with Mrs. W. F. Price as its district leader.

Friday, the 12th inst., yet another district was formed by the pastor at a meeting held on Irion Hill at the home of Mrs. Henry Spradley, and Mrs. Henry Spradley will henceforward represent that district.

Other districts will be formed and it is believed that much good will be done by getting the people each month together and so helping them to feel a sense of responsibility for their immediate sphere.

The tag sale Saturday netted more than $90 for the pipe organ fund of the Methodist church. The young ladies who conducted the sale are to be congratulated upon their success. They were polite but insistent, and if any "prospect" escaped he surely was swift on his feet.

A. A. SEALE CHAIRMAN DEMOCRATIC VICTORY CLUB

Democratic National Committee. Washington, D. C., Oct. 10, 1923. Fellow Democrats:

A vitally important service is being performed in your community by Mr. Arthur A. Seale. He is forming a local division of the National Democratic Victory Club, of 20 or more members, each of whom will pay as dues the sum of $5 now and a like amount in 1924, to be used for the success of the Party.

The completion of your club, and those in the other towns and counties in the country, will give your National Committee a great army of several hundred thousand democrats—an organization that is just bound to "win in 1924."

It will also provide a substantial fund for the educational and organizational work which must be done NOW, without waiting until the last minute next year, and will permit us to show that the party of the people is financed by the people—as it should be.

It is a distinct honor to be among the first twenty members of this club and I will deeply appreciate your signing the pledge sheet promptly. Thanking you in advance, I am, Cordially and sincerely,

CORDELL HULL, Chairman.

ASSOCIATION IN SESSION

The Nacogdoches Baptist Association was in session Saturday at Prairie Grove, 6 miles east of the city. The attendance was large and representative. Fourteen churches were represented by letter and messengers. A large crowd from Nacogdoches attended.

Rev. Bonnie Grimes was elected moderator for the year. Other officers were Fulton Fuller, clerk; Frank Powers, treasurer.

A number of visiting ministers were in attendance. Reports show marked progress along all lines.

On last Thursday the committee appointed by the district conference of the Timpson district licensed Mr. C. S. Wright and T. P. Hendrix as local preachers in the Methodist Episcopal church, South. The two young men left at once for college to prepare themselves for their life's work.

COLLEGE FACULTY ENTERTAINS

The evening of Friday, October 12, was a memorable one for the students of the Stephen F. Austin State Teachers' College. This is briefly explained by the fact that the faculty generously entertained the student body of the school at the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Birdwell. The football boys of Beaumont Junior College were also included in the invitation of the faculty.

Between the hours of 7:30 and 8 o'clock shy maidens, clad in gala attire, and dashing heroes, dressed appropriately for the occasion, could be seen wending their ways to the Birdwell residence on Bailey avenue. Presently there was assembled a group of about two hundred guests, all eagerly anticipating the pleasures which they knew awaited them.

The house was beautifully and attractively decorated with roses, ferns, and other flowers. By no means the least in attraction was the huge punch bowl, filled with delicious punch, around which an exuberant circle was constantly gathered.

Music and the friendly banter which usually takes place at such functions served as entertainment for all.

Time flew by as if on wings; and before it could hardly be realized, the hour for departure had come. After having spent a delightful evening, each Prince Charming with his Fair Lady took leave of their hosts and hostesses with many expressions of appreciation and sped away home, lest some horrible goblin should seize them if they lingered too long.

'DOCHES-SAN AUGUSTINE

A few minutes after the closing whistle of the S. F. Austin College-South Park game Friday afternoon, the elevens of San Augustine and the Nacogdoches High School spread across the gridiron, one team ready to receive the kick-off, the other waiting impatiently for the referee's permission to send the "pigskin" into the midst of their rivals.

Local fans who expected little opposition from the San Augustine team, were agreeably disappointed. San Augustine, evidently hoping to erase from the mind of her supporters the memory of her ignominious defeat at the hands of Lufkin a week ago, fought gamely from the first to the last minute of play.

Nacogdoches labored under a tremendous handicap in not having a regular backfield man in proper condition to enter the game; every man was either ill or indisposed during the week.

The 'Doches line was virtually a stone wall on the defensive; seldom did the San Augustine backs reach the line of scrimmage on attempted end runs or line bucks.

Near the end of the game 'Doches line poured through the San Augustine forwards and blocked a kick, which resulted in a touchdown. San Augustine completed one forward pass; 'Doches intercepted two of her passes.

'Doches repeatedly ran the ends for substantial gains, the back ran good interference, and the team proved that the ends of rival elevens are in for trouble during the remainder of the season.

A punt was returned 60 yards for a touchdown; the team ran brilliant interference for the runners of this play.

'Doches plays Tenaha at Tenaha, Tuesday, October 16.

An effort is being made to schedule a game to be played at Nacogdoches on October 19. E. J. Hamilton.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Mr. Culberson Denman, who has been asked to take over the work of organizing the Seventh Annual Red Cross Roll Call, advises that the campaign will be launched on November 11th with a meeting at the High School auditorium, with all the churches uniting in the effort to renew old memberships and secure as many new ones as possible. The campaign will be county-wide, and everyone is invited to assist in the splendid work, which is recognized as the greatest relief organization in the world.

During the past season the Red Cross has spent $1,000 for health work in Nacogdoches county. The benefits of this work are far-reaching. The activities of the Red Cross are not confined to any particular section of the county, but wherever it can do good in health-promotion or relief work, it may be found doing what is needful for humanity. Half of the total fund raised here will be expended in the county, the other half going to general headquarters at St. Louis to swell the general relief fund.

There is no cause which should appeal more successfully to the people. Every cent contributed will be expended in a work of mercy. Join the Red Cross and talk for the cause.

DOCTORS BRING MEETING TO END

Houston Chronicle, 13th.

The fifty-fourth annual meeting of the South Texas Surgical Society closed Friday afternoon with the election of officers for the coming year. Dr. George H. Lee of Galveston was elected president; Dr. C. O. Bryan of Center, vice president, and Dr. Willard Cook of Galveston, secretary and treasurer. The next semi-annual meeting will be held at Galveston the second week in April.

The number of doctors attending this meeting breaks all previous records, about 200 doctors being represented. A number of papers from doctors of the district covered by the South Texas Medical Society, were heard Friday morning, among whom were S. M. D. Clark of New Orleans, J. W. Nixon of San Antonio and Curtis Rosser of Dallas.

REESE-DENT

The First Methodist church was the scene of a wedding of unusual interest Thursday morning when Miss Edna Earl Dent became the bride of Mr. James Elbert Reese. The service was impressively read by Rev. E. G. Cooke, pastor.

The wedding party stood before an altar banked with beautiful ferns and tall, white wicker baskets filled with pink and white roses tied alternately with pink and white tulle streamers.

Preceding the ceremony, Mr. John Crawford sang "At Dawning." He was accompanied at the organ by Mr. Holland M. Smith, who played the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" as the professional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as the recessional.

The bride was attended by Misses Ellie and Elsie Reese, twin sisters of the groom, as bridesmaids, and Miss Ruth Fouts as maid-of-honor.

The bridesmaids wore orchid georgette frocks and corsage bouquets of purple sweet peas with purple ribbons.

The maid-of-honor wore a deep rose frock of chiffon cloth and valenciennes lace, and carried a shower bouquet of rose carnations and ferns.

The bride entered with the bridegroom. She wore a gorgeous gown of gray georgette embroidered in cut steel beads, with hat and accessories to harmonize. She carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Guy E. Stripling as best man.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Dent of this city, and is one of Nacogdoches' most charming young ladies.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reese, and is one of the most prominent young business men of the city, being general manager of the Ford Service Station of Nacogdoches.

This wedding was of especial interest to the people of Nacogdoches because of the widespread popularity of the two.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony by automobile for a two-weeks' honeymoon in Houston, Galveston and Dallas. They will be at home after October 25th in the beautiful little cottage owned by Mr. T. S. Davison in Harris Heights, this city.

The out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Mr. A. A. Beck and Miss Thelma Potts of Timpson; Mrs. Jim McMullen and son of Lufkin and Mrs. Hulén Medford, also of Lufkin.

MRS. BETTIE CHRISTOPHER

Mrs. Bettie Christopher of the Alazan community died Tuesday night. She was among the oldest residents of that part of the county, having passed the 80th milestone. Several children and grandchildren, brothers and sister, nieces and nephews survive her. Interment was made Thursday in the cemetery at Alazan.

COTTON PARADE

Headed by the Partin Band of Nat, a long train of wagons from Attoyac and other eastern neighborhoods of the county paraded through town Friday morning carrying 64 bales of cotton, owned by members of the Black Jack Farm Labor Union No. 3057. This cotton, it was planned, was to be sold to some foreign buyer, it having been pooled for that purpose. The cotton was weighed, camped and left on the platform of the Nacogdoches compress.

R. W. Crawford is president and V. B. Mayo secretary of the Black Jack local.

The unusual spectacle created a great deal of interest and the sidewalks were lined with men, women and children.

FUNERAL OF INFANT

The funeral of little Eugene Harmon Blount, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Blount, who died Tuesday afternoon after a brief illness, was held at the family home at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Rev. C. D. Atwell reciting the beautiful ritual of the Episcopal church. Interment was made in Oak Grove cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends. The pallbearers were F. H. Tucker, W. S. Beeson, Ford Simpson and T. S. Davison, all attaches of the bank of which the baby's father is president.

Beautiful floral offerings hid the little mound under which the child was laid to rest, and many hearts ached in sympathy with the stricken parents.

Miss Rosine Blount reached home Wednesday morning to attend the funeral, coming from Austin, where she is a student in the State University. Another sister of the baby, Miss Anna Mary, attending a school in Virginia, was unable to come in time, and it was thought best that she should not undertake the journey.

All the banks of the city were closed as a mark of respect for the family.

A CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank the fire department for what they did in saving what property they did, and protection of my neighbors' houses and other property. I want to thank my friends and neighbors for kindnesses they showed my sister and me. My hope is that they be showed the same kindness.

Respectfully,
Odus Peterson.

RADIO HELPS HIGHWAYS

A story is told of a farmer in northern Illinois, whose farm is located on a dirt road, which is impassable during the winter if a frost comes when the road is in a rough condition. Last fall, when the road was at its worst, he got a radio warning of an immediate and heavy frost. Calling his neighbors by telephone, they turned out and rolled the road. When the freeze came it proved to be permanent and the radio owner and his neighbors had a boulevard to town all winter.

FOR MAYFIELD AVENUE

(Beaumont, Texas, Oct. 12, 1923. The Daily Sentinel, Nacogdoches, Texas:)

Dear Friends—Information has come to me that there was something in Hospital street at Nacogdoches being changed in name to Mayfield, and I heartily second this, for Dr. Mayfield was one of our noblest and best citizens, always for Nacogdoches, and my old home is on this street, and shall never forget the Mayfield home on that street. I hope the citizens will name this street Mayfield street, or avenue, which sounds better than street.

Very truly your friend,

LADY GOT SO WEAK COULD SCARCELY STAND

After Suffering From Many Female Troubles This Lady Heard of Cardui and Took It, She Says, "Until I Was Well."

"SOME TIME AGO," says Mrs. Buena McFarland, of R. F. D. 2, Bostic, N. C., "I suffered a great deal with weakness common to women. I had bearing-down pains, my sides and back hurt, and my limbs drew. I would get so weak in my knees I could scarcely stand. "I was very nervous, and could not rest. I didn't feel like eating. I grew thin, and did not have ambition for anything. "I had been trying other remedies . . . but did not get any better. "Some one told us of Cardui, and what it was recommended for. I also took a Ladies Birthday Almanac and read of a case something like mine. I told my husband to get it and I would try it. "I saw a great improvement after the first bottle (of Cardui), so I kept it up until I was well. Now I am the picture of health." Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others. Cardui has stood the test of extensive use, for more than forty years, in the treatment of troubles common to women. Try it.

Mrs. Reid will leave in a few days for Dallas, Sherman and Oklahoma, where she will visit her sisters, one at Ardmore and one at Pawhuska. In Sherman she will visit her daughter, who is attending Kidd-Key Conservatory of Music.

Mrs. Zeno Cox has returned from Galveston where she spent some time with her sister, Mrs. E. B. Williams, who is in the hospital there, having recently undergone another very serious operation which is reported successful and it is believed that Mrs. Williams will soon be able to be brought home. She is rapidly improving.

Carl Martin of Jacksonville, connected with the State Health Department, was in the city Friday and called at the county superintendent's office and enlisted the aid of Miss Exler Lewis, the incumbent, in the distribution of health literature among the schools of the county—a movement which is bound to redound to the good of all our people. The better the children are informed as to health matters, the better they will be equipped to forestall sickness. We need a county nurse, but that just now seems to be impossible on account of financial conditions.

Henry Millard was awarded $100 by an arbitration committee which investigated the loss of his horse which was killed on the street last week. The horse was struck by a car driven by Mrs. F. A. Beall. There was some question as to who was to blame for the accident and each of the parties agreed to arbitrate the matter. One selected A. D. Parnell and the other selected Walter Gintz. The two gentlemen chose Dr. A. A. Nelson as the third party. Both parties regretted the accident and the verdict of the committee was that each should stand a part of the loss.

Dallas and Ed Fezell have purchased the Diamond Cafe, 408 Main Street, Dallas, and it goes without saying that they will conduct a nice, clean restaurant, that being demonstrated here to the satisfaction of all who have had occasion to visit their place. These young men deserve all the success which may crown their efforts in their new location, and everybody here wishes them well. When in Dallas it will pay you to visit their cafe, as you know in advance that you will receive courteous treatment and the best of service. We regret to lose them, but hope the change will prove advantageous to them.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by SWIFT BROS & SMITH

RAPID GROWTH HAS COME TO BAPTISTS

75 MILLION CAMPAIGN HAS LENT STRENGTH TO EVERY DEPARTMENT OF WORK

RESULTS IN SOUTH NOTED

Home and State Missions, Schools, Orphanages, Hospitals and Relief Report Marked Advances Under Forward Movement

DR. B. D. GRAY, Secretary Home Mission Board South.

Suggesting the growth which the Baptist 75 Million Campaign has brought to the general work of Southern Baptists, it is reported by the general headquarters of the movement that during the four years that have intervened since the Campaign was inaugurated in 1919, the denomination has gained 57 district associations, 381 active ministers, 3,968 local churches, 3,287 Sunday schools with 469,223 pupils, 8,658 Young People's Unions with 233,917 members, and 7,094 Woman's Missionary Union organizations, and baptized 762,850 persons. At the same time the churches have given $28,776,937 more to missions, Christian education and benevolences than they did during the corresponding period prior to the Campaign, and have increased their investment in local church property by $45,405,118.

The larger resources made possible for missions and benevolences through the channels of the Campaign have been responsible for great advances in every form of denominational work, both at home and abroad.

Complete Church Building Fund Among the outstanding achievements of the Home Mission Board, operating throughout the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention, are noted the completion of its million dollar church building loan fund, the baptism of 173,602 persons, reception into the churches of 277,968 persons, enlistment of 11,772 young people in the dedication of their lives to some definite form of Christian service, building or improvement of 1,872 church houses and organization of 935 Baptist churches and 2,898 new Sunday schools.

Practically twice the state mission results have been accomplished in many of the states since the Campaign began as were had for any corresponding period of time prior to that movement.

4,000 Orphans Cared For Nearly 4,000 orphan boys and girls are cared for in the 19 Baptist orphanages of the South. Two new orphanages have been provided by the Campaign and practically all of the older ones have been given better equipment by this movement. The equipment is not large enough yet, as 2,000 boys and girls had to be turned away last year because the institutions had no more room.

When the Campaign was launched Southern Baptists had only 13 hospitals. Today that number has been increased to 21. Last year over 47,000 patients were treated in these hospitals, a large number of these being charity patients who could not have had an opportunity to get well except through some such assistance.

The Relief and Annuity Board, serving aged ministers, is now aiding more than 925 beneficiaries and has expended in direct relief since the Campaign began the sum of $414,892.46.

It will require $31,000,000 additional cash to complete the Campaign by the end of the period in 1924, and every effort is being made to enlist all Southern Baptists in having a share in this task.

ENDORSE HIGHWAY PROJECT

To Our People: We attended the meeting of the Lone Star Trail Association held at the county court room last Friday night, and heard Mr. Brian and Mr. Hughes explain the objects, purposes and plans of the association.

In our opinion, this organization, if given reasonable support, will succeed in routing this Ocean-to-Ocean Highway through and across the continent by way of Nacogdoches, so that within a few years the tourist travel from Florida to California and back will pass our doors. Such a highway passing through our county and city, would mean a material source of revenue and would advertise our section through and by means of the hundreds of tourists who would travel this way.

Signed: F. H. Tucker, W. I. Baker, J. H. Buchanan, M. G. Hazle, J. J. Greve.

PROGRAM FOR NORTH CHURCH

'DOCHES-SAN AUGUSTINE RECEPTION

The Seniors gave a reception Friday night in honor of the 'Doches and San Augustine football players and the Juniors at the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. K. P. Branch on Mound street. Progressive conversation, our favorite amusement, was indulged in until a late hour, interspersed with frequent visits to the punch bowl, which occupied a conspicuous place on the front porch. Those who cared to choose dancing, music being furnished by a Victrola which was also on the porch. Very reluctantly we bade our hostess good night after spending one of the most delightful evenings of the season.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at Nacogdoches Friday night in the interest of the Lone Star Trail, a national highway, which, when completed, will extend from St. Augustine, Fla., to Los Angeles, Cal. Local organization was perfected at the Nacogdoches meeting. The Lone Star Trail has already been designated to pass through Timpson, official markers having been placed along the route through this section several weeks ago. Mr. J. M. Hughes, secretary of the Association, spent several days here and received every encouragement from our people, with the assurance that Timpson wanted the highway. Local organization was perfected here and Mr. Hughes stated to a Times reporter that he had never met with better encouragement than was displayed during his visit to this city.—Timpson Times, 16th.

Carl Fairchild, a Diboll boy who was on the Lufkin high school football squad last year as left tackle, was one of the college boys from the Stephen F. He is taking business administration and completing some of his credits preparatory to taking a full four-year college course.—Lufkin News, 15th.

LEVI SMITH

Levi Smith of Melrose, affectionately known to all his friends and acquaintances as "Uncle Levi," died at 4:15 Wednesday morning at his home, aged 84 years.

Deceased was born in Florida, but came to Texas in his childhood and has lived in the state all his life. He has been a resident of Nacogdoches county for more than 50 years.

He is survived by his widow and six children, J. I. Sith of Woden, Mrs. A. G. Mayes, who was making her home with him; Mrs. C. I. Skillern of Troup, Frank Smith of Melrose, Mrs. W. P. Matthews of Lufkin, and G. E. Smith of Jacksonville.

Interment was made Wednesday afternoon in the Melrose cemetery, Mr. McCrary conducting the service.

He had been a consistent member of the Christian church for 30 years, and was a gallant Confederate soldier in the War Between the States.

A long and useful life has closed in peace.

THE CROWD WELL HANDLED

Chief of Police Dock Watson deserves great credit for the superb manner in which the huge circus crowd was handled Tuesday. The task was somewhat more exacting than usual because of the fact that no performance was given by the show, and the crowd remained on the streets throughout the day, when ordinarily there is a respite while the people are at the show part of the time.

But Chief Watson and his 14 special officers were strictly on the job and the day passed with no suspicion of trouble of any kind.

Two showmen had a fight at the station and were fined $12.80 and two other belligerents engaged in a "scrap" at the show grounds but were released on their promise of behaving themselves. Among our own people, however, there was only good-nature, and the best of order prevailed.

Safely directing traffic when the streets are full of cars and crowded with pedestrians may seem a small task to the uninitiated, but you can't convince those whose duty it is to preserve order and prevent accidents that there is any fun in it.

The Sells-Floto circus failed to give a performance here Tuesday, the recent rains having rendered the ground too muddy and boggy for handling the teams and heavy wagons. The animals were driven to the fair grounds on East Main street, where the show was to have been held, and watered and fed. The street parade was also abandoned on account of the delayed arrival of the trains, which were several hours late. Quite a crowd assembled along the streets, those from the country districts being especially numerous, and were grievously disappointed when it was announced that the show had been called off.

A car driven by Lee Mullins ran into another car parked by W. M. Slack of Chireno in front of the McLain-Adams Company's just before noon Wednesday, the Slack car being lifted by the impact to the sidewalk more than a foot above the street level. Mullins was arrested on a charge of abusive language used in a subsequent quarrel with Slack, and placed under $50 bond to answer the complaint. It was arranged for him also to pay for the damage to the car into which he had run, this latter amount being estimated at about $5.

Several of our people went to Garrison Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral of Mrs. R. B. Walthall. Many others were deterred by the rain which began falling about 1 o'clock.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The last triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take.

One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price 35 cents for the large family size; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)
