Sewer Bond Election Carries 93-7

Bonds Will Be Sold Immediately

City voters decided "for" a sewer system for Bovina when the $100,000 bond election carried Saturday, August 13, at the city hall. A total of 100 people voted. 93 were for the sewer system and seven against.

J. W. Smith, resident manager of Central Investment of Texas at Lubbock said that the bonds will be placed on the market immediately and that they must be sold within 45 days. Smith met with the city commission at a special meeting Monday afternoon at 5:00 p. m. The city commission, at the meeting, canvassed the returns and officially declared that the election carried 93-7.

Emmett Tabor acted as mayor pro tem in the absence of Mayor O. W. Rhinehart. Rhinehart was unable to attend due to illness. Tabor said that the city commission would "try to be ready to let the contract when the bonds are sold." If the commission is ready when the bonds are sold then it will be only 45 days at the most before the contract can be let. It had earlier been estimated that it would take some 90 days to let the contact from the date of the election.

The bonds will be in the denomination of $1,000 and will be of the revenue type. They will be paid by the profits that are derived from the sewer system and from the water system. Taxes will not be molested in any way.

Earlier in the summer, the commission was petitioned by the required number of qualified voters to call the bond election.

The Columbian Securities Corporation at Amarillo is also making deals to sell the bonds. The bonds will carry three and one-half percent interest for the first five years, four percent interest for the next 10 years, four and one-quarter percent for the next 10 years and four and one-half percent for the next five years. They will be optional for redemption on and after 20 years from their date. In other words, it is possible that only five years of the four and one-quarter percent interest would have to be paid and none of the four and one-half percent interest.

W. J. Parker, J. D. Stephens, and C. R. Elliott were in charge of the election.

Halsie and Green Engineering Company of Lubbock had been employed to approximate the cost of a sewer system for Bovina.

The Blade has a bad case of the convention blues this week. But that was the first convention that it has had to suffer through and maybe by the time another one comes along The Blade will be in better shape to stand a three day layoff in its production.

This particular convention was that of the West Texas Press Association and was in Colorado City, TEXAS. I capitalize Texas so that no one will get the impression that it was held in the state of Colorado. For instance, Jeanie was overly enthused about the trip until about 30 minutes before we left when the fact that Colorado City was some yea many miles northwest of Midland was mentioned.

A look of disappointment came over her face and—you guessed it, she exclaimed, "Do you mean we're not going to the mountains." All in all, the convention was a lot of fun as well as being educational even after Jeanie's disappointment and The Blade's extremely hard time of being published this week (it always has a hard time, but this time it was extremely hard).

Possum Richards lives on Highway 86 very, very near where the street that connects Highway 86 and 86, intersects Highway 86.

Was glad to learn that Bovina's football coach could finally find a place to live here. I met Bob Wills, the coach, Tuesday morning. He has "a hard row to hoe" since Bovina teams won so many honors just last year. We want to wish him all the luck and good fortune in the world as a newspaperman and a citizen of the town.

A newspaperman doesn't have any luck of his own. Wonder if he can wish it to some one in another profession. (Don't think anything about that newspaperman's luck statement, I mentioned the convention blues when I started this).

How to get back to Possum Richards and how I know where he lives.

A week or ten days ago, I was driving down Third Street and just before I turned right on Highway 86, I noticed a man walking that looked familiar. As I got closer I realized it was the Possum himself.

Trying to be neighborly, I stopped and asked where he was going. "Going home," was the reply. "Would you like a ride?" "Sure would," he said as he got in the car.

Well, I drove along about a half mile slowly, I was expecting to hear him say, "this is it," just any time. But when we were almost out of town he came out with, "Where are you going?" I thought we'd gone through all about how I was going to take him home before I went anywhere and that I thought we were going in the direction of his house but I explained it again. He then explained that his house was in the opposite direction of that in which we were going.

So I wonderingly turned around, drove back up the road and stopped where he told me—at the house directly across the street from where I picked him up in the beginning. He got out, offered a polite "Thank you" and went into the house.

I don't know if I understand that member of our town or not.

For, 93, against, seven, I'm of the opinion that is an overwhelming majority. The people of Bovina wanted a sewer system and wanted it bad according to the results of the election. I expected it to carry but not by that much of a majority. The town will be better off in the long run even if the resulting product won't be as obvious as some other improvements that can be made.

I don't feel that the town should be satisfied with just one improvement but that we should start laying groundwork right now for other projects that will improve the town.

One thing that was brought to my attention that needs doing and the more I think about it the more I think it needs doing right away is to replace the city limit markers of Bovina. The population of Bovina is, we all know, more than the 610 that the markers say. I understand that those markers were erected after the 1940 census. I believe that Bovina should be more up to date than 1940 whether it is street markers or something else.

School to Begin Monday, Aug. 29

School starts at the new school building in Bovina Monday, August 29. Superintendent W. H. Willoughby says he expects a larger enrollment this year than last. Some 350 students were enrolled at the beginning of last year.

An open house will be held at the new building the night of August 29, at 7:00 p. m. The open house will feature a barbecue at the football field followed by entertainment in the auditorium with an inspection of the building to conclude the evening. Willoughby said that the public was invited and that a large crowd was expected.

Why the number wasn't changed after the 1950 census I don't know but it should have been done then and since it wasn't it needs to be done now. Those markers, aside from elevators, are the first thing an individual sees when he comes to Bovina by which he could form an opinion. Why should we mislead a stranger in the beginning.

Now if the markers said there were 610 more people than there actually are, I could understand that but we definitely need to have a more correct population on the city limit markers.

The city commission has the right idea in trying to keep down the number of cars and trucks that park in the middle of North Street by painting signs showing the people where to park. They have the right idea and whether or not they have the right approach remains to be seen. Middle of the street parkers create a safety hazard as well as make it mighty inconvenient for other drivers.

But I'm kinda proud of our parking problem in a way. If we didn't have one it would probably be because of lack of growth and I'm for the growth of the community to say the least.

Horton Services Held Thursday

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. for G. W. Horton with Reverend M. D. Dunham of Chillicothe and Rev. C. M. Fields of Friona, officiating. Interment was in Bovina Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Bobby, Jimmy, Terry, Hershel and Max Horton and Bobby Joe Donham, all nephews of Mr. Horton.

Honorary pallbearers were C. A. Guinn, Tom Griffith, Bill Perkins, Stacy Queen, Vibin Isham and C. L. Calaway.

Little Leaguers Lose Last to Lazbuddie

Though aided by a home run by Monty Turner and a fine pitching performance by Buford Stanberry, the Bovina little leaguers lost to Lazbuddie 8-7 Monday night at Lazbuddie.

Bovina was leading by a score of 7-6 going into the bottom half of the last inning when Lazbuddie picked up two runs to win it. Bovina led by as many as five runs at one time during the game.

Stanberry did "a whale of a good pitching job," said Manager Allen Cumpston after the game. The locals plan to play in a little league tournament at Lazbuddie sometime next week.

North Street Gets Washing and Painting

North Street in downtown Bovina was washed and the parking space lines repainted the first part of the week. Henry Minter, city water superintendent, is in charge of the cleaning and painting. James Wade and Bill Pruitt assisted Minter.

Signs were also painted in the center of the street. The idea being, Minter said, to eliminate parking in the middle of the street. The middle of the street parking had become so bad that at times it was impossible to cross the street due to the line of cars that were parked there.

* If the painting does not at least partially solve the problem other means will have to be taken, Minter added.

Friona Storms Bovina 16 to 7

Loss Knocks Locals Out of Playoffs

Bothered by the Friona jinx that has worked against them all season, the Bovina baseballers lost to Friona 16-7 Sunday at Friona in "sudden death" playoffs to determine the winner of the first round of the Irrigation Belt League playoffs. Bovina finished fourth in season play and Friona was the first place winner.

A best-two-out-of-three series was originally planned for the playoff but by mutual agreement only one game was played. Friona will meet the winner of the second and third place teams' playoff at a later date.

Robert Read, who lost a 2-1 thriller to Friona the last time he faced them, started on the mound for Bovina and retired the side in order in the first inning on two strike outs and a fly ball. However, Friona acquired a lead in the second that the locals could never overcome.

John Renner, cleanup hitter for Friona led off with a single. Read hit Bill Woodley with a pitched ball and then walked Wes Barnett to load the bases with nobody out. Lindley Davis hit a slow bouncer to Third Baseman Adrian Martin who fumbled the ball and allowed Renner to score.

The next man up, F. L. Oliver hit a ground ball between second and first that was fielded by Robert McCormick, second baseman, but Darrell Read, first baseman, had also been trying for the ball and there was no one for McCormick to throw to at first and he was too late to cut the run off at the plate. Weldon Menchew followed with a ground ball to Shortstop Billie Malcom who threw wild in an attempt to force the runner coming home from third.

With three runs home, nobody out and the bases still loaded, Read struck out C. H. Veazy but walked Jim Oliver to force home the fourth run of the inning. Stan Barrett, the winning pitcher, then grounded to Martin who forced a runner at third and threw to first to complete the twin killing and retire the side.

Friona couldn't score in the third, however, they did get two men on with a single and a walk. They came back in the fourth to drive starter Robert Read from the mound with three singles. Darrell Read came on to relieve but he couldn't put out the fire before Friona had scored 11 runs on six hits and three Bovina errors.

Robert Read was the losing pitcher. He worked three complete innings, walked two, hit one batsman, struck out three, and allowed four hits. Darrell Read, who relieved Robert in the fourth with nobody out went the rest of the distance, gave up eight hits, walked two and struck out five.

Barrett, the winner, was relieved by Renner in the sixth inning. Bovina scored three runs in the fifth inning on one hit, two walks and an error. They added another in the seventh on two singles and two walks, still another in the eighth when Martin was safe on an error and scored on McCormick's double. Jerry Rogers drove in two more runs in the ninth when he slapped a double to the fence in center field after Darrell Read had walked and Art Mast had singled.

McCormick led the losing hitters with three hits, including a double, in five trips. Malcom had two for four and Mast, Charles Don Smith, and Rogers had one hit each. Bovina ended the regular season tied with Hereford for fourth place and acquired clear possession of a playoff berth by defeating Hereford in a playoff game August 7.

Social Security News Block

Most older workers know that Social Security payments are "retirement" payments and cannot be paid unless the worker has "retired." It is believed, however, that there is some confusion as to the meaning of the term "retirement."

In the first place, restrictions against persons working while receiving payments applies only to the age group from 65 through 71. After a person becomes 72 years of age he can receive any social security payments to which he is entitled regardless of the amount of his earnings. People in this group should contact their Social Security Office immediately and file application for payments if they have worked as much as 1 1/2 years in employment or self-employment covered by the Social Security Law.

The rules for making social security payments to workers in the 65-71 age group who are still working are as follows.

1. If annual earnings are no more than $1200 per year, payments to qualified workers can be made for all months of the year.

2. If earnings are more than (Continued on Last Page)

STREET PAINTING—Painting of designated parking space on North Street was being done the first part of the week. One purpose of the painting is to cut down on the amount of vehicles that park in the middle of the street. Henry Minter, right, city water superintendent, is in charge of the painting. Don't Quit Now Bovina is going to have a sewer system. But the sewer system was only a part of the things that need to be done for the improvement of the town.

Street lighting and paving are two things that the town needs.

Street lights wouldn't have any initial cost which is a welcome relief to the town citizens who are used to paying large sums of money for improvements. The cost would just be an increase in the electrical bill that the city has to pay every month the same as an individual does.

Paving is a different story. In some towns the property owners pay for the curbing and paving that runs beside their property. This is a considerable expense in many cases but it will increase the value of the property enough to justify the cost.

So, let's don't quit now. Just because Bovina has one of the best school buildings in this section of the state and has a sewer system project that will get under way in the near future, we shouldn't sit back and say "Look what we have."

Instead we should continue to work to improve the town in which we live.

THE PARING KNIFE

By JEANIE MOTEN

We've been to our first convention! Dolph and I took off Thursday to attend the West Texas Press Association which met this year in Colorado City.

It was inspiring, interesting, and entertaining, not to speak of being most educational. We're both, though we understand everyone attending such a convention shares the same short-lived stimulation, determined and eager to improve our paper and do a better job for Bovina.

Words can't describe the inspiration one receives from watching awards being given to outstanding newspapers.

The State Line Tribune walked off with one of the better trophies. Sure would like to bring the folks in Bovina a similar token.

Learned one very important technique over the weekend—"How to Get Rich in the Newspaper Business."

The Circleville Philosopher gave a good speech on that subject, considering the misunderstanding between himself and the printers of the program. Seems as if this worthy philosopher thought he was supposed to talk on "How Can You Get Rich in the Newspaper Business?"

Anyway, he got busy on an impromptu speech and gave one or two good tips—inheriting the Dallas Morning News or the Ft. Worth Star Telegram.

Am working on the possibility now.

Have always heard of a town booming due to oil, but until this weekend have never actually seen one in the process.

We drove through Andrews, and the boom activity there actually made me giddy. Seems as if all that they need to do to have further expansion is to "vote another bond issue." They for sure aren't afraid of a mass accumulation of debt!

No sooner than they complete a new school, they have to construct another due to lack of space. Beats anything I've ever seen.

Though Bovina's growth is slower, past experience has shown such growth as ours to be more stable and continuous than an oil boom.

Have heard that I pick on Dolph too much in my column. And (since everyone knows men are pretty defenseless anyway) guess a little fun needs to be poked at me; so will repeat a squelch Dolph threw my way.

While eating in a cafe the other day, was rather embarrassed by Dolph's obvious hunger. But that was nothing compared to his remark as he contently pushed his spotless plate away—"You know, I used to not like to order the dinner. It was always too much like food you eat at home."

At the baseball game Sunday, Glenn Hromas and little Greg sat in the car with me. Was amazed at the quantity of water the child was able to consume.

Seemed like every five minutes he'd come forth with, "I want a drink."

Looked around to the back seat once; then understood it all. Greg was getting the biggest kick out of throwing the water out the back window.

While being spanked the other day for doing something she knew she shouldn't Jan Gromowsky looked up with a hurt look in her innocent eyes and said, "Mother, I'm just a little girl and can't defend myself."

Wyndol Davies, after a narrow escape with the sight of his right eye, can assure you that chain reactions don't always go the way intended.

Placing a 22 bullet on the ground about two feet behind a can, he planned to shoot the bullet with his BB gun and make it shoot the can. Getting down close so as not to miss, he fired away. But the hull came back to hit him in the eye.

Wyndol now has a black and swollen eye. He says he didn't look to see if the lead hit the can.

Mrs. Gene Snell can testify, along with every other mother, I imagine, that not all children's activities can be termed cute or lovable.

Monday she found her kids playing with a hand rake. She, of course, warned them that such things weren't made to play with, that they were dangerous, and all the usual, and told them to put it up. Going on about her business, that was the last she thought of it. That is, the last until she drove her car and found all four prongs stuck in a rear tire.

Hereford Publisher Starts Scholarship

LUBBOCK—Establishment of a $180 annual Hereford Brand Freshman Scholarship in journalism at Texas Tech was announced today by Dr. William E. Hall, Tech journalism head.

Purpose of the scholarship, provided by Hereford publisher James M. Gillentine, is to encourage talented high school graduates to begin professional training in journalism.

"Through scholarships such as this, we'll be able to meet within a few years the increasing needs of this region for trained newspaper personnel," Dr. Hall said.

The Tech journalism educator reported that more than 60 job openings had been listed with his department within the past 10 months, about seven per graduating senior.

This year's Brand freshman scholarship will be open to any entering Tech journalism freshman from West Texas who ranked in the top half of his or her high school graduating class and who demonstrated both interest and superior ability in journalism, Dr. Hall said.

Applications should be mailed to the Department of Journalism, Texas Tech, before August 15. The 1954-55 winner will be announced on or about September 1.

In future years, the scholarship will be awarded to the outstanding journalism senior at Hereford, to be chosen by a representative of the Brand, the high school principal and school journalism instructor.

"We are particularly proud that the first donor to Tech's new 'hometown scholarships' program should be a long-time leader in Texas press circles," Dr. Hall said.

Gillentine is a director of the Texas Press Association, a past president of the Panhandle Press Association and a member of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism professional fraternity.

He has been associated with the Brand since 1927. He became a co-owner of the newspaper in 1939 and sole publisher in 1948. Following graduation from SMU he worked on the Wellington Leader and Dallas Times-Herald.

Under Gillentine's direction, the Hereford Brand has been a constant award-winner in Texas journalism competition. The newspaper was awarded first place in 1955 TPA competition for personal column, editorials and news pictures. The Brand also ran first in editorials in 1952 and won the "sweepstakes" for semi-weeklies and tri-weeklies in 1952.

The Brand was one of Texas' first successful semi-weekly newspapers, also one of the first to successfully publish a Sunday edition.

BEAUTY TIPS by June Norton

Owner and Operator
JUNE'S BEAUTY SHOP

There are several reasons for having a bad complexion. Some people have a better skin than others and some have skin that responds very well to little care while others must be very particular with their complexion.

Some of the reasons for bad skin, that is, the pimply kind of skin, are nervous disorders, anemia, constipation, digestive disorders, menstrual disorders, internal glandular trouble, incorrect diets and other activity of the sebaceous oil glands.

If your skin is broken out very badly, see your doctor, the main thing is to find out what is causing your trouble and then work to correct it.

The last two causes named are the most common causes for bad complexion.

The adolescent's skin is mostly caused by the over activity of the sebaceous glands, that is to say the over working of the oil glands.

The adolescent's body is changing from children into adulthood and many processes must take place before your glands all settle down to working smoothly. You can help these glands to work more perfectly with careful diet and exercise.

Which calls for plenty of fresh air and eight glasses of water a day. Sweets, fried foods, white bread, fat meats and too many potatoes should be practically eliminated from the diet and, of course, proper elimination and daily bathing are essential.

I will continue with complexion care next week.

BOVINA BUTANE SERVICE PRESENTS
KNOW YOUR NEIGHBORS

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kirkpatrick and family who live three miles west of Bovina on Highway 60 are the neighbors for this week. The children in the Kirkpatrick family are the twins, Darrell and Carol, 5, and Debra, 2.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick's maiden name is Lily Byrd and she was born and reared in Petersburg. Her mother, Mrs. A. F. Byrd, is living with Lily at the present time. She takes turns living with her three daughters in the course of a year.

There were 10 children in the Byrd family, five boys and five girls. Three brothers and one sister live in Petersburg, which is the most number in one spot, says Mrs. Kirkpatrick. She also has a sister and a brother at Muleshoe and a brother at Hale Center. Two of her sisters are deceased.

After attending school at Petersburg, Lily went to Plainview where she spent some time at Lippert's Business College. From there she worked as a hostess at the Hilton Coffee Shop for about a year.

J. D. was born at Lakeview and comes from a family of three boys and two girls. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Kirkpatrick of Petersburg.

J. D.'s two brothers live in Oklahoma and are employed as court reporters, having had no desire to be farmers, Mrs. Kirkpatrick says. One sister of J. D. lives in Albuquerque while the other sister resides in Lovington, N. M.

J. D. attended school at Lakeview until he was 16 when the Kirkpatrick family moved to Petersburg. He continued his schooling at Petersburg and then went into the Navy where he served for three years. J. D. led the life of a professional boxer for several years. He entered the Golden Gloves while in high school and then continued his boxing career while in the Navy.

The Kirkpatricks were married

March 8, 1947, at Plainview and moved to New Jersey where J. D. became an undefeated boxing star. He continued his winning streak until he received a broken jaw in a fight which he had won. The broken jaw bone was not discovered until after the last encounter and it was at this time that J. D. decided to give up his boxing career.

After this episode the Kirkpatricks moved back to Petersburg where J. D. took up the carpentering trade. He stayed at this work for about a year before he began his farming occupation which he still engages in.

J. D. farmed in Petersburg for a year before moving to Hale Center where he continued in this capacity for three years. It was just before Christmas of 1954 that the Kirkpatrick family moved to Parmer County to settle at their present location.

J. D. farms 306 acres of his own land and has about 800 acres in his hands including land which he rents. Feed is his main crop, but he does raise some wheat and cotton.

J. D. has five wells, two of them on his farm and the other three scattered over the other land. All of these wells are on natural gas. Butane supplied by Bovina Butane Service is used for J. D.'s three tractors, a pick-up, and the Kirkpatricks also furnish this fuel for the three homes on the rented land.

The Kirkpatricks attend church at the Bovina Baptist Church and Lily is a member of the Bovina Women's Study Club and Bovina Home Demonstration Club.

Lily says that being a homemaker is about the only "hobby" she has, but that J. D. does enjoy going fishing when he gets the chance.

J. D. is also a member of the Parmer County Farm Bureau.

Effect of Radiation On Mind Studied

LUBBOCK—What effect does radiation have on the human mind? Texas Tech psychologists are now launching a three-year research program to help establish an answer for that increasingly important question.

The study, to cost approximately $45,000, is being financed by the United States Public Health Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness.

"We're principally interested in determining whether radiation will impair the individual's ability to learn and to remember," Dr. Sylvan J. Kaplan, Tech psychology department head, explained.

Twelve Macacus Rhesus monkeys arrived on the campus recently to serve as subjects for the experiments which will be conducted by Dr. Kaplan and Dr. Kenneth McCutchan, co-director of the project.

The Macacus Rhesus, an Indian species, has a sufficiently high intellectual level to permit comparisons with humans. In addition, previous research has provided a wealth of knowledge about his anatomy and physiology.

During the first year of research, Drs. Kaplan and McCutchan will establish the I. Q. of the dozen subjects through a series of learning and memorizing problems.

Since arriving on the Tech campus early last fall, Dr. McCutchan has been engaged in constructing a complicated network of passages, freedom from which will depend on the monkeys' ability to learn certain key colors and shapes.

Past experience leads the Tech psychologists to believe a curve of intelligence will be established for the monkeys not unlike that of an average classroom of humans.

Once their intelligences are determined, the monkeys will be subjected to radiation and then be re-run periodically through the mazes so that "before" and "after" measurements of their intellectual ability can be obtained.

"We feel that a study of the effects of radiation on the monkeys' ability to perform complex intellectual tasks will give us some insight into what to expect from irradiated humans," Dr. Kaplan said.

A request has already been received from Brig. Gen. Elbert DeCoursey, director of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, asking that findings in the study be transmitted to Washington.

Dr. Kaplan has specialized for the past five years in radiation work and has written more than 25 articles on the subject. Prior to coming here, he was director of the Primate Laboratory at the U. S. Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at the University of Texas. He worked extensively with Macacus Rhesus monkeys during his four years with the Primate Laboratory.

Dr. Kaplan was one of 25 radiation experts in the country invited to attend a United States Public Health Service conference on that subject in Bethesda, Md., early last month.

Dr. McCutchan is a specialist in animal learning, boasting more than 10 years of experimental work with animals. Prior to coming here, he taught at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina. He has also served on the psychology faculties of the Universities of Texas, Florida and Oklahoma.

Questions and Answers for Vets

Q—I have just been discharged from the armed forces with a disability. I have applied to VA for service-connected compensation. If and when I am placed on the rolls, I intend to get a permanent GI insurance policy available to disabled Korea veterans. But in the meantime, I would like to be covered with insurance. Is there anything I can do now?

A—Yes. You may obtain the special Korean GI term insurance—available to all Korea veterans—if you act within 120 days following your discharge. Then, after VA rules that your disability is service-connected, you may apply for the permanent insurance. Meanwhile, you will have been covered by the special term policy.

Q—I have been out of service for a year. I am planning to apply to VA for disability compensation. Since the armed forces have my medical records, will I be required to take a physical examination?

A—You will be required to take a VA physical examination. VA may waive the examination, under some circumstances, only for veterans who apply for compensation within six months after their separation from service.

Q—I am a "double duty" veteran with service in World War II and since Korea. I am in training under the World War II GI Bill. I would like to switch to the Korean GI Bill, but I notice that my three-years-from-discharge starting deadline for Korean GI training has passed.

Is it too late to switch?

A—No. Even though your Korean GI Bill starting deadline has passed, you still may be permitted to switch to that training law. You may take the change either at the end of any regular enrollment period or at the time your World War II GI entitlement is exhausted.

Q—Is it possible for a veteran who lives in one State to get a GI loan to buy a home in another State?

A—Yes, it is possible. However, lenders generally confine their lending operations to certain specific areas. You should check your lender.

10th ANNIVERSARY HIT! HOLIDAY ON ICE OF 1955

the Snapshot Guild

It's the light on the subject that counts; camera user could be in complete darkness and still get a picture.

Light Makes Your Snapshots

Have you ever thought about how important a factor light is in taking pictures? As a matter of fact, there would be no picture at all without it. For it is the light entering your camera when you open the shutter that creates the image on the film—light that is reflected from the subject, into your camera, and on to the film.

In taking pictures, the lens and shutter of your camera act just as the human eye does. The iris of the eye admits light, which in turn registers an image on the retina. Just as the iris adjusts automatically to brighter or weaker light, your camera lets you accomplish the same effect by means of its adjustable lens and shutter.

Film has a fixed sensitivity—it requires just so much light to register a picture. Too much light produces over-exposure—a chalky, "burned-up" look. Too little light results in under-exposure—darkness, lack of detail, or even no picture at all.

Whenever we use an adjustable camera, we have to decide what will be the best lens opening and shutter speed for a particular picture. And this, of course, is based on the amount of light reaching the subject.

Note that we said "light reaching the subject"—not on the camera or on the person behind it. In picture-taking, it's the light on the subject that counts, not the amount of light where the camera is. As long as your subject is well-lighted, everything else may be in the densest shade and it won't affect your picture one bit!

To obtain exactly the right quantity of light every time you take a picture, you soon learn to mix a little observation with a little mechanical help. The easiest mechanical assistance for you to have is the exposure table packed with most film—or perhaps you'd prefer one of the 25-cent pocket-size guides which allow you to dial the proper exposure for any given weather conditions, film, distance, etc.

Sunbeam Band Gives Program At Meeting

The Sunbeam Band of the First Baptist Church was in charge of the program for prayer meeting on Wednesday, August 10, at 8:30 p. m.

A playlet, "A Boy of Wishes," was given, led by Janet Gooch. The following members took part: Ronnie Williams, Margie Fuller, Janie Lou Hawkins, Linda Williams, Martha Ann Adams, and Tonya Vee Ivy.

The entire group then joined in singing songs that they have learned in Sunbeam Band.

Originally there were four months between presidential elections and the inauguration to allow for slow methods of communication and transportation.

Before building their first airplane, the Wright brothers were in the bicycle business.
