The time was Tuesday afternoon of this week. The scene was the pretty home of Mrs. G. D. Anderson. The parlor windows had been thrown wide open, and through them came the soft spring zephyrs, laden with the color of spring flowers. The occasion was the regular weekly meeting of the ladies' euchre club. The game was in progress, and from time to time the merry triumphant laugh of players would mingle with the joyful song of little birds in the honeysuckles outside. Time sped away unnoticed until the slanting rays of Old Sol proclaimed the approaching hour of sunset. Then refreshments were served, and the latest fashions of ice cream and cake were fully discussed. Then came adieu, and a shower of congratulations upon the fair hostess for a most pleasant entertainment.

Mrs. Hixson has the measles.—San Angelo Enterprise.

Rev. Abe Mulkey will begin a meeting at Sherwood, Iron county, next week.

DEWEY DAY CELEBRATED IN A NUMBER OF CITIES.

Many Cities of the United States Commemorate the First Anniversary of the Battle in Manila Bay.

May 1 being the first anniversary of Admiral Dewey's victory at Manila was celebrated at many cities, among them the following:

New York—Dewey day was celebrated here by the public schools holding special exercises in honor of the admiral's victory. Flags were displayed on the school buildings.

Philadelphia—Dewey day was celebrated here with imposing pomp and ceremony. It was a state holiday by legislative enactment.

Savannah, Ga.—All steam whistles in the city were blown, fire bells rung and flags displayed on school houses.

Pensacola, Fla.—Trades unions paraded in this city and business houses closed.

New Orleans—The schools celebrated Dewey day by the pupils reading compositions giving accounts of Manila bay battle.

Boston—Flags were displayed on national state and municipal buildings and the schools held exercises.

Pittsburg, Pa.—The city was gaily decorated. A grand mass meeting was held at night in which three of the Raleigh's crew participated.

Brooklyn Navy Yard—While at the navy yard President McKinley sent the following telegram to Dewey: "Dewey: On this anniversary of your great victory, the people of the United States unite in expression of affection and gratitude to yourself and brave officers and men of your fleet, whose brilliant achievement marked an epoch in our history and which will live in the annals of the world's heroic deeds."

Mauch Chunk, Pa.—By the premature discharge of a cannon used in the celebration of Dewey day three persons were badly injured. An unknown boy was badly burned and cut. Jerry Conway has three fingers blown off. James McGee has an arm torn off. McGee displayed remarkable nerve. He picked up the arm and carried it to the railroad hospital car. The cannon was heavily loaded with powder and stones.

London, May 2.—The marquis of Salisbury, prime minister and minister of foreign affairs, and A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, announced yesterday in the house of lords and in the house of commons respectively the general drift of the Anglo-Russian agreement regarding the spheres of influence of the governments of Great Britain and Russia in China as they have already been made known. Lord Salisbury said he hoped Russia would consent to the publication of the text of the agreement when it arrived in a few days. His lordship emphasized his anxiety not to appear to attach exaggerated importance to the specific stipulations of the agreement, adding: "But of course I attach very great importance to the signing of this agreement, because it is a sign of the good feeling so desirable between the governments of Russia and England."

His lordship also expressed the hope that the good feeling would extend to the peoples of the two nations. This agreement, he said, was valuable as preventing the possibility of a collision between the two governments in China and "therefore," he said, "it is a guarantee of their future agreement for a long time to come. I trust that it will lead to future agreements in other matters."

Washington, May 2.—The United States supreme court yesterday decided a case which has the effect of barring judges from participating in proceedings in courts of appeal who have dealt with the same cases in the lower courts. The case was that of Moran vs. Dillingham. The supreme court set aside the decree of the court of appeals for the fifth circuit on the ground that Judge Pardee in the circuit court for the northern district of Texas participated in the proceedings in the higher court.

Seventeen farmers of Pemiscot county, Missouri, have been arrested charged with cutting the Mississippi river levee.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—The Anglo-Russian agreement with reference to spheres of influence in China is not in the form of a convention, but is set forth in a note, duplicates of which have been exchanged between the Russian minister of foreign affairs, Count Muriev, and the British ambassador to Russia, Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Scott. The preamble states that both countries agree to uphold the integrity and independence of the Chinese empire.

Louisville, Ky., May 2.—The sixth annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway Employees of America began here yesterday behind closed doors. The convention will last five days. About forty cities are represented. The proceedings of yesterday were chiefly devoted to the appointment of committees and the organization of the convention. The election of officers will take place on the last day.

Louisville, Galveston, Houston and Atlanta are the southern cities that are represented.

Manila, May 2.—Gen. MacArthur has sent officers to Gen. Antonio Luna, the Filipino commander, under a flag of truce, carrying money and provisions for American prisoners in his hands and asking an exchange of prisoners and the names of such as he may have. It is reported that the insurgents have two officers and sixteen others, and it is supposed that among these are Leon, J. C. Gilmore and eleven of the crew of the United States gunboat Yorktown, who fell into the hands of the Filipinos last month when the gunboat visited Baler, on the east coast of Luzon.

Maj. Bell with a squad of scouts has captured the town of Macabebe, about four miles southeast of Calumpit, the people ringing bells and shouting "Vivas."

The American army is now employing Macabebe instead of Chinese and they are delighted to get 50 cents a day, declaring their loyalty to the Americans. Maj. Gen. Lawton is advancing. He has organized a band of forty scouts to go ahead of the column. The band, which is under W. M. Young, an old Indian fighter, who killed five Filipinos last week, includes Murphy, Harrington, Somerfield and Murphy of the second Oregon regiment.

Yesterday the anniversary of the battle of Manila bay was observed by the United States fleet, the usual drills being omitted. Admiral Dewey had many visitors and the American and British merchantmen dressed ship.

Washington, May 2.—In accordance with the request of the president to choose from each of the volunteer regiments now in the Philippines one man distinguished for gallantry for appointment as second lieutenant in regular army, Gen. Otis has forwarded the following names, each to receive such a commission: J. B. Morse, first lieutenant California heavy artillery; George T. Ballinger, first lieutenant first California infantry; Ralph B. Lester, second lieutenant first Colorado; William R. Gibson, captain fifty-first Iowa; Chas. A. Beech, sergeant thirtieth Minnesota; E. V. D. Murphy, second lieutenant first Montana; Wallace C. Taylor, captain first Nebraska; Rees Jackson, first lieutenant first Oregon; Frank B. Hawkins, captain tenth Pennsylvania; Evan A. Young, first lieutenant first South Dakota; William C. Webb, second lieutenant Utah light artillery.

Washington, May 2.—Brig. Gen. H. C. Merriam, commanding the department of Colorado, has been ordered to Boise City to consult with the governor of Idaho regarding the necessity, and use of the United States troops at the Wardner strike. The general has placed at his disposal all of the troops available, whether in the department of Colorado or not. The troops of the surrounding departments have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to respond to orders to move when issued by Gen. Merriam. There are some companies in the vicinity of the strike, such as Fort Spokane, Helena, Mont., Vancouver and Boise, which can be sent to the scene of the riots in a very short time. The whole matter is in the hands of Gen. Merriam.

Washington, May 2.—Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Vanderlip yesterday morning handed to Secretary Hay the drafts for $20,000,000 to be turned over to the Spanish government through Ambassador Cambon, according to the terms of the peace treaty.

The original receipts were handed by Secretary Hay to Mr. Frank A. Branagan, the disbursing officer of the department of state, to be filed away. One copy was given to M. Cambon, another will be sent to United States ambassador to Paris, Mr. Porter, and the fourth copy to the auditor of the treasury.

After receiving the $20,000,000 M. Cambon folded the four warrants and put them in his card case.

Memphis, Tenn., May 2.—The United States gunboat Nashville entered Memphis harbor at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon amid the deafening shouts of more than 20,000 people and dropped anchor near the Arkansas shore.

The coming of Uncle Sam's gunboat had been widely heralded and the city is thronged with visitors. The principal business houses and residences are profusely decorated in honor of the event.

Berlin, May 2.—It is the belief in political circles here that England, having relinquished the open door in China and given her adhesion to the sphere of influence policy there, Germany must follow suit.

The Tagblatt yesterday said: "The first consequence of the Anglo-Russian agreement must be that Germany, too, must declare the Hoang Ho valley to be her sphere. It would be a far-seeing error were Germany to confine herself to the province of Shang Tung."

Sherman, Tex., May 2.—Fire originated in the grain and implement warehouse on West Houston street between 2 and 3 o'clock yesterday morning, and they are practically a total loss. The warehouses belonged to Mr. B. L. Fielder and was valued at $3500, insured for $2000; W. O. Brackett & Co., grain dealers, loss $900, insurance $700; C. E. Customs Inspector Jas. McGloin seized eighty head of cattle at Hebbronville. The cattle were smuggled into this country from Mexico. They will be advertised and sold at Laredo.

Mr. Hoels took into Alvin as the result of one day's picking, $115 worth of strawberries. His patch has and will for some time to come bring $100 per day.

Cloud swarms of Bertram shipped two cars of mutton to Houston and C. L. Snow a car of hogs. The stock was sold under contract, the sheep at 4 cents and the hogs at $3.50.

Three farmers, Messrs. Perry and Crockett brothers, marketed 4000 bushels of wheat at McKinney several days ago, for 73 cents per bushel. They are west Collin farmers, where the grain average is largely increased over that of many previous years.

Wheat and oats in the vicinity of Margaret have been badly damaged by the continued dry weather that has prevailed in that section and the farmers in consequence feel blue over the outlook. The corn crop also is very backward and the yield will probably be light.

The sugar crop of Cuba for 1899 is officially estimated at 297,902 English tons as against 232,032 tons for 1898. The tobacco crop of Cuba is said to be as good and more abundant than for two years past. A large number of remedios filler was sold in the field for $22 per quintal.

Who Actually Pays? "In our passenger traffic," observed the railway magnate, "it has been my observation that only the middle class actually pays."

"How do you figure that out?" was asked the interviewer. "It's simple enough," replied the railway magnate. "When a man's very poor he can't afford to buy a ticket, and when he's very rich he travels on a pass."

No Shame, Perhaps. "It looks kinder queer, Malindy," said the new millionaire to his wife after the guests had departed, "that the count wouldn't take his coat off at dinner, like the rest of us, don't it?"

"Maybe he didn't have no shirt," suggested the lady. "I've seen fellows fixed up that way in shows."

In a Dilemma. "What's the matter?" "I'm in a dilemma."

"How so?" "I've got two invitations to dinner. One comes from a woman whom I am afraid to offend and the other woman gives the best feed!"

Under Arrest. "Yes, the man is under arrest for conspiring to procure the death of his mother-in-law. He'll be convicted, too."

"What did he send her? Poisoned candy?" "No. A folding bed."

Happy Loss. "We had burglars at our house last night, ha, ha, ha!" "What are you laughing about?" "They stole my lawn mower, ho, ho, ho."

Foul-Smelling Catarrh.

Catarrh is one of the most obstinate diseases, and hence the most difficult to get rid of. There but one way to cure it. The disease is in the blood, and all the sprays, washes and inhalant mixtures in the world can have no permanent effect whatever upon it. Swift's Specific cures Catarrh permanently, for it is the only remedy which can reach the disease and force it from the blood.

Mr. B. E. McAllister, of Harrodsburg, Ky., had Catarrh for years. He writes: "I could see no improvement whatever, though I was constantly treated with sprays and washes, and different inhalant remedies. I then tried Swift's Specific, which only cost me a few cents, and after a few bottles I was cured. It is the only remedy that I have ever used, and it has cured me of my Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most obstinate cases."

To continue the wrong treatment for Catarrh is to continue to suffer. Swift's Specific is a real blood purifier, and cures obstinate, deep-seated diseases, which other remedies have no effect whatever upon. It promptly reaches Catarrh, and never fails to cure even the most obstinate cases.

S.S.S. for the Blood. It is Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood purifier guaranteed to contain no dangerous ingredients. Books mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

His Opinion on the Law and Order Question.

Kerrville, Tex., May 2nd, 1899
Editor Paper.—I understand that some parties in Kerrville will organize a "law and order league" for the purpose of making the saloon men close up their saloons on Sunday.

I suppose those parties are good Christian people and as such, I wish to speak to them through the columns of your esteemed paper. My friends you should know that the town of Kerrville is largely anti-prohibition and a majority of the voters of Kerrville are drinking men and from a political standpoint they can force a rule upon you to allow the front doors of the saloons to be opened on Sunday as well as the back doors.

And again you are taught by the word of God not to use force to make man better but to address yourselves to the understanding or reasoning faculties of the people that they may be drawn by the force of your logic and your Christian love to turn from sin unto salvation.

You cannot force a man to be a Christian, it must be done by the pure love of God. But you will say if we can stop the saloons being opened on Sunday the men will go to church and will soon become Christians. It is possible that you can think that by making a man angry that you can have a greater influence over his mind. In the language of Paul I claim "God Forbid."

Again I understand that some of the zealous ones are threatening the officers if they do not close up the saloons on Sunday.

To those I wish to say, the officers are the paid servants of a majority of the people and are subject to indictment as much so as any other citizen if he violates the law, and there is no law to compel them to make complaint against the saloon men for keeping their back doors open. But if you are being distressed by their doing so go before the proper officer and file complaint and I will insure that the officers do their whole duty. But some of you may say that they were elected to prosecute all who offend. Now my dear sirs how is the officers going to know who has been offended unless the offended parties make complaint.
JAMES G. MATTHEWS.

Sheep and Cattle.

From Stockman and Farmer:
The manner in which wool is put up for market has an important influence on its price.

At St. Louis last week 88 lb. Texas clipped sheep sold at $4.85. They were shipped from Wolf City.

The wool scouring mill at San Angelo is running 250,000 lbs. for Messrs. Jackson and Richardson.

At Kansas City at the close of the week about 1000 head of Texas sheep 70 to 83 lbs. average, sold at $3.85 and $4.35.

Beef steers declined sharply at all markets last week due, it is said, to largely increased receipts. The decline was 25c to 30c.

At Boston last week 115,000 lbs. of spring Texas wool sold at 11c and 13c per pound.

"Cattle" are reported to be dying some in Tom Green county and the Sonora county, and the death rate is reported heavy in the Southwest Texas country, while North and in the Panhandle losses are light. Sterling county cattlemen can congratulate themselves that their losses altogether will not reach 1 per cent.—Sterling City News. * * * There is no foundation for the report published above as regards the Sonora country. The percentage of loss in Sonora country cattle has been much smaller than last year. In fact nothing more than the average death rate. The Sonora country cattle are in fair order as evidence of this fact we would refer you to the Territory cows being shipped from the Sonora country.—Devil's River News.

Kippling to Fighting Bob.

Rudyard Kipling, sent Captain Robley D. Evans, of the U. S. battleship Iowa, a set of his works, illustrated by Zogbaum, and with them these verses:

Zogbaum draws with a pencil,
And I do things with a pen;
But you sit up in a conning tower,
Bossing eight hundred men.

Zogbaum takes care of his business,
And I take care of mine;
You take care of ten thousand tons,
Sky-hoisting through the brine.

Zogbaum can handle his shadows,
And I can handle my style,
But you can handle a ten inch gun
To carry seven mile.

To him that hath shall be given,
That's why these books are sent
To the man who has lived more stories
Than Zogbaum or I could invent.

Somebody, (says a New York Paper) has invented a new penholder, from which, by touching a spring, a stream of ink can be discharged over the writer's shoulder into the eye of any ill-natured person who may be standing behind reading what is being written. The inventor is a benefactor of his kind. The new penholder will meet with ready sale.

An envious biographer relates that Sardou, the dramatist came into the world on the 7th of September 1831, and adds that it was about the first thing he ever done without seeing it done by somebody else.

The Patron Saint of Lawyers.

Who, by the way, is the patron saint of lawyers? A famous lawyer in Brittany once appealed to the pope for a saint. His holiness proposed that he should go round a certain church blindfolded, and lay hold of the saint nearest his hand. He stopped and grasped a certain image, crying "This be our saint, this be our patron!" When the bandage was removed he found that, though he had stopped before the altar of St. Michael, to his horror he had laid hold not of St. Michael, but of the figure under St. Michael's feet—the devil!—London Sketch.

Primitive, But Forceful.

A Wilkesbarre, Pa., magistrate got tired of being a fellow for wife beating, and stepping down from the bench the other day, he administered a sound thrashing to the offender. There are times when the primitive style of justice is the only one that has any weight, but unfortunately the majority of our judges are gentlemen who would run serious risks in adopting the Wilkesbarre jurist's method.—Cleveland Leader.

Champion of the Cause.

Not long ago King Humbert surpassed Victor Emmanuel's achievements as a hunter of the stambecco. Now at Ameris, near Cuneo, the royal party has killed seventy chamois in one day, of which fifty-one fell to King Humbert's rifle. The old mountaineers declare that such an occurrence has only happened once before, when King Victor Emmanuel in the same Valley of Ameris killed forty-four chamois. King Humbert has therefore broken the chamois record also.

"Talk about hard times in war," said a relic of the civil war, snapping his fingers. "The best meal I ever had was eaten in the heart of the Alleghenies. Our mess of seven had a pint of corn meal apiece, and three ounces of bacon for all. Mine was the only hat that didn't have a hole in it, so we used it as a mixing dish, two fellows holding the brim while another poured in the meal and water, and a fourth stirred with his hands. We raked some bright hickory ashes from the camp fire and used them for salt. Then we laid a rail in front of the fire, and when it got hot spread the dough along it. The latter was carefully cut into seven parts, and each man looked after his own cooking. Every one got a stick, on the end of which he stuck his morsel of pork, and this he held over the dough so that the drip would add to the flavor of the bread. Not a drop was lost; none went too far over, none fell behind. After the feast we smoked our pipes for hours and were happy."—New York Press.

Small Enemies.

Henry M. Stanley, in describing his journey through the forests of Africa, says that the most formidable foes he encountered, those that caused the greatest loss of life to his caravan and came nearest to defeating his expedition, were the Wambutti dwarfs.

These diminutive men had only little bows and arrows for weapons, so small that they looked like children's playthings; but upon the tip of each tiny arrow was a drop of poison, which would kill an elephant or a man as surely and quickly as a ride. Their defense was by means of poison and traps.

They would steal through the dense forest, and waiting in ambush, let fly their arrows before they could be discovered. They dug ditches and carefully covered them over with sticks and leaves. They fixed spikes in the ground and tipped them with poison. Into these ditches and on those spikes man and beast would fall or step to their death. One of the strangest things about it was that their poison was mixed with honey.

The account of these small people and their successful warfare influences one to remember the small enemies we all are apt to encounter in habits, seemingly harmless, but dangerous to welfare and happiness.

Bismarck Objected.

Two features, formerly inseparable from the recent investiture in France, in connection with the bestowal of the Collar of the Golden Fleecce, are now omitted in the case of foreign recipients of the decoration. One is the religious ceremony and costume peculiar to the order, and the other the somewhat formidable fees, which consisted of a donation of about 800 francs and all the expenses of the voyage and residence of the delegate, a total of 15,000 francs. Bismarck is said to have brought about this change. It seems that the day after his investiture he received his bill, which he roundly refused to pay, and his remarks, made with his usual brutal frankness, were reported to Alfonso XII., who paid them from his privy purse, and then there abolished them in the case of foreigners.—St. Paul.

Love and a Portrait.

Tom Reynolds had struggled through years of failure and rebuffs before he became a successful journalist. As he sat in his room busily writing one cold December night his thoughts wandered back to the summer before, when he had taken a short and much-needed rest at the seaside.

One morning he had saved a young girl from drowning. She had been tempted out over the green covered rocks, farther and farther, until the treacherous tide which she had not noticed was coming in caught and held her fast, and but for his aid in plunging in after her she would have drowned. Her aunt had thanked him, and begged him to call next day, but in the excitement she had forgotten to give him her address, and he had never seen either of them since.

Presently he put down his pen, and going to the end of the room brought out a carefully packed parcel. He removed the paper wrappings, and his face softened wonderfully as he almost fancied that the violet eyes looked into his brown ones, and the little rosebud mouth was going to speak. Then he cleared the mantel shelf of everything and hung the portrait there. He had only seen her once, and yet, as he looked at the picture again, he told himself he loved her as a man only loves once in a lifetime.

He had never spoken of the episode to a soul, not even his dearest friend, Fred Peters. His delight had been unbounded, when, after five dreary months of living in a memory, he found her portrait in a picture store. It was an oil painting. The clerk said he knew nothing of it; it was bought with many others, he did not know from whom.

Tom bought it and had it sent to his room. It had just been hung when a knock on the door announced his friend Peters.

"Jove! Tom, who is she?" the latter burst out as he saw the painting. "Fine girl, that! My eyes, what hair! What a neck!"

For the first time in Tom's life he wanted to kick his friend out. But he only answered nonchalantly.

"If you mean the picture, and I presume you do, I saw it in a picture store window. It struck me as being rather a pretty face, so I went in and bought it. Don't know the painter. Initials C. O. S. in the corner."

"C. O. S.?" said Peters. "Why, don't you know who that is? That's Charlie Scott—Charles Cyril Scott—see? He paints pictures and sells them to dealers sometimes when he's hard up. Yours is one, but jove, wouldn't I like to know the model. Well, good night, old boy. I must be off."

Tom gave a sigh of content when he was gone. Then he remembered that he had a chance of finding out who she was, so he went over to Scott's room, as he knew him slightly.

"I paint many pictures," said Scott, languidly, when questioned. "Yes, golden hair, deep blue eyes, pretty—of course. They all are. I'll come over and have a look at it, if you like."

When Scott looked at the portrait there was a strange expression on his face.

At last he said abruptly: "Look here, Reynolds, I must have that back."

"Have it back?" echoed the other. "What on earth do you mean?"

"That picture was stolen from me!"

Blindness No Bar.

The Herreshoffs of Bristol, R. I., are to build the yacht which is to win new honors for us in the coming international boat race. The Royal Ulster Yacht Club has challenged us to another contest, and the New York Yacht Club has accepted the challenge. The Herreshoffs, it will be remembered, built both the Vigilant and the Defender. Stories of this remarkable family are everywhere being revived. Out of a family of nine, four, while still children, became blind—an affliction which seems in no wise to have affected their activities. One of the blind brothers, as a recent biographer relates, "looks after the office travels, solicits business and makes all purchases of material." He is never attended in his daily walks about the offices or works although his wife accompanies him on railroad journeys. He is as familiar with the work which the company, of which he is president, has under construction or repair as are any of the men employed to take charge of it. The story of his handling of the model of some new boat to be built by his firm, of the sensitive fingers as they stroke the keel or follow the line of a curve, his instant appreciation of virtues and his quick detection of a fault, has been frequently told, and has added peculiar interest to his work. Mr. Lewis Herreshoff, his brother, while blind, is still an accomplished musician, and so expert a swimmer that he has taught many persons to be absolutely at home in the water. He can also sail a boat or row one. He has built two hotels, managed the family affairs, and kept an account "with all developments in the science of naval architecture, and all improvements in the construction of vessels, either for pleasure or business, and all advances made in the world of mechanics." Captain Nathaniel Greed Herreshoff, another brother, and one happily having no touch of blindness, is the designer of the great yachts, and it is he who will have especially the modeling of the new boat, which all good Americans must hope will only excel in excellence its famous predecessor.—Harper's Bazar.

Milkmaid Taught the Professor.

Rev. Dr. Upson says that he was once rusticated with Dr. Timothy Dwight, who has just resigned the presidency of Yale, when they borrowed a horse from a farmer on condition they unharnessed him when through their drive. They filled the contract except as to the collar, which they could not get off. Dr. Dwight said: "It must have been put on when he was a colt, and the way his head's grown since it's impossible to remove it." Just then a passing milkmaid told them to turn the collar round if they wanted it off. "My dear brother," said Dwight, "either of us thinks he knows ten times as much as that woman, and yet we didn't know enough to turn the collar."—Pittsburg Dispatch.
