STRONG BID MADE FOR A. & M. SCHOOL

G. Thompson of Real, and Representative Tom Martin of Gillespie. After these had finished their addresses, Governor Ferguson replied with a lengthy address, in which he spoke encouragingly of the way he had been impressed with the desirability of the site, and he assured the people of Kerrville and Kerr County that the location would be decided, after a visit of all the proposed tracts, entirely upon the relative merits of the sites offered. He paid a high tribute to the work done by Capt. Charles Schreiner in developing Kerr County. Governor Ferguson was followed by Speaker Fuller, who made a short address. Between the speeches patriotic airs were played by the band which accompanied the party from San Antonio.

The site itself, containing every desirable element for an agricultural institution, is the chief argument offered by Kerrville, but this was ably and eloquently backed by strong speeches by citizens of Kerrville, San Antonio and other towns, giving many reasons why Kerrville is the logical place for establishing the college.

Probably the most impressive of these arguments was made by Ex-Senator Julius Real, when he outlined Kerrville's exact proposition in offering the land, giving facts and figures in a succinct way, that left no doubt that Kerrville is in the race in earnest. That San Antonio is also very much in the race to help Kerrville get the college was made known by Senator Real, and came as a surprise, when he told of the offer of San Antonio business men to raise the $30,000 which was lacking on the purchase price of the site.

The price which Kerrville will have to pay the owners of the magnificent place is $81,000, and the Kerrville and Kerr County people had raised $51,000 of the sum. With San Antonio's generous offer, the State will get the ground without a cent of cost.

As was outlined by Senator Real in his strong appeal to the locating committee, there are 2,130 acres in the tract, 719 of which are under cultivation at the present time, with 350 acres that can be tilled. This excellent body of fertile river valley land is traversed by the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railway, and two main highways. There is an abundance of water supplied from the Guadalupe River, Turtle Creek, and artesian well, three deep wells and two cool mountain springs. The high plateau, on which it is proposed to erect the administration building, has perfect natural drainage, and is as healthful and desirable a spot as can be found in Texas. Added to this there are two rock quarries on the place, from which thousands of carloads of rock have been furnished for building purposes, and in which there is ample rock from which to construct the college buildings.

In its writup of the locating committee's visit, Sunday's San Antonio Express contained the following: "If there is anything in the strength of numbers with perfect co-operation plus a magnificent site embodying every desirable element, Kerrville should certainly be a winner in securing the new branch Agricultural and Mechanical College. The site offered for the institution seems to have been designed for the express purpose of having an establishment of the kind located there."

The committee from San Antonio included:

R. L. Ball, R. J. Boyle, D. E. Colp, J. F. Carl, D. W. Capp, J. M. Edwards, E. J. Graham, Franz Groos, Charles Grabner, M. S. Graham, Judge Gray, Eugene Holmgren, Russell Hill, R. J. Harding, R. F. Stewart, William Schlesinger, John Stevens, Albert Steves Sr., Albert Steves Jr., John Tobin, Dr. Fred Terrell, Chester Terrell, O. B. Weakley, Otto Wahrmond and C. B. Walters.

The committee from Boerne comprised: Dr. J. F. Noe, Judge J. W. Lawhon, H. O. Adler, A. Kronkosky, M. A. Shumard, J. M. Smer, Paul Holekamp and Charles Grabner.

Comfort was represented by: Hugo Wiedenfeld, William Wiedenfeld, Otto Holekamp, Richard Faltin and Otto Ingenhuett.

The Bandera delegates included: B. F. Langford Jr., Frank Montague, Joe Short and Joe Short Jr.

Junction was represented by L. Beasley.

Gets the Short Oats.
Comfort News: The average stand of oats in this locality is so light and short this season that the ordinary self-binder cannot handle it successfully, but loses a large percentage of the crop in the process of cutting it.

Local farmers, in order to overcome this trouble, have hit upon the expedient of attaching improvised brooms to the binder in such a way as to prevent the machine from missing any of the stalks of oats, no matter how light or short. The brooms are bunches of broom weed or bear grass.

Summer shoes, the very newest and best; for ladies, children and men.
CHAS. SCHREINER CO.

YES! LIFT A CORN
OFF WITHOUT PAIN!
Cincinnati Authority Tells How to Dry
Up a Corn of Callus So It Lifts
Off With Fingers.

You corn-plagued men and women need suffer no longer. Wear the shoes that nearly killed you before, says this Cincinnati authority, because a few drops of Freezone applied directly on a tender, itching corn or callus, stops soreness at once and soon the corn or hardened callus loosens so it can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.
A small bottle of Freezone costs very little at any drug store, but will positively take off every hard or soft corn or callus. This should be tried, as it is inexpensive and is said not to irritate the surrounding skin.
If your druggist hasn't any Freezone tell him to get a small bottle for you from his wholesale house. It is fine stuff and acts like a charm every time.

Equal Rights to All.

Comptroller H. B. Terrell, who makes the announcement that he will be a candidate for Governor, is receiving a lot of publicity in the northern part of the State. Mr. Terrell has been in Austin for a number of years as a legislator and has received a large lead over his opponent when making the race for Comptroller. He is a very conservative officer, believes in the old adage of justice to his fellow-man, equal rights to all—but is very positive in his decisions and is invariably correct. The key to his office is never turned, the hickory shirt man gets the same consideration and attention from his hands as the "stiff collared" shirt politician—in fact, all look alike when they enter there, for it's strictly a business proposition with him.—Buckholts News.

Don't Neglect the Summer Cold.

We "catch cold" in warm weather because colds are germ diseases and our vitality is too low to resist them.
To kill those cold germs, the antiseptic pine-tar of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is famously effective, besides helping to relieve the tight chest and invigorate the tissues. The honey and expectorant ingredients heal the throat and soothe the cough. Always have a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey in your home. 25c at your druggist.

YOU DEADLY SICK
Stop Using Dangerous Drug Before
It Salvages You! It's DANGER!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated
and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.
Here's my guarantee: Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.
Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and unsteady. Don't lose a day's work.
Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tonic tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't stivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

Building Silos.

Comfort News: Messrs. Otto Heinzen,
F. G. Holekamp and Rich. G. Holekamp completed the concrete work on their underground silos last week. All these silos are 10 feet in diameter and are 22, 29 and 29 feet deep, respectively. A fourth silo is under construction by R. A. Holekamp.
All these silos have a concrete wall a foot high above the ground. The 5-foot form used for pouring the concrete lining is constructed entirely of lumber. It also is in eight sections, and four feet high. The cost of these forms, together with all necessary scaffolding, concrete chutes and labor for constructing them, amounts to $42.80. This makes $19.70 for each one of the four silos.

Double the Wheat Acreage.

Texas should double its wheat acreage this fall. The world's great cry is for bread; there is no longer a surplus of wheat and it can be at good prices all that may be produced for several years to come. Texas can render no greater service than that of doubling in 1918 its average production of from twelve to fifteen million bushels of wheat.
The Government's campaign for increased food production came too late this year for our farmers to accomplish much in increasing the wheat supply, although by proper shocking and handling the crop they can eliminate a large amount of waste. Wheat harvest is now in progress and the farmer should not be tempted by high prices to sell all of his grain and make no provision for seed wheat. He should retain enough to seed double this year's acreage, and he should select the seed with care so as to make possible maximum yields in 1918.
The best wheat obtainable is that grown in the community where it is to be used, because it is adapted to local climatic conditions. In many cases it is not too late to select seed wheat in the field, picking and threshing separately the longest, best filled heads from short, thick stalks. The largest, best developed grains should be secured by using a wheat fan or an ordinary sieve, so as to remove small, shrunken,
inferior grains, trash and weed seeds.
Seed wheat should be spread out in a

It is possible by careful seed selection to assure an increased yield per acre of from ten to twenty per cent, and with wheat at present prices and the probability of a Government-guaranteed minimum, Texas farmers can secure large profits from more extensive growing of wheat during the

If you are anxious to kill your country's enemies, why not kill cockleburrs?

The registration in Texas surprised us; we didn't think there were so many within the required age.

On the principle that two wrongs do not make a right, a counter accusation is not sufficient to acquit you.

If you follow a good road you will find that it leads to a place worth going to, while a bad road seldom does.

One of our peculiarities, and we confess to having several, is the belief that when the people pay their taxes they ought to get their money's worth in return.

Good roads are great educators. Even your mule, accustomed to good roads, learns to know a bad road as soon as he strikes it. You ought to know as much as your mule.

The pessimist who said the German submarines would make it impossible for an American force to land in France must have been mistaken. Pershing and an American army are there.

When a man's legs won't permit him to stand while the Bar Strangled Spanner is being played, and he nevertheless insists that he is a prohibitionist, you are justified in doubting his word.

Very few slackers have been arrested since registration day in Texas, but the few that failed will be caught, and that means a year in the penitentiary. Those who have to wear the stripes will have no one to blame but themselves.

The Lockney, Beacon, persists in spelling General Pershing's name P-e-r-r-i-s-h-i-n-g. Perish the thought that this doughty brave should be even thought of as Pershing, in Mexico, Europe or elsewhere.

Profanity may relieve a man as a safety valve relieves a boiler. Maybe the man as well as the boiler would burst if the relief were not forthcoming; but in either case the escaping steam merely makes a noise and serves no useful purpose.

If the recruiting officer finally turns you down, don't be disappointed. Go back home, grab a hoe and go to work. God can serve your country raising something to eat. You can kill bull weevils while the other boys kill the human enemies.

Up to going to press the war has not ended, Villa has not been caught, all the Liberty Loan bonds have not been subscribed for, the West Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College site has not been selected and—oh, well, several other things haven't happened. Inasmuch as no panic, or fear of panic, exists as a result, we are content to await the culmination of all these things. Fact, is, we've got to wait, anyhow.

We can all remember the time when the only thing a farmer raised that was sure to sell was cotton. Corn as uncertain of a market; potatoes, kershaws, pumpkins, vegetables generally were raised (when raised at all) merely for home consumption; the farmer didn't expect to sell "such truck." Now he can't raise anything that some one does not want to buy, and that some one is not willing to pay a good price for. It looks to us as if the farmer's day has come. We believe the farmer knows it, too. This being the case, the farmer, who always has fed the world, will feed it from now on as it has never been fed before. The middlemen, the speculators, have been the farmers' worst enemies. This sun-producing class has been able to force the farmer to take less and the consumer to pay more for what the farmer raised. As far as possible, the farmer should sell directly to the consumer; the farmer will get more and the consumer will pay less. No farmer should be afraid of raising too much; under present conditions he can't; he will be able to sell all he can raise, and then some. And we are glad he can.

Have you noticed that all those anti-registration riots occurred in the North, and not a one in Texas? Even those Mexicans along the Rio Grande made a fine showing, though many were frightened off into Mexico before registration day. We believe our Texas-born Mexicans will make good soldiers, too.

And now the Government is giving all men between the ages of eighteen and forty-five an earnest invitation to volunteer. You don't have to volunteer, but if you don't another selective conscription may become necessary. So it's up to you to serve willingly or unwillingly, but serve you must.

Fencible Smith stopped in our office long enough this morning to remark that inasmuch as he didn't know anything about the university muddle, "an' thar wuz them in his community a-discussin' of it that couldn't spell university an' didn't know what it wuz when it wuz spelled, he was havin' powerful little to do with it."

Volume 1, No. 5, of the Lamb County News has reached our desk. This sheet, under the guidance of the veteran, Neal Douglass, is in the get-up-and-get class, and strongly reflects its editor's personality. Judging from the number of live ads, the News must be pleasing the people of Lamb County, from the oldest bell-wether down to this spring's drop.

Not all the young men who registered will be drafted. Many who will be glad to go will not be given a chance to go, while many who don't want to go will have to go. That's the way it works. The registration figures show a much greater number of available men than was anticipated, and it may be that further registration of older and younger men will not be necessary; but all must hold themselves in readiness. Germany is now using old men and boys; America may have to, but we don't believe it.

Keep business going; to let it lag will cripple the Nation more than any foreign foe can ever hope to accomplish. To weaken ourselves by pessimistic inaction would delight our enemies, in as much as every nation is strong in proportion to every other nation's weakness. We are fighting Germany; we hope to see Germany subdued; but it won't hurt us a bit to recognize and admire Germany's wonderful strength. The Teutons are not a race of pessimists, and we cannot afford to be. Right now every German is up and doing; hence it behooves every American to be up and doing. Keep business going!

Senator McCollum, publisher-editor of the Waco Tribune, gleefully exclaims: "Twenty-two years old, starting its twenty-third year, the Tribune is going to adopt 23 as a lucky number!" Why, you old patriarch of journalism, that's young! How about back in the 70's, when, as editor of the Telephone, Waco's first evening paper, you were a full-fledged journalist, while this writer, no longer a landing chicken, was barely out of knee pants? Of course, we understand you are speaking of the age of the Tribune, not of your own; but, honestly, you look about the same to those who have known you as you did when pushing a pencil on the Telephone. May 23 prove to be the beginning of your good luck.

Those race riots in East St. Louis, Ill., and other Northern localities remind us that we have said before that a negro has no business north of the Mason and Dixon's line. All attempts to make the St Northern conditions have proven failures. True, now and then a negro manages to get a foothold in the North, but he merely proves an exception to the well established rule. As an inducement to leave the South, the negro is invariably promised social equality, only to find after he gets there he has been merely chasing an ignis fatuus. He invariably returns to the South broke, but doesn't seem to realize that those who induced him to go north did so merely that they might exploit him or otherwise use him for mercenary purposes.

San Antonio Express: If there is anything in the strength of numbers with perfect co-operation plus a magnificent site embodying every desirable element, Kerrville should certainly be a winner in securing the new branch Agricultural and Mechanical College. The site offered for the institution seems to have been designed for the express purpose of having an establishment of the kind locate there.

Taxes are going to be high. Our standards of living will be changed. Economy will be the order of the day for the wage earner, for he will feel the pinch of war the most, but—there'll be employment for all. There will be the army to feed, here and abroad. There will be the families of the men in the army to feed, our army and the forces of our allies. Later there will be the forces of the enemy to feed. This means the factories will hum, the fields will be tilled, that for every man and woman there will be work to do.—Union Banner.

You are hereby further notified that the lands proposed to be irrigated by the application of the water so diverted and appropriated, consist of a part of the old W. A. Hardin place, now owned by the said F. C. Walsh, and fully described by metes and bounds in said application, aggregating 17.65 acres, and situated in said Kerr County, Texas.

Walsh will be held by the Board of Water Engineers of the State of Texas, at its office, in the City of Austin, County of Travis, said State, on Monday, the 2nd day of July, A. Such hearing will be continued from time to time and from place to place, if necessary, until such determination has been made relative to said application as the said Board of Water Engineers may deem right, equitable and proper.

GIVEN UNDER, and by virtue of, and order of the Board of Water Engineers of the State of Texas, at the office of said Board, in Austin, Texas, this the 29th day of May, A. D. 1917. J. C. NAGLE, JOHN WILSON, Board Secretary.

First Baptist Church.

We have announced that we will not have preaching at our church next Sunday, because the pastor goes to help in a meeting at Bastrop. So if you need a rest take it now so you will be on hand ready like a strong man to run a race when our protracted meeting begins June 24, at 11 a. m., with Rev. B. G. Holloway and singer leading. Their meeting has just closed at Sabinal with twenty-eight additions and yet Bro. Holloway was sick during the meeting.

The dry weather, high cost of living, and war, with our own State troubles about the State University ought to cause much prayer and meditation on our great needs of closer living to God. Once again we issue a pressing invitation to all Christians and unsaved people in and around Kerrville to come to our protracted meetings, which we pray will result in a sweeping revival.

J. B. RIDDLE, Pastor.

Postmaster Carpenter has received the following letter from the Post Office Department in regard to chain letters:

"In reply to your communication of the 31st ultimo, you are advised that this Department regards endless chain schemes as illegal, and you are requested to discourage the use of such schemes wherever it is possible for you to do so.

"This applies to all kinds of chain letters and the public is cautioned not to pay any attention to those received, only to turn them over to the proper authority for investigation. The so-called chain prayers are also forbidden."

Prodigal Generosity.

Thomas was not the brightest specimen on earth, and, try as he might, and apply as he might, could not succeed in obtaining a situation.

At last a bright idea occurred to him. He would offer his services free for a fortnight.

In these terms Mr. Ikey Fingelstein immediately engaged him.

The fortnight having expired, Thomas nervously petitioned for a "rise."

"What is your present salary?" asked Fingelstein.

"Nothing, sir," said Thomas.

Mr. Fingelstein contemplated the lad.

"Well, my boy, yer wages is doubled."

And Thomas was completely satisfied—until he had had time to think over the generous offer.—Tit-Bits.

Genuine.

The hard-working shopkeeper, according to London Opiny, had vainly ransacked his stock in his efforts to please an old lady who wanted to purchase a present for her granddaughter. For the fifteenth time she picked up and critically examined a neat little purse.

"Are you quite sure that this is a genuine alligator skin?" she inquired.

"Positive, madam," quoth the dealer, "I shot the alligator myself."

"It looks rather soiled," said the lady.

"That, madam, is where it struck the ground when it fell off the tree."

During the vacation months the janitor's residence, or Portuñuela, will be utilized by the Daughters of Isabella in addition to the new garage. About two hundred ladies from San Antonio, Austin, and the Gulf Coast are expected to attend this camp before it is dissolved in September.

Several of the Catholic young ladies enjoyed a moon-light picnic at Neumann's farm on the river banks.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Fletsam came here from Skidmore to spend their honeymoon. They were the guests of Miss Angeline Kemper, who arranged many interesting auto trips for them as well as a sunrise excursion to Tivy Mountain.

Miss Marie Bargas, formerly of our parish, received her nurse's diploma at Santa Rosa Infirmary.

Mr. Joseph B. Reynolds, traveling passenger agent for the Southern Pacific, was a guest of Father Kemper, with whom he had gone to St. Louis College twenty years ago.

Mrs. G. E. Chamberlain, wife of a Sap official, enjoyed Sunday in our mountain resort.

J. W. Bender went to Austin on Sunday to attend the bill posters' convention.

Miss Kate Priour and her brother from Corpus Christi are visiting their relatives.

RENEWED TESTIMONY.

No one in Kerrville who suffers backache, headache, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this San Antonio woman's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Kerrville resident can doubt.

Mrs. C. W. Seamands, 713 Meralce St., San Antonio, Texas, says: "I feel confident that no medicine in the market can equal Doan's Kidney Pills in curing backache or any other symptom of disordered kidneys. This was my complaint for a long time and I began to get worried over my condition. After I had finished one box of Doan's Kidney Pills I was rid of the trouble." (Statement given Dec. 17th, 1913.) On June 23, 1915, Mrs. Seamands added: "I have been free from kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me." 50c, at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Cholera Morbus.

This is a very painful and dangerous disease. In almost every neighborhood someone has died from it before medicine could be obtained or a physician summoned. The right way is to have a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house so as to be prepared for it. Mrs. Charles Enyeart, Huntington, Ind., writes: "During the summer of 1911 two of my children were taken sick with cholera morbus. I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and it gave them immediate relief."

Sour Stomach.

This is a mild form of indigestion. It is usually brought on by eating too rapidly or too much, or of food not suited to your digestive organs. If you will eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, eat but little meat and none at all for supper, you will more than likely avoid sour stomach without taking any medicine whatever. When you have sour stomach take one of Chamberlain's Tablets to aid digestion.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Price, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child, I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time. I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bad and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble,' so he got me 5 bottles. After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved. Before taking it my limbs and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. E 74 for her share along with the other States, and that annual endowment from the Federal Government is still received, although the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College is, by amendment of the State Constitution, a branch of the Texas University.

When, about twenty years ago, the Agricultural and Mechanical Colleges of America took an immense step forward, the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical joined the front ranks of these institutions and has since that time kept pace with the best of them. For several years, owing to the immense domain of this State and to the wide diversity of interests of the people, West Texas has been clamoring for more State institutions of learning, and especially for a college where agronomy and animal husbandry could be taught to the young men of West Texas, not in a general way, but in a manner specific of conditions of soil, climate and other conditions peculiar to West Texas as a great and distinctive domain. Complying with this demand the Legislature of Texas has provided for such an institution, to be a branch of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical, as that institution is a branch of the Texas University.

The law provides that this school shall be located in that part of Texas lying west of the ninety-eighth meridian and north of the twenty-ninth parallel. Within this designated territory are a number of towns that are seeking the location of the new school. None among them is making a more aggressive campaign than is being made by Kerrville, and none can offer a more convincing array of excellent qualifications as a site for the proposed institution.

Kerrville, the county seat of Kerr County, is in the heart of the agricultural and live stock growing section of West Texas. It is the terminus of the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railroad. Easy of access by rail, through the great railway center of San Antonio from which it is distant seventy miles. Such schools in keeping with the genius of Texas educational institutions, are not, and should not be, located in the large cities, yet they should for manifold reasons, be located within easy reach of a great metropolis, such as San Antonio.

It is a fact generally conceded that the chief seat of any educational institution is the general health and physical fitness of the student body. Knowledge cannot be acquired without labor, mental labor cannot be successfully performed without physical fitness and comfort. Expert directors of hospitals and clinics, and others prominent in the field of medicine and surgery have declared the country about Kerrville to possess the ideal climate. It is not low enough to be humid nor is the altitude (1,750 feet) sufficiently high to produce that nervous strain so often found in the exceedingly high elevations of the country. The close, clammy heat of the lowlands is never felt in the hill country about Kerrville, even in mid-summer and yet the weather in winter is rarely such as would prevent outdoor sports. It has been often averred and indeed tests have proved that students in the schools at this place can perform the maximum of mental labor with the minimum of fatigue. Sufficiently high to escape the possibility of miasmatic poisons, yet sheltered by a barricade of foothills that protects it from the disastrous hurricanes and sand storms that so often devastate a large portion of the territory in which the school might lawfully be located, Kerrville is pre-eminently fitted for such location from the viewpoint of climatic conditions.

The citizens' committee that has been appointed by the people of Kerr County to conduct the campaign has secured a ver attractive site for the location of the school. This tract, which is situated about half way between the towns of Kerrville and Center Point, comprises sufficient acreage to meet the requirements of the locating committee. Included in this magnificent tract of Guadalupe Valley land are the noted Hagens wheat farm and the well-known Split Rock farm, both of which have been subjected to scientific and intensified farming for several years past.

This excellent body of fertile river valley land is traversed by the San Antonio & Aransas Pass Railroad, and also by two public highways that are the peer of any in Texas. Through the tract runs the Guadalupe River, famed throughout Texas for the abundant and never failing water supply; there is one artesian well on the tract, and the artesian stratum can be reached on practically any part of the proposed location.

The site selected for the school proper and its administration buildings, is a high plateau having perfect natural drainage. It affords ample room for buildings, for a commodious campus sheltered by age-old live oak trees and for drill grounds and athletic sports. Standing upon this eminence the buildings would overlook the broad acres of the Hagens farm, which lies across the river from the site, and command a view of the Guadalupe, which stretches away like a band of silver, northward to Kerrville, and southward to Center Point. From the viewpoint of natural beauty, of sanitation and general excellence, including approach by both rail and macadamized public highway, no more attractive site for such an institution could be found in this or any other State.

This immediate section of country is most happily situated on what may be termed a mean thermal line of West Texas. By this is meant that climatic, topographic and soil conditions in Kerr County are such as carry the characteristics of all other parts of the territory in which this school is to be located, in a modified or temperate degree. There is nothing known to the agriculture of all this immense territory that can not be successfully grown in Kerr County. By successfully is meant that these crops may readily be grown at a profit to the producer. Some of the items could perhaps make larger yields in other localities, but in no section can such a diversity of farm products be successfully grown.

This diversification should mean much to a school attempting to teach by experiment and demonstration the science of agronomy to the youth of so large a territory. It will be readily understood that no locality could be found that would produce with equal facility, and in equal abundance, all farm crops. It may safely be stated, however, that the Guadalupe Valley, in Kerr County, will produce a greater variety of farm crops than any locality in the section of territory to which this school has been allotted.

All the staple farm crops, including cotton, corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley, potatoes, the various kinds of beans, peas and forage plants are regularly grown in Kerr County, and that without irrigation. In fact, the rainfall in Kerr County is sufficient under all normal conditions to grow crops without irrigation. That section is not in what is known as the "arid belt" of Texas. Conservation of moisture is of course a part of the regular curriculum of agricultural schools in all countries, and especially in Texas and other Western States, where restricted rainfall is not uncommon.

There is no part of the country in which this proposed school might be located that has, in fact, been developed as to its horticultural possibilities. Grapes, berries and small fruits of many kinds may be said to be indigenous to the mountains and valleys of Kerr County. Nurserymen and orchardists have, indeed, developed some fruits to a very high state in this section, yet horticulture may be said to be undeveloped in all the vast territory of West Texas. Certainly as wide a variety of horticultural products can be grown here for purposes of experiment and investigation as can be grown anywhere in Texas.

While perhaps not coming properly under the head of horticulture, the pecan is one of the native products of this section of Texas, and in their native wild state the nuts possess a rare flavor and unrivalled excellence. To a large part of the territory of West Texas the development of the pecan industry is a matter of growing importance. No more fitting field for experiment in the improvement and development of the pecan could be found than the place where the trees grow to giant size in the native forests, as they do in Kerr County.

With the matter of meat supply for a Nation of one hundred millions becoming each year a graver problem, and with the prevailing high prices of all kinds of meats as an object lesson, it would seem that no feature of resource development in this country is of more importance than that of animal husbandry. Texas has long been a great meat producer, but only in recent years has the matter of improving quantity and quality by scientific methods of intelligent breeding and feeding received considerable attention. Conditions in this State have changed so materially in the march of progress in the last few years that Texas can no longer produce the immense amount of meat products she formerly gave to the world, under the old and now obsolete methods of animal husbandry. This branch of the school work is now, therefore, a most important part of the function of an agricultural college in this State, as it has been for some time in the schools of other States, and in the Federal Department of Agriculture.

The Hill Country about Kerrville is a natural home for domestic animals of all kinds. It is a generally admitted fact that a country where man enjoys perfect health and strength, is likewise adapted to the breeding and growth of the lower animals. Many years ago one of the famous horsemen of America conceived the idea that horses bred and trained in the hills of this section would possess greater strength of wind and limb than those bred in the lowlands. Accordingly he bought a ranch and gave the experiment a thorough trial, with the result that some of the famous racers of modern times were bred in these mountains.

Texas has been a "cow country" since its earliest history, but the actual meat producing possibilities of the country have never been developed. Cattle, horses, sheep and hogs are adaptable to all parts of America, but they do not thrive alike in all sections. In Kerr County and neighboring territory, with none of the debilitating effects of humid heat in summer, and none of the ill effects of extremely cold and rigorous weather in winter, young animals grow rapidly from birth to maturity. As a matter of economy, which should be a feature worthy of consideration to the State institution, expensive shelters for animals are not required in this climate. On the whole there is perhaps no more promising place in America for the prosecution of experiment and development in animal husbandry than Kerr County, Texas.

The list of advantages of Kerr County as a location for the school might go on indefinitely. The fact that no section of the State has a greater diversity of soils is important. Soils that are adapted to all growths known to the flora and fauna of the South.

The people of Kerrville, of Kerr County, and indeed of the adjoining counties have made an aggressive campaign for the school. This work was not being done merely for the purpose of benefiting the towns of Kerrville and Center Point, but because they sincerely believe that such a school located at that place would give to the youth of West Texas the greatest possible good to be derived from the institution.

STOCKMEN OF THE HILL COUNTRY ARE STILL OPTIMISTIC ON RAIN QUESTION.

"Yes," admitted a prominent stockman this week, "it is getting some dry out our way and the stock are not doing as well as they should, but then you know it generally rains in this country about fifteen minutes before it is too late, so I guess we are about due for a good soaker." The above sentiments seem to be shared by the Hill Country ranchmen in general, who as a class believe it is better to "whistle than whine," especially on the weather question.

P. J. Remboldt was in Kerrville Wednesday from his ranch in Kimble County. Mr. Remboldt stated that while they were heading rain in that part of the country very badly, yet stock conditions were in fairly good shape. While here he marketed his wool at 90 cents.

John T. Wilson and son, Frank, of Rosserett were in Kerrville on business Tuesday. Mr. Wilson is a well-known horse and merchant and is also engaged in transferring wool and mohair from that part of the country to the Kerrville markets. He brought down an auto truck load on this trip.

We happened to be in the bank the other day when W. S. DuRose was paying for the shearing of his small flock of sheep; he has only thirty ewes— from which he got a clip amounting to about 200 pounds, says the Westhoff Advertiser. Mr. DuRose is a cowman, but sheep raising is new to him, so to satisfy himself and for the benefit of our curiosity, he did a little figuring. The sheep were bought last fall, and according to his estimates have more than paid for themselves in wool and the increase, and he still has the original flock left. This is a pretty good showing for any kind of an investment and should make those who have pasturage and no sheep sit up and think. The other fellow might not be so lucky as Mr. DuRose, but there is evidently profit in sheep-raising.

THE OLD SENTINEL

When the camps of commercial industry were first pitched in Southwest Texas, almost half a century ago, this house was one of the first in this part of Texas and is, in fact, the pioneer store of Kerr County.

Time has brought its changes in many things, but while this business has grown, and has prospered, the policy of the "House of Quality" has ever been the same.

Old faces have disappeared from behind its counters and in its offices, but new ones took their places and the business went on undisturbed. Old customers have passed away, and new ones, including their children and their grandchildren, have taken their places, but the policy of the house is the same today as it was when conducted in a little building of cedar palisados.

We appreciate the steadfast confidence the people have had in us, and have earnestly striven to merit that confidence. That we have succeeded in a large measure is evidenced by the great growth of the business.

We offer you the same service, the same quality, the courteous treatment today, and the same full value for your money that has marked the course of the business from its founding. You are always welcome at the store of

Hunt Happenings.

For fear my many friends may think that Andy was dead or showed signs of being dead, I thought best to report his whereabouts—still at or near Hunt, Texas.

Well, a good rain is badly needed at Hunt. Everybody busy; crops clean, but need water bad.

Some of the boys from Hunt have gone to the cotton country to check cotton or any old job they can get, but setting like leaping boys.

Dr. J. L. Folsler and family of Ingram attended services at the Church of Christ in Hunt Sunday.

Miss Mary Bennett of San Antonio is spending a few days' outing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. King.

Mr. White and family of Post Bay, Texas, ate at Hunt for the summer.

Mr. Edwards and wife of Cuero are also at Hunt for the summer months. Room for lots more. Come on, good people, spend your vacation in the mountains. Nothing like the Hill Country, and Andy will do all he can to make your stay pleasant for you while here.

Some of the boys are looking to be called to service for Uncle Sam, but all seem ready to go and do their best whatever needed.

Well, campers report fish biting good so Andy will have to go fishing and try his luck. So, bye-bye, good people.
