THE NEW GOVERNOR.

In an Interview He Tells a Reporter His Views on Things which Concern Our People.

JOINT STATEHOOD ADVOCATE.

M. Geo. A. Chamberlain, the representative of El Farol, while in Roswell last week called upon Mr. Herbert J. Hagerman, the territory's new governor, and obtained from him his views on several topics of general interest. We have Mr. Chamberlain's permission to publish part of this interview.

Referring to his recent declaration for Joint Statehood Mr. Hagerman said that he had not reached this conclusion without a study of conditions not only in the two territories concerned but also in Washington. He found that in many parts of Arizona, especially Phoenix, the opposition to Joint Statehood had been worked up to a point of frenzy. Local interests in the minds of the public were warped out of all proportion to those broader and sauer considerations which should have made valid their claim on such high grounds as patriotism and the good of the many as opposed to localism and the good of the very few. If the people could be led to take their eyes from the little inconveniences that will no doubt result from the change and fasten them upon the great benefits which must accrue in a relatively short time, should we attain the dignity of statehood, public opinion led by good sense would soon be unanimous in demanding such statehood as we are able to get.

His visit to Washington assured him that the alternative now before the territories is simply joint statehood today or single statehood after perhaps fifty years more of the present regime. That anyone should hesitate before such a choice only goes to prove that the large interests at stake are simply kept out of mind by a horde of petty considerations of a more or less local character. Mr. Hagerman said that he had no doubt that his declaration in regard to the statehood question would cause an outburst of adverse comment among advocates of single statehood but that it was the honest expression of his views and consequently the only possible one.

Mr. Hagerman has been giving much of his time to a study of conditions past and present throughout the territory and finds that there is much room for reform in all branches of popular government but most especially as regards the present system of schools. This problem is closely allied in many parts of the territory with the racial and linguistic questions.

There can be no doubt that the present system of schools is ridiculously unsuited to the needs of the community. What New Mexico needs above all else is an effective system of primary schools adopted to the necessities of the various localities. Without such a system it is absurd that the territory should spend money in the support of secondary institutions with collegiate aspirations.

Referring to the large proportion of Spanish-Americans in the territory Mr. Hagerman took occasion to deny the report that he "had it in for the Mexicans." His attitude toward the Spanish speaking people is one of absolute fair play, showing no favoritism, considering the Mexicans neither as a privileged class nor as one to be neglected. His feeling for them is one of good will and the only reforms contemplated are such as will bring them into closer accord with the true interests of their communities and into a deeper knowledge and appreciation of the honor and privileges of American citizenship.

Green's Slayer Surrenders.

Engle, N. M., Dec. 4.—A. D. Litton, the man who shot and killed Harry B. Green, at the Aleman ranch, September 15, came into town last night and surrendered to the sheriff.

It will be remembered that Litton shot Green because the latter had been given the foremanship of the Aleman ranch, formerly held by Litton. The latter got on a "spree" and picked a quarrel with Green, which led to the killing.

Litton has been hiding out in the mountains since the tragedy, successfully eluding the vigorous pursuit made after him by Sheriff Lucero and other officers of the law of this section.

Of Interest to Farmers.

Prof. H. W. Campbell, father of the "Campbell system" of dry farming, spoke as follows to the students of Colorado's agricultural college, and made suggestions that may be of service to our readers:

"Ten years ago very few of us realized that it made any difference when the soil was tilled. We thought that everything depended upon the season. We have, by systematic study and observation found out many things about farming, and we have advanced enough to say that we know what to do, when to do it and what results we may expect. Drouths, of course, have their effect, but we know how to minimize damage from this source.

"After all, the farmer is the corner stone upon which the business structure rests. Ten years ago there were almost total failures all over the west. People did not know what to do nor where to go. Business was at a complete standstill, merchants bought little because they knew the farmer could in turn purchase but little, and this was because the farmer, raised nothing and had no money to pay old debts with, let alone buying new goods. The manufacturers had their men on half time, railroads were transporting little, and in short, business generally was in a chaotic condition. The farmer is now growing four blades where he formerly harvested one blade, and a poor one at that, and as a result, business is good everywhere and values have increased, and it is not because of a 'boom' but because we are just beginning to realize the intrinsic value of our agricultural land.

"Scientific farming, which just now is doing so much toward the reclamation of the raw prairie land of the west, is not confined to the simple question of deep plowing, subsurface packing or frequent shallow cultivation. There are conditions on every farm that must be considered separately. Generally speaking, the ground should not be plowed when it is dry. There should be some moisture. When the soil is moist it readily breaks apart. The plow should be immediately followed with the subsurface packer and this settles the soil firmly. Follow next with the acme harrow, and the result is a fine mulch. The soil is now in what we call fine condition, which enables it to hold moisture, to increase the power of capillary attraction, and it also facilitates root growth.

"Chemical composition of the soil is not everything. Equally important is the physical condition, by which the plant food is made available, and by which we can control the water and the air. The air in the soil is just as important as the water in growing a crop. This fact we have demonstrated on our farms in Nebraska and Kansas. There is a bright outlook for young men who take up farming as a business, but if you succeed you must be up to date in your methods. You have at this college an opportunity to form correct ideas of iive stock production, crop culture, and in short, you take up farming after your course here, you are a hundred times better prepared than those of us who have for years been studying the science of farming."

PROUD FATHER'S FIRST ONE

The pleasant looking young conductor jumped off the car with alacrity and helped the matronly woman with the baby and folding go-cart to a seat. The woman thanked him with effusion. "I'm afraid that cart's going to be in your way," she said.

"Not at all, ma'am," replied the conductor, eying the cart with some interest. "Them's mighty handy," he remarked.

"I should say they was," said the woman, adjusting her infant's hood and removing some traces of recent cocky from its mouth with her handkerchief. "My land! I don't know how I'd get along without this."

"I'm a family man myself," said the conductor with some pride.

"Then you ought to know how a woman's tied to a baby. Wherever she goes the baby's got to go to."

"That's what," said the conductor, touching the baby under the chin.

"But they're great comfort as well as a care. I've raised four of 'em, an' I'd be kind o' lost without a baby."

"I would myself," said the conductor. "It sounds good to hear 'em a yellin' out. Seems like home, don't it?"

"You're different from most of the men if you like it," said the woman. "My husband likes his children, but he can't stand for it to hear 'em bawling."

"This fellow don't talk yet, does he?" asked the conductor presently.

"My land, no! He ain't but 14 months old yet. O, he says some things, but not real plain, as you may say, to talk. His sister, she talked at 14 months, though little gells generally talk sooner'n boys, they say."

"Mine's a little girl," said the conductor.

"I've got three boys and a gell," said the woman.

"I've sure got to get one o' them little carts," the conductor declared. "Pick 'em up, take 'em anywhere, can't you? I've seen lots of 'em, but never paid no particular attention to 'em before. Put 'em on a street car anywhere."

"It ain't so easy as it might be," said the woman. "All o' the conductors ain't as clever an' accommodatin' as you are. There's many of 'em won't never offer to help."

"I know how it is myself, you see—being a family man."

"Have you got any?"

"Jest the one, but she's a corker."

"How old is she?"

The conductor pulled out his watch and consulted it carefully. "Well," he said, "she's just 8 hours and 36 minutes old right now."—Chicago News.

DOING BUSINESS IN LONDON

Of the business life in London of "Ella Rawls Reader, Financier," Juliet Wilbo Tompkins writes as follows in Everybody's:

"Business in London is done largely over the dinner table. If it is to be tacit business, women are asked and the affair has apparently the brilliant irresponsibility of any other social event; for open discussion, only men are assembled. Champagne is inevitably the ether through which all business projects flow. The role of Mr. Sprague's new partner was largely that of hostess. Every one who could be of service, direct or indirect, to the Multiple Unit Control was given his chance and his dinner, and Miss Rawls presided with a calm grace and never deserted her, even when, as often happened, she had to take the table a lone woman with ten or a dozen men. Asking brilliant companies to meet an inventor is not always a simple matter; genius is as likely as not to arrive an hour or so late, with a mind above apology and the traces of the beloved machinery clearly visible; but natural ease and a firm belief in 'the control' pulled the young hostess through and had her steadily increasing influence in Sprague's favor.

"To these dinners and lunches came engineers, M. P.'s, peers of the realm, heads of traction companies, writers for the press. Miss Rawls talked electricity and multiple unit control until she was popularly supposed to be a leading authority and something of an inventor herself. Of course, her good advantage lay in the fact that the system she was pushing was, as has since been proved, the best thing of its kind yet invented. The facts were all on her side; her task was to get these facts a proper hearing. For this, her clear business head, her strong grasp on the salient points, were the best weapons. Moreover, as hostess and guest she had the gift of rousing friendliness, and direct, almost selfish interest—both of which inclined men to listen. It was, after all, fairly simple."

BECAME ALARMED TOO SOON

A few weeks ago a lady living in the vicinity of Copley square was approached by a particular young man lodger, who said: "Mrs. H., if you could find just the right kind of a fellow, one who would appreciate a good home at a low price, it would be agreeable to me to have a room-mate so as to reduce my expenses."

A lady friend suggested that Mrs. H. make the want known at the Y. M. C. A., where one would be sure of getting just the right person. This was done, and the face of the young man at the desk lighted up right away as he said: "I think I have just the man for you; a stranger of good address has been around here for several days looking for just such a place as you represent. Now, you will find him at (giving the address). Just say to him that I sent you."

Mrs. H. found the place all right, also two young men, each about 25 years of age, in the doorway. To one of them she said: "I am looking for a Mr. X. at this number."

"Tha—that's my name," was the reply.

"Well," continued Mrs. H., "your name was given me by the clerk at the Y. M. C. A., who said you were looking for a roommate; now, I—"

"Ye—ye—yes," broke in the blushing young man, "I—I—was; but I want a gentleman."—Boston Herald.

THE WOULD-BE FOOTBALL HERO

A fool there was and he grew his hair
(Neither as you nor I)
Ragged and long like the shaggy bear.
But the fool he thought that the goods were there,
While the wise ones were tempted to cuss and swear
(Even as you and I!)

"Oh, the times they waste and the dimes
they waste,
And the work of the barber band
Belong to the pikers who do not know,"
He said, "to the pikers that never could know
And cannot understand."

A fool there was and his funds he spent
(Even as you and I)
For padded pants his dollars went.
And a rubber guard for his features bent.
Till the fool was weaned from his last red cent

Oh, the toil he lost and the oil he lost
As he sat up late and planned
The criss-cross runs for tackle and end
(The intricate runs for tackle and end),
We could not understand.

His clothes were ripped to his foolish hide
(Neither as you nor I)
With a kicked-in face and a busted side
(And sundry cuts both long and wide)
So some of him lived, but the most of him died
(Neither as you nor I!)

But it wasn't the shame and it wasn't the blame
That got to the fool at last;
It was coming to know that he hadn't made good (Seeing at last he could never make good)
That nalled him to the mast.
—James P. Slaverson.

WONDERFUL MIRAGE.

Great City Appears to Whalers in the Behring Sea.

On the 15th of last August when the whaling bark Gayhead was cruising about seventy-five miles west of Pribyloff island in Behring sea, Mate Pease and the men on deck were thunder-struck by the appearance of a great city immediately ahead. There was the shore line, and rising above it were thousands of electric lights twinkling along a hundred streets. Here and there, apparently at prominent corners, were larger lights, and along the shore were the myriad of lights showing at the wharves.

But the mate and his men knew that this must be an imaginary city, and that for hundreds of miles beyond where these lights flared out was only an expanse of desolate water. The mate called Captain Fisher, who looked upon the scene and was bewildered. There was no accounting for the wonderful sight. This city seemed as real as San Francisco seems to a vessel anchored in the channel near Goat island.

When daylight came, the spectacle faded away, and in all directions was only the heaving bosom of the cold sea, with no land in sight and no great city within hundreds of miles.

A Teacher's Testimony.

Hinton, Ky., Oct. 30th.—(Special.)—It has long been claimed that Diabetes is incurable, but Mr. E. J. Thompson, teacher in the Hinton school, has pleasing evidence to the contrary. Mr. Thompson had Diabetes. He took Dodd's Kidney Pills and is cured. In a statement he makes regarding the cure Mr. Thompson says:

"I was troubled with my kidneys for more than two years and was treated by two of the best doctors in this part of the state. They claimed I had Diabetes and there was little to be done for me. Then I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills and what they did for me was wonderful. It is entirely owing to Dodd's Kidney Pills that I am now enjoying good health."

Many doctors still maintain that Diabetes is incurable. But Diabetes is a kidney disease and the kidney disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure has yet to be discovered.

"Why do you think it was tramps that robbed the clothes line?" "Because they took everything but the towels."

To the housewife who has not yet become acquainted with the new things of everyday use in the market and who is reasonably satisfied with the old, we would suggest that a trial of Defiance Cold Water Starch be made at once. Not alone because it is guaranteed by the manufacturers to be superior to any other brand, but because each 10c package contains 16 ozs., while all the other kinds contain but 12 ozs. It is safe to say that the lady who once uses Defiance Starch will use no other. Quality and quantity must win.

PARALYSIS CURED

Case Seemed Hopeless but Yielded to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Kenney has actually escaped from the paralytic's fate to which he seemed a short time ago hopelessly doomed. The surprising report has been fully verified and some important details secured in a personal interview with the recent sufferer.

"The doctor," said Mr. Kenney, "told me that if I wanted to live any length of time I would have to give up work altogether, and he told my friends that the paralysis which had begun would in time involve my whole body."

"Just how were you afflicted at this time?" Mr. Kenney was asked.

"Well, I had first hot, and then cold and clammy feelings, and at times my body felt as if needles were being stuck into it. These sensations were followed by terrible pains, and again I would have no feeling at all, but a numbness would come over me, and I would not be able to move. The most agonizing tortures came from headaches and a pain in the spine."

"Night after night I could not get my natural sleep and my system was wrecked by the strain of torturing pains and the effect of the opiates I was forced to take to induce sleep. As I look back on the terrible suffering I endured during this period I often wonder how I retained my reason through it all."

"But relief came quickly when I was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. The very first box seemed to help me, and seven boxes made me entirely well. There can be no doubt about the thoroughness of my cure, for I have worked steadily ever since and that is nearly four years."

Mr. Kenney is at present employed by the Merrimac Hat Company and resides at 101 Aubin street, Amesbury, Mass. The remedy which he used with such satisfactory results, is sold by all druggists, or direct by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

"How do you like your new cookbook?" "Fine. Lots of stirring events in it."

WEALTHY INDIANS DYING OUT.

Osage Tribe Will Soon Have Perished From the Earth.

Few realize that one of the fast-vanishing tribes of Indians forms the richest "nation" in the world.

These Indians, known as the Osages, abide on a reservation in the northeast corner of Oklahoma. The government for many years has held a large sum in trust for them, until even now there is but a vague idea as to their individual wealth. It is well known that every Indian—brave, squaw and papoose—on the reservation has at least $5,000 or $6,000 to his or her name in the government's keeping, as well as a quarter section of land in the Osage reservation. This land, which has recently been developed, shows almost inexhaustible resources. These Indians have accumulated wealth under the paternal policy of the government.

Their chief amusement consists of visiting, which the broad hospitality of the west makes an exceedingly inexpensive pastime. Their wants, being few, make slight demands on their resources in the way of food and clothing. At the same time the word "work" is an abomination to them. They lease their lands to small farmers and cattlemen and devote most of their time to strenuous avoidance of anything like labor.

The Osage reservation consists, in round numbers, of about 15,000,000 acres of land, which was originally leased by about twenty-five cattlemen at an annual rental of $45,000 a year, but with the advent of the small farmer these broad acres have been cut up into small sections, of land and are proving exceedingly remunerative to the tenants as well as to the Indian landlords.

A Georgian's Will.

A correspondent sends us a copy of an old will on record in the office of the ordinary of Lumpkin county, Georgia. After appointing three executors, he "solemnly" requests them "to law N. Nicholson to the full extent of the law. I impute my cramp colic to his injustice to me." He further requests that "they pay themselves and our attorneys and spend as much as is necessary in buying a slab and place on it: 'Here lies the remains of S. Douglas Crane. Born the 8th of November, 1800, who served five years in the Georgia legislature and never lost a day; and dies in the full faith of the Methodist doctrine and in full hope, to which church he wills $50.'" In conclusion, the testator requests "to be buried on the highest hill in the graveyard with the honors of war, a colonel's salute.—Law Notes.

My Mother's Garden.

Her heart was like her garden. Old-fashioned, quaint and sweet, A wealth of buds and blossoms Hid in a still retreat. Sweet violets of sympathy Were always opening there. And lilies white and pure enclosed, Each one a whispered prayer.

Forget-me-nots there lingered To late perfection brought, And there bloomed purple pansies In many a tender thought. There hope's first snowdrops took deep root.

And flowered because they must, There love's own roses reached toward heaven On trellises of trust.

And in that quiet garden— The garden of her heart— Song-birds built nests, and cared for Their songs of cheer apart. And from it still floats back to us, O'ercoming sin and strife, Sweet as the breath of roses blown, The fragrance of her life. —Alice E. Allen in Good Housekeeping.

Insinuating.

The following story is told of one of the former governors of Georgia: It seems that he was out walking one morning, a few days prior to his election, when he met an old negro. The following conversation took place:

"Morning, Marse John."
"Good morning, uncle."
"You all is looking mighty fine."
"Yes, I feel pretty good."
"Do you know what you looks like, Marse John?"
"No. What do I look like?"
"You looks as if you had a dollah in your pocket and was runnin' for Governor."

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

Two Grateful Letters from Women Who Avoided Serious Operations.—Many Women Suffering from Like Conditions Will Be Interested.

When a physician tells a woman, suffering from ovarian or womb trouble, that an operation is necessary it, of course, frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart. As one woman expressed it, when told by her physician that she must undergo an operation, she felt that her death knell had sounded.

Our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian or womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after the doctors had said an operation must be performed. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who, by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, have escaped serious operations.

Margrite Ryan, Treasurer of St. Andrew's Society, Hotel English, Indianapolis, Ind., writes of her cure as follows:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "I cannot find words to express my thanks for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me. The doctor said I could not get well unless I had an operation for ovarian and female troubles. I knew I could not stand the strain of an operation and made up my mind I would be an invalid for life.

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills.

Hearing how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had saved other women from serious operations I decided to try it, and in less than four months I was entirely cured; and words fail to express my thankfulness."

Miss Margret Merkley of 275 3d Street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:— "Loss of strength, extreme nervousness, severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps, bearing down pains, and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor, after making an examination, said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation as my only hope. To this I strongly objected—and I decided as a last resort to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

To my surprise the ulceration healed, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and I am once more strong, vigorous and well; and I cannot express my thanks for what it has done for me."

Ovarian and womb troubles are steadily on the increase among women—and before submitting to an operation every woman should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for advice.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been curing the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation, ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, leucorrhoea, irregularities, indigestion and nervous prostration. Any woman who could read the many grateful letters on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office would be convinced of the efficiency of her advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

PRESIDENT RECOMMENDS JOINT-URE.

"I recommend that Indian Territory and Oklahoma be admitted as one state, and that New Mexico and Arizona be admitted as one state. There is no obligation upon us to treat territorial subdivisions, which are a matter of convenience only, as binding on the question of admission to statehood.

"Nothing has taken up more time in the congress during the past few years than the question as to the statehood to be granted to the four territories above mentioned, and, after consideration of all that has been developed in the discussions of the question, I recommend that they be immediately admitted as two states. There is no justification for further delay; and the advisability of making the four territories into two states has been clearly established.

"In some of the territories the legislative assemblies issue licenses for Gambling. The congress should by law forbid this practice, the harmful results of which are obvious at a glance."—From President Roosevelt's Message.

The newly appointed governor has announced his position on the statehood matter, and is unequivocally in favor of the jointure of Arizona and New Mexico. Some very pretty tumbling is, no doubt, now taking place at Santa Fe. The only formidable opposition to jointure in New Mexico was the administration crowd, and now that they have lost the head that could blight or bless, they will find it to their interests to follow the people's wishes, and lay aside, for a time at least, their petty politics. Hurrah for the new Governor, hurrah for joint statehood!

It seems that the president has won out, despite vigorous opposition in his party, in railroad rate regulation. It is too early yet to predict the nature of the bill, or the effect it will have on the railroads; but one thing is certain, and that is if congress fails to regulate the railroads, it will bring more quickly government ownership.

Congress convened in regular session, at Washington, Monday of this week. Joseph Cannon, of Illinois, was elected speaker of the house, and John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, was selected as the minority leader in the same hall. Vice-President Fairbanks will preside over the deliberations in the upper chamber.

After we had filled all blank Joint Statehood petitions in our possession, front and back, citizens continued to come in and attach their name. More blanks we secured, and will be quickly filled. This section is certainly a unit on the measure.

Judge G. B. Greer, of Bonito, stepped into our office Tuesday morning and said: "I want to sign that joint statehood petition." He was informed that all blanks in our possession had been filled and sent in, but that the last mail brought us some more. He was handed the blank, and took it with him, saying, "that every man on the creek would sign it."

Max Sees the Handwriting.

Joint or separate statehood for New Mexico and Arizona will get considerable attention in the 59th congress. Newspapers published in eastern cities foreshadow that President Roosevelt will support the Joint Statehood side of the case. At any rate there will be a merry time while the discussion of the question lasts.—New Mexican.

THE CURING OF CONSUMPTION.

Great Work Being Done in New York Post-Graduate Hospital.

For the benefit of poor consumptives unable to leave their work, or to go from home to a more congenial climate, the New York Post-Graduate Hospital some years ago set apart a portion of its free dispensary. Some of the methods employed are described in Pearson's.

The patients report at the hospital twice daily, and these daily gatherings give the physicians in charge "an opportunity to cross-examine the patients, to correct their faults of living and instruct them how to make the most of their means. The patients are bidden to eat all they can of wholesome food, allowing an interval of five hours between meals. Things specifically barred are tea, coffee, cocoa, chocolate, vinegar, alcohol in any form, beef tea and meat extracts. It is preferred that the patients do not use tobacco. Fresh air and cleanliness of person and surroundings are insisted upon. Frequently the patient's occupation will not permit of his controlling his supply of air during the day, but he must sleep with his windows wide open in all kinds of weather. Why do we hear all this talk about the great necessity of fresh air in curing consumption? The reason is that heat and energy are convertible terms; that if the fat you take into your system is to be utilized as energy it must be kindled, and that to kindle anything you must have oxygen, which is found in proper quantity only in air that is fresh. Women patients who wear corsets must take them off."

Besides being instructed as to the method of cure, the patients are taught that "the curing of a cause of tuberculosis depends as much, if not more, upon the determination and will of the patient as upon the skill of the physician."

Some heroic struggles are made by some of the patients who are determined to get well. The writer tells of one poor woman who, with both lungs affected and a cavity in her chest, sat bundled up a whole winter in a room with the windows wide open, while she sewed with fingerless gloves, blowing on her hands now and then to relieve the numbness. Her perseverance was happily rewarded with recovery.

Enormous Naval Expenses.

In putting from $4,000,000 to $7,000,000 into the construction of a battleship nations are practically putting that amount into an eggshell which may be crushed and ruined at a touch. Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry won a memorable victory, very important in its results, with a fleet of ships which seventy days before his fight had been standing as living trees on the shores of Lake Erie. That was not so far back in the history of the nations. Now it takes four years to build a battleship and fifteen minutes perhaps, to destroy it. We call this progress, but the joy of the nations over peace suggests that the world's attention may presently become centered on another sort of progress.—New York Mail.

Not That Kind.

Cyrus had finished his story of the wonderful memory of an elephant, and remarked that he, himself, could remember the name of every soldier in his army.

"But understand," he said, with a slight flush, "I am not one of these people who never forget a face."

Fearful lest they did not attach enough importance to the remark, he scanned their faces to see if they heard him or had been thinking and chuckling over the stories they were going to tell when their turns came.

Russian White Flag.

The white flag which was hoisted on the Russian destroyer Biedovi when Admiral Rojestvensky surrendered to the Japanese, has been sent to Tokio. It was a tablecloth in the wardroom, the size being about nine by five feet. It will be placed on exhibition in the military museum at Tokio.

HEALTHY CHILDREN.

Without good health life is not worth living. Sickly, peevish children are a source of endless trouble and anxiety to their parents, yet the children's condition is frequently due to their parents' ignorance or thoughtlessness, or both.

To make children healthy and to keep them in that condition it is necessary to feed them proper food and to see that they get plenty of exercise and fresh air. Meat is very bad for children. It should be avoided and food rich in phosphates, such as Pillsbury's Vitos, should be given in its place.

This food is truly the "meat of the wheat." It is made by the world's greatest millers and it is free from artificial coloring or adulteration. It is not especially a child's food. Your whole family will enjoy this common sense cereal. It makes a wholesome, substantial breakfast or an appetizing dessert and can be prepared in one hundred different ways.

Every good grocer will supply you with Pillsbury's Vitos. Large package—enough to make twelve pounds of strength-building food. Ask your grocer about it to-day.

Age Standard.

There is only one fair standard by which a man's work can be measured, and that is what he can do. Neither age nor youth can count against the man that does things.—Pueblo Chieftain.

LAW URGED BY SELF-SEEKERS.

Real Animus of Movement Against Remedies Deservedly Popular.

An adroit but plausible scheme by which it is hoped to prejudice the sale of proprietary medicines is the proposition to prohibit the sale of any remedy which "contains poison" unless each package or bottle is expressly labeled "Poison." Such bills are also well designed to impose upon men who have no familiarity with the subject matter. The pretense of protecting the public health put forth in support of such bills is generally the merest subterfuge; and whenever you hear a demand for a law of this kind it originates with those who have a direct pecuniary interest to serve by destroying the sale of proprietary remedies.

Some of the best and most widely used remedies in the world contain some one ingredient which, if taken in sufficient quantities, might be poisonous, and yet the preparation as a whole is not poisonous at all. Opium, for instance, is used in small quantities in many of the best cures for coughs, colic, diarrhea, etc., in toothache drops and in almost all liniments. To require such medicines to be falsely labeled "poison" would be merely a cunning device to alarm the public and thus bring about the destruction of the sale of those remedies, and indirectly to compel people to procure the medicine they want by the more expensive method of consulting a physician and getting his prescription. In other words, it is an effort to prevent them from getting cheaply the remedies which they and their fathers before them have used for many years.—Medical exchange.

BURNS' REAL CLAIM TO FAME

Dumfries' Tradition Explains Why Poet Is So Well Beloved.

Booth Tarkington was talking about Burns, whose poetry he admires.

"In a beer hall one night," he said—"in such a beer hall as I describe in the early chapters of 'The Conquest of Canaan'—I saw a bust of Burns.

"I turned to a young man and said: 'Who is that?'"

"Burns," he answered without hesitation.

"And what," I asked, "did Burns do to entitle him to a bust?"

"Why, he—he—oh, he died," said the young man, yawning.

"But his companion was a Scot. This Scot, as he filled his whisky glass, sneered and said:

"Burns' death alone wouldn't have sufficed for his commemoration in bronze and marble. Burns was a poet, gentlemen. Furthermore, he was a good fellow. Let me tell you something that should endear him to such minds as yours.

"Once, in Dumfries, Burns had the job of gauger. He went about from public house to public house, seeing that a good, pure grade of whisky was served. And he was supposed, too, to keep his eye open for unlicensed houses—to see that no speak-easies, as we called them, flourished in Dumfries.

"And did he do it? Did he, indeed? There's a fond Dumfries tradition that, sneaking hurriedly into the back door of a prosperous speak-easy one afternoon, Burns whispered excitedly to the owner, a widow:

"Kate, woman, are ye mad? The supervisor and me will be raidin' ye in half an hour."

Causes for Stupidity in Children.

The teacher should be a close observer of his pupils, and should know when they are failing in bodily stamina as well as when they are not keeping up their scholarship record.

Many children have defective eyesight, and suffer for want of properly adjusted glasses. Their astigmatism, myopia, or some other error of refraction, does not cause serious discomfort until the eye strain required to accommodate the vision for close work brings on headache, irritability of temper and digestive disorders, which so often perplex even the physician, who fails to look in the right direction for the causes of these disorders.

Often little consideration is shown the stupid members of a class. The dull boy or girl is always expected to be at the foot, yet the cause of the dullness may be only natural timidity due to imperfect hearing, mouth-breathing, the result of enlarged tonsils, nasal catarrh, or growths in the nose, all of which conditions can easily be relieved. The health would be more vigorous, and the normal activity of the brain would be manifested in increased ability to acquire knowledge.

Pigeons Fly Inland.

While dressing pigeons for the table the cook of the Murray Hotel, Omaha, found on them a metal band inscribed "U. S. carrier pigeon," and on one had been scratched "U. S. S. Bennington." The birds were from the Bennington. They had come with others from Sioux City, and evidently had been in cold storage for some time.

ECZEMA FOR TWO YEARS.

Little Girl's Awful Suffering With Terrible Skin Humor—Sleepless Nights for Mother—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"My little girl had been suffering for two years from eczema, and during that time I could not get a night's sleep, as her ailment was very severe. I had tried so many remedies, deriving no benefit, I had given up all hope. But as a last resort I was persuaded to try Cuticura, and one box of the Ointment and two bottles of the Resolvent, together with the Soap, effected a permanent cure.—Mrs. I. B. Jones, Addington, Ind. T."

The Billboard Nuisance.

Nothing is spared, no object in nature is top beautiful and attractive to escape the daubs of the brush or the hammer and nails of the billboard man, says Leslie's Weekly. Natural scenery that would otherwise be refreshing and inviting to a traveler escaping for a few hours from the hot pavements and brick walls of the city is almost eclipsed from his view by seemingly endless stretches of garish and obnoxious signs.

Public sentiment could be made more effective than laws and ordinances for the suppression of these advertising nuisances if it would decree a boycott against all the concerns that thrust their wares upon public notice in this manner. No concern, at all events, that will permit its agents to deface and ruin wayside trees and street cars deserves to receive the patronage of the public. Either this abomination should cease or the people should refuse to buy the stuff so advertised. Public sentiment directed to an end like this—the diminution of profit—would soon cause a revolution in the billboard business.

Buckwheat Cakes Coming.

Good news for all lovers of the buckwheat cake comes from the great buckwheat belt of America, comprised in the counties of Butler, Armstrong, Westmoreland and Indiana, in Pennsylvania. What promises to be one of the largest buckwheat crops harvested in a decade is now ripening in the fields, and griddle cakes galore are predicted for next winter. In those four counties are grown almost four-fifths of Pennsylvania's crop of this cereal. Pennsylvania buckwheat is eaten in nearly every large city in America and is exported to many foreign countries. Last year more than 800,000 acres of land in the United States were planted in buckwheat, yielding 14,529,770 bushels, valued at $8,654,704. More or less of the crop is raised in twenty-five different states—from Maine to North Dakota and from Wisconsin to Tennessee and Virginia.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FUNNY

People Will Drink Coffee When It "Does Such Things."

"I began to use Postum because the old kind of coffee had so poisoned my whole system that I was on the point of breaking down, and the doctor warned me that I must quit it.

My chief ailment was nervousness and heart trouble.

Any unexpected noise would cause me the most painful palpitation, make me faint and weak.

"I had heard of Postum and began to drink it when I left off the old coffee. It began to help me just as soon as the old effects of the other kind of coffee passed away. It did not stimulate me for a while, and then leave me weak and nervous as coffee used to do. Instead of that it built up my strength and supplied a constant vigor to my system which I can always rely on. It enables me to do the biggest kind of a day's work without getting tired. All the heart trouble, etc., has passed away.

"I give it freely to all my children, from the youngest to the oldest, and it keeps them all healthy and hearty." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Omaha, Nebr., Oct. 26.—It is reported from Casper, Wyo., that sales of town lots for the new town of Shoshone, located at the edge of the Wind River Reservation on the new line of The Chicago & North-Western Railway across the state from Casper, have been unprecedented.

Bidding for town lots runs high and a large number have been disposed of within a short time. Buyers evidently figure on the growth of the city here when the Indian Reservation is thrown open to settlement next June.
