Another Rough Rider Gets an Appointment.

A telegram dated Santa Fe, October 8th, states:

John W. Green, a Rough Rider, was today appointed superintendent of the territorial penitentiary, to succeed Marion Littrell, resigned.

His home is at Gallup and he is at present special agent of the department of the interior at Los Angeles.

His appointment was suggested by President Roosevelt to Governor Curry. Green was a lieutenant in the Rough Riders and later a captain of the constabulary in the Philippines.

Old Familiar Faces.

While at Carrizozo one day last week we noticed the familiar faces of Albert and Jacob Ziegler, who for years were prominent business men in White Oaks, but who left there to engage in business in Trinidad, Colo., some three years ago. Ziegler Bros. have reentered the mercantile business in Lincoln county, having recently become associated with the Carrizozo Trading company. This already strong company is still further strengthened by this addition, as these gentlemen are thorough business men, well acquainted with the wants of the people of this section, and during the years of their business career in White Oaks were ever ready to meet the demands of the public. Carrizozo is to be congratulated upon securing two such reliable business men, whose record for honest dealing has never been questioned. We predict for them and the firm they are associated with a full share of the public patronage.

Cashed a Worthless Check.

R. W. McLendon was arrested at Dawson last week on a warrant from Grant county. It is alleged that McLendon cashed a check for $100 at the saloon of J. F. Smith in Silver City, drawn on the Exchange Bank of Carrizozo, in which it is claimed he had no funds.

McLendon kept a saloon at Nogal, this county, but sold out in July. He was indicted at the spring term of court for gambling without a license and selling liquor to minors, which indictment still stands against him.

A Deserved Promotion.

J. H. Kinney, who has been assistant supervisor of the Lincoln Forest Reserve for the past year has been officially notified that the Forest department has noticed the efficient manner in which he has been administering the Forest under his charge, and that he has been promoted to supervisor, to date from October 21. This is a well-deserved recognition of worth, and his many friends will be pleased to learn of his success, especially as it means a substantial addition to his salary.

An Oversight.

One of those errors, which will creep into the columns of a newspaper now and then, occurred in last week's issue of this paper. We refer to a paragraph in which the name Elmer Zumwalt was printed instead of Mack McKinney. The error cannot be attributed to want of knowledge, as both gentlemen are well known to us, and numbered among our closest friends, but was simply one of those regrettable oversights that will occur when the human mind tries to grasp two ideas at the same time. We are sorry the mistake occurred, and hope we may have an opportunity one of these days to couple Mr. Zumwalt's name right.

A Large Cattle Shipment.

W. C. McDonald was over from Carrizozo Wednesday on a cattle-buying expedition. He purchased 250 head of one and two-year-old steers, through W. H. Orme Johnson, from the following parties: M. C. West, W. M. Riley, Mrs. Pons, Lee Hall, W. Booth and the Prescilla Bros. The cattle were driven to Carrizozo Thursday, from which point they will be shipped to Kansas City Friday. A finer or fatter bunch of cattle has seldom gone over the pike.

A Case of Typhoid.

John Copeland returned from Carrizozo Monday to recuperate from the effects of a seige of typhoid fever. He went out to the home ranch Tuesday, where he will get the nursing his case requires. Mr. Copeland had been engaged in the restaurant business in Carrizozo for several months up to the time he contracted the fever, but was compelled to close up.

Capitan Schools Closed.

The schools of this district have been closed on account of a reported case of scarlet fever. It is possible that the case in question is not scarlet fever, but the school directors took the right step in closing the schools. There has been no new cases developed, and the original case is convalescing, which goes to show that if it was scarlet fever it was of a mild variety. In the meantime it behoves parents to keep their children at home until all danger is passed—an ounce of preventive is worth more than a pound of cure.

The Governor as a "Buster."

The special qualifications of Captain Curry which appealed to our Rough Rider president, and his bent as a "mixer," are well illustrated by his performance at the Socorro county fair last week. A dispatch sent out to all the great newspapers of the country read as follows:

"Governor George Curry, the Rough Rider executive of New Mexico, opened the Socorro county fair by successfully riding an unbroken broncho, to the amusement of 10,000 spectators. He then took part in a roping exhibition and fancy lariat throwing. He won third prize. Gov. Curry is considered one of the best riders and rope throwers in the territory."

The people of New Mexico are proud of his cowboy accomplishments and democratic simplicity, and the governor will fret little about what Easterners may think of his equestrian qualifications—he has others.

The Alleged Timber Frauds will be Tried in this District.

A telegram to the Journal dated October 8, states:

E. Peyton Gordon, one of the special assistants to the attorney general, who, with Ormsby McHarg, is in the territory for the purpose of unearthing alleged land frauds which are said to belong to New Mexico's recent history, was in Alamogordo Saturday, at which time he filed two suits in the United States court for the Sixth district, one against the Pennsylvania Development company and the New Mexico Fuel and Iron company, and the other against the Alamogordo Lumber company.

In each suit the defendants were cited to appear at Alamogordo on the 19th of the present month to show cause why an injunction should not issue out of the court enjoining them from further using the timber each is now alleged to be unlawfully cutting, the former in the Marzano mountains, in Torrance county, the latter in the Sacramento mountains in Otero county. Messrs. McHarg and Gordon appear as attorneys for the United States.

"El Capitan" Broke Down.

Word reached here yesterday that "El Capitan," the speedy racehorse that represented Lincoln county at the fair, and whom many believed would show his heels to the fastest horses there, injured a tendon while in training, and although the injury is slight, his owner, S. T. Gray, decided to scratch him from all the events in which he was entered.

THE ROAST OF VEAL

HOW IT MAY BE DISPOSED OF ECONOMICALLY.

Presents Fewer Problems Than the Leg of Mutton—Chops and Cutlets Make Excellent Second Day Dishes.

To the capable housewife, the easy disposal of a roast of veal should be a less serious problem than the economical disposition of a leg of mutton. Even when there are but two mouths to feed, the matter is not one that should tax her ingenuity to any great extent. All that is required is judgment in the selection of the recipes that are to give the appearance of variety to her daily menu, and when it is veal that is the foundation upon which she has to build the choice of tasty and attractive dishes is by no means a narrow one.

The first point to which she must give her attention is the selection of the veal itself, and this is a matter about which she cannot be too careful, as the immature, or so-called "bob" veal is frequently the cause of many internal disorders. In spite of the vigilance of the boards of health, a great deal of this unwholesome meat escapes detection and is sold as good veal by unscrupulous marketmen. As such meats may be detected without much trouble, however, there is no reason why an ordinarily intelligent buyer need be imposed upon. Wholesome veal has a pinkish tint, is firm to the touch, and has hard bones. "Bob" veal is of a bluish hue, and seems flabby and sticky when pressed by the finger.

As veal is a meat that does not spoil easily after it has once been cooked, the economical way to purchase a roast is for the housewife to order two or three times as much as she can possibly eat at a single meal. Bought in such quantity the price will be lower, and there is no reason why any of the meat should be wasted. If it is the loin that has been selected, let it be weighed, and then request the butcher to cut off as many chops as may be required for a second meal. If it is the leg that you prefer, have him cut off enough slices of the meat to assure you a few cutlets. In this way the meat for the second meal may be procured at a much smaller cost than would have been possible had the chops or cutlets been ordered separately.

Roast your veal, therefore, and enjoy it just as much as you would if the problem of its disposal did not confront you. Then, when you have eaten enough, put the remains of the roast into the ice-box, and at the next meal serve the chops or cutlets. If you like, you may smother them a la Creole.—Jean Marie Devaux in The Delineator.

Picnic Sandwiches.

Minced ham is the best for sandwiches. The meat should be finely chopped, and can be mixed with finely chopped sweet pickles and olives. All can be run through a meat chopper and mixed with mayonnaise. Ham mixed with chopped hard-boiled eggs and catsup is tempting for a filling. For home use sandwiches are dainty when mixture is placed between lettuce leaves, then buttered white bread. Chicken sandwiches must be highly flavored, as the meat is tasteless in sandwiches. Chicken is better if mixed with highly seasoned condiments and grated cheese.

Stuffed Red Peppers.

Cut some large red peppers into half lengthwise, and take out the seeds; make two cupfuls of fine, soft bread crumbs, moisten with half a cup of cream, season with salt and pepper, and add two chopped fresh mushrooms or more. Put into a shallow pan, drop a bit of butter on each, and bake till light brown.—Harper's Bazar.

CAME PRETTY FAST FOR PAT.

At That, He Had Had Only What the Doctor Ordered.

A Philadelphia physician says that not long ago he was called to see an Irishman, and among other directions told him to take an ounce of whisky three times a day. A day or so later he made another visit and found the man, while not so sick, undeniably drunk.

"How did this happen?" the physician demanded of Pat's wife, who was hovering about solicitously.

"Sure, dochter, an' 'tis just what you ordered, an' no more, that he had," she protested.

"I said one ounce of whisky three times a day; that could not make him drunk," the physician said. "He has had much more than that."

"Divil a drop more, dochter, dear," she declared. "Sure an' I didn't know just how much an ounce was so I went to the drug store an' asked, an' the lad—he's a broth of a boy, too—told me that an ounce was 16 drams and Pat has had thim regular, an' no more!"—Harper's Weekly.

The Manchester canal was built at a cost of $75,000,000 to reduce freight rates for a distance of 35 miles, and, while it did not prove a good interest bearing investment on such a large expenditure, its indirect and more permanent benefits are said to have warranted it.

Germany has 3,000 miles of canal, carefully maintained, besides 7,000 miles of other waterway. France, with an area less than we would consider a large state, has 3,000 miles of canal; and in the northern part, where the canals are most numerous, the railways are more prosperous. England, Germany, France, Holland and Belgium are all contemplating further extension and improvement of their canal systems.—Century Magazine.

Never Touched Him.

"I have brought back the lawn mower I bought of you last week," said the man with the side whiskers. "You said you would return my money if it wasn't satisfactory."

"Yes, that's what I said," replied the dealer, "but I assure you the money was perfectly satisfactory in every respect."

WHAT'S THE USE?

To Pour in Coffee When It Acts as a Vicious Enemy.

Fasters have gone without food for many days at a time but no one can go without sleep. "For a long time I have not been sleeping well, often lying awake for two or three hours during the night but now I sleep sound every night and wake up refreshed and vigorous," says a Calif. woman.

"Do you know why? It's because I used to drink coffee but I finally cut it out and began using Postum. Twice since then I have drunk coffee and both times I passed a sleepless night, and so I am doubly convinced coffee caused the trouble and Postum removed it.

"My brother was in the habit of drinking coffee three times a day. He was troubled with sour stomach and I would often notice him getting soda from the can to relieve the distress in his stomach; lately hardly a day passed without a dose of soda for relief.

"Finally he tried a cup of Postum and liked it so well he gave up coffee and since then has been drinking Postum in its place and says he has not once been troubled with sour stomach."

Even after this lady's experience with coffee her brother did not suspect for a time that coffee was causing his sour stomach, but easily proved it.

Coffee is not suspected in thousands of cases just like this but it's easily proved. A ten day's trial works wonders. "There's a Reason."

He Was Not to Blame.

Little Bartholomew's mother overheard him swearing like a mule driver, says the Cleveland Leader. He displayed a fluency that overwhelmed her. She took him to task, explaining the wickedness of profanity as well as its vulgarity. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bartholomew announced that Cavert, one of his playmates, had taught him. Cavert's mother was straightway informed and Cavert was brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bartholomew, and neither threats nor tears could make his confess. At last he burst out: "I didn't tell Bartholomew any cuss words. Why should I know how to cuss any better than he does? Hasn't his father got an automobile, too?"

BABY TORTURED BY ITCHING.

Rash Covered Face and Feet—Would Cry Until Tired Out—Speedy Cure by Cuticura.

"My baby was about nine months old when she had rash on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially nights. They would cause her to be broken in her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvement was noticeable in a few hours, and before I had used one box of the Cuticura Ointment her feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as 'cradle cap' from her head, and it worked like a charm, as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time. Mrs. Hattie Currier, Thomaston, Me., June 9, 1906."

Foreign Waterways.

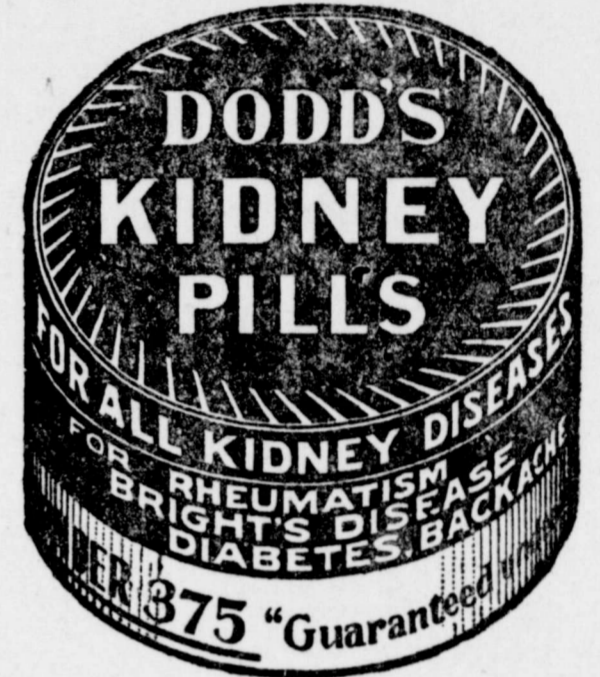

Since we began the neglect and abandonment of canals, France has quadrupled her waterways. According to figures furnished by commercial associations, the British isles have 8,000 miles of canal and it does not all antedate the railroad.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any new wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING OF SICK MAN IN ALASKA WHILE WAITING FOR PARTNER.

KEPT DIARY OF HIS TORTURES

Unfortunate Fellow Dies Alone After 35 Days of Misery—Help He Longed For Arrives Too Late.

Seattle, Wash.—The story of a man who, though sick and alone in a cabin in the Kuskokwim region of Alaska, kept a diary, in which he set down notes of his daily sufferings, while he prayed for the arrival of his partner, who never came, is told in a letter received by Miss Jane Porter from her brother, Bert Porter of Nome. Bert Porter said the story was brought to Nome by a man named James Bayne, together with the diary and the personal effects of the man, who died alone after 35 days of recorded suffering. The name of the unfortunate man was Al Melhern of Seattle.

Bayne explained that Melhern, with his partner, Fisher, had gone into the Kuskokwim country prospecting, and that Fisher had left Melhern to go farther up a river. The two had an agreement that Melhern would follow Fisher and rejoin him on March 1.

While Fisher was gone Melhern was seized with cramps and later with paralysis, and was laid helpless in his dreary hut. For a while he was able to move about a little, to procure water and light a fire, but as the days passed and assistance failed to arrive even that power left him, and only the strength to write a little in his diary describing his tortures remained. Praying for Fisher while his numbed fingers were unable to scratch a match, he made the daily entries in his book.

"Cold and thirsty," he wrote finally on April 2, and for the next three days there appear only the ditto marks that show he was still conscious of his position. On April 6 the help he had longed for came, but they found only the emaciated and frozen body, from which life probably had departed on the night before.

Fisher, though he missed the arrival of Melhern on the appointed day, was immediately afterward taken with scurvy, and was unable to send back a party in time. As soon as he could do so he organized and dispatched the relief expedition, but it arrived a day too late. Entries in the diary found with Melhern's body and copied by Porter down to the last entry are as follows:

REAL MAGNATE HER GUEST.

Secret of Courtly Fellow Diner's Courtly Manners Revealed.

"It has happened at last," exulted the woman. "I have dined at the same table with a real magnate. I knew it would happen if I kept on going to that little Hungarian restaurant where they are all magnates, exiled princes and things.

"It happened last night. I hadn't been there for a long time. I sat at the big square table where I always sit. Not far from me was a very distinguished looking man with iron gray hair and such a manner! He passed me everything on the table. He bowed so courteously every time he did it in a noble way. Nothing servile. Just a high and mighty courtesy, you might call it. At last I said to him:

"This is an interesting little place, isn't it? Have you ever been here before?"

"This is my first visit," he replied with a smile. "I heard so much of it I thought I would come down and look it over. I am in the same business myself." He bowed and smiled again as he revealed the nature of his business.

"I am head waiter at the Hotel Astor," he said.—N. Y. Press.

Threw No Hints.

"Did the Browns treat you well, when you visited them?"

"I should say they did. I stayed there three days and they never even mentioned the people they've entertained who always made up their own beds."—Detroit Free Press.

The Lady and the Story.

Quannah Parker, the millionaire chief of the Comanches, was discussing in Guthrie a new Indian bill.

"The bill is no good," said the chief. "It would not have any effect. It reminds me of a young French lady in Washington.

"I was dining in Washington at an ambassador's house, and this young lady was the only female guest. An Italian duke wanted to tell a story, but he hesitated.

"My story," he said, 'is a very good one, but it is rather low in the neck, and before the young lady—'

"But she laughed and interrupted him:

"Oh, don't mind me,' she said. I'll shut my eyes. Go on.'"

An interesting pictorial feature of the September Century will be four pages reproduced from pictures by G. W. Peters of excavations for railroad terminals in New York City; showing a bird's-eye view of the excavation for the new Pennsylvania railway station, a section of the same at Thirty-third street looking east, a view in the excavation for the new station of the New York Central, and the sinking of the foundations of the terminals of the Hudson river tunnel at Fulton and Church streets.

Governor Curry, while riding down the Mississippi with President Roosevelt, secured a promise from him to support single statehood for New Mexico. "He authorized me to say," said the governor, "that he is for statehood for New Mexico alone, and will do all he can to secure the passage of a single statehood bill."

The El Paso Herald gives the statehood question in New Mexico the following boost:

"Single statehood for New Mexico—it is our fight, too, and Texas can afford to go in for it heart and soul. What would Texans say if for sixty years 300,000 of their people had been deprived of participation in the National government. It is nothing short of an outrage."

The weather the first of the week was extremely cold; strong northerly winds prevailed and for several days a fire would have been comfortable. But, alas! The adjacent hills abound in coal; we are surrounded by producing mines, and yet the people cannot purchase a pound of coal. Capitan will have to follow the lead of Albuquerque and other towns and "go after" the coal companies.

President Roosevelt ordered the license of the pilot of the steamboat Fred Hartwig hung up for ninety days for attempting to pass the boat on which the president rode, between St. Louis and Memphis. Governor Curry got off easy with a friendly dig in the ribs for keeping the president waiting forty minutes. Lucky George! The Most Powerful might have sent him back to Santa Fe to write out his resignation.

The Statehood Question.

The following very logical article is taken from the Los Vegas Optic:

"The exclusive interview with Governor Curry certainly contains good news for New Mexico. For half a century we have been chasing the will o' the wisp of statehood, but now it looks as if it might be real fire after all.

President Roosevelt is not satisfied simply with suggesting a policy, but likes to see to it that his ideas are carried out. He has not only said that he himself is in favor of single statehood for New Mexico, but has communicated his views to his following in the senate and house. This necessarily means that he will recommend statehood in his message and will see that it is made a party measure. He has power to push it through and the will to do so, and has commenced practical means to that end. Governor Curry deserves and will receive full credit for inducing the president to adopt this course, and he himself can be relied upon for assistance in every way. And we may be sure that any plans he may suggest will be sober and calculated to accomplish the purpose. No rainbow chasing for him. He announces that he does not favor a constitutional convention at this time, and all thinking citizens will agree with him that such action would avail nothing. Evidently in squelching this convention idea he is voicing Roosevelt's mind also. Both think we can cook our rabbit better after we have caught him. Governor Curry undoubtedly has his plans for the campaign, and will let them be known in his own good time. One thing surely necessary is that we get together in a strong pull, working harmoniously and without discord. All factions and all parties should unite, yield the leadership to the man who has demonstrated his influence, and work unitedly under his direction.

Associate Justice Edward A. Mann passed through Sunday en route to Lincoln, where he is holding a special term of court this week.

Miss Mae Burleson, who has been assisting in the Canning mercantile store at Carrizozo, returned Monday on a visit to her home at Lincoln.

Deputy George White of Lincoln made a flying trip to Nogal Tuesday with a warrant for the arrest of R. W. McLendon, but found the bird had flown.

Attorney F. C. Matteson of Tucumcari came in Monday and left immediately for Lincoln to attend to business before the district court in session there this week.

Snow fell over a considerable portion of northern New Mexico Friday. At Ancho, this county, it snowed for two hours, but the ground being warm it melted as fast as it fell.

The locomotive that pulled Monday's train to Capitan was unable to make the return trip for want of water. Another engine came over Tuesday morning and hauled the dead one back.

A young man named Harry Jones, a locomotive fireman, running south from Carrizozo, died in El Paso Sunday from the effects of eating poisoned food in a restaurant. His family reside in Carrizozo.

J. W. Wiggins, the hustling manager of the P. O. R. company on the Bonito, returned Thursday from an extended trip to the south. The company, it is reported, are now in position to pay off all outstanding accounts and start up with a strong treasury. Pumps and other machinery have been ordered, and are expected to arrive next week.

The Misses Lucille and Mildred Peters and brother William returned Monday from El Paso, where they had been on a visit to their mother, who has been in ill health for some time. Mrs. Peters while far from well, appears to be improving under the medical treatment of a specialist.

The board of county commissioners met in regular session at Lincoln Monday morning and spent several days in auditing and allowing bills, and transacting all other business brought before them. This is the beginning of the last quarter of the year, and the regular time for allowing salaries for the past three months.

A special train carrying freight came over from Carrizozo Tuesday, and, as usual, the engine died here for want of water, and had to be hauled back the following day. It seems strange that the company doesn't see that their locomotives are supplied with sufficient water to make the return trip, or keep a tank here for locomotives to get water to return on.

THE CAPITAN NEWS

CAPITAN, - - NEW MEXICO.

A New York banker is having a glass house built, thus breaking all records in the desire for publicity that affects rich New York people.

Doing good to others, says Mr. Rockefeller, brings the greatest happiness in this world. Kindly notice that he does not say "doing others good."

Another Central American war is imminent. It is perhaps only natural that the people down there should be a little mad at this time of the year.

A Chicago professor has announced that in a few thousand years women will be wearing beards. Imagine making love to a sweet young thing with sideburns.

Thomas A. Edison says that electricity is more of a mystery to him now than ever. Mr. Edison ought to talk with one of the first-year men at Tech.

Count Boni wants to go into the railroad business. He was always a little fast in his ideas, as gentle Anna found to her sorrow in the rapid depletion of her income.

Jack London, who says that, thank God, he is not an authority on anything, is very different from the kaiser, who is willing to admit that he is an authority on everything.

Rev. William J. Long says that in all his 20 years' experience he has never seen an unhappy bird family. The birds must be very unsympathetic, not to be unhappy when their friend is in distress.

A Denver paper asks the public to believe that a married couple in the Colorado city have lived together 60 years without either saying a cross word to the other. The story may be true, but what a deadly dull life they must have lived!

Mr. Molineaux's portrait will be taken out of the rogues' gallery in New York, in accordance with the state decision that a man who is innocent under the law should not have his counterfeit presentment exhibited in a collection of pictures of those who have been declared guilty.

A new sort of victim of the intense heat is reported from Neosho, Mo., where a young man in search of shade crawled under a box car and went to sleep, using a rail for a pillow. He may not have been exactly "mad with the heat," but developments a few minutes later showed too plainly that he had "lost his head."

Dr. Long is defiantly telling how the water spider carries air on its legs to its young beneath the surface of the water; how a cock sparrow grabs all the bread and keeps it until her mate brings her protesting young to the feast; how a bear attached by a trap to a log by a chain gets on its hind feet and carries the log along across its forelegs, and how men have habits and manners that animals wouldn't tolerate for a moment. What has Oom John Burroughs to say to all this?

They do some things better in Great Britain—rewarding public servants, for example. It is announced that Lord Cromer, who served his country as diplomatic agent in Egypt for many years, is to receive a gift of fifty thousand pounds in recognition of what he has done. The sum is enough to enable him to live in comfort the rest of his days, and to maintain a position in society fitting for an ex-officer of his distinction. If he had devoted his great abilities to the accumulation of a fortune in private business, he might have been receiving an annual income fully equal to that of the proposed gift.

MAKES GOOD WINDOW SEAT.

How Old Fashioned Walnut Parlor Chair May Be Utilized.

When you have one of the old fashioned walnut parlor chairs with carved legs you can, with the addition of a kitchen chair, make a neat window seat or couch for a den.

Remove upholstering and springs from the parlor chair. This forms the back, which you saw off, and attach the front legs to a hollow square which makes the frame for seat. Saw off the pair of front legs just where they are joined to side strip, leaving what were the front legs and front of seat intact. Saw off the back piece of the square where it joins the sides and you have the back legs, separated, but each is attached to the side piece which formerly connected them with the front. Attach each side piece with its corresponding back leg to the front so that you have four front legs for your settee, the two middle being the former front legs of the chair, the two end ones being the former back legs. Treat the kitchen chair similarly and you have four back legs; stain to match front if possible. Join front to back by strip of two by four or other strong pieces; nail boards close together for seat. Cover with excelsior or old quilt, over which nail, with brass tacks, a pretty cover. An old portiere, cretonne, or even a pretty piece of old carpet or rug will do. Let the cover fall over in front to hide the rough work.

TO MAKE BAKED CUSTARDS.

Dish That Should Be Prepared Early in the Morning.

Early in the morning make small, individual baked custards, as follows: Bring a quart of milk to a boil to insure sweetness in your custards. Beat five eggs to a froth, white and yolks separately. If you like the custard sweet, allow a scant tablespoon of granulated sugar for each egg and beat this firmly into the yolks. Add to the boiled milk a scant teaspoonful of melted butter and a dash of salt. Pour the hot milk over the yolks of the eggs, beat in the whites lightly, add a teaspoonful of vanilla, pour into custard cups and bake 20 or 30 minutes, set in a pan of boiling water. At dinner time they should be very cold. Run a smooth knife around the inside of each cup and the custard can be turned out in a firm, even shape. Have ready a sweet jelly which you have melted over the fire, or else some fresh fruit juice strained and flavored. Pour this over the custard molds as a sauce and serve cold.

Tomato Sauce for Fish.

Stew half the contents of a can of tomatoes with a half of an onion, sliced thin, three peppercorns and a bay leaf. Rub through a strainer. Then cook one tablespoonful of butter with a heaping tablespoonful of flour in a small saucepan until well blended; then add the strained tomato, little by little. Season with salt and pepper and pour over the fish. This is particularly good when served with codfish balls.

Bean Roll.

Cook lima beans in boiling water until tender. Press through a sieve and add salt, pepper and a tablespoonful of butter to each pint of pulp. Stir in two eggs well beaten, and sufficient bread crumbs to make the mixture thick enough to roll, wrap in buttered paper and at serving time bake 20 minutes in a quick oven. Serve plain or with tomato sauce.

Sage Tea Tonic.

Green tea, two ounces; garden sage, two ounces; put in a saucepan which can be covered closely, and pour over the herbs three quarts of boiling water. Let simmer until reduced one-third. Take off the fire and let stand for 24 hours, strain and bottle; apply every night before retiring. Dry well or the tonic will stain the pillow.

INDIAN NOT A STOIC.

LAST OF SIOUX AT TOMB OF LAST OF MOHICANS.

General Belief That Red Man Is Unemotional Disproved by Incident During Col. Cody's Visit to Norwich, Conn.

Chicago.—There exists among those who know of the Indian character only by reading fiction or by hearsay the impression that the Indian is stoical—that he never laughs or cries and that he is without tender sentiment. This is simply a misunderstanding of the Indian character. Fact is the Indian is particularly emotional, though he is not always particularly demonstrative in indications of what his heart feels.

The impressions that the white men received of the red man while an invader of the latter's domains have been handed down to these generations ever exaggerated. Thus the word "Indian" has been a bugaboo to the children of many generations of America.

Education and civilization, so far as they have reached the Indian, have brought to view the better side of the Indian among those of the east who have had an opportunity to observe it; his better side has been known to those who have been familiar with him in the far west.

Col. William F. Cody ("Buffalo Bill") and his compatriots in blazing the western way have found it necessary to kill a great many Indians in battle and on the scout, but no man knows better the good side of the Indian than Col. Cody, and no one could be more eloquent than he in demonstrating it by words and treatment.

With Col. Cody are many Indians of the truest type. Notwithstanding their travels all over North America and Europe with the aggregation ramed, these red men preserve their customs, costumes, character, and individuality to the last degree, and yet under the kind treatment that they receive at the hands of Col. Cody and his associates they are as kindly genial, good natured, laughing or crying or dignified a lot as occasion demands, as any other body of people that could be gathered from any source.

These Indians appreciate a good story when they can understand it, and laugh as heartily at a joke that comes their way as anybody. They feel the loss of kin and their sympathies are deep, strong and true.

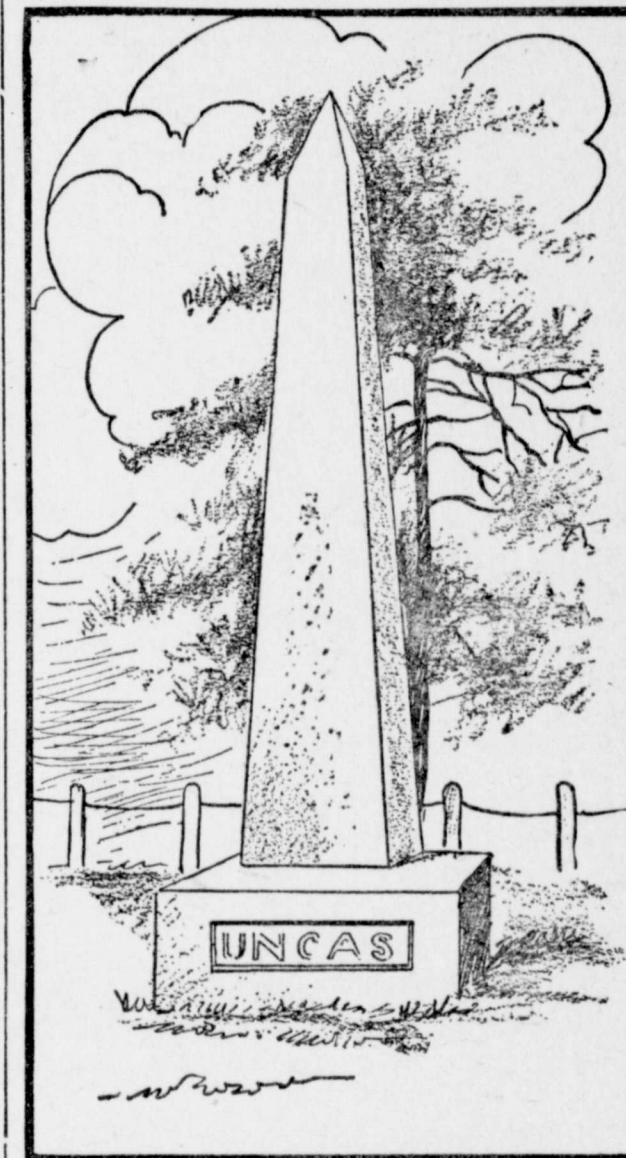

A particularly interesting exhibition of the sympathetic nature of the Indian was brought about lately at Norwich, Conn., when they visited that city.

About Norwich are many relics and mementoes of the war between the Narragansetts under Miantonomo and the Mohegans under Uncas, an Indian feud that has been dramatized in romance by James Fennimore Cooper in his powerful story, "The Last of the Mohicans" that has long been classic and standard.

Among the mementoes mentioned are monuments over the graves of Miantonomo and Uncas, who were deadly enemies, and Miantonomo was slain by a brother of Uncas after he had been captured by the latter, though the execution was pursuant to an order from white authority. Uncas was friendly to the white settlers.

Col. Cody conducted the chiefs, Rocky Bear, Iron Tail, Lone Bear, Flying Hawk and about 125 other braves from the Sioux nations and other tribes of the fast fading race of red men of the far west, to the grave of Monument to Uncas at Norwich, Conn.

Uncas on the occasion mentioned. They gathered about the monument, the Indians in their warpath trappings and with their ponies, and here Col. Cody told them in the simple eloquence of the plains the story of Uncas and his people.

After Col. Cody had concluded his remarks the Indians, without previous instructions from "Buffalo Bill," at signals from Rocky Bear and Iron Tail, chanted the wild and weird dirge with which the Indian honors the memory of his dead.

It was a moving spectacle and one that much impressed the hundreds of Norwich citizens who saw it.

As the last wails of the dirge died away a veteran bugler from the Sixth United States cavalry sounded "taps" and the ceremony of respect was over.

Famous Round Tower of Windsor Castle

TRY THIS ASPARAGUS LOAF.

New and Delicious Way of Preparing the Vegetable.

Cook three cups of asparagus tips until tender, then drain. Cream two teaspoons each of flour and butter; add one-half teaspoon of salt, a dash of paprika and a cup of hot milk. Add the milk slowly, stirring all the time. Cook for five minutes. Remove from the range; add four well-beaten eggs, a cup of asparagus tips and a teaspoon of chopped parsley. Butter well a small bowl and line it with the remainder of the asparagus tips. If the tips will not adhere readily to the sides of the bowl dip them in the sauce. Now pour in the asparagus and sauce; cover with a piece of oiled paper; stand bowl in hot water and cook in cool oven for 15 minutes. Turn out of the bowl and serve with the following sauce:

Beat two teaspoons of butter to a cream; beat in the yolks of two eggs, one at a time, and beat with the butter very thoroughly. Add also a few grains of the salt and pepper. Place the bowl containing this over hot water and add slowly a cup and a half of boiling water. As soon as the mixture thickens remove and add a tablespoon of lemon juice.

DIRECTIONS FOR VEAL SAVORY.

Is Appetizing Dish if Prepared in Proper Manner.

Veal savory, according to Vogue, is after these directions: Cut three pounds of raw veal and half as much ham into small pieces. Cut six hard-boiled eggs into slices, lay part of them in the bottom of a well-buttered earthenware dish (it must be rather deep), sprinkle with a little minced parsley, then put in a layer of the veal and ham, with salt and pepper to season. Proceed with these alternate layers until all is used, then add just enough water to cover it, and one tablespoonful of butter rolled in one tablespoonful of flour and divided into tiny portions, dotted over the top. Tie a buttered paper over the dish and bake one hour or a little longer in a good oven. Remove the paper, lay a plate over the meat with a weight to keep it in place and let it remain another hour in a very slow oven. When quite cold turn it out on a silver dish and garnish with small lettuce leaves filled with a spoonful of cold cooked peas dressed with a little mayonnaise.

Nasturtium Salad.

This is a delightfully spicy salad and most decorative for the Sunday or company dinner. Pick a goodly number of leaves and blossoms, wash well in cold water and shake dry. Arrange in a shallow glass dish, leaves and flowers forming a border and stems running to the center of the dish. Take two or three cold boiled potatoes and slice thin. Take an equal number of tomatoes and slice. Then arrange potatoes and tomatoes in alternate circles, covering the stems of the nasturtiums and sprinkle with a little minced onion and parsley. Dress with French dressing and serve very cold.

Raspberry Popovers.

Beat three eggs light, but not as light as for cake; add two cupfuls of milk and beat again, then add two cupfuls of sifted flour, a little salt and beat all smooth. Pour into hot buttered gem pans and bake in a moderate oven. Take from the oven when done and with a sharp knife split one side and fill with sweetened raspberries. Dust powdered sugar over and serve at once.

Home-Made Counterpane.

Buy a pair of lace curtains and fasten them together with a strip of lace insertion. The ruffled ends will fall over the sides and ends of the bed. A cambric cover to harmonize with the tone of the room will add to the effect when placed under the muslin one Used Ink for Bluing.

"One can never be too careful about apparently harmless articles setting about the house," said a housewife the other day. "Not long ago my husband brought home one of those big tall bottles of ink from the office. It had got to be such a nuisance buying one of the small five-cent bottles every time we ran out of ink, that he said he would bring home a supply.

"About a week after that I got a new maid, and when she did the washing she took the big bottle of ink for bluing. Of course every stitch of our white clothes in the washing was ruined."

Cunning Chap.

"Yes," confessed the blushing girl with the white parasol. "I thought it rather odd that Jack should keep on asking about our college yell. Finally, to get rid of him, I told him it was three yells in quick succession."

"What then?" asked her chum. "What then? Why, the goose kissed me three times before I could remonstrate and when I gave a yell for each kiss mamma thought I was giving the class yell."

A Big Loser.

Mrs. Myles—I see the 24-year-old son of a London dry goods man is a bankrupt, having managed to get rid of $2,100,000 since he came of age.

Mrs. Styles—Oh, well, boys will be boys!

Mrs. Myles—Well, this looks as if a boy had an ambition to be a bridge whist player.

Aladar Stolinski, an aristocratic lieutenant of a Hungarian hussar regiment, has resigned his commission to become an apprentice to a pork butcher in Budapest. He says he can not live on his pay—$400 a year—and that he considers a man of intelligence and energy can do well in the pork trade.

FOOD FACTS Grape-Nuts

FOOD A Body Balance

People hesitate at the statement that the famous food, Grape-Nuts, yields as much nourishment from one pound as can be absorbed by the system from ten pounds of meat, bread, wheat or oats. Ten pounds of meat might contain more nourishment than one pound of Grape-Nuts, but not in shape that the system will absorb as large a proportion of, as the body can take up from one pound of Grape-Nuts.

This food contains the selected parts of wheat and barley which are prepared and by natural means predigested, transformed into a form of sugar, ready for immediate assimilation. People in all parts of the world testify to the value of Grape-Nuts.

A Mo. man says: "I have gained ten pounds on Grape-Nuts food. I can truly recommend it to thin people." He had been eating meat, bread, etc., right along, but there was no ten pounds of added flesh until Grape-Nuts food was used.

One curious feature regarding true health food is that its use will reduce the weight of a corpulent person with unhealthy flesh, and will add to the weight of a thin person not properly nourished. There is abundance of evidence to prove this.

Grape-Nuts balances the body in a condition of true health. Scientific selection of food elements makes Grape-Nuts good and valuable. Its delicious flavor and powerful nourishing properties have made friends that in turn have made Grape-Nuts famous. "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

TEN YEARS OF PAIN.

Unable to Do Even Housework Because of Kidney Troubles.

Mrs. Margaret Emmerich, of Clinton St., Napoleon, O., says: "For fifteen years I was a great sufferer from kidney troubles. My back pained me terribly. Every turn or move caused sharp, shooting pains. My eyesight was poor, dark spots appeared before me, and I had dizzy spells. For ten years I could not do housework, and for two years did not get out of the house. The kidney secretions were irregular, and doctors were not helping me. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me quick relief, and finally cured me. They saved my life."

How Governor Curry Kept the President Waiting.

This is the story of how Gov. George Curry came very near to missing the boat; how he didn't miss it, because the president of the United States sent the whole secret service escort out to look him up, and how the governor kept the government and about two dozen governors waiting while he talked over old times at the Planters. It all appears in the St. Louis Republic of last Thursday, and is accompanied by a big picture of the president pointing out Governor Curry to the crowd as the man who kept the boat waiting at the St. Louis wharf. The story follows:

President Roosevelt, sixteen governors and about 20,000 people were kept waiting at the levee from 3:30 until 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon while the governor of New Mexico was exchanging greetings with an old friend. The presidential boat was delayed on its departure for Memphis about for about minutes, while a search was made for the governor whom many thought was lost.

After the party left the Jefferson, Governor Curry stopped at the Planters for a valise. There he and an old friend became reminiscent and the governor forgot about the boat.

When he finally reached the levee he was lost in the crowd and had difficulty finding the right boat. In the meantime a search was being made for him by the secret service men, and the governors were anxiously walking the deck of the steamer Mississippi.

It seems a hoodo was pursuing the governor of New Mexico in St. Louis. On his arrival here he lost his trunk, containing his evening dress suit, and he was compelled to buy an entire new outfit.

When Governor Curry finally reached the boat the president good naturedly punched him in the ribs and exhibited him from the upper deck to the enduring crowd as the cause of the delay.

Territorial Game Laws.

It is unlawful to kill, or in any way injure, any elk, mountain sheep, beaver or ptarmigan. The offense is punishable by a fine of $100.

The 1905 session laws protect antelope, pheasant, bob-white quail and wild pigeon for a period of five years from the passage of the act.

Native or crested quail may be killed with gun only during the months of October, November, December and January.

Deer with horns may be killed with gun only from October 15 to November 30. This is an act passed by the last legislature, and it willed that the deer season has been placed 30 days later than under the old law.

Turtle doves may be killed from July 15 to May 1, the closed season being two and one-half months.

Wild turkey, mountain grouse, or prairie chicken may be killed with gun only during the months of October, November and December of each year.

The minimum fine for violation of any of these provisions is fifty dollars.
