A DEMOCRATIC HOUSE

Democrats Carry Many Republican States and have Majority in House

SENATE REMAINS REPUBLICAN

The securing control of the next national house of representatives by the Democrats was decisive. The returns show that the Democrats made a gross gain of 49 members. This was offset by a Republican gain of five, making a Democratic net gain of 44 new seats which gives them 216 to the Republicans 175.

In order to secure control of the house it was necessary for the Democrats to secure 24 new members. The greatest gain was in New York where the present delegation of 12 Democrats was increased by 10.

In Illinois the Democrats gained six new members.

One Social Democrat, Victor L. Bergess, of Milwaukee, will have a seat in the next house.

The senate is safely Republican by a reduced majority, and the Democrats in the house will be hampered in accomplishing very much because of a Republican president and senate to veto their work.

Oregon, Utah and Florida defeated statewide prohibition and Missouri appears to have done the same. Oklahoma probably substituted local option for prohibition.

Womans suffrage will carry in Washington

There is hardly a section of the nation where the Republican vote did not slump notably and in many cases disastrously.

The sixty-second congress will be Democratic by a fine working majority while in the United States senate the Republicans will have only a scant lead.

New York, Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Jersey take their places at the head of the procession, with Democratic governors and strong Democratic representation, while even Iowa appears to be ready to fall into the Democratic line.

The two great leaders of the Republican party, Taft and Roosevelt alike met defeat in their own states. Roosevelt's home town of Oyster Bay went against him, his congressional district chose a representative to replace congressman Cocks, his warm personal friend, and his state repudiated his Republican candidate for governor by 50,000. As an additional blow the New York legislature is Democratic and Chauncey M. Depew will disappear from public life.

President Taft today finds himself facing one danger he has most dreaded, a hostile house of representatives, to nullify what remains of his legislative program.

Theodore Roosevelt lost, and lost big, in New York, and he lost also in Connecticut (gone Democratic), Massachusetts (gone Democratic), and a few other states, but if the discomfiture of the Republican old guard gives him any satisfaction, he can find plenty of it in the results from Illinois, where the Republican congressional delegation went all to pieces (saving Cannon and a few others), and in Iowa, where the in-surgers insurged so effectually that they have actually endangered the state for the Republican party. New Jersey has gone strongly Democratic, and Woodrow Wilson never did care a cent for Roosevelt.

In Wisconsin the insurgents stayed with the old party and tried to work the purification game without wrecking the whole kitchen, but they were not so cautious in Kansas and Nebraska, so that much suffering must be the portion of the elephant, with peanuts scarcer than Republican votes in Texas.

There were Republican gains, though, and in a few cases the party received a whole horn full of glad surprises. Tennessee went Republican long enough to elect Hooper to the governorship—a founding, a poor boy who became famous, a splendid man and a credit to the state and to the party. Minnesota elects a Republican governor for a change, Michigan shows Republican increases, and New Hampshire likewise. Delaware is safe, and Rhode Island and Montana.

Never were there so many split tickets cast—never in all the history of this country. That is a sign of political realignment, and in the record of this election may be read the signs of general upheaval. Never were there so many outside questions to complicate the ordinary political choice of the voters.

KILL OF THE SEASON.

Monday morning five proud hunters returned from the Tison mountains after being absent two days and with them they brought four ten point buck deer. The party consisted of Wm. Reily, Morgan Reilly, T. R. Kelley, Stanley Squires and Harry Dawson. All except Dawson killed a deer. Little Morgan Reily, the 14-year-old son of postmaster Wm. Reily, was the proudest of them all and he had good reason for his proudness when the size of his deer was considered. Morgan has demonstrated his ability as a hunter equal to that of his base ball playing. The weights of the deer were as follows: Wm. Reily, 173 pounds, M. Reily, 168; T. Kelley, 157; S. Squires, 140.

THE SOCIAL WHIRL

Miss Virginia Fenton entertained the Whist Club at the home of Mrs. W. F. Whittingham Wednesday afternoon. The usual happy luncheon followed the games, in which Miss Lorena Sager made the highest and Miss Mayo Boykin the lowest scores. Prizes were awarded to both. A game of 'darts' was indulged in by the club, in which Mrs. George L. Ulrich excelled all others, winning first prize. The consolation prize went to Mrs. Frank Mudge. The guests included Mrs. F. Elliot and Miss Mayo Boykin.

Mrs. W. C. McDonald has returned from her visit to El Paso where she was pleasantly entertained.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whittingham entertained a few friends at cards Wednesday evening.

Mr. W. Loggins and family left Monday for Tucumcari where they will make their future home. Mr. Loggins is an engineer for the E. P. & S. W.

REPORT OF CONVENTION

Constitutional Convention is Grinding Along. Change the Judicial Districts

ADJOURNMENT IN TEN DAYS?

The Constitutional convention has been making considerable progress during the past week and the work yet to be accomplished will not take more than ten more days at most it is estimated.

DELEGATE CANNING WRITES

The regular weekly letter of Delegate John Canning received yesterday by this paper says:

"This week finds the convention making headway and prospect is held out that we will finish up November 20th. Several important committees still have to report the principal ones being, the Judicial, Corporations, Taxation, Mines and Mining, Constitutional Amendments and Appropriations. Quite a debate was indulged in about the bond issues, votes for women at School elections and the old ghost of Militia Warrants. This last item is probably so deeply buried now that it will never be resurrected. If the convention gets down to business for the next ten days the work should soon be finished. Of course the minority will want to make a few political suggestions based upon the recent landslides in the states."

THE JUDICIARY

The Constitutional Convention has changed the former court districts of New Mexico into eight district, with a court clerk for each county. Otero, Lincoln and Torrance are included in one. The districts as they will appear in the constitution are as follows.

The first district shall comprise the counties of Santa Fe, Rio Arriba San Juan and Sandoval.

The Second judicial district shall comprise the counties of Bernalillo and McKinley.

The Third judicial district shall comprise the counties of Dona Ana, Luna and Grant.

The Fourth judicial district shall comprise the counties of San Miguel, Mora, Quay and Guadalupe.

The Fifth judicial district shall comprise the counties of Roosevelt, Chaves, Eddy and Curry.

The Sixth judicial district shall comprise the counties of Torrance, Lincoln and Otero.

The Seventh judicial district shall comprise the counties of Socorro, Valencia and Sierra.

The Eighth judicial district shall comprise the counties of Colfax, Taos and Union.

In case of the creation of new counties, the legislature shall have power to attach them to any proper contiguous districts for judicial purposes.

WILL PROMOTE BEAUTY.

Women desiring beauty will get wonderful help from Buklen's Arnica Salve. It banishes pimples, skin eruptions, sores and boils. It makes the skin soft and velvety. It glorifies the face. Cures sore eyes, cold sore, cracked lips, chapped hands. Best for burns, scalds, fever sores cuts, bruises and piles. 25c. at all druggists.

NEW MEXICO DAY AT SHOW

The New Mexico Bureau of Immigration, which has charge of the New Mexico exhibit at the U. S. Land and Irrigation Exposition in Chicago, which opens in the Coliseum on November 19 for two weeks, has succeeded in closing an arrangement with the management of the Exposition by which Sunday, November 27, is set aside as New Mexico Day. This means the special exercises in the Coliseum on that day will be devoted exclusively to New Mexico. The lectures in the Lecture Hall will be New Mexico lectures. The advertising in the newspapers for that day will be in behalf of New Mexico. It is probably the biggest single advertisement that has ever been brought about for the New State. The Bureau of Immigration was able to do it because of the desire of the Land Show Management to help New Mexico, because of the fact that the New Mexico display will be one of the largest in the building, and because of the active co-operation and backing which has been given the Bureau of Immigration and Land Show Management by the land companies and progressive people of New Mexico.

It is up to us to take the fullest advantage of this New Mexico day. It is the opportunity of a lifetime to get results. There is just one way in which this district can help the Land Show Management, the Bureau of Immigration, and the thirty or forty boosters who will be in Chicago, that is, for each one of us to sit down today, tomorrow, or within the next few days, and write to every friend that we have in and around Chicago urging them to go to the Land Show on New Mexico Day, hear the New Mexico lecture and see the New Mexico exhibit.

CAPITAN CORRESPONDENCE

The central and mountainous part of Lincoln County has been greatly benefited by rain and snow that has fallen recently. The ground is moist to a greater depth than anytime for two years and stockmen and farmers are feeling hopeful for next season.

Several Capitan citizens were called away to Carrizozo and Alamogordo on legal business during the week.

W. H. Fisher made a short visit to Oscura and Carrizozo this week.

Capitan still holds the position as the commercial center of Lincoln County while its neighbors Lincoln and Carrizozo the ancient and modern scrap over county seats honors.

J. H. Kinney Supervisor of the Lincoln Forest who has been absent several days on business returned Wednesday and left again for Ruidoso.

The Ladies Home Mission met at Mrs. J. R. Humphreys yesterday afternoon and spent a delightful half-day.

HEARING IS POSTPONED

County Seat Case Was Not Heard Last Monday But Will Be November 16

THOS. CATRON DIDN'T APPEAR

The county seat case called was for hearing at Alamogordo last Monday the seventh of November, the date set by Judge Mc Fie in granting the injunction stopping the work on the building of the court house and jail at Carrizozo. Thos. Catron Lincoln's attorney had wired that he was unable to be present at the hearing and Lincoln not being represented by any lawyer the case was postponed until Wednesday of next week November 16th. It is stated that the Quo Warranto proceedings and demurrer filed by Judge John Y. Hewitt for the Board of County commissioners will have a positive hearing on that day without any causes for postponement being considered.

Ben Bechtel, contractor for the county buildings and Otto Goetz architect and county superintendent of the building are in Carrizozo ready to complete the buildings at the earliest possible time. No damage suits have been filed, as yet.

THANKSGIVING DANCE.

The ladies of the Rebekah Lodge and Eastern Star announce their First Annual Ball to be given Thanksgiving evening at Carrizozo. Thanksgiving is one of the most eagerly looked for holidays of each year for young and old alike; it is a day that carries us back nearly 300 years to the beginning of our new world, and in nearly every home over the length and breadth of America it is met with feasting celebrations and good cheer.

The members of the Rebekah Lodge and Order of the Eastern Star in order to do their part in making this a happy community on Thanksgiving day will give their first annual ball and supper at Real's Hall and hope to make it the social event of the season.

After the dancing an appropriate supper will be served in the dining room of the Grand View Hotel which will be beautifully decorated for the occasion. Special invitations will be sent out in a few days.

NOW AMONG US

The Kendalville Ind. Daily News in commenting on the departure of Harry Helwig from their town said.

"Harry Helwig left this morning for Carrizozo, New Mexico, where he will enter the law business with Attorney Wade formerly of Lagrange who has been practicing law in that locality for the past year. Helwig is an accomplished young attorney and a graduate of the Indiana University. His friends predict a successful career for him."

What is Kendalville's loss is Carrizozo's gain.

Chas. McMaster and Tom Davis came in from the White Mountains Wednesday where they had been after deer and started out again yesterday for Carrizozo mountain to try their luck.

IT REALLY BEGINS to appear probable that as far as the acts of the constitutional convention are concerned the democratic party of the territory is not going to have a leg left to stand on. By the provisions of the constitution already agreed upon, the judges of all the courts are to be elected by the people. A corporation commission has been provided for and that, too, is to be an elective body. The organic act is to contain a referendum clause which the democrats in their wildest hysteria will hardly dare to oppose. To be sure, there is their beloved initiative, but they have already made that the issue of one election and have been beaten on it two to one, so that it would be ranker folly than even democrats are capable of to raise that issue again. What source of political capital is left to our democratic friends? The only rational and patriotic thing for them to do is to advocate the adoption of the constitution that is now being formulated. Democrats are known to be patriotic on occasion, but whether they can be rational is an open question. Here is their opportunity. Socorro Chieftan.

A COMMUNITY torn by dissension, rent assunder by strife and contention—the people ready always to fly at each other's throats on account of rivalry and petty jealousy, can never hope to succeed. This universal brotherhood of man's is contently deferred and the end of time will appear before this great desideratum can be brought about, unless man shall be brought to the realization of this, his dominant, weakness. Let him inquire: "Who is my neighbor?"

"There are two little words, simple enough in themselves, that introduce untold trouble in the world and are responsible for more gossip, scandal and harm than any two words in the English language. These two words are nothing more than, "They say," They have done more to ruin the reputations than all other things. If you never quote that "they say" you may be quite certain you are not a gossip."

WITH THE windmills and gasoline engines to supplement the rainfall stored in the soil through winter cultivation, this southwestern country is going to be covered with homes in a few years after the quitters have all moved away. Dry mesa land near Mesa, Ariz., that was bought from the government at $1.25 per acre only two years ago, has just sold for $25 an acre by reason of the demonstration that has been made with a small pumping plant.

JUDGE ED R. WRIGHT has more than pleased the Carrizozo people by his statement that a hearing in the county seat case would be had at Alamogordo next Wednesday whether the attorneys are ready or not.

DON'T FORGET to help work for an experimental farm for Carrizozo. It's just what this vicinity needs most to demonstrate the productiveness of this country under scientific cultivation. Boost.

THE DEMOCRATS to all appearances are going to get in their round for the next two years in Congress, now it's up to the Republicans to train to 'come back', but not like Jeffries.

IT LOOKS as if the New Mexico constitutional convention were doing its work with promptness and dispatch. The mass of material to be digested and debated is tremendous.

THE RAILROADS pay more than one-fourth of the taxes in New Mexico.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

—F. M. Deel of Ancho transacted business in Carrizozo Saturday.

—Mrs. A. H. Harvey has returned from visiting friends at Ancho

—H. B. Hamilton was in the city this week on legal business.

—Felix Braune formerly of the Ruidoso now of El Paso transacted business in Carrizozo this week.

—Sheriff Charlie Stevens passed through the city Monday on his way to Alamogordo.

—Ed. H. B. Chew of White Oaks was a Carrizozo visitor on Wednesday.

—Attorney Barber of Lincoln passed through here on Monday enroute to Alamogordo.

—Ben Bechtel and Bill Kahler left on a deer hunt Wednesday morning.

—Mrs. John Eric Bell has returned from El Paso where she attended the Fair and visited friends.

—Assessor Robert Hurt was in the City Monday on his way to Alamogordo where he had business before the court.

—Special government agent Espe was here Tuesday and Wednesday for two special lands hearing before U. S. Commissioner Harvey.

—Newt. Kempt and Seaborn T. Gray of Capitan passed through here on Tuesday returning from Alamogordo.

—A number of cattlemen from the mountain district of the county shipped several cars of their fat beef cattle from this point last Saturday.

—Johnson Brothers, the auto men of Capitan have transferred a number of people from this point to Capitan and back this week.

—J. N. Reeder and Ted Reiter were down this week from Alto with wagons loaded with products of their district.

—Through the liberality of those bringing in the four buck deer last Monday, many Carrizozo citizens were treated to venison.

—The big Baile and supper planned by Rebekahs for Thanksgiving evening in receiving much attention from Carrizozo people.

—Clement Hightower of Capitan was in the city Monday and Tuesday in connection with the land case before Special Agent Espo of the government service.

—Miss Olga M. V. Miller, court reporter of this district has been in the city during the week, assisting in the government land cases at this point.

—John T. Beckmen of Chicago was in the city this week and applied for a leave of absence from his claim at Osceuro until next spring when he will make his permanent residence there.

—The heavy rains here of the past few days have filled up the Bonito creek and the reservoir that supplies the Bonito pipe line. The water train between here and Alamogordo will not be put on as the railroad company has plenty of water, now.

—The Old Ozanne Hotel, erected in White Oaks in 1885, was destroyed by fire last Thursday night. The building was not occupied at the time and had not been for two years but was a monument to the city and built substantially of brick. The fire was discovered at midnight by D. L. Jackson who notified Paul Mayer and the town turned out and after a hard effort succeeded in saving the adjoining building belonging to Mrs. Sarah Barber. The burned building was owned by George W. Prichard.

POLLY PARAGARPHS

Polly is still here—'twas merely a prolonged nap and the heavy shower bath of Friday night was very refreshing.

W. J. Steele and sons, who have been on a hunting trip and motoring trip, are again on their claims two miles west.

Walter Reed has erected a wind mill on his place.

I. M. Harkey the goat man from up the canyon was a recent visitor.

Mr. Plant and James Byron enjoyed a few days hunting in the mountains last week.

Work is progressing nicely on Mr. Roselles well.

Mr. Ayers is improving his place near here.

Mrs. Virginia Bates, who expected to return to Polly before now from California, has been prevented by illness from doing so and will probably spend the winter there.

Are we to have a school district?

NOT SORRY FOR BLUNDER

"If my friends hadn't blundered in thinking I was doomed victim of consumption. I might not be alive now," writes D. T. Sanders, of Harrodsburg, Ky., but for years they saw every attempt to cure a lung-racking cough fail. At last I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. The effect was wonderful. It soon stopped the cough and I am now in better health than I have had for years. This wonderful life-saver is an unrivaled remedy for cough, colds, la-grippe, asthma, croup, hemorrhages whooping cough or weak lungs. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all Druggist.

SHALL WOMEN VOTE?

If they did, millions would vote Dr. King's New Life Pills the true remedy for women. For banishing dull, fagged feelings, backache, or headache, constipation, dispelling colds, imparting appetite and toning up the system, they're unequalled. Easy, safe, sure. 25c at all druggist.

—M. J. O' Hara, the White Oaks Coal Man, has coal on hand. Orders left at Rolland Bros. will receive prompt attention.

Are Ghosts Real Stuff?

AFTER all, it seems that there really are such things as ghosts. Science at last accords them a somewhat belated recognition—though, of course, refusing to acknowledge that they are supernatural. On the contrary (according to the newly accepted theory), they are to be classed as natural phenomena, chemical in character.

Why is it that ghosts, since time immemorial, have been so intimately associated with graveyards? Why is it that the dead in cemeteries are so universally believed to "walk" at night? Why, when specters walk, are they so generally accustomed (in popular belief) to be sheeted—that is to say, clad in winding sheets—though nowadays people are nearly always buried in ordinary clothing?

These questions, and others equally interesting, in regard to phantoms, science is now for the first time prepared to answer. As to the first point, the reputation graveyards have for being haunted is attributable to the fact that ghosts, of the kind now recognized as real, do actually and not infrequently walk about in such places. They are seen at night (rather than in the daytime) because their chemical constitution is such that they can not be visible except in darkness. Finally, they are (or rather, appear to be) "sheeted" for the reason that the gases of which they are composed—here we begin to come to the explanation—flicker and waver in a fashion suggestive of garments.

For some reason not easy to explain, the dead are supposed to be hostile to the living. Few people there be who would not run, terror-stricken, from a ghost, if they thought they saw one. But, making all allowance for this fact, and for the influence of imagination, it still seems strange that the conviction that a graveyard is a dangerous and dreadful place to venture into at night should be so widespread even among educated persons. Nobody objects to entering, or wandering through, a burying ground in the daytime—rather the contrary, indeed, most cemeteries being attractive spots. But at night it is different.

The real cause of this fear lies in the circumstance that phantoms, for reasons presently to be made clear, are, and always have been, hauntings of graveyards. People have been frightened by them time and time again, in such places. Other persons, who have not seen them, and who have professed disbelief, have nevertheless been influenced by testimony of the sort. Not often has anybody, witnessing a phenomenon of this kind, attempted to investigate it. Much safer does it seem under such circumstances to take to one's heels.

Nothing but the skepticism of science can fortify a man against the terror of such an experience. But, as it chanced, some years ago, a government anthropologist, of high reputation (now connected with the department of agriculture), Prof. W. J. McGee, had an opportunity to study this matter at first hand. He was living at the time in a small town, in the middle west, where, only a few weeks earlier, a burglar, engaged in the exercise of his hazardous profession, had been shot to death. Hastily buried, he might have been expected to refrain from disturbing the community further—instead of which, he proceeded to "walk," his ghost being repeatedly seen by a number of reliable witnesses, stalking about the potter's field where his grave was located.

Professor McGee, being appealed to on the subject, in his capacity of scientific investigator, finally consented to look into it. He went to the potter's field on a moonless night, sat down a short distance from the grave (carelessly left only half filled up) which had been pointed out to him as that of the late burglar, and proceeded to wait for something to happen. Nothing did happen for quite a while, and he was just making up his mind that he had come on a fool's errand when he described a dim light immediately over the grave. As he gazed it became steadily more vivid and distinct, appearing to hover in the air—a flame-like, restless thing, about the height of a man and rather strikingly resembling the popular conception of a ghost.

When he attempted to approach the strange object it disappeared. He went back to the place where he had been seated, and it became visible again. Every now and then a gust of wind would seem to "blow it out," and it would vanish for the moment, presently reappearing. Apparently its movements were caused by the breeze, its wavering suggesting drapery. But presently the professor saw another ghost, of similar aspect, not far away, and then another and another, until there were at least half a dozen. It was not surprising that the townspeople ple (crediting a report to the effect that the burglar's wife and children, deprived of the family breadwinner, had died of starvation) should declare that these unfortunates came at night to dance over the graves.

Professor McGee found it impossible to get within a dozen feet of the phantoms, which would always vanish on his near approach. He is unable to explain this circumstance; but he became convinced through careful study of the apparitions that they were nothing more nor less than gaseous emanations of a self-luminous character. In all probability they were largely composed of phosphorus, derived from the dead bodies of people buried in the potter's field.

Here, then, is an explanation of the reason why ghosts haunt burying grounds. They are in fact a natural (not supernatural) product of graveyards, as one might say. In the body of an adult human being there are 55 ounces of phosphorus, seven-eighths of this quantity being contained in the bones (where it goes to make phosphate of lime), while there are 4½ ounces in the red corpuscles of the blood, and nearly half an ounce in the brain.

The processes of decay set this phosphorus free in the gaseous state—under which circumstances, atmospheric conditions being favorable, it is liable to produce, in the night time, effects such as those above described. As is well known, decomposing vegetable matter in swampy places yields an emanation that is highly phosphorescent, causing the phenomenon termed "will-o'-the-wisp," or "elf fire." It is not reasonable to suppose that there is some relation, in respect to cause, between the will-o'-the-wisp (which occasionally misleads unfortunate travelers into boggy places) and the "corpse candles" said to be often seen moving about in the mysterious and awesome darkness of cemeteries? The "sheeted dead" are alleged to carry these candles in their ghostly hands when they walk about among the graves at night.

The skeleton of an adult human being contains about four pounds of the metal calcium. This, in fact, is the most abundant metallic element of the body structure. In the fluids of the body, also, there is a good deal of it. But calcium and phosphorus, when combined, form a self-ignitable substance. Indeed, water will set it on fire. If a bit of phosphide of calcium be dropped into a saucer of water, it will instantly burst into flame, on which account, in the laboratory, to protect it from dampness, it has to be kept in an air-tight jar.

Three other self-ignitable substances, all of them metals, are contained in the human body. One of these (about two ounces in quantity) is the silvery-white magnesium—of familiar use for flashlight purposes by photographers. The other two are sodium and potassium—rather more than five ounces of each. A piece of the former, if thrown into water, bursts into a rosy flame, and swims about violently on the surface until burned out. The latter is likewise set afire by contact with water, on touching which it explodes like fireworks, throwing a shower of sparks into the air. As for magnesium, it is so fiercely combustible that it has to be kept tightly corked in glass bottles, to prevent it from igniting.

Thus it appears that the human body contains, in considerable quantities, quite a number of substances which are self-ignitable, and fiercely so, on coming into contact with water. The marvel is that we refrain from going off by spontaneous combustion, so to speak, while we are alive. When burned, these substances, of course, convert themselves into gases, which are luminous. Under favoring graveyard conditions (the processes of decay going on very gradually), they pass off slowly, by evaporation, and not in any such way as that above described. They present themselves to the view, in darkness, as mere chemical emanations—luminous, blown about by light airs, or dissipated entirely for the moment by a passing gust of wind. In all probability they consist mainly of phosphorus.

One cannot capture a ghost of this kind. It cannot be trapped in a box or a bottle and conveyed to a scientific laboratory for examination or analysis. Hence it is likely that the true composition of phantoms will forever remain as much a mystery as it is today. But (supposing the theory here set forth to be correct) it is a comfort to know, in a general way, what graveyard spectres are made of.

When people are murdered, and their bodies (as often happens) are buried in cellars or other damp places, their ghosts, for the chemical reasons already given, are particularly likely to walk. So says Prof. Charles E. Munroe, a famous chemist, and dean of the George Washington university, who even goes so far as to declare that he could at a pinch produce in his laboratory phantoms in all important respects corresponding to those which graveyards are popularly supposed to manufacture.

Chinese Traits

The Chinese are orderly, law-abiding and well behaved; they have a strong sense of right and justice—are fair minded; they are reliable in commercial dealings—pay their debts and keep their agreements, whether verbal or written; they are dutiful to parents, fond of children and mindful of etiquette and punctilious about returning courtesies or favors; they are respectful to elders and superiors; they honor and respect character and intellectual ability, and do not recognize an aristocracy of wealth. This list might be largely extended, but it is enough to show what I have undertaken to show—that China has not by any means to seek abroad all the requisites for national greatness, and popular welfare; some of the most important are here already.—Address to Students at St. John's College, Shanghai.

DOCTORS ADVISED OPERATION—DECIDED TO TRY GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY

I want to tell you in a few words what your Swamp-Root did for me, believing that my testimony may do some other suffering person a great deal of good.

About six years ago, I was dangerously ill, consulted three doctors, all of whom said I had kidney trouble. One of the doctors analyzed my urine and reported that I had gravel, and further said that in order to regain my health and life, an operation would be necessary. I did not want to be operated on as I was afraid that I would not recover. Someone told me of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root and said it was a reliable medicine for kidney trouble, so I decided to try it and went to Mr. Rose, the druggist, at 303 Central Ave., Minneapolis, and bought a bottle, took it, noticed results and continued taking it until I was entirely cured.

Having been free from any kidney trouble for over six years, I consider that I am absolutely cured and know that Swamp-Root has the credit.

I never fail to tell my friends about your remedy, as I believe it is the best of its kind. Your U & O Ointment is also very good. We are never without a jar in our house.

Yours very truly,
MRS. MARGARET E. ANDERSON,
Minneapolis, Minn.

State of Minnesota }
County of Hennepin } ss.

Personally appeared before me this 23rd day of Sept., 1908, Mrs. Margaret E. Anderson of the City of Minneapolis of the State of Minnesota, who subscribed the above, and on oath says that the same is true in substance and in fact.

HIS LIVELIHOOD AT STAKE

Certainly Candidate for Governor
Could Not Expect to Get That Vote.

An incident in which former Governor Odell of New York figured as the victim was told by Col. James Hamilton Lewis at a recent banquet.

"When Governor Odell was last running for office," said Colonel Lewis, "there had been a great deal of talk about Niagara Falls and the electrical power that could be conferred on all parts of New York. One day an old negro halted Mr. Odell and said:

"'Mr. Odell, is yo' runnin' for governor, sah?'"

"I am," answered the candidate.

"I guess yo' want my vote, den," said the colored man.

"Well, I would like to have your vote, Zeb. I have known you for so many years."

"Well, I jist want to ask you a question, Mr. Odell, befo' I give mah vote to you. Are yo' for electric lights in dis town?'"

"Well, Zeb, I am for all modern improvements," said Odell, with a slight flourish.

"Well, sah, I can't vote for you," said Zeb with firmness. "Yo' done forget dat I is a lamp lighter."

Pat was a married man—a very much married man. He had married no fewer than four times, and all his wives were still in the fore. According to Pat's own account before the court where he was tried for bigamy and found guilty, his experiences were not altogether satisfactory. The judge, in passing sentence, expressed his wonder that the prisoner could be such a hardened villain as to delude so many women.

STRIKE RIOT IN CHICAGO

SIXTY POLICEMEN DRAW GUNS
AND CHARGE SEVERAL THOUSAND
GARMENT WORKERS

DESTROYING PROPERTY

CLUBWOMEN URGE STRIKERS TO USE MODERATION; MORE TROUBLE IS FEARED

Chicago.—Grim spectres of the days of the Haymarket riot haunted Chicago's streets for a brief time Wednesday when Inspector S. K. Healy and a squad of sixty policemen with drawn revolvers charged several thousand striking garment workers who were rioting on the West Side. One policeman was stabbed, fifteen rioters were seriously injured and twenty strikers and sympathizers were arrested during the fight, which threatened to get beyond police control.

This, the most serious outbreak since the inception of the strike, occurred at the plant of A. Lott & Co. Before the police arrived the strikers had broken all the windows of the large building occupied by the clothing manufacturers, had drawn strike-breakers out and had carried a large number of sewing machines into the streets, where the machines were destroyed. The strikers and their followers put up a desperate fight. Many of them were knocked down by the clubbed revolvers of the police and not a few were trampled upon. Some of the employees of the company joined the strikers and are said to have assisted in pulling machines from the floors. Men and women were hurling stones and bricks through the windows of the plant when Inspector Healy and his squad of reserves arrived.

The inspector experienced difficulty in getting together the disorganized force of policemen which had borne the brunt of the early fighting. When he had done so, however, the policemen charged through the center of the mob, knocking down all in their way.

Many of the rioters fled when they saw the policemen draw their revolvers. Others remained firm and hurled clubs and stones at the approaching officers.

A number of women were arrested, but most of these were released after they had been taken to police stations.

As a result of the day's developments Chief of Police Steward has issued emergency orders to inspectors, captains and lieutenants in the various police districts where the riots have occurred.

The attitude of the police indicates that much more serious trouble is anticipated within the next 24 hours. All preparations are being made for hastily calling in reserves from outlying stations and mobilizing a large force in the downtown district.

Strikers have held a dozen largely attended meetings on the west and north sides and also downtown. The feeling at these meetings was intense and agitators were active in urging the strikers to further disorder. Meanwhile various club women who have interested themselves in the cause of the girl garment workers were urging their followers to refrain from any action which might injure their cause.

Stimsonites Demand 4 to 1.

New York.—Admirers of Stimson, the Republican candidate for governor, were demanding 4 to 1 at the close of business in Wall street Wednesday. One bet of $1,000 to $250 was made, but most of the money wagered was at 3 to 1, the prevailing odds during the session.

Lorimer Case Still With Us.

Chicago.—Charles E. Erbstein, of counsel for Lee O'Neal Browne, who was recently acquitted on a charge of bribing a state representative to vote for William Lorimer for United States senator, was indicted Wednesday, charged with corrupting a member of the jury that cleared Browne.

The mill at the American Nettle in Ouray county is completed. The transformer and crusher have been started.

A car of gray copper ore taken from the Queen City mine, Ouray district, and shipped to the smelter netted $5,420.

Reports come from Lake City that the California mine has closed down owing to the fact that it is not proving profitable.

Reports from San Miguel county state that the vanadium mill at Newmire is in full operation, employing twenty-six men.

Hinsdale county will get the first commercial plant of the Rankin process for the recovery of metals to be established in the United States.

Silver, selling above fifty-six cents an ounce, is at the highest figure since early in 1908. During the summer it made an approach to fifty-six cents, but subsequently relapsed.

The Federal mine in Russell district, operated by Richard Hughes, is showing up a four foot vein of fine concentrating ore, which carries a heavy percentage of yellow copper.

The startling discoveries of uranium ore that have lately been made in the Twin Lakes region, a part of the Twin Lakes mining district, are regarded as the most important of the present year.

Pike & Co.'s lease in the fourth and sixth levels of the Old Town mine, Central City, is producing heavily, and is fast getting in condition for greater output. Two stopes are now working and a third will be ready to receive drills in a short time.

One of the worst accidents that has happened in the mines of Gilpin county for a number of years, occurred at the Erontenac mine, in which three men were killed. The men were working in the 600 foot level, 1,400 feet from the shaft in a cross cut from that level.

The Kansas City of Georgia gulch, Ouray district, is shipping high grade ore from a streak that varies from eighteen inches to three and one-half feet and is opened up for fifty-seven feet. Returns on the last car of unsorted ore this week netted an even $1,000 for twenty tons.

Dr. A. Bourquin, French consul in Denver, is in receipt of a request from his government for information regarding the mining of uranium in Colorado, supplies of which are being sought by France. Uranium is one of the rare metals and is found in only two or three places on the earth, the principal of these being Colorado.

New Mexico.

The last shipment from the Locoro mines consisted of eleven bars of refined gold and silver bullion, produced from only a partial smelting of the precipitates on hand.

Word comes from reliable sources that the Black Range mining district is on the eve of a boom which experienced miners declare will be second only to Cripple Creek.

The mill of Ernestine mines, Mogollon district, is now running full time, crushing 100 tons per day; thirty-six sacks of high grade concentrates were produced from 620 tons crushed.

Grade is being prepared for the sawmill which will be installed to saw square timbers for the main shaft on the Cooney mine which the management reports will be unwatered and re-timbered at an early date.

One of the interesting operations at Santa Rita has been the literal blowing up of the underground workings for the purpose of loosening the soil to permit of its being scooped up by the steam shovels. There are miles of underground workings on Chino hill, some of the mthe oldest mine workings in the United States, as Santa Rita was the scene of the earliest mine operations in this country.

Wyoming.

The worst mine accident in several years occurred in the Leonard mine of the Boston & Montana, at Butte, Mont., when four men lost their lives during the blasting of a round of holes.

By virtue of an important concession in freight rates, which has just been made by the Colorado & Southern railroad, Denver shortly will have the largest asbestos manufacturing plant in the United States, if present plans of the asbestos companies operating in Wyoming fields do not go awry. Rates on asbestos to Denver from Casper, Wyo., up to October 1st, was $8 a ton, but has been reduced to $3.50.

LITTLE NEW MEXICO ITEMS.

Minor Occurrences of More Than Ordinary Interest.

Lakewood claims more and better fiddlers than any town of its size in the world—and yet is prosperous.

According to the last census the county of Bernalillo has gained something like 10,000 people in ten years.

H. J. Jones, a mining man of Denver, is in the Sandia mountains looking after the development of several promising mining properties.

Several hundred bushels of peanuts were raised at Fort Sumner this year, demonstrating that the goobers are a sure crop in the Pecos valley.

Peter Upton has started construction on a reservoir in the La Cinta canon, eastern Mora county, which will reclaim a thousand acres of land. The dam will be of stone and concrete.

Eleven New Mexico dogs, chiefly local animals, have been taken to El Paso by Mrs. E. S. Spindlers of Albuquerque, for exhibition at the kennel show to be held there in connection with the El Paso fair.

Texine expects to settle the fuel question for Eastern New Mexico, reporting the discovery of workable veins of lignite. Such a discovery as is reported will mean much for that rapidly growing section of the territory.

J. S. Kirby, secretary of the Commercial Club, will leave about the 15th for Chicago, representing Chaves county in the Chicago Land Show which commences the 19th. Artesia and Carlsbad delegations will go at the same time.

The school census of Santa Fe county for this year has been completed and shows a school population of 5,644. This is a loss from last year but it is not believed that there has been any falling off in the school population.

Mrs. John S. Major, of Artesia, was recently elected Grand Worthy Matron of the New Mexico Grand Chapter, O. E. S., passed through Saturday morning enroute to Jacksonville, Fla., to represent this territory at the General Grand Chapter.

Actual work has been started on a big hydro-electric pumping-for-irrigation project at Alamogordo, with an initial cost of $60,000, which it is believed will develop into a big thing for this section and reclaim large tracts of land at small cost.

Tons of powder are being used at the great Santa Rita copper camp to blow up the oldest mine workings in the United States in order to facilitate the new operations at the rich mines. Tremendous results are being accomplished at Santa Rita.

The National Convention United Daughters of the Confederacy will meet at Little Rock, Ark., from the 8th to 12th. The Santa Fe has not allowed rates, but rates will be made on all lines out of Amarillo, making approximately a fare of one and one-third.

The Pecos Valley Teachers' Association for 1910 meets at Artesia November 24th, 25th and 26th. The Texico and Clovis teachers are well represented on the program, and the meeting promises to be of especial benefits and interest to our pedagogues.

There are now about fifty men at work on the Arroyo Hondo dam, south of Roswell. It is hoped that the work can be completed in time for the next irrigation season so that a large area of land which has been taken up in the vicinity of the dam can be irrigated next year.

Large reduction works to cost approximately $100,000 will be put up at Cutter, a station on the Santa Fe eight miles south of Eagle, to treat ore from a mine about twelve miles distant. Cutter is about four miles south of the point where the railroad being built to the Engle dam connects with the Santa Fe.

The Pecos valley has shipped over seventy-five cars of apples so far this season, with an average price of $800 a car, or $60,000 for the apples so far disposed of. It is estimated by the railroad officials that twenty-five cars more will be shipped, making $100,000 worth of apples. This was a bad year for apples, too.

At Roswell the federated mothers clubs composed of the North Hill, Pauley and Central school mothers have joined hands and arrangements are now being affected to have seven lectures by local talent to be given during the winter months; the proceeds to be used for furnishing the new high school building.

The tracks of the San Luis Southern which eventually will have its terminus in Santa Fe, have been completed to the New Mexico-Colorado boundary and there the new town of Jaroso has been established. The line starts at Blanca on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad and is being built by the Costilla Estates Company to develop the Costilla grant. For the present an auto line will be operated from Jaroso to Questa, Taos county, a distance of seventeen miles.

Restoring Cliff Palace.

Santa Fe.—Messrs. Nusbaum and Judd, of the School of American Archaeology, are at present in Colorado excavating the ruins in the Mesa Verde Park. They have undertaken the restoring of "Cliff Palace" one of the principal ruins. Dr. Edgar L. Hewett went to Colorado and inaugurated the work before leaving on his regular lecture tour to the principal cities where there are branches of the American Institute of Archaeology.

The entire staff will return to Santa Fe about the middle of November, to remain until January, when they will take up the research work in South America.

Mulberry Best Shade Tree.

Las Cruces.—Professor Fabian Garcia, head of the Horticultural Department of the New Mexico Agricultural College, has been devoting considerable time and labor for the past ten years to a study of various shade trees with a view to determining which species are the best adapted to this country. It has been found that the eucalyptus, which is one of the best varieties for California, does not do well here although a great many have been planted at various times. The poplar has been found to be a success, but it grows too tall and slender to be of much advantage. So far, the best variety seems to be the mulberry, especially the male trees, which do not bear fruit and are therefore devoid of any disagreeable feature of drawing the birds and littering up the yard with fruit. The maple has been found to be of some value, but not a complete success. The cottonwood flourishes where all others fail but is prone to decay earlier than others.

Yeoman Lodge in Santa Fe.

Santa Fe.—The Brotherhood of American Yeomen organized a local Homestead with forty-two charter members Thursday night in Delgado's hall. The society is the fourth largest fraternal society doing business in the United States, having a membership of 145,000, and a reserve fund of $2,000,000.

F. W. Farmer installed the local organization and installed the following elected officers: Past Foreman, Ramon L. Baca; Honorable Foreman, Charles G. Riche; Master of Ceremonies, George M. Kinsell; Correspondent, Daisy Farmer; Chaplain, Dr. Clarence O. Harrison; Overseer, F. Sandoval; Watchman, Seferino Gonzalez, and Guard, Bernard J. Mulligan.

Board of Managers—Charles G. Riche, George M. Kinsell, Daisy Farmer, Claudius J. Nels, Dr. Clarence O. Harrison. These officers are elected and installed to hold office until 1911.

Convention Considers Executive Dept.

Santa Fe.—The constitutional convention devoted the day to consideration of the executive department of the new state. The following officers were decided upon, to be elective and to serve four years:

Governor, $5,000 a year; attorney general, $4,000; secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, commissioner of public lands, $3,000 each.

The latter two are to be eligible for re-election, but the others are not.

The Democrats fought for a reduction averaging about $500 a year on each office.

The convention fixed the order of succession to governor to be lieutenant governor and secretary of state. The governor was given power to fill all vacancies in state offices by appointment.

He, with the chief justice and secretary of state, shall constitute the state election canvassing board, the convention rejecting the proposition that the Legislature shall constitute such board.

As qualifications for elective state office, citizenship and five years of residence in the state, as well as age of 30 years are required.

No salaries shall be increased for 10 years and all fees are to be turned into the state treasury.

The proposition to create a civil service commission was voted down.

Albuquerque.—Major Edward Beaumont, a miner and prospector, a veteran of the Confederate army, aged 75, was found dead in his cabin sixteen miles north of Albuquerque early this morning by a Mexican sheepherder.

Beaumont had evidently accidentally killed himself. A Winchester cartridge was lying near the body. The indications are that he met his death several days ago.

He claimed that near relatives were active in the development of the old fields at eBaumont, Tex., and that the town was named after his brother.

Church Unity.

Richard, aged five, was being interviewed in regard to his school work. "And where do you go to Sunday school?" was next asked. "To the Episcopal," he replied. "What have you learned there?" "Honor thy father and thy mother," he said. "And, do you know, I went down to the Methodist church the other day and they were teaching the same thing there!"—Lippincott's Magazine.

Natural Query.

Mrs. Thynn—Don't you think I look plump in this gown?
Thynn—Yes. Did you have it made at an upholsterer's?

And Endless Job.

"I'll bet I could keep a fairy god-mother busy."
"As to how?"
"I'd have her look after my touring car."

AFTER SUFFERING ONE YEAR

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Milwaukee, Wis. — "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me a well woman, and I would like to tell the whole world of it. I suffered from female trouble and fearful pains in my back. I had the best doctors and they all decided that I had a tumor in addition to my female trouble, and advised an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman and I have no more backache. I hope I can help others by telling them what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me." — MRS. EMMA IMSE, 833 First St., Milwaukee, Wis.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

THERE'S a treat in store for you if you have not met Big Ben. You may have read his Ads in the big magazines, but these are not half strong enough. I don't think they begin to do him justice.

In fact, no Ad can, so I won't attempt to write one about him. This announcement is simply an invitation for you to walk by my store and meet him.

Great Sacrifice Sale

OUR Closing Out Sale Still Continues. But the End is Near at hand and a few more days of Sacrificing of merchandise and every item will be disposed of.

In making these prices we have but one idea in mind and that is to close out the merchandise in the least possible time and get as much of our money back as possible. This is a 'Retiring from Business Sale' where every item in our store must be disposed of, not a "A Special Sale" where a small discount on one or two items has been made to catch the unwary but this is a Land Slide of Prices in Every Line of Goods. The few items given Below, at random, will give but a faint idea of the hundreds of Bargains we are offering. Space will not permit us giving more prices. Come Early, you can save from 50 to 100 per cent on your purchases. We mark our goods in plain figures, the same price to everyone.

THE WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS

A BRIEF RECORD OF PASSING EVENTS IN THIS AND FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

IN LATE DISPATCHES

DOINGS AND HAPPENINGS THAT MARK THE PROGRESS OF THE AGE.

WESTERN.

A great motor driveway along the Pacific coast from Alaska to Mexico is the object sought by the Pacific Highway Association, which is arousing enthusiasm in the movement and distributing literature.

Federal indictments charging conspiracy to defraud the government of more than 20,000 acres of Alaska coal lands, valued at $200,000,000 have been returned by the federal grand jury against six men who control three groups in Alaska, which represent 131 claims of 160 acres each.

All the unallotted lands of the five civilized tribes of Indians in Oklahoma, amounting to 1,650,000 acres, and the forested area in the Choctaw nation, amounting to about 1,365,000 acres, are to be sold at public auction, according to a decision reached by the secretary of the interior.

At Albuquerque, N. M., it is estimated that there will be $50,000 worth of cotton sold from the fields around Carlsbad by the end of the present season, the crop ginned at Carlsbad running, on an average, 1 1/2 bales to the acre. Cotton growing is no longer an experiment in the Pecos valley but has been demonstrated a success.

The American consul at Acapulco and the Mexican authorities are convinced that one of the men arrested there on suspicion of being implicated in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building is Wilson B. Evans, said to be wanted in Los Angeles for embezzlement, and that the others are not the parties for whom search has been made.

In a signed statement Isidoro Armijo, chairman of the committee on the boundaries of the New Mexico constitutional convention, declared the state of Texas must relinquish 600,000 acres of land valued at $12,000,000 to New Mexico. Armijo asserts that an investigation has convinced him that the true Texas-New Mexico boundary is the 103rd parallel which is some distance east of the present line.

Holding that it has no jurisdiction to grant relief from the operation of the "grandfather clause" amendment to the Oklahoma constitution, the federal court has dismissed the application of Daniel Sims, former slave, who asks a writ of injunction that would permit him and other negroes to vote at the general election, Nov. 8. This decision makes the grandfather clause operative for the election Nov. 8, disfranchising several thousand negroes, as the various precinct election boards throughout the state are given final authority to pass on a voter's qualifications.

After winning a fight for lower freight rates by two years' constant effort, Western shippers are to be pushed back to their starting point through action taken by the railroads, because the limit of the Interstate Commerce Commission's control is about to expire. Now the railroads have filed schedules with the commission setting the rates back at the old point and the fight must be conducted again. The rates affected were included in the Missouri river rate case. Shippers throughout the middle West banded together early in 1908 to fight rates between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers on freight from the Atlantic seaboard.

FOREIGN.

A party of 50 Jesuits, the last of the members of the religious orders, have been expelled from Lisbon. They sailed for Holland.

Deputy Consul General Yost at Paris tells of the vast amount of horse meat Frenchmen are forced to eat on account of the high cost of living in that country. Yost says that approximately 61,000 horses and mules are slaughtered each year in Paris alone to supply the demand for cheap food flesh.

A remarkable discovery, and from the antiquarian point of view a most valuable one, has just been made in London, worthy to set beside the famous fragments of Nero's galley from Lake Nemi, in the Horniman museum. It is nothing less than the well preserved remains of an old Roman boat, which must have sailed the Thames about 1,600 years ago.

POLITICAL.

"If Mr. Taft continues to make as good a president as he is making now he will be the logical and inevitable candidate of his party in 1912—unless one thing happens—that the people of the United States shall repudiate the administration of Mr. Taft by such a crushing and overwhelming defeat of his party that it will be apparent that Mr. Taft can not be re-elected." This was the statement made Friday night by United States Senator Elhu Root in a speech in New York Casino. In fact, he said a Democratic victory in New York would more likely turn the next national convention away from a national administration which could not hold its party together and toward Mr. Roosevelt or to "one of the far more radical leaders now looming up on the political horizon in the North and Middle West."

WASHINGTON.

President Taft appointed William H. Lewis, a negro, to be assistant attorney general of the United States. This is the highest position in the executive branch of the government ever held by a colored man. Lewis is at present an efficient attorney in Boston.

President Taft and Postmaster General Hitchcock have reached an agreement on the recommendations of the President will make to Congress regarding a change in the second-class postage rates as affecting magazines and other periodicals. Taft will recommend that magazines be required to pay the present rate of 1 cent a pound on all reading matter and a much higher rate, to be determined later, on the advertising pages. Each magazine will be required to send a copy of its current issue to the post-office department each week, or month, as the case may be. Newspapers will not be affected.

SPORT.

In a pole vault for distance, Platt Adams of the New York Athletic Club broke the old record of twenty-eight feet, made by Martin Sheridan in 1907, by 2 1/2 inches.

Con Walsh of the New York Athletic Club established a new American record of 16 feet 2 3/16 inches in the 56-pound weight for height, smashing the old record made by P. McDonald last year. The old figures were 16 feet 3/8 of an inch.

In France Maurice Tabuteau broke the world's aviation records for time and distance Friday by flying 289 miles in six hours in a continuous trip. A premium of $4,000 goes to him. The previous record for time and distance was held by Oleslager, the Belgian aviator, who covered 244 miles in five hours, three minutes and five seconds, July 10th.

A "baby" Wright roadster, with Ralph Johnstone at the wheel, glided gracefully to earth in the twilight at the close of the international aviation meet at Belmont park with the barograph registering a new world's record for altitude. The little machine of only 35 horsepower had been up 9,714 feet, exceeding by 528 feet the height attained in France on October 1st by Henry W. Wynnmalen of Holland.

GENERAL.

A bequest of $25,000 to Yale university was made in the will of Rev. Morton Dexter, a prominent Yale graduate.

Marcus Crawford of Franklin, Pa., and a member of the freshman class of Princeton University, is dead of infantile paralysis.

A tooth insurance company has just been organized at Evansville, Ind., by a local dentist. He proposes to insure teeth for $1.50 a year, and if a policyholder loses a tooth in any way Dr. Haas will replace it with a new one. He plans to operate in every state in the Union, and possibly in Canada and Mexico.

Prof. Thomas J. Allen, former president of Aurora (Ill.) college who three years ago lived on raw peanuts for 60 days to prove their worth as a food, announces that he will go a sixty-day diet of water. He plans to go for two months without partaking of any solid food, barring even peanuts from his bill of fare.

Former State Senator Francis Atwater of Meriden, Conn., who was publishing a newspaper at Havana, Cuba, at the time the Maine was blown up, says he sent a cablegram to this country, Nov. 4, 1899, telling of Zalvado's destruction of the warship and his accomplices, the information, according to Mr. Atwater, having been given him by a detective who told him also that Zalvado had been poisoned and that one of his accomplices stood ready to confess the full details of the plot. At that time all the information obtainable, Mr. Atwater said, was sent to the then secretary of war, but while the latter was acknowledged, no further notice was taken of it so far as Mr. Atwater knew.

AWFUL BURNING ITCH CURED IN A DAY

"In the middle of the night of March 30th I woke up with a burning itch in my two hands and I felt as if I could pull them apart. In the morning the itching had gone to my chest and during that day it spread all over my body. I was red and raw from the top of my head to the soles of my feet and I was in continual agony from the itching. I could neither lie down nor sit up. I happened to see about Cuticura Remedies, and I thought I would give them a trial. I took a good bath with the Cuticura Soap and used the Cuticura Ointment. I put it on from my head down to my feet and then went to bed. On the first of April I felt like a new man. The itching was almost gone. I continued with the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and during that day the itching completely left me. Frank Gridley, 325 East 43rd Street, New York City, Apr. 27, 1909." Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world; Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props, Boston, Mass.

ARCHIBALD'S AGATHA

By EDITH HUNTINGTON MASON
AUTHOR OF "THE REAL AGATHA"

SYNOPSIS.

Archibald Terhune, a popular and indolent young bachelor of London, receives news that he has been made heir to the estate of his Aunt Georgiana, with an income of $20,000 a year, on condition that he becomes engaged to be married within ten days. Failing to do so the legacy will go to a third cousin in America. The story opens at Castle Wyckoff, where Lord Vincent and his wife, friends of Terhune, are discussing plans to find him a wife within the prescribed time. It seems that Lady Vincent is one of seven persons named Agatha, all close girlhood chums. She decides to invite two of them to the castle and have Archie there as one of the guests. Agatha Sixth strikes Archie as a handsome beauty. Agatha First is a breezy American girl. Lady Vincent tells her husband that Agatha Sixth already cares for Archie. He gains from Agatha Sixth the admission that she cares for him, but will require a month's time fully to make up her mind. Agatha First, neglected by Terhune, receives attentions from Leslie Freer. Four days of the precious time have passed when Terhune is called to London on business. Agatha First, on the plea of sickness, excuses herself from a motor trip planned by the Vincents. Later they see Agatha First picking flowers with a strange man. The Vincents discuss Agatha's seeming duplicity. The following day the party visits the ruins of an old convent. Terhune continues his attentions to Agatha Sixth.

CHAPTER VII.—Continued.

Freer had returned from his visit to the ruins and was endeavoring to interest the rest of us, Arch and Agatha Sixth and Dearest and myself in a dissertation upon rose-windrows, when Agatha First interrupted us by running up and exclaiming: "Do come and see the waterfall. Pederson says there's a beauty over there in those woods!" She had been down to the road with something or other from the spread, where the automobile and the chauffeur awaited our return.

"A waterfall!" said Archibald. "Dear me! How jolly! Let's go and see it!"

"Come on, then!" cried Agatha First, pausing and looking at him expectantly. He rose obediently, but before he could more than utter the words "Delighted, I'm sure!" Agatha Sixth had risen also, and was now confronting him, as she coldly and haughtily reminded him that he had promised to go and look for wild flowers with her. It was putting the old boy in an awkward position, I admit, but that's no excuse for his subsequent behavior. A tactful speech would have saved the day, but that something perverse about him, which he has in common with most men, made him want most at that moment the girl who wanted him least. And that girl was certainly Agatha First, for without waiting to see whether he came or not, she had run off by herself, all eagerness to see the waterfall.

Without considering the rashness of such a speech, Archibald replied to Agatha Sixth's rebuke by remarking casually: "So I did promise to go and look for wild flowers, but I didn't know about the waterfall then; wouldn't you rather come and see that first?" We shuddered to hear him, Dearest and I. It was pretty bad, you know. Yet, as I say I thought I understood just how he came to say the fatal words—just what spirit prompted him. But Dearest thinks not. She says that he's far too calculating—far too much on the lookout for his own interests to run the risk of losing Agatha Sixth deliberately. She thinks he was only embarrassed. But we both thought that the most peculiar thing about the whole affair was the fact that Agatha First, having left the group immediately her unfortunate invitation was given, must have been quite ignorant of the trouble it had caused. She seemed, indeed, the whole time to be absolutely oblivious to the situation in regard to Agatha Sixth and Terhune. And this was the more extraordinary because any one else, any impartial observer with his eyes open, must, it seemed, have been aware of an affair of some kind or other between the two. But Miss Endicott, it appeared, walked with her eyes shut, like a person in a dream, her thoughts upon some other world or scheme of things removed from ours.

As matters stood, however, the result of the waterfall proposition and Terhune's mismanagement of the crisis it brought about, was a flat refusal on the part of Agatha Sixth to accompany him anywhere, and his frightened and tardy pursuit of Agatha First, who was beckoning him to follow from the edge of the woods. By, Jove, it made me feel inclined to go after him and tell him what I thought of him then and there, Miss Lawrence looked so forlorn and wretched as she watched them disappear into the woods together.

"The beast!" I began, "he ought to be—" But Dearest interrupted me, and I realized it was because the young lady was still standing within earshot. "Don't, Wilfred!" she said. "Agatha doesn't mind a bit—do you, dear?" And she smiled confidently and encouragingly into the other woman's face. It was the required tonic evidently, for Miss Agatha Lawrence—sometimes called Agatha Sixth—at once controlled her quivering lip with a display of self-command upon which I inwardly complimented her. It's a trait of the American girl, I think, that fine self-control, and something that I admire greatly in my wife.

"Of course not," she replied steadily, and turning upon the bewildered Freer, who was standing by, with the sweetest possible smile, asked him if he would mind hunting wild flowers with her. The invitation, I need not say, was accepted with servile gratitude by that undiscriminating and impressionable young man. Like the little dog under the table, Freer was never too proud to partake of the crumbs.

My wife and I left alone, she broke at once into lamentation. Her plans were all going astray, she declared. Match-making was perfectly horrid and she would never, no, never, undertake it again. As for Archibald, she gave him up. She couldn't understand it, at all. Why couldn't he make up his mind which girl he wanted and stick to it? A man who only had ten days in which to choose a wife had no business to go on as he did. Why, she'd never get him married, and he'd lose his fortune! But that wasn't the most important point to be considered by any means. What bothered her most was that poor Agatha Lawrence had fallen in love with the marplot, and so far as she could see—and this in spite of her best efforts—the poor girl was destined to lose him after all! O, it was really too bad. Terhune was too, too trying! I must really speak to him and had out what he meant by playing fast and loose like that! I give you my word I've seldom heard her go on so about anything. She really felt distressed by the unaccountable and rather mysterious color our matrimonial project had assumed, and was much concerned for Agatha Sixth's happiness. The other Agatha we did not seem to be as interested in somehow, as she had neither a husband or a fortune at stake with which to enlist our special sympathies.

"After all, Wilfred," she said, heaving a deep sigh, "the course of true love never did run smooth!"

"Nor yet the course of true match-making!" I answered and we strolled down the side of the little hill where the picnic had been to go and look for wild flowers ourselves.

CHAPTER VIII.

It was on the return trip to the castle that I found an opportunity to talk confidentially with Terhune. He and I were walking home, as seven was rather a crowd in the machine and we wanted the exercise.

"What in thunder do you mean by it?" I demanded when I had finished setting his erratic and inconsiderate conduct before him in its true light—excepting, of course, the details of the incident of the automobile in the wood, and our later discovery of the checked coat in his closet. All reference to this little episode and the suspicions of Dearest and myself in regard to his connection with it, I had felt obliged to omit. We had decided not to mention the subject to him as we had after all only circumstantial evidence upon which to base our belief that Terhune had been Agatha First's companion that day. For, after all, the checked coat we found in his closet might only have resembled the one I saw in the car, and he might easily have owned one of the kind without our ever having seen it. Our friendship with Arch was too dearly prized by us to risk falsely accusing him. And then I couldn't help feeling that after all I had rather surprised them when I had come upon them in the woods, and in seeing what I was not meant to have seen, had rather played the spy, however inadvertently it might have been done. And I did not relish making use of information so obtained. It was better, much fairer to Arch, we decided, to act simply as if my discovery had never been.

"Here you've gone and asked us to help you," I went on, "in the matter of getting a fortune, not to mention a wife, and when it's made as plain as it could well be that Agatha Sixth is the girl for you and you admit fancying her yourself, why, then, what do you do?" I stopped and faced him. We were crossing Hartsmere common and the castle was already in sight, and his eyes fell before my just indignation. He didn't seem anxious to tell me, so I set to and told him myself. "Why, you go and spoil it all by flirting with Agatha First, now don't you!"

"Spoil it all?" he asked without looking up. "Yes," I affirmed impatiently, "that's just what you're doing. I should think you could see you're jeopardizing your chances with Agatha Sixth every time you so much as glance at Agatha First, and really, when you consider that you've asked the girl to marry you and are supposed to be awaiting her answer with all a lover's impatience, it doesn't look well. It doesn't really! What do you want to do it for, anyway?" I paused in my tirade, but he made no motion to answer. "Why, it's plain loony of you!" I exploded in my irritation. "For a man in your position, it's positively suicidal to fool the way you're doing. I shouldn't wonder at all if Miss Lawrence refused you eventually, and then the game would be up indeed!"

"What game?" said Arch, if you please, just as if he didn't know what I was talking about.

"Why, your aunt's property in Australia," I bellowed in his ear. "You can't inherit it if Agatha Sixth won't marry you, can you?"

"Can't I?" he said simply, as if it didn't matter at all, and I nearly lost my patience.

"How could you?" I returned. "The time's up in two days; is it likely you could get anyone else to marry you in that length of time?"

He looked up. "I shouldn't care to marry anyone else," he said. "I happen to care about her," and his expression was so earnest and sincere I had to believe him.

"Well, then, for heaven's sake, make a little more effort to convince her that you care!" I advised, but more gently, and we walked on in silence. I broke it first, as he didn't seem inclined to talk. "Honest, old man," I said, "I wish you'd tell a fellow what you're up to! I hate to see you making a mess of this thing, for no good reason. If you didn't like Miss Lawrence it would be different. But you're self-confessed as to that, and it's especially hard to bear when Dearest and I have been doing our very best to help you. Tell me what it's all about, can't you? Why will you persist in running after Agatha Endicott just at this critical stage of the game?"

"My dear fellow," he replied, "I'd tell you everything in a minute if there were anything to tell. But there isn't, not a blooming blessed thing; I deny your last statement, however. I can do that much for you. I am not running after Miss Endicott, not the least bit in the world. I give you my word I'm not!"

For a moment I felt a curious sense of positions reversed, as if some time not long ago I had been the one to speak so to Terhune, and he to lecture me. He is older than I and has always been the one to look after me, not I after him. And this feeling almost impelled me to drop my inquisitorial tone. But I thought of the automobile in the woods and the scene I had stumbled upon and grew firm. Really it was too much. I couldn't let him string me like that!

"I don't know what you call it," I retorted indignantly, "but whether you think so or not, you're with Agatha First all the time lately. Why can't you let her alone and tend strictly to business?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Should Let Ourselves Go

The Sincere Man Acts Promptly and Courageously and So Lives His Own Life.

It very often happens that we have a thought, but are afraid to express it, lest it seem absurd to others. A song begins to sing itself in our heart, but we hush it lest our friends say, "What a trifling thing, to be sure." We have in our soul the prompting of a generous act, but we hesitate and forego it, for fear we may appear sentimental. When, if we had been true to ourselves and uttered the thought, sung the song, done the generous thing, we, too, might have won the applause of men no less than that higher reward, the approval of our own nature.

The sincere man trusts himself. What he thinks he is confident in at least worthy of expression, and what he is prompted to do he is certain must be right. He acts promptly and frankly and courageously, and so lives his own life and permits his soul its own efflorescence and fruiting. He lets himself "go."

After all, we are and can be only ourselves. If we are to advance or to be anything we must let ourselves "go." We cannot by taking thought add a cubit to our intellectual stature. What we are, we are, and we can only make the most of ourselves by letting "go" and going as far as possible.—Columbia (S. C.) State.

Long Official of Noted School. James Edward Gaffney, who for nearly 20 years officiated as the school clerk at Eton, has just retired. He had to know about everything connected with the administration of the school down to the initials of a member of the third form. The majority of famous Etonians' names are to be found in his "Tardy Book." He had to see that a fresh birch was made for every boy "awished."

LOOK TO YOUR KIDNEYS.

When Suffering From Backache, Headaches and Urinary Troubles.

They are probably the true source of your misery. To keep well, you must keep your kidneys well. There is no better kidney remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills. They cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Ernest Ubricht, Kellogg, Idaho, says: I was nearly dead with kidney trouble. I passed quantities of blood and lost 15 pounds in weight in three weeks. My bladder was so full of gravel I could not hold the urine. I passed several stones as large as a pea. I rapidly improved under the use of Doan's Kidney Pills and was soon well and strong.

What About Him?

The talk had gone back and fro, and the youthful socialist had been announcing that no man ought to get his living by cheating, and we all listened to him, and agreed that it was dreadful when men and women did not tell the truth, but tried to make their living by deceiving people. Millionaires, landowners, financiers, we sacrificed all of them who cheat the public. "No one should make a living by deception," said the young man. Then a quiet voice from a woman came from the corner of the sofa, "What about the conjurer?"—London Chronicle.

"Kin by Marriage."

A caller was talking to a small Harlem girl who is extravagantly fond of her mother. She likes her father well enough, but he is far from being first in her affections. The caller, knowing the situation, asked the child why she didn't love her father as she did her mother. "Oh, you see," she explained, loftily, "he is only kin to us by marriage."

THE FIRST TASTE

Learned to Drink Coffee When a Baby.

If parents realized the fact that coffee contains a drug—caffeine—which is especially harmful to children, they would doubtless hesitate before giving the babies coffee to drink.

"When I was a child in my mother's arms and first began to nibble things at the table, mother used to give me sips of coffee. As my parents used coffee exclusively at meals I never knew there was anything to drink but coffee and water.

"And so I contracted the coffee habit early. I remember when quite young the continual use of coffee so affected my parents that they tried roasting wheat and barley, then ground it in the coffee-mill, as a substitute for coffee.

"But it did not taste right and they went back to coffee again. That was long before Postum was ever heard of. I continued to use coffee until I was 27, and when I got into office work, I began to have nervous spells. Especially after breakfast I was so nervous I could scarcely attend to my correspondence.

"At night, after having coffee for supper, I could hardly sleep, and on rising in the morning would feel weak and nervous.

"A friend persuaded me to try Postum. My wife and I did not like it at first, but later when boiled good and strong it was fine. Now we would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever tasted.

"I can now get good sleep, am free from nervousness and headaches. I recommend Postum to all coffee drinkers."

Have You Tried It?

There is a bottle of Cardui waiting for you at the drug store. Have you tried it? If not, we urge you to do so, before your troubles have obtained such a hold on you, that nothing will drive them out. Even now, it may be nearly too late. But try it anyhow. If anything can help you, Cardui will. It has helped in thousands of cases, where other medicines had been tried in vain. Why should it not do the same for you?
