Reserved Space for The Expressions and Opinions Of Our Readers

ED. H. B. CHEW EXPOSTULATES

Following our regular custom of allowing our readers space for the expression of their opinions, although often reversed to our own, we are printing the following letter from Ed H. B. Chew of White Oaks.

Editor of the Carrizozo Outlook:

In a recent issue of the Outlook you mentioned the fact that Joe Ashford and myself were present at the Democratic Convention, both of us being Republicans and our reasons were that we were against the constitution as written because it did not contain any direct legislation. So far correct, but that is not all, and it would take too much space to explain all my reasons so I will give only a few. First, I am willing to affiliate with any legitimate organization that is against the constitution as written, as I believe it is not a party question but for all the people. The 13 democratic objections I endorse.

The direct election of Senators is often overlooked, for this reason, if the Legislature elect them it is demoralizing, often a corrupting business, the Legislature that has a big Senatorial contest on hand is of little use for legislation when it spends half of a session choosing a Senator, and sometimes the man with the most money is chosen.

Article IV, Sec. 1, Reads, the People reserve the power to disapprove, suspend and annul any law enacted by the Legislature, except general appropriation laws, etc. Under such a law the Legislature could vote money out of the Treasury indiscriminately, the people would have no redress, so here would be where the favored few would come in, an Initiative and real Referendum would give the people a command of their own money.

Article II, Sec. 2, Reads, All political power is vested in and derived from the People, all government of right originates with the people etc, now if this is the case, why have all the Railroads of the territory sent private cars to Santa Fe and wine and dined the delegates? No this Section should read "the people have no rights and all government should originate with the interests and bosses."

Article VIII, Sec. 8, Reads, so as to exempt corporations from taxes for six years now is it any more fair to exempt the corporation than it is the Homesteader?

Article VIII, Sec. 1, Reads, that the militia of this state shall consist of all able-bodied male citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 etc., the way this law reads the railroad employe or miner who goes on strike can be sworn in to fight his own cause.

Article XII, Sec. 2, Reads, the permanent school fund of the state shall consist of the proceeds of the sales of Sec. 2-16-32-36 instead of selling this ground, say we lease it for 5c an acre, each school district averages 12 square miles, it means an income of $512 each year. Minnesota when she became a state did not sell her school land, but leased it instead, she now has a surplus of $22,000,000 and still has the land.

I know there are lots of people who believe in statehood at any price, now what have we to gain by statehood? Some say two Senators, a representative in Congress, a vote for President etc., it is all very nice but the price is too great, if you consider the extravagant salaries that are to be paid and the extra costs when the United States quit, with the present gang in control, and then if this is such a good Constitution it will not need amendment so why be afraid of the Initiative and Referendum? In conclusion, it is noticeable that about 'four-fifths' of the people who are for this constitution have an ax to grind better I say 'the Sunshine Territory' than a rotten bankrupt state.

WHITE OAKS WHIFFS

Well, none of us here have been hurt by stray shots from the Insurrectos as yet.

Ralph Treat has returned from Mexico and we understand that he came on a 'special business trip.'

It is said that a good strike has been made on the Rita claim.

We are rejoicing over the fact that we have no Roswell corporation lawyers in this neck of the woods to help convince us to vote for the Constitution.

Grand Chancellor Williams and Supreme Representative Jno A. Haley were up this week visiting the K of P Lodge.

The ladies gave a very pleasaant dance and supper Christmas Eve, now for the bachelor dance New Years.

OSCURO OBSERVINGS

Last Friday an entertainment was given by the children of the local school under the supervision of Miss Helen Jones, their teacher.

Dr. Miller and wife of Tularosa visited friends here Sunday and Monday and were delighted with the prospects for the future Oscuro.

Willie McCallum has left for Magdalena where he will be employed for a few months this winter.

Wm. Martin and wife have moved to their town house

An acciaent happened to F. H. Harvey, driver of the Murray mail stage, last Saturday, a fire starting in the wagon and partially burning the mail sack, and damaging Mr Harvey's clothes and robes.

Superintendent Haley was in the city Wednesday endeavoring to straighten out local school matters.

Christmas was spent pleasantly by all Oscuroites, several dinner parties and gatherings taking place.

Miss Elizabeth Snyder is spending the week with friends in Carrizozo.

Chas. Thornton and Dr. G. Ranager have announced their candidacy for the local justiceship and Lawrence Olson will run for constable.

Owing to the mild fall and winter we are over stocked in Overcoats and are sacrificing the same. Come in and see them. Ziegler Bros.

A GREAT COUNTRY THIS

Relative rank and population of the various states and Territories of U. S.

NEW MEXICO GROWING FAST

Census Director Durand announced the total population of the United States. It is very difficult to form an adequate idea of the sum represented by so many millions, but it is certainly true that this is a great nation and New Mexico ought to be proud that it has the opportunity to enter the sisterhood of states of the Union. Although it has shown a marvelous rate of increase, it is still one of the small commonwealths as to population although one of the largest as to area. It stands eighth from the bottom among the fifty-one states, territories and possessions enumerated, the same relative rank it held 10 years ago, but it is gaining rapidly on a group of eleven states having less than a million inhabitants but more than New Mexico. The following is the relative rank and population of the states, territories and possessions as the census of 1910 gives them:

New York	9,113,279
Pennsylvania	7,665,111
Illinois	5,638,591
Ohio	4,767,121
Texas	3,896,542
Massachusetts	3,366,416
Missouri	3,293,333
Michigan	2,810,173
Indiana	2,700,876
Georgia	2,609,121
New Jersey	2,537,167
California	2,377,540
Wisconsin	2,333,860
Kentucky	2,289,905

Morgan Reily and Sylvain Anderson entertained a number of their boy and girl friends this week with a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Loughrey.

Mrs Peters of Angus was a visitor here this week.

Geo. Spence is in the East end of the county looking after mining interests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira O. Wetmore are here from Monterey.

Contractor Ben Bechtel is in Clovis looking after business interests.

TRANSCONTINENTAL WALK

F. Calbert Arnold of the U. S. Navy who is walking from Baltimore Md. to San Francisco California on a wager of $1000, was in the city last Friday and Saturday and it was the pleasure of the Outlook to entertain him part of his stay here. Mr. Arnold is a special representative of Everybody's magazine but not allowed to write for remuneration on the trip nor is he to work more than one week at anyone trade.

Mr Arnold has traveled all over the world and is a through cosmopolitan. He was a writer for the navy department during the Panama revolution in 1903, correspondent for Harper's and also the navy during the San Domingo revolution. In 1903 he was in Tangiers, Morocco, when the Americanized Greek, Don Predicaris, was kidnapped by the famous bandit Raisuli, and held for a ransom. Mr Arnold was stationed there from May 30 to June 27 1904, when the coming of so many United States war ships hastened the Greek's release. He also spent a month at Cape Horn, South Africa, and went on a tramping trip up through the Transvaal.

Among his other foreign travels was three years in South America, a trip to the famous island of St. Helena, and a several months' sojourn among the natives in Samoa.

CAPITAN CORRESPONDENCE

All kinds of weather from balmy sunshine to a blizzard this week at Capitan.

Johnson Bros are moving their garage this week and making many important improvements in their repair shop, which is already the most complete in the state.

Supervisor Kinney returned from Winfield Kansas recently where he accompanied his aged father, who came to make his son a short visit.

The Christmas exercises by the school children of Capitan, held at the school house Christmas eve, was a complete success; the large hall was packed to the utmost with people from the surrounding country and the recitations by the children under the efficient instruction of Prof. Nave, were excellent. Two large trees were beautifully decorated by a committee of Capitan ladies and many beautiful presents were distributed to the happy recipients.

The ladies of Capitan, under the leadership of Mrs. S. C. Gray, have started a movement to raise a fund to finish the large hall in the Central School Building, they will give a supper Thursday night, the proceeds of which will become a part of the fund. It takes the women folks to get out and do things.

JUSTICE COURT

Sam Fambaugh and deputy sheriff John Dale were arrested and brought in from the Jicarillas charged with assault, while armed with deadly weapons, on Lorenzo Parata and Dionisio Montoyo.

A hearing was had before Justice Massie Monday and both were bound over in the sum of $300 to await the action of the grand jury.

Fambaugh was later tried before Judge Massie on a charge of assault Atty J.E. Wharton of El Paso appearing for the defence and Atty Geo Spence for the prosecution. He was found guilty and fined $10 and costs.

LARRAZOLA TELLS WHY

The Great Democratic Leader Explains Why He Is For Constitution

EXTRACTS FROM HIS SPEECH

Hon. Octaviano A. Larrazola, twice candidate for delegate to congress and the recognized leader of the native population of the state, is doing a great work for the adoption of the constitution. He spoke the other day at a big meeting making a profound impression.

We quote a few of his epigrams:

I am not abandoning my principles:

I am simply changing my position. I want to be on the higher ground: be a freer and a more independent man and instead of supplicating and petitioning, as masters we will have the right to command.

While I believe in party loyalty, I do not believe that it is the duty of any citizen to surrender his conscience to any man or party.

This constitution is reasonably easy of amendment—in fact more so than that of any other state constitution with the exception of Oklahoma.

Will we pay our legislators too much in giving them $5 a day when it is the unwritten law of every capital city, from Washington down, that not a member of the legislature shall leave the capital with a dollar in his pocket?

Is $5,000 salary for your governor of a state too much, when he has to entertain the distinguished representatives of other states and other lands, or would you have him give them a dish of frijoles? If so, I'd like the recall to exist for just such!

Is $4,000 too much to pay your attorney general? Ask Mr. Catron if he would give up his law practice for that sum!

If it takes too much money to become a free people, I want to petition the government to put us on a reservation like the Pueblo Indians and appoint a guardian to look after us.

Are we going to despair and challenge the honesty of humanity at large? If so, I'd appeal to the Lord to send us down an army of angels to govern us.

The corporations did have their agents in Santa Fe, to obtain special concessions in the constitution, but they most signally failed, to secure anything, or I am unable to read the English language, or I am a third rate lawyer.

Since when has the democratic party become a party of anarchists? The democratic party I know is that of free men of equal right to all.

If amendments to the constitution are needed, I believe in the loyalty, patriotism and intelligence of citizens to have these amendments written.

They say: "New Mexico is boss-ridden," but I believe that you will be controlled by bosses only so long as you desire.

This is your opportunity to adopt a constitution and secure statehood and God only knows when, if ever, it will be offered to you again.

Justice of the peace Williams was a business visitor from Jicarilla.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1910

W. B. WALTON the Democratic leader and member of the Democratic central committee, continues consistently to urge the approval of the constitution, despite the thirteen reasons advanced by the rump convention of his party. In this week's issue of the Silver City Independent, of which he is the publisher and editor, he presents his views clearly, convincingly and concisely as follows:

"If there is one principle of the government that the Democratic party has consistently emphasized more than another, it is that one that declares for 'majority rule.' The two great parties fought out the campaign in this territory on September 6th, resulting in the election of 71 Republicans and 29 Democrats to the constitutional convention. For a time thereafter and in the first days of the convention, there were fears entertained that the majority would not only frame the constitution, but would be bitterly opposed to granting any concessions to the Democratic minority. Safer counsels prevailed and many of the majority rose to the occasion and consented to the embodying of many amendments, and even whole sections, prepared by the minority members of the most important committee. The constitution, therefore, plainly embodies the will of the majority of the delegates in the convention, irrespective of party, as was evidenced by the signing of the document by all the delegates with the exception of five democrats. If, indeed, the party believes in that principle of government wherein majorities rule minorities, how can it consistently vote against the constitution which is signed by a majority of its own delegates and by all the 71 Republican delegates? Which is the safer for the voter to follow: the 93 who signed the instrument, or the five who refused? Every voter who believes in 'majority rule' and in representative government should support the 93 delegates whom they elected to represent them in framing a constitution.

"It is not any longer a question as to whether or not we want statehood; that has been fully demonstrated. The people know that to vote against the constitution is to jeopardize immediate statehood, and that they cannot allow this opportunity to have self government to be defeated by a quarrel over things in the constitution which really amount to nothing."

THERE IS ONE thing favorable about President Taft's special message to Congress anent the New Mexico-Texas boundary. It indicates that the chief executive is in a big hurry to get the statehood question finally disposed of and to admit New Mexico to statehood at the earliest opportunity. As to poor Arizona, it must remain out in the cold for the fiat has gone forth at Washington, both from Republicans and Democrats, that no constitution that applies the recall to judges can hope of approval from the President or Congress. However, Arizona is young compared with New Mexico and its population is not much more than one-half of New Mexico's while its prospects of growth in the future have been stunted for the time being by the socialistic agitation of its Democratic majority.

GOVERNMENT ATTORNEYS are now roasting the beef trust, cleaning out the bathtub trust, dissolving the sugar trust, piping the oil trust, smoking out the tobacco trust, and shocking the electric companies.

NEVADA'S POPULATION increased 93 per cent. The census must have been taken July 4th when Reno was full of prize fighters and sports.

AFTER Jan. 1st The Outlook will be $1.50 a year.

COMING EVENTS IN NEW MEXICO.
Jan. 21—State election to ratify or reject constitution.

Two Crops of Potatoes.

Deming.—E. F. Moran, one of our live ones, brought in samples of two crops of potatoes grown this year. He planted potatoes early in the spring and then planted potatoes raised from the first crop, from which he raised a second crop.

Hoboes Beat Chinaman.

Albuquerque.—Recently two hoboes induced Wong Kim, a Chinaman, to the outskirts of Deming, where they fell upon him, beat him almost to death and robbed him of $400. He was found insensible, with fearful wounds over the head, but will likely recover.

Engineer Appointed.

Santa Fe.—Gov. Mills appointed Charles D. Miller of Las Cruces to be territorial engineer, vice Vernon L. Sullivan, who leaves the service of the territory January 1st. Miller was assistant engineer. He appointed C. H. Neal, present good roads engineer, his assistant.

To Study the Mayan Ruins.

Santa Fe.—The Santa Fe archaeologists will soon be on their way to Central America to do excavation work and study the Mayan ruins. The party expects to sail from New Orleans January 3rd, for Puerto Barrios, Guatemala, and be gone four months. In the party will be Director E. L. Hewitt, of the School of American Archaeology; Sylvanus Griswold Morley and Jesse L. Nusbaum.

Alfalfa Brings $11 a Ton.

Albuquerque.—In the irrigated districts the farmers have had a very successful season. Alfalfa hay will average for the summer $11 a ton. Much alfalfa was cut for seed. In the Carlsbad project alone 2,500 acres was left for seed. The prices received at time of hauling were 11@15 cents a pound, making the gross returns from $50 to $70 an acre. Some farmers made as high as $100 an acre from their alfalfa this year. The cotton crop was also very satisfactory, and at the present prices will return from $60 to $90 an acre.

Texas-New Mexico Boundary.

Washington.—Complying with the recommendation of President Taft as conveyed in a special message the Senate adopted a joint resolution nullifying the action of the constitutional convention of New Mexico in fixing the one hundred and third meridian of longitude as the eastern boundary of the prospective state. It also gives the President power, in conjunction with Texas, to re-establish the lines run by J. H. Clark in 1858 as the true boundary between New Mexico and Texas.

Big Irrigation Scheme.

Albuquerque.—George T. Nicholson, second vice president of the Santa Fe railway, and officers of the First National bank of Chicago, are at French, N. M., to inspect properties which it is said are to be consolidated to form one of the largest irrigation enterprises in the world. It is understood that Mr. Nicholson and the bank are the leading spirits in the plan to merge the properties of the French Land & Irrigation Company, the Maxwell Land Company and the company building the projected Eagles Nest reservoir, near Cimarron. These three enterprises are among the biggest irrigation schemes in the Southwest.

Children Lost; One Dies.

Wagon Mound—Julia and Jean, aged 8 and 6, respectively, and children of S. Lucero, a ranchman, living near Turkey mountains, fifteen miles southwest of Wagon Mound, who several days before were sent in search of some goats and failed to return, have been found several miles from home after a search of five days and nights. The little girl was still alive, but in pitiable condition from hunger and exposure. She directed the searchers to the body of her brother, who was frozen to death after being thoroughly drenched in an attempt to get a drink from a creek. He had been saved from immediate drowning by the heroic efforts of his half starved sister.

According to the rules of the General Postoffice Department, Las Cruces is entitled to have free city delivery, as the office passed the $10,000 mark in the four quarters just ended. The sales for the last quarter were over $2,500, and the average for the four quarters of the fiscal year just past was $2,510.

English Women Smoke Pipes.

The latest fancy of the woman-smoker is a pipe—not the tiny affair that suffices for the Japanese, but a good-sized brier or a neat meerschauum. The pipe is boldly carried along with a gold card case and chain-purse. For some time now the cigarette has given place to a cigar, small in size and mild in quality. Women said they were tired of the cigarette, and wanted a bigger smoke.—London Mail.

Cripple Rides Bicycle.

George Anstey, aged 12, a cripple, of Leicester, England, is one of the most remarkable cyclists in the country. Both his legs are withered and useless, but the Leicester Cripples' Guild has provided him with a two-wheeled pedalless machine, with a padded tube covering the axle bar. Across this he lies face foremost, and with wooden clogs strapped to his hands he propels himself along the streets and roads in a marvelously rapid manner. He has complete control of the machine, his hands acting as pedals, steering gear, and brake combined.

Pretty Good Definition.

We hear some funny things in Fleet street sometimes, and the following definition of the height of aggravation, by a gentleman in rather shabby boots, whom we encountered in a well-known hostelry the other day, struck us as being particularly choice.

"The 'eight of hagggravation, gentlemen," said this pithy humorist, setting his pewter on the counter and looking round proudly, with the air of one about to let off a good thing, "the 'eight of hagggravation—why, trying to ketch a flea out of yer ear with a pair of boxin' gloves."—London Tit Bits.

An Alaskan Luncheon.

Runners of woven Indian baskets, with white drawnwork dollies in each of the 12 covers, were used on an oval mahogany table. The dollies were made at Sitka. In the middle of the table a mirror held a tall central vase of frosted glass, surrounded by four smaller vases, all filled with white spring blossoms. The edge of the mirror was banked with the same flowers. Four totem poles were placed on dollies in the angles made by the runners.

Place cards were water colors of Alaskan scenery. Abalone shells held salted nuts, and tiny Indian baskets held bonbons. The soup spoons were of horn, several of the dishes used were made by Alaskan Indians, and the cakes were served on baskets.

The menu was as follows: Poisson a la Bering Sea (halibut chowder), Yukon climbers (broiled salmon, potatoes Julienne), snowbirds avec auroraborealis (roast duck with jelly), Shungnak river turnips, Tanana beets, Skagway hash (salad), Fairbanks nuggets (ripe strawberries arranged on individual dishes around a central mound of powdered sugar), arctic slices (brick ice cream), Circle City delights (small cakes), Klondike nuggets (yellow cheese in round balls on crackers), Nome firewater (coffee).—Woman's Home Companion.

Lightning Change.

The Manager—Can you make quick changes and double in a few parts? The Actor—Can I? Say, you know the scene in "Love and Lobsters," where the hero and the villain are fighting, and a friend rushes in and separates 'em? Well, I played all three parts one night when the other two fellows were ill.

Not Altogether Dead.

Mr. Robert Butler of Marlborough, England, has had the peculiar experience of hearing his death announced. He was attending the poor law conference at Exeter when one of the delegates moved that, in consequence of the death of Mr. Butler, which they all regretted, another gentleman, whom he named, should be appointed to fill his place as one of the representatives of Wiltshire on the central committee. Mr. Butler rose from his place on the platform and announced to the conference, amid much amusement, that, so far as he was aware, he was still alive and in good health, and would be pleased to continue in the office if the conference desired.

Bankers and Bank Notes.

Four men, three of whom were connected with brokerage concerns in the Wall street district, were discussing United States paper currency and the disappearance of counterfeiters. "We are so sure nowadays," said one of the party, "as to the genuineness of bills that little attention is paid to them in handling, except as to denomination." To prove his assertion he took a $10 yellowback from his pocket, and, holding it up, asked who could tell whose portrait it bore. No one knew, and by way of coaching the broker said it was the first treasurer of the United States. Again no one knew the name. "Why, it's Michael Hillegas," said the man proudly. "But in confidence, I'll tell you, I didn't know it five minutes ago."—New York Tribune.

Vivid at Least.

Dr. Hiram C. Cortlandt, the well-known theologian of Des Moines, said in a recent address:

"Thomas A. Edison tells us that he thinks the soul is not immortal; but, after all, what does this great wizard know about souls? His forte is electricity and machinery, and when he talks of souls he reminds me irresistibly of the young lady who visited the Baldwin locomotive works and then told how a locomotive is made.

"You pour," she said, "a lot of sand into a lot of boxes, and you throw old stove lids and things into a furnace, and they you empty the molten stream into a hole in the sand, and everybody yells and swears. Then you pour it out and let it cool and pound it, and then you put it in a thing that bores holes in it. Then you screw it together, and paint it, and put steam in it, and it goes splendidly; and they take it to a drafting room and make a blue print of it. But one thing I forgot—they have to make a boiler. One man gets inside and one gets outside, and they pound frightfully; and then they tie it to the other thing, and you ought to see it go!"

Largest of Whales.

The largest whale of its type of which there is scientific record was captured recently off Port Arthur, Tex. He measured sixty-three feet in length, and was estimated to be about three hundred years old. Captain Cob Plummer, mate of a United States pilot boat, sighted the monster in the shoals off the jetties, and the crew of his vessel captured the mammal. The huge body was towed ashore, exhibited and much photographed before being cut up.

Rat Bounty Excites Merriment.

Seattle, fearing the introduction of bubonic plague by rats, has offered a bounty of ten cents a rat. This move Tacoma, safe from infection from the sea, to raucous laughter, and the Ledger says that the bounty, "though not intended for rodents of Tacoma, Everett, Bellingham and other populous and busy centers, has been finding its way into the pockets of non-residents of Seattle for non-resident rats. But the joke would be on us if it were found that our rat population had found its way into the Seattle census."

Two Very Old Ladies.

We have heard a great deal lately about long-lived people, but it is probable that the oldest two people in the world today are Frau Dutklevitz and another old lady named Babavasilka. The former lives at Posem, in Prussian Poland, and was born on February 21, 1785. She is therefore one hundred and twenty-five years old. The latter, however, is nine months her senior, having been born in May, 1784.

She is still a fairly hale old woman, and for nearly one hundred years worked in the fields. Her descendants number close on 100, and these now make her a joint allowance. She lives at the village of Bavelso, whose neighborhood she has never quitted during the whole of her long life. She remembers events which happened at the beginning of last century much more clearly than those of the last 40 years.—Dundee Advertiser.

Too Ardent a Lover.

Georgotto Fontano, an embroiderer who lives in the Rue Sevres in Paris, has found himself condemned to a month's imprisonment for what seems to her a harmless act.

She was going home from a concert a few evenings ago when she decided she would like to see her fiancé. As he happens to be a fireman whose station is in her own neighborhood it occurred to her it would be very easy to summon him to her side by breaking the glass of the fire alarm and sounding a call.

She did so and in a few moments fire engines came from several directions, all laden with firemen, of course, but alas! her fiancé was not among them, and more than that all the firemen were angry, and before she knew what had happened she was taken to a magistrate, who proceeded to make the course of true love run unsmoothly by sending her to prison for a month in spite of her tears and protests that she thought it would be a simple way of bringing her fiancé to her side.

Takes Himself Seriously.

Nicola Tesla, dining by himself in a hotel's great dining room, takes a table where he can be seen. Throughout his meal he wears a deeply studious, a completely absorbed attitude. He may bring to the table a portfolio filled with papers. These he may scan with prolonged solemnity. In any event, he sits an eloquent tableau of profundity.—New York Press.

Holidays in the States.

Washington's birthday is a holiday in all states. Decoration day in all states but Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. Labor day is observed everywhere. Virtually every state has legal holidays having to do with its own special affairs—battle of New Orleans in Louisiana, Texas independence and battle of San Jacinto in Texas, Admission day in California, and so on. Mississippi is like the federal government in lack of statutory holidays, but by common consent Independence day, Thanksgiving and Christmas are observed. A new one is Columbus day in a few of the states.

Planting Wedding Oaks.

Princess August Wilhelm, wife of the kaiser's fourth son, has set herself the task of reviving one of Germany's oldest customs, that according to which newly wedded couples immediately after the marriage ceremony plant a couple of oak saplings side by side in a park or by the roadside of their native town.

The town of Mulchhausen, in Thuringia, is the first to respond to the princess' appeal. A municipal official appears at the church door after every wedding and invites the bride and bridegroom to drive with him in a carriage to a new road near the town and there plant oak saplings.

The tree planting idea was started by a former elector of Brandenburg with the object of repairing the ravages caused by the 30 years' war. The elector forbade young persons to marry until they had planted a number of fruit trees.

An Unnecessary Confession.

A hearty laugh was occasioned at the Birmingham police court by a prisoner who gave himself away in a very delightful manner. The man was the first on the list, and the charge against him was merely one of being drunk and disorderly. He stepped into the dock, however, just at the moment when the dock officer was reading out a few of the cases which were to come before the court that morning, and a guilty conscience apparently led him to mistake these items for a list of his previous convictions.

He stood passive enough while the officer read out about a dozen drunk and disorderly cases, but when he came to one "shopbreaking" the prisoner exclaimed excitedly, "That was eight years ago, your honor." Everyone began to laugh, and the prisoner, realizing the blunder he had made, at first looked very black indeed, but finally saw the humorous side of the matter, and a broad smile spread over his face. His blunder did not cost anything.—Birmingham Mail.

That Suit for Libel Against the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Gave a Splendid Chance to Bring Out Facts

A disagreement about advertising arose with a "weekly" Journal.

Following it, an attack on us appeared in their editorial columns; sneering at the claims we made particularly regarding Appendicitis.

We replied through the regular papers and the "weekly" thought we hit back rather too hard and thereupon sued for libel.

The advertisement the "weekly" attacked us about claimed that in many cases of appendicitis an operation could be avoided by discontinuing indigestible food, washing out the bowels and taking a predigested food Grape-Nuts.

Observe we said MANY cases not all. Wouldn't that knowledge be a comfort to those who fear a surgeon's knife as they fear death?

The "weekly" writer said that was a lie. We replied that he was ignorant of the facts. He was put on the stand and compelled to admit he was not a Dr. and had no medical knowledge of appendicitis and never investigated to find out if the testimonial letters to our Co. were genuine.

A famous surgeon testified that when an operation was required Grape-Nuts would not obviate it. True.

We never claimed that when an operation was required Grape-Nuts would prevent it.

The surgeon testified bacteria (germs) helped to bring on an attack and bacteria was grown by undigested food frequently.

We claimed and proved by other famous experts that undigested food was largely responsible for appendicitis.

We showed by expert testimony that many cases are healed without a knife, but by stopping the use of food which did not digest, and when food was required again it was helpful to use a predigested food which did not overtax the weakened organs of digestion.

When a pain in the right side appears it is not always necessary to be rushed off to a hospital and at the risk of death be cut.

Plain common sense shows the better way is to stop food that evidently has not been digested.

Then, when food is required, use an easily digested food, Grape-Nuts or any other if you know it to be predigested (partly digested before taking).

We brought to Court analytical chemists from New York, Chicago and Mishawaka, Ind., who swore to the analysis of Grape-Nuts and that part of the starchy part of the wheat and barley had been transformed into sugar, the kind of sugar produced in the human body by digesting starch (the large part of food).

Some of the State chemists brought on by the "weekly" said Grape-Nuts could not be called a "predigested" food because not all of it was digested outside the body.

The other chemists said any food which had been partly or half digested outside the body was commonly known as "predigested."

Splitting hairs about the meaning of a word. It is sufficient that if only one-half of the food is "predigested," it is easier on weakened stomach and bowels than food in which no part is predigested.

To show the facts we introduce Dr. Thos. Darlington, former chief of the N. Y. Board of Health, Dr. Ralph W. Webster, chief of the Chicago Laboratories, and Dr. B. Sachs, N. Y.

If we were a little severe in our denunciation of a writer, self-confessed ignorant about appendicitis and its cause, it is possible the public will excuse us, in view of the fact that our head, Mr. C. W. Post, has made a lifetime study of food, food digestion and effects, and the conclusions are indorsed by many of the best medical authorities of the day.

Is it possible that we are at fault for suggesting, as a Father and Mother might, to one of the family who announced a pain in the side: "Stop using the food, greasy meats, gravies, mince pie, cheese, too much starchy food, etc., etc., which has not been digested, then when again ready for food use Grape-Nuts because it is easy of digestion?"

Or should the child be at once carted off to a hospital and cut?

We have known of many cases wherein the approaching signs of appendicitis have disappeared by the suggestion being followed.

No one better appreciates the value of a skillful physician when a person is in the awful throes of acute appendicitis, but "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

Just plain old common sense is helpful even nowadays.

This trial demonstrated Grape-Nuts food is pure beyond question.

It is partly predigested.

Appendicitis generally has rise from undigested food.

It is not always necessary to operate.

It is best to stop all food.

When ready to begin feeding use a predigested food.

It is palatable and strong in nourishment.

It will pay fine returns in health to quit the heavy breakfasts and lunches and use less food but select food certainly known to contain the elements nature requires to sustain the body. May we be permitted to suggest a breakfast of fruit, Grape-Nuts and cream, two soft boiled eggs, and some hot toast and cocoa, milk or Postum?

The question of whether Grape-Nuts does or does not contain the elements which nature requires for the nourishment of the brain, also of its purity, will be treated in later newspaper articles.

Good food is important and its effect on the body is also important.

THIRTY DIE IN CHICAGO FIRE

NELSON MORRIS & COMPANY'S PACKING PLANT BURNS
WITH HEAVY LOSS.

FIRE CHIEF PERISHES

WALLS OF BURNING BUILDINGS
FALL WHEN AMMONIA EXPLODES.

Chicago.—From thirty to thirty-five firemen are believed to be dead here Thursday, ten bodies have been recovered and at least a score are seriously injured, several fatally, in a fire which destroyed the big beef storage house of Nelson Morris & Co., and for a time threatened to wipe out the whole Chicago Stockyards.

Foremost among the victims of the fire was the head of the Chicago Fire Department, Chief James Horan, who, with his second assistant, William Burroughs, and more than a score of men, was killed when a terrific explosion of ammonia tore off the roof of the burning structure, forcing out its walls and trapping the fire chief and his party under an overhanging canopy and against a line of freight cars, where they roared to death while rescuers vainly fought the gusts of flames.

Driven back by the wall of fire, the engine companies and other organizations which, from all over the city, had answered the repeated alarms, fought desperately to save their comrades, but so hot were the flames that all efforts were fruitless until the cessation of screams and groans from the imprisoned men told that the last one was dead.

Hard fighting then subdued the conflagration sufficiently so that several bodies were taken from the ruins, but again the workers were forced back as fresh outbursts of fire came. Then the tall house of the Morris company, adjoining the beef house, caught fire and only after another hour's work was the threatened destruction of the whole Morris plant, and possibly of the whole Stockyards, averted.

No sooner were the flames got under control than the fire fighters again turned to the work of recovering the dead bodies of their comrades. Digging furiously among the still smoking ruins one after another of the bodies of the victims were brought out. An accurate list of the dead was not obtainable.

The buildings totally destroyed included the beef house of Morris & Co., with loss to building and stock of $500,000; warehouse No. 6, loss to building and stock, $550,000; refrigerator storage shed, $50,000.

Americans Fight Filipinos.

Manila.—Word has reached here of a fierce engagement in the Basimian River district, Davao, between Monoto tribesmen and a detachment of the Third United States infantry. Private Holt was killed and a corporal and private, names not stated, were wounded.

$10,000 Inheritance Tax.

Chicago.—Mrs. Marshall Field must pay an inheritance tax of $10,000 upon the $1,000,000 she received as a pre-nuptial settlement from the late Marshall Field. By a decision of the Supreme Court wealth thus given is held not to be exempt from the inheritance tax.

Hundred Million for Christmas.

Washington.—What Dr. Wiley probably would describe as the "gift-bearing germ" inoculated into the people of the United States will cost this year about $90,000,000 in cash, perhaps $75,000,000 in debts, a large amount of happiness and also a large amount of economy.

Girl Babies Valuable.

Kansas City.—Girl babies are worth more than boy babies so far as supply and demand governs their value, according to R. V. Maloney, superintendent of the Kansas City office of the Children's Home Finding Society. The society, said Maloney, has in hand twenty-three boys and six girls waiting to be adopted out.

LITTLE NEW MEXICO ITEMS.

Minor Occurrences of More Than Ordinary Interest.

Frank L. Marshall, assistant in the United States bureau of animal industry, died in Santa Fe at the age of 82.

The territorial department of education has been notified that eighteen cases of smallpox are reported at Des Moines, Union county.

The New Mexico courts have been grinding at a swift gait the past few weeks and as a result there are many new faces at the penitentiary.

The formal opening of St. Vincent's new sanitarium was held in Roswell with a bazaar, a Spanish supper and music by the Military band.

Recently two professional burglars looted the safe in the store of the John Becker company at Belen, securing $700 in cash, gold watches and rings.

The J. A. Mahoney store at Deming was burned to the ground and practically the entire contents destroyed. The loss is estimated at $12,000.

One of the most disastrous fires in Albuquerque for years, caused damages of perhaps $50,000 to the building and stock of the Whitney Hardware Company.

The T. C. ranch, which is owned by Norwood Hall, on the west side of the Rio Grande, near Las Cruces, has shipped six carloads of fine fat steers to Kansas City.

W. A. Johnson was badly if not fatally injured in the territorial good roads camp on the Santa Fe trail, between Santa Fe and Las Vegas by being kicked by a mule.

At the big mass meeting of good roads boosters in Albuquerque, plans were laid for the immediate completion of the partly finished scenic highway between that city and Santa Fe.

After being in session for two weeks and one day, the District Court at Las Vegas, with the conviction of Julian Perea for sheep stealing, has a record of twenty-six convictions and one acquittal.

For the first time in many years the books of the territorial auditor, W. G. Sargent, and the territorial treasurer, M. A. Otero, balance to the cent, each showing a surplus in the treasury of $609,599.34.

In answer to a direct question, Senator Bailey of Texas, has telegraphed Gayle Talbot of Eddy county, that the boundary question between Texas and New Mexico will not delay statehood at this session.

Governor William J. Mills, Territorial Treasurer M. A. Otero and Territorial Auditor William G. Sargent are busy checking off the warrants paid by the territory during the year. The total amount is $948,739.22.

Mounted Policeman A. A. Sena and two deputy sheriffs of Las Vegas made what is believed to be an important capture when they arrested Manuel Martinez, Catarino Trujillo and Antonio Ortiz, alleged cattle thieves.

Frank W. Shearon, 34 years old, clerk of the First Judicial District Court, former postmaster of Santa Fe, and a well known politician, was found dead in his room at Santa Fe, death having been caused by heart failure.

Judge John R. McFie of Santa Fe has appointed Deputy District Clerk Edward L. Safford, son of Traveling Auditor Charles V. Safford, to be clerk of the First Judicial District, succeeding the late Frank W. Shearon.

Good real estate deals are being made right along at very satisfactory figures in Farmington. New buildings are going up and still others are planned, upon which work will begin either during the last days of this year or in the early days of next.

All records for swift justice in New Mexico have been broken in the case of W. A. Gray, who was taken to Santa Fe from Albuquerque to commence serving a life sentence for the brutal murder of his young niece, May Williamson, at Lucy, one week before.

Stock conditions in the Southwest are very much out of the ordinary at the present time. In the memory of the oldest inhabitant there never has been such an entire absence of grass as this year, says A. M. Hare of Carlsbad.

Capt. Fred Fornoff of the mounted police, after attending a mass meeting at Estancia, reported to Gov. Mills that he had made a thorough investigation of the reports of starvation in the Estancia valley and found no immediate destitution, although 200 or 300 families are in direct poverty and will need free seed to enable them to put in crops next spring.

A letter from Delegate W. H. Andrews, who is in Washington, brings the news that a special inspector is to come to investigate the Roswell-Vaughn auto mail stage, which means that Postmaster General Hitchcock is taking up the matter with dispatch. The inspector who is coming will give Roswell and the territory a square deal, Mr. Andrews states.

Every voter should see to it that his name is registered for the election on January 21st.

The Syrian New Year

ALL the Christians of New York do not observe Christmas as a time for Santa Claus. The Syrians, for instance, who live in the lower end of Manhattan Island, in Washington street, from the Battery up to Albany street, have an old custom of giving their presents on New Year's day. Then there also is a difference in the manner of giving. The Syrian children do not hang up their stockings. Neither do the parents disguise themselves as Santa Claus. On the contrary. The Syrian child invariably knows who is going to be his Santa Claus, and consequently is treated to no extraordinary surprise. There is one thing, however, of which he remains in ignorance, and that is the nature of the present he will receive.

The child picks out whoever he thinks will treat him best in case he succeeds in meeting and greeting him at the proper time on New Year's day. Then comes a long vigil for midnight, as the custom so prescribes it that the one who offers the first greeting at the beginning of the new year shall receive a fitting reward from the one greeted. A good wish for success and prosperity in the first hour of New Year's day is held by the Syrians to augur well for the following twelvemonth, and the one who first wishes good prospects is entitled to a reward. Custom prescribes that at the time of this New Year's greeting whatever the one greeted happens to hold in his hand becomes the property of the other. The one who receives the greeting is supposed to be so pleased with it that, acting upon the happy impulse of the moment, he hesitates not to requite his greeter with whatever he first can lay hold on. This latter custom originated in feudal times, when the Emir was omnipotent in his province and his followers depended for their sustenance upon his gifts and what he allowed them of the plunder of his war.

Of course you can't nowadays sur-

The Conflict of the Years

By KENNEDY SEATON

THE year is dying.
The battle bravely fought is o'er at last;
The aged warrior wounded to the death
With Time's fell arrows, silently awaits
The moment of release with laboured breath.
The issued of the long-contested fight,
Or victory, or defeat, or welcomed truce,
The unborn years shall certainly declare,
And turn each well-aimed blow to gain
and use.
The warrior, dying, curtailed by the night,
Sees not or knows the gain that is to be,
But dies in faith that right will surely win,
And o'er the world will rule eternally.

The year is dawning.
The young recruit takes up the unsheathed sword
His aged sire but just now laid aside;
And buckling on his armour, newly bright,
Easys him forth to ventures yet untried.
Alluring dreams beguile his onward steps,
And visions bright of victories to be won;
He feels upon his brow the laurel crown,
And hears afar the coveted "well done!"
No thought of failure mars the blissful dream,
No craven fear unnerves the heart of youth;
Great tasks await him, and with faith as great,
He steps into the fray, and strikes for truth!

other day and the Chinese and Japanese still another, but whenever the day falls, according to their special calendar, there is always a very important celebration of it.

The Druids, who were the priests of England before the Christian religion was taken into Great Britain, also celebrated New Year's day. They were very interesting and very strange people, these Druids, and, according to what one reads about them in history, one always imagines them as wearing beautiful white robes and having tall, magnificent figures and flowing white beards and prise any Syrian early New Year's day fooling with a costly article. He can be depended on as knowing better, for either he would have to make a gift of it to the one who first greeted him, or else he branded as a miser. Wise Syrians carry candy to hand to the children who greet them.

New Year's Day in the Long Ago

LONG years ago the people who lived in a great many different places in the world were very much interested in New Year's day, just as we are, and they did many things in honor of the day, exactly as we do. They feasted and decorated their houses and churches, and at 12 o'clock they were very particular to show in some way that they were rejoicing that another year had begun.

Not all of these people celebrated New Year's on the same day. The ancient Romans used to have their New Year's day in March; then they changed to January, and a large part of the rest of the world followed them. The Jewish people have an-hair. At any rate, they always wore white robes on New Year's day, for that was the day when they cut down the sacred mistletoe.

For the Druids didn't think that mistletoe was only a pretty green vine. They believed it to be a miraculous growth which would prevent people from being harmed by poisonous food or drink.

On that day a particularly large, handsome Druid, with glistening white beard and hair and rather cold gray eyes—Druids always had cold gray eyes we believe—and clothed most beautifully in white, would climb the oak tree on which the mistletoe grew and cut it down with a golden sickle. He wouldn't take it in his hand, because they didn't consider that respectful enough to the sacred mistletoe, which could do such wonderful things. Instead he would catch it in a pure white cloth and climb carefully down the tree with it. After this an altar would be erected and white bulls sacrificed and prayers offered. Then the Druidical community felt that for the following year they would have all the good luck possible.

You see in those days New Year's celebrations were very serious things, and all of the ceremonies attending them were religious.

The most valuable feature of success is the struggle that precedes it.

In case of pain on the lungs Hamlin Wizard Oil acts like a mustard plaster, except that it is more effective and is so much nicer and cleaner to use.

Some men are always looking for a chance to save money, and some are satisfied if they merely get it.

Kept Umbrella Thirty Years.

A faithful old umbrella which has shielded the family of Dr. James A. Mullican of Greenwood avenue from the storms of 30 years, was stolen on Sunday. During the rain on that day the physician lent the umbrella to E. A. Seck, and while the latter was in a store some one stole it.

"The umbrella belonged to my father and has been in the family for more than thirty years," said Doctor Mullican the other night. "It has been covered several times."

"To persons who are unable to keep the same umbrella for more than thirty days this may seem incredible, but it is true," concluded Doctor Mullican with a smile.—Chicago Tribune.

IN SCIENTIFIC DAYS

Marjorie—Why are we stopping here, Harold?

Harold—Ah, the anchor's caught on a wireless.

WONDERED WHY.

Found the Answer Was "Coffee."

Many pale, sickly persons wonder for years why they have to suffer so, and eventually discover that the drug—caffeine—in coffee is the main cause of the trouble.

"I was always very fond of coffee and drank it every day. I never had much flesh and often wondered why I was always so pale, thin and weak."

"About five years ago my health completely broke down and I was confined to my bed. My stomach was in such condition that I could hardly take sufficient nourishment to sustain life."

"During this time I was drinking coffee, didn't think I could do without it."

"After awhile I came to the conclusion that coffee was hurting me, and decided to give it up and try Postum. I didn't like the taste of it at first, but when it was made right—billed until dark and rich—I soon became fond of it."

"In one week I began to feel better. I could eat more and sleep better. My sick headaches were less frequent, and within five months I looked and felt like a new being, headache spells entirely gone."

"My health continued to improve and today I am well and strong, weigh 148 pounds. I attribute my present health to the life-giving qualities of Postum."

COUNTY NEWS-NOTES

NOGAL NOTES.

The dance in Nogal the night of the 23rd was greatly enjoyed by all who participated it lasted until three o'clock.

Dr. E. B. Walker of Carrizozo was called here Christmas to attend the little son of C. H. Byfield who is suffering with pneumonia.

Lin Branum wife and family are visiting Grandpa Henley this week. The new strike of gold ore in this camp was discovered by Col. J. C. Bender.

Hence Cochran and Miss Ada Daves were married December 23rd by Justice Pflugston.

The Bonito Postoffice has been discontinued.

Married at the home of the bride's parents last Friday afternoon, Mr. Hence Cochran and Miss Ada Davis. Judge Ed. Pflugston performed the nuptial ceremony that made this happy pair 'one.' The bride has been one of Nogal's social leaders and the groom is one of our most estimable and worthy young men. The entire community joins in wishing them all the good things in this life, that they so richly deserve. A dance given Friday evening at the town hall in their honor was largely attended and proved a most brilliant affair.

Mrs. Doc. Roberts of Carrizozo is visiting her sister, Mrs. Davis of the Nogal Hotel this week.

Martin May was in from his Tortolita Canon ranch Monday. He was accompanied by Mr. Clem.

Mr. Graham of the Eagle Mining Co. was in Nogal last week. He was on his way to spend Christmas with his family.

A. T. Anderson of the Eagle Mining Co. returned to Parsons last week after an extended absence.

G. E. DeNission visited at the home of Ira Robinson Saturday and was delighted with the Bonito scenery.

Mr. Owens received a telegram last week stating his son's illness and he left immediately for his home in Oklahoma.

George Ulrich of Carrizozo was on our streets last week.

ALTO ITEMS

We are glad to welcome J. W. Stewart and family among us again. They moved from Tularosa here and have bought a home.

Messrs. Will and Horace Slack left for their home at Holloway last week to spend Xmas with their folk.

The entertainment given by the White Mountain Literary Society last Saturday evening certainly was a credit to the community. The Negro play managed by Will Slack was 'immense' and kept the audience in an uproar from beginning to end.

The Debate 'Resolved: that the constitution of New Mexico as now framed should be accepted,' with C. B. Lane, as champion of the affirmative and A. J. Gilmore as champion Negative with their corps of able assistants was ably discussed, the Judges decided in favor of the negative.

Mrs. Bettie Jones was in Capitan shopping Saturday.

There was an Xmas tree and entertainment at the Alto School house beginning at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

SAVED AT DEATHS DOOR

The door of death seemed ready to open for Murray W. Ayers, of Transit Bridge N. Y., when his life was wonderfully saved. "I was in a dreadful condition," he writes, "my skin was almost yellow; eyes sunken; tongue coated; emaciated from losing 40 pounds, growing weaker daily. Virulent liver trouble pulling me down to death in spite of doctors. Then that matchless medicine—Electric Bitters—cured me. I regained the 40 pounds lost and now am well and strong." For all stomach, liver and kidney troubles they are supreme. 50c at all druggists.

STENOGRAPHER AND TYPEWRITER EXAMINATION

JANUARY 24, 1911

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an open competitive examination for the grade of stenographer and typewriter to be held on January 24, 1911, at the following named places in the Twelfth Civil Service District: San Francisco, Cal. Grand Junction Colo. Los Angeles, Cal. Denver, Colo. San Bernardino, Cal. Albuquerque, N. M. Phoenix, Ariz. Montrose, Colo. Salt Lake City, Utah.

Both male and female applicants will be admitted. As a result of this examination it is expected to create lists of eligibles for appointment to vacancies in the position of stenographer and typewriter in all branches of the federal service in the Twelfth Civil Service District. Male applicants may also be examined for the Departmental, Isthmian Canal and Philippine services.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained from the District Secretary, Postoffice Building, San Francisco, or from the Secretary of the local board of Examiners at any of the other places of examination above indicated. Applications should be filed with the Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. at least ten days before the date of the examination.

A WILD BLIZZARD RAGING

brings danger, suffering—often death to thousands, who take colds, coughs and lagrippe—that terror of Winter and Spring. Its danger signals are "stuffed up" nostrils, lower part of nose sore, chills and fever, pain in back of head, and a throat-gripping cough. When Grip attacks, as you value your life, don't delay getting Dr. King's New Discovery. "One bottle cured me," writes A. L. Dunn, of Pine Valley, Miss., "after being 'laid up' three weeks with Grip." For sore lungs, Hemorrhages, Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, its supreme, 50c. $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists.

THE BANE OF MARRIAGE.

"She is broken hearted."
"But why should she be, isn't she just married?"

"It's not unhappiness with her husband, but on account of the newspaper notice of the wedding."

"Was there something complimentary said?"

"Not intentionally perhaps, but the item printed was to have read: 'The groom married a pretty miss.' When the article appeared the second letter in miss was an 'e.'"

WAS ANXIOUS TO KNOW.

"What sort of a girl is your new sweetheart?"

"The finest you ever saw."

"Be a little more specific. A comb which was once the finest I ever saw had a lot of long teeth. Does that apply to the girl?"

THE REASON.

"I am tired of being made the goat."

"Then why don't you stop butting in?"

FOR OTHERS' SAKE.

"Ought to have gone with me last night—there was a fancy cake-walk of blondes, 10 of the cutest bacchantes, a lot of living pictures and—"

"Great! What theater?"

"Theater? It was the society entertainment for the benefit of the Little Orphans' home."—Puck.

FOR THE PUBLIC GOOD

One hears a good deal about the power of the press, but the fact is that no newspaper has very much real power over men or events in these days unless it is known to be standing sanely and steadfastly for the welfare of the whole community and nation. The day of party organs is past. Sensational papers appealing to popular passions cannot move thoughtful men—the men who make history. The only kind of newspaper that really has tremendous power in these days is the independent, reliable, disinterested journal of wide circulation, whose columns are known to stand always for the general good—for public honesty and a square deal, whatever happens. An excellent example of this sort of journalism is THE CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD. It has the enormous circulation that deservedly goes with the printing of all the news, but its power lies in its wise, conservative, independent editorial policy, which is shaped with one sole end in view—the public good. Its news and critical columns show the same spirit. It is an ideal paper for the home.

WESTERN.

Andrew Russell, a wealthy stock raiser and farmer residing two miles south of Guthrie, Okla., was shot and killed at his home.

Hookworm has been discovered among Chinese, Hindoo and other immigrants from the Far East arriving on the Pacific coast.

I. S. Hassebrook, 77 years old, fell dead on the sidewalk in Wichita, Kan., just after giving his daughter $500 as a Christmas gift.

H. R. Williams, proprietor of the Ivywild kennels in East Manitou, Colo., is the proud possessor of three Airdale terrier puppies which were born with bob tails.

William Green, reform mayor of Topeka, must pay $5,500 for promising to marry Miss Selina Dalrymple, his niece, and then refusing to keep his contract. That is the verdict reached by the jury which heard the case.

Justus L. Broderick, formerly a banker of Indianapolis, can eat his Christmas dinner at home, having been released from the federal prison at Leavenworth after serving a sentence of ten years for violation of the national banking laws.

William Howard Sheeks, whose proudest boast was that he had never told a lie or quarreled with his wife, and who had celebrated more wedding anniversaries than any man in Missouri, died at his home near Kirksville, at the age of 89.

GENERAL.

John B. Moissant went to a height of 9,364 feet, if his barometer read true, at Memphis, Tenn. In the United States Armstrong Drexel and Ralph Johnstone alone eclipsed this distance, which is within 1,135 feet of the present world's record.

More than a score of lives were snuffed out as the result of a fire which destroyed a leather goods factory in Philadelphia and as many more were injured, many of them fatally. While the firemen were fighting the flames from the roofs of adjoining dwellings the south wall of the factory collapsed, burying nearly two score of firemen. As soon as the extent of the calamity became known, policemen were hurried to the scene in an effort to save those who were still alive in the debris, by tearing down the north wall, which was tottering. This wall collapsed, killing eleven policemen.

Attorney General O'Malley of the State of New York, received a communication from Milton Bucky of New York City, a lawyer, asking him to begin suit to cancel the certificate of the Knights of Pythias' conduct of life insurance business in that state and appointing a receiver for property in the state. Bucky is acting for Thomas Baber, of Brooklyn, who alleges the information furnished by the Supreme Lodge of the order shows the present carrying of insurance of the fourth class amounting to $20,667,500, with only cash on hand of $615,568. The attorney general has taken the matter under advisement.

FOREIGN.

Helene Dutrien, Frenchwoman, leads the woman aviators of the world. Record, 103 miles in two hours.

In spite of what is considered a practically prohibitive poll tax there is a constantly increasing stream of Chinese coming to Canada. In a little over half of the fiscal year more than 3,000 Chinamen have arrived.

Two hundred and fifty coal miners are missing after an explosion and fire that wrecked the Pretoria mine of the Hulton Company near Leigh, twenty-five miles northeast of Liverpool. The cause of the explosion is unknown. Approximately 300 men were in the mine when the explosion occurred and were entombed.

News of another engagement between federal troops and revolutionists in Mexico was given in a telegram from Enrique Creel, Mexican minister of foreign relations, received by Senor de la Barra, the Mexican ambassador in Washington. "General Navarro's troops," reads the telegram, "have defeated the revolutionists in the district of Guerrero at a point called Padernales. What remains of the rebels are being steadily pursued. All the rest of the republic is in a complete state of peace."

SPORT.

Carl Morris of Sapulpa, Okla., heralded as the "white man's hope," knocked out Marvin Hart of Kentucky, former heavy weight champion of the world, in the third round in Sapulpa.

Fighting the last seven rounds of a twelve-round bout with a broken hand, Hugo Kelly made a whirlwind finish in Chicago and secured the decision over Frank Klaus of Pittsburg.

Out-generated and out-fought, but not out-gamed, Young Erlenborn of Denver made a gallant fight against Kid Ross of New York before the Cheyenne, Wyo., Athletic club before he was counted out in the eleventh round, just as his seconds jumped into the ring to save him.

WASHINGTON.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew of New York is ill in Washington.

American troops are in readiness to be rushed to Cuba to maintain peace and protect American and other foreign interests.

The circuit judgeship made vacant by the promotion of Judge Van Devanter of Wyoming to the Supreme Court of the United States will be filled, it is said, by the promotion of one of the district judges of the Eighth circuit.

Postmaster General Hitchcock says everything will be in readiness for the postal savings banks to receive deposits January 3rd, the first working day of the new year. The task of drawing up regulations, forms and instructions has progressed so far as to assure the beginning of operations. One experimental office will be opened in each state and territory to make the first test of the service as thorough as possible under the limited appropriation. The offices designated are all of the second class and in localities where conditions are exceptionally favorable for the development of a postal savings business.

Dr. Charles P. Grandfield, first assistant postmaster general, in his annual report shows that the number of postoffices in operation June 30, 1910, was 59,580. The gross revenue of the postal service during the fiscal year was $224,128,657.62, an increase of $20,566,247.55. The expenditure aggregated $229,977,224.50, an increase of $8,973,121.01. The deficit was $5,848,566.88, as compared with $17,441,719.82 for the preceding year. Although the business of the postal service increased during the year more than 10 per cent, the expenditures decreased show an average of 8.06 per cent for each of the ten years preceding to 4.06 per cent in 1910.

When It Was Rougher.

Paul Withington, the Harvard coach, was praising the milder football of 1910.

"Football in the '90s was a terrible game," said Mr. Withington. "Bourget, you know, devoted a whole chapter of 'Otre Mer' to its horrors. Some of the stories of the football of '90 or '91 are, in fact, almost incredible."

"A Philadelphia sporting editor returned one November Saturday from West Philadelphia with a pale, frightened face.

"Many accidents at the game?" a police reporter asked him.

"One frightful accident," replied the sporting editor. "A powerful mule from a neighboring coal dealer's entered the field, blundered into one of the hottest scrimmages and got killed."

A BOOK FOR SPORTSMEN.

Every one interested in hunting should write for copy of 1910 Game Laws which contains 120 pages telling where the various kinds of game abound, when the seasons open and close, and what laws govern the hunting and game in each state. The Way of Life. It is being said of an elderly man in business in Atchison: "He can't stand punishment as he formerly could." And there is punishment to be endured in making a living; don't forget it. Look over your own experience, and you will detect punishment every hour of the day. If it isn't at home, it is on the street car or on the road. How many ways there are to punish a man who tries his best to get along and behave himself. And after a man gets old it is more evident every year that the poor fellow can't stand punishment as he could when he was younger.—Atchison Globe.

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Needles and pins,
When a man marries
His trouble begins.

CHAPTER I.

At Least I Meant Well.

When the dreadful thing occurred that night, every one turned on me. The injustice of it hurt me most. They said I got up the dinner, that I asked them to give up other engagements and come, that I promised all kinds of jollification, if they would come; and then when they did come and got in the papers, and every one—but ourselves—laughed himself black in the face, they turned on me! I, who suffered ten times to their one! I shall never forget what Dallas Brown said to me, standing with a coal shovel in one hand and a—well, perhaps it would be better to tell it all in the order it happened.

It began with Jimmy Wilson and a conspiracy, was helped on by a foot-square piece of yellow paper and a Japanese butler, and it enmeshed and mixed up generally ten respectable members of society and a policeman. Incidentally, it developed a pearl collar and a box of soap, which sounds incongruous, doesn't it?

It is a great misfortune to be stout, especially for a man. Jim was round and looked shorter than he really was, and as all the lines of his face, or what should have been lines, were really dimples, his face was about as flexible and full of expression as a pillow in a tight cover. The angrier he got the funnier he looked, and when he was raging, and his neck swelled up over his collar and got red, he was entrancing. And everybody liked him, and borrowed money from him, and laughed at his pictures (he has one in the Hargrave gallery in London now, so people buy them instead), and smoked his cigarettes, and tried to steal his Jap. The whole story hinges on the Jap.

The trouble was, I think, that no one took Jim seriously. His ambition in life was to be taken seriously, but people steadily refused to. His art was a huge joke—except to himself. If he asked people to dinner, every one expected a frolic. When he married Bella Knowles, people chuckled at the wedding, and considered it the wildest prank of Jimmy's career, although Jim himself seemed to take it awfully hard.

We had all known them both for years. I went to Farmington with Bella, and Anne Brown was her matron of honor when she married Jim. My first winter out, Jimmy had paid me a lot of attention. He painted my portrait in oils and had a studio tea to exhibit it. It was a very nice picture, but it did not look like me, so I stayed from the exhibition. Jim asked me to. He said he was not a photographer, and that anyhow the rest of my features called for the nose he had given me, and that all the Greuze women have long necks. I have not.

After I had refused Jim twice he met Bella at a camp in the Adirondacks and when he came back he came at once to see me. He seemed to think I would be sorry to lose him, and he blundered over the telling for 20 minutes. Of course, no woman likes to lose a lover, no matter what she may say about it, but Jim had been getting on my nerves for some time, and I was much calmer than he expected me to be.

"If you mean," I said finally in desperation, "that you and Bella are in love, why don't you say so, Jim? I think you will find that I stand it wonderfully."

He brightened perceptibly. "I didn't know how you would take it, Kit," he said, "and I hope we will always be bully friends. You are absolutely sure you don't care a whoop for me?"

"Absolutely," I replied, and we shook hands on it. Then he began about Bella; it was very tiresome.

Bella is a nice girl, but I had roomed with her at school, and I was under no illusions. When Jim raved about Bella and her banjo, and Bella and her guitar, I had painful moments when I recalled Bella learning her two songs on each instrument, and the old English ballad she had learned to play on the harp. When he said she was too good for him, I never batted an eye. And I shook hands solemnly across the tea table again, and wished him happiness—which was sincere enough, but hopeless—and said we had only been playing a game, but that it was time to stop playing. Jim kissed my hand, and it was really very touching.

We had been the best of friends ever since. Two days before the wedding he came around from his tailor's, and we burned all his letters to me,

He would read one and say: "Here's a crackerjack, Kit," and pass it to me. And after I had read it we would lay it on the firelog, and Jim would say, "I am not worthy of her, Kit. I wonder if I can make her happy?" Or—"Did you know that the duke of Belford proposed to her in London last winter?"

Of course, one has to take the woman's word about a thing like that, but the duke of Belford had been mad about Maude Richard all that winter.

You can see that the burning of the letters, which was meant to be reminiscently sentimental, a sort of how-silly-we-were-it-is-all-over-now occasion, became actually a two hours' eulogy of Bella. And just when I was bored to death, the Mercer girls dropped in and heard Jim begin to read one commencing "dearest Kit." And the next day after the rehearsal dinner, they told Bella!

There was very nearly no wedding at all. Bella came to see me in a frenzy the next morning and threw Jim and his two hundred odd pounds in my face, and although I explained it all over and over, she never quite forgave me. That was what made it so hard later—the situation would have been bad enough without that complication.

They went abroad on their wedding journey, and stayed several months. And when Jim came back he was fatpendix, and that the one they showed her in a glass jar was not hers! But if Bella ever suspected, she didn't say. Whether the appendix was anonymous or not, she got box after box of flowers that were, and of course every one knew that it was Jim who sent them.

To go back to the anniversary: I went to Rothberg's to see the collection of antique furniture—mother was looking for a sideboard for father's birthday in March—and I met Jimmy there, boring into a worm-hole in a seventeenth century bedpost with the end of a match, and looking his nearest to sad. When he saw me he came over.

"I'm blue today, Kit," he said, after we had shaken hands. "Come and help me dig bait, and then let's go fishing. If there's a worm in every hole in that bedpost, we could go into the fish business. It's good business."

"Better than painting?" I asked. But he ignored my gibe and swelled up alarmingly in order to sigh.

"This is the worst day of the year for me," he affirmed, staring straight ahead, "and the longest. Look at that crazy clock over there. If you want to see your life passing away, if you want to see the steps by which you are marching to eternity, watch that clock marking the time. Look at that infernal hand staying quiet for 60 seconds and then jumping forward to catch up the procession. Ugh!"

"See here, Jim," I said, leaning forward, "you're not well. You can't go through the rest of the day like this. I know what you'll do: You'll go home to play Grieg on the piano, and you won't eat any dinner." He looked guilty.

"Not Grieg," he protested feebly. "Beethoven."

"You're not going to do either," I said with firmness. "You are going right home to unpack those new draperies that Harry Bayless sent you from Shanghai, and you are going to order dinner for eight—that will be was mad on the face of it. During the entire time they never once let me forget that I got up the dinner, that I telephoned around for them. They asked me why I couldn't cook—when not one of them knew one side of a range from the other. And for Anne Brown to talk the way she did—saying I had always been crazy about Jim, and that she believed I had known all along that his aunt was coming—for Anne to talk like that was sheer idiocy. Yes, there was an aunt. The Japanese butler started the trouble, and Aunt Selina carried it along.

CHAPTER II.

The Way It Began.

It makes me angry every time I think how I tried to make that dinner a success. I canceled a theater engagement, and I took the Mercer girls in the electric brougham father had given me for Christmas. Their chauffeur had been gone for hours with their machine, and they had telephoned all the police stations without success. They were afraid that there had been an awful smash; they could easily have replaced Bartlett, as Lolle said, but it takes so long to get new parts for those foreign cars.

Jim had a house well uptown, and it stood just enough apart from the other houses to be entirely maddening later. It was a three-story affair, with a basement kitchen and servants' dining room. Then, of course, there were cellars, as we found out afterward. On the first floor there was a large square hall, a formal reception room, behind it a big living room that was also a library, then a den, and back of all a Georgian dining room, with windows high above the ground. On the top floor Jim had a studio, like every other one I ever saw—perhaps a little mossier. Jim was really a grind at his painting, and there were cigarette ashes and palette knives and buffalo rugs and shields everywhere. It is strange, but when I think of that terrible house, I always see the halls, enormous, covered with heavy rugs, and stairs that would have taken six housemaids to keep in proper condition. I dream about those stairs, stretching above me in a Jacob's ladder of shining wood and Persian carpets, going up, up, clear to the roof.

The Dallas Browns walked; they lived in the next block. And they brought with them a man named Harbison, that no one knew. Anne said he would be great sport, because he was terribly serious, and had the most exaggerated ideas of society, and loathed extravagance, and built bridges or something. She had put away her cigarettes since he had been with them—he and Dallas had been college friends—and the only chance she had to smoke was when she was getting her hair done. And she had singed off quite a lot—a burnt offering, she called it.

FIRST BALLOONS MARVELS

They Turned Attention From the Idea of Flying Across the English Channel.

Experimental physics was then (1785) quite the mode, and all classes were hurried along by the prevailing taste. The Duc d'Orleans forgot his amours and his stud, his fashions and his schemes of reform, to dabble in it. The Marquis d'Arlandes stole a few hours from court to pursue a series of experiments which cost him his life.

The brothers Montgolfier, whose business it was to make paper, had found time in the press of business to devote to physics, had thought much on the ascent of vapors and the formation of clouds, and soon delighted the little town of Annonay with the spectacle of the first balloon. But a party of amateurs in Paris, not to be outdone by Montgolfier, constructed an oil-silk bag, filled it with inflammable air of one-tenth the weight of atmospheric air, and, in the midst of a great storm, launched it from the Champ de Mars. It speedily rose above the clouds and came down four miles beyond the city. The marvelous art, it was said, of making bodies traverse through space, was now discovered. Dreams of wings with which men were to fly from Calais to Dover gave way to dreams of balloons in which men were to navigate the globe. The Golden Age was believed to be close at hand.—McMaster's History of the People of the United States.

An Even Break.

Madge—But, Billy, the idea of three coaches to each man to put him in condition for the big game! Why, it's absurd!

Billy—Not any more so than three dressmakers, two maids, a hair dresser, and half a hundred female relatives putting you in shape for commencement.—Puck.

Something to Remember.

"Look at That Infernal Hand."

ter than every. Everybody noticed it. Bella had a gymnasium fitted up in a corner of the studio, but he would not use it. He smoked a pipe and painted all day, and drank beer and would eat starches or whatever it is that is fattening. But he adored Bella, and he was madly jealous of her. At dinners he used to glare at the man who took her in, although it did not make him thin. Bella was flirting, too, and by the time they had been married a year, people hitched their chairs together and dropped their voices when they were mentioned.

Well, on the anniversary of the day Bella left him—oh, yes, she left him finally. She was intense enough about some things, and she said it got on her nerves to have everybody chuckle when they asked for her husband. They would say, "Hello, Bella! How's Bubbles? Still banting?" And Bella would try to laugh and say, "He swears his tailor says his waist is smaller, but if it is he must be growing hollow in the back." But she got tired of it at last. Well, on the second anniversary of Bella's departure, Jimmy was feeling pretty glum, and as I say, I am very fond of Jim. The divorce had just gone through and Bella had taken her maiden name again and had had an operation for appendicitis. We heard afterward that they didn't find an ap-

He did not seem enthusiastic, but he rose and picked up his hat, and stood looking down at me where I sat on an old horse-hair covered sofa.

"I wish to thunder I had married you!" he said savagely. "You're the finest girl I know, Kit, without exception, and you are going to throw yourself away on Jack Manning, or Max, or some other—"

"Nothing of the sort," I said coldly, "and the fact that you didn't marry me does not give you the privilege of abusing my friends. Anyhow, I don't like you when you speak like that."

Jim took me to the door and stopped there to sigh.

"I haven't been well," he said, heavily. "Don't eat, don't sleep. Wouldn't you think I'd lose flesh? Kit"—he lowered his voice solemnly—"I have gained two pounds!"

I said he didn't look it, which appeared to comfort him somewhat, and because we were old friends, I asked him where Bella was. He said he thought she was in Europe, and that he had heard she was going to marry Reggie Wolfe. Then he sighed again, muttered something about ordering the funeral baked meats to be prepared and left me.

That was my entire share in the affair. I was the victim, both of circumstances and of their plot, which

JICARILLA HAPPENINGS.

Christmas has come and gone for the year 1910 and we must say it was a very pleasant Xmas in this place. The Bachelors gave a dinner at Geo. Thompkins and they had a jolly good time.
Jas. Cooper and wife took in the tree and dance at White Oaks Christmas eve.
There are quite a number of newcomers to camp most of them are occupied with plating.
A. H. Hayes of Texas is spending the winter in camp with his family.
Joe Ross has been a visitor to camp from the Estancia valley looking over his claims
The statehood question is beginning to loom up here to a great extent; the voters here seems to think that one reason is enough to vote against the instrument, viz. "they sent delegates to Santa Fe instructed for the Initiative and Referendum and the delegates failed utterly to keep that pledge so they think that the delegates had better go back and see if they can keep that much of their pledge, leaving, if necessary the other twelve objections to the future amendment by the people at large. It is very true one cannot suit everyone but the majority can be suited or as in the county seat case the Minority can tie up the majority if they cannot have their say.
A. H. Norton and wife, E. E. Willson and wife spent Xmas eve in White Oaks.
John Dale and family spent Christmas at Ancho with the family of S. Frambough.
Ted Reasoner and Al Watkins are spending Christmas week in camp resting up for the New Year.
