AN UNKNOWN LAND.
 A Section of the United States Never Trodden by White Men.

Washington has her great unknown land like the interior of Africa, says the Seattle Press. The country shut in by the Olympic mountains, which includes an area of about 2,500 miles square, has never, to the positive knowledge of old residents of the territory, been trodden by the foot of man, white or Indian. These mountains rise from the level country within ten to fifteen miles of the straits of San Juan de Fuca in the north, the Pacific ocean in the west, Hood's canal in the east, and the basin of Quinault lake in the south, and rising to the height of 6,000 to 8,000 feet, shut in a vast unexplored area.

The Indians have never penetrated it, for their traditions say that it is inhabited by a very fierce tribe which none of the coast tribes dared molest. Though it is improbable that such a tribe could have existed in the mountain country without their presence becoming known to the white men, no man has ever ascertained that it did not exist. White men, too, have only vague accounts of any white man having ever passed through this country, for investigation of all the claims of travelers has invariably proved that they have only traversed its outer edge.

The most generally accepted theory in regard to this country is that it consists of great valleys stretching from the inward slopes of the mountains to a great central basin. This theory is supported by the fact that, although the country aound has abundant rain, and clouds hang over the mountain tops, all the streams flowing towards the four points of the compass are insignificant, and rise only on the outward slope of the range, none appearing to drain the great area shut in by the mountains.—This fact appears to support the theory that the streams flowing from the inner slopes of the mountains feed a great interior lake. But what drains this lake? It must have an outlet somewhere, and as all streams pouring from the mountains rise on their outward slope, it must have a subterraneous outlet into the ocean, the straits, or the sound. There are great discoveries in store for some of Washington's explorers.

A gentleman named Drew, now residing at Olympia, states that he has climbed to the summit of the eastern range from Hood's canal, and looking down could see great valleys stretching down toward the west. A party of railroad prospectors claim to have penetrated the interior, but could give no account of it, and appear only to have skirted the outer slopes ten or fifteen miles from Hood's canal. A party of United States soldiers are said to have traversed the country from Port Townsend, but no data is obtainable as to what they saw.

Numerous attempts have been made to organize exploring parties, but they have invariably fallen through, the courage of the projectors oozing out at the last moment. There is a fine opportunity for some of the hardy citizens of the sound to acquire fame by unveiling the mystery which wraps the land encircled by the snow capped Olympic range.

The Doom Seals.
 San Francisco, April, 25.—The earthquake shocks yesterday morning caused the greatest excitement among the sealers in this city and Oakland. In East Oakland whole families rushed from their homes in their night robes, shouting prayers and ran toward high ground. A number of women faint. Tillie Jensen, a Swedish girl, broke her leg in jumping from a second story window. It is not improbable that the little earthquake will start the whole excitement over the prophecies again. A number of persons are reported to be leaving their homes, and the number of passengers on outgoing trains is considerable greater than usual. John Paillipson announced this morning he had had a revelation in regard to the prophecy. Yesterday morning's shock he said was merely the first signal of the upheaval that is sure to come. He says God will not reveal the time for the destruction of the cities, and the only way to escape is to leave San Francisco and Oakland and never return.

That which we are we shall teach, not voluntarily, but involuntarily.—Emerson.

GENERAL NEWS.

From Various Sources.

The Louisiana Floods.

Baton Rouge, La., April 25.—Both ends of the Martinez crevasse below this place has been made secure and a determined effort will be made to close them. Water is rapidly filling the country to the rear and made its appearance in Shannon's canal this morning. The north bound Mississippi valley train due here at noon yesterday, reached here at five o'clock last night. The chances are that the tracks of the road will be submerged by the break at Lobnell's. The old parish levee, as it is called, 18 miles above here on the west Baton Rouge side, is 800 feet wide and the people of Grossett and West Baton Rouge are leaving as fast as possible and bringing their stock and cattle over to the hills for safety. Only the hills and high places will escape the overflow. The Texas & Pacific Steamer, Wheeler that has been doing relief work around Morgansea, has arrived. Her commander, Capt. Scoville says: "We went as high as the mouth of Red River in search of all that needed assistance and brought down some people and stock. The steamer Henry Marks proceeded to Atchafalaya to see if any assistance was needed there. So far as I can see there is no need of any further relief. The people refuse to leave their homes. So far there has been no loss of life reported and the damage thus far in the overflowed sections at and in the vicinity of Morgansea, have been confined exclusively almost to crops in the field.

The British museum possesses a collection of old Greek advertisements printed on leaden plates. The Egyptians were great advertisers. Papyrus leaves more than three thousand years old have been found at Thebes, describing runaway slaves, and offering a reward for their capture; and at Pompeii ancient advertisements have been deciphered on the walls.

The World's fair managers in Chicago have decided to try to obtain enough new subscriptions to raise the total to $10,000,000. That is the right way to grapple with the great task before them, and every American, who is not too thoroughly blinded by local jealousy to be patriotic, must wish them the fullest measure of success.—Optic.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Territorial Fair association the date of the next exhibition was fixed for September 15th and to continue six days. The premium list will be issued in a few weeks, and a splendid program of amusements arranged. The next Territorial Fair will be a splendid exposition of the resources of New Mexico.

Deming, April 28.—Active work of tracklaying on the Deming & Sierra Madre railroad is being pushed as fast as possible with the teams at hand and more men and teams can find employment on the road. The road leads south into and through Mexico, terminating at Topolabampa, on the Pacific coast. It passes through the rich mining region of the Sierra Madres, touching Chihuahua and other important points in the northern part of the republic.

The name of Folsom has been changed to Folsom Springs. The change is a good one and quite appropriate for a health resort.

The Cerrillos mining company just placed in position at the Cash Entry mine, near that place, three eighty-horse power boilers and engines for hoisting and pumping purposes.

Silver Dollar Bland has offered in the house the following resolution which was referred to the committee on ways and means:

Resolved, That the ways and means committee be and they are hereby instructed to immediately report the bill reducing by one-half all tariff duties and putting all necessaries of life on the free list. That to make up any deficiency in the requirements of the revenue income, a tax be laid on all annual incomes exceeding $1,000.

The Retirement of General Fremont.

Washington, April 23.—The President to-day sent to the senate the nomination of John C. Fremont to be a general of the United States army on the retired list.

If the newspapers of this city would charge a nominal price for all locals and pay their way to church entertainments, perhaps the press of Albuquerque would be more appreciated. They would then not be looked upon as "dead beats." It costs about one cent per line to set the type and get it in form ready for the press. But if a newspaper asks $10 worth of tickets for 1,000 lines of local the paper man "wants too much," and is considered "a swine for asking complimentaries" as they term it.—Democrat.

The growing of tobacco at the agricultural college of Colorado has been shown to be a success. It can be raised in the centennial state at large profit. There is no reason why it may not be raised at greater profit in New Mexico. Every indication is that it would be one of the most paying crops which could be planted in this territory, and our agriculturalists would do well to turn their attention in this direction. ## FARM LABOR.

Kansas City Star.

The farmers of this country must entertain a good deal of bitterness when they look at the spreading strike among the artisans of the cities, who demand at one and the same time a decrease in the hours of labor and an increase in their pay.

The farmers make no complaint about the amount of labor their calling exacts. They work early and they work late. They toil under the burning sun of summer to gather their crops, and they brave the storms of winter to take care of their stock. They rise by candle light in the morning to begin their day's work, and their "chores" are not finished till long after the sun has gone down in the evening. They work ten, twelve, fourteen, sixteen hours a day according to the season and the exigencies of their farms, and they never dream of "striking" for shorter hours.

"The laborer is worthy of his hire." But congress in this country has interposed an artificial obstacle in the way of remunerating the farmer's long and hard work. It has shut off the markets for the products of his labor and it has depreciated the purchasing value of the money he earns by imposing a bounty upon pretty much everything he is compelled to buy.

The time may come when the farmers will organize a strike. But it will not be a strike for shorter hours. It will not take the form of a suspension of work. They will strike at a false political and economical system which omits all consideration for the welfare of considerably more than one-half of the hard working population of this country. They will strike at the politicians who seek to maintain party power and personal prestige by pandering to monopolies.

No aggregated labor element in this country has the power which farm labor can wield if it shall ever organize toward a common purpose, and when the farmers' strike shall come it will be successful.

From The Engineering &amp; Min. Journal.

The ENGINEERING AND MINING JOURNAL takes no part whatever in party economic policies and their effects on the prosperity of nations, has given us a better opportunity than most of our readers possess to weigh justly, politics; but our long experience in studying and recording the operation of as we do without prejudice and dispassionately, the bearing of these economic policies upon the development of our industries and the welfare of our people. We are not advocates of free trade. The burdens imposed upon us by the war and by the extravagance of our Congress necessitates a heavy taxation of our people—not to their benefit, but to their injury—and until it is found that this extravagance is due to an intention to unduly benefit favored individuals through exorbitant tariffs, the imposition of a duty on foreign manufactures that would without such duty prevent the production of similar articles here, is, no doubt, the best way of providing the necessary money. When gross and unjustifiable extravagance in public expenditures is adopted as a policy, with similar objects, then the people cannot be kept long in ignorance of the fact in a free country, and a change of policy ensues. Such a change may be sudden, and would then necessarily be very injurious to existing industries which had not the opportunity to adapt themselves to the new conditions. The enormous taxation our people have to pay is a real and very pressing drawback to the development of our industries, and an unnecessary burden on our people, which should be reduced and not increased. Many of our manufacturing industries have arrived at a stage of development where their capacity to produce exceeds our home consumption, and foreign markets can only be opened by enabling us to produce cheaper by reducing these taxes, and with them the cost of raw materials entering into the manufacture. In the interest of the development of American industries and of the prosperity of our people, the ENGINEERING AND MINING JOURNAL advocates economy in the administration of our Government, a reduction of taxation, the free entry of raw materials for manufacturing here, and a gradual reduction in the protective tariff on the products of old and well established industries. It is certainly supreme folly to close our eyes to the storm that is brewing and that already shows clearly above the horizon, and that, unless greater moderation in the demands for protection be very promptly shown, will gather such force that it will sweep away suddenly even the moderate protection which is absolutely necessary to the very existence of some young industries and to the growth of others.

Very few highly protected factories run on full time except in very prosperous seasons. The output has no market to speak of except at home, and the plan can nearly twice oversupply the home market. To keep up the prices the factories close and limit production. The Profits are thus kept up while wages stop. Therefore the final effect of excessive production is to lower the wage rate by overstocking the labor market when business is dull. When the tariff strikes into raw materials as the pending McKinley bill does in the instances of hides, iron ores, coal, smelting ores and wool, the factory capacity is limited still further and the employment of labor lessened. A protective system which gives a monopoly of the home market to industries which promise to be naturally profitable but which need support for a short time in order to become remunerative may be proper. Whether it is or not is no longer debated, for we have passed the infant industry period in most things. But a home market which grants a monopoly to industries unable or unwilling to compete with importations is an expensive luxury and not less expensive to American factory labor than to agriculture. The vast sacrifice of wealth agriculture has been compelled to make under the war tariff has not helped labor. It has helped the corporation employers of labor to control the home market and to oppress the American laborer. Without a tariff nearly the entire bulk of American manufactures would be employing more labor and consuming more agricultural products. A few trusts and associations would exhibit less wealth, but the trade, agriculture, shipping, and manufactures of the Nation would be greater in volume, more steadily prosperous, and more productive in general wealth. The home market is very deceptive. When the Western farmer gets close to it he sees that a 47 per cent protection home market is something less than he could count upon if the home market followed its natural course.—Kansas City Times.

The recent deaths of Browning and Andrassy remind us how many of the most distinguished men now living have passed the scriptural line of threescore and ten. Thus, Von Moltke was born in 1800, and Bismark in 1815. Kossuth is in his eighty eighth year. Leo XIII. is but some months this side of eighty, and his arch enemy, the Italian Prime Minister Crispi, is not much younger. The Spanish Prime Minister Tagasta is also a veteran. Marshal Macmahon was born in 1818, and Jules Simon, (who was one of the French delegates to the recent labor conference in Berlin) in 1814. Gladstone and Tennyson were both born in 1809, Cardinal Manning in 1808, Cardinal Newman in 1801. John Ruskin is in his seventy first year. James Russell Lowell is almost precisely the same age. John Greenleaf

Whittier was born in 1807, and George Bancroft, the most distinguished American historian, in 1800.

There is scarcely one of those men of whom it is not felt that the place which he must soon leave vacant cannot easily be filled. Especially is this true of Bismark and Gladstone, of Tennyson, Ruskin, Whittier and Lowell. It is, when we think of it, remarkable that men, whose lives have, each in its special field of activity, been so busy and so fruitful, should have lived so long.—N. Y. Ledger.

The acreage devoted to farming in New Mexico will be largely increased during the coming year. The big ditch systems have opened to cultivation thousands of acres, a large part of which will be sown this spring. Fancy prices prevailing for hay and grain offer an incentive for the growing of such products and the day is not far distant when the absurd custom of sending to Kansas for everything will be at an end. With home production of forage and grain the foundation of future prosperity will be laid. Let us stop the sending of a million dollars a year to Kansas for corn and hay. When the great evil is done away with we can turn our attention to lesser evils, such as the importation of butter, eggs and similar produce.

LOCAL PICKINGS.

Joe Spence of Pinos Wells has gone to Kentucky on a visit.

A long interview with the reporter of the Albuquerque Democrat and H. B. Fergusson relative to White Oaks Coal and R. R. was interesting reading in Wednesday's daily.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Wells received intelligence last Sunday evening, that Mr. Wells' father was dangerously ill. They left for the railroad on Monday.

BASE BALL.

To Col. Heman, M. Murphy and the other fat men, in and around White Oaks.

Gentlemen, you are hereby challenged by the lean men of White Oaks, to play them a match game of base ball on the White Oaks base ball ground, at such time as may be mutually agreed upon.

T. W. CORRY.

In behalf of the Leans.

The election of officers of the I. O. G. T. will take place at their regular meeting, at Castle Hall on Saturday, eve. the 2nd inst, (to morrow) all members are requested to be present. Cake and Coffee and other good things will be the order of entertainment.

Rev. J. D. Scoggins, preacher in charge of Mexican Methodists of Lincoln county, will preach at the Methodist Church Sunday evening, 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Scoggins was six years a missionary to old Mexico, where he was very successful in winning souls for the Master, and in planting well the great pioneer church among the heathen of that land.

Quarter Master Sergeant Harvey and lady came in from Ft. Stanton Saturday last. They attended divine service at the Congregational Church on Sabbath morning, and returned to Ft. Stanton in the afternoon. They were guests of the Carrizo Hotel during their visit.

Atty. H. B. Fergusson, passed through, returning home from Lincoln, where he had been attending court, on Sunday last, Mr. Fergusson had received a dispatch informing him of the illness of his little girl, hence his haste.

Ray and Gaylord have moved the 15 stamp mill, which was in Nogal cañon, over to Dry Gulch, on the American mine. They are now running five stamps, and hope soon to have sufficient water to run at least 10. These gentlemen have a lease of this property, and they are opening up a rich vein of ore that will make it a profitable venture.

A. Ridgeway, pays the highest cash price for Hides. Bring 'em along as many as you like.

There are strong indications that Rolla Wells and Co., will soon resume work on the Helen Rae Mine at Nogal. This company own a large number of mining claims in Nogal Mining District, the Helen Rae and Grover Cleveland being the most valuable. They also own most of the placer ground in Dry Gulch, which they work with water brought over the divide from Nogal cañon. They have done no development work the past two years.

PROTECTION OF GAME.

ED. INTERPRETER:

Although we have a game law which is very explicit, it seems that many of our citizens are disposed to not only ignore the law, but also the rights of their fellow sportsmen by wantonly killing Turkey out of season, and at a time when they should be allowed to brood unmolested. If this be permitted to go on there will come a time, and in the near future too, when the hunter will be deprived of the rare pleasure of hunting this noble game, and we trust that every true sportsman will join with us in the next instance, in seeing that the law is enforced, even though it be done at the cost of friendship.

Respectfully yours,

DR. PADEN.

Atty. R. E. Lund is visiting his daughter Mrs. D. C. Bonney who lives thirty miles east of Lincoln on Hondo. Mr. Lund will visit Roswell and the Pecos valley before his return.

Mr. J. K. Wood, sole agent for the London Globe Woolen Mills, which is one of the largest woolen mills in San Francisco, Cal., arrived in our town last Thursday, after a long journey of 1400 miles. Mr. Wood is highly pleased with our town, and says there is no doubt in his mind that White Oaks in a short time, will have a railroad; for at White Oaks there is every thing that can make a thriving town. Mr. Wood also has the agency for M. Hart's furnishing goods house, which is widely known in the west country, he is now on the way to visit the city of Denver.

The Maj.'s friends insist that he shall have a pension. He valorously met the reb. in open field and alho' put hors de combat, is no less deserving a place on the nation's roll of honor.

The Congregational Church will be dedicated on Sunday next. Rev. E. Lyman Hood, of Albuquerque, and probably other clerg men from a distance will be in attendance.

M. Whiteman and family, arrived in town from Roswell on Monday evening, by private conveyance Mrs. Whiteman and little children will remain in White Oaks during the heat of the Summer months. They are domiciled next door to the Interpreter office. Mr. Whiteman left yesterday morning for Roswell.

Goodman, Ziegler & Co., have received a large and well assorted stock of NEW SPRING GOODS and their various departments are open to the inspection of the public. Extremely low prices will be the order of the day.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

J. M. Ramsdale, who has charge of J. A. Cooper's milk dairy, will supply all who wish to favor him with their patronage a pure article of milk at reasonable rates.

Mess pork jumped four dollars a barrel in one day on the eastern stock exchanges last week. Mr. Armour's daughters must have struck their pa for a new layout of spring clothes and somebody had to be squeezed. Mr. LEE: "Why, Addie, you needn't cry about it! I only said Mrs. Allen was a very well-informed woman, and I wished you would follow her example."

Mrs. LEE: "Yes, and last week you said you wished I could manage to look as stylish as Mrs. Allen—and she makes all her own clothes. But she has what I haven't."

Mr. LEE: "What is that?"

Mrs. LEE: "Well, she gets all of her information from the Magazine they take. I admit that she knows all that is going on, and is bright and entertaining in conversation—but I could do as well as she does if I had the same source of information. She has the last number of her Magazine lately, and I learned more in one hour's reading, about various social matters and the topics of the day, than I could pick up in a month by my occasional chats with friends. I certainly covers every topic of interest, from the news of the day down to the details of house-keeping; and everything is so beautifully illustrated, too. Every time Maria goes over to the Allen's she comes back and 'cusses me to tell you to take Demorest's Family Magazine as the stories are so good. Even the boys watch for it every month, as a place is found for them in its pages, and Mr. Allen swears for it. It is really wonderful how it suits every member of the family!"

Mr. LEE: "Well, perhaps I'd better send for a Specimen Copy; for, if it is anything like what you say it is, it will amuse and instruct the whole of us."

Mrs. LEE: "I see that W. C. Demorest, the publisher, is east of the water, New York, is offering to send a Specimen Copy for 1 cent, so we can't lose anything, as each number contains a 'Pattern or other' entitling the holder to any Pattern she may choose, and in any size, which alone makes each copy worth 50 cents; and I just want a jacket pattern like Mrs. Allen's. The subscription price is only $2.00 a year; and I must say I can't see how they can publish so elegant a Magazine for so little money."

Two Views Of Immigration.

Whether the flood of emigration from Europe to this country has attained proportions that render assimilation difficult is a question that is beginning to be earnestly discussed.

It is said, on the one hand, that certain classes of immigrants—the French Canadians in New England, the Italians, in New York, and the Scandinavians in the North-west—are not absorbed in the English speaking body of the people, but tend to form communities of their own, which evince but little desire for citizenship, or even for acquiring our national language.

It is further contended that in some States—and notably in Massachusetts—the children of native parents are ceasing to be numerically strong enough to exercise a fusing and transmigrating influence on the newcomers.

So far as it is calculated to insure the faithful execution of the legislation against obnoxious immigrants, and of the existing naturalization laws, the discussion of the possible dangers of emigration is doubtless salutary. But when we remember that the United States possesses a territory as large as the whole of Europe, including a much larger portion of arable land, whereas our population scarcely exceeds that of the German Empire, we must regard it as an unwise change in our traditional policy to discourage the import of able-bodied, honest, hard working men.

It is said, indeed, that a large fraction of the recent immigrants—and conspicuously the Italians—are not agriculturists, but are only adapted to the rudest sort of unskilled labor. Admitting this to be true, we still ought to recognize that the incoming of such laborers sets free for higher grades of work a portion of the resident population.

A natural but striking effect of immigration is the absence of strata in the working masses of American society. There is on the contrary, an incessant fluctuation and circulation, involving a strong tendency of the older sojourners to rise toward the top. In skilled labor this tendency can easily be traced. Men, whose memories go back for half a century can recollect when Massachusetts factories were manned almost exclusively by native American operatives. These, after a time, were replaced by Irish-Americans, who, in their turn, are giving way to French-Canadians. The ousted operatives have not sunk but risen in the social scale.—New York Ledger.

WOMEN AND MICE.

The reason why a woman is afraid of a mouse is a profound mystery—indeed, it has never been very clearly proven that she is. But some women are constantly in such a nervous, irritable condition that the slightest thing annoys and startles them. The cause of this unfortunate state of affairs is usually some functional derangement; some distressing or painful irregularity, some derangement or peculiar weakness incident to her sex; or, it may be due to inflammation, ulceration or displacement, of some of the pelvic viscera, or to other organic lesions peculiar to her sex. From whichever cause it may arise, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive remedy, so certain in its curative results that its manufacturers sell it, through druggists, under a guarantee of its giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be promptly refunded. As a soothing and strengthening nerve, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Best Thing He Ever Saw.

The following is an extract from a letter written by Dr. M. A. Reynolds, editor and proprietor of the Herald, Lyons, Mich., under date of January 11th, 1890: "You will observe that I have given your advertisement position on the first page of the Herald, while other proprietary medicines have had to take the run of the paper. The reason for doing this is, that upon receiving your 'copy' a number of the cures effected seemed similar to that of which my little son was suffering, a case of blood poison, or irritable sores breaking out all over his body. To day he is entirely free from this disease, and one bottle of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) did the work. Now this is the reason for giving you the position, as I consider Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) the best medicine I ever saw. I wish you unlimited success in your business."

The above is a sample of letters which are coming in all the time. S. S. S. is more infallible than any remedy made, and has probably done more good than any medicine known to mankind. We will mail a Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases to all who will send their address.
