Mr. and Mrs. Bowser.

"Mrs. Bowser," solemnly began Mr. Bowser as he came home to dinner the other evening, "what did I say to you when I left the house this morning?"

"You said it looked like rain," she answered.

"I said it would rain before night, and it has. I'm wet to the hide."

"That's too bad."

"Too bad! and whose fault is it?"

My mind was occupied with business affairs, and you knew it was, and yet you saw me walk off without an umbrella. Mrs. Bowser, I"—

"Why, you took your umbrella along," she interrupted.

"Never!"

"Of course you did! Don't you remember dropping it at the gate? You walked right out of the office and left it there."

"I did, oh! Why don't you call me a first-class idiot and be done with it!"

"You must have done so, for you surely carried it away with you."

"That's exactly what he did do, and he did do, and he knew it, but he squirmed out of it by offering to bet her a million dollars to a cent that the front door had been left wide open all the afternoon, and that a hall-thief had carried off half the stuff downstairs."

One morning there was a smell of gas down cellar, and Mr. Bowser went down to see if he could discover a leak. He put on an old hat kept for "poking around," and when he left the house he wore it away. It was rusty and spotted and broken, and it was only when the boys downtown began to "shoot that hat" that he tumbled to it. Then he flew back home with eyes hanging out and his face of a plum color, and he was no sooner inside the door than he shouted;

"Look at it, Mrs. Bowser—look at that infernal old junk-shop which you deliberately saw me wear away on my head and never said a word about it."

"Did you wear that hat down town?"

"Did I did I!" he shouted, as he banged it on the floor and jumped on it.

"But I didn't see you go. I was upstairs when you went, Mr. Bowser. You are very absent-minded."

"I am, eh! It's a wonder that I don't forget to come home isn't it! Mrs. Bowser, if there is another house in the United States as badly mismanaged as this I'd like to see it!"

"But can you blame me because you wore your old hat away?" she protested.

"That's it—that's it! Shoulder it off on me! The papers talk about the startling number of divorces. It's a wonder to me there are not five times as many!"

One day Mr. Bowser brought home a patent corkscrew, which some fakir had sold him, and Mrs. Bowser saw him drop it into a wall-pocket. A week later, after wandering around the house for half an hour one evening, he halted before her and said:

"I'll be hanged if I don't get some chains and padlocks and see if I can't have things left where I put them!"

"What is it now?"

"Mrs. Bowser, I've been robbed!"

"I brought home a can opener a few days ago and left it in the dining-room. Yes, a can-opener. If you never heard of a can-opener I'll hire some one to write you a history of it. It was invented to open cans." "Why, we have two or three in the kitchen. Do you mean a can-opener?"

"I don't mean wind-mills or thrashing-machine."

"You had it in a pink paper?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"It was the day the man fixed the gate?"

"It was."

"Well, I saw you drop it in that wall-pocket, and it is a corkscrew and not a can-opener."

"It is, eh? Perhaps I don't know a hitching-post from the City Hall." he growled as he reached for the parcel and unrolled it. It was a corkscrew. It was made and sold for a corkscrew.

"Didn't I tell you?" queried Mrs. Bowser. "Tell me what! Told me it was a corkscrew, and it's a can-opener, just as I said it was!"

"It's a corkscrew!"

"It's a can-opener!"

And as long as Mr. Bowser draws the breath of life he will stick to it because he said so in the first place.

Like other husbands Mr. Bowser is greatly worried over the safety of his wallet while around the house. He has an idea that Mrs. Bowser would give ten years of her life to get wallet in her hands for about 2 minutes, and that she lies awake a good share of every night in the year wondering where he hid it when he went to bed. He makes it religious duty to conceal it every night and to count over his funds the first thing in the morning. One morning, strange as it may seem, he left the house without taking his wallet, which he had hidden the night before under the bureau. He had been gone about an hour when there was a great clatter on the front steps, the door flew open, and he rushed into the back parlor and stood before Mrs. Bowser.

She was so upset that she could only faintly gasp:

"Mr. Bowser, is mother dead?"

"Mother dead!" he yelled, in reply, "what do I know about your mother! Mrs. Bowser, I've been robbed!"

"No!"

"And in my own house at the same time during the night so one got out of bed and stole my wallet!"

"Impossible! Was it in your coat?"

"Well, no—not exactly. I fear of burglars I"—

"You what? she asked, as he looked irritated and looked confused.

He rushed upstairs, and she followed in time to see him pull the wallet from under the dresser.

"Then you are not robbed!" she tartly observed.

"N-no—not quite, not this time. But let this be a great moral lesson to you, Mrs. Bowser—never to meddle with my wallet. That's something no husband will put up with."

"I never touched your old wallet.

"And see that you never do! And don't talk back, Mrs. Bowser. You have had a very narrow escape, and you ought to be thankful for it—very thankful. Some husbands would have raised a row; but I think you understand, me, and I think the lesson will not be lost on you."—New York World.

The El Paso Convention.

The convention was called to order, Sept. 23d, at 10 o'clock, a. m.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Convention:

That this convention confine its labors exclusively to the procuring of the building of a railway from the city of El Paso, Texas, via White Oaks and Las Vegas, N. M., Trinidad and Pueblo, Colo. to a northern terminus at the city of Denver, with the understanding that this road shall be in all respects a line separate and independent from the present existing railway organizations.

That as a preliminary to the work of interesting capital in the construction of this line of railway, it is deemed expedient that preliminary survey or reconnoissance of the proposed route from White Oaks via Las Vegas to Trinidad, should immediately be made; that in view of the fact that the city of El Paso is prepared to furnish a complete survey and elaborate data of the route from El Paso to White Oaks, the city of El Paso is therefore exempted from any part or share in the expense of this survey from White Oaks to Trinidad, the cost of such survey from White Oaks to Trinidad to be borne by the cities of Denver, Trinidad and Las Vegas, the Maxwell Grant and White Oaks, and that we must cordially invite the city of Pueblo through the delegation it named to this convention, but which failed to come here, to unite with us in the work of carrying this undertaking to success. We suggest as the basis of assessment of these cities for the cost of the survey, which is roughly estimated at $10,000 the following: Denver $2,000, Pueblo $1,500, Trinidad $2,000, Las Vegas $2,000, Maxwell Grant $1,500, White Oaks $1,000, total $10,000. It is also recommended that an adequate corps of engineers be put in the field to complete the preliminary survey from White Oaks to Trinidad within the term of ninety days from the first day of October.

That this convention be resolved in to a permanent organization with the exclusive object and purpose of promoting the construction at the earliest date possible of the line of railway along the route above described.

That when this convention shall have been resolved into a permanent organization, as above recommended, there shall be designated an executive committee to consist of two members each for the cities of Denver, Pueblo, Trinidad, Las Vegas and El Paso, of one member from White Oaks; such committee to be entrusted with the labor of making the above-described survey and with authority to disburse for that purpose such funds as may be raised, and with further power to treat with such syndicates as the committee may deem advisable, looking to the procuring of the construction of the road, after such time as the committee is prepared to present complete data of the entire line and has in its possession the final report of the above-described survey. It shall be the duty of this committee to make reports to the central organization from time to time, as called upon by the president, and its duties may at any time be extended or restricted by a majority vote of the central organization.

That the members to compose this executive committee shall consist of such gentlemen as are chosen by the respective delegations.

That for the present the office and place of meeting of this committee shall be in the city of Las Vegas, N. M.

That for all meetings of this committee notice in writing shall be sent by the secretary to all members of the committee, fifteen days in advance of the date for which the meeting is called.

This committee shall be subject to call at any time it is decided to be necessary by the chairman, concurred in by two other members of the committee.

That whenever actual construction shall begin on this railway the work shall begin simultaneously both at the northern and southern terminus, and shall be carried forward in equal proportions from both ends until the two lines shall meet midway of the route.

That the various delegates here present be requested to state on behalf of their respective cities what each is able and willing to do toward subsidies as may be deemed necessary and as will be adequate to interest capital in the construction of this road.

Las Vegas named O. L. Houghton and F. A. Manzanares as her members of the executive committee, and White Oaks named John Y. Hewitt. The other delegations asked for further time, which was granted.

Mr. Hewitt and Mr. Watson, of White Oaks, each offered to put up $2,000 towards securing the construction of the new road.

Col. Ford, of Trinidad, presented resolutions, thanking the citizens of El Paso for their magnificent hospitality, which were adopted.

On motion of W. S. Russell the convention returned thanks to Chairman Patterson and Secretary Heman, for the admirable executive ability and uniform courtesy with which they had discharged the duties of their offices.

Judge Patterson returned thanks to the members of the convention for their close attention to business and uniform courtesy to the chair, after which the convention adjourned subject to the call of the executive committee.

The Chamber of Commerce held a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of hearing Mr. P. C. Ford, who was one of the delegates to the Albuquerque & El Paso railroad conventions. No one was more active or created a more favorable impression at the meeting than Mr. Ford, and he was very enthusiastic over the importance of a road to Trinidad in his report to the Chamber of Commerce.

He stated that preparations will be made at once for making a preliminary survey of the route and with proper effort it will soon be built. A general executive committee is to be appointed to take charge of the work, two members of which will be named by Trinidad.

It was the general sentiment of those present last evening that no better man than Mr. Ford could be selected as one of them, and it is more than probable that he will be asked to accept the position. A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Ford for the able manner in which he had represented Trinidad at the convention.—The Evening Chronicle, Trinidad, Colo., Sept. 26.

It is doubtful if any railway enterprise was ever the recipient, at its origin, of more hearty and substantial encouragement than that which has already greeted the Denver & El Paso short line.

The liberality of Mr. M. P. Pels, on behalf of the Maxwell land grant company, has already been mentioned in these columns. Fifteen hundred dollars in cash subscription for the purposes of preliminary survey, rights of way throughout their vast estates, and free ties and bridge timbers, together with the assurance of further practical aid, all go to make a princely bequest, worthy of that princely company.

Judge O. D. Barrett, on behalf of himself, Gen. B. F. Butler, and the other claimants to the Mora grant, to-day, authorized the Optic to state that his company would give the proposed road the right of way through their lands, give them all the timbers and ties necessary for the construction of the road along that right of way, and for ten years after completion would permit to the road the free use of all the coal necessary to the running of trains through the Mora grant.

Dr. O. G. Cilley, of Boston, Mass., representing the Craig ranch, in southern Colorado, duplicated the offer of Judge Barrett, should the road extend through his possessions, which lie on the north of Trinidad.

Such offers as these sound more like the concessions of some government than like the bequests of private citizens. They show what a hold the proposed line has upon the wishes and determination of the people along the route. It remains now for the claimants to the Las Vegas grant to have a mass meeting and donate to the road similar rights and rights and privileges.—Optic.

Prof. Carrera, of Las Cruces, surprised the El Paso convention with the statement that the gypsum traffic alone from the White Oak district would pay in a short while for the cost of construction of the proposed railroad. The United States produces annually 100,000 tons of gypsum and import 150,000 tons more, at a cost of $1,500,000. The gypsum beds of White Oaks are peculiar in formation. It is impossible to estimate the amount in sight, but there are millions upon millions of tons there that contain 22 per cent. of water.

The Two-Republics newspapers, of the City of Mexico, says Mr. T. B. Catron, of Santa Fe, N. M., is in that city hunting up the titles to some old Spanish and Mexican land grants in Mexico. That has been Tom's principal business since he quit the rebel army and turned Republican statesman. When he fails to find a Spanish or Mexican land grant ready made, it will be an easy matter to manufacture one—so the new Land Court is not likely to find itself out of business at its coming December term or for a good while after. But he will have to do better than he did in the manufacture of his celebrated "Cornfield Grant." The Land Court and the public at large are "on to" his land grant racket.—Deming Headlight.

It is too bad that almost on the very day Maj. McKinley delivered his beautiful peroration about the protective tariff "securely shielding American labor from the degrading competition of the Old World," the Trades and Labor Assembly of Chicago should find that many women in that city are working twelve or thirteen hours daily for $1.50 per week. Perhaps it would be a wise plan, since protective tariffs are such good things, to let Chicago have one all by herself. Her women might then be able to earn $2 per week. It was last winter, too, was it not Major, when several thousand cloak makers in New York City struck because their wages were not large enough to buy them as much food as their stomachs demanded? Does the "degrading competition" of the Old World manage to evade the protective tariff, or is it due to something else?—Courier Journal.

While at White Oaks he purchased at sheriff's sale all the real and personal property belonging to the Jicarilla mining and water company, paying $2,131 therefor. The purchase includes the well-boring machinery, boiler, engines, buildings etc. He also acquired for a consideration of $2,000 750 feet of a rich placer claim, the "Miner's Retreat." Mr. Ross predicts a grand and glorious future for the White Oaks region.—Las Vegas Optic.

PUBLIC MEETING.

A meeting of the citizens of White Oaks and others interested in the construction of the El Paso, White Oaks and Denver Railroad, will be held at Young & Taliaferro's Hall, on Friday evening, October 2d, at 7:30 o'clock, to consider the action of the El Paso convention and arrange to carry out the same on behalf of White Oaks. Let everybody turn out and hear the report of our delegation from White Oaks to the El Paso convention. Ladies are specially invited.

Alonzo Lucky, one of the real pioneers of Eddy, was married last Tuesday evening by the Rev. C. M. Howe, to Mrs. Thurber, of California. The ceremony was performed in the parlors of the Hotel Hagerman and was witnessed by a large number of the groom's friends.—Eddy Argus.

Our thanks are due to Mr. and Mrs. Timoney, of the White Oaks Bookstore, for a pair of very nice spectacles—a gift which we fully appreciate. They have a fine assortment of eye-glasses, spectacles, etc., and all who are in need of such articles will do well to examine their stock.

Mr. Brenham, whom all the old settlers of White Oaks remember, lately sent photographs of himself and wife to Mr. Slack of this city. He is keeping hotel in Centralia, Illinois, and looks ten years younger than he did when he left here, some half-dozen years ago, if his photo will do to judge by.

Several wagons loaded with men, women, children, poultry and furniture arrived in town Wednesday afternoon. The prospect now is that they will be obliged to become dwellers in tents and wagons, for there is hardly a vacant house in White Oaks.

The Rev. J. H. Crutchfield was married Sept. 17th. to Miss Ollie Johnson. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's parents on the Penasco, and was performed by Rev. Robt. Hodgson.—Eddy Argus.

The White Oaks High School will open Monday, October 5th, in the old Academy building, that is if wind, weather and washouts permit the teacher to arrive in time.

As will be seen by the notice of T. B. McCourt, the time set for the examination of teachers has been changed from the 13th, 14th, 15th, to the 5th, 6th, and 7th of October.

Stoveware, Stovepipe, Foot tubs, Bread boxes, Tinware etc. Stewart of White Oaks.

Julius Schonfeld, Agent for the National Library Association, has been in town this week delivering premium books to subscribers.

Giant Powder, Caps and Fuse. Stewart of White Oaks.

MERIT MEASURED BY SUCCESS.

The wonderful popularity of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) is the natural result of the tests to which the public has put it. The merits of the medicine have remained the same, but the knowledge of the people with respect to its remarkable curative properties has increased until now there is a demand for it wherever the English language is spoken. S. S. S. was first offered as a specific [for contagious blood poison. For that it was, and is, truly a specific. But it is now regarded, wherever its virtues are known, as a true specific for all forms of blood disease. Whole columns could be filled with testimonials to this effect.

RECOMMENDED AS THE BEST.
LE MANS, PLYMOUTH CO., IA., May, 1889.
I suffered from temporary sleeplessness from overwork for two years, for which I used Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and can recommend same as the best medicine for similar troubles.
F. BORNHORST.

ST. FRANCIS, WIS., Oct. 24, 1888.
A member of my congregation used Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic with good results. The patient was so nervous that he could not find sleep for weeks. He suffered from the most intense anxiety which bordered on insanity. I gave the person some of Koenig's Nerve Tonic and he continued to use it. The appetite returned gradually, the anxiety disappeared, the headache left, and to-day the sufferer, who had almost despaired, is enjoying excellent health.
BERN. ELSKAMP, Pastor.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.
This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

The World Enriched.
The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

lish plum pudding, Pop corn, Hops,
Sage. Stewart of White Oaks.

Freight wagons have been unloading almost constantly at Goodman, Zeigler & Co's, for the last few days. There are still a few bargains to be had in summer goods which must be disposed of to make room for the fall supply.

Canes, for the young dude, for the elderly dandy, for the old and the decrepit. If anybody needs a caning the caner will find a suitable weapon at the White Oaks

Alex. Stewart, the tinner, has departed for parts unknown, leaving his debts behind him. Several anxious creditors are inquiring his whereabouts.

CAM LIFE.

HERE'S THE "SLICKER."

The one thing you'll always find in every cowboy's outfit when he goes on the spring round-up is a "Fish Brand" Pommel Slicker. They make the only perfect saddle coat, and come either black or yellow. They protect the whole front of the rider's body, being made to fit round the outside of the saddle entire. When used as a walking coat, the extension pieces neatly overlap each other, making a regular overcoat with a double storm-proof front. When riding, the saddle is dry as a bone, from pommel to cantle, and the rider is entirely protected in every part of his body. These "Slickers," being of extra width, make fine blankets for camp. Beware of worthless imitations, every garment stamped with "Fish Brand" Trade Mark. Don't accept any inferior coat when you can have the "Fish Brand Slicker" delivered without extra cost. $300 REWARD

FOR ORE THIEVES!

The common experience of this camp shows that much is lost by the mine operators by the stealing of gold in specimens, if not in amalgam and bullion. Therefore the "Old Abe" Co. offers a standing reward of Three Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction, or for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of stealing any of the property of the Old Abe Co., even the smallest specimen of ore. The rule of this company is to mill all specimens. Therefore none of the ore from this mine can be honestly held as specimens. And as the receiver, with guilty knowledge, is as guilty in law as the thief, this offer applies to the holders of Old Abe specimens.

Mr. Lee. "Why, Addie, you needn't cry about it! I only said Mrs. Allen was a very well-informed woman, and I wished you would follow her example."

Mrs. Lee. "Yes, and last week you said you wished I could manage to look as stylish as Mrs. Allen, and she makes all her own clothes. But she has what I haven't."

Mr. Lee. "What is that?"

Mrs. Lee. "Well, she gets all of her information from the Magazine they take. I admit that she knows all that is going on, and is bright and entertaining in conversation; but I could do as well as she does if I had the same source of information. She lent me the last number of her Magazine lately, and I learned more in one hour's reading, about various social matters and the topics of the day, than I would pick up in a month by my occasional chats with friends. It certainly covers every topic of interest, from the news of the day down to the details of housekeeping; and everything is so beautifully illustrated, too. Every time Mamma goes over to the Allens' she comes back and teases me to get you to take Demorest's Family Magazine, as the stories are so good. Even the boys watch for it every month, as a place is found for them also in its pages; and Mr. Allen swears by it. It is really wonderful how it suits every member of the family!"

Mr. Lee. "Well, perhaps I had better send for a Specimen Copy; for, if it is anything like what you say it is, it will amuse and instruct the whole of us."

Mrs. Lee. "I see that W. Jennings Demorest, the publisher, 15 East 14th Street, New York, is offering to send a Specimen Copy for 10 cents, so we can't lose anything, as each number contains a 'Pattern Order' entitling the holder to any pattern she may choose, and in any size—which alone makes each copy worth 30 cents; and I just want a jacket pattern like Mrs. Allen's. The subscription price is only $3.00 a year; and I must say I can't see how they can publish so elegant a Magazine for so little money."
