EXEMPTION BOARD AT WORK ON LISTS

Have Organized, Taken Oath of Office and Are Numbering Registration Cards Serially

The McCulloch County Exemption board has been in session this week, its first duty having been to organize with G. W. Anderson, president; Dr. J. G. McCall, surgeon; Joe A. Adkins, clerk. After taking oath of office and sending in a report of their organization to Governor Ferguson and also to the Adjutant General, the board has been busily engaged in taking both the original and the copy of the exemption cards and numbering them serially in duplicate. The original of these cards will then be sent to the adjutant general, who will send them to the provost marshal. The duplicate cards will be retained by the local board. This work must be completed by Saturday, the 7th.

While no intimation has yet come as to the manner of selecting the conscripts, it is evident from the nature of the board's present work, that the list will be made up of numbers and not of names—this, in all probability, to facilitate handling of the matter.

Remember us for your binding twine. O. D. Mann & Sons.

Rain Tuesday.
 While McCulloch county hardly got "her bit" Tuesday, a good rain visited a large area in Texas. In McCulloch county the rain covered a narrow strip south, and a few miles out on the Mason road was said to have amounted to about 1 1-2 inches. Down towards Voca and the river, the rain amounted to about 1 inch, while a good rain fell in Mason. In Brady the rain amounted to a good shower, settling the dust and refreshing the parched earth. The daily papers report fine rains in North Texas and extending out into the Panhandle country.

Death of Lonnie Campbell.

The entire community was saddened Wednesday by news of the death of Lonnie Campbell, a message to Dr. J. S. Anderson announcing the end Tuesday night at Philadelphia, where he had gone for an operation by a well known specialist. Death resulted from pneumonia. The body is being shipped back to his home in Pasadena, California, where funeral services will be held Monday.

Since last January Mr. Campbell had suffered with an affection of the throat, due, it was thought, to a particle of a rubber eraser, which had become lodged in his windpipe. His mother, Mrs. Emma Campbell, of Brady was called to California two weeks ago and had arranged to remain there and care for the children, while Mr. and Mrs. Campbell made the trip to Philadelphia to seek relief. The operation, however, was never performed.

Mr. Campbell is well known to all older residents of Brady and McCulloch county, having been raised here, and having made his home in Brady up to about eight years ago. After leaving Brady he was located for a time in San Antonio, and a few years later took up his residence in California, where he was engaged in civil engineering. He revisited here some few years ago. He was 37 years of age at the time of death.

A wife and two children are left to mourn his loss, besides his mother, Mrs. Emma Campbell, father Jim Campbell, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. L. W. St. Clair and Mrs. J. S. Anderson of Brady. To them is extended the sincere sympathy of all.

New York had its Cruger mystery, Dallas has its Brown mystery, Fort Worth its Faulk mystery and now comes Arlington, staid and quiet, with her finger mystery.

Neither William Burns nor Sherlock Holmes has been sent for to unravel the Arlington case, which would require the efforts of both.

Here is what happened according to an Associated Press story from there:

A young farmer named Garvin bought a plug of tobacco from the store of D. Y. McKinney. When he started to take a man-size bite his molars clamped down on a hard substance. He returned the plug to the store and the proprietor, curious to know what the hard material was, opened the plug and found a woman's little finger. Several doctors declared it was.

Several men in the store, chewing tobacco when the finger was dug out, swore off immediately.

The tobacco came from a factory in Salem, N. C., and McKinney has written there in an effort to solve the mystery.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

A HINT TO WAR GENIUSES.

The Brownwood man who recently suggested a plan for the Allies to beat the German soldiers by blowing red pepper in their faces should submit his inventive genius to new endeavors.

Because his first suggestion was neither original nor expedient should not restrain his inspiration for conceiving new engines of destruction as an aid to the American arms.

Our natural resources for war material are abundant and any man with vivid imagination need not be at a loss to produce something new and surprising calculated to rout the enemy.

The red pepper suggestion having terminated badly, how would it do to assault the Germans with an appalling force of snapping turtles. Can you beat it?

And still better than that, from our western prairies and hollows could be gathered a colossal army of polecats, which, when set against the Kaiser's legions, and the wind going right would be calculated to bring that distress to the enemy nothing short of annihilation.

No man with the simplest powers of discovery need be the least discouraged as long as the very woods of the country abound in war material capable of producing a degree of destruction that has never been approached.—Brownwood News.

From Panama Canal Zone.
The Standard is permitted to quote from an interesting letter written by Clarence Bridge to home folks at Calf Creek. Clarence is now stationed at Corozal, Panama Canal Zone, and gives an interesting description of life and conditions existing there.

"Corozal Canal Zone, June 15.
"Dear Mother:—I may have to write by spells as I am kept pretty busy now. Since the pay of soldiers has been increased, we do just twice the amount of work.

"I like it very well down here, only it is awful hot. All the people here say it is cool here during the wet one now, and it stays we for eight months; so you see it is hot here most of the time. I would like here much better if there was only a few more Americans. I go over to a little town every night, that is, most every night, to go in bathing. That is about all the past time I have and that's a very good one. I go hunting once in a while, but ammunition is so high here, I cannot afford to go often. I devote most of my time to swimming. I would like to bathe in the Canal, but sharks are too numerous. I had rather pay my dime than to take a chance with them. I am very well contented. I have a horse and a good gun and can go out most any old time and game is plentiful, but a person dares not go alone—there are all kinds of freakish-looking animals here and snakes that can swallow a man easily. Some natives killed one not so very long ago that measured 19 feet long and he was just a baby. They have been caught here that were from 30 to 40 feet long. They are harmless as long as they are on the ground, but you do not always find them on the ground. The poisonous snakes are small. Lizards here grow to be eight feet long—some of them have horns like a sheep.

"When I get the least idea how long we are going to stay here I am going to get papa to send me ammunition. My friend here from Oregon lends me his shotgun—the ammunition for it costs $1.40 a box, I have a .44 Winchester that did not cost me anything. I cut a fellow's hair and he gave me a chance on the rifle and I was the lucky fellow.

"I am sure glad to get The Brady Standard. I have received two installments of it. I see the editor is giving the list of all McCulloch county boys in the service and I failed to see my name on the list.

"Mother, I know just how you feel about me being away from home and in a foreign country, but I had much rather be here of my own free will than to know I had to be drafted. I always did hate to be made do something.

"It is not our country we are protecting; it's the inhabitants of it. So I think if a man loves his wife, mother or sister, he should be more than glad to protect them with his life, if necessary, and I am one that will die if necessary and my mother will be glad to say she had a son who was not afraid to die for her. God was proud He had so noble a son to die for His people and meet death unflinching. So let's hope for the best.

"I think that the war will amount to very little, and I am in one of the branches of the service that is in the least danger. The Signal corps never have to do any of the fighting and besides I think there is going to be a very little fighting done.

"I wish you could see the towns here and see their cusoms. The sidewalks are not over four feet wide and the streets are just about twenty feet wide and in most places in Panama there are street cars, but all of the other towns have one-horse carriages. The carriages carry you most anywhere for a dime. Everyone drives on the left-hand side—just the reverse from the States. It is sure hard for me to get accustomed to that style. I always want to go on the right side. The native horses here are small—much smaller than most Shetland ponies of the States. Everything is much higher here than in the States. Panama hats are much higher here. Shoes cost you about $10.00, gold. The reason I say gold, is because one of our dollars is equal to two of theirs. When they price anything to you, say, for instance, a hair cut and shave, $1.50—that means 75c in our money.

"I am now where I can save my money; of course, I could blow it, but that is not my style. I have a good chance here if I conduct myself properly. My pay now is or will be thirty-nine dollars. Am sure that I need not use more than nine dollars per month. Laundry is one of the main items; if you get one of these spick negros to do it they charge $2.50, and now they want to charge more. You can look for about $30.00 about the 15th of July, if we get our pay near the first of the month. Of course you can understand how that is. I want to try and save enough money to make a payment on a small place this time; also try to help you all I possibly can. Time will pass more rapidly if you know you are going to be of some help to someone.

"I had much rather be at home of course, but under the circumstances, I had rather be here than be called a 'slacker' or a 'coward.' I am going to keep a diary every day and write it to you; then when I get your letter about all I will have to do is to answer a few questions and send my letter right along. I am going out hunting and of course you want to know about that, so I will close by thanking papa again for the paper. Love to all and best regards to all my friends.

"P. S.—Anyone there in that country that wants to write and ask me any question about the army or this country, I would be glad to hear from them. A card from anyone there will be gladly received and will be answered. Just tell the people that I am their representatie here at the front and would like to be considered as one. I never did like the idea that I would soon be forgotten, as I am about the only one from Calf Creek in the service. I want to hear from some one. This is just the best place in the world to test the Lone Star Baptist church and tell them if they love their church they will not hesitate about writing and if they are a friend they will write anyway."

Studebaker wagon in five runaways—and still working

A WAGON that is 45 years old, been through five runaways and can still carry 5000 pounds of sand might be considered a remarkable wagon, but Studebaker records are filled with remarkable stories about the long life and wonderful wearing qualities of Studebaker wagons.

At Litchfield, Minn. lives Mr. Andrew Kittleson who owns the forty-five year old Studebaker wagon described above.

You can own a Studebaker that will give you equally good service. We carry them in stock.

When you get ready to buy that new farm wagon drop in and let us show you why a Studebaker is the best investment.

4th JULY BARBECUE.
Jas. T. and Duke Mann Entertain Employes and Families.
At 10 a. m. Wednesday, July the fourth, the big family of O. D. Mann & Sons repaired to the Dutton grove in answer to the invitation from Jim and Duke to every one employed or otherwise connected with them in business. Auto transportation was furnished all to and from the grounds.

The eats consisted of barbecued goat, pickles, bread, coffee and iced tomatoes. Cold drinks were served in profusion throughout the day and characteristic of Jim and Duke never doing things by halves, after serving 66 people there remained enough to have fed as many more. Swings were furnished the children and the older ones passed the time in pleasant conversation and pitching dollars; the ladies especially became very enthusiastic and also proficient in dollar pitching.

To say that this was a most enjoyable occasion and much appreciation and utterances such as "This day will long be remembered" and "Those boys are the best men in the world to work for" and, all in all, there was a general feeling of loyalty and good will and we believe that everyone went to their respective homes with the determination to be more proficient in their respective places than ever before.

Joe Foster has gone on that long, but wished for, trip, to Oklahoma, where he will be for some time.

Author Penn and family have been attending the Baptist meeting at Mercury this week.

Many are planning for a big time the 4th "B. E." is also planning for a good time, wishing all the writers a "jolly good time the 4th."

Are You One of Them?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinville, N. W., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home, and the first dose relieved me wonderfully, and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.

EVER SALIVATED BY CALOMEL? HORRIBLE!

Calomel is Quicksilver and Acts Like Dynamite on Your Liver.

Calomel loses you a day! You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

When you feel bilious, sluggish, constipated and all knocked out and believe you need a dose of dangerous calomel just remember that your druggist sells for 50 cents a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is entirely vegetable and pleasant to take and is a perfect substitute for calomel. It is guaranteed to start your liver without stirring you up inside, and can not salivate.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and doesn't gripe.

Here's Some Promising Reader.

Ernest Sparks, who strayed way down on the Gulf coast is already feeling the pangs of remorse, home-sickness, or what-you-may-call-it, and sends us the following pathetic appeal from Port Neches:

"Being a stranger in a strange land I miss a good many things that I was accustomed to in the old home town, but above everything I miss the friendly face of The Standard, that came and went, when I was there, with such regularity that only the cessation of its visits could cause its absence to be felt.

"So be a good samaritan and don't let another publication day pass without my copy wending its way in this direction, and I can promise you it will upon arrival receive a warm welcome and will be read down to the patent medicine advertisements.

"This is some country down here. This refinery, and two at Port Arthur, 10 miles away, work 8000 men and they all draw good pay, so you can imagine how much coin of the realm there is in circulation. I haven't found out yet what the wild waves are saying, but can easily tell you what the mosquitoes say—it's 'hide, you sucker, hide'—and there is nothing to hide under, so they proceed to bore away and it isn't their fault if they don't extract the last drop of your life blood.

"Don't forget the paper—now of you do, I will tell someone of the thousand guards down here that you are a hyphenated dutchman and then you will have a thousand years in the bastille.

"That's all.
"P. S.—Am laying a dollar to a dime you can't read this, but I don't care—you will know what it means and send The Standard anyway."

Editor's P. S.—You came very near winning the money.

UNCEASING MISERY.

Some Brady Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there's kidney backache. You suffer twinges and "stabs" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. Thousands have testified to their merit.

Proof of merit in this Brady testimony:

A. H. Conner, carpenter, says: "My back hurt pretty badly and it seemed that the pain was mostly over my left kidney. My kidneys were congested and the kidney secretions were in passage and contained sediment. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from the Jones Drug Co., and one box relieved the trouble with my back and regulated my kidneys."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Conner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Ffgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SAN SABA FAIR.

Encampment and Ex-Confederate Reunion July 31-Aug. 3rd.

The Fifteenth Annual San Saba County Fair and Encampment will be held this year, beginning Tuesday July 31st and continue for four days, ending Friday, August 3rd. Combined with the fair will be the Annual Reunion, Mountain Remnant Brigade, U. C. V., which will occupy three days, August 1-3rd.

The San Saba fair is rated one of the most successful of county fairs in the state. The beautiful fair grounds are well shaded and are ideally located. A greater time than ever is promised this year, and it is certain that Brady and McCulloch county will not only send a representative delegation to the fair, but that many of her old veterans will likewise journey there to meet their comrades once more.

Brady Boy in Maryland.

Ft. Washington, Md., June 7. Editor Brady Standard:

Well, I will write a few lines for my friends at home to read of me as I am a soldier and belong to my Uncle Sam, and I am not sorry of it.

I joined Old Glory out of Brady, March 28, 1917, and I saw in The Brady Standard where eighteen more boys had joined Uncle Sam since I joined. Hurrah for them! I would like to meet them.

Well, when I joined Uncle Sam I enlisted in the C. A. C., but now I have been transferred to the Md. department, and I like it fine. As my parents died when I was small, and I have not had much chance for an education, I think this is the best opportunity I will ever have. I was 19 years old last April the 4th, 1917.

So I wanted to learn something, and I think I am in a good place to learn.

I will close for this time, as ever.

Yours truly to all,

BEN. F. WITCHER,

Three of a Kind.

The Standard editor in his rounds, accumulates a lot of information, incidents, advice, suggestions, and what-not, ranging all the way from ridiculous to the sublime. Here the three incidents, each of which are worth at least a smile.

One of our patriotic citizens flies Old Glory from the cupola of his house, and the flag on the house, set well back in the yard, amongst trees and ornamental flowers, possesses a sort of mysterious fascination for one of the youngsters in the neighborhood, who combined with it, in child-like fashion of reasoning, the awesome regard he felt for the president of the U. S. This feeling found words the other day in the query, "Mother, isn't that where President Wilson lives?"

Then there was the boy who worked in one of the local establishments for a time. He was a young lad, and had spent practically all his life on the farm. A recruiting officer approached him with the inquiry: "Young man, wouldn't you like to join the army and serve your country?" "No," replied the young man, "I have been in town just about a month now, and like it pretty well. I don't believe I care anything about the country any more."

And again during the recent canvass for the sale of season tickets to the chautauqua, one party was approached, who, evidently, had not read or heard anything about the chautauqua. To the question, "Don't you want to buy a ticket for the chautauqua?" he responded, "What kind of a car is that? I have been thinking of buying a Ford but I never before heard of the Chautauqua."

JOHN M. CRABTREE GAINS 34 POUNDS.

Quit Taking Tanlac Eighteen Months Ago—Still Retains Weight and Feels Fine. Suffered 20 Years.

"I have actually gained thirty-four pounds on three bottles of Tanlac and I now know what it is to enjoy life and good health after suffering for twenty years," said John M. Crabtree, a general merchant at Five Mile Station A. Dallas, Texas, a few days ago.

"I bought my first bottle over eighteen months ago, when I lived at Gallatin, Tenn," continued Mr. Crabtree, "and I want to tell you, it was the best investment I ever made in my life. I began to improve almost from the start and three bottles simply made me over into a new man. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since.

"I suffered with catarrh of the stomach and indigestion for twenty years and for eighteen months, before I started taking Tanlac, I had to live almost entirely on cereals. My stomach was full of gas and I suffered with awful headaches all the time. I was as nervous as a man gets to be and I could hardly sleep at all and could not get no ease or comfort any time. I spent nearly all of one whole year in bed and was unable to do anything at all and I fell off in weight to one hundred and eighteen pounds. I had all the symptoms of catarrh and I just can't describe all the suffering I had to endure from it for those twenty years.

"I kept reading about Tanlac in the papers but I couldn't make up my mind to try it, because I had tried so many different kinds of medicines and had been disappointed each time. But when my friends, who knew my dreadful condition, begged me I bought a bottle and began taking it and the results in my case have been nothing short of wonderful. After using my third bottle I found I had increased in weight from one hundred and eighteen pounds to one hundred and fifty-two, making an actual gain of thirty-four pounds—all my troubles were gone and I was feeling like another man.

"Although it has been a year and a half since Tanlac relieved me of my awful catarrhal trouble and indigestion and made life worth living, I still retain my increase in weight and feel simply fine all the time. I've been eating anything I want all the time—in fact anything anybody else can—and sleeping like a child every night. Being made into a strong healthy man after suffering as long as I did is enough to make me rejoice and I'm glad to endorse Tanlac because I know what it has done for me. You can just tell anyone to ask me about Tanlac and I'll tell them what I have told you."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Jones Drug Co., in Melvin by Oscar Sellers, in Rochelle by C. W. Carr and in Pear Valley by Ludwick & White.

Few medicines have met with more favor or accomplished more good than Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. John F. Simpson; Mrs. John Wall; and guests: Messrs. and Mesdames W. R. Davidson, Dick Winters; Misses Tassie and Evelyn Gohlman of Houston, Vivian Taylor of Coleman; Messrs. Robt. and Joe White.

Honorary Pres. Camp Fire Girls.

There is not a Camp Fire girl whose heart will not swell with pride and who will not devote herself with greater love and enthusiasm when she learns that President Wilson has accepted the Honorary Presidency of the Camp Fire Girls.

With the president of the United States our Honorary President, we all must feel that the service we are doing is, indeed a service to the nation.

The girls of today are eager for service and no announcement could be made to the girls of this land that would so thrill and inspire them to devoted effort than that the President of the United States had felt that their united, organized effort was dignified enough and was powerful enough to deserve his support and encouragement, and may each member make a stronger effort to live up to the law of the Fire.

Chester Baze arrived yesterday from Blanchard, Okla., for a visit with home folks and friends. He reports being well pleased with his new location and says conditions there are very favorable.

Edwin and Chester Clark, who have been spending several weeks with their grandparents at Bangs, returned home yesterday, and say one of the most enjoyable parts of their visit was the eating of fruits and berries, so abundant in that section.

Miss Loise Bradley, who is visiting at Sherman, Denton and Dallas, writes that her father, T. J. Bradley, had some wheat that was making 38 bushels to the acre, and that $2.30 per bushel was being paid for the wheat in Sherman last Saturday. Also reported rain in Dallas the morning of the 4th. Miss Bradley will visit her sister in Dallas for several weeks.

Burl T. Wiley left the latter part of the week for Dallas on a combined business and pleasure trip, and drove out one of the elegant new Model 18, 7-passenger Studebakers---the latest design of this popular car. Mrs. Wiley, who had been visiting relatives at Stephenville, accompanied him from there to Dallas, and returned with him in the new car to Brady.

Messrs. A. W. Keller, and A. J. Ricks made a trip out through Menard, San Angelo, Paint Rock and Eden communities yesterday and report the Paint Rock and San Angelo country the driest they have ever seen---while driving along the roads was like riding through a furnace---in fact, McCulloch looks like a paradise in comparison. They report Eden proving herself a live burg, two bands, Mexican and white, furnishing a program last night, the stores being lit up and the streets thronged with people. On the whole, they report the trip one of the most enjoyable ever had.

Jno. T. Storey and mother, Mrs. L. J. Storey, Jeff Storey and wife, S. O. McDowell, wife and three children came up by auto Wednesday from Lockhart for a few days' pleasure trip through the country. Mr. J. T. Storey, who is a banker of Lockhart has a farm six miles from Brady and came up to look after his interests here, besides having an outing. He was well pleased with the crop conditions in this country. Mrs. L. J. Storey is the relict of former Railroad Commissioner Storey, and is at present in charge of the Confederate museum at Austin. She is a most intelligent, and interesting conversationalist and those with whom she met, were charmed by her personality.

Dr. J. G. McCall returned yesterday morning from Ft. Worth where he was one of the seventy-one candidates from all parts of North and West Texas, who trod the "hot sands" in being initiated into Moslah Temple Wednesday. Besides the large number of novices, there were several hundred members of Moslah temple and visitors from other Shrine organizations present for the great event which took place at Lake Worth. While the pilgrimage across the desert sands is replete with hardship and torture, it evidently must have its compensation when the oasis is reached, for the doctor wears the broadest of smiles everytime he recalls to mind his own experiences, and those of his fellow novices.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR MRS. F. W. HENDERSON

Stenographic Notes of Sermon by C. C. House.

At the request of many who attended the memorial service held last Sunday at the Presbyterian church for the late Mrs. F. W. Henderson, The Standard reproduces herewith the impressive sermon preached by Rev. T. P. Grant, stenographic notes of the same having been very kindly furnished by C. C. House.

In connection with the service, it is of interest to note that among the attendants was Luke Williams, colored servant of Mrs. Henderson, and it may truly be said that of all who mourned the departure of this good woman, there was none whose grief was more sincere than that of this faithful servant.

Beginning the services, were sung two of Mrs. Henderson's favorite songs, "Lead Kindly Light," and "Abide With Me." Opening prayer by Rev. J. G. Forester. Scripture reading, 23rd Psalm, as follows:

The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof; the world and all that dwell therein.

For he hath founded it upon the seas; and hath prepared it upon the rivers.

Who shall ascend into the mountain of the Lord: or who shall stand in His holy place?

The innocent in hands, and clean of heart, who hath not taken his soul in vain, nor sworn deceitfully to his neighbor.

He shall receive a blessing from the Lord, and mercy from God his Saviour.

This is the generation of them that seek him, of them that seek the face of the God of Jacob.

Lift up your gates, O ye princes, and be ye lifted up, O eternal gates: and the King of Glory shall enter in.

Who is this King of Glory? The Lord who is strong and mighty: the Lord mighty in battle.

Lift up your gates, O ye princes, and be ye lifted up, O eternal gates: and the King of Glory shall enter in.

Who is this King of Glory? The Lord of hosts, he is the King of Glory.

Also the following reading from the New Testament, John 14, Verses 2 and 3:

In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.

And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also.

Synopsis of Sermon by Mr. Grant

"Perhaps, it seems strange that I am standing in the pulpit not as a minister, but as a soldier. Yet, the orders are that in time of war, no man who has entered the military services of his country, who has taken the oath, can wear anything but the uniform; nor can he wear any clothing or have in his possession anything not conformant to this uniform. So, when I received permission of leave to come, that permission did not and could not extend otherwise, and there is none in authority in Texas who could give permission to dress in any other way. And yet on this occasion, it is not so inappropriate, because as all of us know, Mrs. Henderson was loyal to her country and to her church, and she would feel that it is appropriate because of her love for both.

"You know in seeking for a text, we should find one that embraces the words, loyalty and faithfulness. It has been very few times that I have even entered this pulpit and found that seat vacant. (Pointing to her seat draped in mourning.) If it was vacant, it was because she was out of town or away. Even if she was able to walk, she was in her place. She was loyal because she would permit nothing in thought or words in her presence to go unchallenged that was against her country or her church. 'Because thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make the ruler over many.'

"And then this service, I could not help but think about it in that way, because of her loyalty. Then, too, she has often said to me: 'Mr. Grant, I want you to hold memorial services in this church when I die.' Replying to her, I sometimes laughingly said: 'Why, Mrs. Henderson, I may be gone before you, or be somewhere else.' But she said: 'No, I want you to conduct services in this church.' So, I could not help but think as this is the last time, or probably the last time, that I shall ever occupy this pulpit, it should be in carrying out this request.

"You know it is hard to understand the relation of pastor and people. Coming from a race who taught that it was proper to conceal rather than to exhibit the emotions, when I was with you as your pastor, I never dared to let you know how close you were to me. Do you know after staying here seventeen years my heart is bound up in a very small territory: East Sweden, Fife, Lohn and here at Brady? Having spent my entire ministry right in this field, and having been so closely bound to these people, when I was called to go, I slipped away quietly. I really did not want to tell the people good-bye. I did not feel like it in that way; and because of that very feeling of closeness and tenderness, it was too much for me to bid them farewell. Then, as I come back here this morning, I feel doubly bereaved on this account and because of the fact that one of our faithful ones has gone. ***

"I do not know by what expression or by what act you would remember Mrs. Henderson the most, but for myself, it is because of her faithfulness, loyalty, and devotion to service. When there was work to be done in the church that others did not care to take the trouble to do, she would say, 'Let me do it, I am willing to do anything.' Faithful and loyal unto the last. So, the frail body was not allowed to interfere with the service to her God; and it can be well and appropriately said that in her life she did what she could. In the Sabbath school where there was only a few, she would be teaching a class of children, or the older ones—always working in any place where work was needed to be done, and it would take too long to enumerate in words all of the acts of her service. ***

"When I received the summons here, the phone connection was very poor, and so there was just three words that I could understand—Mrs. Henderson, death, memorial. *** Death! What does it mean. To the most of us it comes as a shock; it is a terror to many of us because we do not understand it. But why should this be so, because through death, Christ brought victory over both death and the grave. Then we necessarily ask ourselves the question: 'Death, what is it?' You know we seem to think of it in terms of annihilation. We seem to think of it as loss of identity. But when we look at it from the Christian's standpoint and see that identity is not lost, then we can better appreciate so many of those expressions used in God's word concerning it. And so this morning in this hour of heaviness of our hearts on account of our loss, we should lift up our eyes unto heaven and think of her as if but asleep; thinking of her tired body at rest; thinking of where there was so much pain, there is rest and peace; thinking of her as one we learned to love.

Speaking further on the subject of identity and death, Mr. Grant said in part: "You know that nature and God's word has done much to teach us there is no such thing as death; that the soul is the life and identity. It is true that identity is a strange thing; it is not always in the same form. *** We remember our friends when they were boys and we played with them, and now we behold the great big strapping man. The hair is gray; it is no longer dark—it is no longer the same to the eye" *** "The substance," said he, "of the oak and acorn is the same, but not the form. The picture of a person is but the shadow; the outward appearance, but it is not the substance, the identity. Transformation of forms and appearances in nature are many, but the identity and substance remains and is indestructible. ***

"And so as we come this morning and think of Mrs. Henderson, we should not think of her as dead, but think of her as having changed only her outer garment. The corruptible having put on the incorruptible; The mortal having put on immortality. Just a change of the outward part, and this is what death means to those who love the Lord. So, we should forget the loss to the community and the church, and remember that she is not dead; and that with us will remain the noble examples of her life and her influence. There is her influence in the Sabbath school and the church not only here but at Mason and other places. The little ones that she has taught, and the older ones that she has induced to live nobler lives; why, all of this influence still goes on, and though we shall see her here no more, that influence is still here and shall remain a love in the hearts and lives of those with whom she came in contact. ***

"Then, the place where she is this morning: Remember how the Psalmist said, 'Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints.' Would the Lord delight in that which would not be an advantage or advancement to those who are his own? Because that is what it means. And then back in Revelation where John got a glimpse of the Throne of God, he tells us what that throne is like. He speaks of the kings of the earth that have brought into it their honor and glory. And so we think of that and think about what is the honor and glory of the earth. *** Whom do men delight to honor? After all, it is only the ones who have not lived for self, but for others; it is the man who has toiled not for himself but for his fellow man. We find this thought illustrated in the medical world. Here men have given their life's work not for self or selfish purposes, but for others. This and many other examples could be given which represents a part of the glory of the earth in that place where she is. And so, as she went to take her place there, we can understand what heaven may be like even if we only knew that nothing but the honor and glory of the earth would be there. *** And because her services here will be there as a part of the glory of the earth, there comes to us consolation.

"When God has filled this earth with so much that is beautiful, and has placed so much here for our comfort and happiness, and too, when He has just given us this earth as a temporary habitation, but still has taken such pains to make it so attractive and wonderful; then think what heaven must be which He has planned through all the ages as a home for those who love Him. 'I go to prepare a place for you that where I am there you may be also.' With Christ, going where He is. So, she has spent her life here in service, looking at things from His standpoint—doing what He would have her do here first, and then going into His presence. That is heaven and that is all we need to know about it." ***

"Some day the silver cord shall break, And I no more shall sing, But, Oh, the joy when I shall wake, Within the palace of the King, And I shall see Him face to face, And tell the story—saved by grace." Stenographic Report by C. C. House.
