FIRST BALE NEW COTTON GINNED HERE SATURDAY

The first bale of cotton of the new crop was ginned Saturday morning at Tom Taylor's gin in the east part of town, the cotton having been brought in Friday evening by Harve Henderson, who lives in the Fredonia community. The seed cotton weighed about 1500 pounds, and ginned out a bale weighing 489 pounds, which is considered a good turnout for green cotton. The cotton was grown on Mr. Henderson's place in the edge of Mason county.

The bale graded strict middling, and was purchased by O'Farrell Craddock, at 31c per pound.

26,883,566 WOMEN WILL VOTE IF TENNESSEE'S RATIFICATION STICKS

If the ratification of the suffrage amendment, which was voted by Tennessee August 18, is not overturned by the courts to which the contest has been transferred, the voting strength of the United States will be increased by about 27,000,000, that being approximately the number of women in this nation who will be enfranchised by the official proclamation of the ratification of the amendment by thirty-six of the states.

The Republican states that ratified the Suffrage Amendment are:

Wisconsin, Michigan, Kansas, Ohio, New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Iowa, Montana, Nebraska, Minnesota, New Hampshire, California, Maine, North Dakota, Colorado, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Oregon, Indiana, Wyoming, Nevada, New Jersey, Idaho, New Mexico and Washington—Total, 28.

The Democratic states that ratified are:

Texas, Missouri, Arkansas, Utah, Oklahoma West Virginia, Arizona and Tennessee—Total, 8.

Ohio and Montana, credited as Republican states, ratified at special sessions convened by Democratic governors. Consequently the parties share 50-50 credit.

New Jersey, with a Republican legislature, ratified at a regular session, it being understood that if it did not Governor Edwards, Democrat, would convene an extra session for ratification.

States that have not acted yet are Connecticut, Vermont, North Carolina and Florida.

States which have voted against ratification are Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, Maryland, Delaware and Louisiana.

HONEST INJUN.

Our congratulations to Pat M. Neff—the next governor of Texas. We trust he will make as wise and able an executive as his best friends have rated him, and that Texas may enjoy the greatest of prosperity and advancement under his administration.

ELECTION RETURNS.

While The Standard has not made a study of the election returns in recent years, one fact that has been impressed upon us in the last two elections has been that the candidate first reported as having attained any considerable lead, has maintained that lead, in greater or less proportion, throughout the time that the returns were being compiled. It was so in the July primary, when Bailey, early after the closing of the polls was reported as having a plurality of 5,000. This figure was cut down about half by later returns, but Bailey nevertheless continued to show a lead throughout the time the returns were being compiled. In last Saturday's election, Neff took the lead practically with the first report, and maintained this lead in increasingly great ratio as the total vote was being compiled.

The conclusion, therefore, must be that even the earliest of election returns are representative of the complete vote, and unless the count be close, may be taken as a barometer showing the proportionate opinion of the voters, for and against.

The Standard last Saturday received two reports upon the early progress of the voting, the first being filed at 10:10 a. m. and showing a small lead for Bailey in one of the city boxes at Austin. The second message, however, filed at Fort Worth at 12:17 p. m., reported that at 11:00 o'clock one Fort Worth box showed nearly two to one for Neff—an unmistakable evidence of the inevitable landslide of votes in favor of Neff.

The right to give out these election returns before the closing of the polls has been challenged by some as contrary to the Terrell Election laws. That this viewpoint is in error may be seen from the following editorial printed in the Dallas News, issue of Friday, August 27th, under the caption "Another Blowhole in the Election Law."

Many errors in the Terrell Election Law have been disclosed. Some of these have been corrected, but most of them have not. We had supposed that the period of discovery had passed, but in this we were wrong. An additional error turns up. The election law of 1887 declared that no election officer should give out any information as to the number of votes counted for any candidate "until after" the closing of the polls. The Terrell Election Law of 1903 carried this provision, but the Terrell Election Law of 1905 dropped out the word "until." Obviously the omission was inadvertent, but the effect is to make the law declare that the election judges shall give out no information "after" the closing of the polls, except as herein provided. Prior to 1905, when the word "until" preceded the word "after," the exception referred to a section authorizing an announcement at intervals throughout the day of the number of votes polled. Now it has the effect of referring to a new section written into the law of 1905, making it the duty of the election officers to prepare and announce at the close of the polls at intervals thereafter the state of the count for the several candidates and to give newspaper correspondents access to such statements. THE LAW OUGHT TO PROHIBIT, AS FORMERLY IT DID PROHIBIT, THE DISCLOSURE OF THE STATUS OF THE COUNT BEFORE THE CLOSING OF THE POLLS, BUT UNFORTUNATELY IT DOES NOT NOW DO SO.

AN ERROR.

In making mention of the stock and agricultural exhibit planned to be held in Brady on Tuesday and Wednesday, October 5th and 6th, The Standard last week stated that a premium list of $5,000 was to be made up. This was an error; the committee in charge of premiums estimated that this sum would be required if cash prizes were to be given to individuals, but that by offering cash prizes in multiples of $5.00 and ranging from $5.00 to $50.00, to communities for community exhibits, the exhibit might be made an even greater success and a much smaller premium list would suffice.

FIRST BALE PREMIUM.

Unless the first bale of McCulloch county cotton is brought in between the time this editorial is written and the time it is published, there still remains an opportunity for Brady to subscribe and offer a premium for the first bale. By all means should this action be taken before McCulloch's first 1920-21 cotton is received. As a matter of fact, the premium should, each year, be subscribed and posted before the planting season arrives. This, then, would hold forth some inducement to cotton growers to plant early, to cultivate their crops more intensively and to put forth greater effort towards getting their cotton ready for the earliest market.

The making up of a premium after the first bale is received, makes the proposition lose much of its attractive appeal, both to the donors and the recipient. If the thing is worth doing at all, it is worth doing well—and right.

GIVING THE NEWS.

The Standard holds no brief for any other paper, but now that the heat of the recent campaign has begun to subside, and partisans may view matters from a clearer standpoint, The Standard believes credit is due the Fort Worth Star-Telegram for giving the news regardless of its own political bias. Remove from that paper its editorial page, and no reader could have told from its news columns which of the two gubernatorial candidates it favored, as the speeches of each were fully covered daily by special correspondents.

That this fact was recognized and appreciated by Pat M. Neff, the successful candidate was evidenced in his closing speech on the eve of the election, when he expressed his appreciation of the Star-Telegram's course in the following words:

"As this campaign draws to a close my thoughts turn with gratitude to those of the newspaper fraternity who have journeyed with me on my speaking tour for the past few weeks." Neff said as he pointed to the press table. Calling The Star-Telegram staff correspondent by name, Neff said:

"He has been with me almost every hour since the first primary, July 24. He has been very place I have spoken during the past three weeks. The newspaper which he represents is not supporting me editorially but that newspaper has printed a correct report of my campaign through its staff correspondent who has reported my speeches and matters in connection with the campaign 100 per cent correct. I desire to thank The Star-Telegram for detailing him to accompany me. I desire to thank him on the closing day of this campaign for the many courtesies he has shown me." Neff also thanked the Dallas News and the Fort Worth Record.

DOVE SEASON OPENS SEPTEMBER 1ST—LAW AS TO OTHER GAME

The open season for doves opens Wednesday, September 1st. They may be killed up to December 15 and fifteen is the limit that may be killed in one day. This means that one person can kill that many and does not mean that where three or four hunters go together one can kill sixty doves and distribute them among those who killed none. Hunters are warned to be careful in this respect. The law in regard to other game follows:

Quail and Mexican pheasants, the months of December and January, bag limit fifteen.

Ducks, geese and sandhill cranes Oct. 16 to Jan. 31, bag limit twenty-five ducks and plovers, eight for all species of geese and sandhill cranes.

Turkeys, March and April. The limit is three gobblers in one year.

Deer, November and December. The limit is three bucks in one year.

Birds and animals which it is unlawful to kill at all during a period of five years ending June 18, 1824, are woodcock, woodduck, prairie chicken, pheasant (except Mexican pheasant or chacalaca), pinnated grouse, antelope and Rocky Mountain sheep.

It is unlawful to shoot deer, ducks, geese or cranes between sunset and a half hour before sunrise and to kill them only with a gun, held to the shoulder. It is unlawful to use traps, snares, deadfalls or any other trapping device to take them. No other kind of game bird can be legally trapped except by written permission of the game, fish and oyster commissioner. Using a deer call, whistle or decoy is prohibited, except that the rattling of deer horns is allowed.

In order to hunt outside the county of one's residence, it is necessary to make an affidavit that the shipper billed it in person for his own use and not for sale and to attach a list of the game so shipped which is not to be removed during passage.

Game may be brought into Texas from Mexico at all seasons by obtaining a permit from the game, fish and oyster commissioner and by securing a certificate from the customs officer at the port of entry, stating that the game was killed in the Republic of Mexico.

INCREASED PULLMAN PASSENGER AND FREIGHT RATES ARE IN EFFECT

Washington, Aug. 25.—Increased freight and passenger rates were in effect throughout the United States today. All shipments made before midnight came under the old rate schedules, the railroad executives announced today.

The increases include a 20 per cent advance in passenger rates, a 50 per cent sur-charge on all Pullman and sleeping car tickets, to be added to the passenger fare; a 20 per cent advance in excess baggage rates, and increases in milk rates.

The Interstate Commerce Commission granted a 10 per cent increase in freight rates on the Eastern lines, a 25 per cent increase on Southern lines; 25 per cent on Western lines, and 25 per cent increase on Pacific Coast roads.

In traffic between districts an increase of 33 1-3 per cent was granted.

The increases will net about $1,500,000,000, it is estimated.

KILL 17 RATTLESNAKES IN ONE HOLE ON C. C. JOHANSON PLACE SUNDAY

E. Coffee and his brother-in-law, John Vallient, were in Brady Monday and reported that they had run onto a rattlesnake's nest on the C. C. Johanson place, 5 miles north of Brady, where Mr. Coffee is farming, and that after shooting the big rattlesnake, they had dug out and killed sixteen small rattlers from the same hole. This establishes a record in individual kills in this section.

Vallient has recently returned from Kansas City, where he spent six months in attendance upon an auto and tractor school, taking a complete course in auto mechanics.

BROWN COUNTY FARMERS WILL HOLD COTTON SEED FOR $40 TON MINIMUM

The Brown County Farmers' association completed its labors late on Thursday evening and adjourned. The following board of directors was elected: Geo. McHan, W. B. Tongate, Will Allgood, I. N. Evans, J. H. Kennedy, George McHan was re-elected chairman of the Board of Directors and W. B. Tongate was re-elected secretary. These proceedings took place after the business of the organization, proper had been completed and adjournment.

"The Situation Which the Cotton Growers Face At the Present Time," was one of the questions discussed by the organization and many interesting features were presented by different speakers in this regard.

A resolution was adopted requesting all cotton farmers to store and hold their cotton seed for $40 per ton minimum.

The question of cotton picking came up for consideration and was discussed from various angles. It was decided that advertising for cotton pickers should be the means adopted to secure help in harvesting the crop and the price to be paid for picking was left over for future solution.

Cotton classing was explained at some length by Mr. Williamson, the official classifier for Brown county. The fee for classing was fixed at 50 cents per bale and it was decided that when the funds thus accruing went over $3,000 that it should be placed in the treasury and refunded to the cotton raisers whose cotton had been classed. —Brownwood Bulletin.

Kindergarten Helps for Parents

This is No. 53 of a series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association. They will appear weekly in these columns.

By MRS. STELLA CLAPSADDLE.

We often hear mothers lamenting the fact that there is no kindergarten in their neighborhood. They are intelligent enough to know what a benefit a kindergarten training would be to their children, but are not aware that many of the methods used in the kindergarten may also be employed in the home.

This is particularly true of kindergarten hand-work, which composes a sort of elementary manual training course. For hand-work in the home it is not necessary to expend much time, labor or money for materials; indeed, they may nearly all be obtained in the home.

Plastic clay or equal portions of flour and salt worked into a plastic dough may be used to advantage. The child should begin by reproducing simple objects he sees about him, or he can create from his own imagination. Give the clay into the child's hands and let him do what he pleases with it. He will find plenty to do and greatly enjoy this occupation, besides unconsciously expressing some of his own ideas concerning which it will be valuable for the mother to know. Later on the child may be led to organize his ideas of form by being shown how to make a ball or other geometric form and with slight remodeling change it into an apple, pear or other similar shape. This should never become drill work and the adding of bits of clay is more easily done than the pressing into shape of a mass of clay. But a perception of the geometric structure of all form is a part of the art world.

Paper-folding is simple, and an occupation which the child can easily manipulate himself. Give him a small, square piece of colored wrapping paper, have him bring opposite edges together, and then fold through the center, once. This will make a book which he can play he is reading or singing from, or he can call it a scrap-book and paste pictures in it. Folded twice, the piece of paper makes a nice little square handkerchief which has just been ironed and is ready to put away. Next the paper may be opened out, and it will be seen that the two folds cross at the center. The corners may be folded to this center, one at a time. When three corners are folded in, it looks like an open envelope; after the last corner is folded in, the envelope is closed, and the "letter" is ready to mail. With a little ingenuity many other objects may be made by folding paper in different ways.

Cutting pictures from old magazines is one of the joys of childhood. To be able to do this well, the child must learn to use his eyes and his hands skillfully. It is splendid training, and cultivates patience and concentration as well as skill. If these are mounted in a scrap book it adds to the pleasure. Painting is also a joy to the boy or girl. Through this medium the different colors may be taught and appreciation of color can be developed.

Drawing becomes a source of great pleasure and profit to a child. Suggest that he begin by drawing something with which he is perfectly familiar. In the kindergarten the little child generally wants to draw a ball, which he can make with a simple rotary motion. It very soon occurs to him to make two balls on his piece of paper, perhaps two large balls, or one large and one small one. Be-

HOT, GIZZY FEELING

Atlanta Lady's Uncomfortable and Annoying Condition Relieved, She Says, by Cardui.

Atlanta, Ga.—Miss Alice Frances Young, of 28 East Alexander Street, this city, says: "After entering womanhood, I suffered so much with womanly weakness. My back ached. I would have, at certain times, a hot feeling that seemed to go to my head. Even my shoulders would hurt, and it made me very dizzy and uncomfortable. When the blood would flow to my head—I suppose that was what it was—I would faint and feel so weak. "I couldn't do my work. I had a good position, and this was surely annoying as well as embarrassing. I would usually have to go home and go to bed. I certainly suffered greatly. "I heard of Cardui, and my mother bought it for me. It was the first and only medicine that ever did me any good for this trouble."

Dizziness, headache, sideache, backache, tired-out feeling and other disagreeable symptoms are often signs of womanly troubles. Thousands of women who formerly suffered from these and similar ailments have found Cardui a very valuable remedy. Cardui is composed only of pure, vegetable ingredients which have long been recognized as of medicinal value in the treatment of many diseases and disorders peculiar to women. Take Cardui. Your druggist sells it. NO-149

LOCAL BRIEFS.

P. C. Dutton and family have moved into Brady in order to be enabled to place their children in the Brady schools. They have occupied the old Dutton homestead on Brady creek, east of town.

J. A. Henton was here from the Melvin community Monday reporting good crops, and an abundance of milk, butter and eggs out his way. That's living on the fat of the land.

T. T. Smith and family of Melvin are numbered among the new citizens of Brady, the family having moved here to enable the children attending the Brady schools. They have occupied the old S. T. Ballou homestead in the south central part of the city.

In renewing his own subscription and incidentally ordering The Standard sent to Mrs. Warren Davis at Eldorado, B. E. Hall, Paducah, Texas, adds the following cheerful and cheering comment: "Getting the paper is just like getting a letter—we enjoy it. We have good crops up here."

Hollis Smith has returned from a several weeks' trip out into the Western part of the State, where he visited with relatives. Among other points he spent a week or so at Pecos and at El Paso, the latter having been his home for a number of years. At Hot Springs, New Mexico, he visited with a sister. Hollis says he is back in Brady to stay now, and that he is better pleased than ever with this country.

Messrs. John and T. J. Beasley, J. T. Squires and others were numbered as Mercury citizens here Monday. All were enthusiastic over the development being had in the Mercury oil field, and were confident of operations spreading to other sections of this territory. Mr. Squires states that his entire effort has been towards getting development, and he has repeatedly refused to lease his land unless actual drilling be made part of the contract.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Jordan and baby returned late Saturday evening from a week's trip during which they visited Fort Worth, Dallas, Ranger and other northern points. Upon the return trip they encountered a heavy downpour at Dublin, and Wilson says he helped about a dozen cars out of the mud in that section. This so delayed him, that despite his best efforts he got back to Brady just in time to be too late to vote in the run-off primary.

Mrs. S. J. Durnett is back from Bartow, Florida, where she and her father, G. F. Harper, of Harper, Texas, have been making their home with her brother since last February. Mrs. Durnett reports that she has disposed of all her Brady property, and also of her father's holdings at Harper, and is now packing up for removal to Florida where she will be with her father during his remaining days. She expects to live either at Bartow or Tampa. Mrs. Durnett says Florida is a beautiful place, but that no place compares with Texas, and that she is looking forward to the day when she will be able to return here and personally look after the interests she still retains in this section.

Writing from Boston, Dr. Harry W. Lindley, who was expected to return here the past week from New York City where he has been taking special courses in dentistry, advises that his return to Brady has been delayed until about the end of this week by reason of his attending the National Dental association in quaint, old-fashioned Boston. Among other things of interest at the meeting are exhibits of photographs, cartoons, engravings and other pictures relating to the practice of dentistry from the earliest days down to the present time; also periodicals devoted to dentistry, some of which date back to 1839. One of the novel exhibits is a rosewood dental operating case, with pearl-handled, gold-filled instruments, of the period of about 1860.

Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Cleveland and baby arrived the latter part of the past week, and are now domiciled in the Paul Willoughby residence on North Bridge street. Mr. Cleveland has been at A. & M. college this summer taking a special course in vocational agriculture, and in order to enable him to come to Brady and begin his duties as superintendent in advance of the opening of the Brady schools next Monday, he crowded the last two weeks' work into one; then went to Falfurrias and arranged the packing and shipment of the household effects to Brady. During Mr. Cleveland's stay at A. & M., Mrs.

BRIDE OF 13 COSTS $3,500; GYPSY TRIBE PUTTING ON A BIG SHOW IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK CITY

New York, Aug. 30.—If the wedding this morning of a 12 year old boy and a 13 year old girl in the gypsy camp outside Tuckahoe, N. Y., produces anything like the kind of a party that the "get-ready-to-be-married" function caused up there yesterday, a high and lofty time is going to be had by one and all; and, furthermore, a lot of American citizens of established residences are going to wish they belonged to the free-footed tribes of Romany.

There was a continuous dance and frolic yesterday by the 125 members of this particular gypsy outfit, and not one of them, from the youngest babe up to Old Joe Adams, who is Rom, or Chief, ever heard of Andrew Volstead, William H. Anderson, W. J. Bryan, the W. C. T. U., Billy Sunday, Amendment XVIII, one-half off percent or any of those other phrases or names that take the joie de vivre out of joie de vivre.

"Ree-ligious sair-mony!" said one of the third-assistant deputy chiefs, when a graceful visitor, who had sampled two tin dippers of excellent gypsy wine, asked him how come the flowing and amply-filled bucket.

"What kind of religion?"

"Gyp-see ree-ligion," he explained. "Somebody get married; everybody have good time. First day—before wedding—everybody have dance and wine, al'except marrying boy and girl. Second day—after marriage, but not before—everybody have plenty much more dance and wine. Boy and girl, too. Fine ree-ligion, gyp-see!"

A Bride for $3,500.

The bridegroom in this case is Miller John Costello, a mite of 4 feet 10, who played around yesterday in a knickerbocker suit of blue flannel, with a pink rose in his blue cap and another in his buttonhole. The bride-to-be is Mary Costello, his cousin, who stands about 8 feet 8 in her red leather slippers and weighs, maybe, 80 pounds. She wore, during yesterday's festivities, a green skirt, green stockings, pink blouse and green kerchief about her head and neck. She and her intended husband kept far away from the rest of the celebrants, as gypsy customs requires, and did not speak to each other.

"It's going to be a wonderful wedding this morning," visitors to the Tuckahoe camp were told, for little Mary is a $3,500 bride.

"You like me," explained a gypsy girl, in consideration of a box of Egyptian cigarettes. "Maybe you want marry me. You tell your father. He come see my father. My father, he have bottle whisky, brandy, wine. Two fathers, they get drunk together. Your father say to my father: 'How much you want for your girl Maria for my boy? My father say $5,000. Your father say he give $2,000. Maybe, after awhile, he take $3,500. We get married. That's all. Everybody have good time."

"How about divorce?" asked the inquisitive visitor.

"Gypsy man, he want divorce, he put gypsy girl out of tent. She go home to father."

"Does the gypsy man get his money back?"

"Money back like hell," said the gentle gypsy. "Girl gets money then."

Divorces Not Frequent.

So divorces, it seems, are not frequent among the tribes, unless the husbands are wealthy and can afford to buy another expensive bride. Costello Miller, the "mechanic" of the party, found that out, he said. He paid $4,000 for a bride two years ago, but "she no good; I divorce her; no get a nickel back from old man. Next time I marry go City Hall, get license and American preacher."

Now, a "mechanic" may sound like a strange appurtenance of a gypsy camp. But he's perfectly natural and in place nowadays. Gypsies—many visitors learned for the first time—no longer travel in caravans of big, hooded wagons, drawn by horses which they trade, breed, buy and sell. They travel nowadays in flivvers. Unfortunately, they can't breed these (even Uncle Henry himself would like to hear of that discovery), but they trade them and sell them and make a mighty good living out of it.

And so Costello Miller, who got his automotive training right in Detroit and made $8.75 a day all winter, is the mechanic, and a very important personage.

A repetition of those two names has perhaps been noticed. But it is quite natural, for everybody in the camp, which consists of twenty-six tents, each with a flivver by its side, is named either Costello or Miller or Adams or Stevenson, even though their nationality is East Indian, Spanish, Roumanian, Italian, Russian or what-not. There is not a single Englishman or American in the outfit, despite those Anglo-Saxon names.

A Day of Dancing.

Early yesterday morning the gypsy camp broke out its emblems of rejoicing for the coming nuptials. The women donned their gayest gowns—red, green, purple, brown, yellow and infinite variations of those hues. Each donned her "fortune chain," consisting of gold pieces of various nationalities, strung about her neck. One sprightly matron had no less than $1,000 in gold pieces tinkling about her ample bosom. Many of the coins were from our own mints, in the $20 denomination. Others were from Mexico, England, Roumanian, Russia and other lands the tribe had visited.

Shortly after breakfast, the celebration began. The orchestra—three fiddles, three flutes, a drum and a horn—struck up a rollicking Roumanian folk dance. Every one in camp, save the tiny, nearly nude babies, joined in a great circle. In the center of this, a husky Russian gypsy raised aloft a yellow flag, above which was a small American emblem, and the men and women, laughing and shouting, pranced about this. Their steps seemed to be combinations of the American Indian's war dance, the twisting and swaying of the Egyptians, and a very thorough demonstration of the shimmy. This was easy for the gypsy lassies, not being bothered with stays.

Besides the flag bearer, there was another important individual inside the circle. This was a jolly, black-mustached man who carried a well-filled galvanized bucket and an ample tin dipper, which he raised to the lips of each dancer that passed, so that the dancer didn't have to let go his partner's hands.

Revived From the Bucket.

Each outburst of music brought a response that lasted until the weaker ones began to drop from exhaustion, whereupon they were revived from the galvanized bucket. What was in this a non-expert must decline to say, but it tasted better than grape juice.

All day long the dancing went on, and well into the night. It will be resumed this morning after 11 o'clock, when the bridegroom's father, Nicholas Costello, will perform the ceremony.

The gypsy camp and its members are mighty picturesque, but unless their prices for posing come down New York readers won't see their pictures.

"Sure—make picture—fifteen hundred dollar," said the chief yesterday afternoon. It appears that some movie concern in the west once paid the tribe that sum for going through all its ceremonies, and now that's their price—take it or leave it.

The gypsies will stay at Tuckahoe for a month or so and then break camp, some going to Texas and Florida, others to California.

The Easy Way Out.

Boisterous Colonel (at inspection): "What's this! Your tooth brush, sir, where is it? Where is it?" Boston Buck: "My tooth brush sir, is in its sanitary container back at my quarters. You may court-martial me if you must, but I cannot violate the precepts of hygienic teaching by unnecessarily exposing to lurking germs the fibrous instrument with which I keep the chitinous structures of the gastric region in that condition so necessary to health. If you will permit, sir, you need but glance at my bicuspids, molars or incisors to realize, sir, that certain detrituses, as science has recommended, are not foreign to such habits of sanitation as I elect to follow. The air is populated with a multiplicity of germs that conduce to pyorrhea, decay and—"

B. C. (turning to C. O.): "Captain, what in — do you mean by permitting this company to bring tooth brushes out to inspection?"—Red Diamond.

THAD O. DAY WELL NO. 2 FLOWS OVER— WHITE WELL NO. 5 BROUGHT IN FRIDAY

NEW WELL IN DAY FIELD PROVES SURPRISE—STEADY FLOW PURE OIL COMING FROM CASING HEAD—TWO OTHER WELLS IN WHITE FIELD NEARING SANDS.

A complete surprise was given local oil men Monday evening when Clyde Hall phoned in the news that Thad O. Day well No. 2 was flowing over the top. A hurried trip to the well site resulted in confirmation of this report, and the further discovery that when a plug was removed from the top of a pipe, a steady flow of pure oil resulted. This well was shot with 20 quarts of nitro-glycerine several weeks ago, and later a second shot of 50 quarts was given the well. Further operations were then suspended pending receipt of an engine to pump the well. The big cavity which resulted from the tremendous shots given the well, strengthens the belief of local oil men that an accumulation of something like 500 barrels of oil is now in the well, and that gas pressure is steadily forcing the oil out at the casing head.

The action of the well comes as a complete surprise. Originally, when the well was brought in, a strong showing of oil was had; however, but little if any, gas was had with the oil. When the second heavy shot was given, it apparently sealed the oil sands up tight, and the absence of gas in the well made it apparent that a heavy pump would be required to break the seal and get the oil out of the sand. The flow of the well indicates beyond question of doubt that the well does have a flow of gas and that the pressure has been strong enough to break the seal and force the oil to the surface.

From the White field, 2 1-2 miles from Mercury, comes the report that White well No. 5 was brought in last Friday at about the same depth as the other wells in this field, viz: about 380 ft. It is also reported that this well is fully as good, if not better, than any so far had in this field.

O. L. Billingsley, field superintendent of the Argo Drilling Co. of Shreveport, La., reports Argo No. 1 located on the southern edge of Survey 840, 2 1-2 miles north of Mercury, as down 250 feet and drilling in sandy blue shale. At various times from 100 to 200 feet, there have been small traces of oil and gas and there seems to be no doubt but a good shallow well will be had. Considerable interest is attached to this test, which, if successful, will be a three mile north extension of the field on the White ranch. Numerous good oil indications in water wells nearby cause the drillers to be confident of production in this well.

The well being drilled by Mr. DeNoon, about a quarter mile northeast of the White field, is reported down something like 400 ft., and the drillers are expecting to reach the White sands in the next day or two. This well would still further extend the proven field on the White ranch.

If you feel bad; if you are "blue", tired and discouraged, without apparent reason, you need Prickly Ash Bitters, the system purifier. It restores action in the torpid liver, cleanses the stomach, helps digestion, drives out gas and fermented matter in the bowels, and brings back that fine feeling of strength, vim and cheerfulness which only men in perfect health enjoy. ## NEFF'S LEAD OVER BAILEY NOW 77,483 DAVIDSON AND JOHNSON HOLD LEADS

LANDSLIDE OF VOTES EARLY ASSURED ELECTION OF WACO CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR—RETURNS FROM 226 COUNTIES GIVE NEFF MAJORITY OF 77,483 VOTES

Hon. Pat M. Neff of Waco, candidate for governor of Texas, recorded a sweeping victory over his opponent in the run-off Democratic primary held last Saturday. The earliest election returns showed Neff in the lead, and every new bulletin added to his majority over Bailey, until it appeared evident that early predictions of a 100,000 majority for Neff would be fulfilled. Latest reports compiled by the Texas Election bureau at Monday noon gave Neff's lead as 77,483, on returns from 226 counties.

The vote is:

Neff, 244,445.

Bailey, 167,962.

Lynch Davidson of Houston and William Pierson of Greenville continued to hold first place for Lieutenant Governor and Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, respectively, over W. A. Johnson of Hall County and W. E. Hawkins of Austin, incumbents.

The vote in these races follows:

Davidson, 177,996.

Johnson, 154,221.

Pierson, 185,674.

Hawkins, 136,935.

McCulloch county proved no exception to the rule of landslides for Neff, and the total vote, as compiled Saturday night gave Neff a majority of 216 votes over Bailey in this county. Camp San Saba and one other box held a election. Neff carried the greater portion of the eighteen boxes holding elections. Davidson and Pierson in McCulloch county, as in the State, received a majority over their opponents.

At noon today (Tuesday) the election returns from twelve boxes had been filed with the county clerk, and these gave the following vote in the races for governor, lieutenant-governor and associate justice of the supreme court:

W. F. BODENHAMER RUN OVER BY AUTO SATURDAY SUSTAINS BROKEN ANKLE

W. F. Bodenhamer, one of Brady's old and most highly respected citizens, received painful injuries last Saturday afternoon when he was knocked down by an auto at the corner of the Brady National bank building, the car passing over both legs. One of the small bones in the left ankle was broken, and the other leg was badly bruised.

The accident happened when Mr. Bodenhamer attempted to cross the street just as a car, driven by a lady, rounded the corner. Whether the unfortunate victim attempted to cross ahead of the car, or else jumped back into its path, those nearest at hand were unable to state, not having observed him closely at the moment, and Mr. Bodenhamer himself does not recall just what happened.

The victim was assisted to the sidewalk and medical aid hastily summoned, and after preliminary attention he was carried to his home, where he is reported doing as nicely as could be expected.

ALL STATES TO BE REPRESENTED AT COTTON PALACE

Governor's Daughter and Other Prominent Women To Attend

Practically every state in the union will be represented by one of its fair daughters at the Texas Cotton Palace, Waco, which opens its eleventh annual consecutive state-wide exposition October 30 and closes November 14.

Following recent invitations to all state executives from Governor W. P. Hobby, to select a belle to represent that particular province at the queen's ball as a prizeess, letters have been flooding into the governor's office. He has forwarded the replies to President W. V. Crawford of the Texas Cotton Palace and some of them have been made public.

Lowden's Daughter Coming
Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, and a candidate for the republican nomination for president of the United States, replied that he would send one of his daughters to the exposition.

In his letter to Governor Hobby the Illinois executive recalled his visit to Texas during the war, saying: "Having so pleasant a memory of my own visit to Houston during the war, when I was so tremendously impressed with the hospitality of your people, I have decided to designate one of my own daughters, either Miss Florence or Miss Harriet Lowden to represent Illinois at the Texas Cotton Palace."

Dorsey to Send Niece.
Governor Hugh M. Dorsey, of Georgia wrote that he "took great pleasure in replying with this request." He named his niece, Miss Mary Faith Yow, of Lavonia, Ga., who has also accepted to represent that state.

Through the participation of these princesses from practically all the forty-eight states, the queen's ball this year will be even a more brilliant and important social function that it has been in the past.

For ten years now this social affair has drawn fair damsels and their proud parents from all parts of Texas. And this year it will draw them from all parts of the country, as it is quite probable that the distinguished mothers and fathers of the charming princesses will act as their chaperones on their trip to the Lone Star state.

FASTEST AUTO RACERS IN COUNTRY TO DRIVE AT TEXAS COTTON PALACE

With the lure of the race track dying out in many sections of the country, the automobile speed-demons are rapidly getting a grasp on public favor.

Some of the most popular motor drivers of the country will be brought to the Texas Cotton Palace, Waco, Oct. 30 to Nov. 14, this year.

No matter what the rival attraction should happen to be, the drivers of these gas machines never fail to bring out a crowd.

There's an unexplained something about this thrilling sport that appeals to both the young and old alike. And they will find their wishes granted in the honest-to-goodness races that will take place at the Cotton Palace this year.

For Boys and Girls
Boys and girls on the farms of Texas will find educational entertainment features well worth their while at the Texas Cotton Palace, Waco, Oct. 30 to Nov. 14. Many features are being provided for them. And after they've seen the instructive side of the big Texas exposition, of course they'll want to spend the remainder of the day at scenic railway, whip, ferris wheel and other appealing amusement devices.

Your Neighbors
Why not spend the sixteen days from Oct. 30, when the Texas Cotton Palace opens at Waco, to Nov. 14, when it closes, at this great exposition with your neighbors?

COULDN'T LEAVE HOUSE IN 4 MONTHS

Delaney Takes Tanlac And Is Now Back At Work Again Feeling Fine

"When I began taking Tanlac I had been confined to my house for four months, but I never felt better in my life than now," said William Delaney, well known employ of the City Street Department and who lives at 427 Fairview Ave., Seattle, Wash.

"I had stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that everything I ate disagreed with me," continued Mr. Delaney. "Gas would form after meals and cause me to have the worst sort of cramping spells. I actually suffered so much that I dreaded to eat at all and I never dared touch meat or anything heavy. I also had rheumatism all over my body and it was so bad in my arms and legs I could hardly get about at all; then my nerves went back on me and I could never get a good night's sleep."

"I heard so much about Tanlac that I just decided to try it and it just seemed to be made especially for my case, for everyone of my troubles left me so quickly that it was really amazing, and I am enjoying better health now than I have in years. I have a ravenous appetite, eat anything I want and sleep like a log every night. I have gained a lot in weight, too, and put in a big day's work on the job every day. I feel like a different man in every way and Tanlac deserves all the credit for it."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug Co., in Mercury by J. T. Matlock and in Rochelle by C. W. Carr.
