WAREHOUSE HERE NOW LICENSED UNDER U. S. SYSTEM

Brady now has in the Brady Bonded warehouse, a warehouse licensed under the U. S. Warehouse Act. The interest of J. C. Pate in the Smith & Pate Warehouse, a state bonded company, was last week purchased by T. T. Smith, who will continue the business at the same stand in what is known as the E. J. Broad building. However, one of Mr. Smith's first acts, was to make application for license under the new Federal Warehouse act, and which will make the business a federal institution instead of a state institution. The advantage of the new system lies in the fact that it creates a warehouse receipt which will be accepted by any bank as gilt-edge security.

Roy L. Newton of Dallas, who has been identified with the warehouse work of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C., the past five years, but who, prior to that, was identified with the cotton business in Austin for a number of years, is in charge of the Dallas office, opened June 1st, to superintend the work of licensing warehouses under the federal act. The Dallas office has the states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana under its supervision, and, in addition, the field work in the states of New Mexico, Arizona and California.

Mr. Newton was in Brady yesterday examining the local warehouse, and in enumerating the benefits to be had under the federal system, said: "The inauguration of the new service is a development of the Federal warehouse system which should prove of great value in the successful marketing of the staple crops by the producers in this territory. The United States Warehouse act offers to cotton, wool and grain warehousemen, producers and bankers, a system whereby warehouses may be operated under bond and subject to United States government supervision and inspection, similar in a general way to the plan under which national banks are operated. The principal purpose of the Federal system is to so standardize and improve warehousing facilities and operation as to create, in the receipts issued by the licensed and bonded warehouses, a collateral of the highest value, with which to finance the orderly marketing of the crops, and to furnish in the receipts an accurate and responsible basis of the value of the stored goods for marketing purposes."

Thus it will be seen that receipts issued for any products stored in his warehouse, are guaranteed under federal bond by Mr. Smith, and therefore constitute collateral which no banker need hesitate to handle.

WANT BRADY IN WEST TEXAS LEAGUE - OFFER CISCO'S CLUB FRANCHISE

That the Dutton City Park is occasioning much favorable comment over the state for Brady is evident from the fact that Howard Broad, secretary of the Park committee, has received an offer of the franchise of Cisco in the West Texas league. The secretary of the league was particularly anxious to have Brady in the league, and Tuesday called Mr. Broad over the phone in regard to the project. In order to still further convince the local folks that Brady's participation in the league would be a big drawing card and a profitable transaction, the secretary advised that he was sending a representative to Brady to lay the matter before the Park committee.

Due to the lateness of the season, it is not likely that Brady will look with favor upon the proposition.

WASHTUB PROVES FINE WEEVIL TRAP SAYS ARLINGTON, TEXAS, FARMER

A plain tub, two inches of water, one-half inch of crude oil and a lantern forms the best boll weevil trap possible, according to J. K. Elliott, a farmer nine miles south of Arlington. Elliott had five acres of cotton nearly destroyed by the weevils and determined to find a remedy. He finally hit on the expedient of placing the tub in a field at night, swinging a lighted lantern above it. Two inches of water and the crude oil were placed in the tub. The weevils and other insects went straight to the lantern light and, in flying about, would come in contact with the oil and immediately die.

Two nights of this netted 2,000 weevils and miller bugs, according to Elliott. The tub was left in the field four nights, but caught nothing the last two. His cotton now is growing fast. A tub should be used for every two acres to get the best results, according to Elliott.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

JOHNNY HILL, AGED 15, SUCCUMBED TO TYPHOID FEVER WEDNESDAY EVE.

Johnny Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hill, passed away Wednesday evening at 5:00 o'clock, following an illness of about three weeks with typhoid fever. Deceased had been confined to his bed for the past 17 or 18 days, and for the past few days hope for his recovery had been abandoned. At the time of death, he was aged 15 years, 9 months and 15 days.

Johnny Hill was born in Hico, and came to Brady with his parents in 1910, making his home here continuously since. He attended the Brady schools, and was enrolled in the Brady high school, where he was popular with teachers and class mates alike. Of quiet, unassuming and gentlemanly disposition, Johnny was loved by all who knew him, and his early fate brings grief to all.

The body was sent to Hico on last night's Prisco train, Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Maxwell, uncle and aunt of deceased, accompanying the remains, and interment was made in the family burial grounds at Hico cemetery at 9:30 this morning. Rev. Yerbe, Baptist minister of Hico, having conducted funeral services at the residence of Mrs. Wm. Connally, grandmother of deceased.

Surviving are the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hill, one sister, Miss Daise, and two brothers, Willie and Harry.

DUTTON CITY PARK TO STAGE GREAT CELEBRATION—ENTERTAINMENT 2ND PONY RACES TO BE ONE OF FEATURE ATTRACTIONS—PROGRAM TO INCLUDE POLO, BUCKING HORSES, GOAT ROPING, ETC.—DEMPSEY-CARPENTIER RETURNS.

Brady's big Mid-Summer celebration is to be staged at the Dutton City Park on Saturday, July 2nd, according to announcement of the Dutton City Park management. In changing the usual date of holding from July 4th to July 2nd, the promoters of the celebration were prompted by a desire to avoid conflict with other celebrations to be given in this section, and also because of the fact that fight returns will be had on that day from the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, and which will be announced by rounds at the park. This feature alone will serve to attract a great attendance of fight fans.

One of the big features of the occasion will be the appearance here of the Brownwood band, a splendid organization of fifteen pieces, and which is accounted one of the best in the state. The band will furnish an entertaining and inspiring program, especially suited to the occasion, and will add zest and spirit to the various exhibitions to be staged.

Another big feature of the afternoon's program will be the pony races, which promise to be most interesting and in which some fast animals will be entered. It has been many a day since races were held in Brady, and the revival of this sport will serve to arouse the interest of all lovers of this great sport.

Arrangements are being made to stage some real exhibitions of wild horse riding, and some of the worst bucking horses in the country will be mounted by dare-devil local riders. Trick riding will also be staged by experts, and there will be nothing lacking to make this part of the program a series of thrilling events.

To add to the many other attractions, there will be some snappy exhibitions in goat roping, and some record throws will be recorded. Also there will be staged an exciting exhibition of polo between two local crack teams. With the horses stepping out to the tune of lively music,

CIVIC LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED LAST NIGHT AT ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

A meeting of citizens interested in the forming of a Civic League in Brady was held last night at the court house, and while the attendance was small, those present made up for the lack in numbers by the enthusiasm which they put into the meeting. The need of a Civic League was emphasized in the various addresses made, and the importance of better health and sanitary measures in the city urged. The support and encouragement of the Brady band was pledged, and a campaign for better lighting, better walks and better streets advocated. A meeting of the executive board has been called for 4:00 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Commercial bank, at which time an active campaign will be mapped out.

The meeting was called to order by Wilson D. Jordan, temporary chairman, who made the keynote address of the evening, in which he stated that the support and encouragement of a Civic league had been pledged of the new Brady band. He also spoke of the many opportunities presented for an active league to benefit and beautify the city, and urged that the citizens unite in their efforts, through a Civic league, to make Brady a better and more attractive place in which to live.

Inspiring addresses were made by W. D. Crothers, Mrs. S. S. Graham, Mrs. W. H. Ballou, and others, in which the organization of a Civic league received enthusiastic endorsement. Mrs. Ballou suggested that the Civic league be formed as a federation of all the various clubs and civic organizations, so that each and everyone of these clubs might be called upon to assist in whatever moves were undertaken. This suggestion met with universal approval.

Election of officers resulted in the following being named: H. F. Schwenker, chairman. G. V. Gansel, vice-chairman. S. S. Graham, secretary-treasurer. An executive committee to be composed of the officers, as ex-officio

ANOTHER SHOWER TUESDAY AFTERNOON BRINGS WELCOME MOISTURE SOUTH END COUNTY

Another good shower of rain fell in Brady Tuesday afternoon adding to the general downpour already had. A total of one-fifth of an inch was recorded. The rain extended south to the Voca and Camp San Saba communities and brought some welcome moisture, as this section of the county had received but very little of the previous rains. However, but a light shower was had at Fredonia, where rain is greatly needed for the crops. In the Nine and Whiteland communities, and at Menard, light rains are also reported.

Reports from western sections of the state indicate heavy downpours, which, in some cases, amounted almost to a water spout. The Abilene & Southern railway at Ballinger had considerable trackage washed away, and farms were badly washed and many chickens were drowned by the flood waters.

Farmers in McCulloch county, in general, report the earth thoroughly saturated, and are anxiously trusting that the present sunshiny weather may continue so they can get into their fields and work out their crops before the weeds take them.

TRUCK LAW NOT IN EFFECT TILL 1922 —ATTY. GENERAL

Owners of commercial motor vehicles in Texas will not have to pay mileage tax and other fees as levied under the new truck law enacted by the last Legislature until after Jan. 1, 1922, as the law will not become operative until after that date, according to a holding of the Attorney General's Department at Austin yesterday. It has been believed by many that this act would become effective on June 11, sixty days after adjournment of the Legislature, and that the motor truck mileage tax would have to be paid for the rest of 1921.

John M. Lowery, County Tax Collector, was advised late yesterday in a telegram from the State Highway department at Austin that the Attorney General's office in conference had just held that no part of the new truck law can become operative until after Jan. 1, 1922, and that the old law will govern until that date. Mr. Lowery's telegram follows: "Attorney General's office today in conference held that no part of Senate Bill 101, in reference to increased tax on commercial motor vehicles, becomes effective until Jan. 1, 1922. The old law will govern until that time."

 Editor Brady Standard:
 The community was blessed with a good rain Thursday and Friday, and it is still showering. Crops look fine out here. We have as good or better prospects than we have had at this time of the year for a good while. Everybody seems to have a smile on their face.
 The Pear Valley baseball team mopped up on the Lohn team Friday by a score of 6 to 1. With J. C. Reed on first, only 3 men ever succeeded in getting there. Quince Weldon also showed his ability to hold down second. The manager tried Virgie Fought out in the field. Virgie showed up well, pegging a man out on third from right field.
 Rev. Woods of Junction is holding a revival meeting here. He is proving himself to be quite an able preacher. Everybody likes him fine and enjoys his sermons.

Eighteen Month's Old Child of Claud Knight Swallows Lye—Will Recover.
 Rochelle, Texas, June 13.
 Editor Brady Standard:
 As it is too muddy this morning to work and also too muddy to go anywhere, guess I had better get busy and send out a few dots to our paper, The Standard, and tell the people that Rochelle had a rain last Friday. Well it didn't exactly rain either—the cloud just opened up and let the contents fall, a regular water spout that was very hard on little chickens and turkeys. Am sure that many of them drowned, but this part of the country had gotten real dry; in fact, nothing doing any good until the rain came and though it caught people cutting grain and only partly shocked, yet we think it may dry up in time to save it, at least we hope so.

Farmers are just about through cutting grain and will soon be ready for the thrasher and the stubble land ready for June corn, maize or cane, and with such a fine season it will come right up and will get two crops off the same ground.
 J. P. Waddell had the misfortune to lose a fine cow a short time ago from getting into a field and eating too much green oats. She left a calf to be raised by hand.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Carr returned last week after an absence of about thirty days, visiting relatives and friends in Lankfort, Ky., and after leaving this place for home, stopped off with friends at several different places.

Mr. C. A. Woodford, the depot agent at this place, accompanied by his wife and also Miss Adelia Hendrickson, left this morning for Christoval, where they will spend quite a while he taking the baths and a general rest from his year's work and confinement at the depot.

An 18 months old child of Mr. Claud Knight who lives in the Corn Creek community, got hold of some lye last week, and before they could get to him he had swallowed a part of the contents and gotten it all over his face, but suppose he closed his eyes in time to shut it out, and they are all right. He is being treated by Drs. Anderson of Brady and Matlock of this place. What a terrible accident is this and when will people learn to be more careful in the use of this worse than deadly poison?

Misses Annie Cottle and Lintia Smallwood leave tomorrow, Tuesday, for Abilene, where they will attend the summer normal.

Misses Ruth and Julia Sellman left last Sunday night for Fort Collins, Col., to attend the normal at that place.

Misses Ocie Kincaid and Lochey Anderson left Sunday night for Austin to enter the normal there. We wish for our young lady teachers, all of them, an abundant success.

Miss Myrtle Cole who has had charge of her uncle's drug store, Mr. C. W. Carr, during his absence, left last night for her home at Valera. Miss Cole has made many friends at Rochelle, who regret very much to see her leave.

Mrs. Lettie Criswell Herring came over from Brownwood Sunday to visit in the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. P. Waddell, but went on down to Brady this morning and is interested in some kind of a graded Bible study work. She is a McCulloch county product, but left this county when quite a small child, therefore has no recollections of ever having lived here. But, like most everyone who visits here, is loud in her praise of what part of the county she has seen, and anticipates another visit in the near future.

Well, as I have nothing more to tell, I'll close.

Well as news isn't very plentiful I will go.

CHIR-RUP!

By JULIA A. PIERCE.

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Greta gave her trim little figure one last critical glance in the mirror, readjusted the sailor hat, thoughtfully pulled on her gloves, then picked up the suitcase which contained all of her earthly possessions and stepped out of the room. She did not lock the door, but left the key in the inside, for she would never be coming back.

Since the mill had laid off so many girls three months before, Greta had lived on her meager savings. Now they were gone and she could not stay in the room with no money to pay the landlady. Vainly she had gone from city to city, answering every advertisement for which she was applicable, but the result was always the same.

It was mid-afternoon and the sky was heavy with storm clouds.

Blindly, gloomily, without noticing the weight of her suitcase, Greta walked on and on—out of the dirty city into the country. Finally a large flat stone beside the road met her eye. Yes, she was weary. Placing her suitcase on the rock she sank down upon it—a forlorn little figure indeed.

This young life, who had kept herself pure and sweet through all the trials and temptations the vile cities had thrown about her, had no place to lay her head that night. No one would miss her, for she had no home and the only friend she had ever known was somewhere in the West—she knew not where. She had received no word from him since he had left her, three years before.

She allowed herself to drop into pleasant reverie and she could see his handsome face as he had tenderly told her of his love and his ambitions. "I will be back before many months, and then—" a last embrace and kiss, and he had leaped aboard the moving express, waving and smiling. Soon afterwards her mother died and all was sold to pay the funeral expenses. Greta was left penniless and alone and was forced to seek employment in the mill hundreds of miles from her old home.

If Francis had ever written, his letters had never been forwarded.

"Chir-rup! chir-rup!" The sound startled her and she looked up. There she saw a wee bird on a cherry bush, looking straight at her. Again he repeated his "Chir-rup! chir-rup!" more emphatically than before.

"Cheer up. How can I?" Greta might have been talking to a person instead of a bird, so bitter was her tone.

As though in answer, birds flitted to another branch and again broke out: "Chir-rup, chir-rup, chir-rup!"

"Well, I never!" exclaimed Greta, aloud.

"Chir-rup, chir-rup!" and he flew away.

Greta watched him disappear high up in the clouds. Suddenly a verse of scripture which she had learned in school came to her: "If then God so clothe the grass, which is today in the field, and tomorrow is cast into the oven; how much more will He clothe you, O ye of little faith?" It was as though the bird had dropped this message from heaven, whence he had just flown.

Greta sprang to her feet, tense and alert.

"Faith—faith—O ye of little faith—how much more will He clothe you, O ye of little faith?"

"Yes," she thought aloud, "that is the trouble. I have lost faith—all faith—faith in God—faith in mankind—faith in myself." Then a sudden determination and ambition fairly shook her whole being, and, grasping her suitcase, she started at a brisk walk toward the city. Yes, some way would be provided, she felt certain now.

As she was entering the city and was about to cross a street, she halted a moment to let an auto pass which was coming at law-breaking speed. Why, it was slowing down and the driver was looking at her. Before the car was scarcely opposite it stopped and a tall, handsome man sprang out with a shout:

"Greta! I have found you at last!"

"Francis!" Greta was swept into his arms and into the car.

They drove on, out into the country, back along the road Greta had just come, and Francis told her how he had written letter after letter, with no response, and had finally come East to search for her; how he had canvassed city after city and had decided at last to give up the search and return without his loved one. Briefly he related his experiences and pictured to her the great ranch he had bought.

Suddenly stopping the car, he turned and clasped the girl in his arms.

"My own brave, true love," he murmured. "Are you happy?"

Happy! She could not speak, but nestled closer to his shoulder.

Presently Greta lifted her head as a "Chir-rup, chir-rup" came again to her ears, and, gazing heavenward, she thanked God for his wonderful goodness.

Power and Responsibilities.

"The world is mine!" exclaimed the count of Monte Cristo.

"What his secret?"

COLORS DISLIKED IN CHINA

Green Considered Unlucky, and White and Blue, as Mourning Symbols, Are to Be Avoided.

Green, which is thought to be unlucky, is much disliked in China and a recent English consular report warns merchants against packing goods in green paper. White and blue wrappings are equally to be avoided, for in China they are the mourning colors. The report points out that English pins packed in blue paper proved to be unsalable, while much inferior German pins put up in red paper were snapped up at once. Red is the color of good fortune among the Chinese. Brown is liked, if it possesses a reddish shade; so are the brighter tints of pink. Carpets and curtains should possess a yellow ground, which is an extremely popular color in both China and Korea as well as Japan. Purple, too, is liked, and gold is the imperial color. While yellow is so popular in China, it is by no means wise to use it in Japan. There yellow, or rather saffron, is the color of the robes of the Sadhu caste of Hindus, who are notorious seditious mougers. Dressed in flowing saffron robes, a number of mendicants of the Sadhu caste have been recently moving all over India, preaching sedition. At Dinapur two of these men were caught in a barrack room, preaching mutiny to the native troops, and were promptly arrested. Upon them were found seditious letters written upon silk of the same color as their garments. The Sadhu yellow is supposed to represent the combined color of sun and sky, and in India is as much the color of rebellion as the red flag in Europe.

BUDAPEST GRAND OLD CITY

Hungarian Capital Has Many Beautiful Buildings and Its Surroundings Are Charming to the Eye.

Although the Hungarian capital is best known as Budapest, the Pesth quarter of the city is by far the most important and old Buda is only a small section across the Danube, on the right bank. The castle is also situated on the same side of the river and from the palace grounds one has a fine birdseye view of the handsome city, with the fine Gothic Parliament building to the left and St. Stephen's church, whose dome matches in height the dome of the Parliament building, the most prominent feature in the close-packed city beyond the busy Danube.

The people of Budapest love pleasure and for miles along the river there are bathing places where young and old mass on the sands or paddle about in graceful canoes. Across from Pesth rise rounded hills dotted with small villages and summer villages from which one has lovely views of the teeming city, the wide plain, and the winding river.

Reactionary as much of the sentiment of Budapest is, it has an unusual number of monuments to Hungary's revolutionary and liberal leaders and many of the streets have been named after those whose fame came through fighting oppression.—National Geographic Magazine.

Women Disregard Suffrage.

Suffrage still seems a long way off for women of the South American countries, but the subject is at least regarded with indulgence in Argentina. An informal election for city officials was conducted by the women of Buenos Aires with the permission of the government. Following the history of the movement in all countries the interest of the women themselves is hard to arouse in the Argentine, but four thousand voting at this election, although the city has at least three hundred thousand women. The pioneer woman suffragist of the Argentine, Senora Lopez-Nelson, and the group of women of which she is the head, have succeeded in securing widespread discussion of the subject and now are concentrating their efforts toward arousing the interest of women in a bill to amend the constitution providing for universal suffrage, which will be presented at the next national congress.

Fruit From South Africa.

Fruits from South Africa are the latest novelty in the New York city food markets. Not only do the African fruits appeal to the palate of those who long for peaches, plums and melons of summer time, but they are a delight to the eye. Strange crosses of peaches and plums and apples have resulted in colors of deep red splashed with yellow in odd shapes that are unfamiliar to most of us. The fruits are all carefully selected and packed in excelsior. They come under refrigeration, mostly by way of England, the trip taking a minimum of four weeks.—Scientific American.

The Perils of Westchester.

Wild deer are frequently seen around here, causing a certain amount of uneasiness to timid mothers as to the safety of their children. "Taint necessary to worry, ladies, as the animals are absolutely harmless. A wild deer driving an auto on the public highway is much more to be dreaded.—North Castle Sun.

Wealth From Alaska.

The mining industry in Alaska, which began in 1880, when the gold placers at Juneau were first exploited, has produced more than $418,000,000 worth of gold, silver, copper, tin, tungsten, antimony, coal, petroleum, marble, gypsum, chromites, platinum

A Little Corner of Heaven.
 There's a little corner of heaven where the human beings go,
 The people who really do long too well to end in the down below—
 The common or garden run of souls, who slipped 'most every day—
 With many a slam and many a dam,—
 (I'll be there, if I have my way.)

That little corner of heaven is full of the "might have beens;"
 They tried for right but they lost the flight, and were sorry of their sins;
 But not a one in the Corner who laughed at another's fall,
 Who laughed at tears or closed his ears
 To a fellow creature's call.

That little corner of heaven is barred to the true elect;
 There's too much earth and there's too much mirth to be actually correct;
 The harps are played by machinery and the crowns are loose above—
 Lord grant my prayer and send me there
 With the rascal souls I love!

BRADY, TEXAS, June 17, 1921

HONEST INJUN.

This old world is just the sort of a place you make it. Why not make it a better place in which to live?

A NEW LAW.

Attention of every business man operating under some other name than his own, is directed to the new state law which became effective June 11th, and which requires every one operating a business under an assumed name to file an affidavit with the county clerk of his county, giving the nature of the business and the names of those interested in the same.

This law became effective June 11, and a period of 30 days is allowed in which to comply with its provisions. Failure to comply with the law will subject the offender to a fine of not less than $25 and not more than $100 for each day after July 11th—the final limit for filing this statement.

This is one of the many new laws enacted by the recent legislature, and citizens will do well to comply with its requirements, thereby saving themselves trouble. The law applies to business operated under any name other than that of the actual owner.

UNCORKING THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

When one thinks of the live business meeting held last week under call of the Brady Chamber of Commerce, then one is made to realize how many and how great have been the opportunities than have been missed during the recent inactivity of this organization. Brady citizens should stage a real, honest, get-together meeting frequently—once every week would not be too often. It would put pep into the citizens, and ginger into the town. One never really knows, or appreciates, one's fellow-citizens or neighbor, until one rubs right up against him in a cooperative community endeavor. Then the calloused exterior is rubbed off, and we see the many underlying qualities of character and mind that we little thought were there.

A weekly luncheon and get-together meeting of the business men, in the manner in which the Rotary club plans and puts into operations its many city-building campaigns. Just and hour a week—yet the spirit of good-will and friendliness that prevails during these luncheons is what accomplishes so many notable things.

By all means, should Brady continue the good work started in the Chamber of Commerce mass meeting. Not only should 75 citizens come together to plan for Brady's welfare, but every citizen should join in and lend his active aid. A mere handful sometimes can accomplish wonders—but how much easier is it when a united citizenship decides to put the thing over.

By all means, let's keep the good work up, for there is much to be done and every citizen must be a worker, if we would obtain results.

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION.

President Wilson Jordan made a most valuable suggestion in the Chamber of Commerce meeting, when he advised that Brady secure and equip some suitable grounds as a camping place for tourists passing through Brady. This is a matter which Brady cannot accomplish too soon. Garage men will tell you that there are more tourists passing thru Brady now than ever before. Why not hold out inducements for them to stop with us over night, such as a cool, shady, well-watered, well-equipped camp grounds would offer? Not only would such a place serve to attract many a tourist to rest here, but it would be one of the best advertisements Brady could put out to the world.

Many cities have long ago realized the benefit of these tourists camping grounds, and their endeavors to entertain the tourists have received wide-spread notice through magazine articles.

Brady can put anything over, if her citizens will merely work in unison.

numbered among the Fredonia visitors in Brady Wednesday. They reported their immediate section as having missed the splendid rains of the past week, only a light shower having been had. Crops are in need of rain there, according to Mr. Wood.

John H. Gordon, representing the Dallas district office of Dodge Brothers, was in Brady Wednesday calling on F. R. Wulff, local distributor for Dodge Bros. cars. Mr. Gordon was making a tour of his district, and spoke in highly complimentary terms of the representation given the firm by Mr. Wulff.

Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Jordan were here from the Lohn community Wednesday, guests of their son, Wilson Jordan. They reported an abundance of rain out their way, and stated they were anxious for dry weather so the farmers could get to work killing out the weeds, which promise to outgrow the crops since the numerous rains.

T. A. Embry is making a number of improvements in the Brady hotel building on North Bridge street, rec-

A hall-way has also been constructed to give better access to the rooms, and painting and papering has added to the attractiveness of the interior.

E. W. Turner, who lives 5 miles east of Lohn in the upper Cow Creek community, was in Brady Wednesday, all smiles over the wonderful rains had, and said the moisture was certain to make maize, in addition to being most timely and beneficial for corn and other crops. Mr. Turner says that so thoroughly saturated is the ground that the water is seeping from the banks along the creek, much the same as wet weather springs in the Spring of the year.

"MAGIC VALLEY" OF THE RIO GRANDE
—THE EDITOR'S IMPRESSIONS OF THE SOUTHERNMOST POINT OF THE STATE

The editor of The Standard returned Monday from a week's sojourn in the Rio Grande Valley, while in attendance upon the 42nd Annual Meeting of the Texas Press association. The meeting was held at McAllen, Texas, and was notable from the standpoint of the entertainment provided and the many courtesies extended the press gang. In fact, so thoroughly did the newspaper folks enjoy the trip, and that it was unanimously conceded one of the best, if not the best meeting ever held. In fact, the meeting was given rank along with the memorable meeting held five years ago at El Paso.

The large attendance, something like 300 press representatives being present and many of whom had traveled a thousand miles or more, and a large percent of whom had come hundreds of miles to attend the meeting, was a fitting tribute to John E. Cooke, president of the association, founder of The Brady Standard and present editor of the Rockdale Reporter. Without question, Mr. Cooke is one of the most beloved members of the Texas Press, and the large attendance was a direct tribute to his popularity.

From start to finish the trip was one succession of entertainments and feasting. Leaving Dallas where many of the newspaper men had assembled, at 9:00 a. m. last Tuesday morning, three pullmans attached to the Texas Special, additional numbers were picked up enroute to Waco, where a good-sized delegation from points in Central and West Texas joined the delegates. At Waco a magnificent luncheon was served at the beautiful Raleigh hotel, compliments of the Y. M. B. L. An invitation was extended to attend the Waco Cotton Palace, and, in fact, to meet in Waco whenever possible, assurance being given that nothing would be left undone towards providing entertainment whenever the press came to that city.

Leaving Waco, the press train was run special to San Antonio, additional members being picked up all along the route. At San Antonio a Mexican supper was served by the Chamber of Commerce at the Gunter hotel, and no effort was spared in word and in action to make the stay of the delegates in the Alamo city a most enjoyable one.

From San Antonio, the special made an enjoyable night's run to Kingsville, where the South Texas delegation joined the press bunch. Here a splendid band gave a rousing welcome to the city and entertainment during the stay. The Kleberg County Commercial club served breakfast at the beautiful Casa Ricardo, and showed the lunch innumerable courtesies. The ladies in the party were all presented with attractive bouquets, and, in anticipation of a ride out to the King ranch, the Kingsville folks very thoughtfully presented hat pins to the ladies also.

The visit at the King ranch was one of the long-to-be-remembered events of the trip. The King ranch is the largest individually-owned ranch in the world, and the fact that it contains 1,300,000 acres is sufficient to bear this statement out. It is 40 miles from the front gate of the ranch to the back gate. Innumerable silos dot the ranch, and an innovation, resulting from a storm which wrecked some of the silos, is the placing of the biggest part of a silo underground—but six or eight feet of some of the silos being above ground. Here are to be seen a wonderful herd of Jersey cows, and one of the most sanitary and complete dairy houses. A novelty in a herd of sacred cattle is also to be seen on the ranch. The big attraction at the King home, however, is the wonderful King mansion, which is thrown open to the public upon all special occasions. This palatial home is a very beautiful and imposing building, the architecture being a mixture of Old Spanish and Moorish design. It is said to have cost a million dollars, with its furnishings. The press bunch were privileged to inspect this wonderful home, noted for its beautiful polished and inlaid floors, its wonderful tapestries, table coverings, magnificent paintings of ranch scenes, elegant furnishings, etc. Punch and cake were served the guests at the ranch by Mr. and Mrs. Robt. J. Kleberg, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. H. M. King. Then we were whisked away in the automobiles and driven some six miles out from Kingsville, where a gas well was to be brought in especially for the edification of the newspaper folks. Limited time prevented witnessing this sight, and the return to Kingsville was marked by a big barbecue feast, spread in one of the large lumber yard sheds. Gov. Neff, who had joined the bunch at Austin, made one of his characteristic speeches here, in which he extolled splendid citizenship, and in behalf of the press representatives, extended warm thanks for the many courtesies shown. In fact, the governor was called upon at almost every stop to make an address, never failing to win applause and approval by his opportune words.

The next stop made was at Raymondville, county seat of the newly created county of Willacy, and the first town of the "Magic Valley" to be visited by the editors. Raymondville has not yet attempted irrigation, but they are getting wonderful results from dry farming, and boast the largest citrus fruit orchard in the valley. As is characteristic of the citizens of the "Magic Valley," they are live boosters and firmly believe they have discovered the new Eden of the universe. Like every other town of the valley, Raymondville has a splendid band, and its inspiring music as the train rolled in, impressed the visitors most favorably. Then, too, the Raymondville folks, in common with all the "Valley" citizens, are firm believers in the value of printer's ink, and make liberal use of the same in advertising their town and the advantages of citizenship there. During our brief stay in Raymondville, we learned that this place has artesian well water; ships more hogs than any three places in the Valley; leads in dairy products; has electric lights; has a fine school and modern school buildings; has churches of various denominations; has city water works; has the first and largest modern poultry farm, etc., etc.

And since we mentioned electric lights, it might not be inopportune to say that in the "Magic Valley," every town, large or small, had their own electric light plant and had their streets well illuminated at night. Also in regard to schools, the various school communities visited boasted most attractive and modern school buildings, any of which would be a credit to a city. Further than that, there were numerous school buildings for Mexican school children that would put to shame the school buildings used in other sections of the state.

At Harlingen we were given a most royal welcome—band playing, streets all decorated, citizens in gala attire, and business for the day suspended while the citizens with one accord turned their attention to giving the newspaper folks a royal welcome. Beneath an immense arch spanning the middle of the main street, President John E. Cooke, marching at the head of the press bunch, was met by a young lady, who presented him with the key to the city. Mr. Cooke, in turn, presented the key to Governor Neff, who made an address of appreciation for the royal welcome extended. At Harlingen The Standard editor was promptly taken captive by Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hundley who vowed revenge for our having reported Mr. Hundley dead some two years ago. Mr. Hundley is agent for the Gulf Coast lines at Harlingen, and employs an office force of some sixteen men. He called attention to the half-million dollar ice plant at Harlingen, stating that all the Gulf Coast trains were iced at this point. Mr. and Mrs. Hundley are the same happy, lovable, kindly folks as all Brady citizens know and remember them, and their host of friends will be glad to know that not only are they very much alive, but that they have been enjoying excellent health in the Rio Grande Valley. That Mr. Hundley has lost none of his old-time efficiency and popularity is evidenced by the statement of a fellow official that he wished there were more agents who handled their work as well and were as highly esteemed as Mr. Hundley. At Harlingen we also had the pleasure of seeing Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watters, former Bradyites, who are conducting a variety store there. Mr. Watters has changed not one whit in the ten years that he has been gone from Brady, and the same happy smile as of yore adorns his countenance. Mrs. Watters is the picture of health and acknowledges that the Valley climate agrees with her. Here, too, we met Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Russell-White.

A wedding of interest to a host of Brady friends, was celebrated Tuesday night, June 14th, at Menard, Texas, when Miss Margaret Russell became the bride of William J. White of Brady. News of the happy event was contained in a letter received by the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. White, of Brady.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee L. Russell, and is regarded as one of the most attractive and charming young ladies of this section. She was educated in Fort Worth, where the family have been living part of the time, and has visited in Brady upon numbers of occasions, endearing herself to all by her sweet womanly qualities and gracious manner. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. White of this city, and is one of Brady's finest young men. He received his education in the Brady schools, and also attended A. & M. During the war, he volunteered for service and saw overseas duty in England as airplane pilot. Following his return from service, Mr. White, something over a year ago, secured an interest in the ranch of White, Crothers & Co. 30 miles east of Sonora, assuming charge of the same, and operating with ability and success.

Following a stay of a few days on the ranch of Mrs. White's brother, Jas. Russell, near Menard, Mr. and Mrs. White will visit relatives and friends in Brady for a few days before going to the Sonora ranch to make their home.

The sincere good wishes of a host of friends are extended Mr. and Mrs. White for a long, happy and prosperous voyage through life.

GOLD COINS ARE FOUND HIDDEN IN CAKES OF SOAP
SMUGGLERS LOSE FORTUNE

Berlin, June 12.—A message from Cologne states that a German housewife saw in the window of a grocer's in the Neumarket, soap at 3.50 marks a cake, and as the same kind of soap was sold elsewhere at 5.50 marks, she bought eleven cakes, paying all the money she had with her.

Her husband, when he returned from work and was told of the cheap soap, growled: "Probably filled with sawdust" and cut one cake in two.

A twenty mark ($5) gold piece was disclosed. East of the ten other cakes contained a similar coin.

Husband and wife hurried back to the shop, where a big box of such soap had been exhibited for sale, but the whole stock had been sold. The soap evidently had been stolen from somebody intending to smuggle the gold coin across the frontier to some foreign country.

The thief, unawares of the hidden gold, sold his booty, which found its way to the grocer on the Neumarket, who said he bought the soap from a peddler.

"Tanlac restored my mother's health so perfectly that I began taking it, too, and just two bottles have helped me wonderfully," said Mrs. Golda Bird, 310 1/2 E. Markham St., Little Rock, Ark.

"A short time ago I seemed to have a general breakdown," she continued. "My stomach became so disordered that nothing tasted good and I just didn't want to eat a thing. I fell off in weight and became weak and run-down. My complexion was pale and sallow and my back ached so I could hardly lift my little baby. I took little or no interest in anything and was going from bad to worse.

"But I think Tanlac is just wonderful to have helped me so in such a short time. I have only finished my second bottle but already I feel like a different person. I enjoy what I eat and am gaining in weight. The pains have about all gone from my back and I have been built up so I feel better and stronger in every way. I have nothing but the highest praise for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Brady by Trigg Drug Co., in Mercury by J. T. Matlock, in Rochelle by C. W. Carr, and by leading druggists everywhere.

THE NEW DISEASE.

REDDY FOX, as everyone knows, is a very clever fellow. He gets his living by his wits as well as his courage.

One day while Reddy was eating his dinner out of his bright tinplate he happened to notice that as he moved it he made little flashes of bright light, for the sun was shining right on it.

Reddy Fox always thinks a great deal, and while he was throwing the light about the room he was thinking how he could use it to his advantage, meaning how he could play some trick on some one in a way that would get him something.

"I believe I can do it," he suddenly exclaimed, jumping up in such a hurry that he upset his chair. Then he washed his tin plate and, taking it under his arm, he hurried out of the house.

Mr. Coon had a pantry filled with things that Reddy Fox liked, but Mr. Coon had not invited him to dinner once this long time, and now Reddy intended to get what he wanted without being invited.

Mr. Coon was sitting on his steps and Reddy had the tin plate under his coat. "You don't look well, Mr. Coon," he said. "Are you sick?"

"Now that you mention it," said Mr. Coon, "I believe I do feel rather poorly, and I don't think I ate as much breakfast as usual."

That night, after Mr. Coon had run to several callers, plan some light refreshments. In some families it is customary to have some sort of light refreshment toward the close of the evening anyway, and then it is hospitable to ask any callers who happen to be present to partake.

Now, here is something that every young man ought to bear in mind, and that is that his leave-taking should be brief. Having risen to depart, he should show decision of character and poise enough after bidding his hostess and others who may be present good-night, to go away at once, but often extremely young men, though they may be willing enough to leave, seem to be quite unable to do this. Of course this dallying is often the fault of those on whom they are calling, who open new topics of conversation just as they are departing, and make it difficult for them to leave at once. This also shows a certain lack of social poise.

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?
By C. N. LURIE

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"HEALTHY" AND "HEALTHFUL."

THERE is a distinct difference in the meaning of these two words, and the distinction should be made by all who desire to speak and write correctly. "Healthy" means possessing or enjoying health or its effects; as, "a healthy person" or "a healthy condition." But "healthful" means promoting health, or adding to it, or preserving it. Thus, we say that a healthy person is the product of healthful surroundings. "The finances of the country are in a healthy condition." "Healthful living is conducive to length of life."

A correspondent of a newspaper wrote, "Are plants in a sleeping room healthy?" It was evident that she meant, "Does the presence of plants in a sleeping room affect the health of the occupant of the room?" Of course, a plant, in a sleeping room or elsewhere, may or may not be healthy; and its presence in a room may or may not be healthful for the human occupant.

LINCOLN.

IN SPITE of all his load of care,
War's worry and demurrage,
He never yielded to despair,
Nor weakened in his courage.

He faced the deadliest of fact,
As well as wildest rumor,
With patience and surpassing tact,
And never falling humor.

And true, defying,
The ages

away for a change of climate, he suddenly discovered, while running, that he was feeling very well and not at all ill.

"I guess I was not as sick as I thought, after all," he said. "I believe I will go back home, and if I have a second spell of flashes I can go away for good, for Reddy Fox said the third attack was the danger point."

It was moonlight when Mr. Coon came to the path that led to his house in the woods, and as he came to the brush where Reddy Fox had hidden his bright tin plate Mr. Coon saw something glisten.

"That looks like Reddy Fox's plate," said Mr. Coon. "Now I wonder how it happened to be here. Anyway, finding it is keeping in the woods, and I need a new plate."

When he reached his house he was surprised to hear deep breathing coming from his bedroom, and not wishing to get into any trouble, Mr. Coon climbed in the pantry window.

He was sitting on the sill listening, when the moonlight streaming in showed him two empty shelves.

Mr. Coon stared, then he scratched his head, and then he listened, and then he looked at the tin plate.

By that time he had come to the conclusion that Reddy Fox had played a trick on him.

Whether Reddy Fox ever knew who was to blame for his fright Mr. Coon never knew, but when one day Reddy stopped to speak to Mr. Coon and found him eating his dinner from a tin plate he did not let on he noticed it.

It was a long time after this that Mr. Coon discovered about the flashes. He was eating his dinner, and having made his tin plate very clean by eating all that was on it, he picked it up, and the sun striking it made little flashes round the room.

"Oh," said Mr. Coon, "that was the way he did it. Well, I don't see but what I got the best of it, for I have a nice bright plate and he has nothing to show for his trouble."

THE RIGHT THING AT THE RIGHT TIME

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

WHEN HE CALLS.

Practice in time becomes second nature. —Anon.

IN A MOTION picture recently produced, the charming young actress impersonating a New York society girl receiving the call of one of her men friends takes the caller's hat and coat from him as he enters the hall. Now as a matter of fact no girl who knew social usage would do that. Of course, if the man were aged or otherwise too feeble to dispose of them himself, she would. Otherwise, if there is no servant at hand to take them from him, the young woman would simply show him where the hatrack was located. A young man caller need not be asked by his hostess to remove his coat. If a maid comes to the door he should remove his coat in the hall after he has taken off his hat and give them to the maid or hang them on the hatrack before going into the reception room or drawing room. If the young woman receives a caller in a sitting room above stairs he should leave his outer things in the downstairs hall before ascending.

The American girl should always extend her hand to the young man caller when he calls, if he has asked to see her. It was an old-time courtesy always to say "Tray be seated," or something of that sort, and the young man did not take a seat until he had been so requested. Now, however, we do not stand on such formality. The young man takes a seat after his hostess has been seated, but he avoids taking the most comfortable chair in the room.

The question is often asked by young women as to whether young men should be given refreshments when they call. If they come in the afternoon about four or five it is customary in large towns to serve tea, which the hostess dispenses from a tea table in the drawing room or living room. Of course, with the majority of young men, an afternoon call is an impossibility and all their calling is done in the evening. Now hospitality does not require any refreshments for the evening call; but, especially if the young man has expressed his intentions of coming a certain night, or if there are

THE earliest attempt at codifying laws was the famous code of Hammurabb, about 2000 B. C. This antedated even the Commandments given by Moses. It was very complete, covering nearly every contingency. 77c OF EVERY DOLLAR OF NATIONAL EXPENSE GOES FOR WAR PURPOSE

Of every dollar of national expenditure 77.3 cents goes for purposes of war, according to the National Bank of Commerce in New York, which points out that any constructive program looking to a remedy of the present tax situation must take this fact constantly into consideration.

"This condition is not a new one," the bank says in the June issue of its magazine, Commerce Monthly. "Each war in which this country has been involved has left us a heritage of increased expense. Not only has the direct military burden been permanently increased, but there have been additional outlays on account of war debt, for pensions, and for administrative purposes growing out of the experience and results of the war."

"The scale on which military operations were conducted during the most recent conflict was so great that the percentage of revenue devoted to war purposes has enormously increased. In the five fiscal years previous to the outbreak of the European war, less than half our governmental expenditures, on an average, pertained to the military establishment. In 1919 when the peak of war cost was reached, these expenses were more than twenty times as great as those for purely civil purposes."

The bank cites official treasury reports to show that from 1910 to 1914 the average annual expenditure for war purposes was $436,320,000 or 45.6 per cent of the total. This figure increased to $869,568,000 in 1917, to $8,653,120,000 in 1918, and to $15,028,010,000 in 1919, then dropped to $5,071,740,000 in 1920. Even with all doubtful items including advances to foreign governments, excluded, war expenditures in both 1919 and 1920 exceeded 77 per cent of the entire amount expended.

The man getting his hair cut noticed that the barber's dog, which was lying on the floor beside the chair, had his eyes fixed on his master at work. "Nice dog, that," said the customer.
"He is, sir."
"He seems very fond of watching you cut hair."
"It ain't that, sir," explained the barber. "You see, sometimes I make a mistake and snip off a little bit of a customer's ear."—The Christian Advocate.

Student Philosophy.
"Sedentary work," said the college lecturer, "tends to lessen the endurance."
"In other words," butted in the smart student, "the more one sits the less one can stand."
"Exactly," retorted the lecturer, "and if one lies a great deal one's standing is 'lost completely.'"—Kind Words.

An Announcement by The Studebaker Corporation of America

Eight months ago, when the costs of material and labor appeared to have reached their peak, we made substantial reductions in the prices of Studebaker cars. These reductions were in anticipation of our ability, after the turn of the year, to purchase materials and to fabricate them at lower costs. The expected savings have been realized. With them, other savings have been made, as a result of the greatly increased volume which Studebaker has this year enjoyed. During the first five months of 1921, our volume of business has exceeded that of any other automobile manufacturer except Ford. The Studebaker plants are running at capacity with unfilled orders on hand for over 7,000 cars.

In this quarter we shall produce 21,000 automobiles against 11,000 in the corresponding period of last year. This is an increase of approximately 100%.

No other automobile manufacturer is making a comparable showing.

We believe that the confidence of the buying public, which has made and is making this record possible, will continue, because it is supported by the quality and value of our products, and these we shall uphold.

We expect that as a consequence the present economical and efficient production basis can be maintained and that we are justified in making further reductions in the prices of Studebaker cars.

"MAGIC VALLEY"—THE EDITOR'S IMPRESSIONS OF THE SOUTHERN POINT OF STATE

They are delighted with their new home, and have fond hopes of being able to induce Mrs. Chambers' mother, Mrs. Joe Souther, and other relatives as well, to join them in making their home in Harlingen.

As may be imagined, all these former Brady folks recall with pleasure their residence in Brady as among the happiest years of their lives, and sent fond messages to old-time friends and acquaintances here.

Escorted and safe-guarded by Mr. and Mrs. Hundley, we enjoyed a visit to the orange groves, and various other places of interest. Mr. Hundley told of a new experiment made this year by the citizens of Harlingen. In marketing tomatoes, they tried the plan of wrapping each tomato in a separate wrapper, and then packing them carefully in crates. The result was that the shippers saved from $80. to $110 per car in icing, and the tomatoes, none of which were shipped to points south of Kansas City, and many of which went as far north as Canada, arrived at destination in first-class shape.

"I've been a darn fool for six years," a dairyman said, after he used Purina Cow Chow on pasture for the first time. He saw how much more milk Cow Chow made for him in the late summer and fall.

Regarding shipments, Harlingen last month shipped 160 solid cars of tomatoes, besides an average of 4,000 baskets by express daily. During the same month, the Harlingen station handled 360 solid cars of freight, in addition to less than carload lots and express shipments. During the vegetable season, 583 cars of vegetables, in addition to express shipments, were sent out.

At Harlingen, as at practically every stop made, the delegates were treated to a delightful out-door lunch. The plan of serving the lunch was rather unique, the visitors forming in line, and marching alongside a row of tables built on one side of the main street, being supplied with a plate at the outset, and then helped to salads, chicken, sandwiches of every manner and description, etc., as they proceeded along the table. In this manner everyone was served with just what he chose, and all confusion was avoided. Following the lunch, watermelon topped off a most enjoyable feast.

Harlingen is a most beautiful and attractive little city, with substantial business buildings, and modern and attractive homes, each set in a grassy plot and surrounded with palms and semi-tropical trees and flowers. The streets are well paved and the city well-illuminated. According to Mr. Hundley, the town has gotten its growth almost wholly within the past three years, and, according to the 1920 census, had a population of 1784. The citizenship believes strongly in good schools and, in common with most of the newer towns of the valley, segregates its Mexican population.

There are a thousand and one other favorable impressions of Harlingen that crowd the memory, but which will have to be omitted for lack of space. I might mention that Mr. Hundley volunteered to escort me into Mexico (and really did so at Matamoros) and introduce me to Don Jose Cuervo, one of the Mexican notables, and as well to show me innumerable other courtesies. While at his house, he hauled forth the fatal article in which I had given an account of his supposed death two years ago, and after reading over the eulogy I paid him, I came to the conclusion that he was really ungrateful for not having passed away, but had, instead, elected to remain in the land of the living and try to live up to the splendid reputation I had given him. On his part, Mr. Hundley said he felt it was due me, in revenge for my untimely announcement, that he escort me across the border and have me thoroughly pickled. (For the benefit of those who might be inclined to take these statements seriously, will say that all concerned considered the matter a huge joke, and that it gave Mr. Hundley the greatest pleasure to introduce me as the man who had written his obituary, with which article the citizens of his community seemed familiar.)

However, this article grows long, and we have not even come to tell of the wonders of McAllen, the convention city. So, for those who may find the account of this trip of interest, we will tell more of the trip in a later issue.

FLOYD SMITH RESIDENCE, OCCUPIED BY MRS. D. A. WEBB DESTROYED WEDNESDAY

The residence on the Floyd Smith place, two miles west of Lohn, a frame structure of four rooms with a hall, occupied by Mrs. D. A. Webb, was completely destroyed by fire about 3:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The fire apparently had its origin from a lighted oil stove, the wind blowing the flame against the papered wall, and the fire spreading with great rapidity. Mrs. Webb and her niece were the only occupants of the house, but the fire attracted the attention of neighbors, some fifty of whom gathered at the scene within a short time, but who were unable to save the building or contents. In fact, the only articles rescued were a trunk, a couple mattresses and a couple chairs. Loss on dwelling was fully covered by insurance, but none was carried on the contents.

The good citizens of the community made up a purse of between $250 and $300, which they presented to Mrs. Webb, and for which she was deeply grateful.

Fire has no herald to tell of its coming. It will eat up the savings of a lifetime in an hour. Money put in a fire insurance policy buys sure indemnity for loss if fire visits you. Insure today. Anderson & Carrithers—Insurance. "Better Safe than Sorry."
