GRAND JURY RETURNS THREE FELONY INDICTMENTS

After being in session three days, the grand jury for the September term of district court, returned three indictments, all for felonies, into court, and was dismissed yesterday afternoon. All indictments were based upon liquor violations. Only one was made public—that of Arthur Nolan, negro, charged with manufacturing intoxicating liquor. The negro has been in jail for the past month or six weeks. His case was continued to next term of court.

The following is the Grand Jury report:

Grand Jury Report.

Report of Grand Jury for September term of court, 1922.

To the Hon. J. O. Woodward, District Judge:

We, your Grand Jury impaneled on the 18th day of September, 1922, for the fall term of court, respectfully submit the following report.

We have been in session four days. During that time we have had several things brought to our attention, and we have in every instance made careful and thorough examination of the various witnesses we have had brought before us and in our investigations we have found three bills.

We have also examined the report of Justice of Peace N. G. Lyle and found same to be correct. We have also examined the jail house; also the court house and find them to be in good condition and thoroughly sanitary. We also find that some of the Justices of Peace in the county have failed to send in their reports. We recommend that in the future that they give this their careful attention, so that the grand juries may be informed on the various things that are happening over the county.

In our investigations we find that the liquor laws are being violated more than any others and we recommend to the citizenship of our county that they give our officers their earnest co-operation in putting a stop to this traffic.

We desire to express our appreciation to the Honorable Judge, District Attorney, Sheriff and Deputies, District Clerk and Bailiffs for all courtesies and services shown us during our session.

W. N. WHITE,
Foreman of Grand Jury.

CONTRACT LET FOR ANOTHER MODERN HOME IN SOUTHWEST PART BRADY

The southwestern section of the city is receiving a building impetus that promises to make of it one of the most popular residential districts of Brady. Another contract was let this week for a modern home, making the third residence now under construction in this immediate neighborhood. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Snyder have let the contract to W. W. Wilder for a modern bungalow home to be located on the lot just south of the Mrs. Ellen Strickland residence and across the street east from the W. R. Davidson residence. The contract calls for a four-room house, with bath, front porch and screened in back gallery, complete with pantry, closets and other up-to-the-minute conveniences. Work upon the foundations was started by Contractor Wilder Monday, who expects to have the new home ready for occupancy within the next sixty days.

The centenary of the decipherer of the Rosetta stone is being commemorated in Paris. The Rosetta stone contains the key to the ancient writing of the Egyptians and was discovered by a French officer in 1799, at Rosetta, near Alexandria. Champollion, the French Egyptologist, found the key to the writing after eight years' labor. He was only 11 years of age when he started deciphering the hieroglyphics on the stone.

REAGAN HANDS IN RESIGNATION AS POSTMASTER

It became known to Brady citizens this week that A. B. Reagan, for the past eight years postmaster at Brady, had tendered his resignation to the Postoffice department to become effective the end of the month. The report was yesterday confirmed by Mr. Reagan, who stated that while his appointment held until July of next year, with the inevitable change which would result by reason of the Republicans being in charge of the national administration, he was anxious to be relieved of his arduous duties and take up other lines of endeavor.

Mr. Reagan's administration of local postal affairs has been characterized by a steadily increasing volume of business, and his discharge of the duties has met with popular approval. When Mr. Reagan first took the postmastership in 1914, the Brady postoffice was barely maintaining its position as a postoffice of the second class. During his 8-year incumbency, the business of the office has steadily increased both in amount of sales of stamp stock and in the volume of mail matter handled. The increase in parcel post business has been little short of phenomenal. Then during the war, the duties of the office were greatly enlarged, so as to include the sale of war savings stamps, the sale of Liberty bonds, and recruiting service being added as well. All of this not only added to the duties of the postmaster, but to his responsibilities as well. Many thousands of dollars have been put through the local banks by reason of the sales of stamps and bonds, and, in fact, is still being done. Coincident with the great increase in business and responsibilities, the remuneration has also been increased, so that the position is now more desirable than ever before.

While no official action has been taken, so far as is known, upon the resignation, Mr. Reagan states that it cannot come too soon, and will be welcomed as a relief from the burdens he has been carrying these number of years. Incidentally, Mr. Reagan wishes to express appreciation of the consideration given him by patrons of the office, whom it has always been his desire to serve in every manner possible consistent, and in keeping with postal requirements.

Mr. Reagan further states that he has no intention of leaving Brady but will continue as a permanent resident here.

ROSH HOSHANA, JEWISH NEW YEAR, TO BE OBSERVED HERE SATURDAY

Tomorrow, Saturday, Sept. 23rd, marks the dawn of the year 5683, according to the Jewish calendar, and orthodox Jews all over the world will observe it as their New Year's day, closing their places of business, and observing the day as a feast day. As a matter of fact, two days really comprise the New Year's celebration, but local members of the Jewish race usually observe only the first day—by closing their business and enjoying a holiday. The tenth day after New Years is observed as a fast day.

Tom proceeded on his tour of inspection and when he reached the river he wrote his report to the superintendent. "Sir, where the railroad was the river is."

Doyle Cates Recovering from Injuries Received in Cave-In on Frisco R. R.

Rochelle, Texas, Sept. 18. Editor Brady Standard:

We are having some cloudy weather this morning and tried to rain yesterday but was only a few sprinkles. On Sunday, the 10th, we had such a good rain, but only in this immediate section, putting Deep Creek more than half full, and rained none four miles down the creek. The farmers kept right on with their cotton picking and had water in their dry pastures where they were about out.

Farmers are rushing with the cotton picking, trying to get it saved before a gully-washer comes and damages the cotton, and with only one gin, it is kept pretty busy.

Our school was to begin the 11th, but was put off two weeks to have the building plastered and also to give the children a chance to help save the cotton, and at the same time to make a few pennies for themselves. We have some very industrious little fellows in and around Rochelle that don't at all mind to put on the cotton sack and march off to the field.

Doyle Cates was brought home from the local sanitarium a week or ten days since, where he was taken for treatment. At the time he was painfully hurt from dirt and rock caving in on him, while working as a section hand on the Frisco railroad track at this place. Doyle is a very bright and ambitious boy, and one who could always be depended upon to do a piece of work undertaken for anyone, for whom he was working, and it is certainly to be regretted that this misfortune has befallen him, and his many friends in this and other communities wish for him a permanent and speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Humphrey are rejoicing over the arrival in their home of their first son. Mother and babe doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sims and two sons, Joe, Jr., and Percy, of Fort Worth, arrived at the Waddill home last Tuesday and went on to the Brooks ranch the following Friday, where they enjoyed a couple of days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rogers, and while there enjoyed the time fishing, bathing and hunting. They also had all the fish they could eat, and left for their home on Monday afternoon so as to arrive there in time for the two sons to enter school on Wednesday, the 13th.

On the sick list this week is Aunt Jane Gentry, 86 years old, who lives 6 miles from Rochelle. Am glad I can report her improving.

I've been neglecting to mention the improvements here. Mr. Dennis Armour has recently put in a tailor shop, installed an up-to-date steam press and other conveniences, with gents furnishings. This is next door to the postoffice. Then A. W. Moseley and wife have opened up a tailor shop, dry goods and millinery, combined, in the old Dub Doran stand, and next door to this is an up-to-date cold drink stand and ice cream parlor, run by a Mr. Sanford and son, from San Saba; and in the Smith & Co. store Mrs. Dennis handles ladies hats. Yes, and Dr. Matlock has recently had his drug store painted. The health of the community is good.

SECOND ATTEMPT TO LOCATE GOINS GRAVE FAILURE

The second attempt to locate the Sebe Goins' grave failed last Saturday when Tom Jennings, pioneer citizen of this county, was unable to find any trace of the same in the Cow Gap neighborhood, where he avers, he is positive the victim of early-day Indian raid lies. Mr. Jennings, who lives on the Newman farm, says he was one of the three men camped in this section while out trying to capture mustangs, and who were attacked by the Indians. Goins was killed, the second man was wounded and Jennings, himself, escaped unhurt. Mr. Jennings had never been closer than a mile to the place in the 57 years since the attack occurred, but averred that so indelibly had it been stamped upon his memory that he could almost walk directly to the spot.

The party that visited the Cow Gap section last Saturday was composed of Mr. Jennings, J. N. Craig of Salt Gap, G. C. Cathey, Postmaster A. B. Reagan, Mr. Nance of Dallas, H. Meers and The Standard editor. Mr. Jennings scouted around Cow Creek in the pasture to the left of the road, and after some time found what he declared closely resembled the spot where they camped, and where the Indians attacked them. However, he was unable to find any trace of a grave.

According to Mr. Jennings, the three men had come out into the Cow Gap section hunting mustangs, being anxious to capture one particularly beautiful animal. They spent a day there, withoutatching sight of any of the animals, then went up on a draw leading into Cow Creek, where there was a spring of fresh water, and where they camped for the night. The party of Indians slipped up on them, first capturing their horses, and then attacking the sleepers. Goins jumped to his feet and rushed directly at the Indians, trying to fire at them with a cap and ball pistol. It had been raining, however, and was still damp, and the gun failed to fire. Goins was shot first in the shoulder, and then an arrow struck him in the eye and pierced his brain, dropping him dead in his tracks. Mr. Jennings did not arise and expose himself, but crawled away. His other companion was shot through the groin, but nevertheless made his getaway. The two men, according to Jennings, then skirted the mountains, and, taking a course fled back to San Saba where they gave the alarm. The burial party set out from San Saba, found Goins' body where it had fallen face down, and buried it about ten o'clock that night. The hot sun had decomposed the body badly, so a shallow grave was dug alongside the body, a blanket was placed in it, and the body rolled over into the grave, so that it lay face upward. A stone with the victim's name carved on it and the date, "1865," was placed to mark the grave, says Mr. Jennings.

Mr. Jennings is positive that the killing took place in 1865, in the month of February, since he was then 17 years of age, and is now 74. He is also positive that the scene of the massacre was in Cow Gap, and says as soon as he can, he will make a careful search and feels sure he will locate the grave, even though it has been 57 years since he visited the spot, and has only the recollection of the camping place to guide him.

His story is borne out to some extent by A. M. Finlay of Five, who says that some 25 or 27 years ago, he was coming along the old road that then crossed this section with an old man named Hall, who pointed out three trees, and told him that a short distance from the trees there was a grave in which was buried a man killed by the Indians. Mr. Finlay is not now sure of the exact location, but believes it was near the road that leads to the Chas. Steelhammer gate.

However, with this belief Warren Hudson, John and Jack Beasley and others differ sharply. They aver that the raid occurred in the Salt Gap section, and in May of the year 1861, or over 61 years ago. Warren Hudson is the only living survivor of the burial party. He, also, had not visited the scene of the burial in all that period up to two weeks ago, hence it was extremely difficult for him to locate the spot. John Beasley, who had visited the grave a number of times, was unable to find the place on account of the limited time the party had to search for it, but believes that another visit, when

Mr. Reagan's interest in the matter results from the fact that his father-in-law, Cal Montgomery, deceased, was a member of the burial party, and had often remarked that the grave should some day be definitely located and marked in suitable fashion to dedicate the memory of those early-day pioneers who braved the dangers of the wilderness to wrest this country from the savages and give it into the peaceful possession of their posterity. Should the grave be located, Mr. Reagan proposes to carry out his father-in-law's wish, and have erected over it a suitable monument, dedicated to the pioneer-hero, who has slept there these many years.

The full purchase price of the land and up to $3,000 for buildings, equipment and stock has been advanced to each. Only seven per cent of the men thus aided have abandoned their property and last year's crops from soldier lands were valued at $15,000,000.

Near the Yukon border in a valley in far northern British Columbia, a mining engineer has discovered the remains of mastodons that once roamed Northern Canada. This valley is north and west of the headwaters of the Findlay River and is not marked on the maps. Footprints of a three-toed animal are imprinted in the sandstone. The bones are not fossilized but are in an excellent state of preservation. Only dog teams are used in that section and it requires a year to make the journey.

Rubbing elbows with our neighbors and fellow-citizens will wear many of the rough corners off of our own dispositions and characters.

SERVICE FOR HUMANITY.

It has been suggested that the local American Legion could perform no greater service or benefit to the citizenship than to keep at the Legion club rooms, or some ready-available spot, one or more gas masks, which have been inspected at regular intervals and which are constantly supplied with oxygen necessary to make for 100% efficiency. Of course, the recent tragedy in which two of our citizens had their lives snuffed out, is responsible for the suggestion, which is well worth considering and acting upon.

In the three or four years that have elapsed since our soldier boys were returned from over-seas service, there has been no occasion to resort to the use of gas masks, possibly, until Monday's tragedy. Again, it may be years before another such occasion may arise. One never knows! But should the occasion arise, when a disastrous fire, explosion or accident of such character as to endanger and make necessary the rescuing of lives occurs, then it will be a wonderful comfort and an admirable bit of foresight to know that we have not neglected this simple precaution.

The Standard passes the thought along to our soldier boys, knowing that they always may be counted upon to arise to any emergency, whether it be in times of peace or in war.

PICTURES MAKE THE PAPER.

Pictures make the paper! This was the fact discovered years ago by the daily newspapers. Today the daily newspapers adorn their first pages with pictures of men and women in the public eye; pictures of train wrecks and other disasters; pictures of winners in beauty, bathing and blue-beard contests; pictures of native and foreign scenes. Why? The answer simply is that a picture attracts the eye long before the cold type itself does. Pick up any paper and the first thing that catches the eye are the pictures. They stand out in bold relief from the printed page, and it makes no difference whether the picture be one of strictly news value, or a picture used in enhancing the attractiveness of a merchant's ad.

For years the daily newspapers have had virtual monopoly on the pictorial feature. Their circulations have increased by leaps and bounds. A single picture, or a cartoon tells a story or conveys an idea that columns and volumes of words and descriptive writings would not.

Today, however, the weekly—the so-called "Country Newspapers,"—are coming into their own. By means of casting boxes and syndicated mat service, the weekly newspaper, too, can present its readers with timely illustrations and pictorial reading. In this, as in all matters which affect the newspaper business, The Standard has again proven itself a leader, being one of the first weekly newspapers in West Texas to install equipment which enables us to give illustrated service to advertisers and readers alike.

The last two issues of The Standard have graphically proven the effectiveness of illustrations in a weekly newspaper. Look up the ads in last Friday's Brady Standard, and you are at once struck with their "city-fied" appearance. Up-to-the-minute illustrations did it! Look over last Tuesday's issue again, and note the news features. In last week's daily newspapers you read how Mrs. Harding, wife of President W. G. Harding, lay at the point of death, and where Dr. Charles Mayo, world-famous surgeon of Rochester, Minn., had been summoned to her aid. In Tuesday's issue on page 3 was presented a picture of Dr. Mayo, together with Brig. Gen. C. E. Sawyer, personal physician to the President and Mrs. Harding, the picture having been taken as they left the White House after administering to Mrs. Harding. In this same issue were contained a number of other illustrations of up-to-the-second nature.

This is but the fore-runner of a wonderful pictorial service that The Standard is now enabled to give its readers. In this, the Friday issue of The Standard we direct attention to "Punchettes," in which are presented brief editorial views by a minister of national reputation. His apt and sapient views will be a regular weekly contribution to this paper. Then there's a "Poem" by Uncle John, written in the blank verse style which has achieved international fame for William Allen White, the famous Kansas editorial-writer, known to newspaper readers everywhere as Luke McLuke. In future issues there will be a column of "Homey Philosophy," which will be well worth reading; several paragraphs of wit and humor, including "Uncle John's Josh," also a comic strip, "Home, Sweet Home," and numberless other innovation that will put pep into each issue of The Standard.

As before stated, "Pictures Make the Paper." Watch The Standard for the next several issues, and you'll agree with us.

And remember The Standard's motto: "Always a leader—all ways."

Complimenting Mrs. S. H. Jones.
 Mrs. W. H. Ballou entertained on last Wednesday in honor of Mrs. S. H. Jones, the occasion being planned as a surprise to Mrs. Jones upon the occasion of her birthday anniversary. All the ladies of the Presbyterian church were invited. Ostensibly, the gathering was for the purpose of holding the regular missionary meeting, which was presided over by Mrs. J. A. Snider, president of the missionary society, and at which interesting papers on "India" were read.

After the close of the missionary meeting, the door bell rang, and on being answered, three members of the Ku Klux Klan, in full regalia, were admitted. The spokesman for the party of three, announced that one member of the Presbyterian church had been reported to them, charged with certain things, and that they came to administer the punishment. Mrs. Jones was then selected, blind-folded and escorted from the room. After a few minutes, she was conducted back into the room and told the Klan required her to read aloud to the assembled ladies the note then given her, so that all might hear and take warning. The blind-fold was then removed, and the note was read: "Cheer up, Old Pal, we all have 'em." Then she was shown the birthday cake with candles lighted, and mounted on a large box. After requesting Mrs. Jones to blow out the candles, the cake was removed, revealing many beautiful gifts contained in the box.

During the afternoon, Miss Neal, expression teacher, gave some interesting readings, Miss Jennie Banister favored with piano selections, and a guessing contest was had. In this contest, several of the ladies were requested to bring baby pictures. Mrs. J. A. Snider being the only one to guess the identity of every one of the pictures.
 Following the serving of a salad course, Mrs. Jones cut the birthday cake and presented each of the ladies present with a piece. The cake was a most beautiful one, baked especially for Mrs. Jones by Mrs. C. C. Johnson.

Twins Celebrate Birthday.
 Little Misses Helen and Clara Schwenker celebrated their fourth birthday anniversary on Wednesday afternoon from 4.00 o'clock until 6:00, by inviting a number of little friends to come and make merry with them upon this happy occasion. Quite a large number of little folks responded, and a delightful time was had. Party caps, in a variety of hues and designs, were worn, and various games were played. Kodak pictures were taken of the happy group, following which all were invited into the dining room, where a Jack Horner pie furnished the center attraction. On either side, were twin birthday cakes, each in the form of a little lamb, and upon each of the lamb cakes burned four little candles, denoting the number of anniversaries each of the little hostesses had passed.

Refreshments of cream and cake were had, following which the contents of the Jack Horner pie were explored, revealing favors in the form of boxes of bon bons for the little ladies, and whistles for the little men, each being attached by ribbons to the place cards—blue ribbons marking the boys' favors and pink ribbons the girls'.

Many beautiful gifts were left by the guests, together with good wishes for many returns of the happy occasion to their hostesses.

Assisting Mrs. Schwenker in entertaining the little guests were Mrs. O. W. Argo and Miss Dorothy Simpson of Dallas; also Mesdames H. W. Lindley, B. L. Malone, N. A. Collier, Evans J. Adkins, Burt L. Hughes, O. S. Macy, Wiley W. Walker, Sam McCollum, J. B. Granville, Otis Turney.

Numbered among those present were little Misses Louise Walker, Alice Lucille Lindley, Betty Lou Wiley, Margaret Jo Collier, June Jordan, Merle Sellers, Virginia Hughes, Margaret Dunn, Frances Charlotte Strickland, Mary Behrens; Masters Warren Adkins, Hugh White Calvert, Yantis and Sam, Jr., McCollum, H. J. and Clifford Huffman, Paul Mann, Norman and Billie Malone, Billie Cargill, Otis Turney, Jr., Chester Dunn, Raymond Lindley, John Frances Ogden, Junior Granville.

By MARY MARSHALL DUFFEE

PRIVILEGES OF AGE

THERE are some older men and women who seem to think that just because they are full of years, as the old expression is, that they are exempt from many of the demands of good manners. Now this is true in some cases. For instance, if a man's old age has made it difficult to stand in the street car he should certainly not try to get up for an old lady unless obviously she is feebler than he.

But old people are not privileged and they should remember that they are not privileged to be brutally frank. I think that this is one of the greatest and most frequent instances of bad manners among the old. They acquire a bluntness with years. Then they say to themselves: "No one cares what I say anyway. They go ahead and do what they want to do whether I like it or not, so if I can have any fun out of telling them just what I think why shouldn't I take it?"

So there are old women who tell their children that they think their children are the worst brought up children in the world, though as a matter of fact they date on those very grandchildren, and women who tell their sons that their wives are the worst housewives imaginable. Now this sort of thing is really rude and discourteous. If there is one thing that will make people indifferent to what old people say it is just this sort of frankness. At first it hurts and after a while it simply gets to be monotonous. Young persons very properly look upon old age as an excuse for certain pieces of bad manners and lack of courtesy. Just as extreme youth is given as an excuse for certain pieces of rudeness. But the old man or woman should realize that it really is no very good excuse at all. If you want to go on having the best out of life don't acquire a lot of funny little old man or woman habits. Above all else be courteous. If there is one thing that makes an old person universally beloved and sought it is unflinching good nature and boundless courtesy.

WHY? DOES A GLOWWORM GLOW?

THE glowworm, or "lightning bug" as the species found in the United States is generally known, is supplied with its tiny lantern in order to indicate the location of the female insect.

In the family of glowworms, found principally in England, the male is equipped with wings, while the female resembles a caterpillar and remains upon the ground. To permit her to attract her mate and also to point the way to their home, the female has been provided with a pale greenish light. At night, when the male is flying around in the air, the female flashes her miniature lantern as a sort of guiding star to prevent his getting lost.

Members of the same species of beetle are also common in this country, where they are called "fireflies" or "lightning bugs." In the American variety, however, both sexes are equipped with wings, but the female is the only one who carries a light—and for the same reason as the glowworm, proper—to attract the attention of the male. The "glow" is only another manifestation of nature's continual attempt to make the female of the species attractive to the male.

KIDDIES SIX By Will M. Maupin

OFF TO SCHOOL

WE HAVEN'T any "little girl" with eyes alight with glee, And hair in many a dancing curl, Her happy heart carefree, She started off to school today And mama's heart is sore; "Our baby's gone," I heard her say; "Our little girl no more."

"We lost our little girl today. With eager, hurrying feet She sped with laughter light and gay Along the busy street. And watching her a mother's eyes Grew moist with unshed tears As backward now her memory files Through quickly vanished years.

We lost our little girl today. With lightly tripping feet She hurries on her schoolward way Far down the city street. But though the years speed swiftly by Into eternity, She'll be, however, fast they fly, "My little girl" to me." (Copyright by Will M. Maupin.)

ROMANCE OF WORDS

"CONFETTI." SIGNIFYING literally "confecti-ferous," this Italian word was originally applied to the small hard bon-bons formerly thrown during the carnival days in Rome, Naples and other cities in the southern section of Europe. These candies are known as coriandoli, and the term "confetti" is applied to the cheaper and more popular substitutes—hard pellets about the size of a ballstone which are carried in bags by the masked revellers and thrown from tin ladies. The custom of throwing confetti was introduced into France several centuries ago, and was especially popular at the fetes of Mi-Careme (Mid-Lent) and Mardi-Gras (Shrove Tuesday). But the French, possibly because they took their pleasure less seriously than the Italians, substituted bits of gaily colored paper for the hard pebbles or candies, and when the custom was introduced into the United States by the French settlers of Louisiana and other sections, confetti was understood to mean only the scraps of paper. The amount of confetti used in Paris is apparent from an account of one of the Mardi-Gras celebrations, when it was estimated by one of the local newspapers that 1,500,000 pounds were sold during the three days preceding Ash Wednesday. At an average price of twenty cents a pound, some $300,000 was spent upon this form of amusement alone. (Copyright by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

AN INDUCEMENT She: Really, if you persist in making love to me everytime you call I shall have to ask you to discontinue your visits. He: Darling, be my wife and I'll promise never to speak another word of love to you as long as I live.

Uncommon Sense By JOHN BLAKE

WANT WHAT YOU NEED

PHILOSOPHERS tell us we can have anything we want, provided we want it enough. With certain qualifications this is true. It explains why many men get things out of life that their friends never expected to get. They wanted them, and they got them.

Getting things in that way for most people involves considerable sacrifice. For example, if a dry goods clerk wants an automobile he may get it, but he will have to skimp pretty heavily on his clothes and diet if he gets it while he still remains a dry goods clerk.

It is for this reason that when you begin wanting something, it will pay you to want what you need. That will involve thought, for none of us know what we need until we devote considerable time to reflection and study.

There are men who want new wives, when they have perfectly good wives at home. They don't need them, and therefore ought not to want them. There are other men who want wealth, when they don't need wealth. Still other men want steam yachts when row boats would do them more good, and private swimming pools when they would get more fun and health out of public baths in the ocean.

They may get these things, but they will be no better off when they do get them. The wanting habit can grow into a very bad habit, indeed, unless you are careful to want what you need. It is well to remember in this connection that there are some very important needs that you ought to want first of all.

One of them is a good reputation. Another is good health. A third is a home. Want these badly enough to get them, and confine your wants after that to things that are reasonably certain to bring happiness.

Then want as hard as you like, and your wanting will not hurt you. Want what you need and you will be reasonably sure to get it, if you begin young enough. But don't want what you don't need. It will only make you miserable for life, even though you attain the object of your desires. (Copyright by John Blake.)

YOUR HAND How to Read Your Characteristics and Tendencies—the Capabilities or Weaknesses That Make for Success or Failure as Shown in Your Palm

THE FINGER NAILS

OCCASIONALLY we find finger nails that are long, thin and curved or ribbed. These tell us something of the physical constitution of the owner. He or she is likely to have tendencies toward diseases of the head, throat or bronchial tubes. Nails that are seen, upon observation, to be unusually thick, bent and long, are held to indicate a nature inclined to cruelty and unfaithfulness in love.

If the nails are square and very short, we may read therein a tendency toward disease of the heart. This must be confirmed, naturally, by close inspection of the line of the heart. Nails that are brittle and inclined to break easily are a sign of ill health and nervous weakness.

There are some nails which narrow very much at the base, coming sometimes to a point, or nearly to one. If they also bend over the ends of the fingers, we may read in them a sign of spinal trouble, past, present or future. (Copyright by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.)

Perhaps the most important problem before the public today is the marriage problem.

THE MARRIAGE PROBLEM

There are more thunderings at the foundation of the home than ever before. The world seems determined to destroy the home. It is using the automobile, the motion picture house, the dance hall, the pool room, the summer resorts, the Sabbath picnic, games, and amusements, and every other conceivable method to scatter the family, detract from the sobriety of the home and wreck the domestic foundation.

Many a girl marries for a meal ticket, including a theatre coupon. When the day of scarcity of food comes and no amusement is furnished, she enters the divorce court, and there commits a crime against society and places a blot upon the name of womankind.

By Rev. M. A. Matthews, D.D., LL.D. AUTOCASTER

Many a couple agrees before marriage to avoid the domestic responsibilities and live a life of freedom from care and domestic duty. Such an agreement is tantamount to premeditated social murder.

The blackest page of American history is the divorce page. To divorce one couple in every five marriages is a crime against society, home, and God. Many divorces are sought by women because their husbands are cruel, or they fail to support them or they have deserted them. Any man who deliberately practices cruelty against his wife and fails to support his family, and finally deserts his wife and children ought to be arrested, tried and convicted and whipped in the public square for six months.

No couple should be allowed to marry unless each party to the contract could produce a certificate showing a sound, clean body and a sane mind for three preceding generations, and a spotless moral character.

No couple should be allowed to marry unless they could also show that they understand and are willing to assume and discharge the obligations that matrimony and a well-ordered home imposes upon a couple. Parents are to blame for much of the present-day matrimonial looseness. They are too anxious to marry their daughters. Awake, parents, and help us solve this all-important problem and thus save society from its present rotten tendency.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

I love the crispy mornin' air, about the hour of five, when the other birds is up to greet the sun. . . . There ain't no safer by-law for to keep a man alive, nor holds more satisfaction, when it's done. It don't take no alarm clock to yank me out of bed, when the honey-dew is whisperin' out of doors,—when the delicate machinery that's inside a feller's head, informs him that it's time to do the chores. . . . O, the meddlerlark, an' sapsuck, and the sassy little wren,—and the oriole, a-swingin' in her tree, has never claimed the credit of knowin' more than men, but that's the way the fact appears to be! So, I get up in the mornin' when the dawn begins to peep,—afore the other neighbors is aware. There ain't no insperation in an overplus of sleep, like there is in breathin' early mornin' air. . . . I can taste the spirit in it, that invigorates the soul, lots higher than a "bonded" liquor can. It produces exultation that is allers in control, yet, makes a common plug a superman! . . . When heaven uncorks her demijohn of early-mornin' booze, and passes it around afore it's light, a feller's conscience tells him it's the only sort to use, and his appetite confirms it that he's right!

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY for 1922

REMEMBER those hoop skirts—the girls looked, and then the skirts so tight they had to trip instead of walk? How fascinating they were as they pit-a-patted along. Soon came those long and sweeping lines, that all concealed yet half revealed the grace and beauty of the pretty miss, and then of evenings those majestic trains and that bewitching Princess gown, displaying every curve and undulation of the form divine—all so wonderful. Now, oh boy! they're prettier still, and tomorrow they'll be longer and still prettier. Styles change, but the ability to make styles always the best ever is the thing that counts.

MARSHALL DUKE ENTERS BUSINESS CIRCLES OF BRADY THRU PURCHASE OF WILENSKY STOCK

Marshall Duke is now a full-fledged business man of Brady, having this week acquired the Sam Wilensky stock of dry goods and groceries, located on the south side of the square. The stock, fixtures and accounts were sold at receiver's sale Tuesday, being bought in by Mr. Harkrider, representing J. M. Radford Grocery Co., who, in turn, sold the stock and fixtures to Mr. Duke.

Mr. Duke is a native of Brady, being a son of Mrs. J. M. Duke, and is well known throughout this section. For about ten years he was located at Shattuck, Okla., where he was employed in railroad work. The past year he conducted a grocery at Burk Burnett, and since selling out there, he has been looking for a new location. Marshall says he has gone all over the Panhandle section, but found everything mighty dry and dull, and upon his return here, he decided it would be hard to beat Brady. The stock has been entirely rearranged, and Mr. Duke will formally open the store tomorrow morning by inaugurating a big sale on dry goods, and incidentally making special prices on groceries. He extends a cordial invitation to the public to visit him.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION OF
W. R. PENCE ATTENDED BY HUNDREDS OF WELL-WISHERS

The annual celebration, marking the birthday anniversary of W. R. Pence, one of McCulloch county's grand old men, was held last Friday night at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kid Jeffers, seven miles north of Brady on the Brownwood road. Each year the event is looked forward to, not only by the guest of honor and his good wife, Mrs. Pence, but by hundreds of his admiring friends and well-wishers. Each year the celebration grows in importance, in interest and in enjoyment, until, in fact, each year it seems that nothing could be added to make it more complete or more enjoyable. Yet everyone who has attended these annual celebrations since their first inauguration eight years ago will agree that the one just held was the best of all.

Mr. Pence will probably deny being a grand "old" man, since he admits, and his friends all agree, that he is now younger, spryer and more active than ever; in fact, it has been but a few years ago that he still essayed and accomplished the novel feat of jumping through his hands—and, in a pinch, he could, unquestionably, do it even to this good day. But this editor, not yet having arrived at the years of discretion, as has his friend and host, will surely be forgiven for so alluding to him.

Added interest was added to the celebration by reason of the Rev. I. T. Morris being a guest of honor, Mr. Pence sharing with him the celebration, since Rev. Morris' birthday was but a few days apart from that of his host. So there were birthday cakes for both—those of Mr. Pence bearing the initial W. R. P. and the figures 80, to denote the many, happy milestones he had passed, while that of Rev. Morris bore the figures, 69. This, of course, made of Rev. Morris a mere youth, but Mr. Pence is glad to share his pleasures and enjoyments and comforts with all his youthful friends.

The spacious Jeffers' lawn was brilliantly illuminated for the occasion by Willys-Light, graciously provided for the occasion by A. J. Ricks, and beneath the glowing lights the long tables were stretched. The special guests, including the two celebrants, together with a number of old-time friends and neighbors, occupied seats of honor in the middle, while to either side of them were gathered the remaining guests.

Such a feast it was. There was no prodigal, unless it be that Mr. Pence's wandering away on his trip to Florida, followed by his return, might make him a prodigal, but nevertheless the fatted calf—three of them, and the choicest of the choice herd—provided the main sacrificial offering. Barbecued by Kid Jeffers, long ago acclaimed a past-master in the art, in style such as converted every piece into a delicious morsel that fairly melted in one's mouth. Added to this was the most fragrant of stews. Then there was such an assemblage of potato salads, fruit salads, pickles, pies, cakes and other good things, such as only the good ladies know how to provide upon these glad occasions. Needless to say, everyone present did full justice to

MEMBERS AND FAMILIES
ROYALLY MONDAY NIGHT

The local Odd Fellows lodge entertained in royal fashion for members of the lodge and their families on last Monday night, the occasion being a special open meeting given with the sole intention of providing entertainment for all. The occasion was taken advantage of for the gathering of not only local members and their families, but Odd Fellows from all parts of the county were present, and participated in the evening's pleasures. H. R. Hodges presided as toastmaster, and a splendid program was rendered. One of the features of the evening was the musical program rendered by a five-piece orchestra, whose efforts found popular approval. The following was the program:

Opening song and prayer.
Music.
Address by Rev. W. L. Wall of Rochelle.

Reading by Miss Helen Schill.
Music.

Song by Mrs. C. P. Swim.
Address by Walter U. Early of Brownwood.

Reading by Miss Leona Schill.
Music.

Song by Ernest McMurray.
Address by Rev. S. C. Dunn.

Reading by Miss Leona Schill.
Music.

Address by John S. Mayse, Jr.
Address by W. J. Blair.

Dan Hurd was introduced in the course of the evening by the toastmaster as an Odd Fellow in good standing over a period of 25 consecutive years and therefore entitled to the special medal for long service, which Mr. Hurd proudly wore and displayed.

While refreshments were being served, music by the orchestra and songs by a number of young ladies led to the conclusion of what was voted by everyone as a most enjoyable meeting.

The wonderful supper, and when the last vestige of appetite had been fully appeased, there remained sufficient to feed another young army.

At the conclusion of the feast, an impromptu speaking, led by Rev. Morris, was had, in which high tribute was paid by each speaker to their host and the guest of honor, Mr. Pence. Speaking from an intimate acquaintance over a period of 20 years, Rev. Morris praised the high Christian character of Mr. Pence, and pointed him out as an ideal, upright and loyal citizen. Jas. T. Mann presided as toastmaster, and, stated that since Mr. Pence's pastor had had his say, he would, in turn, call upon his lawyer, his doctor, his old-time neighbors and friends, to give expression of their feelings towards their host. Responding were Dr. J. B. Lockhart, F. M. Newman, W. E. Benson, J. D. Benson, O. T. Baird, P. C. Dutton, L. Ballou, Rev. S. C. Dunn, Judge Joe. A. Adkins, Evans Adkins, Dr. J. B. Granville, and others, all of whom voiced their high regard for him. And speaking for himself, Toastmaster Mann, lifted his voice in praise of the virtues, the character, and the staunch citizenship of Mr. Pence.

It was a late hour when the happy gathering broke up, and the many visitors had extended their warm good wishes, together with expressed hope that upon many, many more such happy occasions, would it be their pleasure to join with Mr. Pence in celebrating his birthday anniversaries.

AGAINST THE TIDE

BESETTING you on every hand is the invisible tide which is hourly sweeping humans from their charted course and carrying them into unknown waters.

The captains of courage who have gone before, weathered the treacherous currents and reached a secure haven, are the only ones who can tell you what this opposing tide means to the young or the inexperienced, or the over-confident.

They will tell you how difficult it is in trying moments to keep your honor bright; how hard it is to steer away from temptation or the habit of loose thinking; how perplexing it is to avoid the sucking shoals when you should keep cool, hold to the straight course and exert your utmost strength.

You may pose for a hero before the world, but be careful lest the tide pull you under and expose the fraud.

If your colors are false, beware! for the tide knows them.

In spite of its purring voice and shinning face it is a restless foe, a bearer of no tales, a silent destroyer of ambition and a wrecker of hope when your star seems to glow the brightest and you stand puffed up in conceit before an admiring world.

Alas! for the man who in such a moment plunges headlong into the tide without first reckoning his endurance. The water is icy cold, swift and treacherous.

How many men do you know who have gone down in such a plunge, never again to show their head?

Their pride and pomp, their wealth sank from sight and left only a few empty bubbles behind, bursting and disappearing.

Be honest with yourself, sincere with others, practice the Golden Rule, steer your craft by the unfailing compass of faith, and though the waters smart about you, your frail little boat will at the end of the journey find a friendly harbor where Truth and Mercy will welcome you and give you peace.

Sail on! you who are half discouraged because you are not shinning in the show-places, riding in automobiles, living in mansions and blazing your name in the Blue Book.

The earth is reserved for the meek, and this inheritance is for you, for you who through simple faith are stemming the tide and making the final port.

Mother's Cook Book

It costs a lot to live these days. More than in days of yore. But when we come to think of it its worth a great deal more.

TIMELY DISHES

WHEN the chicken left from dinner is not enough to serve again, a few suggestions for such leftovers are helpful.

Chicken Custard.

Cut off every scrap of meat from the bones and put them through the meat grinder. Mix the meat with an equal measure of cooked rice, season with salt, pepper and press in a round form in the center of a baking dish. Make a custard, using two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour stirred into a little milk and a pint of milk. If any cooked green peas are at hand add them. Pour around the loaf and bake until the custard is set. Serve hot.

Chicken Scramble.

Into a quart of chicken stock, bring hot, stir a pint of cornmeal. Season to taste and cook slowly for a half hour, then add any bits of cooked chicken and pour into a mold. When cold cut in neat slices and fry.

Fish Croquettes.

Take two cupfuls of cold boiled fish, two cupfuls of mashed potatoes, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half cupful of hot milk, salt, pepper and parsley and a teaspoonful of minced onion. Form into balls, dip in beaten egg, roll in crumbs and fry in hot fat. Drain on brown paper.

BAND BOYS WILL FAVOR
ROCHELLE, RICHLAND AND SAN SABA WITH CONCERTS

The band boys have completed plans for a visit to San Saba next Sunday, where they will treat the San Sabaites to a concert in the afternoon. Enroute, the boys will stop over at Rochelle and Richland Springs, and likewise favor the citizens of these two neighbor towns with musical programs. As was the case during the Menard trip, the occasion will be taken advantage of to tell the folks about the coming McCulloch County Exhibit and to invite their attendance and co-operation.

The band boys are desirous of having a big delegation accompany them on these trips, and a large number of citizens have already signified their intention of going with them. Since the rain the first of the week, a cool, dustless and most enjoyable outing is assured, and everyone who can, should make it convenient to drive out with the boys.

DO YOU PAY YOUR BILLS?

CREDIT IS EXTENDED TO YOU BECAUSE THE MAN YOU BUY FROM THINKS YOU ARE HONEST.

He has faith in you—in your honor.

He believes you will pay when the TIME COMES. He does not think you will abuse the privilege—the convenience—of credit. HE EXTENDS YOU A RARE COMPLIMENT WHEN HE ALLOWS YOU TO TAKE HIS GOODS OUT OF HIS STORE WITHOUT PAYING FOR THEM.

DO YOU MAKE GOOD? Or do you disappoint him?

The answer is shown in your rating in the files of this organization.

Are you "PROMPT PAY—GOOD CREDIT" or "REQUIRE CASH?"

Now, classify yourself. You know better to what class you belong than anyone else. And you are alone to blame. It's your fault if you have BAD CREDIT—or Good Credit.

"PAY UP."

October 1st to 15th is the time when all old bills and checks along with the current bills are due.

Remember — PROMPT PAY CREATES CREDIT.

If you owe a hundred dollars, don't think five dollars on the first will settle the account.

Don't pay ten dollars on a four months' old bill of seventy-five and expect to buy twenty dollars worth more in the next thirty days.

YOU MAY BE TURNED DOWN.

Now—you must square your old bills before you can make new ones with new merchants.

The CREDIT ASSOCIATION has you spotted. The man who tries to beat his bills — CAN'T GET BY.

Co-operation and organization is today making the deadbeat pay.

It is also making it easier for the man who does pay his bills to get unlimited credit.

There is just one way to increase your credit—that is TO PAY WHAT YOU OWE, AND PAY IT PROMPTLY.

The way you remit between the 1st and 15th will either enhance or detract from your present rating.
