ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM NEXT SUNDAY NIGHT

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock there will be presented at the Methodist church a program of exceptional interest to every citizen of town and country. The occasion will mark the observance of the 26th anniversary of the founding of the National Congress of Mothers, an organization that has done a wonderful work among the school children and in child welfare work. A feature of the program will be the birthday cake, with 26 lighted candles marking the anniversary of the organization, and a review of the work, together with an interesting program will be presented in the course of the evening.

The occasion will be made a general get-together meeting, all churches of the city giving way with their evening services in order that their members may attend the program which is to be presented under auspices of the Parent-Teachers association. There will be no admission and everyone is extended a cordial invitation to attend.

A Program committee composed of Mesdames Wm. C. Jones, F. R. Wulff and Jas. T. Mann has arranged the program, which will have as its central theme the Child Welfare movement. The Decoration and Birthday Cake committee is composed of Mesdames W. H. Ballou, Geo. Henderson, J. A. Maxwell, V. R. Jones, Otis Turney and L. Y. Callihan, and into their hands has been entrusted the decoration of the church auditorium for the occasion, and the providing of the birthday cake.

The Brady Glee club, now composed of 45 members, directed by Miss Jennie Banister, with piano accompaniment by Miss Hilma Jordan, will lead the singing.

The following is the program arranged for the occasion:

LYCEUM NUMBER TONIGHT AT METHODIST TABERNACLE PRESENTS "SAXOPHONE QUARTET"

A new and novel program will be presented tonight at the Methodist tabernacle in the "All-Sisters Saxophone Quartet," who will offer the next number of the Lyceum course presented here this winter under auspices of the Parent-Teachers association of Brady. A novel feature of the number is that four sisters make up the quartet, each of whom is an artist, not only upon the saxophone, but in instrumental, vocal and dramatic presentations. The program will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock, and will be well worth every citizen's time in attending. Season tickets admit to this number, while individual admissions will be 50c for adults and 25c for children.

The Misses Rouse, who present the program, are artists of exceptional ability and training, having studied under several of the foremost masters of the country in instrumental, vocal and dramatic training. Their program presents a composite arrangement of interesting and entertaining numbers, and during the three seasons they have traveled on lyceum circuits, their offerings have found hearty approval all over Western United States and Canada.

The Parent-Teachers association is very desirous of having a large attendance at this number, believing it offers entertainment of unusual nature, and further hope to realize a profit from the entire lyceum course that will enable them to better carry out their work of building and bettering the public school facilities and equipment.

JUVENILE BURGLARS CONTINUE ORGY OF HOUSEBREAKING—J.R. WINSTEAD STORE IS ENTERED

The store of the Cash & Carry Grocery Co., operated by John R. Winstead and son in the Henderson building, was entered Tuesday night. Evidently the burglar or burglars were juveniles, as the plunder taken was confined to about $1.00 in nickels and pennies taken out of the carry show case, together with the contents of a couple cartons of chewing gum, a package of raisins and a pocket knife. That the thief or thieves worked with amazing calmness and audacity is evidenced by their securing a sausage from the meat rack of the Behrens market, housed in the same building. Entrance to the building was effected through a rear window.

P. A. CAMPBELL TO ENGAGE IN GROCERY BUSINESS—WILL OCCUPY A. F. BEHRENS BLDG.

Add P. A. Campbell to the list of Brady's enterprising merchants. Mr. Campbell is to enter the grocery business and announces that he expects to be ready for business by the 20th in the August F. Behrens building on South Blackburn street, and just this side of Lee Morgan's carpenter shop. Mr. Campbell's wide acquaintance and general popularity over the county and throughout this section makes certain the unqualified success of his undertaking. The building is now being renovated and improved, and Mr. Campbell will put forth special effort to make it one of the most attractive business places in Brady. A complete line of both staple and fancy groceries will be carried.

It goes without saying that Mr. Campbell will be pleased to welcome both old friends and new at his place of business and, above all, to have the privilege of serving them.

"LION'S" ROAR HEARD AS BROWNWOOD VISITORS ATTEND LUNCHEON

FEASTING AND GOOD FELLOWSHIP MARK OCCASION OF NOON-DAY MEETING BRADY LUNCHEON CLUB WITH BROWNWOOD LIONS AS GUESTS OF HONOR.

Feasting and good-fellowship marked the occasion of the visit in Brady of some fifteen live-wire members of the Brownwood Lions club yesterday, and who were guests of honor of the local Luncheon club at their noon-day meeting. Undaunted by chilling winds and lowering clouds, the Brownwood Lions honored Brady with their presence, bringing with them flowers, friendship and good-fellowship, partaking of the hospitality offered them by the local Lion Tamers and upon which they bestowed unmeasured praise, the while giving expression to the pleasure the meeting afforded them. The occasion was marked by the largest assemblage of local live-wires had since the local Luncheon club was organized, the total attendance approximating one hundred. The ladies of the Christian church had prepared one of their wonderful spreads for which they have long been famed, and which left nothing to be desired—unless it might be an encore upon some future occasion.

Table decorations consisted of blooming pot plants, while a basket of fern leaves and carnations, with "Lions Club, Brownwood," in gold lettering, brought here by the visitors, occupied a place in the center aisle.

Numbered among the visitors were Will Talbot, assistant cashier Coggin National bank, R. D. McClelland, proprietor McClelland's garage, J. C. Galloway, with Finnigan & Co., produce dealers, W. D. McCully, proprietor of Lakewood Bathing pavilion, P. A. Glanville, dry goods merchant and president of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, Dr. W. R. Hornburg, president Howard Payne college, H. R. Barlow, with Southern hotel, George Norwood, proprietor Norwood's garage, D. J. Johnson, general superintendent West Texas Telephone Co., and secretary of the Brownwood Lion's club, O. C. Walker, president First State bank, P. C. McInnis, undertaker, W. W. Tippen, hardware merchant, Hans Schroeder, florist, H. H. Gresham, lumberman, and Porter Franks, with Southern hotel. T. J. Beasley of Mercury joined the Brownwood Lions in their visit and was cordially welcomed by his many friends here.

The Brownwood delegation reported the road between Brownwood and Brady in splendid condition, and made the journey over without untoward incident. Unquestionably they had been forearmed concerning Brady's hospitality, or else the fame of the wonderful chicken dinners served by the ladies of the Christian church had reached their ears, for traveling records were broken by members of the delegation, some reporting making the trip over in 1:45 flat. Be that as it may, none of the visitors but what gave assurance that the future, and to extend cordial and sincere welcome to the builders of Brownwood to Brady, and to voice the pleasure the visit gave the builders of Brady and the West.

D. J. Johnson then introduced P. A. Glanville, who responded to the welcome address in behalf of the visitors. In carefully chosen words, Mr. Glanville acknowledged the hospitality of Brady, gave fulsome praise to Brady's spirit and wonderful co-operation, and in terms that left no doubt as to his sincerity assured one and all of the appreciation and pleasure the reception had afforded the Brownwood delegation.

O. C. Walker, as the only single man in the visiting delegation, responded with a brief talk brimful of humor and kept all in an uproar of laughter by his witty sallies. He concluded by expressing his personal pleasure as well as the pleasure it had afforded the Brownwood delegation to make this visit to Brady and to meet with the live wires of this town.

The regular program of the Luncheon club was then taken up, Mayor Lee Jones, chairman of the committee to report on Street Paving and Sewerage, giving detailed report upon the cost of paving eighteen blocks of streets, including the public square and the principal thoroughfares radiating from the square, as well as the cost of enlarging the storm sewers and the proposition to give Brady a complete and modern sewerage system. G. C. Kirk, chairman of the Auditorium and Concrete Sidewalks committee, announced that progress was being made on both these propositions and that figures would soon be available upon the cost of a sidewalk building campaign in which several miles of sidewalk was contemplated, and which, by reason of car-

WET NORTHER RESULT OF TAIL OF BLIZZARD IN TEX.

The tail of the blizzard which appears to have swept the northern states from coast to coast, struck Brady Thursday morning, and resulted in one of the wettest northers this section has experienced in some time. Starting with a heavy, damp fog early yesterday morning, a slow, drizzling rain began falling towards noon, and by 2:00 o'clock the thermometer hovered around the freezing point, causing icicles to form about rainspouts and on the eaves of houses. Without any further lowering of the temperature, the rain continued falling slowly and practically continuously all through the afternoon and last night, and still falling steadily all this morning. A total precipitation of three-fifths of an inch was recorded.

The rain is not an unwelcome visitor, since it will serve to add to the Million Dollar season already had, and unless the weather becomes more severe, cattle and live stock should suffer but little.

Thanks.

We wish to express our appreciation to our pastor, friends and neighbors for their many deeds of kindness and words of condolence, and floral tributes during the illness and death of our beloved husband and father, J. A. Temple. May God richly reward you all, is our prayer.

ROCHELLE RUMBLINGS.

One of Twin Sons of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Price Now Out of Danger. Rochelle, Texas, Feb. 12.

Editor Brady Standard: I intended writing last week, but my, it was so cold and we were all so used to nice, warm weather, that I just could not write for shaming. But oh, the snow, the beautiful snow! We all did so much enjoy having that and not only pretty, but so beneficial to the grain crops which are now coming with redoubled energy and everything actually as green as a wheat field. But of course while the snow was on the ground, stock had to be fed some and I think we really have the million dollar rain, with the snow thrown in for good measure.

Just one week ago today, or on last Monday, the people all had a wonderful time in Rochelle, rolling each other in the snow. Some would try to hide, while others would try to claim they were just up from the flu, but they could pay no attention to that. They would have to take their medicine just the same. Roy Barton played it pretty fine for a while, locking himself inside the garage and attaching to the door knob a battery which gave some of the boys quite a little shock, but they did not mind that, but framed up on him and got him out to let some one have gas and they got him and into the snow he went; and they gave him a double dose to pay up for the time and trouble he put them to. Also young Mr. Rogers at the depot tried the lock-in trick and would not come out, but was waylaid till noon when he started to dinner and they got him. He just could not get away from them so he also got a double portion. I think they rolled everyone in town except the old men, Mr. Marr, Mr. Price, Mr. Phillips and Mr. John Smith, and our worthy banker, Mr. Rice. I am sure this is one time they were glad to be classed with the ancients.

There were quite a good many that were pretty sick with flu, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey, Grandad and Grandmother Patterson, Grandmother Steward. These old people were real sick for a few days, but I think are at present convalescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Price had one of their twins, Donny, down with the flu for a week or ten days, was low, but am glad to report him at present out of danger. Most every one in town had it, but some so much worse than others. Mr. Dock Newman had several cases in his family at once, but all are doing nicely now except the wife who seems slow to recover, but am glad to report no new cases and think it has about gone its limit and we are all thankful to be rid of it.

Miss Alice Hamilton, the Corn Creek teacher went to her school last Monday through the snow, but had no pupils and went back home and that afternoon came with Mr. Bud Ellison to Rochelle on a slide, drawn by two big fat horses and we know they enjoyed the sleigh ride.

Most all the farmers have their land turned and were ready for the rain and there will be quite a lot of spring oats planted and gardening time is right here and we can hardly wait till the ground dries sufficient to plant. As it's time to go to the office with this letter I will close and may do some better next time.

COW CREEK CALLINGS.

Rain Snow and More Rain—Oats Out-Lives Freeze. Lohn, Texas, Feb. 12.

Editor Brady Standard: Well, we can report rain, snow and rain again which has surely put a fine season in the ground and now everyone is wishing for some sunshine so the farmers can get in the fields again, and it will soon be corn planting time. We sure have the season to plant on.

The freeze killed down all the oats but most everywhere they were not killed to the extent that they will not come out again.

W. S. Young and wife and also E. W. Woods and wife were in Brady Saturday.

Miss Lucy Purdy went to Brownwood Friday night to visit her brother, Willie, who is working at that place.

Ernest Cornils who is driving the bus line from Ballinger to Brady is spending a few days with his parents, this week, owing to the muddy roads. He is having a vacation.

Misses Louis and Opal Marshall, also Lillie and Fay Woods visited at the Young home Saturday evening.

T. P. Neve returned last Wednesday from Melvin where he had been called by the illness of his daughter, Mrs. Armstead. We are glad to report her much improved.

Miss Elizabeth Cornils of Lohn spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents here. We are sorry to report little Miss Fay Woods sick this week. Hope she is well soon.

PEAR VALLEY PICKUPS.

Pear Valley Visited by A Seven-Inch Snow Last Week. Pear Valley, Texas, Feb. 12.

Editor Brady Standard: Well, here I come after so long a time, with a few items.

We sure did have a nice snow storm. Some of the young folks enjoyed snow balling each other.

Everyone has been enjoying the rain, but are ready to begin their work, if it only stops raining for a while, and if we could have a few warm days we would have grass for the stock.

Most all the people that had the flu are up and going again. We are glad to see them out again.

Quince Weldon came home Friday afternoon, where he has been going to school at Rockwood.

Some of the Pear Valley young folks enjoyed the party at Bob Hurd's Saturday night.

Archie Hodges spent Saturday night with Fred Marshall.

Mrs. Seymore has been on the sick list this week, but is some better at this writing.

Miss Bertie DuBose spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Ada Myrl Peel.

A few of the young people enjoyed singing at Mr. John Peel's Sunday night.

As news is scarce, I will step to one side and give room for a better writer.

In time of kidney danger, Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of Brady evidence of their worth.

I always felt heavy and depressed and had had attacks of rheumatic trouble. I was nervous and frequently headaches came on. I used different remedies for this trouble but can honestly say that Doan's Kidney Pills gave me far better results. I procured this medicine at Jones Drug Co."

FOUR YEARS LATER, Mrs. Coopender said: "Doan's Kidney Pills gave me a cure that has been lasting and I am now enjoying the best of health."

OLDEST TEXAN LAID TO REST; FOUGHT IN 1848 MEXICAN WAR

A week or so ago, The Standard reported upon the meeting of A. H. Broad with Robert Russell at Brownwood, and the remarkable fact that Mr. Russell's father was hale and hearty at the advanced age of nearly 110 years. Last Friday the daily papers contained accounts of the death of this venerable patriarch, as follows:

Lampasas, Feb. 8.—Funeral services were held today for Joseph Allen Russell, 110 years old, who died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Laura Mahana. Mr. Russell was believed to be the oldest man in Texas and enjoyed the distinction of having been one of the few centenarians in the southwest.

Mr. Russell was a pioneer Texan and was a veteran of both the Mexican and Civil wars.

He was born in North Carolina, April 12, 1813, where he married. He served in the U. S. army in 1827 against the Indians, and through the Mexican war and also through the Civil war in the Confederate army, the last year as commander of his company.

He had lived in Burnett county for nearly 40 years, moving to Lampasas but a few months ago. Years ago, when this section was sparsely settled he refused to trade a horse for the land on which Brownwood is now built.

Ten children survive him. They are, P. C. Russell, Wichita Falls; Will Russell, Amarillo; Bob Russell, Oakhurst; Mrs. Mattie Peterson, California; Mrs. Laura Mahana, Mrs. Wren-da Weaver, Dallas.

Wonder, Ore., Feb. 4.

Editor Brady Standard:

Had I written a week ago I should have said, "Every day and in every way, this country is getting wetter and wetter." But now we are having the first real cold weather for this winter. On the first day of February the thermometer registered 14 degrees, which is quite cold for this country. Tho' only 4 degrees colder than it was at Melvin when we were there in December. (Mr. Sellers, the druggist there reported 18 to us.) It is a fine thing that we got some cold weather in time to check the flow of sap in the fruit trees before they bloomed out, else the fruit might have been killed later in the spring. Up to the present our rainfall is about 25 inches. We should get about 15 inches more to give us our average annual complement of precipitation.

For fear some of my friends will think that I am exaggerating, I am sending a clipping from South Bend, Wash., which is considerable wetter than it is here.

"South Bend, Wash., Jan. 6.—The year 1922 was a remarkably dry one for South Bend, according to Mrs. J. E. Buehlingham, official United States weather observer here. The total precipitation last year was 80 inches, while it was 117 the year before."

It is surprising to note the different climatic conditions existing in so short a distance as from Oregon to Texas. In the deserts of Arizona the annual rainfall only amounts to two or three inches. And yet judging from deep washes in places it is evident that there has at times been terrible waterspouts.

I am wondering what kind of weather they are now having in the Imperial Valley in southern California, where we saw upon our return trip, green peas in the gardens, cantelopes and green cotton full of open bolls in the fields and presumably the seventh crop of alfalfa a foot high. Of course it is all irrigation there. One place they had water on the ground ready to set out about 40 acres of pear trees. I don't know where they obtained their nursery stock as I saw no nurseries along the railroad.

Along the line of California and Mexico there is a station named Mexicalla and another named Calexico. On the south or Mexico side of the railroad you could see saloons, but none on the north or California side. The same condition prevails at El Paso, just across the Rio Grande in Mexico, is Jaurez. And of all the tough places! If I had a son starting out in life I certainly wouldn't want him to be influenced by the environment of that place. It was reported that two or three parties got their pockets picked on the train that we boarded on December 29th by "dope fiends," while they were in the congested throngs entering the train. Booze and dope has a terrible influence. Who wouldn't want to do away with it altogether? I will tell you more about what we saw in my next letter.

Abe Martin says: "It's goin' t' be interestin' t' watch an' see how th' government is goin' t' git th' farmer out o' debt by loanin' him money." It may be the means of helping him to get rid of his real estate, either to an advantage or a disadvantage, either to himself or to the government. "O. I. C. U. R. RIGHT."

W. W. WILLBANKS TO BUILD ADDITION TO SHOP—MODERN BUILDING, ROCK AND GLASS

W. W. Willbanks is having rock, gravel and other building material assembled on the lot adjoining his shop on the west, and expects to begin construction of an addition to his present quarters without delay. The new building will be a modern store building of rock construction, with plate glass front, and will cover a ground space of 40-ft. frontage by 50-ft. depth. The building will adjoin the present shop of Mr. Willbanks and will be connected with it.

Mr. Willbanks states that in his present quarters he is badly cramped for room, both in his blacksmithing and woodworking departments, and the securing of additional room has just simply been forced upon him. The new building will front south, and will be an attractive addition to this section of town.

BRADY LION TAMERS WHET APPETITES FOR FEAST WITH BROWNWOOD LIONS THURS.

Members of the Brady Luncheon club are developing a tremendous appetite these days in anticipation of the weekly meeting of the next Thursday noon, and at which some twenty-five or thirty members of the Lions club at Brownwood are anticipated over as guests of honor. The local membership will be swelled to double its usual proportions, each member having given his word to bring an additional home-town visitor to the meeting. As fair warning to all visitors, both home town and out-of-town, it might be well to state that the Ladies of the Christian church will serve the dinner, which will be held at the Methodist tabernacle, and that these ladies have a reputation of setting a feast such as a King never dreamed of existed this side of Sweet Elysium. Appetites with a razor edge will fare best at this feast, but none should impair their vocal paraphernalia by over-indulgence, since none will be excused from responding, when called upon by the "Big Cheese" for a toast, on the plea of being "too full for utterance."

HONEST INJUN.

As Matt & Jeff would say at the Lion Tamer's club, "Every Day in Every Way We Are Getting Wetter and Wetter."

The Standard editor is indebted to Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Harris of Broadmoor for a copy of the official program of the 56th National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which was held in Des Moines, Iowa, September 24-29th, last year. Knowing that this editor was a native of the Hawkeye state, Mr. and Mrs. Harris felt that the program, together with its views and descriptions of the Iowa State capitol, the Soldiers and Sailors monument, the Civic Center and Coliseum, would be of peculiar interest to him, in which opinion they were eminently correct. Somehow, one always feels a thrill and a pride in the achievements of one's native state, even though our adopted state, Grand Old Texas, is nearer and dearer than all others.

A GOOD THING.

While here last week Harley Sadler submitted an amusement plan for our fair amusement committee. Briefly the plan is for a number of county fairs to co-operate and purchase the paraphernalia usually used by the carnival companies and conduct their own entertainments. This plan is feasible and we think our fair should join in the undertaking. The modern carnival usually consists of stands where the public is skinned both ways from the middle. Some call them games of chance but they are not—the fellow who turns the wheel has a lead-pipe cinch and the "sucker" who bucks the game gets experience only. If the fairs own their merry go round, ferris wheel, whip or motor dome and other amusements that usually go with such entertainments they can give the people a good clean show at a reasonable price. These associated fairs amusement organization will be offered by a board of directors, president and secretary. This amusement feature will not only give each fair in the circuit a good, wholesome show, at a moderate price, but will be a revenue producer. Our local Fair Association should investigate this matter and go into the enterprise. The following places have expressed their friendliness to the project: Plainview, Colorado, Post, Snyder, Lubbock, Brady, Ballinger and San Angelo.—San Saba Star.

Old Ebenezer Tightwad is known for miles around, and regarded by our populace as the shortest man in town; he's got the tin in bank and bin and notes against us all, and if we fail to get the kale he'll foreclose them in the fall. Their work was coarse, they did no worse than beat upon the bean, and while their bluff was somewhat rough it was not considered mean. Old Tightwad's style beats that a mile and violates no law; to him it's fun to watch the mun com-

STEPHENVILLE WINS FIRST PLACE IN BASKET BALL AT COMANCHE DISTRICT MEET

By defeating all contestants, Stephenville high school basket ball team won first place in the District Interscholastic meet held last Friday and Saturday, at Comanche. Rochelle team, which represented McCulloch county at the meet, lost to Gustine by a score of 35 to 22, after having defeated Hamilton, thereby taking fourth place among the contestants. The defeat of Rochelle is ascribed to the ability of the Gustine players to throw long goals from the field.

Rochelle was first paired with Hamilton, and after defeating their opponents, were in turn defeated by Gustine. Gustine, in turn, lost to May, and Stephenville defeated May. The work of the Rochelle players was highly praised and they were enthusiastically cheered when they appeared on the field.

BRADY YOUNG LADY WINS DISTINCTION OF HONOR IN GROUP 3, STATE UNIVERSITY

Austin, Texas, Jan. 14.—Miss Margaret White of Brady has been distinguished by being placed on the honor list in Group 3, of the University of Texas.

Out of 3,032 students in the College of Arts and Sciences in the University of Texas, 774 have been given special recognition for excellent scholastic averages achieved during the fall term. The object of this honor list is to commend officially one-tenth of the student body whose grades ranked them scholastically above the remaining nine-tenths. The honor students are divided into five groups, according to their averages, and there are 37 in Group 1, 97 in Group 2, 148 in Group 3, 231 in Group 4, and 291 in Group 5. In constructing the list, account is taken both of the grades made and the number of courses passed; that is, both quantity and quality of the work accomplished is given credit. Freshmen grades run lower than those of upper-classes and to attain a certain rank among his fellow classmates, a freshman does not have to make as high a score as an upper-classman.

During the first ten years of its existence, 1883-93, the University published annually at Commencement a list of distinguished students in each of the various courses. In 1919, this annual, or long session honor list was replaced by the present term lists, the work being done by a student in all of his courses being commended rather than the work in each individual course.

Valentine Dance.

The Valentine spirit lent itself admirably to the dance given on Tuesday night at K. P. hall, and at which Misses Edythe Reed and Dorothy Wood were hostesses. The hall was most attractive in Valentine colors and decorations of red and white, while heart-shaped programs carried out the St. Valentine idea.

Favors in the form of parasols for the girls, ties for the boys and caps for the members of the orchestra, also carried out the color scheme of red and white.

The famous "Texa Jazzers" orchestra of San Angelo furnished a delightful program of dance numbers, and the dancing continued until 2:00 in the morning, when the dancers bade farewell to the gay scene as the last strains of the entrancing music died away.

The charming hostesses were the recipients of much praise and many compliments upon the success of the occasion and the charming taste displayed in the decorations and arrangements.

Numbered among the attendants at the dance were Misses Gertrude Trigg, Jim Gay, Katharine Ballou, Margaret McGhee of Brownwood, Leona Ballard of Hamilton, Mary Uloth, Frances Samuel, Jennie Banister, Mary Campbell, and the hostesses, Dorothy Wood and Edythe Reed; Messrs. and Mesdames D. ### LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allsup mourn the passing of their little two-weeks old son, James Charles, who died last Friday after a brief illness. Funeral services were conducted that afternoon by the Rev. Buren Sparks, with interment in Brady cemetery. The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved parents in their loss.

The sympathy of all their many friends is extended Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Stearns former Brady citizens, in the loss of their infant son, M. C., Jr., who died at Georgetown at the age of two and a half years. The sad news was contained in a message received here Monday by R. V. Stearns, brother of Mr. Stearns.

The following news item appearing in last week's Eldorado Success, concerning Brady's star catcher of the past two years, will be of interest to local base ball fans: "Buckner Bailey is at home again, driving from Los Angeles to Eldorado in a Ford roadster. Buck has been in California playing foot ball, a thing he likes to do."

The Misses Norma and Lessie Samuel returned Thursday from Dallas, where they had spent a week visiting the markets and selecting the new line of Spring-goods for the H. C. Samuel store. The Misses Samuel are delighted with the results of their shopping and will have many beautiful offerings for patrons of the store.

B. L. Malone returned Sunday morning from Woodland, Tex., where he had been called several weeks previously by news of the serious illness of his mother. He reports all members of the family assembled there, it being the first time in 23 years that all had been together. The reunion evidently had such good effect upon his mother that she began improving at once, and at the time of Mr. Malone's leaving was practically out of danger and well on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Lindsay, who have been making their home in Brady the past year and a half, have gone to Dublin, where Mr. Lindsay will engage in the dry goods business for himself. Abney store, and all their friends wish them unbounded success in their new undertaking. Jack McGonagill has taken Mr. Lindsay's place with the Abney store.

Next Thursday is the 191st anniversary of the birth of George Washington, first president of the United States. The day is observed generally throughout the United States and in the insular possessions of this country.

It would be useless to go into detailed history of the life and public services of George Washington. They are known to every school boy and girl in this country. Washington is pre-eminently a distinct personality in the realm of world politics, and worth while. Other men have left great names, but there is something about the very elements that make the name of Washington great, that is altogether lacking in the character of other great men of history who left their names written high on the Behistun Rock of the centuries. Tamerlans, Caesar, Charlemagne, Bonaparte, Frederick the Great, Alfred the Great, Peter the Great, Richard Coeur de Lion, were all great and each left a name that will endure as the centuries roll silently through the ages but none have the constructive idealism that causes the name and fame of Washington to loom largely and singly above the fogs and mists of the valley of years.

So-called great men may and will appear upon the stage of human action from time to time, from century to century; play their little part, impress their respective hobbies and sink into dreamless dust—but when they are gone and forgotten, the name of Washington will still be seen looming grandly and sublimely above the surrounding elements and environments of any and all periods. The principles for which Washington lived and died are a precious heritage to the American Republic and it is still well that on each succeeding anniversary of his birth, the people cease for the once their work, strife, turmoil and business and in some quiet way, dedicate a brief period to the life, character and services of the Father of our country.

REV. DR. GEO. W. TRUETT OF DALLAS DECLARES PRINCIPLES OF FOUNDERS OF REPUBLIC

E. W. Harris of Broadmoor hands us the following article containing excerpts from an address delivered from the steps of the national capital Sunday, May 16, 1920, by Rev. Dr. Geo. W. Truett of Dallas, and which have peculiar significance at this particular time, when the passions of religious and racial intolerance are invoked to justify an epidemic of mobocracy, which is a challenge both to law and civilization. The principles that inspired the founders of the Republic have been the pillars of fire for all lovers of Liberty in every age and country.

Dr. Truett spoke as follows: "Indeed, the supreme contribution of the New World to the Old is the contribution of religious liberty. This is the chiefest contribution that America has thus far made to civilization. And historic justice compels me to say that it was preeminently a Baptist contribution. The impartial historian, whether in the past, present or future, will ever agree with our American historian, Mr. Bancroft when he says: 'Freedom of conscience, unlimited freedom of mind, was from the first the trophy of the Baptists.' And such historian will concur with the noble John Locke, who said: 'The Baptists were the first propounders of absolute liberty, just and true liberty, equal and impartial liberty.' Ringing testimonies like these might be multiplied indefinitely.

"Baptists have one consistent record concerning liberty, throughout all their long and eventful history. They have never been a party to oppression of conscience. They have forever been the unwavering champions of liberty, both religious and civil. Their contention now is, and has been, and, please God, must ever be, that it is the natural and fundamental and indefeasible right of every human being to worship God or not, according to the dictates of his conscience, and, as long as he does not infringe the rights of others, he is to be held accountable alone to God, for all religious beliefs and practices. Our contention is not for mere toleration but for absolute liberty. There is a wide difference between toleration and liberty. Toleration implies that somebody falsely claims the right to tolerate. Toleration is a matter of expediency, while liberty is a principle. Toleration is a gift from man, while liberty is a gift from God. It is the consistent and insistent contention of our Baptist people, always and everywhere, that religion must be forever voluntary and uncoerced, and that it is not the prerogative of any power, whether civil or ecclesiastical, to compel men to conform to any religious creed or form of worship, or to pay taxes for the support of a religious organization to which they do not belong and in whose creed they do not believe. God wants free worshippers and no other kind. * * * A Baptist would rise at midnight to plead for absolute religious liberty for his Catholic neighbor, and for his Jewish neighbor, and for everybody else. * * *

"We are to be alertly watchful, day and night, that liberty, both religious and civil, shall be nowhere prostrated and mistreated. Every perversion and misuse of liberty tends by that much to jeopardize both church and state. * * * Let us remember that lawlessness, wherever found and whatever its form, is as the pestilence that walketh in darkness and the destruction that waiteth at noonday. Let us remember that he who is willing for law to be violated is an offender against the majesty of law, as really as he who actually violates law. The spirit of law is the spirit of civilization. Liberty without law is anarchy. Liberty against law is rebellion. Liberty limited by law is the formula of civilization."

Addition to National Shrines

Next to Mount Vernon, the house most closely associated with George Washington is the famous colonial mansion, Kenmore, in Fredericksburg, Va., where he met his future wife and many of the nation's founders. The house has been in difficulties, having been occupied by a negro family after the Civil War, but now it is to be set aside as a national shrine, as was Mount Vernon. Kenmore is considered one of the finest examples of colonial architecture in the country.

HAPPY FORTUNE THAT GAVE WASHINGTON TO THE NATION

For many years there was a disposition to think of Washington as a good man, but not a great one. This view prevailed even in this country to a very considerable extent. But it is no longer held by those who are best informed, for Washington's greatness is now everywhere acknowledged. It would be difficult—perhaps impossible—to point to a more completely rounded character. John Fiske has shown that he was a great military commander. Of the fine quality of Washington's statesmanship there can be no question. He was a patriot without even the suspicion of a taint of jingoism. He thought of his country not as something to be bragged about, but to be served.

The law of service was, one may almost say, the fundamental law of the life of Washington. He never sought office, and never desired it. One can not imagine him suggesting—or consenting to—legislation in order to win votes. The first President's moral courage was perhaps his most striking trait. He resisted every effort on the part of politicians and people alike to force the nation into war with England on the side of revolutionary France. One may faintly imagine what he would have said in response to a suggestion that he could win votes by going to war, and would lose them by staying out. Not often has there been a more accurate characterization of a man than Lowell's of Washington. "Where the lot lurks that gives life's foremost place," Washington knew:

Yet Duty's leaden casket holds, it still,
And but two ways are offered to our will,
Toil with rare triumph, ease with safe disgrace.
Of petty cares, that gall great hearts the most,
The problem still for us and all of human race.
He chose, as men choose, where most danger showed,
Nor ever faltered 'neath the load
Of petty cares, that gall great hearts the most.
But kept right on the strenuous uphill road,
Strong to the end, above complaint or boast;
The popular tempest on his rock-mailed coast
Wasted its wind-borne spray;
The noisy marvel of a day:
His soul sat still in its unstormed abode.

Washington was the master of himself, in subjection only to his conscience. The English historian says that "no nobler figure ever stood in the forefront of a nation's life." Thackeray's tributes to him are familiar. All who have studied the character and work of this great man agree that there was in him nothing of the self-seeker, nothing even of ambition—except in that noble sense in which all good men are ambitious. Much he undoubtedly owed to the character with which he was born, and to his inheritance, but much he also owed to discipline. He had schooled himself to generosity in victory, patience in defeat, and in that fitness of soul which safeguarded him against the blandishments of power. His was that—long-breathed valor and undaunted will,
Which, like his own, the day's disaster done,
Could, safe in manhood, suffer and be still.

Washington's fame grows with the years, and shines ever more brightly. He was a strange figure to be cast up out of a revolution. Demagogues or tyrants are usually the fruit of such upheavals. Perhaps the difference between him and other revolutionary leaders—or some of them—reflects in a measure the difference between our revolution and other revolutions. At any rate it was the happy fortune of our country, and of the world, that this nation was led during the perilous days of the Revolution and of the formative period by a man who loved order and institutional liberty, and who coveted for America only the honor of duty-doing and of service to the world.

Rule for National Conduct.
The propitious smiles of heaven can never be expected on a nation that disregards the eternal rules of order and right which heaven itself has ordained.—George Washington.

URGED SUPREMACY OF LAWS

Significant Paragraphs That Are Found in Washington's Famous Farewell Address.

In Washington's farewell address, a classic of the American political creed, will be found in the following paragraphs:

"All obstructions to the execution of the laws, all combinations and associations, under whatever plausible character, with the real design to direct and control, counteract, or awe the regular deliberation and action of the constituted authorities, are destructive of the fundamental principle, and of fatal tendency. They serve to organize faction, to give it an artificial and extraordinary force, to put in the place of the delegated will of the nation the will of a party, often a small but artful and enterprising minority of the community; and, according to the alternate triumphs of different parties, to make the public administration the mirror of the ill conceived and incongruous projects of faction, rather than the organ of consistent and wholesome plans, digested by common councils, and modified by mutual interests.

"However combinations or associations of the above descriptions may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely, in the course of time and things, to become potent engines, by which cunning, ambitious and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people, and to usurp, for themselves, the reins of government, destroying afterwards the very engines which lifted them to unjust dominion.

"Toward the preservation of your government, and the permanency of your present happy state, it is requisite, not only that you steadily discountenance irregular oppositions to its acknowledged authority, but also that you resist with care the spirit of innovation upon its principles, however specious the pretexts."

Two Great Allies

One of the statues unknown to the average New Yorker is that depicting George Washington and his ally from overseas, Marquis de Lafayette. This statue is placed at One Hundred and Fourteenth street and Manhattan avenue.

Made Changes in Writings.
That Washington was more human in his writings than his editors ever let get into print is indicated by the difference in what he actually wrote at times, and what the editors changed his manuscript to read.

Washington wrote, regarding a contemplated appropriation: "One hundred thousand dollars will be but a flea-bite." This was changed to read, "Will be totally inadequate." He also wrote: "Our rascally privateersmen go on at the old rate."
"Rascally" was cut out in the printing as a word indecorous for the President to use.

CROWS THINK, LAUGH AND PLAY ODD TRICKS, SAYS CLOSE OBSERVER

The most amusing episode I personally witnessed in connection with the Rangoon crow bears out my contention that these birds really think. The crow is a great lover of eggs, which he will steal whenever possible, and one day I determined to play a trick on one of them. So instead of an egg, I left a ping-pong ball where I knew the crow would see it. He duly seized it and flew off a branch of a tree with his prize. Now the crow's method of eating an egg is to drop it, it smashes, then he flies down and eats the contents.

My crow duly dropped his "egg," cocking his head to one side to watch the result. Naturally the "egg" didn't break. Instead, it bounced—had I never seen a more amazed-looking crow. He put his head still more on one side and emitted a single long-drawn "caw" of astonishment.

Flying down, he picked up the ping pong ball, carried it to a higher branch and once more let it fall. Again the same thing happened.

"Caw!" said the crow again.

A third time he tried it, from a yet higher branch. At last it seemed to dawn upon him that the thing was a hoax and sat gazing ruminatingly down at the mysterious ball. Then all at once, he burst out into a sudden furious cawing.

This was answered by another crow who, seeing the supposed egg, went through the same performance with it, and each time he dropped it the first crow cawed in derision. Then, putting their heads together, they cawed in unison. Before I left nearly a dozen crows had tried that "egg" and each, after being "had," played the trick on another. And if those crows didn't laugh then I've never heard laughter! — H. W. Elliott in Wide World Magazine.

Charlie Chaplin and Bride-to-be

NEWSPAPER IS BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM FOR REACHING PUBLIC

St. Louis, Feb. 7.—The newspaper is the best advertising medium, Frank Leroy Blanchard, an advertising man of New York, asserted in an address here today before the convention of the seventh district of the Associated Advertising clubs of the world. The district comprises Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

He quoted the late John Wannamaker that all advertising except that in newspapers is "vanity and vexation of spirit."

"The newspapers," he continued, "go into the homes of the intelligent buying public and are carefully read, not alone for the local and national news and feature articles they contain, but also for the merchandise news that appears in the advertising columns.

"Moreover, the newspaper bearing the message of your store goes into the hands of people when they are in a receptive mood and have the time to read what you have to say.

"This privilege you have of talking to them day by day in its columns is of inestimable value, for in no other way can you approach them under such favorable circumstances."

Did You Know These Things About Your Telephone?

That the clearness of your speech as transmitted over the wires depends largely upon the distance of your lips from the mouthpiece on the transmitter—?

That the proper distance is about one inch; if farther than that, such sounds as "b, p, d, t, f, z" etc., will be transmitted poorly;

If closer than one-half inch, nasal sounds like "m" and "n" will not enter the transmitter properly.

Scientific tests show that every additional inch of distance between the lips of the speaker and the mouthpiece of the telephone is equivalent to adding 120 miles of wire to the line over which one is talking!

Proper observance of these "sound facts" may greatly improve your telephone service load purchases of cement, and wholesale contracting of labor, would reduce the construction cost to a comparatively low figure. W. D. Crothers, chairman of the Canning and Poultry and Egg committee, stated that development of these projects was being fast made, and that a wonderful impetus had been given the chicken industry in this county, since everyone appeared interested in chickens—and fowls. He gave the astonishing information that receipts the past year from poultry and eggs in Brady had reached a total of $600,000, a greater return than from almost any one other industry. He stated that several poultry farms were being put in, and that Brady would the coming year be able to boast of greatly increased wonderful returns. He further cited the instance where one man living near Brady had been offered $700 for his last year's crop of chickens and turkeys. Waxing enthusiastic, W. D. said that Brady citizens had become aware of the fact that the state capital was badly located and were contemplating its removal to Brady, and also that the National capital might better be located in Brady so as to make it more convenient for Brownwood citizens to transact their business at the capital, and he earnestly solicited the co-operation of the Brownwood Lions in the plan to make these contemplated re-locations of state and national capitals.

Duke Mann and Rev. Buren Sparks both spoke upon the subject of the "Spirit of Brady." Duke stated that Brady's progress might properly be ascribed to the spirit of co-operation and unity of the citizenship, and that Brownwood visitors would not find any spirits here which could produce like good effect. Rev. Buren also decried any notoriety which Brady or McCulloch county might have achieved by reason of the spirits abounding hereabouts, and declared it was Brady's pure ozone, wonderful water and the natural ambitions of her citizenships which gave Brady that spirit of progress and development. He stated that Brady was one of the healthiest places imaginable to live, and that we boasted of none such mosquitoes as abounded on Pecan bayou. His description of the negro's experiences with mosquitoes on Pecan bayou brought down the house.

Belle Jones made a ringing talk upon "Loyalty to Brady," declaring that loyalty to one's town was the first requisite of good citizenship, and that it was no use to flee from a town just because one could find fault with it, because wherever one went, other faults would soon become manifest to the fault-finder. He recited Edgar A. Guest's famous poem, "Somebody Said It Couldn't Be Done," as exemplifying the spirit of loyalty to town or cause that surmounts all obstacles. In conclusion, he also called attention to that other Guest poem, "It's Not Your Town—It's You" as embodying the thought that the town was all right, and that the individual who was out of harmony with the town spirit was the one on the wrong track.

R. D. McClelland, speaking for the Lions, assured Brady that he had listened with pleasure to the many able addresses, and the expounding of the theories and practices of co-operation, loyalty and unity of purpose. He stated that if any of the Brady delegation that recently visited Brady had been disappointed in the speeches at the meeting of the Lions club there, it was due to the fact that the Lions had decided to give the hitherto backward Lions an opportunity to be heard. In fact, he boasted that Brownwood Lions had many able orators, a fact which he asserted would be amply proved any time Brady folks visited in Brownwood and attended the Lion's Tuesday noon luncheon at the Southern hotel.

Verifying McClelland's assertion as to the quality of Brownwood's orators, Dr. Hornburg then responded to an invitation to address the gathering, and his was decidedly the hit of the occasion. Declaring himself a "deep-water" Baptist, he expressed gratification at Brady's wonderful water supply, at her achievement in financing the splendid new hotel building, at all her various and remarkable achievements of which they had been hearing so much the past six months. He stated that he had studied deeply and profoundly all the way over as to what he and his fellow Lions might bring to Brady that she did not already have. After listening to all the fervid addresses following the luncheon, he had come to the conclusion that in addition to all her other natural resources, Brady was endowed with a most wonderful and unlimited supply of "gas" and that if her citizens could just harness up this flow of gas and use it in turning the machinery of civic enterprises and undertakings, nothing was beyond the realms of possibilities with the Bradyites. Dr. Hornburg stated that in their speeches, the Brady orators had expounded the very principles for which Lionism stood—the L in Lions for loyalty; the I for integrity, and so on, while the final S stood for service. After elaborating upon each of these topics, he stated these were the principles that were contributing to the up-building of communities, of creating better fellowship between communities, and of making for a greater civilization. He further stated that every man owed service to his community according to his individual ability, and that the man of little ability could in no wise be expected to perform the service that the man of great ability should. He concluded by stating that since the Brady Luncheon club had so far not decided definitely upon affiliation with any other organization, that he strongly urged that they form themselves into a Lion's club, giving national affiliation that would be certain to redound to the great good of the organization.

Dr. Hornburg was heartily applauded at the conclusion of his address.

D. J. Johnson, speaking as the "Hired Hand," he being the secretary of the Lion's club, and claiming both Brownwood and Brady as home, expressed in unmeasured terms the appreciation of the Brownwood visitors of the reception accorded, stating that not only had the visit been one of unalloyed pleasure, but that it had been a very profitable one and that they had gained much profitable knowledge from the meeting with the Brady bunch, all of which they would use in the betterment of their organization and the work it was undertaking. He assured everyone present that whenever Brady folks were in Brownwood on Tuesday, they had a standing invitation to be present at 12:15 at the Southern hotel and join the Brownwood Lions in the noon-day luncheon. Mr. Johnson's speech was also well received, and it was the universal verdict that the meeting of Brownwood with Brady had been mutually profitable, as well as pleasant.

Hans Schroeder, proprietor of the Brownwood Floral Co., concluded the speechmaking with a cordial invitation to attend the big Brownwood Free Fall Fair.

Just before leaving the banquet hall, everyone present was presented with a walking cane by the Brownwood Lions, inscribed upon which was the slogan, "On to Brownwood—1922."

Under leadership of F. R. Wulff, it had been planned to give the visitors an auto ride over the city, visiting the new high school site, showing them Brady's two great oil mills, and the finest compress plant in West Texas, as well as other places of interest. On account of the increasingly cold and rainy weather, however, the major portion of the trip had to be abandoned and the visitors contented themselves with a visit to the municipal water and light plant, where they viewed with manifest interest the modern equipment, and up-to-the-minute mode of operation, and incidentally viewed Brady's artesian well flowing at the rate of 500 gallons per minute.

As stated heretofore, the visit was one of mutual interest and benefit, and Brownwood visitors are assured of a cordial welcome and a vacant chair awaiting them at each and every one of the local club's weekly luncheons Thursday at 12:30 p. m.

CHAMPION RIFLE SHOT OF THE WORLD STAGES EXHIBITIONS HERE THIS WEEK

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ryan, the former champion rifle shot of the world, have been in Brady this week, giving several exhibitions at the Lyric theatre. Without question, both are expert marksmen, and their feats of fancy shooting kept the audience upon a nervous edge throughout the performance. In addition, Mr. Ryan sang several songs of his own composition. Incident to their performance, they demonstrated and advertised Winchester guns and ammunition.

Mr. Ryan is famed throughout the nation as the Singing Fireman of the ill-fated Lusitania, and was on that vessel when it was torpedoed, his face being crushed in by the explosion. After recovering from his terrible injuries, he entered the army service, being one of the first to go overseas, and having many thrilling experiences in the trenches. Again he was seriously injured, so badly, in fact, that he is physically incapacitated for all forms of manual labor.

Mr. Ryan's thrilling experiences in his wide and varied career, never fail to hold the attention of his audience when he gets in a reminiscent mood
