KLAN ORATOR IS HEARD BY LARGE AUDIENCE TUES.

Henry G. Wills, attorney of Dallas, was heard last Tuesday night at the Methodist tabernacle by a crowd that taxed the capacity of the auditorium, every seat being occupied and the audience overflowing into the aisles. The size of the audience manifested the interest of the citizenship in the subject upon which Mr. Wills was scheduled to speak, viz: "When Will the Klan Disband." Announcement of the speaking was made by circulars distributed about town last Friday night.

Interest in the speaker was enhanced, perhaps, by reason of the fact that he is an associate of Herbert Adkins, well-known former Bradyite, and who until recently had served as county judge of Lampasas county, Mr. Wills and Mr. Adkins forming a law firm in Dallas. Mr. Wills, while having followed the practice of law for many years, also for a time was in the ministry as pastor of the Methodist denomination. His address Tuesday night stamped him as an orator of exceptional ability, and in the course of his hour and a half talk he ranged from the intensely dramatic to the pathetic, and, again, by his manifestations of ready Irish wit, with which the address was punctuated, aroused hearty laughter and applause from the audience. His references to the Klan were invariably followed by cheering and applause.

The meeting was opened at 7:45 o'clock by invocation by the Rev. I. T. Morris, following which J. A. Holton introduced the speaker in a brief and appropriate address.

Mr. Wills address was devoted almost entirely to a recount of historical events dating back to the time of the ancients, and carried on up through the Dark Ages to the time of the World War. In his relating of historical events, he proved himself a scholar in ancient history, although some of his allegations proved both startling and new to students of ancient history. Throughout his discourse, Mr. Wills bitterly assailed the Roman Catholic church, which he charged with insidious political machinations and propaganda. He told of the corrupt practices charged against the church, and reviewed the incidents of the 15th and 16th centuries which led to the revolt of Martin Luther against papal domination and resulted in the Reformation.

The speaker disclaimed enmity towards individuals of the Catholic faith, but condemned alleged practices of the church.

In the course of his address, Mr. Wills was particularly vitriolic in his references to the Dallas News and the stand of that paper against the Ku Klux Klan, and also denounced William Randolph Hearst and the news and editorial policies of the Hearst papers.

He stated that the Klan at present had a membership of 2,000,000 in the United States and that it was growing with such rapidity that within ten years it would have reached a total membership of 25,000,000.

Mr. Wills concluded his address by stating that some four or five hundred years from now little children would crawl on their grandfather's knee and ask, "Grandpa, locked little girls in convents, and was there ever an organization called the Roman Catholic church which locked little children in convents, and kept them there until their lives were broken and they were old, and then turned them out into the world?" to which the grandfather would reply, "Yes, my child, but in the years 1922-23 there arose an organization known as the Ku Klux Klan which beat the hell out of them."

Mr. Wills quoted passages of scripture in support and embellishment of various of his statements, and is declared to have possessed a wonderful knowledge and intimate acquaintance with the Bible in addition to his fund of historical facts.

Throughout his address he was given the closest attention of the large audience, and was accorded a most respectful hearing.

The address Tuesday night was the first public meeting held in Brady and at which the Klan subject was discussed by an avowed Klansman. As such, it commanded more than ordinary interest upon the part of the citizenship.

CHARACTER IMPERSONATIONS MONDAY MAR. 5

Interest is being taken in the coming number of the Dixie Lyceum bureau, which Monday night will present at the Methodist tabernacle, Francis Joyner, noted character artist and impersonator of great actors. The entertainment offered is both unique and original. The number is to be presented under auspices of the Brady Parent-Teachers association, the entertainment beginning at 7:15 p. m. Lyceum season tickets will admit to the performance. Individual admission will be 50c for adults, while all school children will be admitted for 25c.

"Moments With Great Actors" is the feature of Mr. Joyner's program, showing impersonations of the greatest actors in some of their famous roles. Each character is properly costumed and the different facial make-ups required are assumed with astonishing rapidity. Among these impersonations might be mentioned Sir Henry Irving as "Shylock," Richard Mansfield as "Cyrano de Bergerac," Sol Smith Russell as David Holmes in "A Bachelor's Romance," Leo Dietrichstein as Jean Paul in "The Great Lover," and Lionel Barrymore as Milt Shanks in "The Copperhead."

Mr. Joyner's long training on the American stage has eminently fitted him for this work. For twenty years he has been a player of note on the dramatic stage and the motion picture screen.

His most recent success in the motion world was with William Farnum in the Fox Film play "Perjury," in which Mr. Joyner's work as the villain has won most favorable comment.

Repeated glowing successes before exclusive New York clubs and organizations led Mr. Joyner to forsake for a time the legitimate stage and the silent drama work. Eminent critics—some of them the very artists impersonated by Mr. Joyner—have heard, enjoyed and enthusiastically commended his fine character work. Mr. Joyner is an artist of first rank and his program is delightfully different from the old style form of impersonative recital.

NEWS FROM THE STATE CAPITOL

Inheritance Tax Bill Passed by House.

The Legislature is getting down to business this week. Most of us think that we will adjourn on March 10th and those who have bills to come up are trying to get them passed before that time.

We are working on revenue measures this week. The new Inheritance bill was passed by the House this morning and now goes to the Senate.

We killed the State Tax Board Commission bill yesterday. The vote was very close, being 67 to 60 to postpone indefinitely. This was called the "Tax Equalization" bill. It gave the power to equalize land values to the State Tax Board composed of three officers at Austin. It provided that a person who might think that this Board had assessed his property too high could institute a suit in court to have it reduced; of course the farmer would go ahead and pay on his increased assessment as he would not have the money to hire a lawyer.

The purpose of the bill as I saw it was to raise more money for the State government from the land owners, and I do not believe it would have equalized taxes in the least as I can not see how three men at Austin would be more qualified to pass on land value than the County commissioners or assessor. Another point is that so far none of the tax measures we have passed here have passed the Senate yet, and they may not pass and unless they do the State is going to be in worse shape than ever on account of the large new appropriations; had we passed this "Equalization" bill it would have been invoked to raise the money and the ranchman and farmer would have had to pay the bill. I think that the House's action in killing this bill will cause the Senate to pick up and put over some of the measures before it looking toward a true equalization of Taxes.

I have had several visitors this week. Hon. Buck Gray of Cherokee who represented our district here in the 28th and 29th Legislature and Dr. C. L. Behrens of the same place were here Monday and called on me. Mr. Gray met several of his old associates while here and seemed to enjoy himself. Dr. Behrens assured me that he was not lobbying for the bill requiring that all "male" cedar trees be cut down and as I am afraid they would put the Legislature to work on the trees am fighting it with all my resources, I got Doc a pass and he and Mr. Gray saw the House work on the "Equalization" bill. I am glad to have the folks back home to call on me and when you are in Austin be sure to hunt me up.

It has been either cloudy or raining here for over two weeks and I would like to see the sun shine again for a while.

JAMES FINLAY.

BEN STRICKLAND TO EXHIBIT PRIZE YOUNG HEREFORD AT THE FT. WORTH STOCK SHOW

Ben Strickland yesterday shipped one of his prize young Hereford steers to Fort Worth for exhibition at the Fat Stock show. The appearance of the animal on the streets excited much interest among local cattlemen and citizens. The Hereford is just ten months old today and tips the beam at 735 pounds. It was raised by Mr. Strickland's 11-year old son, Robert, and will be exhibited as the young man's contribution to West Texas' blue ribbon baby beves.

BRADY COTTON EXCHANGE OPENS HERE TUESDAY

The Brady Cotton Exchange is now in operation in Brady, the office having been opened Tuesday with Glenn Bowden of Brownwood in charge. The new exchange was installed here by Messrs. Perry & Latham, exchange operators of Brownwood, at the earnest solicitation of local cotton men. Before the exchange could be opened, permission from both the Boards of Exchange at New Orleans and New York had to be obtained.

The office of the exchange is located to the right of the stairway on the second floor of the Syndicate building, and has been fitted up with chairs, tables and other conveniences for the nineteen charter members of the exchange. Continuous quotations are received over a special wire by the operator and placed on the board immediately, the service being a marked improvement over the 15-minute call service heretofore given out at the Western Union office in the Queen hotel lobby.

The special wire will carry quotations only, and all purchasing and selling orders will be transmitted over Western Union wire as before.

Blizzard Probably Killed More Fruit Than First Thought.

Voca, Texas, Feb. 26.

Editor Brady Standard:

After so long a time it has cleared up and the sun has come out nice and bright, just as warm and balmy as a May-day. But the ground is just as full of water as it can hold and has been seeping out in the low places.

I fear the blizzard in the early part of this month killed more of the fruit than was first thought, although I am hoping there will still be plenty left. Our fruit trees here usually set on more fruit than they should when they are not interfered with by freezes or frosts.

The range is getting good—as fine as I ever saw in February. I see for the first time in several years, a big crop of wild peas. These pea vines make stock get fat quicker than most anything and all kinds of stock relish them; but when they mature they sometimes cause considerable loss among stock, especially young horses and colts. It gives them what is known here as peavine distemper. This is known only in the sandy belt.

I hear of some now trying to get pastures for their stock horses in the black-land district on account of heavy peavine crop in the sand. I have never heard of stock losses from peavine distemper in the black land or limestone districts.

Well I guess the next thing after the ground dries up so it can be worked, people will be planting corn and the benediction lingers yet

Like the dew or the gracious rain For the clouds that rise and float to the skies

Must fall to the earth again.

A Visit to the F. M. Richards' Ranch Near Brady—Prize Winning Stock

To anyone who has the pride and development of their county at heart and who has a love for the beautiful, whether it be scenery, herds of fine cattle or of individual specimens of the bovine brute, displaying man's fine art in cattle development, it will be well worth their time and leisure to turn their car towards the ranch of our fellow townsman, Mr. F. M. Richards. There they will find wrapped up in the red and white hides of the Hereford breed, not only some of the finest individuals, both male and female, of the breed, but a herd of wonderful range cattle second to none in the South and I might say in this whole land of ours and that is taking in lots of territory. However, while this is a very broad claim still it is backed up by the assertion of a livestock expert of national reputation.

On Friday afternoon, February 2, in company with Mr. Richards the following Brady citizens visited the ranch: Messrs. Jas. T. Mann, Jamie Brook, County Agent Geo. E. Ehlinger and Prof. John C. Burns, Fieldman for the Texas Hereford Breeders Association. Just a word of introduction regarding Prof. Burns will suffice to enable everyone to see why Mr. Richards' hat was a couple of numbers too small after the trip out there. Prof. Burns is a graduate of the A. & M. College, in the Animal Husbandry Department, of some twenty years ago. After graduation he became connected with the teaching staff of the college as associate professor of Animal Husbandry and later was placed at the head of this department. After sixteen years of service at the college, during which time he officiated as judge at many of our prominent live-stock shows, he resigned and took up the work as Fieldman for the Texas Shorthorn Breeders Association. He served several years with this association and last fall accepted a position with the Texas Hereford Breeders Association in the same capacity. At the last International Livestock Show in Chicago, Ill., Prof. Burns officiated as judge of the Hereford Show, which fact gives him a national reputation as a livestock judge. In showing us about the ranch Mr. Richards did not confine his efforts to his registered cattle but showed a number of herds of high-grade range cows, all good specimens and some with great bones of fat on them, despite the fact that they are absolutely dependent on the range for their sustenance. It was while viewing these range cattle that Prof. Burns made the unsolicited statement that "Undoubtedly this is the best herd of range cattle I have ever seen." This statement coming from a man of such wide experience and reputation, and one who is very conservative about his statements caused Mr. Richards to go home to his better half and tell her that he was the happiest man in the world.

While this herd of cattle is considered a grade herd they are virtually pure-bred but not subject to registration. For the past twenty or more years pure-bred bulls of the best blood lines have been used and all cold blood practically bred out of them. Furthermore if I understand the situation correctly the foundation of this herd was originally registered but the registration was eventually dropped.

Mr. Richards has at the present time seven highly bred registered bulls which he is using on his herd. These bulls have all been bought during the past two years, and amongst them are some of the outstanding young Hereford bulls of the state. Last spring, immediately after the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show, Mr. Richards unloaded six of these bulls in Brady. Among them was Blanchard Fairfax, who stood second in his class at Fort Worth. There was also another striking individual out of the same herd and which was considered a better bull than the Blanchard Fairfax calf by the ranchmen. However Mr. Richards doesn't think so and all of the college men who have recently visited the ranch are very much impressed with the conformation and quality of this calf. This bull, Blanchard Fairfax was sired by Emory Fairfax, never shown, and he in turn by Perfection Fairfax, Grand Champion, Chicago International; he by Perfection, Grand Champion Chicago, in his day and he by Dale also Grand Champion, which sold for $10,000.00 and the highest priced Hereford at this time. Anyone can easily see from this breeding that Mr. Richards is picking out the good ones.

Just recently a string of five registered heifers were bought by Mr. Richards and no doubt will be the foundation for a wonderful herd of registered Herefords in McCulloch county.

Belle Best was sired by Beau Best and will be two years old February 29, of this year. She was in the first prize young herd shown at Fort Worth in 1922 and while purchased this year at the Kansas City Royal, she was not entered in the show ring. Her sire Beau Best was the Grand Champion, both at the Kansas City Royal and the Chicago International Livestock Shows in 1920.

Judy was three years old February 23, of this year. She stood third in her class at the Chicago International and 4th at the Kansas City Royal in 1922. Her sire is Mischievous Jr. and he stood 2nd at the International in 1920. At the time she was bought she was in calf by the Bull Beau Best mentioned above and on February first dropped a fine heifer calf at the ranch. This calf has both the breeding and ancestral performance in the show ring behind it and should make a prize winner.

Bonnie Lass 7th was Jr. and Grand Champion, Fort Worth 1921 and 1922. Her sire Mischievous Mixer stood first at Kansas City Royal 1922 on get of sire in competition with 21 other eminent sires. She is also in calf by the bull Beau Best mentioned above and will no doubt present the ranch with another prize winner shortly.

All of these heifers were bought of Messrs. Wallace and E. G. Good.

Mr. Richards was assisted by Prof. Burns in selecting the other two heifers from one of our leading Panhandle herds of Herefords and while they have never entered the show ring they are of the best type and breeding.

Mary Etta 42nd will be two years old March 5th and was sired by Beau Chief. Donnes Stanway was sired by Don Stanway and he and the bull above, Beau Chief were both sired by Bright Stanway. This latter bull was the highest priced bull sold by Guggel & Simpson at their dispersion sale. Both of these heifers are highly Anxiety bred have no outcross in their lineage.

Anyone desiring to visit this ranch will find a hearty welcome awaiting them out there for if there is anything that Foreman Tol J. Roberts loves to do it is to show visitors the fine cattle and the ranch in general. And if you want to see a good rabbit race you can see that for there are six fine Grey Hounds kept on the ranch for the entertainment of the Jack rabbits and incidentally Mr. Richards and his visitors. The only thing you can do or principal thing you can do to disappoint Mr. Roberts is to come out and then not permit him to show you about Mr. Roberts is a young man of much ambition, a close student of fine Hereford cattle and with the assistance of Mr. Richards is building himself a fine herd of Registered cattle. Some day we will hear a great deal more from him as a breeder, for he realizes that he has an opportunity and he is doing all he can to take advantage of it.

We all realize that we have a good county with many diverse possibilities for future development and as citizens of greater ambitions we should do everything possible to encourage an enterprise such as Mr. Richards is spending his money and efforts to develop. Nothing pleases him better than to have the people visit his place and therefore the least we can do is to take off a spare day and run out and look these wonderful cattle over. You will be gratified with your visit and so will Mr. Richards and the boys out at the ranch.

Wonder, Ore., Feb. 16.
Editor Brady Standard:

Oh yes! I remember those two cold snaps you have been talking about. Those of 1887 and 1899. The last mentioned was the winter before we came to Oregon. I had some Irish potatoes being brought from Brownwood in a wagon and they froze as hard as rocks. I tried thawing them out in tubs of cold water but only a few of them were fit to eat. I also remember a colder spell than either of those mentioned. I think it was the winter of 1862 and '63. We were living in Bell county on the Leon river and it froze over and some of the neighbors cut holes in the ice and got out some nice fish. I was also told by old pioneers of McCulloch county that the San Saba also froze over solid enough for stock to cross on the ice that same winter.

Your Rochelle correspondent "Amos Keeter kindly made mention of the time when old Bro. I. G. Lambricht used to preach for us. That was not so very long ago, but it seems a good while to us now. The last time I heard him preach, it was at a little school house a few miles out of Brady on the Coleman road. I was teaching a singing class out there at the time, and he came out on Sunday and preached for us. His text on that occasion was Gen. XI:3, "Brick for Stone and Slime for Mortar" (a rather peculiar text). I can tell you the very spot where Brother Lambricht kept batch. It was on a rocky point on the north side Brady creek, a short distance below the Brady and Coleman crossing near the mouth of a little creek, I think they called it Liveoak creek. His little one-room shack was built of stone and mud and covered with the same material, in the early days. I often think of an argument I heard between N. P. Fulcher (N. stood for Nathaniel and we called him "Than" for short, and according to my idea of a man he was as good a man as I ever knew). And Mr. Lambricht, upon the subject of women speaking in public, mentioned in St. Paul's first letter to the Cor. Chapt. XIV 34-35 verses. Mr. Lambricht contended that Paul was not Divinely inspired to make that assertion anyhow! That he was a crusty old bachelor and said it according to his own will. Now that women are becoming prominent in public affairs generally, I am constrained to believe that the majority of mankind are inclined to the opinion expressed by old Brother Lambricht, whether that be scripturally right or wrong.

I hope to be able to relate some amusing incidents in connection with the life and achievements of Capt. Dan Wills as I knew him. Also some interesting features connected with our recent travels to and from Texas in the near future.

The man replied: "The holes for the ears of the ass that would pay fifteen dollars for a hat like that."

Emergency Measure.

In a university of the Middle-West, chemistry is not elective. Thus it happened that a young theologian found himself enduring the fumes of a laboratory. In the final "exam" appeared this question:

"What would you administer in a case of aqua regia poisoning?"

The young man racked his brain and regretted that he had neglected his chemistry. In desperation he wrote:

"I would administer the sacrament."

Borrowed Honors.

The goose had been carved. It was excellent. The negro minister who was the guest of honor, could not restrain his enthusiasm.

"Dat's as fine a goose as I evah see, Brudder Williams," he said to his host. "Whar did you get such a fine goose?"

"Well, now, parson," replied the carver of the goose, exhibiting great dignity and reluctance, "when you preaches a speshul good sermon I never axes you whar you got it, an' I hopes you will show me de same consideration."

Richard Lloyd Jones Says

BE BUSY

YOU cannot test your muscle sitting still. You cannot find out what your brain can do by going to sleep. Repose is not a prodder to progress. Its proper place is after work, not before work. Work is for the living; rest for the dead. Be a live one. It has often been said "Thou shalt work" should be one of the commandments of every religion.

Work is the noble yardstick by which we determine the worth of all things. It is the climax of God's gifts to man. It is a blessing, not a curse. Deprive a man of the right to work and you have imposed the superlative punishment, because man knows no joy or repose that is not found along the pathway of work.

The man who never does anything never knows anything. The man who never works never gets anything. He may be given things, but he can only again give. He knows no building game.

The traveled rail and the driving piston rod are polished by use. The idle piece of steel is red with rust. Better to wear out than to rust out.

History is the story of work, the record of achievements. In its index you cannot find the names of idlers. Contribute something to the history of something.

To know work as a friend is the hallmark of wisdom. It is by journeying through the shadows of life that we learn the solace of daily tasks. The tenderness that denies effort is cruelty. It makes characterless that which was endowed with strength.

Work is expression. If you can't express yourself one way, try another—but try. If you can't build a cathedral, dig a ditch. But do something.

Only workers win the world's respect. God does not hold us responsible for results; only for faithfulness.

Work was made for man, not man for work. He who fails at his task permits work to be his master. Success comes to him who is master of his work.

Work is so respectable that there is no one no matter how rich or lazy who does not at least pretend to work at something and who does not want to be known as a worker.

Work is the greatest educator. Tackle a job that is a little above you; grow to it and you engage in work. Tackle a job that is below you and you engage in idleness. Put your heart into work and your labor becomes the light of life.

Work is the highway to human welfare.

HONEY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

If we all got up at nine o'clock tomorrow morning, convinced that at ten o'clock we were all going to die—and we weren't, the troubles of the world would be solved in thirty days. The desperate effort to accomplish before the end, in science, in art, in industry in invention, in economics, in human conduct and all other factors of the national life would unfold a world of happiness and comfort and usefulness that would spell contentment and disclose in an hour what brotherhood really would do for us if we ever tried it. Glory be to the gods forever! If he was out of commission, we'd be a seething mass of selfishness, thievery and debauchery. If we lived here forever—my what an awful bunch we'd be.

Poem by UNCLE JOHN

We're all inclined to grumble if we're fat, or if we're lean. . . . We crave the happy medium that's supposed to be between—Nobody wants a figger like a load of prairie hay—Nor, it wouldn't be convenient to drier up an' blow away. . . . When a feller comes, disgusted with wald-DIVERSE OR lerin' in his fat, they tell him to reduce it, by PERVERSE avoidin' this or that—he musn't eat potatoes, an' he must dispense with pork,—the more supplies he does without, the better it will work. . . . Then, they run aroost a feller that rattles in his shoes,—He follers out the schedule that they told him he could use. . . . The consommé, an' pabulum, ah' vitamins, an' dope, may perk him up a little in the shadder-land of hope! But, that ain't solved the problems, an' I reckon, new will. . . . ## PEACE HATH ITS VICTORIES NO LESS THAN WAR.

There is an inspiring news story comes from North Dakota—inspiring even though shocking. It tells the story of a mother and a father's sacrifice for their children. Caught out on a prairie in a blizzard with only a wagon box and a few coverings to protect them, the father, with outstretched arms, shielded his loved ones from the fury of the storm, giving his life that they might live. The mother, too, clasped her children close to her bosom, keeping them warm and safe, although she was so badly frozen that she will lose both hands and one foot.

We honor and glorify the heroes of our wars; we dedicate monuments to their memory; we observe as holidays the days of their great victories—but none the less a hero: as deserving of a monument and as inspiring as any deed of heroism during battle with the enemies of our country. Is the man who made the supreme sacrifice on that West Dakota prairie in order that his loved ones might live.

CONFUSION UPON YOU.

Now comes the editor of the Brownwood Bulletin, supposedly a good, kind and sympathetic friend of our own, and directs attention to the fact that The Standard reported that a former Brady man, as Deputy Internal Revenue collector, would be stationed in Brownwood on February 28 and 29th and March 1 and 2nd. We have repeatedly asked our "friends" not to direct attention to the errors we make, nor to laugh up their sleeve at the "busts" that may appear when least expected. And yet, the Bulletin man chortles with glee, because we tried to make a leap year out of 1923, and intimates that he hopes to take advantage of the same to "leap" his income tax payment. In the same article, he spells the word collector "ollector." To such a poor critic, we can only reply with scorn and dignity. " '23 is the skiddoo year for both you and February 29th; we desire to be left in peace."

If the remark of a local member of the legion may be taken as the literal truth, the barbers are certain to be face to face with a great slump in business. Asked as to the loss of his beautiful, silky beard, the legionnaire replied, "It was called off!"

"Business as usual" is a slogan that is going into the discard this spring, summer, fall and winter in Grand Old McCulloch. "Business better than usual" is the new battle-cry.

While planning and planting that big cotton acreage this year, don't forget that hog and hominy, and a full corn crib help keep the cotton dollars at home after the crops are gathered and marketed.

The San Saba News very sagely remarks: "Thundered on February 2, 8 and 10th. There will be frost on April 2, 8 and 10th. It never misses when it hits." Yea, bo, and when the April frosts hit, we all wish they were misses.

TAXATION RUNNING WILD.

Representative Roy Hardin of Kaufman county makes the following public statement relative to the numerous measures before the Texas Legislature designed to increase the revenue of the State and greatly increase the burden of taxation now being borne by the people:

"Industrial enterprises in Texas will be severely crippled and the economic progress of the whole State will be retarded if the tax measures pending before the Legislature are permitted to become laws. Such drastic and unnecessary measures were never heard of in Texas before; they aim at every public utility and business concern in the State and affect every business man, big or little.

"I can not understand where this unreasonable demand for increased revenue comes from. The constant cry is for more taxes, and this in spite of the fact that our ad valorem taxes have just been raised to the constitutional limit, meaning $4,000,000 a year.

"I deny that there is any need or any excuse for further taxation. It is true there is a deficit in the Treasury, but that deficit was caused, not by a lack of revenue, but by an excess of extravagant appropriations.

"It seems not to have occurred to those tax enthusiasts that the best way to remove the deficit is to remove the cause, whereas the bringing in of more revenue will simply be a temptation to further extravagance and the creation of larger deficits in the future. It is utterly absurd to contend that the State Government must spend millions of dollars more than it ever spent before, especially when the extra millions must come from legitimate business concerns which are already suffering from an excess of legislation and which are vitally necessary to the well-being of our State and all the people in it."—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

ADVICE TO FARMERS.

The farmer gets more free advice about how to run his business than any other citizen. L. B. Russell, contributing editor of the Comanche Enterprise, says:

"I don't blame farmers for sometimes getting a little sore over vast quantity of advice that is shot into them from all sources—except from farmers. Of course, it is true that farming is applied science, and some farmers know more about the science of farming than others. No business on earth requires greater care in judgment and management. But suppose the papers and the lectures were eternally harping on what the merchandising world ought to do every year don't you reckon merchants would be tempted to invite their gratuitous advisers to go to Halifax, or some other place not quite as cold? As a rule any man, whether farmer or not, if he is sensible, is willing to listen to advice from another man if he believes the man knows more than he does.

"Right now there are a lot of advisers on cotton planting during the present year. I am not going to venture any advice on cotton, after committing myself as I have in the foregoing remarks but I am going to say this much: Every farmer ought to manage his own business according to his own conditions. Some men can make more money out of some other crop. Some are independent and will plant whatever cotton they think is wise. And some have debts to pay which require a cash crop of all they can possibly produce. I said I wouldn't advise, but I will, anyway. My advice is to use your own judgment and then do as you blame please, if you can!"

TYPOGRAPHICAL MISFORTUNES.

The linotype machine is a tricky rascal. A personal in an exchange reads like this: "The Misses Blank are here the guests of the uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Hank." Of course the proof-reader can not be expected to catch them all, but it is usually the most ridiculous errors that escape his eagle eye.—Mexico News.

The linotype is capable of such a calamity as that. It is a wonder that more dreadful things do not happen in printing offices than do happen, considering that the keys on the linotype are so close together, or the letter boxes in the printer's case. To strike the wrong key or to pick up the wrong letter may change a proper word into an improper one, and if the context happens to be such as to make the error ludicrous or scandalous the worst sort of ill feeling may come out of it. Do not carry typographical errors around in your pocket; to have fun with. It may make trouble for you. Do not irritate the editor by exhibiting a bust in his paper and trying to have fun at his expense. He may hit you in the eye with his diamond ring. Typographical

HOORAY FOR MORRILTON!

This cheer for a small town was clipped from the D. A. C. News—published by the Detroit Athletic Club. The original letter was sent to Theodore H. Price, Editor of Commerce and Finance:

Morrilton, Ark.

Dear Mr. Price:

You request my services to help edit COMMERCE & FINANCE. I couldn't think of it. I live in a little town in Arkansas with forty-one of the finest folks on earth, about four thousand more equal to other inhabitants. We have no grafters, thieves, moonshiners, labor or capital, nobody kicking about the Lord or Congress' favoritism, taxes or poverty. We have golf club, fishing club, K. K. club, and home brew club.

I have a private six-day bank that nets me all I can spend. I wind it up Monday and it runs until Saturday without my attention or worry. I ship five cars of chickens to New York every week, the profits is my worry, as my wife's folks are rich and I want to keep from showing too much prosperity. I fish two days a week, play golf three, and close up on Thursday for the benefit of my girl stenographer, and play the fiddle all day Sunday.

I have six friends here and can see them in fifteen minutes. You have about five in New York and you couldn't find them in a month.

When you die, if you go to heaven, you have to come right through Morrilton; if you go to hell, you have to go by Hot Springs, only fifty miles from here. This is the gateway to either place. Besides these things we have flappers, movies, paved streets, swimming, petting and poker parties, curly-headed boys with red neckties that play guitars and mandolins. What more does New York offer?

WOOD RAINWATER.

errors can not be helped after they are off the press. The only proper thing to do with a typographical error is to hide it and forget it. If you see one, don't mention it. But if that is asking too much of weak human flesh, for heaven's sake don't get mad about it if the joke seems to be on you.—State Press, in Dallas News.

THE WORLD'S BEST LOSERS.

President Harding strikes a high note in his letter sent to the United States Confederate Veterans in connection with their forthcoming annual reunion at New Orleans. In earnest language, he associates the whole American people with this assembly, at the same time calling attention to the eminent example of good-will which the Confederate veterans set for all the world in 1865 and afterward. With exhausted resources and ravaged land, with a decimated population and broken hopes, the Southerners bravely "accepted the situation" and went to work with earnest resolution. As Mr. Harding says:

"The men of the Confederate armies went home after the war to a land that not only was devastated, but had suffered literally a revolution of its economic system. However desirable were the ultimate results of that revolution, it imposed upon the people of the south a complication of difficulties which vastly aggravated their task of reframing the empire's social and industrial plan of life. Their achievement, in all the circumstances, constitutes one of the greatest accomplishments of any people in all history."

Here was a victory in whose beneficial effects the whole country shared, and by which the world was helped. There is nothing quite like it in history. It is the token of the American nation's eternal peace with its own limits, and the assurance of its enduring safety against all foreign enemies that may arise.—Boston Transcript.

THE PENITENTIARY RAT HOLE.

Governor Ferguson's offer to lease the entire prison system of the state, operate it under the supervision of the Board of Prison Commissioners, and pay the state $260,000 per year was unceremoniously turned down by the legislature. The motion to "send this letter back to its author without comment" prevailed by a vote of 79 to 34. The implication is that the House wished the author to understand that it did not care to hear from him, and would not even read a letter from him.

This highly virtuous action is a reminder of some interesting features of the past history of the penitentiary system. For a long term of years, running up to the Ireland administration, it was operated under the leasing system. Cunningham and Ellis, lessees, were enriched by their contract with the state, and this undoubtedly had much to do with building up a sentiment adverse to the leasing system. Others made money rapidly while operating farms with convicts, and several fortunes were made through the use of convicts in coal mines. It became proverbial that anybody who could lease a considerable number of convicts from the state had a fortune in his grasp. The prison system was a large asset of the state and required no appropriations, or when they were made, did not utilize them.

Then came the cry for reform and abolishment of the leasing system. The state took charge. Each legislature has added something to the sweep of reform. The net result is that the average loss of the system has now reached the goodly sum of over one million dollars a year, or more than it cost to run the entire state government thirty-five years ago. With 84,000 acres of rich land, about 4500 able bodied workmen who receive no wages, and equipment which cost several millions of dollars, the state cannot break even on operation, but loses over a million

Mrs. Alex Tupman Entertains.

Mrs. Alex Tupman entertained on last Saturday night for a few friends in compliment to her nephew, Mrs. Chas. Tupman, the occasion celebrating his birthday on February 22nd. A patriotic keynote featured the decorations, red, white and blue streamers adorning the dining room, with table cloth and napkins harmonizing. The birthday cake of red and white bore candles of red, white and blue, and real cherries were used for candle holders, while Washington decorations added to the attractiveness of the scene.

The guests enjoyed a series of "500" and also found diversion in dancing.

Refreshments of hot chocolate with whipped cream and cake were served, numbered hatchets being used to match partners for the refreshments.

The occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by all present, Mrs. Tupman being declared a delightful hostess.

Apron Social.

A most delightful occasion was the Apron social at the Methodist church, held Wednesday afternoon, and which was given a splendid attendance. The church parlors and auditorium were attractively decorated with pot plants, and following an enjoyable program, refreshments of coffee, tea, chicken salad, pickles and sandwiches were served.

Invitations to the affair were sent out in the form of tiny aprons, with the following verse:

This little apron we're sending to you
And this is what we want you to do:
Measure your waist-line, inch by inch,
(And be sure the tape-line doesn't pinch.)

Then for each inch place a penny round
In the little pocket on the apron found.

Come to our Apron Party at the M. E. Church,
And enjoy our company, we're a jolly bunch.

We'll give you something good to eat
Also furnish a musical treat.
February 23rd is the date,
At 3:00 o'clock; please don't be late.

Postponement of the party from the 23rd to Wednesday was made necessary by the rainy weather of the past week.

A good time is reported by all attending, and the ladies of the church are pleased at having realized about $40 from the social.

The program rendered was as follows:

- Innovation—Rev. Browning.
- Piano duet—Miss Banister and Miss Hilma Jordan.
- Song—"Lullaby"—Girls Glee Club.
- Vocal solo—Mrs. Jim Mann.

When you study this great bowl, study its wonderful lines, its simple and perfect construction, the fine proportions of every part, the perfect manipulation of the discs—then you realize and understand why this bowl, in the many years of effort and scientific endeavor spent, has cost the Empire Company more than a million dollars, and has rendered to the Dairy World a discovery, an achievement, a separator bowl that will, in a short time, in the greater butterfat savings it will effect, render a saving and service to the Dairy World of many times that million-dollar sum.

You can appreciate what that means; it is an achievement in separator construction. Many separator bowls jar and wobble on the spindle top. The Empire Bowl, on the other hand, rides smoothly and perfectly on the taper side, always finding its own center and maintaining a perfect balance.

C. E. STRICKLAND CHECKED IN AS GULF REFINING CO. LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE MAR. 1

C. E. Strickland, recently from Goldthwaite, was yesterday checked in as local agent for the Gulf Refining Co., succeeding T. L. Bodenhamer, who resigned the position in order to devote all his time to the operation of the Bodenhamer wagon yard and grocery store in the east part of town. Mr. Strickland for the past thirty years has been a resident of Goldthwaite, and for the past seven years has represented the Gulf Refining Co. at that place, resigning the position about six weeks ago in order to make a change of location. He is a most affable and pleasant gentleman, and during his stay in Brady the past couple weeks has made friends of all with whom he has met.

Mrs. Strickland, who has been under treatment in a sanitarium at Dallas, was able to come to Brady and arrived here this morning with their two daughters to join Mr. Strickland in making Brady their new home. The oldest daughter, however, will return to Goldthwaite to complete the school term there.

A hearty welcome is extended this estimable family by the citizenship of Brady.

The supply sergeant had just issued the last assortment of shoes to the colored outfit. There were plenty of kicks, but the loudest and most prolonged came from Private Indigo Snow, who, failing to receive satisfaction elsewhere, betook himself to the captain.

"Cap'n, sub," he announced, "mah shoes am too big fo' me."

"You'll have to make the best of it," answered the captain. "Plenty of men have shoes that don't quite fit."

"Don't quite fit!" ejaculated Indigo.

"If yo' says 'tenshun, cap'n, Ah comes to 'tenshun. Den if yo' says to right about face Ah right about faces but mah shoes stays at tenshun. Don't quite fit? Huh!"

BELTON JURY ASSESSES 15-YEAR PENALTY FOR ASSAULT ON FORMER BRADY CITIZEN

According to the Temple Telegram, a 15-year prison sentence was given Roy Davis by a jury at Belton, which tried him for a murderous assault on Wayne Terry, and which all but cost the latter his life. Wayne Terry is a brother of Tom and Clyde Terry, well-known citizens of the Brady community, and is himself well-known here, having spent considerable time in and around Brady. The item in the Temple paper reported the trial and sentence as follows:

Belton, Feb. 27.—Roy Davis, charged by indictment with assault to murder upon Wayne Terry near Pendleton some weeks ago, was found guilty and given a sentence of 15 years in the state penitentiary by a jury after only 45 minutes deliberation here tonight in the district court. Terry was beaten over the head with a rock in an altercation, it was alleged in the indictment, and was not expected to live for many weeks after officers answered a call for assistance and brought him to a Temple hospital. Charges were filed against Davis subsequently. Evidence in the case was completed this morning and the greater part of the afternoon was spent in preparing the charge for the jury.

HEARST BUYS RECORD OF FORT WORTH; REPORT IS MATTER OF INTEREST

New York, Feb. 26.—It is believed here that William Randolph Hearst has gone into the Texas newspaper field and it is rumored that he will start a Sunday newspaper in Fort Worth Sunday, February 25th. It is believed Mr. Hearst has secured control of the Fort Worth Record.

The announcement was made today that Edmund Walker of this city had sold the Record, which he recently purchased from James O. Allison and Leonard Withington, to D. D. Moore, former publisher of the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Mr. Moore resigned as head of the Picayune a few months ago and it was said at the time that he was going with the Hearst organization. Mr. Moore is in Fort Worth now and has taken charge of the plant. If Mr. Hearst has purchased the Record it is the seventh newspaper he has acquired in the last twelve months and is a continuation of his policy of buying established newspapers rather than attempting to start new papers.

REQUIREMENTS OF TEXAS SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY

The decision of the Brady Chamber of Commerce to throw its hat into the ring in the contest of West Texas towns for the location of the recently-created Texas School of Technology, places a responsibility upon every citizen. It will require much earnest, unselfish work to place Brady in a favorable light—but whatever efforts we put forth will result to our good. In contesting for the location, it is important that Brady meet all the requirements set forth in the following letter received by The Standard from George B. Terrell, commissioner of Agriculture, and which are certain to count heavily in the decisions of the locating committee:

Geo. B. Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture, is interested in the best location for the Texas School of Technology to be established under a recent act of the Legislature, and gave out the following statement today:

I am always interested in educational matters and especially in agricultural and technological education.

Twenty-one years ago I supported a law establishing a Textile Department at the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas to train young men to become foreman and managers of cotton mills which were just beginning to be erected in Texas.

It seems that this addition to the A. & M. College has not properly fulfilled the purposes for which it was established, and that it has become necessary to establish a school of technology elsewhere on a larger scale.

I supported the law in the 35th Legislature establishing an Agricultural College in West Texas, which college was located at Abilene, but was later repealed because of the near scandal connected with its location.

West Texas has needed, and has deserved this school for several years, much more than the three Normal schools were needed which were created at the same time.

In the location of this new school there are several important things to be considered by the Locating Board, as follows:

1. A sufficient body of good land.
2. An ample supply of good water.
3. Ample facilities for boarding students to save the State the expense of building dormitories.
4. Health and accessibility, with reference to center of population to be served and railroad facilities.

These matters are of most vital importance, but other things should be considered. The price of land and an ample supply of water should be guaranteed before the location is made.

The law forbids the acceptance of donations by the Locating Board until the location has been determined. It seems to me that if the board is competent to select a suitable location that it would be competent to accept donations, and the State is certainly entitled to any donations that might be offered, as this school will be a very valuable acquisition to any community.

The ability of any community to board the students is one of the most important considerations. No State school should be located where it is necessary to build dormitories to house the students. This is becoming a burden upon the State now, and should be stopped. Practically all the State schools are clamoring for dormitories, and it means an enormous expense to the taxpayers.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College of Texas is located five miles from Bryan, and it is necessary to build dormitories there, or move the school.

With the light of past experience to guide us, we should not commit the same follies in the future.

I trust that the establishment of this school will usher in a new industrial era in Texas.

NOTICE OF CITY ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given that an election will be held in the City of Brady, in the County of McCulloch, State of Texas, on the first Tuesday in April, 1923, same being the 3rd day of April, 1923, for the purpose of electing the following officers, of the City of Brady, to-wit: THREE ALDERMEN, all of whom shall hold their respective offices for a term of two years and until their successors are elected and qualified, said election will be held at the Court House in the City of Brady and in the Northwest corner room of said building on the ground floor thereof, same being the place heretofore designated by the City Council for holding City elections and the place where such elections are usually held. L. Ballou has been appointed presiding officer of said election, and he shall appoint two judges and two clerks to assist him in holding said election and no one shall be permitted to vote at said election except those who are qualified under the laws of this State to vote at said election. The polls shall open at eight o'clock in the morning and shall remain open until seven o'clock in the evening, and said election shall, in all respects, be conducted and held and returns thereof made as required by the Laws of the State of Texas and by the ordinances of the City of Brady.

Witness my hand at Brady, Texas, on this 23rd day of February, A. D., 1923.

There Is No Substitute for Quality

Automobile bodies, like houses, may be either strong, sturdy and durable, or light, flimsy and weak. Like houses, good bodies are expensive, and makeshifts are cheap. Prices influence sales of automobiles, as they do of houses, but highest quality and lowest price are possible in neither.

There is no substitute for quality.

To cheapen quality of materials, construction and finish is not Studebaker policy. A makeshift product is fatal to permanent success. Studebaker bodies are built to withstand for many years the exposure and use to which an automobile is subjected. Better bodies are not built by any manufacturer nor borne by any chassis.

FRISCO EXTENSIONS WOULD MEAN OPENING VAST TRADE SECTION

The general sentiment throughout this section appears favorable towards the proposed taking over of the I. & G. N. and other rail lines in Texas by the Frisco system. The reason for this sentiment is that West and Central West Texas have everything to gain by such a move, and nothing to lose. Not only would the taking over of these lines give the Frisco better outlets, greater and needed territory from which to draw business, but it would enable a program of development and extension of vital interest to every section of Texas traversed by the Frisco system.

Concerning the importance of this consolidation, the Brownwood Bulletin has the following to say: "Something has been said in various ways of late in regard to the consolidation of International & Great Northern railroad interests and the Frisco or St. Louis Southwestern railroad interests, and many questions have been asked as to what effect such consolidation as this might have on the railroad situation in the Brownwood area."

In the first place it would mean the extension of the Brownwood North & South Line into the dignity of a big line. The extension north of Brownwood would be from May to some connection that would give Brownwood a direct outlet to territory that is now almost inaccessible. It would bring a large trade territory to Brownwood that wants to come here without hurting the trade of any other town. The business people of Brownwood are not seeking the trade that legitimately belongs to any other locality. They want the trade that cannot be supplied at given localities to come to Brownwood and they are offering attractive inducements for this character of trade. South of Brownwood the Frisco would be extended to San Antonio and probably to Del Rio, thus giving all this section direct and quick communication by rail with an industrial area that now has to go elsewhere because it has nowhere else to go—because it has no transportation facilities so to speak. The extension of the Frisco from Brady to San Antonio would mean a great deal to all this section and to every part of the different sections through which the extension was built.

She Was Misunderstood

By ELLA SAUNDERS

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

This is the story of Madge Evans, one of those girls who don't run true to type—God pity them!

You can picture her, with her dark hair and strange eyes, with the far-away look in them, playing by herself when she was a child; then, at school, walking alone when the girls went home in pairs. No one took much notice of her.

What was she thinking of? She was no embryo genius. Just solitary. Her parents were ordinary people, but they did not bother to understand her. Her brothers and sisters were afraid of her. She had queer fits of temper. Then she gave away everything she owned. And that was odd for a small town.

She went to a business school and became a stenographer with a law firm. Young Rawlins made her his private secretary after awhile. Then, suddenly, she left. Rawlins had been persecuting her. But everybody said it was the girl who had been at fault for encouraging him. You see, one who is not of the herd the herd tramples on.

She got another position in the bank, and one day five ten-dollar bills were missing. No one ever found out who had taken them. But suspicion fell upon Madge Evans, because she colored and became sullen under cross-examination.

Taken then? The girl didn't know what dishonesty meant. Still, she was not of the herd. She was dismissed on some pretext at the end of the month. After that she was disgraced in the town. People shunned her.

Charles Lathrop was a newcomer. When he arrived to take up the local branch of his insurance company Madge had been living at home, helping her mother for three years. She and her mother did not get on together, and she was unhappy. The scandal about the bank had died down. Young Lathrop got to know Madge. They seemed to like each other. Sometimes they were seen walking together. Then tongues began to wag.

After a while the story of the bank got to young Lathrop's ears. He traced it to its source in Miss Hepzibah Glead, the old maid who lived in the cottage under the elms. He went to see her, had it out with her; forced a writer's retraction from her.

Tongues buzzed more than ever at that. It was clear that they were more friendly than they ought to be. Why didn't they get married, even if Mr. Lathrop had a widowed mother to support and was waiting for a raise of salary?

Mr. Rawlins was a little intoxicated one day and began talking reminiscences in the country club. Madge's name came up. He dismissed the girl with a sneer. Mr. Lathrop overheard. He demanded an explanation.

"What's your right?" demanded Rawlins.

"This," said Lathrop, knocking him down. After that tongues buzzed like horns in an empty garret. They were watched, spied upon. Their friendship, harmless as it was, proved impossible. Madge Evans had promised to wait any number of years for him. But the Lathrops began to be cut by the townsfolk, and Lathrop's mother, a querulous old invalid, was in despair. She was always pouring poison about the girl into her son's ears.

Then Lathrop was moved to a larger town. He was to get an increase of salary. He had an interview with Madge before he went. People saw her radiant face and hated her the more. After he had gone she became an outcast from the community.

Weeks went by, turned into months. Gradually Madge ceased to smile; then, one day, a letter came. No one ever knew what was in it, but a week later they read the announcement of Lathrop's marriage in the county newspaper.

After that Madge got a position in New York, going in on the train every day and coming back in the evening. A little later her mother died. She had no ties in the village.

That was a month before young Rawlins disappeared with those trust funds. His father paid; covered up the scandal. He returned two months later, and it was pretended he had an attack of mental aberration from overwork. He is now a respected citizen, and has a wife and five children.

Madge? Oh, she disappeared at the same time Rawlins did, but no one bothered to wonder what happened to her. If ever Rawlins' conscience worries him, he takes out his bankbook, or looks at his blooming wife presiding over his table.

But I saw Madge on Broadway last week. At first she denied herself. Then she looked at me with haggard eyes.

"Coming back to see the old town?" she asked. "Say, if I came it would be to get under the hide of some of those suckers there."

Which was not the kind of speech she used to use before the trust funds episode.

Then the Lady Shut Up. "Do tell us, professor," exclaimed the gushy female, "about those shocking natives you met in the South seas?"

"Gladly, ma'am," replied the professor. "I have witnessed better manners among half-naked savages on a coral reef than I've seen in the haunts of wealth and fashion."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

CABBAGE NOT PLURAL WORD

Error is Somewhat Common, but it Must Always Be Classified as an Error.

A mistake frequently made is the misuse of cabbage as plural. The correct plural of cabbage is cabbages. Cabbage is not one of the nouns that retain the singular form unchanged in the plural, like deer, fish and sheep. A farmer might say, "My cabbages are a failure," and a grocer, "These cabbages are defective" exactly as many folks who know better say "Yep," "Yah," and "Yis" for Yes, but that does not make the use correct. The word cabbage dates from the Fifteenth century. Its first use in the plural dates from 1440 when the word was spelled cabaches. In the "Merry Wives of Windsor," Shakespeare (act 1, scene 1, line 124) uses "Good worts? good cabbage." Heads of cabbage is an old use, dating from 1620, but here the pluralized "heads" does not call for "cabbages." Today the tendency of educated people is to use cabbages when the plural is meant, and "heads of cabbage" when quantities are considered, but the farmer and the grocer both would say: "A hundred head of cabbage." As to cabbage served at table the correct form to use is, "This cabbage is good."—Exchange.

BELIEVE CORPSE FEELS PAIN

Mohammedans Meticulously Careful in the Handling of the Bodies of Their Dead.

The traditions of Mohammed, as well as the works of Moslem doctors, teach that a dead body is conscious of pain, and great care is consequently taken to avoid undue pressure while washing a corpse. Seven balls of cotton wool enveloped in calico, over which warm water is poured, are successively used for this purpose, and the dead Moslem has performed for him for the last time the ablution which insures his being buried in a state of "legal purity."

These formalities being accomplished, 700 drachms of cotton are weighed out, small portions of which are placed under the armpits and between the fingers and toes, and the remainder of the body—over which a sleeveless gown has been drawn—is enveloped. Pepper and other spices are placed in the folds of the shroud, and rose-water sprinkled over it. The corpse is reverently lifted, by means of slings passed under it, into the temporary coffin.

Sense of Duty.

There is no evil that we cannot either face or fly from but the consciousness of duty disregarded. A sense of duty pursues us ever. It is omnipresent, like the Deity. If we take to ourselves the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, duty performed or duty violated is still with us for our happiness or our misery. If we say the darkness shall cover us, in the darkness as in the light our obligations are yet with us. We cannot escape their power nor fly from their presence. They are with us in this life, will be with us at its close; and in that scene of inconceivable solemnity which lies yet farther onward we shall still find ourselves surrounded by the consciousness of duty, to pain us where ever it has been violated and to console us so far as God may have given us grace to perform it.—Daniel Webster.

Salem Witch Delusion.

One of the most interesting of colonial relics in Salem, Mass., known as the "Witch City," is "The Witches' House." This was the residence of one of the judges before whom those accused of being witches appeared for examination.

The witch delusion created more turmoil at Salem than anywhere else in the colonies, yet its tragic period there lasted only about six months in the year 1692. During that period 19 persons were hanged, and a well-to-do farmer, eighty-one years old, was put to death by placing heavy stones on his body.

Nathaniel Hawthorne was born in Salem. In his manhood he was collector of the port for a time, and daily labored at the custom house, though it was said that "he never could add up figures."

To Clean Bottles.

The best method of cleaning water bottles is with a handful of fine, white gravel kept for the purpose. Others use the same amount of crushed eggshells, from which the inner lining or film inside the shell has been taken. Shot is also excellent.

Fill the bottle half full with hot soapsuds after setting it in hot water and shake the shells, gravel or shot around in the suds to remove any marks inside. Rinse it well in hot water and drain it upside down. Polish the glass outside with a glass towel while the bottle is hot.

Cheerful Kitchen.

There are more things to consider in a kitchen than even its usefulness, convenience and hygiene. Remember that it is always possible to add attractive touches without making it less serviceable and less hygienic. It may have an attractive oilcloth kept bright by frequent applications of silt-cloth varnish. It may have any sort of curtains at the window so long as they are substantial and washable, and even the old kitchen chair may be painted a bright, pleasing color.

Watch Your Child's Health

Jal. Amer. Med. Assn. says children's diseases prevalent now.

Recent tests conducted among school children disclosed an alarming percentage in deficient health. Physicians are warning their friends to watch child health carefully at this season. It is now definitely known that weak eyes, poor teeth, twisted bones and wasted frames are directly traceable to a deficiency disease. Not a deficiency of food, but lack of the vital elements the food should supply. Usually the first indication of approaching deficiency disease is loss of weight.

At the first sign of loss of weight, start your children on Ironized Yeast. It supplies the vitamins needed and will soon have the children in normal health. According to Dr. Atherton Seidell of the U. S. Public Health Service, Dr. W. H. Eddy of Columbia University and other eminent scientists, brewer's yeast is the richest source of vitamins. That is what Ironized Yeast is—a concentrated extract of brewer's yeast in union with the iron needed to enrich the blood.

A ten-day treatment of Ironized Yeast costs only a dollar. Its use will make a wonderful improvement in your child—it will bring back normal weight, rosy cheeks, bright, snappy eyes and the vim and vigor of happy childhood. Get Ironized Yeast from your druggist on the positive guarantee that if it fails to do these things, your money will be refunded. Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

WISDOM OF MATHUSALEH

Like unto an overdose of Hootch is the Jesabel who telleth thee that thou shalt not embrace her while she is looking—and then doth she sit all evening with eyes closed.

Life doth hold no sadder tragedy than a one-armed man calling on twin sisters.

In the spring doth young man's fancy lightly turn to—what women hath been thinking about all winter.

Never is woman satisfied. If she doth not ensnare a new man, then doth she make over the one she hath. Shelah—Shelah—Shelah.

A fool picks a fly from a mule's hind leg. The wise man lets out the job to the lowest bidder.

EARLY TRAINING OF TREES BETTER THAN SEVERE PRUNING LATER, SAYS EXPERT

With the coming of spring, interest in trees and flowers, and all outdoors returns anew. It is timely, therefore, to note the following suggestions regarding the care of trees, as reprinted from a U. S. government bulletin, sent out by the Bureau of Plant Industry:

Good street trees provide a grateful shade and add to the value of near-by property. They also modify the undesirable effect on the nerves of the color of brick walls or other bright buildings.

Better results are to be expected with street trees if the municipality or other centralized authority does the planting and cares for the trees afterwards than by any other method. This is best accomplished by having an unpaid commission appointed for sufficiently long terms for the members to learn the needs of the work and give efficient service before their terms expire. The paid executive and experts should be employed by this commission.

Some of the funds should be provided by a small millage on the tax rate, the rest by appropriation, or else all by direct assessment collectable with the other taxes collectible with the other taxes.

Plans should be made for the planting, using one variety of tree to a street or a long portion of a street, with as many kinds as practicable in the city. The trees should be planted a proper distance apart in well-prepared holes without exposure of the roots to the air for more than a minute.

Success follows the careful planting of good trees which are given adequate protection and timely attention. Each tree should be trained to its proper form while young, so that severe pruning will not be necessary later. Guards are also necessary for several years.

Insects and diseases frequently need to be kept in check by spraying or other suitable methods.

HEROIC DAKOTA FARMER WHO DIED IN THE STORM TO SAVE HIS LOVED ONES

Wahpeton, N. D., Feb. 2.—A victim of the recent blizzard, John P. Wolfe, farmer, 31, was buried at Hankinson today, while in a hospital, his widow, who was with him in the storm, underwent amputation of both hands and a foot. For thirty-two hours Wolfe and his wife and their two children, a boy of 7 and a girl of 2, were out in a raging blizzard, their only protection the rough sides of a wagon box and a few coverings.

Wolfe, in his attempting to retrace his way, lost his bearings. At their home an older son became anxious and started a search, but was forced by the storm to return to the house.

Late the next day the storm abated and the search was started.

Out in the field, a hundred feet from the road and only 200 yards from the house, the sled was found.

Nearly smothered beneath ice-crusted blankets, with the snow heaped in upon them, the mother and two children were huddled together. The father was standing upright, his face turned towards the northwest, his body rigid and his arms outstretched to better protect the ones he loved. Though his arms had been frozen solid, his face seared, he lived several days.

The children are well. The baby when found was nestled in her mother's arms, unharmed, shielded by the hands that were amputated today.

MRS. KATIE ROBERTS, FORMER QUEEN HOTEL PROPRIETRESS DIES AT CORSICANA

A wire received Wednesday by E. E. Polk from George Roberts, brought the sad news of the death of his mother, Mrs. Katie Roberts, that morning at Corsicana. No particulars were given in the message. Mrs. Roberts is remembered here as the popular proprietress of the Queen hotel for several years back, and news of her demise was learned with deep regret by her many friends throughout the Brady country. Mrs. Roberts was married only a few months ago to a Mr. Arles, and was engaged in operating a rooming house in Corsicana. Some weeks ago an unaccountable rumor reached here of her death, but was shortly discredited, and up until a week ago she was reported in good health.

MAGAZINE SECTION OF STANDARD NEXT WEEK

The monthly magazine section of The Brady Standard will be out next week, as part of next Friday's edition of The Brady Standard. From the many compliments and words of commendation following the magazine section issued in February, we are confident that the magazine section not only fills a long-felt want, but is going to prove a very popular feature.

"Pete and Pinto" again frolic about the colored front page of the magazine section, and their antics are sure to prove interesting to young folks, and the old folks as well. On Page 2 will be found two very interesting features. The first, "When Gen. Robert E. Lee Came to Texas," recounts some little-known history and incidents in the life of the South's great leader. This article is from the pen of Austin Callan, versatile brother of the versatile Claud Callan. Also the story of "Two Great Texas Institutions" provides interesting material and information for the public, giving the stories of the school for the blind and also the school for the deaf and dumb. On Page 3 is "Current Comment" by that inimitable writer J. H. Lowry, known all over Texas as "Buttermilk" Lowry because of his advocacy of buttermilk as the national drink. Also "Musical Progress of Texas" gives some interesting data, the article being the conclusion of the article which appeared in the February magazine section. Page 4 gives "Brief Texas News"—a collection of interesting news notes from all over the great Lone Star State. A couple columns of fun, mixed with hints to autoists is to be found on Page 5, and on Page 6 are news items of interest to every Texas farmer. The boys and girls will find interesting reading on Page 7, and the ladies will find on Page 8 a "Woman's Page" giving information of service to home builders, fashion notes, an article on foods and also several tested recipes.

It will readily be seen that effort has been made to provide interesting reading for every member of the family, thereby filling the demand for reading that the home town paper has never before been able to meet.

On account of the cost of securing this magazine section, our order must necessarily be limited only to actual subscribers. Consequently, if you want to receive this magazine section and are not now a subscriber to The Standard, or if your subscription has just expired, then you should send in your subscription or renewal before next Friday. The magazine section goes only to those whose subscriptions are marked paid up on our list.

FRED CONNER WILL OPEN NEW FILLING STATION ON P. S. TO G. HIGHWAY SOON

Fred Conner, well-known Brady young man, will open a new filling station within the next thirty days on North 1st street. The building to house the station is now in course of erection on the west end of the Red Cross wagon yard, Joe Blount having started the work of construction the first of the week. The building will be of frame, covered with iron, and will be 30x40 ft. in dimension. A concrete drive-in will be provided for the convenience of autoists. Mr. Conner states that he has already placed the order for a 5-gallon Bowser pump, and that he will also supply free air and water and other customary accommodations to motorists.

The location on the Puget-Sound to Gulf highway, is certain to prove most advantageous, and the station will be the first to greet the traveler upon entering Brady on the Coleman road.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or digest the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

Murdering His Muse

"Bill," the poet, gasped to his friend, "I wrote a poem about my little boy and began the first verse with these words:

"My son, my pigmy counterpart."
"Yes, yes?"

The poet drew a newspaper from his pocket:

"Read," he blazed. "See what that compositor did to my opening line."

The friend read aloud: "My son, my pig my counterpart."

MISS MAE BELLE SMITH TO HAVE CHARGE HOME DEMONSTRATION WORK IN CO.

Miss Mae Belle Smith has arrived in Brady and yesterday took up the home demonstration work inaugurated here last October by Miss Bess Winters, who has resigned her position in order to attend the State University, leaving last night for Austin.

Miss Smith comes highly recommended as a most conscientious and efficient worker, and she will continue the demonstration work throughout the county. She is a graduate of C. I. A. at Denton, having taken special courses there in Domestic Science. Recently she has been in charge of the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria at Dallas.

Miss Smith is enthusiastic over the possibilities of carrying on and extending the home demonstration work in the county, and will visit the various communities for the purpose of helping out in the problems every housewife confronts, and in interesting the citizens in the latest and best methods.

The general citizenship has already learned to appreciate the value of this work, and enthusiastic co-operation is sure to be had wherever the demonstrator goes.

NEW TOURIST HOTEL AT ABILENE LEASED BY MR. AND MRS. S. E. PARKER

Mrs. S. E. Parker returned Sunday from Abilene and reported that she and Mr. Parker had just concluded the leasing of the new Tourist hotel at that place, and that they will leave Brady shortly for Abilene to take charge of the hotel. Mrs. Parker is delighted with the proposition, stating the hotel was a modern and attractive building with 28 rooms, nicely located, and that every indication pointed to its becoming one of the most popular hostleries in that city. Mr. Parker, who accompanied Mrs. Parker to Abilene to inspect the hotel, remained there, being unable to return by auto on account of the muddy roads.

The Queen hotel here will be continued under the management of Mrs. Parker's mother, Mrs. DeBaun, who will be assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Burton in the operation of the Brady hotel.

HUB DRY GOODS STOCK IS BEING CONSOLIDATED WITH THAT OF THE FAIR STORE

The passing of the Hub Dry Goods store is marked this week by the consolidation of the entire stock and fixtures with that of the Fair store. With the expiration of his lease upon the Hub building, H. W. Zweig, proprietor, decided to close the business in order to be in position to give all his time and attention to his Hupmobile agency here and in the surrounding counties. The consolidation of the two stocks gives The Fair store the greatest assortment of goods it has ever carried, and which will be ably supervised by Mr. Zweig's brother-in-law, Eddie Olian. Mr. Olian is rearranging the Fair store, and expects to be ready next week to invite friends and patrons to one of the best-arranged and most completely-stocked dry goods and furnishing stores in this city.

And I am still paying Top Prices for your Furniture or anything else that I can sell. C. H. ARNSPIGER at the New and Used Store.
