THE HEART OF TEXAS WANTS TEXAS TECH

PASCHE OIL CORPORATION WILL MAKE DEEP TEST

One of the most interesting announcements of the past week is that of a resumption of oil operations in the immediate McCulloch county section, an announcement that will be learned with gratification by the entire citizenship, as well as by the public at large, and more especially the holders of oil leases on acreage thru-out this section. The Pasche Oil Corporation, with a capital stock of $200,000, incorporated under the laws of Arizona, has just recently been granted a permit to operate in Texas, and is rapidly shaping its affairs so as to enter upon an active campaign of operation. The Pasche Oil Corporation holds a block of 2,000 acres under lease and which is located about two miles southwest of Pasche. The tract includes the holdings of one of the leading oil companies of California, whose geologist some three years ago gave a highly favorable report upon the structure, and who also made a location on the southeast quarter of H. & T. C. R. R. Co. Survey No. 65—1½ miles south of Pasche. A Standard rig was placed by the California company upon this location and preparations for drilling were under way, when the big slump in oil prices and all the other unfavorable circumstances of that period caused the California company to withdraw from this section.

The Pasche Oil Corporation has purchased the Standard rig and equipment and assets of the company, paying outright for both lease and rig, and will now undertake an aggressive stock-selling campaign to finance drilling operation. Shares will be placed on the market at $10 each. In addition to a number of leading Brady citizens, the new corporation has several business men and financiers of Fort Worth as directors and stock holders, one of the men being W. R. Phenix, vice-president of the Monnig Dry Goods Co. of Fort Worth. According to the ar-

MCCULLOCH IS AWARDED $6000 RURAL SCHOOL AID

Rural aid in the total amount of $6,000 has been awarded to McCulloch county, according to information given out by County Superintendent W. M. Deans. Mrs. E. F. Little, rural aid inspector of Austin, was in Brady last week on an inspection trip of the schools of the county, but because of the rain and resultant bad roads, was enabled to visit only eight of the schools, and returned Friday to Austin without completing the inspection. Mrs. Little was the second state inspector to visit McCulloch county whose inspection trip was hindered by unfavorable weather.

Of the schools visited, Mrs. Little gave very favorable report, and further stated that the $6,000 allotted to McCulloch county was far above the average county allotment.

Officers of incorporation, officers of the corporation are C. C. Ledbetter, Brady, president; W. R. Phenix, Fort Worth, vice-president; H. Meers, Brady, secretary; C. C. Ledbetter, Brady, treasurer; J. E. Shropshire, Brady, attorney.

The foregoing officers, together with Harry Hendrick and C. L. Phenix of Fort Worth constitute the directorate.

The corporation plans the drilling of a deep test on the location where the Standard rig now stands, and proposes to drill to a depth of 4,000 feet should oil in paying quantities be not discovered at a lesser depth.

With the high standing of the personnel of the corporation, as well as their splendid reputation as financiers and business men, the stock selling campaign is expected to be concluded within a comparatively short time, and operations are expected to be under way at an early date.

CITY ELECTION IS INTERESTING BIG VOTE POLLED

Interest in the Brady city election Tuesday was evidenced by the heavy vote cast, a total of 495 citizens exercising their right of franchise. In the regular election, J. A. Maxwell, A. B. Cox and W. J. Evers were elected, while in the special election, held simultaneously with the regular election, C. A. Trigg was elected. The special election was held to fill the unexpired term of W. F. Roberts, Sr., resigned.

The fact that A. B. Cox headed the ticket with a vote of 446, or 90% of the total vote cast, evidenced his popularity as a candidate. The other three candidates who were elected, ran a comparatively close race. Trigg receiving 281 votes, Maxwell, 272 and Evers 253 votes.

The following was the vote cast:

Regular Election.
J. A. Maxwell	272
W. M. Murphy	199
A. B. Cox	446
O. S. Macy	84
W. J. Evers	253
Henry Miller	47
T. T. Smith	156

ANNUAL EASTER SERVICE
BRADY COMMANDERY SUNDAY—LARGE ATTENDANCE

The sixth annual Easter service of Brady Commandery of Knights Templar, held last Sunday at the Methodist church, served to attract an attendance that filled the large auditorium to overflowing. The services proved most interesting and were greatly enjoyed by the great throng.

Some sixty members of the Brady Commandery were in attendance upon the service, their uniforms and plumed hats making a notable spectacle. Upon arrival at the house of worship, the members were ushered by J. H. White to seats reserved for them.

One of the most enjoyable features of the services was the special song service by the Brady Choral club under direction of Miss Juel Ray of Brownwood, and also the solo, "Abide With Me," by Miss Ray.

The Rev. Euren Sparks, pastor of the Baptist church, delivered a sermon of inspiration and of renewed hope, taking as his subject, "If Man Die, Shall He Live Again."

SPIRITED MASS MEETING WEDNESDAY FAVORS LOCATING "TECH" AT BRADY

SENTIMENT OF CITIZENS OF McCULLOCH COUNTY UNANIMOUS THAT BRADY OFFERS LOGICAL LOCATION FOR GREAT SCHOOL OF TECHNOLOGY.

One of the most spirited and enthusiastic meetings ever held in Brady marked the McCulloch county tech meeting held Wednesday afternoon. Dr. J. B. Granville was elected chairman of the meeting, and William D. Cargill secretary. The object of the meeting was declared by Dr. Granville to be for the purpose of uniting the efforts of McCulloch county citizenship towards securing the location of Texas Tech at or near Brady. To accomplish this, Brady and McCulloch county's many resources must be presented to the locating board in such attractive manner as to sell the committee just as McCulloch county citizens are themselves sold on the idea that this is the logical location for Texas Tech.

The meeting showed a very enthusiastic spirit on the part of the citizens, and an earnest desire on their part to do everything possible to assist the committee in getting up the data for Brady's brief to the Tech Locating board. The various committees reported splendid work having been accomplished, and all committees working harmoniously in preparing Brady's brief which was expected to be ready for submission within the next couple weeks.

Enthusiastic addresses were made by F. M. Newman, Representative James Finlay, J. M. Quicksall, Sam McCollum, Bailey Jones, H. P. Jordan and others.

Among the talks made by the foregoing, including both business men and farmers, each showed the utmost confidence and belief in Brady's superior qualifications as a location over all contenders. The name of no other town was mentioned during the entire meeting, nor were petty comparisons made, the opinion being advanced by everyone that we should discourage the drawing of a "Mason and Dixon line" in Texas and to discountenance the belief rife in some sections that people East of the 98th—have no interest in this school, and that it should be so located to serve only West Texas.

The bill creating this school states that it should serve the State of Texas, therefore, the logical place to locate it would naturally be in the center of the State. Brady is in the Geographical center of the State, and is accessible to the State, both east and west.

One important thing the meeting demonstrated was that the entire citizenship of McCulloch county is on the same side, and pulling for the "Tech" College. It is practically an impossibility to find one person in the county, who doubts that Brady will get the school, and furthermore they talk it; men who have in the past been retiring and unconcerned about public questions are now among the boosters and boosting harder than any of them.

Resolutions Adopted.
The following resolutions were drawn by the Resolutions committee: Resolved, that it will be to the greatest interest of the entire State, as well as to the city of Brady and McCulloch county, that the "Tech" school be located at Brady, and that we feel and believe that Brady is the most logical place for the location for the following reasons:

(1) The city of Brady is in the geographical center of the State of Texas, and is very favorably located within the boundaries of the territory as prescribed by the Legislature for its location, and is well located relative to the population of the prescribed district as well as the State.

(2) The city of Brady is well located in regard to railroad transportation; it is on the lines of two great railroad systems, the Santa Fe and the Frisco; it has perfect railroad connection for all North Texas and all East Texas, and the Santa Fe now extends West into Concho county, and the Frisco extends Southwest into Menard county, and since the enactment of what is known as the Frisco Merger bill by the Legislature just adjourned, there is a strong probability that at a very early date the Frisco will extend its line to a Southern connection from Menard to Del Rio, and from Brady to San Antonio through Mason and Fredericksburg. When such extensions are made, Brady will have the best railroad facilities of any town in the prescribed territory. Brady is on several of the big highways, two of them are eligible for Federal Aid and are known as a part of the seven per cent system of highways.

(3) The city of Brady is located in a mild, healthful climate, free from the excessive sand storms prevalent to the most of the prescribed territory for the location of said school; also free from the excessive hot winds in the summer that destroy and lower the production of crops. The elevation here is 1750 feet above sea level.

(4) The city of Brady has an abundance of fine artesian water—

 Uncle Josh was comfortably lighting his pipe in the living room one evening, when Aunt Maria glanced up from her knitting.
 "Josh," she remarked, "do you know that next Sunday will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of our wedding?"
 "You don't say so, Maria," responded Uncle Josh, pulling vigorously on his corn-cob pipe. What about it?"
 "Nothing," answered Aunt Maria, "only I thought maybe we ought to kill them two Rhode Island Red chickens."
 "But, Maria," demanded Uncle Josh, "how can you blame them two Rhode Island Reds for what happened twenty-five years ago?"

 Mr. Bodenhamer of Brady Tells of His Experience.
 There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Brady man:
 "Some years ago my back began to ache and often I got right down with it," says Mr. Bodenhamer. "My feet and ankles became swollen and my kidneys did not act as they should. These troubles came on in spells and every time I used Doan's Kidney Pills they relieved me. I always have Doan's Kidney Pills in the house."
FOUR YEARS LATER, Mr. Bodenhamer said: "I still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly as when I first endorsed them." Foster-Milbarn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

SALESMAN IS PLACED ON TRIAL AT STANTON, ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Midland, April 3.—The trial of Robert E. Biddy, 30, of various Texas cities and Indianapolis, was started this morning at Stanton, before Judge Charles M. Gibbs, of the Seventieth Judicial District. Biddy is facing a charge of bigamy. It is charged that in 1919 he married Miss Dema Clarke of El Paso, from whom he was divorced at Breckenridge January 6th of this year.
 On January 20th it is alleged that he married at Abilene Miss Grace Anne Pettit, a prominent young Abilene woman. On January 29th he married Miss Alice Haley, one of the most attractive young women in Midland and the daughter of a very prominent family. He resided in Midland about two weeks. Attention which led to an investigation began when he passed several worthless checks here. He claimed to be a salesman for an Indianapolis firm, selling road grading machinery.
 He was arrested in Sweetwater February 20th and on February 24th was indicted by the grand jury at Midland for bigamy. The trial was transferred to Stanton by order of Judge Gibbs.

The above item will be read with interest by acquaintances of Biddy in Brady. Prior to his arrest at Midland, officers were on the trail of Biddy, who was salesman for the Adams Tractor Co. of Dallas, and traced him to Brady, Coleman and other places. Biddy was one of the number of tractor salesmen in Brady the latter part of January, at which a number of tractor representatives were here for purpose of interesting county in their respective machines, and which resulted in the purchase of a Best tractor for Commissioners Precinct No. 1. Needless to say, progress of Biddy's case, and the untangling of his marital woes, will be watched with keen interest throughout West Texas.

Jap Amber Cane Seed
 Ripens Two to Three Weeks Earlier Than Red Top
 Produces Bigger Yield and Makes Better Forage
 Read the Following Endorsements:
 Copy of statement by Frank Wynn, Prominent rancher of Lubbock County.
 Reference Jap Amber Cane will say that I have used it since its introduction here and find it far superior in feeding value to Red Top and other canes. It produces three to four times the amount per acre and is easily cured. I can not make it too strong in favor of this excellent forage. Whole stalk feed is what I call it.
 FRANK WYNN.
 Statement of J. S. Johnson, old-time rancher on Sunshine Ranch.
 Asked what kind of cane we use on the ranch and will say that we are strong for the Jap Amber as a feeder. It is more nutritious than Red Top and other canes and yields much more per acre. We plant it thick, either in drills or broadcast. Stock eats entire stalk if properly cured.
 Tax Collector of Bailey County has following to say.
 Give me the Jap Amber cane every time. I have used it for some time and my neighbors join me in praising it as a very nutritious feed. It should by all means be planted thick, either in drills or broadcast, and for best feed cut it while in the dough and stock will eat stalk and all.

SPECIAL COUNTY ROAD LAW IS UPHELD COURT TEST

The special road law, under which McCulloch county is operating, was upheld in a test case tried Wednesday afternoon before N. G. Lyle, Sr., Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1. "Bud" Ewing, defendant in the case, was represented by Sam McCollum, while County Attorney A. R. Pool conducted the prosecution. The case aroused more than ordinary interest since upon the decision of the jury hinged the entire road law structure of the county. The jury before which the case was tried found the defendant guilty and assessed punishment at $1.00 and costs.

The Special Road law under which McCulloch county is operating is independent of the general road law insofar as its working is concerned. The Special Road law vests in the county commissioner complete responsibility for the working of the roads in his precinct, and vest him with full authority over and complete direction and charge of all road hands in his precinct. Road hands may be ordered by the commissioner to work any road or portion of a road in a precinct, regardless of upon what particular road they may live. It further gives authority to transfer a road hand out of one commissioner's precinct into the precinct of another commissioner, providing the action is sanctioned or ordered by the commissioners court.

To give the entire matter in a nutshell, the object of the Special Road law is to enable and assure the proper working of roads in sparsely settled sections of a county by hands secured in the more thickly settled portions.

Test cases were filed against "Bud" Will and Roy Ewing, alleging failure to work a road when called out, and the case tried Wednesday against "Bud" Ewing was the first one called for trial. The case against Will Ewing was tried yesterday morning and resulted in an acquittal solely on the grounds of insufficiency of the summons, it being contended that a summons must be made in person and not by phone. The case against Roy Ewing was held up pending the final outcome of the first case tried against "Bud" Ewing and which will be appealed to the county court.

SECOND PUBLIC SPEAKING IN BEHALF KU KLUX KLAN HELD LAST TUESDAY NIGHT HERE

The second public speaking in behalf of the Ku Klux Klan held in Brady was had at the Methodist tabernacle last Tuesday night, the Rev. Bennet Goodwin, of Waco, evangelist of the Baptist church being the speaker. The meeting, which was announced by circular last Saturday, served to attract a fair-sized audience, although nothing like the interest was manifested in the speaking as marked the first occasion had here several weeks ago.

County Attorney A. R. Pool, old-time friend of Rev. Goodwin, made the introductory talk at the meeting and introduced W. J. Briscoe who, in turn, introduced the speaker. Rev. Goodwin's address differed from the first Ku Klux Klan address in that the speaker devoted much of his time towards explaining the wearing of the robe and hood and other workings of the order. His exposition of the principles of the order were such as any real American might subscribe to. In the course of his talk, Rev. Goodwin devoted about five minutes to so-called enemies of the Klan, chief among whom were listed the Catholic church. He stated that of the population in the United States 12 1/2% were Catholics, and 87 1/2% were Protestants. Just what percent that left for Jews and other non-Christian sects the speaker did not make clear.

He also made the statement that 70% of the teachers in the United States were Catholics, which would appear to be placing a somewhat high average in the intellectual attainment of the Catholics, as compared with the Protestants. Another statement was that 70% of the appointive and elective office-holders in Washington were Catholics. He declared there was no free press in the United States, from which statement he very graciously exempted the local press, and stated that all the big papers were controlled by Jews or Catholics. The Ku Klux Klan had received more advertising than any order in the United States, according to the speaker, and it did not cost them one red cent, but he failed to take cognizance of the fact that the Catholics were likewise receiving a vast volume of free advertising from the Klan itself.

Upon the whole, the speaker was said to have been very forceful and interesting, although his address did not compare in any measure of brilliance with that of Rev. Wills, the first Klan speaker to visit Brady. Rev. Goodwin met quite a number of old-time friends in Brady, who knew him well as a resident of Milam county quite a number of years ago.

Coming Down. At a Maryland camp was a certain Lieutenant Barr, whose chief claim to fame was his cap stood six feet four inches from the sole of his shoes. One evening, coming into camp late, he was stopped some distance away by a sentry who demanded:

"Halt! Who's there?" "An officer of the camp." The sentry peered through the semi-darkness, then ordered: "Dismount officer to the camp, and advance to be recognized."

The Galsies That Run Out About the Bend

Charlie Changes His Evenings

By FRANK H. WILLIAMS

Charlie Felton was pretty well tired of his dull evenings, and was determined upon changing them into a more lively, interesting time. Of course, he was a stranger in Brampton and was rather shy and all that, but he told himself, as he sat in his comfortable boarding house room, that wasn't sufficient reason to keep him forever penned in this room in the evening or taking in a movie or a show all by himself.

Yes, he most certainly was going to change dullness to liveliness. But how?

For several evenings Charlie pondered this problem, which was exceedingly important to him. Finally, about 7:30 o'clock one evening, his face lighted up as an audacious idea came to him. And once the idea had flashed into his mind, he set himself to carry it out.

Carrying out his ideas was comparatively simple. All it commanded was the looking up of the Y. W. C. A. phone number in the local directory and then mustering up enough courage to call up the institution and ask for a girl.

But what girl? Charlie didn't know a single girl in the entire institution. But, he thought he'd like to know a girl by the name of Mary.

So when a feminine voice answered his call for the Y. number, he hesitated only a moment and then said:

"I'd like to speak to Mary," please. Charlie's voice was husky and rather indistinct. That is probably why the girl at the other end of the line misunderstood his last word.

"Mary Davis?" the girl questioned. "Yes!" exclaimed Charlie instantly. There was a delay of a few moments. Then a sweet, clear, strong young feminine voice came to Charlie.

"Hello," said the voice. "Hello," said Charlie, his heart beating considerably faster than usual. "I'm lonesome."

"In very real anxiety Charlie waited for the reply to this. It came almost instantly. He heard the girl laugh. Then—

"Who is this?" Mary demanded. "Listen," said Charlie, "don't get mad. I want to tell you something."

For just the barest fraction of a minute Charlie felt that Mary was hesitating between ringing off and listening to what he had to say. Finally her curiosity triumphed.

"Go head, I'll listen," she said. "I'm a newcomer in this city," said Charlie, "and I don't know any one here except the people I'm working with. I'm getting awfully lonesome for some one to talk to. I wonder if you'd let me call you up every now and then and talk to you?"

"But you don't even know what I look like!" came the girl's voice in something of a gasp.

"You must be wonderful—judging by your voice!" cried Charlie fervently.

"You don't have to pay compliments," laughed the girl. "But you'd be surprised to see me. And I don't know what you look like."

"I'll tell you," Charlie volunteered. "I'm one inch short of six feet, have curly hair, blue eyes and smoke a pipe."

"Oh," said the girl, noncommittally. "Please, let me call you up," pleaded Charlie.

For quite a long time there was silence. After a while Charlie thought that perhaps Mary had hung up the receiver and he'd not heard her. Then, at last, her voice came to him softly again.

"I'll let you call me up if you'll promise not to try and see me or meet me," said the girl.

"I'll promise," Charlie cried. "You don't know what it means to me just to be able to talk to some girl, even if it's only over the phone. I'll call you up again tomorrow night about this same time."

"All right," said the girl. "Good-by."

"Good-by," said Charlie. All during the next day Charlie waited impatiently for the evening. How differently he viewed this way in which he had formerly viewed them. Now there was a zest in the day's work and a real joy in the thought of returning to the boarding house.

But when Charlie called up Mary at the appointed hour he was due for a disappointment.

"She isn't here," said the voice at the other end of the wire. "Do you expect her soon?" queried Charlie, his heart feeling like lead.

"I really don't know. I—"

At this point the voice at the other end of the line stopped suddenly, then as suddenly resumed.

"Here she is now," came the voice. And Charlie's heart began beating furiously:

"Hello," came Mary's voice breathlessly, "I almost didn't get here."

"Hello," said Charlie, "I sure am glad that other girl didn't ring off before you came. If she had rung off I don't believe I'd have called you up again."

"That would have been too bad!" said the girl, sincerely. "What's your name?" she asked curiously.

"I guess that's right," said the girl. "And besides," Charlie laughed, "think how romantic this is!" "Did you say 'rheumatic'?" queried the girl, with a laugh in her voice. "You know what I said," declared Charlie, and he laughed, too.

Before Charlie rang off that evening they'd had quite a conversation. And during the following evenings they became so well acquainted—over the telephone—that it was only natural they should want to see each other.

So at last they made an arrangement. Charlie was to come to the Y. W. C. A. the following evening at 7:30 o'clock and look for a girl near the entrance with a red hat and wearing a white carnation. He, too, was to wear a white carnation.

"But be ready for a surprise and—a disappointment," cautioned Mary. "I know I'll not be disappointed," said Charlie, "but you may be."

But Charlie had little fear of Mary being disappointed for he knew that he was a good looking, upstanding fellow of the type that pleases most girls.

Promptly at the appointed time Charlie entered the Y building, his heart actually fluttering. At once he looked around for a girl with a red hat and wearing a white carnation.

But no such was visible. So Charlie, now thinking gloomily of the disappointment he had been cautioned against, found a seat and looked around him glumly. Just opposite him, in a chair near the door, was a beautiful girl with rosy cheeks, bright eyes and a general look of loveliness that caught his attention at once. Now if only Mary could be this girl. But this girl had on a black hat and wore no carnation.

Then, as Charlie was weaving a romance around the girl opposite him, he received a shock. Coming toward the door was a girl wearing a red hat and a white carnation. But such a girl! Poor thing, she couldn't help it. But at the sight of this girl who was so ungloriously, so homely, so altogether displeasing, he felt as though all the world had suddenly gone dark and all the joy of life had left him. At first he wanted to turn and run. But then his instinctive good breeding asserted itself. It would never do to play the girl such a trick as that.

So Charlie rose and stopped the girl. "Pardon me," he said, "you're Miss Mary Davis, aren't you?" The girl looked at him in surprise. Then a look of understanding came into her eyes.

"No, I'm not!" she answered emphatically. And once more life seemed worth living to Charlie.

"I know how you made the mistake," said the girl. "Mary lent me her hat for this evening and gave me this carnation. She said the carnation was important. I know—she wanted you to think that I am her. But I'm not. There she is!"

The girl turned and pointed directly at the beautiful girl seated near the door who had so fascinated Charlie and whose cheeks were now blushing rosy.

In some way Charlie thanked the girl with the red hat and then rushed to Mary.

"This is wonderful—this is the best luck in the world!" he cried. Mary looked up at him shyly. "You're not disappointed?" she queried.

"I was—a moment ago," said Charlie. "But now—oh, but I'm glad to meet you!"

For a moment there was silence as he gazed delightedly down at her. "But how about you?" he queried finally. "Are you disappointed? You fixed it up nicely to give yourself a chance to look me over before meeting me. Are you satisfied?"

Mary looked up at him with friendly, honest eyes.

"If I wasn't," she said frankly, "I'd never have stayed here. I'd have gone up to my room and you'd never have met me!"

Charlie smiled joyously. He knew instinctively that his dull evenings had been banished forever.

CROCODILE MADE EASY PREY

Man-Eating Monsters in Borneo Fall Victims to the Simplest Form of Deceit.

Man-eating crocodiles are one of the greatest causes of the high death rate among the natives of Borneo, where they flourish in great numbers and grow to an enormous size, often attaining a length of more than 30 feet. The crocodile hunter of Borneo provides himself with a straight piece of hard wood sharpened at both ends, and a 50-foot line of rattan. The bait, usually a partially decomposed pig, is lashed to the sharpened wood and placed in a place where the crocodile is apt to detect its presence.

When the crocodile swallows the bait and starts to leave the vicinity the stick is pulled into its original position at right angles to the line and the pointed ends bury themselves in his abdominal lining. The next morning the hunter explores the vicinity and discovers the coils of rattan floating on the surface of the water. He then calls in about 20 of his friends, and the monster is pulled ashore, killed and carried to the nearest station of the Dutch government, where the bounty is claimed.

WILL BE LARGEST TELESCOPE

Canada Soon to Have Record Instrument for the Investigation of the Heavens.

Canada is to possess the largest of all telescopes. It will have a mirror 120 inches in diameter. It has already been cast, and is now being ground and polished. The latter task is expected to occupy at least five or six years.

The largest existing telescope is the 100-inch instrument at Mount Wilson, in California. It took four years to grind and polish the mirror, and in doing so over a ton of glass was removed.

It is the wonderful success of the 100-inch telescope that has led Canadian astronomers to make the plunge and sink $20,000 in a 10-foot mirror. The new telescope will be set up in an observatory on the Pacific coast of British Columbia.

It will make a star appear 300,000 times as bright as the eye sees it. The number of stars seen throughout the entire sphere of the heavens by the naked eye is about 5,000. The 120-inch instrument is expected to reveal at least 400 millions, or a million more than can be seen by any other existing telescope.

APPEALS TO LUST FOR GOLD

Term "El Dorado" Lures Today as It Did When Spaniards Sought Fabulous Wealth.

The name El Dorado is Spanish for "the gilded." The term applied first to a South American king said to cover his body annually with gold dust and bathe in a sacred lake, then to a fabled golden city, and finally to a fabled country abounding in an almost inconceivable degree in gold and precious stones.

The legend, the origin of which has never been satisfactorily explained, took many variant forms, while the mythical king and his equally mythical dominions were shifted with the utmost facility from one part of the continent to another. The story fired the imagination of the gold-hunting Spaniards, who expended vast sums in sending out exploring parties, most of which returned dejected by privations, fatigue and disease. The name has since been applied to any place abounding in gold or in opportunities for acquiring sudden wealth, and more to a county in California and a city in Colorado.

Old Women as Brides.

A private expedition recently penetrated into the northwestern part of Australia and made some valuable discoveries in regard to the natives and the natural resources of the country between Broome and Wyndham. The trip was made by a man and wife who had been warned of the risk which they were running in entering the country which was infested by unfriendly natives. The latter were found to be suspicious but not hostile, and the strangers soon became on intimate terms with them. They found some very strange domestic conditions existing. For instance, the old tribesmen monopolized all the young women and some old warriors had several young wives and the young men were compelled to be contented with old women for brides.

Was President for One Day.

Senator David Rice Atchison of Clay county, Missouri, claimed the unique distinction of holding the office of President for one day. Being president pro tempore of the senate from 1846 to 1849 and again from 1852 to 1854, Senator Atchison was for one day legal President of the United States, since Gen. Zachary Taylor, successor to James K. Polk, was not sworn in until Monday, March 5, 1849, and the terms of President Polk and Vice President George M. Dallas had terminated by limitation at midnight Saturday. Senator Atchison was very fond of humorously urging his claim to having been President for one day. He said he slept most of his term. Of course, there is nothing on record to show that he drew any salary as President.

Price of Success.

Success worth naming is eternal vigilance, and if our aim be a selfish one it will still leave us bankrupt in the end. The man whose wish to grow rich is so strong that everything else goes down before it, will find himself a pauper in the things that matter most, when he has time to look round. The friends he ignored have formed other ties; the love that might have crowned him he had no use for, and now his home is empty of all save strangers, who care little whether he lives or dies. There is no loneliness so complete, so bitter, as that which we fashion for ourselves; gratified ambition is a poor thing to keep one warm when winter comes and old age is creeping on apace!—Exchange.

British Guiana.

The physical geography of the three Guianas is much the same. Along the coasts are flat, swampy tracts, with fertile soil. Beyond this the land rises to undulating savannas, behind which are mountainous regions covered with almost impenetrable forests. Vegetation is remarkably rich and luxuriant. Sugar, coffee, rice, coconuts, and fruits are cultivated. The forests yield the timber of several kinds, also rubber, oil, balsam, gums, tonka beans, and nuts. The plumage of the birds is particularly brilliant. Gold and diamonds are produced.

SPRING

By LORA WINSOR FOREMAN

Ten days after Doctor Gray threatened his grumbling patient with the dire misfortunes that come under the head of pneumonia, John Elbridge, feeling a little better, began to grow impatient.

John Elbridge occupied five rooms uptown. They were gems of art and comfort, and Peter presided like a genius. John amused himself studying Peter for a week, and that proved to be Peter's limit. Then John felt the urge of new pastures.

The morning that brought along the open rebellion, ushered in a wonderfully brilliant sun that caught hold of the peaks of neighboring buildings until they became burnished gold. It hurled itself into John Elbridge's sleeping room and waked him. Peter cast a heartbroken look after the retreating figure of the doctor, then went to ask if there was anything his employer would like. But there were so confoundingly few things that a man could like in his condition.

"What day is it, Peter?" asked the querulous voice, when the long limbs were securely tucked under a Navajo blanket.

"Wednesday, I think, sir. Yes, sir, and—" here his voice sank to a joyful whisper.

"And what, Peter?" shouted John, something in the stillness of Peter's stinking whisper striking excitement through the room.

"Why, sir, it's the beginning of spring!" Peter's face beamed in the folds of the old rose portiere.

"Now if I were only well—and, by Jove, why not! I can't go out, but we will have a cozy little dinner party here. Peter, just one very nice girl and myself, Peter. Do you know any one new and very nice, old fellow?"

"Well, now, there is one, but I could not say if she would suit, nor can I promise that she would accept." Peter seemed apologetic. "She is a nurse and lives in the house with my sister, but she's a real lady if ever there was one, and that pretty and charming, sir!"

"Peter, you are a brick! After all, what more appropriate than a nurse? But will she come, do you think?"

"We could not be sure, sir. Maybe if we tried a trick like—write some poetry on a card and put 'dinner' in big letters underneath, it might strike the right key, sir, seeing as most young ladies like romance and adventures, sir. It is no harm trying. Maybe she knows it is spring, too, sir."

Then John Elbridge, much intrigued, tried his hand at verse-making, while Peter, safe in the kitchen, danced a jig.

When she opened the envelope left by the brass-buttoned, important little messenger boy, Edna West felt sure there had been a mistake. But no, the name and address were unmistakably correct, and she liked the bold handwriting. The verse savored of originality and the invitation conveyed on the other side tempted her beyond endurance.

Her heart thumped loudly when she touched the button at the magic door of Suite 4 in a certain apartment house up town. She did not recognize the man who relieved her of her wraps and conducted her into a bright, cheery room, where the fireplace and the lighted candles threw an almost uncanny radiance into the center where she stood.

"Mr. Elbridge has been quite ill, miss, and asks if you will pardon his not greeting you here. Will you come this way, miss?" Edna felt sure that it was in her professional capacity that she had awakened interest in the people here.

A tall figure rose from the couch as she entered the den. She hesitated a moment in advancing, but the man was so palpably white and weak that she gathered courage and hastened forward with outstretched hand.

"It was so good of you to come," he said, grasping her hand cordially. "You don't mind catering to the caprice of an invalid, do you, Miss West? I simply couldn't go out for my spring party, that was the big idea."

She liked his voice, his ingratiating smile and boyish appeal.

"It is I who am indebted," she said, with her shy smile. "I was terribly lonely and tired when your card came, and now I am just hungry, that's all."

She moved away to look at one of John's pictures, and in a few moments they were chatting away like time-tried comrades. Gradually all restraint melted away, and like two children they played the game. Edna felt quite too soon after dinner, according to John's secret verdict, but they were both elated at the thought of days to come. Yet there had been no mention of another meeting.

"Peter, you have made a sorry victim of me, I fear," complained a rather fretful young man when he retired that night.

"But you seemed so happy, sir," faltered Peter.

"I was—that's the trouble. Never so happy in my life, old fellow. I have you to thank for saving me the trouble of hunting the world over for Mrs. John Elbridge, your future mistress, Peter. And Peter, have a decent American breakfast and some other special evening with me West down in the morning. I guess that's all for the time being, Peter, thank you."

HONEST INJUN.

I congratulate poor young men upon being born to the necessity of devoting themselves to hard work.—Andrew Carnegie.

WHAT I LIKE ABOUT MY HOME TOWN!

The Dallas News just now is running a series of articles, written by leading citizens of the various towns in Texas upon the subject of "What I Like and What I Don't Like About My Home Town." Needless to say, the series of articles is interesting, and there is a variety of thought expressed in the articles, as to what features constitute likable qualities in a town. But in the main, there is striking similarity as to the main points in a good town, for what makes a good town in East Texas, is almost certain to make a good town in West Texas, and what makes for a better town in North Texas, nine times out of ten will make for a better town in South Texas.

Taking one of the recent articles in the Dallas News as an example, here are the points claimed as an asset for the town in question, which happens to be Ennis. The writer, John M. Weekly, editor of the Ennis Daily News, gives the following points: A good and a friendly citizenship; splendid churches and church people and church workers; schools of highest rank, with affiliation with all colleges and universities of the South, and school buildings that are the pride of the entire citizenship; a municipal hospital; street paving in the business district with a $60,000 bond election ordered for extending the street paving; splendid system of waterworks; lakes with boating and fishing and providing both country clubs and city park; an excellent band; strong financial and business institutions; various fraternal, musical and civic organizations; agricultural and truck-growing development; rail connections and splendid road facilities.

These are the main essentials enumerated in practically every article submitted. They constitute a good town, and are a criterion by which any town may be judged.

Of course, each of the writers is becomingly modest in finding points about his own home town which he does not like, but the dislikes are mainly the lack of some of the advantages heretofore mentioned.

A "HOT CHECK" WRITER'S CHECK.

Here's a brand new "hot check" story from the Panhandle, as told by the Childress Index:

Over at Plainview the county attorney is giving a vigorous prosecution to those parties who are in the habit of writing bad checks without the money in the bank with which to pay on presentation. A few days ago he prosecuted such a man, the court assessing a fine. The culprit paid

THE NEW WORLD'S EXAMPLE.

For a fifth time the Pan-American conference is in session. Eighteen of the 22 republics are represented, something more than 150,000,000 people meeting through the representatives of their various governments to work for peace and harmony.

The conference is peculiarly free from problems. The traditions, the manner of living, the attitude of nations towards each other, that have developed in the New World create a popularly favorable atmosphere for its work.

There are no lines of forts and bristling guns to mark New World frontiers.

There are no standing armies to sap the public treasuries and breed a war caste.

There are no royal families to plague the diplomatic situation with personal aspirations and petty jealousies.

There are no deep-seated antagonisms, no thousand-year quarrels to fight over again.

When Columbus sailed west, he discovered something more than land. He discovered a new, untrodden field, where humanity could work out its social, political and economic problems in a situation free from ancient landmarks.

But for this situation, the republican idea would have been centuries longer in taking root, and the thought of international tribunals would have been postponed for many generations.

It did not require a Pan-American union for the nations of the western hemisphere to know how to live together in peace.

The conception was indigenous to the soil.

During the 400 years since the first European ships made their appearance there have been few international conflicts on this side of the Atlantic.

There has been none that could be described as great.

During the same 400 years, Europe has bled itself white a half dozen times. It has rocked to the battle music of its Henrys, its Fredericks, its Napoleons and its Alexanders. It has crushed millions in its vain and futile strife. It has built up its war traditions, its conscript system, its tricky school of diplomats, its snarl of intrigues.

Spain is still a land where Philip II could find his way about, but he would be a hopeless stranger in Buenos Aires.

Brazil towers above her parent, Portugal, in a glory and a greatness the latter can never know.

It is not only a stronger breed of offspring that Europe has planted in the Americas, but it is a better, finer, higher-minded breed, and Europe is reacting to its more constructive example.

The New World is rough and crude, when it comes to the niceties and refinements that embellish conventionalized life, but in the basic principles that make life possible and worth the living for average people, it is generations ahead of the lands whence its ancestry came.—Houston Chronicle.

BAD LANGUAGE.

Says the Abilene Reporter: Swearing is a habit. Most swearers fail to realize the frequency and viciousness of their oaths, having fallen into the habit to such an extent that swear words roll from their lips without effort.

But the Breckenridge Daily American has some more positive views on the matter. Says the American:

"The man who stands on the street corners and swears and utters foul language is not worthy a place on the sidewalks but should be pushed off into one of our muddy alleys. He should not even be allowed a place in the gutter, for that is too close to where decent folks walk. Some street corners and some prominent places on Breckenridge streets are scarcely ever free of one or more huskies who seem to want to see how loud they can curse and how much foul language they can use that isn't decent to be heard by a decent man much less the many women and children that have to pass that way. Something radical ought to be done to put an end to it. When a man hasn't enough decency to refrain from using bad language in public places he ought to be made to feel the pangs of the law a few times and let him know that Breckenridge has some folks who must be protected from such vile cattle.

THE HOUSE FLY.

The United States Public Health Service is sending out bulletins on the control of the house fly, and has named the week of April 1-8 as "Sanitary Week."

One of the bulletins just issued reads:

To rid a town of flies everybody must do his bit. There are many kinds of flies—all harmful. Flies breed in filth, feed on it, live in it, and contaminate everything they lay their hairy little legs on. It is a very good thing to swat, trap or poison flies, but it is still better to prevent their breeding:

1. By keeping stables clean.
2. By removing all manure at least twice a week.
3. By keeping garbage receptacles, with close-fitting covers, which should be emptied and washed out frequently.
4. By building only fly-proof sanitary privies when sewers are not available.

The time to begin the campaign against flies is before any have been seen, in March or April of each year. A pair of flies born in April may give origin to millions more by August. Do not let these millions come into existence. Keep the first pair from breeding. Strict cleanliness and immediate destruction of all filth are the best measures against flies.

All homes, markets, bakeries and all food establishments should be screened against flies.

Remember—No filth, no flies, no disease.

HOW AND WHERE YOUR INCOME TAX GOES.

Eighty-five per cent of the income tax you just have paid went to pay the interest and the principal of the debts from past wars, to provide war pensions, and to maintain a fighting machine for war in the future, according to statistics supplied by Herbert D. Brown, chief of the United States Bureau of Efficiency. Here is the way every dollar received in taxes by the government is spent:

For the army and navy, 17 cents.

For pensions, the Veterans' Bureau, etc., 25 cents.

For "special activities pertaining to the recent war," such as war contracts, the settlement with the railroads, etc., 4 cents.

For interest, 28 cents.

For retirement of the public debt, 11 cents.

For the president, congress, the courts, the executive departments, research work, education, public works, and all other civil activities of the government, 15 cents.

In other words, only 15 cents out of every dollar of your income tax went to provide you with anything useful.

Coincident with this announcement come reports from Germany of the joy in that country over the fact that the United States government has started paying pensions once more to German civil war veterans—a practice discontinued at the outbreak of the recent war in 1918. Some citizens have received in back pensions as much as $2800, a sum which in marks makes a German a millionaire eleven or twelve times over.

You can be glad to know that your income tax makes somebody happy.—Commerce and Finance.

A bold case of theft is reported from Santa Anna where Elisha Melton is missing a perfectly good young orchard. He recently planted 10 acres to young fruit trees on his sandy-land farm six miles southeast of Santa Anna. Last Wednesday, about one week after planting the orchard, a thief in the night entered the premises and carried away 280 of the young trees. Mr. Melton has offered $50 reward for apprehension of the thief or thieves. The Ballinger paper recently carried an item to the effect that thieves had entered the Ballinger cemetery and carried off all two-year-old rose bushes that had been planted to adorn the cemetery.—Coleman Democrat-Voice.

Out of the fifty-odd proposed constitutional amendments considered by the regular session of the Thirty-eighth Legislature two got through. One would raise the Confederate pension tax from 5c to 7c on the $100 and bring the residence limit from 1900, as it now stands, up to 1910. The other would permit the state to take over the construction and maintenance of designated state highways. The latter as it passed the House would also have permitted the citizens of Texas to vote state bonds not only for constructing additional highways, but for reimbursing those counties which already have built their links in such highways. But the Senate, realizing the need for some immediate conformance of affairs to secure continuance of Federal road building aid and fearful that the bond feature might handicap the amendment, eliminated the bonding feature in the idea that this could be taken care of in a later amendment, possible now to submit not before 1925. The Legislature meanwhile undertook to provide the necessary funds for "matching" Federal aid and through the gasoline tax and the vehicle license tax procured for that purpose something like $8,000,000 a year, which is sufficient for the needs of the present and of the immediate future. The highway amendment lacks that much of being all that could be asked for by those concerned in giving Texas a comprehensive system of highways, but it is nevertheless one of the steps necessary to procure the continuance of Federal road aid, and both it and the Confederate pension amendment are deserving of popular support.—Denton Record-Chronicle.

MILLIONTH BUICK AUTO RECALLS SALE OF FIRST BUICK IN BRADY TO "TINKER" ALLEN

In reaching and passing the millionth mark in the manufacture of Buick automobiles, the Buick Motor Company at Flint, Michigan, has an achievement that has occasioned wide-spread publicity throughout the nation. In days gone by, before millionaires were met with so frequently, we were often reminded that a million was almost a larger number than any one person could count; yet in this present age of billionaires, we find that production of even such a great object as a real automobile, costing well over a thousand dollars, can be developed into an industry of such magnitude as to run into a million of automobiles.

In this connection, it is interesting to recall that within the recollection of those still in their teens, there appeared in Brady the first Buick car. It was one of the first Buick automobiles manufactured and of the earliest model—a Model F., 2-cylinder. Luther Guthrie of Brownwood was the agent selling the Buick in those pioneer days, back around 1908, and T. C. Allen, famous throughout this section as "Tinker" Allen was the purchaser of the first car sold in McCulloch. But he was not permitted to retain his sole honor and distinction very long, for the late "Big" Davis soon after purchased the second Buick, also a Model F., 2-cylinder. By this time, "Tinker" and "Big" Davis had proven that the automobile was not a tinker-toy, but a real practicality, and autos sprung into popular favor. The third sale of Buick automobiles was three in a lump, Joe Matthews, W. D. Crothers and D. F. Savage being the purchasers—still the same original model, chain-drive auto.

Of all these autos, that of Joe Matthews has probably the most remarkable record. After using his car for some five or six years as a pleasure vehicle, Mr. Matthews, after his removal to Peg Leg ranch in Menard county, converted it into a tractor, and still uses it to plow with and for a multitude of purposes on the ranch.

It is a far cry from the old Model F Buick, to the present-day luxurious Model '23 Buick Six, and the transformation has been wrought in a comparatively short number of years. As we look upon the achievements of the past decade, one cannot but marvel—and as we look forward, it is with trepidation and wonder as to what the future may bring forth.

SOCIETY

Silver Tea.
The Brady Music Study club will give a Silver Tea Saturday, April 14th, at 4:00 o'clock.
Hostess, Mrs. J. A. Maxwell.

Friday Forty-Two Club.
The Friday Forty-Two club met Thursday afternoon of last week with Mrs. Wilson D. Jordan, with club members present as follows: Mesdames G. T. Roberts, N. G. Lyle, Jr., J. B. Granville, Evans J. Adkins, C. Crawford, M. A. Rice, J. A. Holton, Henry Tipton, Clyde Hall; Miss Mozelle Glenn. Guests were Mesdames G. C. Kirk, N. A. Collier.
Following an enjoyable series of "42," the hostess served refreshments consisting of a salad course.

Seniors' Easter Party.
Miss Gertrude Trigg was hostess at a most delightful Easter party given in compliment to the Senior class of Brady high school. Easter decorations added to the attractiveness of the Trigg home, the Easter motif being further carried out in the nut cups filled with Easter eggs and which marked each place at the card tables. Progressive "500" was enjoyed by the guests, high score and prize being awarded Franz Taylor.
A salad course was served by the hostess, with napkins and plate cards to carry out the color scheme.
Plans were made to wear overalls and aprons on the first (school) day of April.
Those present included Misses Viola Tom, Dorothy Ogden, Katharine Ballou, Florence Bates, and Eleanor Hensley, sponsor; Messrs. Glenn Ricks, Arthur Awalt, Franz Taylor, Earl Deans, James Snider. Visitors were Miss Arvje Wegner and Mr. Jack Wigginton.

Entertains at Bridge.
Mrs. Wiley W. Walker was hostess on Tuesday afternoon at a very elaborate Bridge party, which proved one of the most enjoyable of the social events of the new Spring season. Flowers were used in effective decoration of the rooms, where seven tables were provided for the series of "Bridge," which formed the afternoon's diversion. High score and prize were awarded Mrs. Burl T. Wiley, consolation prize to Mrs. S. S. Graham and out-of-town guest prize to Mrs. Fred Ellis.
Refreshments of a salad and an ice course were served.
Numbered among the guests were Mesdames Dick Winters, Will Davidson Grover Kirk, C. T. White, Burl T. Wiley, Herbert L. Wood, Harry F. Schwenker, H. P. Roddie, Harry W. Lindley, J. G. McCall, Dimmit Wood, A. B. Cox, Sam McCollum, B. L. Malone, P. B. Melton, Wm. D. Cargill, R. W. Turner, G. V. Gansel, Ed Campbell, S. S. Graham, W. D. Crothers, Jack Brannum, J. W. Ragsdale, H. B. Ogden, Bailey Jones, Jas. Brook, G. R. White, Fred Ellis of Menard.

Dinner Club.
Mrs. Sam McCollum entertained on Wednesday night with three tables of Bridge, the occasion being the regular monthly meeting of the Dinner club. The spirit of Easter was carried out in the house and table decorations, the living room being decorated with plum and peach blossoms, while in the dining room a color scheme of pink and white was observed. Pink streamers extended from the light to the table, upon which an embroidered cloth was laid, the centerpiece being a mirror with a basket of Easter lilies, surrounded by Easter chicks and rabbits. A two-course dinner was served, tiny chicks decorating the salad, while the brick cream was covered with a nest of whipped cream containing candy eggs and a tiny rabbit.

In the series of "Bridge," Mrs. Wm. R. Davidson received ladies' prize and Dr. Jack Ragsdale, gentlemen's prize.
Numbered among the members present were Messrs. and Mesdames W. D. Crothers, G. V. Gansel, Bailey Jones; Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Ragsdale. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. R. Davidson, Mesdames H. M. Brannum and R. W. Turner.
Mrs. Ragsdale entertains at the next meeting of the club.

Celebrates Sixth Birthday.
Master Gerald Mann celebrated his sixth birthday in enjoyable fashion last Saturday afternoon, March 31st, by inviting a number of friends to join him in making the occasion one long to be remembered. Various games were enjoyed by the little guests, and an Easter egg hunt was had in the house, following which refreshments of cream and cake were served.
The dining room was strikingly beautiful, Easter crepe paper adorning the table, and Easter place cards being used for the little guests. In the center of the table reposed the birthday cake, adorned with the six candles denoting the milestones of life passed by the little host, and also with colored candies. On one side of the cake a nest of Easter eggs and rabbits was cleverly placed in some grass, while on the other side a nest of grass disclosed other eggs, together with chicks and hens and other novelties dear to the hearts of the little folks. Favors were little baskets of Easter eggs.
A novel part of the entertainment was the giving of little readings and Mother Goose rhymes by the children.
Included among those present were Little Misses Clara and Helen Schwenker, Katharine Maxwell, Cecille Swim, Pauline Rhode, Mary Alice Jefferies, Alice Louella Mann; Masters Ed Campbell, Hugh White Calvert, B. A. Hallum, Jr., Ben Hill Ogden, Pershing Jones, Sam McCollum, Jr., Yantis McCollum, Geo. Carrithers, Jack Davis, Morris Mann, James Jones and Paul Mann.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Stobaugh came over from Ballinger Sunday to attend the Knights Templar Easter services and incidentally to spend a few days here visiting friends.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Abernathy and son drove over from Brownwood Saturday for a brief visit with relatives and friends. They reported the roads mighty rough, but not too bad for them to visit back in old McCulloch.

Mrs. S. E. Parker arrived the latter part of last week from Abilene to spend a few days here visiting relatives and friends. The Parkers are delighted with their hotel proposition in Abilene, and report good business and the brightest of prospects.

Will Knoy, former Bradyite, but who has been making his home at Tahoka for a number of years past, was in Brady the past week visiting his sister, Mrs. R. V. Stearns, and family, and renewing acquaintance with his many old-time friends.

H. N. Cook returned Sunday morning from Dallas, where he had been in attendance upon the state convention of postmasters, and which he declares a most successful, as well as enjoyable occasion. The convention was addressed by Mr. Glover, third assistant postmaster general and also by Lieutenant-Governor T. W. Davidson and other notables.

J. L. Smith was in from Lohn Monday and reported having two harrows running over his roughest plowed land. He reported the roads worse than at any time in recent years, and in many places being rutted out so deep as to make it impossible for conveyances upon meeting to turn out, one for the other. However, there is a wonderful season in the ground, more than enough to make up for all other inconveniences.

Jim Anderson has purchased the lot on the north bank of Brady creek and facing Blackburn street, and has moved his confectionery from its erstwhile location, two lots farther north, to the same, so as to establish his business home entirely on his own property. Mr. Anderson has gone to quite a bit of expense to fit up his building, and is now comfortably domiciled within convenient reach of both local and the transient public.

Grady Burns is now sole proprietor of the Sudden Service Station on South Blackburn street, having purchased the interest of his partner, J. O. McLerran. Mr. Burns is a splendid young business man, and will "carry on" in a manner to assure success. Mr. McLerran has not disclosed his future plans, but will devote at least a portion of his time to seeing after the operation of the McLerran farm in the Voce community.

Mrs. J. S. Abernathy received a message last Friday announcing the arrival of a son at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Baxter, Jr., at Dublin. Mr. Baxter is a nephew of Mrs. Abernathy, and is well-known in McCulloch county, having been raised at Rochelle, where his parents lived for many years before removing to Erath county. Mr. Baxter was also a Brady resident for a number of years, and all his many friends will be glad to extend congratulations upon the happy event.

W. D. Cowan, editor of the San Saba Star, was in Brady last Friday greeting old-time friends, and incidentally making new ones, while telling the citizens about the Pioneer Pecan Press, the new monthly publication now being issued by Mrs. Amelia Cowan from the Star office in San Saba. W. D. is a booster of the first water for San Saba's justly famous paper shell pecans, and in his publication, The Pioneer Pecan Press, the pecan has an able champion and one which is certain to add lustre to the fame of this already nationally-famous nut.

A. W. Cooper was in Brady Saturday greeting friends. A. W. is here to look after the cleaning out and re-equipping of the wells in the Cooper shallow field at Mercury, and where his son, Raymond, is in charge of operations. A. W. has recently been in Missouri, where he was called by the serious illness of his brother. He has covered a large part of the U. S. since leaving McCulloch, and included in his experiences has been a bear hunt in Oregon. Mr. Cooper showing snap-shots of a big black bear which he killed while on the hunt.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Lester Cox was here from Stacy the first of the week on a business visit.

Mrs. A. L. Self of Dublin arrived Thursday for a visit with her daughter, Miss Alice Self.

Miss Juel Ray of Brownwood, spent Sunday here, having charge of the music for the Easter service.

Mrs. Kate Kitchens of Sanatorium, Texas, arrived Thursday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Julian Behrens, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Arnsperger and family are enjoying a visit from his brother, the Rev. J. W. Arnsperger, and wife of Weimar.

ferred a serious accident at the family home in Dodge community shortly after noon Sunday. Emulating the athletic stunts he witnessed at the County Interscholastic meet, Master Quinton was undertaking to pole-vault a clothes line in the yard, when he caught his foot in the line and was thrown violently to the ground. Stunned by the fall, the lad lay there several minutes before his playmates realized that he was really hurt, and when he attempted to rise, he was unable to stand on his foot. After trying home remedies for some time, the lad was brought to the local sanitarium about 6:00 o'clock, where examination showed a compound fracture of one of the bones in his left leg between the ankle and the knee. At last reports, the young man was resting easily and getting along as nicely as could be expected.

The Prerequisite for Morality.
"This latter-day or new morality is too lax for me," quoth Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth millionaire, according to the New York Tribune. He continued:
"This new morality, which seems in its tolerance rather to encourage than to oppose wickedness, reminds me of a lad in my Sunday school class. 'Now, Tommy,' I said to this lad one Sunday afternoon, 'now, Tommy, what must we do before our sins can be forgiven?'
"We must sin,' Tommy replied."

HEAVY RAIN DELUGES SECTIONS OF COUNTY TUES.

Following upon the recent series of rains, a near-waterspout visited portions of the county late Tuesday evening, a precipitation of about five inches in a period of an hour and ten minutes being reported on the Davis ranch south of town by Carroll Gray. According to Mr. Gray, the rain fell in veritable sheets and was accompanied by considerable hail, but not enough to damage corn that was up, especially since the hail fell after the ground was well covered with water. The hail was sufficiently heavy to knock the leaves off the trees and to kill several kids for Mr. Gray. The deluge of water was so great as to wash fences away on either side of the hollow.
The extent of the rain has not been ascertained, but it appears that the downpour was heaviest beginning at the outskirts south of town and extending south along the Mason road to Otte's. The rain fell from a heavy cloud over the southern portion of the county, and while a sharp shower fell in Brady, the precipitation was comparatively light.

Victor Jacobson, who lives on the old Henry Dial place in the East Sweden community, reports quite a heavy rain out in that section also.

Just So.
In a crowded omnibus a stout woman vainly endeavored to get her fare out of the pocket of her cloak, which was tightly buttoned as a precaution against pickpockets.

After she had been working in vain for some minutes, a gentleman seated on her right side, said: "Please allow me to pay your fare."
The lady declined and recommenced her attacks on the pocket.
After these had continued for some little time, her fellow-passenger said: "You really must let me pay your fare. You already have undone my suspenders three times."

The Right Dempsey May Have to Quiet

When Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine Tiger Man, knocked Bill Brennan cold in twelve rounds (the same number it took Dempsey) at New York last week, South America made its first serious bid to dethrone titles. This big dark man without a smile weighs 210 pounds and proved his fighting heart when he took all Brennan could shoot at him and still had a mighty knockout wallop left. If Firpo comes through a summer campaign with a record in keeping with his defeat of Brennan, a match with Dempsey for the title will likely be staged in the fall—if not in America, then at Buenos Ayres, S. A.

Richard Lloyd Jones Says PRESERVANCE COUNTS MOST

WEALTH inherited is never valued like wealth earned. Victory is great as the battle is hard. There is no short road to real triumph. That which is gained easily is lost easily. "Easy comes, easy goes."
The plant that grows fast withers rapidly. The tree that grows slowly endures.
Steadfast application will do more than the quick, hard blow of impatience. Dropping water will cut its way through granite.
Mountains were not made in moments; they are the work of ages.
Great deeds are done not by strength but by persistence.
Want a thing hard enough, work for it long enough and you are pretty sure to get it.
A single purpose is the first essential to success. Stick to it. Tenacity is the primary element of greatness.
It is wisdom to build castles in the air; but it is folly to stop there. Go at your foundation; pile stone upon stone until you reach your castle. Then it is yours.
"Stay with it" is the slogan that makes the cowboy master of the bucking broncho.
"Don't give up the ship," was the command to his men that brought Perry victory.
Perpetual pushing puts difficulties out of countenance and makes seeming impossibilities give way.

poem by UNCLE JOHN

Among the words I know of, which is fitted to describe the highest class enjoyments of the super-social tribe,—there's one that ranks superlative, an' suits my fancy best,—the little word is "pleasant," which I reckon you have guessed....
We all love pleasant faces, when we haunt the pleasant nooks; we sing of pleasant wimmin, an' discourse on pleasant looks; a pleasant social function is an easy thing to rhyme —and the little outdoor picnic gives its friends a pleasant time.
We treasure pleasant memories of hours that's past an' gone, which we spent in Pleasant Valley, with our Sunday garments on—And it's nothin' short of pleasant, when we hike to Pleasant Grove,—And Pleasant Hill's the Eden that the Hemizers love!
Yes—the little word is pleasant—fer the printer or the scribe, that records the daily doin's of Billville's pleasant tribe—And when you're in HER company—with nothin' much to say, you can start the ball to rollin' with—"We've had a pleasant day!"

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY for 1923

ONCE we knew a man in far away India who for more than thirty years had not spoken to a human soul. His last words were that it was better to think and do things than to waste time talking; moreover he believed nobody ever had said anything of lasting value. It would be a strange world if all of us just shut up and talked through our actions. Gee, how lonely it would be. Lots of things might be accomplished that are now left undone, but we'd miss that human contact that seems to make the whole world kin. And it isn't true that nothing has been said of lasting value. There are three everlasting words that stand as the foundation of human happiness and development: Love one another. We don't need to talk a great deal if we say something.

CITY BUILDING GRAVELED BOULEVARD TO BRADY'S NEW HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

The city street force, under direction of City Street Superintendent B. Simpson, is this week engaged in building a graveled boulevard to the new high school building. The graveled extends along South Twelfth street from South Blackburn street to the high school building, and will convert what has always been one of the muddiest and most impassable streets in rainy weather, into a pike that may be traveled at any time. The work of grading the street, preliminary to surfacing it with gravel, was accomplished the past week.

NEW BUS SERVICE BETWEEN BRADY AND SAN ANTONIO TO BE INAUGURATED APRIL 9th

Announcement is made in this issue of The Standard of a new bus line to be operated between Brady and San Antonio, and which will begin service Monday, April 9th. The new bus will be operated by J. K. Shelton of Lohn, with Jap Embry of Brady, manager. Mr. Shelton will put into operation 7-passenger Buick and Reo automobiles, and announces service of the highest class. The following is the schedule announced:
 Leave Brady 10:30 a. m.
 Arrive San Antonio 6:00 p. m.
 Leave San Antonio 7:30 a. m.
 Arrive Brady 3:00 p. m.
 The above schedule will enable making connection with both the Brownwood and Coleman lines.

Helpful Wind.

While on his recent visit to this country Marshal Foch made a witty reply to a man who, when one of the guests at a dinner party in Denver given by a party of Americans, took exception to French politeness. "There is nothing in it but wind," he said with questionable taste. "Neither is there anything but wind in a pneumatic tire," retorted the gallant Marshal, "yet it eases the jolts along life's highway wonderfully."—The Argonaut.

81 YEARS OLD GAINS 21 POUNDS

Pioneer Citizen Has Remarkable Experience in Regaining Lost Health; Now "Sleeps Like a Kid."

Mr. J. E. Selby, proprietor Selby Supply Co., Marthville, La., says, "I am 81 years old. Enjoyed phenomenal health from 1872 until last May. I began to lose flesh, indigestion was manifested, appetite variable, complicated with insomnia. My weight was reduced to 144 pounds; I became so weak I staggered—was barely able to walk 200 yards from my home to my store. Thinking I might be deficient in iron and vitamins, I began taking Ironized Yeast. In less than 30 days I had regained my customary weight (165), gaining 21 pounds in that time, can now eat and enjoy three hearty meals per day and sleep like a 'kid.' The gain is solid flesh, and I feel as able to attend to my business as I was ten years ago."

The principle of Ironized Yeast is endorsed by the world's greatest chemists. It supplies the very elements you must have to maintain health. It is guaranteed to bring back your old time, vigorous health. Do not confuse Ironized Yeast with yeast cakes. It is a concentrated extract of brewer's yeast, the kind doctors recommend for use in medicine. If you are weak, underweight, nervous, run down, profit by Mr. Selby's experience. Get a package of Ironized Yeast from your druggist—a ten-cent treatment costs only a dollar and money will be refunded unless you are so lighted with results. Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Teachers' Examinations.
 A new ruling has been made with reference to registration of applicants for teachers' certificates. All applicants must register with the county superintendent not later than the twentieth day of the preceding calendar month. Applicants who have not registered for the April examination may be permitted to take them this month, as sufficient publicity has not been given concerning this ruling.

I have just received a ruling from the State Department of Education that there will be no county examinations held in May. Applicants who desire to take the June examination, but who have failed to register with the county superintendent before May twentieth, will secure permission from the state superintendent to enter the examination.
 Signed, W. M. DEANS, County Superintendent.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value. Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, invigorating Effect. 60c.

WRONG KIND OF SINCERITY

Straightforwardness Will Not Always Stand the Great White Light of Investigation.

People always say that what they value most in a friend is sincerity. Everybody likes the genuine, whole-hearted, straight-forward person. You can't help it. You believe thoroughly in what she says.

It is a fine trait, this sincerity. I have lately come to value it in a different way.

Lots of people are always sincere, but they are sincere about different things at different times.

They are so enthusiastic that they can always make themselves believe what they are saying at the time.

They are always sincere at any given moment, but their conversations do not match up.

They will condone with the office girl about how exacting the chief is and they will agree with the chief about how sloppy the office girl is.

They are always pleasant, always convincing, and every one likes them. But some day two or three of their friends will begin to check up.

And perhaps that reputation for genuineness will not stand the strain. Everybody thinks that he or she is sincere. We all approve of honesty, and try to make our own acts seem honest to ourselves.

The only way to be really genuine is to stand on your own feet, and not be too much swayed by other people's words.—The Designer.

DEPENDENT ON THE OUTLOOK

Forthcoming Work Had Much to Do With Duration of Job of Painting Watkin's House.

Watkins was having his house painted. The expense was mounting up, and he was beginning to fear he would have to let the painter take the house as part payment for the job, when Mrs. Watkins overheard something that shed some light upon the matter, to say the least. The painter was working at the front of the house when a friend of the same profession passed by.

"Hello there, Bill," the friend called.

"Hello yourself," the painter responded. "Where are you going?"

"Got a garage to paint down here in the next block. How's business?"

"Can't complain."

"How long will it take you to finish the job you're on there?"

"Well, I'll tell you, Carl," said the painter, lowering his voice to a confidential tone, "the boss has gone to see about another job now. If he gets the new work we'll be done here tomorrow. If he don't it will take until some time next week."—Kansas City Star.

Social Success.

"Oh, don't you know how they got into society?" one woman questioned another.

The other admitted ignorance and repeated her surprise that such as those about whom they were talking had been able to climb the social barriers.

"You see," the first one continued, "prohibition did it for them. They kept dropping remarks when they did get a chance at conversation with any of the elite about the champagne they had managed to put away and how they were going to open it up before long and have a lot of parties."

"It was perfectly simple after that. Everyone went to everything they had—always hoping, always hoping."

"I don't think anyone has had a taste of it. Personally I think they never had any. But they're in society now, and that's all they care about. Pretty clever of them, don't you think?"

Spanish-Speaking Americans.

Texas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and California are the centers of our Spanish-speaking colonies. El Paso has a Mexican population of 45,000 out of its 75,000 people. In New Mexico approximately 65 per cent of the people speak Spanish and many public officials know only a smattering of English. Colorado and New Mexico house a peculiar sect called the Penitents, who practice flagellation and carry on weird religious rites like those of the Middle Ages—such as cross-country pilgrimages, with the penitents lashing themselves and each other with cactus until they drop from exhaustion or the loss of blood, when a cross is planted at the point of collapse.

Real Homemaker.

The real homemaker, of course, is born, not made. There are women, and even men, who can't arrange a room without almost unconsciously producing effects that are cozy and comfortable and that give one a sense of being welcome in that particular room. It is not a question of the kind of furniture, or even the colors, but a certain gift for disposing and grouping of pieces of furniture to make a room look kind and habitable.

Lakes in Tahoe Basin.

The principal lakes in the Tahoe basin are Fallen Leaf, Watson's, Cascade, Heather, Susie, Rock Bound, Dick, Eagle, Gilmore, Half Moon, Lily, Grass, Angora, Lucille, Medley, Echo, Crystal, Cliff, Le Conte, Devil's, Bryant and Frog. Besides these there are dozens of smaller lakes in the Deception valley. None of these lakes except Tahoe and Fallen Leaf contained trout until artificially stocked.

PLAN NOVEL CONTEST TO NAME "LADY BRADY"

The Brady Chamber of Commerce is requested to select a young lady to represent Brady at San Angelo May 21, 22, and 23 at the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. This young lady is to be known as "Lady Brady." There are supposed to be about two hundred and forty towns represented and one young lady from each town is to occupy a very important position in the Pageant, and as well, to be an honor guest at various social and civic functions during the convention.

At the Luncheon club it was decided that we would put on a membership campaign for the Brady Chamber of Commerce and for each dollar paid in for membership dues, the person paying the money would be allowed to cast one hundred votes for the young lady of his choice to represent Brady. This campaign is open to every girl in McCulloch county, and our membership is open to every person in McCulloch county and, in fact, we will be only too glad to get people in other parts of the county to take an interest in the Brady Chamber of Commerce, for our organization is working to make this county the best one in the State.

This campaign begins immediately, and ends May 1, 1923; the young lady who wins will get a free trip to San Angelo and return, and her expenses paid by the Chamber of Commerce. It will be well worth any girl's efforts to get the trip.

The minimum fee accepted will be $1.50 for three months dues; we prefer that they pay for a year but will accept dues for one quarter if any one desires to pay that way.

It was further agreed that the present membership would be allowed to vote the same as a new member for the amount of dues covering March, April and May, and as much in advance as they want to pay.

No votes will be allowed except when accompanied with the money for membership dues; anyone can nominate any young lady of his choice when he pays his dues in this Chamber of Commerce.

For further information call the Chamber of Commerce, or come to the office. Our office is over the new Gibbons building, east side of square.

Death of Grandma Maddux.

The death of Grandma Maddux, well-known and highly respected citizen, occurred Monday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Wright, at Eden. The body was brought to Brady Tuesday morning for burial, and interment was made in the family plot in Brady cemetery at 1:00 o'clock.

Mrs. Maddux was at one time a resident of the Nine community, where she made her home many years, and was beloved by all who knew her. For a number of years she had been paralyzed on one side, and her advanced age added to her infirmity.

Deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. M. J. Wright of Eden and Mrs. Joe Russell of Pear Valley, and one son, John Maddux. A large number of former neighbors and friends from the Nine community were in attendance upon the funeral and paid last respects to their departed friend.

SPIRITED MASS MEETING WEDNESDAY FAVORS LOCATING "TECH" AT BRADY

a well 2200 feet deep. It was drilled through 800 feet of water sand and we now have a daily capacity of 600,000 gallons, with the knowledge that when we need more water another well can be procured just as good as the one we have. There are many flowing wells in the county, also two rivers, the Colorado and the San Saba, and several large creeks.

(5) Our soil is the finest to be found, many fertile farms are now being cultivated, with the prospects of some of the large ranches being cut up in the near future; one ranch of 60,000 acres is being cut up into small farms and will be put on the market May 1st, this year. Our ranches have some of the finest cattle in the State; one ranchman bought many head of fine cattle at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show this year, including the Grand Champion cow.

(6) With our rivers, climate, central location, our coal mines, oil and gas fields, and with the certainty of the State of Texas being thickly populated some day, we sincerely believe that Brady will eventually be the manufacturing center, and due to the fact that the Texas "Tech" is to teach the various branches of engineering, it should be located where it is practical to serve the people for the future, as well as the present.

Respectfully submitted by your committee,
F. M. NEWMAN,
S. A. McCOLLUM,
H. P. JORDAN.

By unanimous vote the above resolutions were adopted by the Brady Chamber of Commerce.

Good progress is reported on all committees, the Committee on Sites Wednesday reporting having secured an option on a most desirable tract adjoining the city limits, and negotiations are under way for some two or three other sites lying close to Brady.

We have just received some extra high class suits of Furniture and are anxious to show them to our trade. O. D. MANN & SONS.

BRADY MEETING SAYS TECH COLLEGE SHOULD SERVE ALL OF STATE

Business men from seventeen counties in Central West Texas, repudiating the idea of any spirit of sectionalism, went on record at Brady last Thursday as favoring the location of the Texas College of Technology for the good of all the people of all the State.

It was pointed out in resolutions adopted unanimously that the center of population of all Texas will, within a few years, fall within the territory represented at the meeting.

Counties represented by big delegations were Tom Green, Irion, Brown, Coleman, Concho, Runnels, McCulloch, San Saba, Mills, Lampasas, Llano, Mason, Menard, Burnet, Gillespie, Kendall and Bexar.

John B. Carrington of San Antonio was chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Others who submitted the report to the people of Texas and to members of the locating board included Robert T. Neill of San Angelo, F. R. Sonor of Fredericksburg, H. L. Davis of Boerne, J. S. Rogers of Coleman, B. A. Jones of Brady and Wright Armstrong of Brownwood.

Complete harmony marked every feature of the get-together for that portion of Texas which has come to be designated West Texas.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

SYNDICATE TO BUILD BUSINESS BLOCK IN MELVIN

A syndicate of Melvin business men has completed plans, and last Tuesday let a contract for the erection of a modern business block, composed of five storerooms. A. J. Bay is the contractor, having signed an agreement with Oscar Sellers and associates, and expects to begin construction at once, with expectation of completing the new block within the next 90 days.

The location for the new block is on the southwest corner of the Melvin square, and the plans call for a 96-ft. frontage by 70-ft. depth. Brick and hollow tile will be used in construction, and the completed cost of the block is placed at $14,000.

Mr. Sellers will occupy one of the store-rooms with a new drug store, the while maintain his present drug store on the east side. Prospective tenants are had for all the remaining buildings, according to the members of the company.

H. P. C. EVERS PURCHASES CRADDOCK BUSINESS HOUSE NOW OCCUPIED BY SADDLERY

H. P. C. Evers has purchased from Dr. B. L. Craddock the business house located just a few doors east of the square on Commerce street, and which, for the past ten years has been occupied by the Evers Saddlery and Shoe shop. The consideration was $7,000. Mr. Evers is to be complimented upon having joined the ranks of Brady citizens owning their own business home and, needless to say, the property purchased is a most valuable acquisition, both by reason of its splendid location and the further fact that it permanently establishes the Evers firm.
