ALLEGED BRADY MEN ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF RAISING FEDERAL NOTES

San Antonio, Texas, July 1.—On a complaint charging them with raising and passing a Federal reserve bank note, Jasper Richard Edmonson and Leonard Jean Starkey were arraigned before United States Commissioner R. L. Edwards, Saturday afternoon. They waived preliminary examination. Edmonson was remanded to the county jail in default of $750 bond and Starkey was remanded in default of $1,000 bond, both bonds being returnable to the Austin division.

According to a statement made before Commissioner Edwards, an attempt was made to pass a $1 note raised to a $10 note on a Fredericksburg merchant Friday. The merchant detected the deception and notified Sheriff A. Petmecky of Gillespie county, who in turn notified Ed Tyrrell, secret service agent in charge of the San Antonio office.

Mr. Tyrrell hastened to Fredericksburg, and in company with Sheriff Petmecky brought the prisoners back to San Antonio for arraignment before the United States commissioner. The complaint was filed Saturday afternoon.

Crude methods were used to raise the denomination of the note, Mr. Tyrrell said, and the men were evidently amateurs. A detailed confession, it is alleged, was made to the Secret service agent by Edmonson, was the result that Edmonson's bond was fixed at a lower figure than that of Starkey.

Edmonson and Starkey are said to be residents of Brady, McCulloch county, Texas.—San Antonio Light.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA & DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved - Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity, purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water,—that's all. No taste, no gripping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

DOOLEE MAN'S INVENTION RIDS FIELDS OF PESTS

Fred Shield, prominent merchant and citizen of the Doolee community, gets credit for an invention that successfully rids the fields of flying grasshoppers. Reports reaching The Standard office are that this, or a similarly designed contraption, is being used in various parts of the country in successfully warring on the flying hoppers. Incidentally, it might be stated that in Bell county, the farmers there are using the torch traps with success against millers, boll weevils and other enemies of cotton. Their plan is to have tubs or containers set about in various places in the field, each tub containing a mixture of water and oil. A lighted lantern is hung over each trap at night, and the result is millions of the pests find death in the oil covered water.

But to get back to the invention for which Mr. Shield gets credit. Here is the report as published in Sunday's Fort Worth Star-Telegram:

"They are laughing at grasshoppers in this section of Texas, where they have them beat" writes S. C. Thorne of Brownwood from Brady, describing a grasshopper killing machine in use at Doolee McCulloch County. "I am sure that The Star-Telegram wants all Texas to laugh," Thorne continues, "so I am hoping that it will publish details of this machine, which will be worth millions of dollars to Texas farmers." Thorne then describes the machine devised, he writes, by Fred Shield of Doolee.

Briefly, it is a 40 by 48 inch perpendicular screen of oil cloth, 29 feet long, and with a trough 8 inches deep and 20 inches wide at the bottom. The whole thing is mounted on skids or runners eight feet long, holding the screen upright and allowing it to be drawn broadside down the cotton rows by horses hitched to each end.

The skids or runners are constructed of lumber two inches thick, and six, eight, ten or twelve inches wide—depending on the height of the young cotton. The trough is filled about two-thirds full of water and kerosene—five parts water to one part oil.

"It works this way," writes Thorne. "As it comes down the cotton rows the flying grasshopper jumps against the oil cloth—can't stick and drops into the kerosene and water and he is a goner. I saw 40 gallons of flying grasshoppers caught in a round made in a field 300 yards across—and they were all dead."

The material for the machines, which will cover 50 to 75 acres per day, costs $5 or $10, he says. The trough is constructed with a flat bottom, 20 inches across, eight inches high and 20 feet wide, of ordinary lumber. The oil cloth in the screen is dropped into the trough to provide for its holding water. The uprights for the oil cloth screen are nailed to the back side of the trough, two by fours, 48 inches high. The supports for the oil cloth screen are braced from each runner, front and back. To the front of the trough is nailed at each end a two by seven which projects seven feet from each end of the trough. To this the horses are hitched, one or two at each end.

Here is the bill of materials as figured by Thorne:

- Two 1x12, 20 feet long, for bottom of trough.
Two 1x8, 20 feet long, for sides of trough.
Two 1x8, 2 feet long, for ends of trough.
One 2x6, 24 feet long for pulling trap (across front side of trough and projecting seven feet on each end).
Two 2x6, eight feet long for runners.
Two 2x4, four feet long, uprights for oil cloth, at back side of trough.
Two pieces of oil cloth 21 feet long for screen and lining for trough.
Four light braces and nails as required.
