WILL ADVERTISE M'CULLOCH CO. AT '24 STATE FAIRS

At the meeting of the Brady Luncheon club yesterday, it was voted unanimously to create a fund for the purpose of exhibiting McCulloch county agricultural products at various state fairs. More specifically, it was decided to take the memberships heretofore given the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, together with as many new memberships as could be secured, and use these memberships in securing direct benefit for Brady and McCulloch county, rather than to look for indirect benefit through affiliation with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

This progressive move is a direct outcome of the trip just taken by Wm. D. Cargill to Mississippi in charge of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce exhibit at the Mississippi-Alabama state fair. The fact that this exhibit cost approximately half of McCulloch county's annual membership in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has opened the eyes of Brady's live wires to the fact that Brady and McCulloch county will be enabled to place exhibits at some two or three state fairs at a cost no greater than the present total membership fee, and at the same time all the returns will be derived directly by Brady and McCulloch county, rather than to be widely distributed over West Texas, and more particularly the Panhandle and East New Mexico, as has been the case.

The plan of operation would be to start at once to accumulating desirable exhibit material, until a most complete and creditable showing of McCulloch county products was assembled, and then send the same to Minnesota, Alabama, or other distant state fairs, where it would likely interest prospective Texas immigrants, in McCulloch county. The Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce would be the "gentleman in charge" of the exhibits, and inasmuch as his signs, advertising material and other necessary paraphernalia could be used time after time, the cost of exhibiting at successive fairs would run only a fraction of the cost of making but one exhibit.

J. H. SMITH BUILDING A MODERN COUNTRY HOME IN PEAR VALLEY COMMUNITY

J. H. Smith, prominent citizen of the Pear Valley community, is having built what is considered an ideal country home, on his farm there. The plans for the new home embody all modern conveniences and comforts, and assure Mr. Smith and his family of a residence of which they may justly be proud.

W. W. Wilder of Brady has the contract, and is taking advantage of the present pretty weather to push construction work to an early completion.

The new residence will be a most commodious one, comprising seven rooms, with bath, hall, front and back porch and sleeping porch, a basement and a Delco-Light house, assuring both light and power for farm use. The new home will be finished throughout with hardwood floors, and beaver-boarded, and equipped with book-cases and other built-in conveniences.

BROOM FACTORY NEW ENTERPRISE TO BE ORGANIZED

Wm. D. Cargill, who returned on Tuesday morning from Mississippi, has not been letting the grass grow under his feet; in fact, he is cutting a considerable swath in the crop that has grown during his absence. His efforts are being directed towards organizing a $6,000 stock company for the purpose of establishing a first-class, up-to-date fully-equipped broom factory for Brady. Bill found time while in Mississippi to learn all about the successful conduct of a broom factory on a big basis, and he is now proceeding to put his newly-acquired knowledge into practical use.

That his plans are meeting with popular approval is evidenced by the fact that he is enlisting much hearty co-operation in his efforts and promises to complete the organization of the company before the week is out. The stock is being sold in units of $30.00, so as to enable everyone to lend financial, as well as moral support, to the proposition.

McCulloch county has proven ideally adapted to the successful growing of fine broom corn; but heretofore the small size of local factories has limited consumption to such a degree that the crop has moved but slowly. The new organization would have sufficient finances to enable the installation of latest power machinery, and with skilled workmen in charge, would have a large output, thereby not only lowering the overhead, but assuring the filling of large orders promptly, and at prices that would enable the company to compete with any of the broom factories now established.

The new broom factory is the first of a series of enterprises which the Brady Chamber of Commerce will sponsor during the coming year.

CHEF OF ST. ANGELUS HOTEL HERE TO PLAN ARRANGING HOTEL BRADY KITCHEN

E. Schmaltzried, chef of the St. Angelus hotel at San Angelo, was in Brady yesterday, planning the arranging of the new Brady Hotel kitchen. Mr. Schmaltzried is one of the best-known chefs of the Middle West, and hails originally from St. Louis, although he has been with the St. Angelus for the past sixteen months. He expressed gratification at the splendid arrangement and construction of the new Hotel Brady, and his pleasure over the spacious dining room and coffee shop, as well as the general plan of arrangement. The commodious lobby also afforded him genuine satisfaction.

Work on the hotel is progressing steadily, and within the next few weeks everything should be completed and in readiness for the formal opening of the hotel.

Postmaster H. N. Cook, Brady's pioneer hotel man—and one of the best West Texas has ever known, by the way—is among those Brady citizens who are most pleased with the new hotel. Mr. Cook, after visiting the hotel yesterday, had naught but words of praise for the modern and complete hostelry that Brady is to have. The splendid arrangement of the 52 rooms came in for special praise on the part of Mr. Cook. Not only are the rooms all light and airy, but each is provided with a clothes closet, as well as with connecting bath, while the interior decorations, and splendid carpets harmonize in wonderful pleasing fashion. Another feature that won Mr. Cook's special commendation was that all the hall-ways are well-lighted and airy.

There is no question but what the new Hotel Brady is a wonderful achievement for the Brady citizenship, and is another great milestone in its onward march of progress.

GRAND OPERA AT BROWN- WOOD SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27th—"MME. BUTTERFLY"

Romantic West Texas, the land once filled only with the musical notes from the throats of longhorns, will be given a rare treat October 27 when the world's most famous voices are heard in the San Carlo Grand Opera Company to be presented in West Texas for the first time in Brownwood at the Howard Payne College auditorium by Cameron Marshall, dean of the School of Music of this institution.

"Madame Butterfly" with Tamaki Muira, famous Japanese prima donna, and Japan's most prominent nightingale, taking the leading role. Besides this popular Japanese star there will be others of national repute. Among them are Colin O'More, famous tenor, and Charles E. Gallagher.

Tamaki Muira is the main star and the one who will give the audience the real treat. The dainty demure little creature, who is the only Japanese prima donna in the world will appear in costume direct from the Orient. Since 1914, when she made her debut in London, she has never been without an engagement, which tends to show her popularity over the world.

VOCA VOICES.

Voca School Opened Monday, 15th—Light Attendance Probable.
 Voca, Texas, Oct. 17th, 1923.
 Editor Brady Standard:
 Here I come again after a few weeks' absence.
 We are having some very disagreeable weather for the past three or four days. It is very bad on the cotton, but is putting the pastures in fine shape for winter use. The farmers would be glad to see it clear up for a few days so as to finish up what cotton they have to pick.
 The Voca school will begin here Monday, October 15th. We have four teachers employed this year. The attendance seems as if it will be light for this term, as some have gone off to school and some are busy picking cotton.
 Miss Myrtle Birk of this place will be our music teacher this year. That is, if she can get a large enough class, and we hope she can, for we sure do need a music teacher.
 On account of bad weather, they did not get to have church here Saturday night and Sunday and also Sunday night.
 Mr. M. A. Leddy and Miss Emma attended the Methodist 5th Sunday meeting at Fredonia last Sunday.
 Well, as news is scarce will ring off for this time.

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.
 Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

FIFE FINDINGS.

Rain, Rain—Every Day and Saturday Night and Sunday Too.
 Fife, Texas, Oct. 16th, 1923.
 Editor Brady Standard:

Several of the residents of this place just returned in time from cotton picking to miss being out in the rain and start their children to school at the beginning of the term, October 15th. The attendance was about 40 for the first day, rather light on account of weather conditions.

There will probably be 75 bales of cotton to pick here yet this year. The rain has done considerable damage. There will be a large acreage planted in grain here this year for the pasturage it affords, and the probable grain yield. This year promises to be a fine small grain season.

The road work is progressing nicely, but was halted for a few days by the weather conditions being uncomfortable.

The P. O. Department is in distress about the late fad of placing the return on the back of the letters in place of the left hand upper corner, where it should be.

The news is very scarce this week—no one on the sick list, and no weddings of late, therefore nothing of interest to write about.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA & DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved — Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity,—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water,—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

What I Like and What I Don't Like About My Home Town

If the editor of the Dallas News should write you requesting that you prepare an article for publication in the News on the subject of "What I Like and What I Don't Like About My Home Town," and then limited you to a column and a half to say all you wanted to say, just what would you write? Then, further, if he asked you to accompany your article with a photo of yourself—what then? That is the way he put the proposition up to The Standard editor! We went to the photographer and asked him to have mercy on us, and then composed the following. Does it meet with your ideas—or what would you have said, and done?

To the casual reader there is, perhaps, a general sameness in the various reasons advanced as to why a person particularly likes his own home town. A splendid citizenship; good schools and churches, contributing to highest moral standards among the inhabitants; a location, which, to the citizen's own mind, is the garden spot of the universe—these are the main essentials, and the requirements which every town must possess in order to qualify as a real home town.

But, while these points may be sufficient to the man who is truly in love with his home town, to the man seeking a new location, there are other and many more important points to be considered. There is the question of a pure and adequate supply of water; a tax rate which is sufficient to enable the city to grow and build and improve—in other words, to keep pace with the world of progress—and yet which is not so high as to prove burdensome to the citizenship; opportunities for business success; the privilege of establishing a permanent residence by becoming a home-owner; a climate which shall be conducive to good health, and the many comforts and conveniences which mean the enjoyment of life to its fullest extent.

Such a place is Brady, Texas.

Brady Well Located.

Located just below the Colorado river, which forms the northern boundary line of McCulloch county, and on the verdant banks of Brady creek, and with the Sar Saba river crossing the county just a few miles to the south, Brady is the entrance to that wonderfully picturesque portion of Southwest Texas, so rich in possibilities and undeveloped resources, and which as yet are practically untouched. Brady occupies the unique position of being the geographical center of Texas; hence it is known as the "Heart of Texas," but the term is all the more significant since so many of the good things that are wanted in life are to be found here.

Served by both the Frisco and the Santa Fe railways and, as well, being the junction of four great highways, two of which are officially designated as major highways and are included in the 7 per cent highway system of the State, Brady has direct connection with the market centers of the United States, and as well with points on the Pacific and Gulf coasts and the Mexican border. Auto bus lines connect with San Angelo, Ballinger, Coleman, Brownwood, Mason, Fredericksburg and San Antonio, making Brady one of the most accessible points in Texas. By automobile, Dallas is nine hours, San Antonio six hours and San Angelo three hours distant.

Altitude of 1,750 Feet.

With an altitude of 1,750 feet, the summers here are comparatively cool, and the winters are usually mild, making for an ideal climate. Sparkling streams and wildwood fastnesses lying just beyond in the country to the southwest, make Brady the gateway to all fine fishing and hunting grounds so sought after by the tourists, and the first day of August 183 tourists were registered in a twenty-four hour period, indicating how popular this section is with those seeking recreation and enjoyment. To care for this great volume of tourist travel, Brady has provided one of the best tourist parks in West Texas, located in a shady pecan and elm grove, along the banks of Brady creek, with a screened-in camp house, free water and lights over the entire grounds, tables and seats for the comfort of campers, together with Dutch ovens, a barbecue pit and wood provided for their free use and a park-keeper to look after their care and comfort. Adjoining, is a fine swimming pool, with dressing-rooms, showers and an attendant.

Union Station Attractive.

Coming to Brady by rail, when the visitor first steps from the train, he is at once most favorably impressed with the attractive union station, an inviting building of light-colored face brick, with red tile roof, surrounded by brick walks and driveway, the velvety lawns studded with ornamental flower beds, trees and shrubs, and set off with gleaming white curbing. And in the short drive of three blocks to the heart of the business section, the first impression becomes a lasting one, as the imposing courthouse, built of native yellow sandstone, is revealed in the center of the public square, with a well-shaded park, set with flower beds, surrounded by a great oval sweep of cement walks leading to the four entrances of the courthouse. The ornamental ladies' restroom, built of substantial reinforced concrete, and nestling among the trees of the park, indicates that the comfort and conveniences of visitors had not been overlooked.

Clean, dustless streets, with ornamental "white way" throughout the business section, and with electric lights along the main streets leading to the various residential sections of the city, add their mite to the inviting appearance of the city. New business buildings, modern in every detail, are to be seen on every hand, and on the north-west corner of the square looms the new three-story fireproof $100,000 Brady hotel, now nearing completion, and which stands as a monument to the enterprise of the Brady citizenship.

Churches Are Beautiful.

The beautiful church edifices, the new $50,000 high school building, just completed and dedicated at the opening of the fall term of school and the many modern residences, famed for their individual and ornamental style of architecture, betoken the fact that Brady is peopled with home-lovers, home-builders and builders of home institutions. This spirit is being aided and fostered in a number of ways. The Brady Building and Loan Association, organized with a capital stock of $5,000,000, is assisting young men in becoming home-builders and home-owners, and is incidentally providing a secure investment proposition for the citizenship. The Brady Civic League is fostering the improvement and beautifying of home places and surroundings with "Brady beautiful" contests, in which prizes are offered annually for the most beautiful shrubs, vines and home surroundings. The Parent-Teacher Association is active in promoting the interests and welfare of the schools and school children.

One of Brady's greatest assets is her wonderful artesian water well, which developed an inexhaustible supply of soft, pure water, absolutely free of mineral taint and with a known capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute, thus giving Brady the finest water in the State, both as to quality and quantity. This well is 2,112 feet deep and has 650 feet of sand. The course of this water is known and it would be a simple matter to increase the water supply through the drilling of additional wells when needed.

Officials Progressive.

While Brady continues to operate under an aldermanic form of government, yet its officials are progressive to the last degree and are constant in their efforts to advance Brady's welfare. A great degree of success has been attained in the direction of municipal ownership of utilities and public enterprises. The water and light plant is municipally owned and operated, as are also the bathhouse and swimming pool, the tourist park, the cemetery, and last but not least, the famous Brady Municipal Band. Wherever the Brady citizens go there goes the Brady Band—a prize winner at the San Angelo convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and which has just returned from Galveston as official representative of the city of Brady at the State American Legion convention. Municipally supported, this band is composed of thirty-five pieces, with a junior organization of forty pieces to supplement it and to provide material for the continued upbuilding of the band in future years.

And with all this, Brady's tax rate, as compared with towns of like or greater size and importance, is low, for its patriotic citizenship is united in an endeavor to give back to the people the greatest measure of returns for the money derived from taxation.

Brady is Alive.

So there is the proof that Brady is up and doing, alive and growing and that its citizenship is keeping to the fore front in the march of progress. The town's activities are centered in its Chamber of Commerce, a virile organization, and which has the support and full co-operation, not only of practically the entire citizenship, but of the Brady City Council, the Brady Luncheon Club, the Parent-Teacher Association and the several other organizations whose efforts are being devoted to Brady's welfare. What better evidence of the citizens' faith in their home town and its future?

Thus Brady is a town which has appeal not only for its own citizens, but for the home secker and visitor as well. Devoid of mushroom growth, Brady has been building steadily and constantly upon the firm foundation of growth of its local institutions and development of the country which it serves. Its compress, oil mills, industrial enterprises, its four wholesale houses drawing trade to Brady from far inland points, its tremendous marketing and shipping—all these give employment and business opportunities and aid in the making of its citizens of the future by keeping the home boys and girls at home.

Nothing to Dislike.

Now, when it comes to what I don't like, I make bold to say there is nothing about Brady I truly dislike. There are a number of things I would like to see accomplished, many improvements I would like to see made, perhaps some things I would like to see done away with. But they constitute the work before us, they are the tasks and undertakings we have set for ourselves, they provide the goal that unites the citizenship and instills into them the need of earnest, conscientious, co-operative effort. Without them the citizenship would stagnate and the city cease to grow. In fact, the following program, outlined by the Brady Chamber of Commerce for its coming year's work, includes the essentials and is one to which every Brady citizen may subscribe, viz: The building of a municipal auditorium, paving of the streets in the business section, extension of the sewerage system to the resident section, a campaign to build several miles of cement walks, city free mail delivery, reduction of water and light rates to the lowest possible point consistent with good business judgment, elimination of public expense not necessary to civic welfare, municipal operation of street sprinkler, municipal supervision of athletics and the reduction of the fire insurance key rate of the city by means of the replacing of small water mains with mains of regulation size. Here is a program that calls for constructive citizenship, for earnest, united teamwork, for the best that is in every citizen. And, judging the future by the accomplishments of the past, we can say truthfully and confidently—it will be done!

VOCA VOICES.

Voca School Opened Monday, 15th—Light Attendance Probable.
 Voca, Texas, Oct. 17th, 1923.
 Editor Brady Standard:
 Here I come again after a few weeks' absence.
 We are having some very disagreeable weather for the past three or four days. It is very bad on the cotton, but is putting the pastures in fine shape for winter use. The farmers would be glad to see it clear up for a few days so as to finish up what cotton they have to pick.
 The Voca school will begin here Monday, October 15th. We have four teachers employed this year. The attendance seems as if it will be light for this term, as some have gone off to school and some are busy picking cotton.
 Miss Myrtle Birk of this place will be our music teacher this year. That is, if she can get a large enough class, and we hope she can, for we sure do need a music teacher.
 On account of bad weather, they did not get to have church here Saturday night and Sunday and also Sunday night.
 Mr. M. A. Leddy and Miss Emma attended the Methodist 5th Sunday meeting at Fredonia last Sunday.
 Well, as news is scarce will ring of for this time.

 Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invigorating Effect. 60c.

FIFE FINDINGS.

Rain, Rain—Every Day and Saturday Night and Sunday Too.
 Fife, Texas, Oct. 16th, 1923.
 Editor Brady Standard:
 Several of the residents of this place just returned in time from cotton picking to miss being out in the rain and start their children to school at the beginning of the term, October 15th. The attendance was about 40 for the first day, rather light on account of weather conditions.

There will probably be 75 bales of cotton to pick here yet this year. The rain has done considerable damage. There will be a large acreage planted in grain here this year for the pasturage it affords, and the probable grain yield. This year promises to be a fine small grain season.

The road work is progressing nicely, but was halted for a few days by the weather conditions being uncomfortable.

The P. O. Department is in distress about the late fad of placing the return on the back of the letters in place of the left hand upper corner, where it should be.

The news is very scarce this week—no one on the sick list, and no weddings of late, therefore nothing of interest to write about.

ROBS CALOMEL OF NAUSEA & DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved — Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. Perfected Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern science is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines thus enters upon a wider field of popularity, purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headaches and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy, but its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One Calotab at bedtime with a swallow of water,—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified system and a big appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, trial size. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—(Adv.)

What I Like and What I Don't Like About My Home Town

If the editor of the Dallas News should write you requesting that you prepare an article for publication in the News on the subject of "What I Like and What I Don't Like About My Home Town," and then limited you to a column and a half to say all you wanted to say, just what would you write? Then, further, if he asked you to accompany your article with a photo of yourself—what then? That is the way he put the proposition up to The Standard editor! We went to the photographer and asked him to have mercy on us, and then composed the following. Does it meet with your ideas—or what would you have said, and done?

To the casual reader there is, perhaps, a general sameness in the various reasons advanced as to why a person particularly likes his own home town. A splendid citizenship; good schools and churches, contributing to highest moral standards among the inhabitants; a location, which, to the citizen's own mind, is the garden spot of the universe—these are the main essentials, and the requirements which every town must possess in order to qualify as a real home town.

But, while these points may be all-sufficient to the man who is truly in love with his home town, to the man seeking a new location, there are other and many more important points to be considered. There is the question of a pure and adequate supply of water; a tax rate which is sufficient to enable the city to grow and build and improve—in other words, to keep pace with the world of progress—and yet which is not so high as to prove burdensome to the citizenship; opportunities for business success; the privilege of establishing a permanent residence by becoming a home-owner; a climate which shall be conducive to good health, and the many comforts and conveniences which mean the enjoyment of life to its fullest extent.

Such a place is Brady, Texas.

Brady Well Located.

Located just below the Colorado river, which forms the northern boundary line of McCulloch county, and on the verdant banks of Brady creek, and with the San Saba river crossing the county just a few miles to the south, Brady is the entrance to that wonderfully picturesque portion of Southwest Texas, so rich in possibilities and undeveloped resources, and which as yet are practically untouched. Brady occupies the unique position of being the geographical center of Texas; hence it is known as the "Heart of Texas," but the term is all the more significant since so many of the good things that are wanted in life are to be found here.

Served by both the Frisco and the Santa Fe railways and, as well, being the junction of four great highways, two of which are officially designated as major highways and are included in the 7 per cent highway system of the State, Brady has direct connection with the market centers of the United States, and as well with points on the Pacific and Gulf coasts and the Mexican border. Auto bus lines connect with San Angelo, Ballinger, Coleman, Brownwood, Mason, Fredericksburg and San Antonio, making Brady one of the most accessible points in Texas. By automobile, Dallas is nine hours, San Antonio six hours and San Angelo three hours distant.

Altitude of 1,750 Feet.

With an altitude of 1,750 feet, the summers here are comparatively cool, and the winters are usually mild, making for an ideal climate. Sparkling streams and wildwood fastnesses lying just beyond in the country to the southwest, make Brady the gateway to all fine fishing and hunting grounds so sought after by the tourists, and the first day of August 183 tourists were registered in a twenty-four hour period, indicating how popular this section is with those seeking recreation and enjoyment. To care for this great volume of tourist travel, Brady has provided one of the best tourist parks in West Texas, located in a shady pecan and elm grove, along the banks of Brady creek, with a screened-in camp house, free water and lights over the entire grounds, tables and seats for the comfort of campers, together with Dutch ovens, a barbecue pit and wood provided for their free use and a park-keeper to look after their care and comfort. Adjoining, is a fine swimming pool, with dressing-rooms, showers and an attendant.

Union Station Attractive.

Coming to Brady by rail, when the visitor first steps from the train, he is at once most favorably impressed with the attractive union station, an inviting building of light-colored face brick, with red tile roof, surrounded by brick walks and driveway, the velvety lawns studded with ornamental flower beds, trees and shrubs, and set off with gleaming white curbs. And in the short drive of three blocks to the heart of the business section, the first impression becomes a lasting one, as the imposing courthouse, built of native yellow sandstone, is revealed in the center of the public square, with a well-shaded park, set with flower beds, surrounded by a great oval sweep of cement walks leading to the four entrances of the courthouse. The ornamental ladies' restroom, built of substantial reinforced concrete, and nestling among the trees of the park, indicates that the comfort and conveniences of visitors had not been overlooked.

Clean, dustless streets, with ornamental "white way" throughout the business section, and with electric lights along the main streets leading to the various residential sections of the city, add their mite to the inviting appearance of the city. New business buildings, modern in every detail, are to be seen on every hand, and on the north-west corner of the square looms the new three-story fireproof $100,000 Brady hotel, now nearing completion, and which stands as a monument to the enterprise of the Brady citizenship.

Churches Are Beautiful.

The beautiful church edifices, the new $50,000 high school building, just completed and dedicated at the opening of the fall term of school and the many modern residences, famed for their individual and ornamental style of architecture, bespeak the fact that Brady is peopled with home-lovers, home-builders and builders of home institutions. This spirit is being aided and fostered in a number of ways. The Brady Building and Loan Association, organized with a capital stock of $5,000,000, is assisting young men in becoming home-builders and home-owners, and is incidentally providing a secure investment proposition for the citizenry. The Brady Civic League is fostering the improvement and beautifying of home places and surroundings with "Brady beautiful" contests, in which prizes are offered annually for the most beautiful shrubs, vines and home surroundings. The Parent-Teacher Association is active in promoting the interests and welfare of the schools and school children.

One of Brady's greatest assets is her wonderful artesian water well, which developed an inexhaustible supply of soft, pure water, absolutely free of mineral taint and with a known capacity of 1,000 gallons per minute, thus giving Brady the finest water in the State, both as to quality and quantity. This well is 2,112 feet deep and has 650 feet of sand. The course of this water is known and it would be a simple matter to increase the water supply through the drilling of additional wells when needed.

Officials Progressive.

While Brady continues to operate under an aldermanic form of government, yet its officials are progressive to the last degree and are constant in their efforts to advance Brady's welfare. A great degree of success has been attained in the direction of municipal ownership of utilities and public enterprises. The water and light plant is municipally owned and operated, as are also the bathhouse and swimming pool, the tourist park, the cemetery, and last but not least, the famous Brady Municipal Band. Wherever the Brady citizens go there goes the Brady Band—a prize winner at the San Angelo convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and which has just returned from Galveston as official representative of the city of Brady at the State American Legion convention. Municipally supported, this band is composed of thirty-five pieces, with a junior organization of forty pieces to supplement it and to provide material for the continued upbuilding of the land in future years.

And with all this, Brady's tax rate, as compared with towns of like or greater size and importance, is low, for its patriotic citizenship is united in an endeavor to give back to the people the greatest measure of returns for the money derived from taxation.

Brady is Alive.

So there is the proof that Brady is up and doing, alive and growing and that its citizenship is keeping to the fore front in the march of progress. The town's activities are centered in its Chamber of Commerce, a virile organization, and which has the support and full co-operation, not only of practically the entire citizenship, but of the Brady City Council, the Brady Luncheon Club, the Parent-Teacher Association and the several other organizations whose efforts are being devoted to Brady's welfare. What better evidence of the citizens' faith in their home town and its future?

Thus Brady is a town which has appeal not only for its own citizens, but for the home secker and visitor

as well. Devoid of mushroom growth, Brady has been building steadily and constantly upon the firm foundation of growth of its local institutions and development of the country which it serves. Its compress, oil mills, industrial enterprises, its four wholesale houses drawing trade to Brady from far inland points, its tremendous marketing and shipping—all these give employment and business opportunities and aid in the making of its citizens of the future by keeping the home boys and girls at home.

Nothing to Dislike.

Now, when it comes to what I don't like, I make bold to say there is nothing about Brady I truly dislike. There are a number of things I would like to see accomplished, many improvements—I would like to see made, perhaps some things I would like to see done away with. But they constitute the work before us, they are the tasks and undertakings we have set for ourselves, they provide the goal that unites the citizenship and instills into them the need of earnest, conscientious, co-operative effort. Without them the citizenship would stagnate and the city cease to grow. In fact, the following program, outlined by the Brady Chamber of Commerce for its coming year's work, includes the essentials and is one to which every Brady citizen may subscribe, viz: The building of a municipal auditorium, paving of the streets in the business section, extension of the sewerage system to the resident section, a campaign to build several miles of cement walks, city free mail delivery, reduction of water and light rates to the lowest possible point consistent with good business judgement, elimination of public expense not necessary to civic welfare, municipal operation of street sprinkler, municipal supervision of athletics and the reduction of the fire insurance key rate of the city by means of the replacing of small water mains with mains of regulation size. Here is a program that calls for constructive citizenship, for earnest, united teamwork, for the best that is in every citizen. And, judging the future by the accomplishments of the past, we can say truthfully and confidently—it will be done!

BRADY, TEX. OCT. 19, 1923

"Buy it made in Brady," is a slogan which should be practiced, as we preach it.

THE PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.

The Standard wishes to direct attention to the program of activities announced by the Brady Parent-Teachers association for the coming year, and to heartily commend the same to the Brady citizenship and to urge the whole-hearted support of their patriotic efforts. The Parent-Teachers association has already done a wonderful work for the Brady schools, but the more they do, the more opportunities are presented for doing even a greater work.

Just now there is imperative need of beautifying the new high school grounds. Just stop and think what a beauty spot that great campus could be made into, if the Parent-Teachers association is enabled to carry out its plans. Setting upon an eminence overlooking all parts of the city, the Brady high school grounds offer wonderful possibilities for landscape gardening. What could offer greater appeal to every citizen, young and old, man, woman or child, than this beautifying plan. Then, too, it is the association's desire to add playground equipment at the Grammar school. It must be remembered that the former high school is now a grade school, and that there is much to be done in the way of furnishing play-ground equipment at this school.

To really appreciate what the Parent-Teachers association means to the town, a study of their past achievements would prove most illuminating. The aid and assistance you give the Parent-Teachers association now may be likened unto the proverbial bread cast upon the waters—it will be returned unto you in a more beautiful city, a better citizenship, and stronger, more virile and more enterprising men and women of the coming generations.

WHAT MAKES A BETTER TOWN.

Some towns, like "Topsy," just grow. Other towns are made to grow! Better still, they are built according to blue print, and carefully prepared plans and specifications. Personally, we would rather have had a hand in the making of a better town and a better community, than to be a creature of circumstance. There is something inspiring in working for greater and better things for the old home town. It is a spirit akin to that of the artist who takes a shapeless mass of clay, and with brains and skill, shapes the mass into a wonderful creation that inspires both attention and admiration upon the part of even the most casual on-looker.

Even so is the spirit of the town-builder. To see a town's needs, and to help it towards its ultimate goal, is to build a monument that shall endure even beyond the memory of one's name.

After all, it is one's deeds that are remembered, more so than one's face or name. Would Edison's name be revered throughout the world, but for the wonderful things he gave so freely to the world? Would Luther Burbank be known in every land, but for his wonderful creations in the plant world? It is their service to mankind that makes them truly great.

It is good to remember that "he profits most, who serves best."

WHAT DO YOU MAKE OF HOME?

What are you making of your home—a place to go away from?

Giving it less and less attention and shorter periods of your presence?

Is your home merely a place to eat, and sleep and hurriedly dress in and then get out again?

Do you ever have oldtime happy gatherings in the early evenings, when all the family are given the privilege of freedom of speech and action?

Do the members of your family follow your example and hurry to it only so that they can make an earlier start to go somewhere else?

Have you lost the desire to buy pretty things for the home, lost your ambition to sleek up the premises, because you have so many outside interests and around it so little that you are not much interested in how it looks?

Are you losing your love of home because you love ease better?

What you are just beginning to realize in this matter has been apparent to your neighbors and your family for many a long day.

She was a maid who had been with the doctor for years, and the habitual expressions of those years could not easily be laid aside.

When the doctor died she remained at the house. An old friend of the doctor, who had been abroad and had not heard of his death, called and was admitted.

"I would like to see Dr. B.," he said.

"I'm sorry," said the maid, "but the doctor is dead."

Stricken by this intelligence, the visitor sat silent for a minute, when the maid said: "Will you—will you—wait?"—Boston Transcript.

The Writing Lady
By ELLA SAUNDERS

(© 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

"MISS MARTIN, we're powerful glad to see you here again," said kindly Mrs. Pringle.

Doris Martin descended at the door of the farm house happily. She was always happy to get back to queer, simple, isolated Pleasant Valley, among these delightful, primitive people.

Doris Martin was an author, and quite a famous one. "The writing lady," they called her in the little settlement. She had spent the summer before in the valley and had embodied her experiences in a novel that had run into fifty thousand.

Queer, lovable people she had made them. There was old Silas Grigg, the deacon, an inimitable character who had really been the success of the book. There were half the young men and young women of the valley. And above all there was Mrs. Pringle.

Elizabeth Pringle, the kindly, middle-aged woman who was now welcoming her so hospitably, so ignorant of the fact that she, with the deacon, formed one of the central characters of the novel. Everything that was Elizabeth Pringle had gone into Doris' book, her queer ways, her homely speech, her simplicity.

Yes, Mrs. Pringle had been a find indeed. There were few Mrs. Pringles anywhere but in Pleasant Valley.

For a few moments, as Doris entered the pleasant, homely little sitting room, as they called it locally, her heart misgave her. She felt that she had been guilty of a sort of treachery to her kind hostess to embody her in the novel—no, not to embody her, but to make gentle ridicule of her in the way she had done.

Still, it was for the sake of art. That fact consoled her. It was legitimate to use all material that came one's way.

And then it was not as if Mrs. Pringle would ever know. Books never came into Pleasant Valley—at least, Doris Martin had never seen any, except the Bible and hymn books. If Mrs. Pringle did ever learn—Doris shuddered to think how she would feel. Very badly, undoubtedly. But there was no chance of that.

Mrs. Pringle was kinder than ever and treated her more respectfully than ever. And it was really quite like a scene out of her own book when Deacon Grigg came in after supper and sat with them in the little low-ceilinged room, talking of the crops and the flocks, and detailing the local news.

And then the real secret came out. "Yes, Marn, Mrs. Pringle and me aims to get married next month after the corn's been stacked. We've been kind of courting"—he glanced shyly at Mrs. Pringle—"off and on these three years past, and we allow we're old enough to know our own minds."

"I congratulate you very sincerely," said Doris; and she thought she simply must get this scene into her next novel.

Deacon Grigg's next words left Doris cold and quivering.

"We was reading that there book you wrote, Miss, 'Happy Valley,'" he said. "Mrs. Pringle and me used to set here a-reading it over the stove night after night last winter. And laugh—say, we laughed fit to split ourselves, seeing all the queer characters you got into it—old Hank, the liveryman, and Miss Jane, the school teacher. And we had to let 'em all read it after we got through."

Doris sat like a stone, overcome with horror. She had never dreamed that these people would discover her novel.

"It's good and true, Miss," said Deacon Grigg, "and I guess you ain't got such a long way to go now before you git to the top of the tree in this here writing business. Lord, how we laughed when you brought in them funny sayings of mine and Mrs. Pringle here. That's what I calls a real book, Miss Martin, a book that makes folks feel and think and reckonize themselves, not this sort of trash that so many authors writes."

Mrs. Pringle nodded and whispered, and the deacon changed the subject. A little later Doris rose to go to bed.

But she sat in her room a long time, half-stunned still to think that they had read her book, and had taken it all so kindly.

"My next novel of Pleasant Valley will be a real one," Doris said.

For she felt that at last she had come to understand the valley as she had not done before.

RECORD BREAKING ATTENDANCE AT MEETING PARENT-TEACHERS CLUB WEDNESDAY

The Parent-Teachers association met in a business and social meeting at the new high school auditorium, Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, with a record breaking attendance.

Mrs. E. A. Burrows, president of the association, was in the chair.

The meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. After roll call and reading of the minutes, a drive for new members was made, resulting in 41 names being added to the roll.

The first grade pupils of Miss Rawlings, won the prize for having the greatest number of mothers present at the meeting.

Mesdames, F. R. Wulff, A. B. Carrithers, Jim Mann, and Wm. C. Jones were elected delegates to the State convention of the Texas Congress of Mothers to be held at Tyler November 21 to 23rd.

The Club voted to beautify the High school ground and add much needed improvements to the Grammar school, such as play ground apparatus, as part of the year's program.

After adjournment of the business session, a program and social hour was enjoyed.

Miss Banister gave a very pleasing piano number. Miss Neel's reading, was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Bowles talked on "The Aims of the Parent-Teachers association." Mrs. Bowles is an eloquent speaker, and all mothers of Brady failing to hear her, certainly missed a treat.

A refreshment plate of cake and chocolate was served in the Domestic science room, which had been attractively decorated for the occasion.

What is a Parent-Teachers association?

"The only organization in the state that works exclusively for child welfare."

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping."

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine."

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs."

"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time."

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you.

Exhibits in Profusion

Everything is ready for the opening of the thirty-seventh State Fair of Texas at Dallas, Saturday, Oct.
13, for the sixteen days' exposition of 1923. The grounds are in the finest condition, it is declared, and the program is replete with new amusement features.

In full keeping, there has never been a larger or more varied list of fine cattle; of poultry and pet stock, swine, sheep and goats. The barns, on the basis of entries in hand to
Oct. 1, will be filled to overflowing.
It is asserted, County and agricultural exhibits are also larger and more representative of the State's production possibilities.

All the latest model cars will be seen in the automobile show, and "action displays" in large number will feature the manufacturers' division of the new Automobile and Manufacturers' building. More than thirty acres of space will be occupied by the interesting, instructive demonstrations of farm machinery and power devices.

The big features of this year's Fair will include the seven days' race meet—six running races daily, on Oct. 13, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20,
and the Rodeo, depicting cowboy
sports of pioneer days in Texas, Oct.
21 to Oct. 23, inclusive. A horse show will be given on the nights of Oct. 22 and Oct. 23, and there will be three days' kennel show of high-bred dogs.

The "Marigold Garden Revue," a big musical extravaganza, with a company of seventy-five people, beautiful costumes and magnificent scenery, will be offered in the Coliseum, with Art Landry's big Chicago jazz band and many other features. Before the grandstand each night "India," the fireworks spectacle of the famed Durbar of Delhi, with a company of 500 people and a herd of elephants will be given and each afternoon and evening there will be more than twenty circus acts, including acrobatics, aerial work, tumblers, etc., with at least two big trained animal acts.

Seven football games are scheduled for athletic stadium, chief of which will be A. & M.-Sewanee, Oct.
13, and Texas-Vanderbilt, Oct. 20.

Low round-trip rates have been granted by all Texas railroad lines, particularly for the three week-ends,

each of the three Saturdays. Returning, visitors may leave Dallas as late as midnight the following Sunday nights.

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF TEXAS CONSTITUTIONS—7TH SINCE INDEPENDENCE

By L. B. Russell in Comanche Enterprise.

Texas, since her first revolt against Mexican tyranny, has had seven constitutions, four of which have been formulated within my own recollection.

The first was not known by that name, but was a constitution, nevertheless. It was known as the "Plan and Powers of the Provisional Government of Texas." It was formed in a convention of delegates from the several municipalities, as what are now known as counties were then designated, who assembled October 17, 1835, at San Felipe de Austin, and the articles of government were signed November 13th. Henry Smith was elected Provisional Governor. The declared purpose of this government was to support the Mexican national constitution, which had been violated by the military authorities. It called on the other Mexican states to join Texas in this movement.

But the other states did not respond, and the action of this convention only served to increase the friction between the Texans and Mexicans. The consequence was that another convention was held in the following spring, resulting in the Declaration of Independence on March 2, 1836, and the formulation of the Constitution of the Republic, which latter was signed March 17, 1836. Under this instrument Texas fought for her independence, culminating in the route of Santa Ana and his army at San Jacinto April 21, 1836.

Preparatory to annexation to the United States, the Constitution of 1845 was adopted, and as stated in another article, the state government was fully organized and completed February 19, 1846.

When Lincoln was elected President of the United States in November, 1860, a movement was at once begun for seceding from the Union. The Secession Convention was held at Austin, its first meeting being on February 2, 1861, which formulated a declaration of the causes which led to secession, and the submission of an ordinance to the people. The election was held during the same month, and the vote being overwhelmingly in favor of secession, the Convention met at an adjourned meeting March 2, 1861, ratified secession and deposed Governor Sam Houston, who had opposed the convention as being contrary to law. Edward Clark, the incumbent Lieutenant Governor was installed in Houston's place. The constitution of 1845 was also reshaped to fit the conditions of slavery and adherence to the Confederate States, and four years of war ensued.

When Lee surrendered in April, 1865, the conservative element of the population desired to re-instate the state in the Union, and it was believed that this could be done promptly and the status quo restored. Another convention was called together in 1866, the old constitution of 1845 was re-adopted with some minor changes in the form of subordinate civil officers, and Throckmorton was elected governor, with F. S. Stockdale lieutenant governor.

But all this was done under the conciliatory policy of President Andrew Johnson, who, it will be remembered, became President by succession as the incumbent vice-president, after Lincoln's assassination. Johnson, however, failed to receive the support of Congress, with the majority of whom feeling ran high and bitter. Johnson was called upon to answer charges of impeachment and narrowly escaped impeachment by only one vote. The Congress passed a reconstruction act, under which all persons who had aided or abetted secession were disfranchised, and Texas was put under military rule until the loyal citizens could have an opportunity of organizing a state government satisfactory to the federal government.

The disfranchisement of the people left the voting power in the hands of the negroes, carpet-baggers and renegades. Under this electorate, another convention was called and the Constitution of 1869 was formulated under which Edmund J. Davis was elected governor. To show the spirit of this document, I quote from its preamble and the first article of the Bill of Rights, as follows:

"We, the people of Texas, acknowledging with gratitude the grace of God in permitting us to make a choice of our form of government, do hereby ordain and establish this constitution;" then under the heading

"Bill of Rights," it goes on: "That the heresies of nullification and secession, which brought the country to grief, may be eliminated from future political discussion, that public order may be restored, private property and human life protected, and the great principles of liberty and equality secured to us and our posterity, we declare," etc.

Inasmuch as probably 90 percent of the people of Texas had been in sympathy with, and in one way or another, aided and abetted the cause of secession, this declaration was a slap in the face of an overwhelming majority. It implied that they were traitors to their country, and put them in the attitude of begging for mercy. The short-sightedness of the leaders who indicted that declaration is wonderful, even to the point of stupidity. The very language served to defeat its own purpose.

Davis was re-elected for a second term, and during the second term, Congress, having satisfied its partisan spirit, was forced by public opinion throughout the nation, to pass a general amnesty act, through which the rights to citizenship were restored to the people of the Southern states. Accordingly, in the next election, Coke was elected governor and Hubbard, lieutenant governor; the legislature was also representative of the general sentiment, and it provided for a constitutional convention to be held in 1875. This convention labored assiduously for four months, and brought forth the present constitution, which is commonly called the constitution of 1876, but it was submitted and adopted in 1875. The legislature elected under it met in January, 1876, in a three months' session, and it is but fair to say that no legislature ever accomplished greater results. The pamphlet acts of that session are a monument to the wisdom and statesmanship of the two bodies which enacted it.

It will soon be fifty years since we had a general overhauling of our fundamental law, and it will not be many years longer before the people will realize that conditions have so changed in that half century that it cannot be further amended with satisfactory results. It is only a matter of time when we shall find ourselves practically compelled to revise the entire document.

"Candidate" is, originally, a Latin word which means "white."
