Best Known Preacher In Texas Visits Us

Eld. J. E. Warlick of Dallas, editor of the Gospel Guide, who is perhaps the best known gospel preacher in Texas, was here a few days this week and preached at nights at the College. Bro. Warlick is comparatively a young man yet, but has done more preaching and debating than any one preacher of the Christian faith, not only in Texas, but throughout the South. He has held more debates with opposing denominations than any one preacher in the state, and is personally acquainted with more of his brethren than any of our preachers.

The writer knew Bro. Warlick many years ago when we were quite small. He used to make his home with our father, when he came to our town to hold a meeting. Right here we remember quite an amusing incident that occurred while he was holding a meeting in Springtown, Texas, in which he figured conspicuously. When he went to his apartment one night, and singing and prayer, he picked up what he thought was a Bible to read his text, but it was from our father's home a copy of "Livingston's Travels in Africa." When Bro. Warlick noticed his mistake, he turned to about the middle of the book and proceeded to read his text, which he quoted from memory, giving chapter and verse. No one knew of the mistake until after we returned home and he had brought the Africa book with him, which he exhibited and enjoyed a good laugh. Bro. Warlick was a young man then, unmarried, but he had applied his mind from the start and before he had obtained his majority he knew the Bible from "lid to civer."

The writer has always considered Bro. Warlick his best friend. He rendered us an inestimable service when quite young, obtaining for us a position in Austin on the Firm Foundation, and afterwards securing a position at Nashville, Tenn., on the Advocate, the later situation we did not take advantage of.

These favors was our foundation as a printer, and of course it is natural that Joe Warlick always remained a favorite with us. He has been constantly in the work for years, and while yet a young man, he has sown the good seed of Christian character here and there, and the harvest has been great. Many thousands have been led to live better lives through his labors, and it has followed as a natural consequence, that this acquaintance in this state should be large, and his friends and admirers as numerous as the sands of the sea.

In conclusion, may he yet be spared many years to labor in the vineyards of his Master, and that in the future, as in the past, may the polar star of his course be the Star of Bethlehem, and that when he comes to the unknown shore, may he behold its matchless glory.

Curlew Continues Crowing.

Regardless of the snows and cold waves, the farmers are making preparation for a bumper crop for 1913. Though the winter has been very dry, they feel like it will be a fine year for the farmer.

Patronize Those Who Advertise

We wish to say that as a rule, which will hold good throughout the country, it will pay the people of any country to do their trading with merchants that advertise in our local papers. The merchants that advertise are always wide awake, and will offer you better bargains than those who never patronize their local paper. In the first place, an advertising merchant carries a line that they must stand behind with their reputation, and you are assured when you buy of them, that you get quality which is very essential in any article you buy, form a spool of thread to a threshing machine.

In the second place, advertising merchants, bankers and business men show their appreciation by asking for your business through their ads. What would you think of a merchant, should you step into his store, and he did not ask you what you wanted, or did show in any way that he cared whether you traded with him or not? You would there and then make up your mind that you did not care a rap whether you spent your money with him or not.

In the third place, a merchant that patronizes his home paper through advertising, is supporting a local enterprise that is considered very essential in the developing of the town and country. Take the town of Silverton, for instance. The business men of that town have let their local paper die for want of patronage, and the town is practically dead. The business of Briscoe county is coming to Lockney as a result, which is a fine thing for us and is only offered as an illustration of what becomes of towns when they take the backward road of progress. In this age of commercial activity, there is no stand-still grounds for a town. They must either go forwards or backwards, hence newspapers, cotton gins, railroads, etc., are essential to the growth of any town, and when they cease to exist, right then the town starts on the back track of progress.

The Beacon is not in a habit of publishing this kind of matter, as its editor has made it a rule to never complain of a lack of patronage, or criticize those who do not see fit to patronize our efforts. As a result we have never lacked for a patronage in any town we have gone into. We have no patience with a whining, begging newspaper man, for such a cause cheapens him with the people, and puts him on the same level with a beggar on our street corners. We never solicit advertising other than from a business standpoint, believing that a dollar invested in advertising is not a gift, but an investment for a merchant that will pay him 100 cents on the dollar. We are well pleased with the advertising we are receiving, and these thoughts are offered in justice to Lockney's wide-awake merchants who are endeavoring to make the town a trading center, through advertising, and it is but justice that they should have preference when you go to buy your goods. Help those who help you; the merchants who advertise are helping you; the Beacon is helping you by keeping the Lockney country before the world, which creates a desire for your land and your products. No prospector will contemplate for a moment locating in a dead town or community, and the dead towns and communities are those who are on the back track of human progress.

Organize Rabbit Club.

Mr. J. M. Carthel, who lives north of town was here Saturday, and he suggests that the farmers and business men organize a rabbit club, and put in 50 cents apiece, and the person killing the largest number of rabbits within a given period of time, get the money. Mr. Carthel says rabbits are so numerous in his section that crops of wheat and oats are being completely destroyed. His suggestion is a good one, and a club in every community should be organized and the rabbits killed out.

Thirty-eight States have ratified the Income Tax measure, which will become the 16th amendment to the Constitution, and will likely become a law at the next extra session. The law will raise about $100,000,000 revenue. It will provide a tax upon all American incomes which are above $4,000 or $5,000 a year.

Mrs. Stevenson Wins First.

Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, of Lockney, has been announced as first prize winner in the contest held by Farm and Ranch for papers embodying ideas for the successful raising of chickens.

Mrs. Stevenson says she began raising chickens on a 40c investment. Her mother gave herself and sisters thirteen Buff Cochin hens, and Mrs. Stevenson paid 40c for an old "bumble-footed" Buff Cochin rooster. From these fourteen chickens sixty-five pullets were grown, besides what chickens the family ate and sold.

"From these sixty hens," Mrs. Stevenson says, "we raised 320 pullets, besides selling eggs and young chickens as friers at the stores to pay grocery bills.

"Then we had a drouth; I had no feed. We sold our entire flock of chickens at 50 cents each and bought seven full-blooded Rhode Island Red chickens, six pullets and one rooster, for seven dollars. From these seven chickens I raised 90 pullets by hand, besides what friers we used, and sold $20 worth at the store.

"With these 90 pullets and nine roosters and the aid of an incubator I raised 500 fine chickens. My incubator and brooder cost me $10. It is supposed to hold 140 eggs, though I often place 160 eggs in it, and hatch every fertile egg.

"Last year I sold all my pullets but 130 and the young roosters that I did not use at 50 cents each. This year the rats ate 400 chickens for me, but I sold $100 worth of eggs and raised 100 chickens, besides what I gave away, and I gave away as many as I used and sold.

"The coming year I will run 100 well-selected hens and 10 roosters, and I will run two 240-egg incubators.

"What I have done any farmer's wife can do. I have never been out but 40 cents on my chickens. They roosted in a goods box and laid in the woodpile until we sold chickens to pay for a small house. They have paid their way, and most of ours, ever since. I regret that I did not keep a correct report of what I have made.

"I have never shown any chickens nor advertised any, yet I have never been able to supply the demand either for eggs for setting purposes or young chickens.

"I have never had a single complaint of my customers either from poor hatches or bad colors in the chickens. I would not take $200 for my chickens I have on hand now.

"I have never been out a penny for feed. The man of the house, though a cowboy in early life, makes an excellent farmer now, and my beautiful red chickens are allowed the range of the farm and live almost wholly on the waste of the farm. We raise hogs, horses and a few cows, kaffir corn, maize, corn, cotton, cane, oats, millet and a beautiful garden. With the table scraps and sour milk and scattered grain my fowls fare sumptuously and lay the year 'round.

"My incubator, without the brooder, cost $7.50. The instructions with it are so plain that a wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein.

"Don't follow other people; follow the instructions given with the machine and you will succeed if your eggs are good.

"Be practical; utilize what you have at home. If you can't get fine chickens, use what you have until you have made money to buy better ones. Begin in a small way. Don't believe everything you see written in poultry papers. Other people's notions may not be practical in your locality. I can tell how to raise chickens on the great Plains of Texas, but it might not work everywhere else."

TWO AUTOS RAN TOGETHER

J. C. Garrison, in His New Ford Collided With an Overland Last Sunday Night.

Last Sunday night, while en-route home from Clovis, New Mexico, when three miles on this side of Plainview, J. C. Garrison was run into by a transient car, which resulted in almost a complete wreck. Mr. Garrison had one coal oil lamp burning, his electric light having gone dead. The other car was running without lights.

The accident occurred on the Plainview and Lockney road, where a farm wagon had been left in the road. Mr. Garrison turned to go around the wagon when he met the other car coming the same way, and they struck head on. In Mr. Garrison's car were A. R. Meriwether and Jefferson Thomas. Mr. Meriwether was thrown clear out of the car through the right side curtains. The other occupants staid in the car, which turned on its side, neither of which were but slightly injured, owing to the fact that both cars were running slow. The Overland was a complete wreck, but its occupants of three or four men escaped uninjured.

This was the worst auto wreck that has happened in this section for a long time, and was a miracle that those in the cars were not seriously injured.

The Man Who Farms Hogs

There is more than one way to market milo maize and kaffir successfully, and one of the best of these ways is to feed them to hogs.

J. F. Connor, who lives northeast of Floydada, is one farmer who has found this out to the material benefit of his pocket book. He recently sold thirty-some-odd head of 7-month old hogs that weighed out 215 lbs., he having let them run in the lots and feed on the waste until the last sixty-five days, making them weigh out as above and bring a price of about $15 apiece. He figures his cost at $6 per head, a profit of $9 net in seven months, or a total of $300. He says that while the price of maize and kaffir remains at 60 to 70 cents a man can clear more money on hogs than on the feed on the market, and he is imminently correct.

This instance is also another proof of the value of maize and kaffir corn as feeders. In all probability very few corn raisers ever made such a remarkable showing with hogs in a seven months' period of time.—Floyd County Hesperian.

Seeds THAT ARE SEED

Put your faith in the best seeds that you can buy and increase your earnings many times per acre. We sell good honest seeds that will prove their worth at harvest time, and have in stock over 500 kinds and varieties for you to choose from, all of which are tested by us. 160 kinds at one time in our seed tester. Here is a seed house right at home that can and will supply you with any variety of seed grown at right prices and at the same time giving you a chance to see them graded, tested, and the use of the powerful microscopes for your assurance of getting just what you pay for. No seed house in the southwest can serve you so well. We are in the market for all high grade, home grown seed that you have to sell. After we buy it, we run it thru the best grader in West Texas, then test it, after we know it to be O. K. we place it on sale at a little more than we pay you for it. CITIZENS APPROVE ASSESSMENT PLAN

Monster Mass Meeting Votes to Raise Bonus for Q. A. & P. by Subscription Based on Wealth.

More than 500 citizens met at the Schick Opera House Monday afternoon to take action for the raising of a bonus of $150,000 for the Q. A. & P. Railway. Judge J. E. Lancaster, at the request of the railroad committee called the meeting to order. B. O. Brown was secretary.

O. M. Unger stated the situation and told what the business men's meeting Thursday night proposed. He read two letters from Judge Decker, Gen. Attorney for the Q. A. & P. Railway, in which Judge Decker stated that the road would have to bear some twenty miles north in order to reach Plainview. Judge Decker's second letter was written January 15, and suggested that Plainview offer $100,000, terminal facilities and right-of-way through the county.

Dr. J. C. Anderson reported for the special committee appointed to arrive at an equal division of the proposed assessment as between real estate, merchandise and personal property. This committee recommended that real estate be assessed 10 per cent and all other property—merchandise, bonds and cash—be assessed 2 1-2 per cent both based on the 1912 rendition for taxes—Hale County Herald.

That Railroad Talk.

The air is full of railroad talk,—the Quanah, Acme & Pacific is the road in the public eye at present. Attorney D. E. Decker has paid the Plainview people a visit and as a result those citizens are attempting to raise a $100,000 bonus, besides right-of-way across their county and city. In a mass meeting Saturday it was stated by one of the spokesmen that after raising this amount the Quanah, Acme & Pacific would favorably consider a proposition to build through their town.

At present it is not known at Floydada what the intentions of the road are. However, representatives of this road have been in Floydada in times past with propositions and our people have not been slow to respond that we are in the ring with the right kind of encouragement any time they get ready to carry their line on through from eastern points.

The steel is being laid on this line out of Paducah to Roaring Springs, having reached a point two miles out from the first named place, and is to be completed in April.

Floydada should not and will not be slow in taking advantage of any opportunity to secure an eastern outlet and our citizenship will not allow this chance to pass them up when the right time comes. Keep that in your memorandum book.—Hesperian.

Judge A. P. McKennon of Hillsboro has located in Floydada and formed a partnership with J. H. Brownlee for the practice of law.

Mrs. Wm. Hackney died at Floydada last Friday and was buried in the cemetery at that place.

F. O. B. TOLEDO, O.

It's Worth More than it Costs You

OF COURSE you admit the value of the automobile for any one who has to go from one place to another—and wants to get there and back quickly. We all agree on that point.

The cost of the automobile is what is worrying you, maybe.

You wonder is it worth the money—to you.

Have you ever noticed that when a man buys an automobile, and, after using it, either in his business or for pleasure, or for both, sells it, always buys another one?

Yes? Well, that's the answer.

Buy an automobile, find out that its price is an investment rather than an expense, and you can't do without it. You wouldn't want to.

Because you will have found that the car is worth more to you than it cost you, that it has added to your capacity of doing business, that it made one hour do the work of three, that the store, the theatre, the folks ten miles away, have suddenly become your next-door neighbors, that it has given a store of health to you and your family.

Which automobile?

The Overland—because it is the best value that money can buy.

Whatever your notions are as to what an automobile should be to do justice to your requirements, whether you value power, comfort, impressive appearance, low cost of upkeep, or the kind of durability—Overland durability—that makes the possession of a car a source of downright satisfaction, you can't afford to consider any automobile without first investigating the new Overland.

At least come and take a look at it. Compare it with others. Let us give you a ride in the big, fully equipped Overland; it involves no obligation on your part. Then draw your own conclusions.—That's all.

Uncle Joe Foster left Thursday for a lecture tour of the State. Uncle Joe will lecture to the Woodmen Lodge, and his lecture will be illustrated with a stereopticon machine. He has 40 lectures booked ahead. We feel quite sure he will make good, and his lectures will be both interesting and profitable.

A bill has been introduced in the Senate and House at Austin, abolishing hazing in our state colleges. The recent action of the board expelling 400 or more students from the A. & M. College, has brought this about. While there is going to be a row about expelling those boys, yet the people of Texas who pay taxes to support these institutions, are opposed to the outrageous conduct of students under guise of hazing, and it must stop. It has gotten to the point that no parent feels safe in sending his boy to the A. & M. to be treated to the "Third degree." Let the A. & M. faculty be upheld though it is forced to close its doors.

Hon. Morris Sheppard has taken up his duties as United States Senator.

COMPETITION RULES IN RATES.

Density of Traffic a Powerful Factor—Stock and Bond Issue not Considered.

Competition is the most powerful factor known in rate making. It recognizes the mandates of the court; it quickly tears to pieces the well balanced tariff sheets of every common carrier that comes under its influence and all other elements that enter into rate making yield to its power. The following map gives a practical illustration of the effect of competition in rate making in Texas:

There are four direct lines of railroad running between Dallas and Houston. The stock and bond issues on these lines vary from $29,103 to $45,022 per mile. The value of these properties according to the Railroad Commission's estimate vary from $15,686 to $29,932 per mile. The assessed values vary from $17,863 to $32,399 per mile. The amount expended upon them by the owners varies from $30,000 to $60,000 per mile; the density of population and traffic is more widely at variance; the railroad mileage varies from 249 to 367 miles, yet the rate from Dallas to Houston via all lines is the same.

SILO SAVES THE FEED

J. O. Gilliam, of Quanah, Gives His Experience to a Kansas City Newspaper.

"When the silo is brought into use in our country, then we will be in a position where we can tide over storms in winter, and feed shortage, and at the same time by keeping one or two of these silos full all summer, a drouth will not disturb us."

J. O. Gilliam of Quanah, Texas, made the above statement in discussing the cattle situation in that part of the state. Mr. Gilliam owns a ranch of 10,000 acres from which he brought a few days ago to these yards a shipment of six carloads of bulls. He is an old rancher, who has been taking note of the change of recent years.

Already several silos have been put up in my neighborhood," Mr. Gilliam continued. "This winter a great many cattle are being fed on kaffir corn, stalk and all, which in most cases is cut up just as it would be put up in the silo. It makes a very good feed but nothing compared with kaffir corn cut that way and converted into silage. We can get these forage crops, and with the silo, we can handle cattle at a very small expense. A section of land at present will not carry more than forty or fifty cattle at the most. Sometimes that number would be too many. But by using about 150 acres for raising feed, and putting it into silos, three times as many cattle can be cared for on every section. By figuring on that basis one can at once see what a vast increase there would be in cattle. Thousands where there are hundreds now. And this is practical and can be done.

ANTI-FEE MEASURE UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Attorney General so Rules, Suggesting Substitute Bill.

Austin, Tex., Jan. 27.—The anti-fee bill which has been under consideration by House and Senate committees, and which caused several hundred county officials to come to Austin to oppose its passage was held this evening by the attorney general's department to be unconstitutional and void.

The opinion was made to the authors of the bill. The attorney general points out that the constitution specifically says that these county officials shall be paid through fees collected from the office.

It is suggested, however, that a new bill may be drawn which will provide fees up to a salary limit, and all in excess shall be turned into the county treasury.

A new bill will be drawn up accordingly which will have the same effect as to regulating the compensation of these officers.

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Floyd County greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. F. Stanford by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 64th Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest district to said 64th Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Floyd county, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Floydada, on the fourth Monday in February, 1913, the same being the 24th day of February, 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 10th day of January, 1913, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court No. 854, wherein Fannie A. Stanford is plaintiff, and J. F. Stanford is defendant, said petition alleging among other things a legal marriage between plaintiff and defendant in Floyd County, Texas on the 24th day of December, 1909, that plaintiff still resides in Floyd County, Texas, and that the residence of the defendant is to plaintiff unknown, that plaintiff and defendant separated on the day of _____, 1910, and the defendant left with the intention of abandonment and has ever since remained away, that plaintiff further alleges and charges in her said petition, cruel treatment, drunkenness, infidelity, a failure to contribute to the support of plaintiff, various insults and vexations, superinduced by reason of the fact that this plaintiff refused to endorse checks, bills and notes for the defendant that he might thereby be enabled to get money on same, that he had no financial judgment and if permitted, would have bankrupted the estate of the plaintiff, that by reason of the aforesaid conduct and treatment, their living together as husband and wife was rendered insupportable. Wherefore plaintiff prays that the defendant be cited to appear at the next regular term of the Hon. District Court of Floyd County, Texas, and answer this petition and that on final hearing hereof she have judgment canceling the said marriage as heretofore existing between the plaintiff and defendant for costs of suit and for relief both general and special as she may be entitled to receive under the facts and the law.
