Give Armistice Day Program Wednesday

Lockney Schools Join American Legion In Celebration of 13th Anniversary of Signing Armistice

Most all the business houses in Lockney were closed during the day here yesterday in commemoration of the 13th anniversary of the signing of the Armistice in the World War.

The American Legion attended the program arranged by the Lockney schools, at the city auditorium, in a body, parading through the streets of the town, and marched to the auditorium for the program.

The program rendered was as follows:

Prof. W. D. Biggers, Superintendent of the Lockney schools, had charge of the program and delivered the invocation, and announced the program, as it was rendered.

Music was furnished throughout the program by the Lockney High School Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Lillian Hoeftlein.

Special numbers on the program were:

Primary Orchestra, from grammar school, sang and played song entitled, "Over There," accompanied by Miss Maenon Meriwether at the piano.

Musical Reading by Mrs. O. E. Stevenson, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Perkins at the piano, and Mrs. J. L. Harris singing the vocal selections.

A flag drill was presented by the pupils from the grammar school.

Dr. C. J. McCollum, member of the American Legion, delivered the principal address for the occasion, speaking on the subject of sustaining peace in the world by cutting out the profits of war.

About five hundred citizens attended the program.

BANK OF CHINA'S FUNDS ARE TAKEN, LEAGUE INFORMED

Cash In Bank of Communications Also Seized

Geneva, Nov. 9.—Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese member of the League of Nations, told the league secretariat Monday night he had been informed in a message from the chief inspector of salt revenue in Manchuria that the Japanese military had seized all funds of the Bank of China and of the Bank of Communications at Chanchun.

"All the funds of the Bank of China and of the Bank of Communications at Chanchun, amounting to $2,600,000, were forcibly removed," this message said, "to the bank of the three Eastern Provinces of Chanchun by a transportation officer authorized by the Japanese military authorities."

Protested In Vain
"We protested in vain. The transportation officer formally notified us Monday that he cannot recognize the salt inspectorate."

This message was from Frederick A. Cleveland and was circulated by the secretariat at the request of Dr. Sze. The bulk of the funds concerned consist of the salt revenue which has been in dispute.

The Chinese charged that the revenue had been seized by the Japanese military, but the Japanese denied the accusation.

Replies to Briand Note
Circulation of this message followed the receipt of replies from China and Japan to a note sent last week by Aristide Briand, president of the League Council.

China reaffirmed that her forces in Manchuria, relying upon the efforts of the league to achieve a peaceful settlement, had avoided wherever possible any aggressive action, and expressed the hope that league members would send representatives to observe the situation on the spot.

CONGRESSMAN JONES HAS GONE TO WASHINGTON

Congressman Marvin Jones, of the 18th Texas District, of which Floyd county is a part, has gone to Washington, D. C., to be ready for the opening of the session of Congress early in December. The Beacon has a letter from Congressman Jones ordering his paper changed from Amarillo to Washington.

Mr. Vandergriff was in Littlefield Tuesday on business.

PRODUCTION OF COTTON HIGHER

619,000 Bales Are Added to Prospective Harvest In South

Washington, Nov. 9.—The crop indicator gauging the Southland's 1931 cotton production today swung violently upward again. A government forecast added 619,000 bales to the prospective harvest—the second largest in history.

With huge surplus supplies, already clogging market channels, the Agriculture Department estimated this year's crop would total 16,903,000 bales, not far below the record of 1926 harvest of 17,977,000 bales.

The increase since that October report was attributed to ideal weather enabling farmers to pick their plants clean. Field loss last month actually was less than average.

Market Drops

Publication of the estimate was followed by a drop of six points in quotations on the New Orleans exchange which was recovered, however, in a later rally. Dispatches told of a general opinion that a big demand for spot cotton would offset the indicated increase in the harvest.

The November estimate is larger than the October forecast for every state except Arizona. The indicated yield is 197.8 pounds per acre. Excellent growing conditions thru the season—topped now by the best harvest weather in years—are responsible for the 1931 bumper crop although acreage was cut by 10 per cent and almost 50 per cent less fertilizer was used.

On August 8, the department's first estimate placed the final return at 15,584,000 bales which sent prices skidding to low levels. Good weather in September boosted the estimate to 15,685,000 and again last month to 16,284,000 bales.

The ginnings of the new crop to Nov. 1 total 12,129,546 bales.

EDD MUNCY BADLY BURNED MONDAY

Monday, about 12 o'clock, Edd Muncy of the Muncy community, had a bad accident, which almost caused his death.

He and his brother, Roy, had been plowing with the tractors and had stopped to eat their lunch. They had set fire to a pile of weeds several feet away and the pile had burned up. After eating their lunch they were filling the tractors with gas when some of the gas blew over Edd and on to the embers, where the weeds were burned, igniting and catching Edd a fire all over. He lay down and began to roll over but saw that would not do, so he lay flat on the ground and began crawling, and his brother, Roy, jumped a straddle of him and pilde loose dirt on him until they had distinguished the fire.

He is a solid blister from his head to his knees and would have burned to death if it had not been for the presence of mind and Roy there to help him.

Dr. Greer was called immediately and thinks he will be out of danger in a few days if some complications does not set up. He did not inhale any of the fire, but is badly burned.

Steal Car and Strip It

The car belonging to Ray Adams was stolen from the street in front of his home on West Second Street at an early hour Sunday morning, and carried to a place several miles west of Lockney, where it was stripped of five casings and rims, the battery, and all tools, and the headlights and tail light smashed in and the bulbs taken out of them.

The loss of the car was discovered about nine o'clock Sunday morning and within a short time the car was located. The thieves who stole the car, said to be three or four young men, stopped at a house not far from where they had stripped the car, to get water for the radiator of the car in which they were traveling, they were trailed to Plainview, but so far have not been apprehended.

BILL RAISER IS CAUGHT SOON AFTER PASSING RAISED BILL

A man giving his name as Dewitt Landrum was arrested and lodged in jail by Sheriff J. M. Wright in Floydada Monday of this week on a charge of raising the amount of a bill, or swindling.

The bill was passed on Mr. T. M. Law, storekeeper at Mayview, east of Floydada on the Matador highway. The man, who was walking, stopped at the store and bought a ten cent package of smoking tobacco, and presented a ten dollar bill to the store keeper, who gave him the tobacco and nine dollars and ninety cents in change. A few minutes later a Mr. Jones, who sells gasoline, arrived at the station with a tank of gasoline, and after emptying the gasoline, was paid off by Mr. Law, who gave him the ten dollar bill, which Mr. Jones noticed was a bad bill, and asked Mr. Law where he got the bill, and Mr. Law pointed to the man who was walking toward Floydada on the highway and said he gave him the bill, whereupon Mr. Jones told Mr. Law to get in his car and go a round about way to Floydada and get the sheriff, and that he, Mr. Jones, would pick the man up in his truck and haul him into Floydada. Mr. Law beat the truck to town and Sheriff Wright was awaiting the arrival of Mr. Jones and Mr. Landrum, and upon arrival placed Mr. Landrum in jail, and wired the U. S. Marshall at Dallas. Tuesday morning a U. S. Deputy arrived here to take charge of the prisoner, as the case will be turned over to the Federal court.

The bill passed was a ten dollar bill on one side and a one dollar bill on the other side. This was done by splitting a ten dollar bill and a one dollar bill, then pasting one half of the one dollar bill on one half of the ten dollar bill, thus making two bills which showed ten dollars on one side and one dollar on the other, in passing the money of course the man always presented the bills with the ten dollar side up, and in this way he would receive twenty dollars for the eleven dollars in bills, or a profit of nine dollars for his troubles in splitting and passing the bills. When arrested he had a bottle of glue and some knives that he used in splitting and gluing the bills together with.

THROAT OF LUBBOCK MAN IS CUT BY CAR

Lubbock, Nov. 9.—J. W. Luke, 41 years old, who is being treated in a Lubbock sanitarium for an ear practically severed and a trachea split open, is the victim of his automobile and a barbed-wire fence.

Luke, resident of Bula, in Bailey county, cranked his automobile while it was in gear. The machine jammed him against the fence and he was rescued by his wife after his throat was slit from ear to ear. He is expected to recover.

Tax on Income Seems Certain To Be Imposed

Overhauling State Taxation System Will Start Today

Austin, Texas, Nov. 11.—The Legislature Tax Survey Committee created to plan an overhauling of the State's tax system will get under full headway Thursday. Then begins a series of hearings of the representatives of industries and organizations. The committee is made up of Senator O'Neal of Wichita county, Senator Gainer of Brazos county, and Senator Williamson of Bexar county, and, on the part of the House, Representative Weinert of Guadalupe county, Representative Barron of Grayson county, Representative Gilbert of Eastland county, and Representative Moffett of Hardeman county.

Senator O'Neal is chairman of the committee and Mr. Barron secretary. A good deal of preparatory work has been done under direction of Mr. Barron, aided by Mr. Weinert and Senator Gainer. Copies of the tax laws of most of the States have been obtained, together with explanations and suggestions of their tax authorities. Also all members of the present Legislature have been asked to submit ideas and a large number have already done so.

This data, together with the suggestions which will come of the hearings and with the facts to be found in the records of the State, will constitute the raw material out of which the committee will fabricate a plan of taxation designed, in the phrase of the resolution creating the committee "to make a reality of her constitutional provision that 'taxes shall be equal and uniform.'"

The notorious lack of that constitutional requisite in the present scheme of taxation is the prompting of the project which has been committed to the Legislature Tax Survey Committee. But not altogether, there is an emergency element in the undertaking in the fact that the present scheme of taxation is no less inadequate in its supply than inequitable in its working. There was a deficit in the general revenue fund of more than $5,000,000 at the end of the last fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1931, and there will be a greater one at the end of the next fiscal year, if the most careful and conservative estimate that has been made is not belied. Thus it is a double task that the committee has to perform—one to get more revenue and the other to get it in a manner which will more evenly distribute the burden of supporting the State Government and its institutions.

Existing Scheme of Taxation

Numerous levies make up the State's scheme of taxation now. These are the ad valorem property tax, the franchise tax, the gross receipt tax, the occupation tax, the inheritance tax, the poll tax and the sales tax. The gross receipts tax is in some instances of its levy, in the nature of a severance tax, being a toll taken on the private production of natural resources, notably oil, natural gas and sulphur. The sales tax is employed in three instances, that of gasoline, cigarettes and cement.

Of those several levies all but two contribute to both the general revenue fund and the available school fund. One of these two is the inheritance tax and the other the gasoline sales tax, and this last contributes to the available school fund, but not to the general revenue fund. In addition to these levies, certain license charges are imposed, of which the most notable example is the automobile license, which, however, contributes nothing to either the general revenue or the available school fund. There are also several fees of service that are exacted, most of which contribute to special funds.

Would Apportion Equitably

It is not thought to be likely that the committee will recommend the discontinuance of any of these levies, immediately at least. As to all except the ad valorem property tax, the problem will be rather to apportion their toll more equitably. But while it is not thought likely that the committee will propose an immediate discontinuance of the property tax for State purposes, it is every where taken for granted that it will formulate a plan of taxation contemplating an immediate lessening of that particular toll and eventually the abolition of it.

In the general election next November a constitutional amendment exempting $3,000 of taxable values of homesteads from ad valorem taxation for State purpose will be voted on. Its adoption is regarded as certain by everyone. There is no data for making anything like a calculation of the amount of revenue the State will be deprived of by the adoption of that amendment, but the consensus of those best informed is that it will be at least $8,000,000, of which half will be borne by the general revenue fund, in which case that fund's receipts from the property tax would not be much in excess of $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 annually. Add that loss of revenue to the existing deficiency that has to be made up and it will be seen that a new and considerable source of income will have to be tapped to supply the need of the State.

Plan to Meet Deficit

The need could be satisfied by increase and extension of some taxes. And it is regarded as likely that the committee will recommend both to some extent. But it is generally conceded that to make up the deficiency and to make possible a more equitable application of those levies the Legislature will have to resort to the income tax. Whether the committee will propose the taxation of only personal incomes of those of corporations as well is a question concerning which no more could be said now than that among members of the Legislature favoring the levy of an income tax, a good many would, for the present at least, restrict it to personal incomes, relying on existing levies to take just toll of corporations.

Whether the income tax will be one of graduated or flat levy is another question to which there can be no certain answer now. The Constitution authorizes the Legislature to levy an income tax, but it does not, in terms at least, authorize it to levy a graduated income tax. Whether the right to levy a graduated income tax is implicit in the authority to levy an income tax is a moot question among lawyers, though most of them, apparently, held to the view that it is. Mr. Barron, on behalf of the committee, has asked the Attorney General for an opinion on this question.

Views on Income Tax

Among those favoring the income tax, there is a considerable number who insist that it be levied contingently on the Legislature's being deprived of authority to levy the property tax. But that insistence encounters two troublesome questions. One is whether the income tax could be safely depended on as a substitute for the property tax. The other is whether an amendment proposing to deprive the Legislature of the authority to levy a property tax would be adopted if submitted. There are a good many who doubt if it would, being so persuaded by the certainty that the pending amendment relieving homesteads of that tax up to $3,000 of assessed value will be adopted.

Their argument is that, with that amendment adopted, it is mostly people and corporations that would then be subject to the property tax and that hence the proposal to abolish it would not enlist a self-interest sufficiently great to command a majority of the votes that would be cast on the proposition. Furber, among those favoring the income tax itself a species of income tax, as the better means of taking toll of corporations, and the property tax is, of course, a condition precedent to the taxation of intangible assets.

Majority for Income Levy

But these are minor questions which though they create a cleavage among those favoring use of the income tax, divide them only in respect to the extent of the use that it is presently expedient to make of it. That some use will be made of it, is pretty well assured. Warrant for this statement is found amply both in the disposition of most members of the committee and in the responses of members of the Legislature to the committee's request for expressions of opinion. Of the large number so far received only three are adverse to the income tax, all the rest favoring it.

Among members of the Tax Survey Committee there is no disposition to make a raid on the corporations. Even if they should decide to recommend a levy on corporation incomes. It is more than likely that the new levy would be in lieu of existing nuclei,

Battle is Reported Along New Sector

Japanese Order Fresh Brigade to Manchurian Front

Tokio, Nov. 11.—Emperor Hirohito ordered a fresh brigade of mixed troops and four naval destroyers to Manchuria Wednesday after Tokio had received information of a battle between Japanese and Chinese troops on a new front.

The Emperor dispatched the troops at the request of Gen. Hanzo Kanaya, chief of the general staff, who communicated with him at Kumamoto, where he is attending army maneuvers.

Admiral Baron Kiyotane, Minister of Marine, who was a member of the Emperor's party at the war games, returned to Tokio because of the increasing gravity of the conflict in Manchuria.

Dispatches received here told of an encounter between Japanese infantry and a party of wandering Chinese cavalry near Kuchengtung Tuesday, in which 300 Chinese and three Japanese were killed. Nine Japanese were wounded.

Fight on New Sector

This is a new sector, 400 miles distant from the Nonni bridgehead, hitherto the center of operations for the two armies.

The War Office announced these new casualties bring Japan's total dead to 129, with 302 wounded. The number of Chinese casualties is not known here, but on the basis of newspaper dispatches from 800 to 1,000 have been killed.

Japan has 15,000 men in Manchuria, against a Chinese force of about 250,000, according to War Office figures, but many of the Chinese are said to have deserted and formed gypsy bands.

Officials announced the fresh troops dispatched to Manchuria will replace a Korean brigade which has been on constant duty there since Sept. 18.

Ships to Port Arthur

The four destroyers were sent from Kure to Japanese-owned Port Arthur, on the southern tip of Manchuria and scene of the great conflict of the Russo-Japanese War. In addition, the naval cruiser Yakuno was ordered from Yokosuko to Sasebo, within striking distance of Manchuria to await further instructions.

Japan has intensified efforts to present her case to the world in a more favorable light. The Government Wednesday furnished all Ambassadors abroad with a statement of the Tokio position and with a list of what Japan terms China's "misdeeds."

NORTHWEST TEXAS METHODIST PARLEY STARTS AT VERNON

Vernon, Nov. 11.—The Northwest Texas Methodist Conference opens here tomorrow. Bishop H. A. Boaz arrived this morning. Hundreds of ministers and laymen poured in this afternoon. At a session of the McMurry College board of directors today, S. M. Jay, Abilene, was elected chairman of the board, succeeding W. J. Fulwiler, who declined election. Dr. J. W. Hunt, president, announced plans made to reduce indebtedness $30,000 in the near future.

Bishop Boaz and the cabinet this afternoon held the first session looking to appointment of preachers. King Vivion, president of Southwestern University, preached the opening sermon tonight.

ATTENDING METHODIST CONFERENCE THIS WEEK

Rev. H. W. Hanks, pastor of Lockney station, and Rev. W. H. Strong and wife, of the Lockney Circuit, of the Methodist church, are in Vernon attending the Methodist Conference for the Northwest Texas District, which convened there this morning. The conference will last over Sunday, and the assignments will be announced on Monday.

rather than supplementary to them. However, it is the prevailing view among those who have given most study to the State's tax problem, that, in the beginning at least, it would be better to rely on a readjustment of existing levies to take toll of the corporations and bring only individuals under the levy on incomes.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

"It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands of our poorest fellow-citizens are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

"In France the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent, upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection, and with its disturbed relations in China.

"It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference (which, happily, no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events.

"Of our own troubles no man can see the end. They are fortunately, as yet, mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the normal forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity."

The paragraphs quoted above were not written yesterday, although they are very much the same sort of thing that many people are saying today. They were printed in Harper's Weekly on October 10, 1857, seventy-four years ago.

If in these seventy-four years there had been no change we would have good ground for pessimism now. But everybody knows that during most of that time this country has experienced good times steadily getting better. What happened before will happen again. From all that we can see and hear we believe that the worst of the present situation is over and that conditions are on the mend. And we are

ASSEMBLIES AND HEALTH

A neglected church, one that is occupied by worshippers only two or three times a week and remains closed the rest of the time, may become distinctly unsanitary, if its sexton is not alert for the welfare of his congregation.

I am not warning my readers to stay away from church—no, not that. An amusement resort may be ten times as malignant, where all sorts of respiratory diseases are present in all stages. But, the theater operator is as a rule, pretty careful to keep his place in a sanitary condition. In constant operation the place is generally swept clean, and the air changed over and over again. I am sorry to say that rural houses of worship are seldom cared for as they should be.

The church where I attend regularly may be cited here, since I am fond of "honest confessions." Our sexton—a young man—makes his living from more remunerative work; the church gets him as cheap as possible—hardly more than five dollars a week. Our indoor nooks are always dusty, and the plunder in choirrooms is laden with dust. The mop isn't known here; the moist cloth, if ever used, I have not been able to discover. Our sexton is the lowest paid official in the church service.

It ought to be otherwise. He should be qualified to do expert sanitary work, and should be paid for the work required of him. We pay an elder about $80 a trip, to come around every three months and check us up morally and financially—about $320 for the four annual visits. Our spare time sexton would drop dead if he were to get one dollar for a harder hour's work!

Sometimes a cheap janitor or sexton costs more in health than the high-priced spiritual supervisor. Think it over.

Special to Lockney Beacon
Washington, D. C., Nov. 3—More activity has been displayed by the White House in the past few weeks than in many months. Congress will meet a month from now and the spotlight will shift to Capitol Hill, especially over the choice of successor to Speaker Nicholas Longworth of the House of Representatives.

Meanwhile the President has been grappling with the immediate problems that are facing the country. Premier Laval's visit here is generally conceded to have been of first importance, not because of anything that was actually accomplished, but because it resulted in a thorough understanding between the two countries regarding their individual aims and purposes.

Before even the leaders of the government of France and the United States clasped hands a definite statement was issued that nothing that might be done or said was to be taken as having a binding effect on either country. That statement disposed of any possible criticism that Mr. Hoover was about to engage in any of the "entangling foreign alliances" that political spellbinders use so effectively in campaigns.

The greatest good accomplished, diplomats here believe, was the clear enunciation on the part of the United States that it would not follow England's example and forsake the gold standard. That was France's greatest anxiety and to prevent such action was understood to be Premier Laval's main object in coming here. It was agreed at the conference that the aim of both countries was identical in desiring to keep international finance on an even keel and that they would work in harmony to prevent any major disturbances.

While statements were issued that politics was not discussed at the conference, nobody believes that either Mr. Hoover or Mr. Laval could keep off the subject entirely. They are both of them too deeply interested in the subject to avoid some remarks, but, whatever they said, it was not disclosed.

Senator Borah did not overlook the chance to grab the political limelight, however, and his interviews granted to the French newspapermen, startled the world until later assurances from the White House made it clear that Borah was speaking only for himself and not for anybody with real authority. Borah is chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, and Europeans consider that post equivalent to the post of foreign minister in their countries.

Nobody in the United States has any false notions about Borah's importance and his demands for a reshaping of the boundaries of Hungary and revision of the lines of the Polish Corridor were not taken by any of the French delegation as being of any importance. The only thing Borah said that the President backed was his declaration that every European nation must be left as the best judges of its own security.

Both the President and M. Laval agreed any action on disarmament must be held up until the international conference is held next year to discuss that subject. They also agreed that the present costs of arming the rival nations has grown to such an extent that the burden is too great to be borne and that good times cannot be expected to return until some solution is found of this problem.

In recent weeks, feelers have been put out for the purpose of sounding public sentiment regarding the imposition of additional sales taxes. So far the only thing learned is that all are agreed that country must raise more revenue in addition to the present means of raising money by income taxes, the customs, inheritance and other forms. Coupled with this is the known fact that sales taxes bear lightest upon the voter, if properly laid.

Right after the war taxes were placed on all theatre tickets, automobiles and other articles which could not be classed as necessities. Most of these have been abolished. Those still surviving are cigarettes, tobaccos, patent medicines, playing cards and a few similar articles. The loss from excess duties on beer, wines and liquors, has been heaviest and, of course, there is no talk of altering that condition by any modification of the Volstead Act by the present government.

The new taxes may be applied on matches, radio sets, pianos, silk wearing apparel and other articles which can be placed outside of the necessity line. This is the only country in the world which does not tax matches, and an enormous revenue can be obtained from them without imposing a burden on the public. It is more than likely that the sales tax will be among the early problems to be acted upon when Congress meets early next month.

Another question occupying the President's attention is his plan to aid home builders. A conference of several hundred leaders in building and allied lines, along with the men who finance such operations, will be held here on Dec. 2. The President is aiding those working on the problem as far as it lies in his power. His aim is to make borrowing easier for those who want to build homes for themselves by cutting the charges, both for interest and commission and making more money available for builders. A quick revival of building operations, it is said, will follow a satisfactory solution of this financial problem.

Dresses this season must be becoming. That is absolutely essential because the time has passed when one might choose a dress that was up to date and smart and let it go at that. To be sure we like to have our dresses reflect the recent fashion trends and most of us insist on smartness. But remember this—a dress cannot really reflect the new smartness unless it is becoming.

After All These Years, What Have We Learned?—By Albert T Reid

Whether you buy it ready made or make it at home yourself your new dress must have that look of individual adaptation characteristic of the dressmaker dress that has been designed expressly to suit the individuality of the woman who wears it.

Collars and sleeves focus our attention this season and the design of these two features of a dress has much to do with its becomingness. Collars are not always cut higher at the front but there is a tendency to fit them more carefully at the side and back. Many of the new dresses for autumn and winter are finished with a narrow band of fur at the neckline. Some of the new dresses are finished with flattering wide revers. Others show a new modified cowl neckline. Sometimes the touch of lingerie takes the form of a lace modesty piece at the point of a deep V-neck line.

More often the touch of lingerie consists of a collar made of lace or satin or chiffon. The one shown in the sketch is of white satin or organdie.

THE NEXT CONGRESS

By Marvin Jones

The next session of congress promises to be an interesting one. The House is almost evenly divided between the two parties.

If the Democrats should organize the House, John N. Garner will be elected Speaker. He has served in Congress for thirty years, knows all of the ins and outs and is the dean of the Texas delegation.

Texas has been in the Union since 1845 and has never had the speaker-ship. It would be a rare pleasure to address a Texas man as speaker for the first time.

Many important questions will be presented. One of the chief of these will be the money question. A little group of men have perverted the Federal Reserve System from its original purpose, and have again centered the money control in the hands of a few men in the East. Chief of these is Mr. Mellon, and his policies have become known as Mellonism.

There are a number of contributing causes to present day conditions, but the chief one is the contraction of the currency. In 1920 there was a per capita circulation of $53.01. According to a late Treasury Report it is $38.62, a reduction of more than 25%. And yet we have one-third more gold than we had in 1920.

When money is scarce, it becomes more valuable because of its scarcity, and property becomes lower in value. Nothing would do more to restore normal conditions than an increase in the volume of money. This would make money more plentiful and would increase the value of property thus stimulating prices of property and products, encouraging trade and furnishing work to a vast number of the unemployed.

Naturally this centralization of money has resulted in mergers, monopolies and the lessening of individual opportunity.

In the meantime some immediate changes need to be made. The lopsided tariff, which is destroying our foreign trade, should be revised.

Provision should be made for taking up the current installments due the Farm Loan Banks and placing them behind the other installments. I introduced a measure a year ago, H. R. 16,258, to do this. Several other members introduced similar measures. But due to the opposition of the bank officials and the administration they were defeated.

These measures will be reintroduced, and in view of a recent statement by the President, indicating that he now recognizes the necessity for such action, it is to be hoped that some such measures will be enacted. This is more important than any foreign moratorium, as home ownership is one of the greatest safeguards of our national life.

The centralization in government and business must be checked. The encouragement of mergers and monopolies should cease, short selling should be stopped, and businesses big as well as little given to understand that they must obey the law.

These are but a few of the subjects that will be presented. Economies should be practiced wherever possible, excessive salaries reduced, a free circulation of money restored, the control of local affairs restored to local people, and Mellonism should be destroyed.

Peanut Butter 6 quarts peanuts 2 oz. salt. Roast the peanuts uniformly brown. Cool. Remove the hearts or germs. (If the germ is left it may cause a bitter flavor). Grind. Add the salt and grind twice again so as to have the salt well distributed. Use the finest burr possible for grinding. Pack in small jars, pressing each time firmly to remove all air bubbles. Pack entirely full, leaving no space between the peanut butter and the lid. Seal. Place 12 oz. containers in a water bath for 1 hour at 180 degrees F. (simmering). When unshelled peanuts are used they should be roasted in the shells and cooled. After cooling shell and rub over a wire bottom screen. This removes the red skins and the germs. The meats can be readily cleaned by pouring them from one vessel to another in the open air where the wind will blow the skins.

Do not use rubber packing gaskets or rubber rings as the oil in the peanut butter will dissolve the rubber. Either paper or some other compound that is not attacked by the oil should be used. Sandwich Spread Grind 14 medium sized cucumbers or 1 gallon of green tomatoes, or 10 qts. of carrots, 1 qt. of onions, 3 green peppers, 3 red peppers, or one can of pimientos, 3 tsp. of salt. Drain in sack over night. Squeeze out, cover with vinegar and cook 10 min., then drain. Mix the following: 3-4 cup sugar 3 tsp. flour 1 pt. vinegar weakened with a little water 4 well beaten egg whites. 1 tsp. ground mustard. 1 tsp. celery seed 1 cup sweet cream Cook a few minutes, add the tomatoes to the mixture, stirring constantly. Cook until thick (about 30 min.) pack in jars and seal. Report to October 6th, fair. Mrs. F. L. Marble, Roseland Club Poultry Demonstrator, won first place in county fair.

Feathers appear at such unexpected places this season—due north, toward the south, off to the west, down east, north-east or south-west. You may wear one sticking impudently up at the back of a perky little hat or unexpectedly posed somewhere above your nose. Again you may choose a hat with the feather ornament at the side toward the back or with a long feather draped from the side-front to the back. Feathers are important but they are not used abundantly. And usually they are fairly small. There are tiny quills, very small ostrich tips, miniature wings, coo feathers and willow ostrich plumes. Unlike the Victorian hats that serve as the inspiration for this season's millinery, present-day hats never give the effect of being laden with trimming. One of the newest fashions in millinery comes from Rose Valois of Paris. It is a velvet turban inspired by the coiled head-dress of the Arab tribesman. The new hat is made of soft velvet cleverly twisted to form a turban that follows the lines of the head, revealing the hair at the left side. Hats of this description will be chosen for bridesmaids this autumn and are especially appropriate for late afternoon and restaurant wear.

One of the newest millinery trimmings consists of buttons made from felt. They are made of the felt from which the hat is made and arranged in a border all around an amusing little brimless crown.

Good Health — Daily Care Both Are Needed For Good Skins

RECENTLY I went with some friends of mine to a new play, as we were all anxious to see a favorite young actress. She seemed delightfully attractive across the footlights. After the show we went backstage to speak to her for a moment. As we came into her dressing room, we saw she had removed her stage make-up, and was hastily dabbing powder on her face. At first I thought we were in the wrong room, because she seemed so different. The beautiful radiance we had admired on the stage was quite gone, and her skin looked lined and old—though I know she still is in her early twenties.

Most of us, however, have time to care for our skins, even if it is only a few moments each day. And what's more, we have no friendly footholds to help conceal poor skins. Heavy make-up will work wonders on the stage, but powder and rouge never were meant to cover a neglected skin. It only hurts your face when you try to hide defects under a heavy coating of powder. Instead of being rubbed in, powder should be patted on lightly, and certainly should be applied only to a perfectly clean skin.

You see, youth does not always mean a beautiful skin. We all know, of course, that age brings certain inevitable changes with it. But the years are not entirely at fault when your skin looks old—for many middle-aged women have exquisite skins. A good complexion is partly a matter of bodily health—and equally as important, daily skin care. We decided the young actress had neglected both her health and skin. In the talking movies and studying music, in addition to working at the theater every night.

Never trust to fate because your face feels clean, but thoroughly cleanse your face at least once a day. Simply smooth cleansing cream over your face and neck with upward strokes of all your finger tips. Then with cleansing tissues wrapped about both hands, and still using those same soothing upward strokes, gently wipe the cream, and all the dust and dirt, from your face. To remove the last bit of cream and gently close your pores again, saturate a bit of cotton with freshening lotion, and wipe up over your face.

In addition to this daily cleansing, I would suggest dampening a small piece of cotton with freshening lotion, and whisking it over your face every morning. And occasionally during the day, when your skin feels dull and tired, wipe a clean pad of cotton, moistened with the freshening lotion, over your face. This will leave your skin feeling cool and refreshed.

Five hundred acres of cantaloupes will be planted in the Fort Stockton area next year as an experiment. A trainload of calves were shipped from Marfa, Texas, recently to Virginia points. Hansford and Wheeler counties in the Texas Panhandle recently had highway contracts let aggregating over two hundred thousand dollars for new construction. The hide of a cattalo—cross between a buffalo and cattle—is a prized possession of the Panhandle Historical Society, Canyon, Texas. West Texas counties won the first three places in county exhibits at the State Fair of Texas this year. They were Eastland, Randall, and Hartley in the order named. Amarillo's eleven thousand families own nearly four thousand radio receiving sets. A riding academy is being established at Sul Ross State Teachers' College, Alpine. Menard, Texas, boasts the largest fly trap in the world—an experiment of the entomologist department of the Federal Government for protection of cattle from diseases spread by flies. In forty days it caught two million flies. Fifty thousand people visited Palo Duro canyons near Canyon, Texas, during the summer. Palo Duro canyon is a proposed state park. A new school building is being

The ranch experiment-station at Senora, Texas, has 2,461 acres of land for grazing. Wilbarger county celebrated its fiftieth birthday recently with a two day celebration of old timers. The time of building the Seymour-Vernon extension of the Frisco railroad has been extended to the close of 1932 by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Two hundred farmers in Wilbarger county have individual light plants, and sixty are connected with the electric high lines. A Levelland farm woman made a profit of twenty-two dollars from one hundred fifty cans of chicken meat made from the culls of her poultry flock. Observes the woman, "This brought me more than my husband made from four acres of cotton this year." Highway 18 from Turkey in Hall county to the Motley county line is to be graveled soon. Forty thousand acres of sudan grass seed were harvested in the Muleshoe, Texas, territory this season with yields as high as 1,600 lbs. to the acre. Several localities in West Texas are manufacturing sorghum molasses this year for the first time. A Swisher county woman has preserved fifty-six different kinds of vegetables this season at a total cost of fifty dollars that is now valued at four hundred seventy-five dollars. Littlefield will ship twenty-one carloads of broom corn this fall. The oil mill at Jayton, Texas, has been re-opened after a two year shut down. Five hundred and sixty-one Dickens county families signed up to can six hundred and ten calves this fall and winter, as a result of a chamber of commerce campaign. An association to grow and market alfalfa has been organized at El Paso. A nine story hotel was recently opened at Clovis, N. M., the tallest building in New Mexico. Mrs. M. B. Hill Honored With Birthday Party

At 3:00 P. M., Nov. 6th, at the home of Mrs. E. Guthrie, the many friends of Mrs. M. B. Hill met to wish for her many happy returns of her birthday.

After the guests had all arrived, each was given an opportunity to relate one "funny experience" of early pioneer days on the plains. The many stories concerning dugouts and water-dogs would have seemed unbelievable to the present day generation, but were received with many a hearty laugh by those present. Immediately any guest refused to relate the asked-for-funny-experience, some other guest would tell a more-than-funny-experience at the expense of the one refusing, thus making it very necessary to tell one's own experience.

The next feature was a drawing contest, in which, strange to say, the honoree won the prize. Arms full of presents were brought in by the hostesses, Mrs. A. R. Meriwether, Mrs. Bob Shelton, Mrs. Barlow Hill, Mrs. E. Guthrie, and Mrs. Early Arce-neaux, and presented to Mrs. Hill. As the party was an entire surprise to Mrs. Hill, for once in life, at least, she found herself speechless.

There were quite a number of gifts from friends who found it impossible to be present.

After every one had admired and "oh-ed" and "ah-" sufficiently over the lovely gifts, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses to the following ladies: Mrs. Daff Griffith, Stapleton, Fay Guthrie, Geo. Brewster, Moore, Waller, Riley, R. C. Bennett, Whitt, Hubbard, Blackwell, C. R. McCollum, Geo. Meriwether, Alice Baker, J. T. Robbs, Chambers, and Mrs. A. E. Lane of Clovis, N. M., and Mrs. Ira Smith of Los Angeles, Calif., daughters of the honoree.

COWS PAY HIM 73 CENTS PER HOUR FOR DOING CHORES

Cows paid E. V. Kim (right) 73 cents an hour for doing the chores last year. He is a Baylor county tenant farmer who had an average of 8.7 cows in his herd on which he spent an average of two hours a day. This includes the time of two boys and a girl who helped. The cows could pay these wages because they averaged 246.2 pounds of butterfat for the year instead of the State average of 146.2 pounds, and because Mr. Kim was skillful in meeting low priced butterfat with more pasture and home grown feed. His feed cost per pound of butterfat produced was 10.1 cents. The profits above feed was $532.27 for the year. He knows these things because he keeps records as a dairy herd demonstrator working with P. C. Colgin, county agent (left). The two are photographed above weighing milk and recording weights on one of the monthly visits Mr. Colgin makes to the demonstration.

All feed bought during the first year of the demonstration ending last June amounted to $101.06, and feed from the farm was valued at $116.12. More home grown feed is used now than in the first year of the demonstration. Last season Mr. Kim had seven acres of sudan pasture but next year he plans to have two acres per cow. The records revealed the important and interesting fact that the high cow gave 332 pounds of fat during the year, and the low cow only 85 pounds. This situation is being met by culling, and by use of better sires obtained thru Mr. Kim's membership in his local bull circle.

Queen of Dairy Show

Viola Henry, Norwich, N. Y., 18, sophomore at Cornell, won from 500 other contestants. Her father is a farmer.

ARMISTICE - DAY READ AGAIN THE NAMES

There are times when all look for something solid upon which to base a renewal of faith in life—in men! We are passing thru such a chaos. November 11th is a day, set apart, in honor of the unselfish—loyal—devotion of men in a time of need. It is our sacred duty to honor the memories of our preservers. In our observance of this day may we acquire in our own hearts, some part of their valor—may they live again in our renewal of courage. While we vacillate—not knowing whence the trend of events may lead—let us remember there is but one road to travel—Forward!—Onward!—through that way alone lies Honor.

3 RULES big help to BOWELS

What a joy to have the bowels move like clockwork, every day! It's easy, if you mind these simple rules of a famous old doctor:

1. Drink a big tumblerful of water before breakfast, and several times a day.
 2. Get plenty of outdoor exercise without unduly fatiguing yourself.
 3. Try for a bowel movement at exactly the same hour every day.
- Everyone's bowels need help at times, but the thing to use is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. You'll get a thorough cleaning-out, and it won't leave your insides weak and watery. This family doctor's prescription is just fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin, and other helpful ingredients that couldn't hurt a child. But how it wakes up those lazy bowels! How good you feel with your system rid of all that poisonous waste matter.

Home Demonstration Club News

Mrs. Chas. B. Smith, 4-H Pantry Demonstrator in Harmony Club, has canned for her family of five, two adults and three children, 136 quarts of green and leafy vegetables, 55 quarts of starchy vegetables, 50 quarts of other vegetables, 136 quarts of fruit, 120 quarts of preserves and jelly, 160 quarts miscellaneous, making a total of 764 quarts.

All these products were raised in her garden except the dewberries. "I spent less than $2 for seed this year," she said. "We often wonder if fall beans pay. Mine bore until frost. I canned the last on Nov. 2."

Mrs. J. Turner, garden demonstrator in the Blanco Club has canned 255 quarts of 19 varieties of vegetables from her garden. She values these at $74.90.

There was over 10 gallons of English peas gathered and 89 gallons of cucumbers. In addition to the amount, canned her family of four were furnished with all the fresh vegetables they could eat.

She made permanent plantings of asparagus, rhubarb and strawberries. Her plants, seed and hot bed cost $7.90.

In the hot bed Mrs. Turner raised all the tomatoes plants for herself and two others, also pepper and cabbage plants.

"We are going to have another garden next year" she said. "My husband said if we had the water we would just take in the field, back of the garden, and plant it."

MEAT CANNING

By Zetha McInnis, Home Industries Specialist.

The quality of the finished canned meat depends primarily upon the condition of the meat animal when it is killed. A general idea has existed throughout the canning industry that it is a good idea to grade or cull, sell the best and then, when nothing else respectable may be done with the poorer quality of foods, "Can it."

For methods of killing and the effect of proper killing upon the quality and keeping power of the meat refer to C-60 Extension Service, A. & M. College, College Station, Texas; F. B. 1415 and 1172, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Butchering should be done when the weather is so cold that the dressed meat will become thoroughly chilled over night. Cold storage must be used if animals are killed when the weather is not cool enough to chill them thoroughly.

Cut for Tenderness

If adequate help and equipment are available, time will be saved if the canning is not started until the whole carcass is cut. The tenderness of meat can be preserved by proper cutting. For plain roasts the pieces should be cut large enough to fit in the car after the shrinkage of pre-cooking, and so that the muscle fiber will run lengthwise the piece of the meat. When turned out of the can for serving it may then be sliced across the grain. Rolled roasts should be rolled so that they may be sliced across the grain when served. Steaks should never be cut less than 3-4 inch thick and always across the grain. The tougher or more scrappy parts of the carcass may be cut into small cubes for stew or hash or ground for meat loaf, chili or hamburger.

Preparation of the Cans

Meat may be canned in No. 1, 2 or 3 cans. The cans should be washed in warm water using a soft cloth to remove any dust that clings to the sides or in the rim. Rinse cans and stack in a warm place to drain and heat. Sterilization of clean cans is not necessary as the heat which sterilizes the meat will also sterilize the cans. The lids should be wiped with a clean dry cloth and placed where they will heat. If the pastboard gaskets becomes wet it buckles often causing an imperfect seal. Adjust the sealer to fit the gasket being used. For composition gaskets adjust the seaming rolls closer to the chuck than for pastboard gaskets. An air-tight seal must be affected or spoilage will result. The pastboard gaskets often act as filters, slowly admitting air but filtering out microorganisms. Such cans are known as breathers. The oxygen thus admitted reacts with the tin of the cans causing black moldy spots to occur in the head space of the can. These black deposits discolor the food but according to research are not harmful to health.

Can Right or Not at All

The most successful results are obtained when meat is packed in tin and processed under steam pressure. The U. S. Department of Agriculture recommends that all meats and non-acid vegetables should be processed under steam pressure. If no pressure canner is available, it is recommended that methods of preservation other than canning be used. Meat should be packed in tin because the seal of the tin can, retain valuable meat juices often drawn out of a jar and lost when processed under pressure; the heat penetration of tin is more rapid and perhaps more thorough than that of glass; the wide mouth of the tin can facilitates the packing of large pieces of meat and results in a more attractive service, of the economy of time and fuel in processing, of ease in cooling, handling and storing.

When the meat has been prepared pack it into the can hot and seal. If not processed as soon as sealed, cover the cans with hot water and keep the temperature just below the boiling point. If allowed to boil the product will be over-cooked. If not kept hot the sterilization of the finished product is likely to be incomplete. When processed the given time remove pressure cooker from fire, and release the steam slowly. A rapid release of steam weakens the seal and sam of the can. When the pressure gauge registers zero, open the cooker, remove the cans and place them in cold running water until cold. If running water cannot be had, then cool the cans in several changes of water. When thoroughly cold, label and store in cool place.

PORK RECIPES

Sausage

25 pounds pork (4 parts lean to 1 part fat)
1 cup ground sage (slightly packed)
2 tablespoons red pepper
1 cup brown sugar.
Cut the meat for grinding. Measure and mix all seasonings. Mix with the meat and seasonings. Grind using a medium knife. To pack bulk sausage in the can take about one and one fourth pounds of the meat, pat it into the shape of the can. Slip it into the can, packing down firmly. Run a silver knife around the sides of the can to avoid air spaces. Stack cans in cooker, cover, but leave pet cock open. Allow the heat to penetrate to the center of the cans. Cans may also be placed in a moderate oven and heated. When thoroughly heated seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure. No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Sausage cakes may be made by molding in medium sized cakes. Place in a large shallow pan and cook in the oven until slightly browned, but not done. Fill cans, add the fat and juices cooked out in the pan; seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure. No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes, No. 3 cans 55-60 minutes. Stuffed sausage may be made by stuffing seasoned ground meat into casings. Smoke until dried and brown. When sufficiently cured, cut the sausage in lengths 1-3 inch less than the length of the can. Place in a pan and heat in the oven or pack into the cans and heat in the cooker before sealing. Add 2 tablespoons of hot fat. Seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes, No. 3 cans 55-60 minutes.

Roast

The large pieces which are cut from the shoulders and loin make good roast pieces. Cut in sizes which will just fit into the can when seared. Sear in deep hot fat or in the oven. Pack into the cans. Add 2 tablespoons fat and 1 teaspoon salt and pepper mixture to each No. 2 can and 1 1-2 teaspoon, to each No. 3 can. (Salt and pepper mixture is made by mixing in proportions of 1-4 pepper and 3-4 salt.) Seal hot and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes, and No. 3 cans 55-60 minutes. Some people prefer to salt, pepper and flour before pre-cooking but the salt draws out a portion of the meat juices which are usually lost by cooking and sticking to the bottom of the pan in which it is seared. The flour which does not cook off forms a starchy coating over the surface making heat penetration more difficult. The main essentials are to brown or sear the roasts, steaks and chops and heat them THOROUGHLY to the center without cooking done.

Pork Chops and Spare Ribs
Sear in deep hot fat. Pack in cans, season as for roast. Add 2 tablespoons fat. Seal hot. Spare ribs may be prepared in the same way. Process 15 pounds pressure—No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes, No. 3 cans 55-60 minutes.

Head Cheese

Clean head thoroughly by washing and scraping at the time of scraping the whole carcass. Remove eyes, burr of ear and bones which contain cavities. Trim off excess fat from jowls. Soak in cold water over night. Next morning rinse and place in pressure cooker with 2 cups of water. Steam for 30 to 50 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, depending upon the age of the animal. Cut into pieces of uniform size. Season to taste with salt and papper. Pack into suitable containers for molding. Weight and press. Use while fresh or pack into cans and process under 15 pounds pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 50 minutes.

Mince Meat

The head may be made into mince meat if preferred to head cheese.
5 cups ground meat
5 cups brown sugar
1 cup vinegar
6 medium sized oranges
6 large lemons
2 1-2 cups raisins
2 1-2 cups currants
1 tablespoon mace
2 tablespoons allspice
2 tablespoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons cloves
Wash currants, raisins, oranges and lemons and let drain. Mix sugar and spices. Peel lemons and oranges. Cut pulp into small uniform pieces, and run the peels through a food chopper using medium knife. Mix all ingredients together and pack in enamel cans. Heat thoroughly, seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 50 minutes.

Scrapple

Prepare the head as given under head cheese. In addition to the head, the heart, tongue and feet may be used. Place in the cooker and if the feet are used, put them in first. Add about 1 quart of water and steam for 40 to 50 minutes under 15 lbs. pressure. Remove the meat from the bones and grind it. Drain and strain the stock. Let set until the fat rises to the top. Skim excess fat off. Season with salt and pepper. Heat to the boiling point. Add the ground meat, and cereal mixture, made by mixing equal parts of corn meal, whole wheat or buckwheat flour and bran middlings. Stir in the cereal mixture until it is thick enough that a wooden spoon or paddle will stand alone in the mixture. While hot fill cans, seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 50 minutes, No. 2 cans 60 minutes.

Liver Paste

3 pounds of liver
1 1-2 pounds of fresh pork (1-5 fat, 4-5 lean)
2 tablespoons salt
3 eggs
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon cloves
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup toasted bread or cracker crumbs
Run the meat and seasoning through meat chopper. Beat eggs, and mix all together. Pack into cans, place in moderate oven or cooker and heat thoroughly. Seal and process at 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Pickled Pigs Feet

Clean pigs feet carefully. Place in pressure cooker. Add water and process under 15 lbs. pressure 40-60 minutes. Remove from cooker and place in stone jar; weight and cover with spiced vinegar made as follows:
1 gal. vinegar (pure apple cider)
1 1-2 tablespoonfuls of celery seed
1-2 cupful of grated horseradish
1 cup sugar
1 1-2 tablespoonfuls of mustard seed
1 tablespoon salt
1 onion ground fine
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1-2 stick cinnamon
Mix all dry ingredients, tie in a bag, add to vinegar and bring to the boiling point. Cover and let spices infuse for one or two hours. Remove the bag of spices, heat and pour the vinegar over the feet. They may be packed in hot enamel cans and processed under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 3 cans 60 minutes.

Beef, Lamb and Chevon Recipes

(These recipes may be used with any of the above meats)

Plain Roast, Steaks and Chops

Prepare roasts, steak and chops the same as for pork.

Rolled Roast

Rolled roasts are usually prepared from the forequarters of beef or lamb. Remove all bones before rolling and tying. Cut in lengths which will fit into the cans when seared. Process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 2 cans 60 minutes, No. 3 cans 65 minutes.

Swiss Steaks
Cut round steaks 1 inch thick and sear. Cut in pieces which will fit into the cans, using for cutter a can which has been cut and not resealed. Pack into cans. Sprinkle each piece with chopped onion and green pepper. Mix 2 tablespoons bacon drippings, 1 tablespoon of browned flour with 1-2 cup of hot tomato juice and add to each can. Finish, covering with hot tomato juice. Seal and process under 15 pounds pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Stew

Generally the thin, muscled pieces of meat are used for stew. Cut into cubes 1 or 1 1-2 inches thick. Cook meat until bones will slip. Add onions and salt. If tomatoes, carrots, parsnips or turnips can be had, they may be diced and added in the proportion of 1-2 cup each to each pound of meat used. Vegetables should not be added until the meat is ready to go into the can, for pre-cooking and then processing discolors them. Potatoes may be added, but since they can be preserved in their natural state or can be secured at all times, they have been omitted from this recipe.

12 lbs. Stew meat
4 tsp. celery seed
3 cups finely chopped onion
6 tablespoonfuls salt
Fill cans, seal and process under 15 pounds pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Meat Loaf

5 lbs. of meat
5 tablespoons of bread crumbs
2 tablespoons of salt
1 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. sage
1 tsp. celery seed
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 eggs, beaten together
Use meat scraps, boil and let cool. Grind and mix thoroughly with the seasoning. One or two cups of broth may be added, according to the dryness of the meat. Fill cans while hot. Seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Hamburger

25 lbs. raw ground meat
1 cup salt
3 tablespoonfuls red pepper
Use same method of mixing, seasoning and packing into cans and processing as given under sausage.

Chili

15 lbs. meat
7 cups finely chopped onion
1-2 cup of finely chopped garlic
4 cups of fat
3 3-4 cups of chili blend
4 tsp. comino seed
6 quarts of water
Melt fat and fry onion and garlic until a golden brown. Add meat and sear until white, then add chili blend, salt, comino seed, and water. Cook until consistency to serve. Fill cans within 1-2 inch of the top and seal while hot. Process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Hash Meat

Place bones in cooker, with 2 qts. of water. Steam until the meat will slip. Remove the meat from the bones, pack into cans and cover with the strained broth. Process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 55 minutes.

Soup Stock

Skim excess fat from broth. Strain heat and pour into cans. Seal and process. If bones are cooked in the pressure cooker as given above, broth will not need to be concentrated. If covered with water and boiled in open kettle, the broth should be boiled down until it will congeal when cold. Process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 35 minutes, No. 2 cans 40 minutes.

Brains

Soak in several waters to draw out the blood. Remove the membranes. Fry in hot grease. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pack into No. 1 cans. Add two tablespoons of fat, seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure 60 minutes.

Sweet Breads

Clean and soak in several changes of cold water for about 2 hours. Drain and boil for about five minutes in salty water. Pack into cans and add about 4 tablespoons of hot water, seal and process, or broil in butter or bacon drippings, add 2 tablespoons of fat in which they were broiled, seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 50 minutes.

Tongue

Clean, boil and skin. Pack into cans with 4 tablespoons of broth. Seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 50 minutes.

Heart

Trim the heart and remove the small white tendons from inside. Wash out all blood clots. Pre-cook in salt water. Pack into cans, add 4 tablespoons of broth. Seal and process under 15 lbs. pressure—No. 1 cans 40 minutes, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes.

Poultry Recipes

Kill fowls and hang them up to bleed well. Dress, cleaning the head and feet also because they add to the gelatine content of the broth. Remove all pinfeathers and singe well. Wash, rubbing with a little soda. Draw, remove oil bag and wash body cavity. Cool thoroughly and can.

Fried Chicken

Cut up as follows: remove the legs from the body at the hip joint, separate joint from the drum stick by cutting through the flesh and bend to snap joint. Remove wings from the body. Locate the end of the shoulder blades which run just over the ribs and parallel with the back bone. Slip knife under and cut up to point where wings were removed. Pull back and breast apart. Cut the back into three pieces, cutting first just below the ribs, then cut down center of lower back.

Remove the portion of the breast containing the wishbone. Remove shoulder blades by disjoining where they join the keel or breast bone. Divide remaining portion of breast into two pieces by cutting down center by breast bone.

Sear in hot fat, pack into No. 1 cans for market, add 1-2 tsp. salt, and two tablespoons of fat. Seal while hot and process—No. 1 cans 40 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure, No. 2 cans 45-50 minutes at 15 lbs. pressure.

Older fowls to be canned as cubed, boned or ground chicken, prepare as follows: Cut skin between legs and body. Bend leg to snap the joint. Locate the ends of shoulder blades as for cutting fryers. Separate the breast and back. This leaves the breast and wings in one piece and the legs and backs as another. Place in pressure cooker which has the rack in the bottom. For each 20 lbs. of dressed fowls add 6 tablespoons of salt and 3-4 cup of water. Steam 20-30 minutes at 15 pounds pressure, depending upon the age of the bird.

THIRD INSTALLMENT Synopsis

Six people, Herace Johnson (who tells the story), his wife, old Mrs. Dane, Herbert Robinson and his sister Alice, and Dr. Sperry, friends and neighbors, are in the habit of holding weekly meetings.

The sitting opens with the customary table rapping and other inconsequential and humorous happenings. Then the medium goes into a trance and gives disjointed details of a murder.

Now Go On With the Story I told him he was right. "Then that fixes the time at which Miss Jeremy told us of the murder," he came back over the phone.

There was silence at Sperry's end of the wire. Then: "Wells was shot about 9:30," he said, and rang off.

I am not ashamed to confess that my hands shook as I hung up the receiver. As I stood there, I wondered for the first time whether there might not be, after all, a spirit-world surrounding us, cognizant of all that we did, touching but intangible, sentient but tuned above our common senses?

I was shocked by the news, but not greatly grieved. The Welles had been among us but not of us, as I have said. Of the two, I myself had preferred Arthur. His faults were on the surface. He drank hard, gambled, and could not always pay his gambling debts but underneath it all there had always been something boyishly honest about him.

Of Elinor Wells I have only my wife's verdict, and I have found that, as is the way with many good women, her judgment of her own sex is rather merciless. A tall, handsome girl, very dark, my wife has characterized her as cold, calculating and ambitious.

There was no doubt, by the time they had lived in our neighborhood a year, that a complication had risen in the shape of another man.

Our street has never had a scandal on it, except the one when the Berrington's music teacher ran away with their coachman, in the days of carriages. And I am glad to say that that is almost forgotten.

Nevertheless, we had realized for some time that the dreaded triangle was threatening the repute of our quiet neighborhood, and as I stood by the telephone that night I saw it had come. More than that, it seemed very probable that into this very triangle our peaceful Neighborhood Club had been suddenly thrust.

The street, with its open spaces, was a relief after the dark hall. I started for Sperry's house, my head bent against the wind, my mind on the news I had just heard.

Sperry was waiting on his doorstep, and we went on to the Wells house.

Although the Wells house was brilliantly lighted when we reached it, we had difficulty in gaining admission.

"We might try the servants' entrance," Sperry said. Then he laughed mirthlessly.

"We might see," he said, "if there's a key on the nail among the vines."

I confess to a nervous tightening of my muscles as we made our way around the house. If the key was there, we were on the track of a revelation that might revolutionize much that we had held fundamental in science and in our knowledge of life itself.

I stopped and touched Sperry's arm. "This Miss Jeremy—did she know Arthur Wells or Elinor? If she knew the house, and the situation between them, isn't it barely possible that she anticipated this thing?"

"We knew them," he said gruffly, "whatever we anticipated, it wasn't this."

"Here's the key," Sperry said, and held it out. The flash wavered in his hand, and his voice was strained.

We admitted ourselves. "Look here, Sperry," I said, as we stood inside the door, "they don't want me here. They've sent for you, but I'm the most casual sort of an acquaintance. I haven't any business here."

That struck him, too. We had both been so obsessed with the scene at Mrs. Dane's that we had not thought of anything else.

"Suppose you sit down in the library," he said. "The chances are against her coming down, and the servants don't matter."

As a matter of fact we learned later that all the servants were out except the nursery governess. There were two small children. There was a servants' hall somewhere, and, with the exception of the butler, it was after two before they commenced to straggle in. Except two plain-clothes men from the central office, a physician who was with Elinor in her room, and the governess, there was no one else in the house but the children, asleep in the nursery.

As I sat alone in the library, the house was perfectly silent. But in some strange fashion it had apparently taken on the attributes of the deed that had preceded the silence. It was sinister, mysterious, dark.

Overwrought as I was, I was forced to bring my common sense to bear on the situation. Here was a tragedy, a real and terrible one. Suppose we had in some queer fashion, touched its outer edges that night? Then how was it that there had come, mixed up with so much that might be pertinent, such extraneous and grotesque things as a hurt knee, and throwing watches and pens about.

I remember moving impatiently, and trying to argue myself into my ordinary logical state of mind, but I know now that even then I was wondering whether Sperry had found a hole in the ceiling upstairs.

Suppose Sperry came down and said Arthur Wells had been shot above the ear, and that there was a second bullet hole in the ceiling? Added to the key on the nail, a careless custom and surely not common, we would have conclusive proof that our medium had been correct. There was another point, too. Miss Jeremy had said, "Get the lather off his face."

That brought me up with a turn. Would a man stop shaving to kill himself? If he did, why a revolver? Why not the razor in his hand?

I knew from my law experience that suicide is either a desperate impulse or a cold-blooded and calculated finality. A man who kills himself while dressing comes under the former classification, and will usually seize the first method at hand. But there was something else, too. Shaving is an automatic process. It completes itself. My wife has an irritated conviction that if the house caught fire while I was in the midst of the process, I would complete it and wash the soap from my face before I caught up the fire-extinguisher.

Had he killed himself, or had Elinor killed him? Was she the sort to sacrifice herself to a violent impulse? Would she choose the hard way, when there was the easy one of the divorce court? I thought not. And the same was true of Ellingham. Here were two people, both of them careful of appearance, if not of fact. There was another possibility, too. That he had learned something while he was dressing, had attacked or threatened her with a razor, and she had killed him in self-defence.

I had reached that point when Sperry came down the staircase ushering out the detective and the medical man. He came to the library door and stood looking at me, with his face rather paler than usual.

"I'll take you up now," he said. "She's in her room, in bed, and she has had an opiate."

"Was he shot above the ear?" "Yes."

I did not look at him, nor he at me. We climbed the stairs and entered the room, where, according to Elinor's story, Arthur Wells had killed himself. It was a dressing-room as Miss Jeremy had described. A wardrobe, a table with books and magazines in disorder, two chairs, and a couch, constituted the furnishings. Beyond was a bathroom. On a chair by a window the dead man's evening clothes were neatly laid out, his shoes beneath. His top hat and folded gloves were on the table.

Wells lay on the couch.

When I glanced at Sperry he was staring at the ceiling, and I followed his eyes, but there was no mark on it. Sperry made a little gesture.

"The detective and I put him there. He was here." He showed a place on the floor midway of the room. "Where was his head laying?" I asked, cautiously.

I stooped and examined the carpet. It was a dark Oriental, with much red in it. I touched the place, and then ran my folded handkerchief over it. It came up stained with blood.

"There would be no object in using cold water there, so as not to set the stain," Sperry said thoughtfully.

"Whether he fell there or not, that is where she allowed him to be found."

"You don't think he fell there?" "She dragged him, didn't she?" he demanded. Then the strangeness of what he was saying struck him, and he smiled foolishly.

"What I mean is, the medium said she did. I don't suppose any jury would pass us to-night as entirely sane, Horace," he said.

He walked across to the bathroom and surveyed it from the doorway. I followed him. It was as orderly as the other room. On a glass shelf over the wash-stand were his razors, a safety and, beside it, in a black case, an assortment of the long-bladed variety, one for each day of the week, and so marked.

Sperry stood thoughtfully in the doorway.

"The servants are out," he said. "According to Elinor's statement he was dressing when he did it."

"And yet some one has had a wild impulse for tidiness here, since it happened. Not a towel out of place!"

It was in the bathroom that he told me Elinor's story. According to her, it was a simple case of suicide. And she was honest about it, in her own way. She was shocked, but she was not pretending any wild grief. She hadn't wanted him to die, but she had not felt that they could go on much longer together. There had been no quarrel other than their usual bickering. They had been going to a dance that night. The servants had all gone out immediately after dinner to a servants' ball and the governess had gone for a walk. She was to return at nine-thirty to fasten Elinor's gown and to be with the children.

Arthur, she said, had been depressed for several days, and at dinner had hardly spoken at all. He had not, however, objected to the dance. He had, indeed, seemed strangely determined to go, although she had pleaded a headache. At nine o'clock he went upstairs, apparently to dress.

She was in her room, with the door shut, when she heard a shot. She ran in and found him lying on the floor of his dressing-room with his revolver behind him. The governess was still out. The shot had roused the children, and they had come down from the nursery above. She was frantic, but she had to soothe them. The governess, however, came in almost immediately, and she had sent her to the telephone to summon help, calling Sperry first of all, and then the police.

"Have you seen the revolver?" I asked.

"Yet, it's all right, apparently. Only one shot had been fired."

"How soon did they get a doctor?"

"It must have been some time. They gave up telephoning, and the governess went out, finally, and found one."

"Then, while she was out—?"

"Possibly," Sperry said. "If we start with the hypothesis that she was lying."

"If she cleaned up here for any reason," I began, and commenced a desultory examination of the room. Just why I looked behind the bathtub forces me to an explanation I am somewhat loath to make, but which will explain a rather unusual proceeding. For some time my wife has felt that I smoked heavily, and out of her solicitude for he has limited me to one cigar after dinner. But as I have been a heavy smoker for years I have found this a great hardship, and have therefore kept a reserve store, by arrangement with the house maid, behind my tub. In self-defence I must also state that I seldom have recourse to such stealthy measures.

Every pound produced by Galloway's Thorobred Cotton above other kinds is clear profit, and it makes about 100 lbs. more lint on every 2,000 lbs. snaps than other cotton, and makes more on every acre. This cotton is now bred and grown above the cotton disease and insect line, being ginned exclusively at Aiken Gin, and its already early maturity is greatly enhanced by the short growing season so far north. Its great drought resisting and storm proof qualities make Galloway's Thorobred especially good for the Plains country. It is the highest linting staple cotton on earth, and its big bolls (twice the size of ordinary cotton bolls) make gathering much easier. We sell only our own seed, bred and grown for planting and ginned on our exclusive gins. We never produce enough seed to supply the demand—but to help farmers during the depression and to introduce our Plains grown seed we will sell the first 5,000 bushels at $1.25 per bushel, culled, sacked and delivered in 3 bushel bags, no order for less than one bag—our former price has been $3.00 per bushel.

If you will mention the paper in which you saw this ad a small bag of our Special Stalk unit breeding seed will be sent you FREE with your order, and the cotton produced from the little selection will be a revelation—and proof of the importance of cotton breeding.

This is a special sale, and orders must be for immediate delivery or be accompanied by check. Address—

$20,000 WORTH OF GEMS TAKEN MONDAY

Breckenridge, Nov. 9.—Approximate $20,000 in jewelry and $500 in currency were taken from the Louis Daiches jewelry store by a robber Monday morning about 8 o'clock. Max Daiches, nephew of the owner of the store, was confronted by an armed man soon after he opened the store for business. He was tied with a rope, gagged with a handkerchief and placed in a small room. Major Guelette entered the store during the robbery and also was bound and gagged.

Fort Worth police were notified of the robbery and asked to watch highways leading to that city. The robber wore overalls. Louis Daiches, owner of the store, was in Fort Worth at the time of the holdup.

The robbery was discovered when a watchmaker reported for work. Police believe the robber escaped in an automobile in which a confederate was seated.

One of the diamonds included in the loot was valued at $2,500. A number of watches was taken.

This was the third robbery of the day reported to Breckenridge police. Two negroes were robbed of $5 at 1 a. m. six miles east of here and one hour later a man and a woman in an automobile were robbed of $2 and a watch.

By Phoebe K. Warner.

Here is something else for the school boys and girls of Texas to study this year. And it will make fine subject matter for your composition work and junior and senior high school English. What could be more interesting to any live Texas boy or girl that to know more about Texas? How many people do you suppose Texas furnishes a job? By this we mean how many people do you suppose it takes to ship the million bales and more of cotton from both Galveston and Houston as Texas did this past year, and make it up into garments of every kind and then ship it back to Texas and all over the world to be used? How many people do you think are required to work the millions of pounds of wool and mohair sent from Texas into garments ready to use? How many people are needed to make the boots and shoes our hides supply? Think of it! Texas produces more raw materials, even agricultural products than Iowa and Illinois combined which are the two other largest producing states in America. What becomes of all this cotton, wool, mohair, cream, beef, pork and everything raised on Texas farms? Then there are all our mineral products that come from under the earth. Who works those products into finished products ready for the markets? Thus far Texas has the name and the glory of being the greatest producer of all of Uncle Sam's sons. But what becomes of his products? Not one person in a thousand, even in Texas, ever thinks of Texas as a manufacturing state. Do you? Just listen to this. These are the very words of G. M. Knebel, Executive vice-president, Texas State Manufacturers' Association, with headquarters in San Antonio, Texas.

HOW'S THIS?

men of this nation spend on the outside of their heads and faces, more than the wheat crop of the nation. Almost as much as the egg and poultry crop amounts to in the whole nation. $1,000,000,000. One billion dollars worth of manufactured products are turned out annually in Texas from 5,000 industrial plants in our own state. The finished products already made in Texas practically double the commercial values of our agricultural products which last year sold for a little more than a million dollars. What could Texas do and how many people would be furnished employment if even half of her raw products were manufactured into ready to use articles at home? This is one of the biggest problems of the future in Texas. And it is the school boys and girls of today that will have to solve Texas' greatest industrial problem. It is ripening for you. It is getting ready to be solved by you. It will be the problem of your generation. Are you being prepared for that day? Is the state of Texas doing all in her power to prepare the boys and girls of today for Texas' industrial day? Here is one thing you can do for yourselves. You can look out for industrial news. You can begin to think and study Texas products, their great quantities or varieties. You can study the economic waste from field to factory and back home again by the around-the-world route. Yes, you can. Every high school boy and girl is old enough to study these things. What our high school students need most is to review their old Ray's arithmetic for about four years and learn to compute interest, freight rates and transportation and study the multiplication tables and get a sure enough business foundation into their heads. But whatever you study this year, don't forget to give a little time to the greatest commercial and economical problem, yes, and one of the greatest social problems of our own Texas. "Our Texas Industries."

izing in Mexico. CITY.—The Japanese are making extensive colonization on the west coast of Mexico. The relations between Japan and Mexico have become close. An official mission composed of two newspaper men of an English paper in Japan have been here for some weeks conferring with the government with government officials, attempting to arrange for exportation of Mexican products to Japan, particularly hard wood.

After signing a treaty of amity and commerce, the Japanese government agreed not to present a claim to the Mexican government for damages suffered by nationals during the recent revolution. Mexican government circles are favorably impressed by this token of friendship, and it is believed it will inaugurate a veritable era of amity and cordiality.

METHOD OF VOTING IS GIVEN IN NEW RULING

AUSTIN. — Legal methods of "scratching" the election ballot, so a voter may vote a mixed ticket, were outlined this week by the attorney general's department to John Marshall of Dallas, president of the Good Government Democratic League of Texas which is supporting Dr. George C. Butte, Republican, for governor. The opinion was written by L. C. Sutton, election expert in the attorney general's department. It would violate the law for a voter to scratch the name of a candidate printed in the Democratic column and write in the place of this the name of a candidate printed in the Republican column even if all the tickets except the Democratic ticket were marked off, the opinion held. But a vote cast in this manner should be counted, since the law is directory and not mandatory, according to opinion. Continuing the opinion outlined the following legal methods of voting a mixed ticket.

"The law would not be violated if a voter marks out all the tickets on the official ballot except the Democratic and Republican tickets and then marks out the names on the Republican except the one such voter desires to vote for and also scratches out the name of the person on the Democratic ticket for whom he does not desire to vote. Such a vote could be counted for all the Democrats so voted for and for the Republicans so voted for.

"Where no agreement or proposal to vote for the person on the second ticket has been entered into or made, and no request has been made to the person receiving or securing such marked ticket to vote for the preparation of a sample marked bal-

TEXAN IS SLAIN BY NEGRO DICER

CANADIAN, Oct. 12.—Clyde C. Williams, night foreman on the construction work of the Santa Fe bridge across the Canadian river was shot and killed by Jake Harris a negro, last night.

It is said that Williams had gone to the negro camp to give instructions about the work, and while there two negroes were disputing over a crap game, and asked Williams to decide which of the negroes was right. When he gave his decision, which was against the negro Harris drew his pistol and shot him. The shooting occurred about two o'clock and Mr. Williams died at five o'clock this morning. The negro escaped and has not been arrested. The negro is about 30 years old, and his left hand is off below the elbow. The sheriff is scouring the country and they do not think he can get away.

Williams came here a few months ago from Kansas City, and was well liked in this community. He is 34 years old, and leaves a wife and two small children. His body will be shipped to Kansas City for burial Monday afternoon.
