(From Big Spring Daily Herald)

For the past two weeks gardeners have been digging in earnest to make their seed catalog dreams come true. Figuratively speaking, flower lovers have held multi-colored catalogs of romantic roses, passionate pansies, terrific tulips and dandy dahlias in one hand and a spade in the other these days. If they can just cultivate part poses like the pictorial specimens, they feel their back-bending efforts will be more than rewarded.

This time of the year you can be sure that every spade is a WPA worker. Often it is just another gardener trying to visualize the beauty of his plants and shrubs six months hence.

Roses are already in bloom as well as purple and white iris. A woman here in town called last week and stated that her blue-bonnets were blossomed out and invited the writer out to see the Texas flower. Although I haven't been yet, it is reported that she cultivates the largest plot of blue bonnets in town. Texas is so large it is impossible to select a state flower that grows wild in all sections, but it does seem unfair when you think of the thousands of West Texans who have never seen a bluebonnet. But then on the other hand, there are equally as many who've never seen a sandstorm. The only difference is that we are missing somepin' and they are not.

But to get back to the horticulturist. Some authorities are of the opinion that seed catalog editors should be sued for publishing magnified pictures of primroses, mignonettes, poppies, carnations, nasturtiums, rhododendrons and cornflowers because they discourage the average gardener. Other members of the spade club say the artist's conception of floriculture serves as an incentive to the grower and inspires him to dig his best.

Whether the overdrawn pictures have a tendency to inspire or re-tire the horticulturist, they are good entertainment for the would be gardener who has always wanted to plant something but lacked the necessary pep and energy.

Farm Debt Adjustment Explained

Any Farmer In County Who Has Excessive Debts is Eligible for Farm Debt Adjustment

The Farm Debt Adjustment service is available to any farmer of Floyd County who has excessive debts. He merely applies to the local Farm Security Administration Supervisor who contacts the Farm Debt Adjustment Committee. If it is determined that the farmer has debts so large that he cannot meet them under existing circumstances, the committee attempts to work out an arrangement favorable to both debtor and creditor. The arrangement, however, must be voluntary with all concerned.

"Some people believe," Claude C. Carpenter, County RR Supervisor, said "because a settlement usually results in reduction of the amount owed, that the debtor is the only one benefitting. However, the creditor receives just as much, if not more, advantages from such an arrangement, since a farmer who has been unable to pay any part of his debts is then able to pay a substantial amount of his obligations."

Individuals and all types of business firms benefit, as well as farmers, from the farm debt adjustment activities of this federal agency. It was pointed out, since adjustment does not always mean debt reduction, but many consist of an extension of time in which to pay obligations, or a new source of credit.

Farmers interested in Farm Debt Adjustment service should contact Claude C. Carpenter, local Supervisor for Farm Security Administration.

Lockney Man Receives Guggenheim Fellowship

Dr. William Maurice Ewing, Native of Lockney, Among Scholars Receiving Awards

Dr. William Maurice Ewing, assistant professor of physics at Rice University, was among 58 scholars receiving awards of the Guggenheim Fellowship. Dr. Ewing is a son of Mr and Mrs Floyd Ewing, formerly of Lockney and now of Tulsa, and a brother of Mrs. Hershel Clauson, local school teacher. He is a native of Lockney, where he was born in 1906. Dr. Ewing received his B. A. M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Rice Institute at Houston.

The Guggenheim Fellowship is a foundation established in 1925 by Simon Guggenheim, former United States senator, and Mrs. Guggenheim, in memory of a son. It usually pays about $135,000 yearly to scholars who have shown ability in research for creative arts. Those receiving the awards are allowed to work anywhere in the world on their chosen subjects.

Dr. Ewing will use his Fellowship to further the geophysical investigations of oceanic basins by gravimetric seismic methods. The scholarship will free Dr. Ewing of the necessity of teaching for a year so that he may further his research.

In each of the nine departments of the show a definite made of display is to be carried out. In addition to the exhibits, a large number of new processes and demonstrations have been prepared this year, according to Henry Meredith, general manager of the show.

The progress of the show may be evidenced by the fact that when 1,000 visitors viewed the show the first year, more than 7,000 people jammed the halls of the building last year. Names of all visitors will be etched on small squares of glass with flouric acid and given away as souvenirs. It was announced.

Cotton Under Government Loan Eligible for Price Adjustment

If a farmer has cotton under a 1937 Commodity Credit Corporation loan he may receive a cotton price adjustment payment at the rate in effect on June 30, 1938, regardless of whether or not the cotton has been sold, according to Geo. Slaughter, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee.

If a farmer has cotton under such a loan and desires to sell it, the loan must be paid in full before the cotton is sold, he said.

"However, a farmer does not have to sell his cotton to qualify for a cotton price adjustment payment," he pointed out. "Cotton not sold before July 1, 1938, will be considered to have been sold on June 30 whether it was under a loan or not. The date of sale controls the rate of payment."

Numerous reports have been received at the state AAA office at Texas A and M College that farmers with cotton under loans have been selling their "equities" in the loan cotton and receiving sale certificates in return, Slaughter said. Payments cannot be made on the basis of such so-called sales and persons buying "equities" on loan cotton cannot obtain payments when the resell the cotton.

Under the regulations cotton price adjustment payments will be made on part of the 1937 crop, he explained, and the rate of payment in each case will be the amount by which the average price of cotton on the date of sale is below 12 cents. In no case will the payment be more than three cents a pound.

When a farmer sells his cotton prior to July 1, 1938, in a bona fide sale with title passing from producer to buyer, he may receive a payment on that cotton. If the cotton is under loan, title and possession cannot be delivered and, therefore, payment cannot be made on a sale of the producer's equity.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

What does the freedom of the press mean to the people of Texas?

It means the right to read, think it over, then decide, instead of reading what some one else has already decided for them. It means the right to think instead of being a mere rubber stamp sanctioning the thoughts of a dictator.

with a selfish motive.

It means that you can read an accurate account of public affairs rather than the garbled angle of a propaganda commission that would conceal the truth to enslave the opinions of a people set free by the blood of patriots.

The freedom of the press is an inherent right vouchsafed to us that we may know the facts and think as we please. It is a right bought with bullets and preserved by ballot. Let's keep it that way. —Donley County Leader.

The ease with which Germany took possession of Austria without bloodshed except for the suicides of Austrian patriots who saw their dreams for their homeland vanish, is another and striking demonstration of what happens to a nation whose people have lost their sense of individual independence and personal liberty, and are willing to surrender those fundamental human rights for the false security which the rigid discipline of a dictatorship appears to offer them. —Nolan County News.

If self-preservation is first law of nature, then the second one should be the preservation of the community in which you live. Take care of yourself first, then take care of the things that belong to you. Your churches, your schools, every local institution of any kind, has a direct bearing on the welfare of the entire community. —The Meadow Star.

The door of opportunity is equipped with an effective safety device which, upon opening, automatically closes the hatches of retreat and possibly retards the patronage. Many of us would use the entrance more often if all doors were tied open that we could go and return at will. Liberty is a mighty thing. —"Trail Dust" Matador Tribune.

The Herald seldom disagrees with President Roosevelt on major questions, but it believes he is hot over the mark last week in his Gainsville, Ga., address. We wish it were possible for the south to pay better wages, but as long as it depends almost exclusively on 5c or even 10c cotton, which requires a lot of fertilizer and labor, not to mention the often expense of numerous insects, add to that the purchase of high priced tractors and implements in the manufacturing north and east, the south will not be able to pay wages equal to the north. No matter how desirable a thing may be, if there is no money to make it possible, it remains an impossibility. North Carolina is about the only southern state that pays anything like northern or eastern wages, and that state has become more of a manufacturing than an agricultural state in the last two decades. —Terry County Herald.

New Motor Fuel

In Iowa they are feeding corn to automobiles as well as hogs. A new motor fuel called agrol, a power alcohol, is being made from corn and other small grain which blended with gasoline, makes an efficient motor fuel. A $500,000 plant has been built to manufacture the new product.

It is remarkable just what they can do with a small grain of corn or other grains, and the possibilities tied up in them. The head of the corn and grain is used in making agrol, and the stalk for silage. The mash left in the distilling process is dried and goes back to the farmer to be used as feed for his livestock, and it is claimed that dry ice can be made from the fumes of the product while in process. —The Crosbyton Review.

9 Million Acres In Texas Game Preserves

Almost nine million acres of Texas farms and ranches are included in the 262 game management demonstration preserves which have been established during 1937 in cooperation with the Extension Service of Texas A and M College, the annual report of R E Callender, game management specialist, shows.

Farmers, ranchmen, and 4-H club boys to the number of 7,324 have banded together into cooperative game management associations in 54 counties. The associations run in size from two or three farms to more than fifty parcels of land. In some instances these areas involve an entire community and are composed of individual holdings ranging from 8 to 40,000 acres per owner.

Each association makes its own rules. Callender said. The first step is to make an inventory of the various species of game and their abundance, and to take steps to increase the game. This is accomplished to some extent through artificial restocking, but the main improvement follows the provision of food and shelter, protection from natural enemies, and by restricted hunting.

Game management research has established the fact that game will not increase beyond a point determined by the available amount of food, shelter, and range, and a regulated harvest is recommended when wildlife becomes abundant.

The rules of the associations usually provide that when game is plentiful enough to permit hunt-

MR. WATTS-HIS-NAME Says ...

"THERE'S NOTHING just as good' as ELECTRIC COOKERY---and Certainly 'there's nothing better'."

"IMAGINE your kitchen as clean and cool as your living room... Think of the convenience and the freedom that only automatic electric cooking can give... Fancy those fancy steaks and roasts that melt into compliments... Day dreams? A thousand times no!... these are actual reasons why 'there is nothing better' than electric cookery.

"BUT your biggest surprise of all is the low cost of operation and the extra low easy terms. Drop by our office and let me tell you more about the new Westinghouse and Electromaster ranges. You'll really be surprised!"

He's got mere "oil-changers" tied to a post...because

ONLY YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

You'll get...
YOUR WINDSHIELD CLEANED BY ?
YOUR RADIATOR FILLED BY ?
YOUR TIRES INFLATED BY ?
YOUR ENGINE OIL-PLATED BY Your Mileage Merchant

That last one is all filled in for you because the only answer on OIL-PLATING your engine is Your Mileage Merchant. He does all the other things, too—and folks say he does them better—but there isn't even a comparison with his patented Conoco Germ Processed oil that gives you exclusive OIL-PLATING.

OIL-PLATING actually unites with all working surfaces. They remain continuously OIL-PLATED. Though you park your car for long stretches, this rich slippery OIL-PLATING remains all prepared for every start. Then what's so-called "starting wear" to your OIL-PLATED engine?

Or when your car huddles, how can implanted OIL-PLATING keep flying off to get burned right up? That's where OIL-PLATING gives you a sane explanation of why you can count on more mileage. You add mighty little Germ Processed oil after Your Mileage Merchant puts in just your correct Summer grade today. Continental Oil Co.
