Longhorns Open Season Tonight At Abernathy

The Longhorns will open the season Friday night at Abernathy when they take on the traditionally tough Abernathy Antelopes. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

Coaches Curtis Kelley and John Hansard said Thursday that the boys were in good spirits and in good shape and they expected a tough battle with the Hale County lads. The line has shown considerable improvement in blocking this week, they said, and although they expect to make some mistakes Friday night, the game should be a good one.

Although they will probably use quite a few boys Friday night, giving each man a chance to show what he can do under fire, the probable starting line-up was announced by the coaches as follows:

Seed Growers To Hold Seed

At a meeting of the Floyd County Alfalfa Seed Growers held at The Beacon office in Lockney last Saturday afternoon, the growers present agreed to hold all alfalfa seed off the market until such time as the market price will justify selling. The price quoted now in all sections of the southwest is 15c per pound.

President of the organization Chester Mitchell called the meeting to order and presided. About 15 growers were present. The men were unanimous in the opinion that the present market price was too low and that it would likely increase to as much as 30c by next spring. For that reason they agreed to hold all seed off the market.

The growers also pledged themselves to write to Congressman George Mahon urging that he use his influence to get the support price program on alfalfa seed restored. The program was cut out of this year's agricultural appropriations.

Good per acre yields were reported by several of the growers at the meeting Saturday. C. O. Roberts reported a yield of 700 to 800 pounds per acre while others reported 500 pounds yields.

U. S. EXPORTS ARE IMPORTANT TO THE FARMER
Business Week recently ran an article whose title, "U. S. Exports: End of a Boom," outlines a situation of rapidly growing economic importance to this country and the world.

Since the end of the war, we have been selling goods abroad at a tremendous rate. Europe presents an insatiable appetite for the products of America, and so, to a lesser extent, to the other continents. That appetite has not slackened in the slightest—but, even so, our exports are now declining in both volume and value, and everyone expects they will drop drastically in the future.

The reason for this is obvious. American exports have lately been leaving our ports at the rate of $16,000,000,000 a year. On the other hand, our imports have been at the rate of only $6,000,000,000 a year. This means that the balance of the world has been operating at a deficit of $10,000,000,000 a year in foreign trade with us alone. And it means that its dollar credits have been running out alarmingly fast, and that the bottom of the pile is definitely in sight.

England, of course, presents the most publicized example of the trend. The American loan of $3,750,000,000 was expected to last through 1950, and possibly longer. When Britain made her last withdrawal recently, the balance remaining was a mere $400,000,000. That is only enough to last her a few months at her latest rate of purchasing. The result is that she is freezing the dollars she has left, and is cutting her purchases in the U. S. to the bare bone. Furthermore, she is having to follow the same policy with other countries, in that intricate currency agreements now in effect force her to convert pounds into dollars, in many cases even when purchases are not made in America.

What is true of England is true of much of the world. A number of Latin American nations have lately slapped severe restrictions on imports, because their dollar credits and gold stocks were becoming dangerously depleted.

The effect of this abroad will be more belt tightening, and a lower standard of living. The newest British ration cut is an indication of what is happening. The effect at home will be the loss of many billion dollars worth of business.

Who will be hit hardest by the sag in exports? The answer to that may be the farmer. To take England as an example again, in the first half of 1947 she bought about $607,000,000 of American goods. Over $232,000,000 went for foodstuffs, and $77,000,000 more consisted of inedible fats. Every country is making desperate efforts to become as nearly self-sustaining as possible in food.

Some machinery people have reported serious drops in foreign sales. But, by and large, Europe will use every possible penny for heavy industrial equipment. The only hope for European economic salvation is to rebuild her shattered basic industries, and she can't get the machinery anywhere except from us.

Obviously, the market for anything resembling a luxury or non-essential item will practically vanish.

All of this may be changed by future American legislative action. The Marshall Plan, for instance, involves much food for Europe as well as durable goods. But, at best, it will be limited in scope. And it applies only to European countries not within the Soviet sphere of influence.

There is always the possibility of more American loans and credits. But Congress will move slowly when it comes to this. There is a feeling that Europe has not made the most of the aid we have given so far.

Perhaps the most remarkable proposal yet is Mr. Bevin's suggestion that the U. S. divide up the Fort Knox gold in the interest of world recovery. One American spokesman observed that this would involve giving the gold away and then buying it back. It hardly seems a feasible idea.

At any rate, exports are on the way down. This won't cause major upsets in this country so long as domestic business remains at or about present record levels. But should U.S. purchasing power fall in the home market, loss of exports would really be felt.

SOCIALISM IS INEFFICIENT
According to some of the best-informed authorities on England, the present crisis has been deepened by the insistence of the labor government on forcing through its program of regimentation and socialization regardless of the effect on the morale of workers and managers—and on the productive energies of the nation.

It is a statistical fact that every step forward for the socialist ideology has been accompanied by a step backward in efficiency and output. That is the main reason why the American loan which was supposed to last into 1949, is nearly exhausted now, and will be totally gone before the end of this year. And that is the great fallacy underlying the theory that socialism or any other form of statism can cure a country's economic ills.

The capitalism system, whatever its faults may be, is built on the sound principle that high productivity and a high standard of living accompany individual incentive. That incentive may take many forms. It may, for instance, be purely economic—the man who risks his money on some venture or the worker who does a better job is suitably rewarded. On the other hand, there is incentive in freedom itself—in the kind of economy in which a worker may change his job as he pleases, and a man can start a business or stop it on his own volition. Freedom is never compatible with socialist economies. Socialism must rule by dictation and, at its worst, by brute force. All enterprise becomes a function of the state—and the whole population is regarded as the ward of the state. At its very best socialism punishes dissenters by loss of jobs, fines, reduced rations, etc. At its extreme, it employs the shooting post and the gallows. Whether England will eventually escape the terrible blight of socialism remains to be seen. In the meantime, she is presenting the best of all object lessons for the United States. She is losing freedoms that stem from the Magna Carta. She is becoming more and more impoverished as she sinks deeper and deeper into the gloomy morass of statism. She is, by negation, a superlative argument for free enterprise—and for the free economic system we call capitalism.

At Panhandle-South Plains Fair

The Buck Steiner Rodeo will bring some rodeo performers to Lubbock, for the Panhandle South Plains Fair, September 29 through October 4, to give rodeo fans thrills and spine-tling chills. The cowboy shown above is having a rough time staying on a snorting, stomping steer. Rodeo performances are to start at 8:00 each night.

of other stellar attractions.

A cow girls sponsor contest is an added feature of the rodeo in each presentation with a $250 hand-tailored saddle for the winner and cash prizes for the second, third and fourth-place girls.

Queen candidates will be regally entertained. From time of arrival, October 2 until the winner is crowned the night of October 4, a gala round of entertainment is planned for the visiting royalty.

The sole purpose of the Cotton, Chemurgic and Ceramics Carnival, according to James F. Smith, general chairman, is to acquaint both resident, grower and industrialist with West Texas possibilities.

"We will present exhibits of such educational value," he said, "it will pay every child as well as adult to devote an entire day inspecting the displays. We will have such authoritative speakers on all phases of agriculture and cotton, it will be worth while to attend each lecture. The cooperation of West Texas communities in assisting Memphis in this gigantic presentation of resources is to be commended and we sincerely believe all regions will benefit from having made this carnival possible."

Memphis begins its decorations this week. The entire city will be a colorful background for visiting exhibits and spectators. City streets are blocked to traffic during the three days thus affording everyone protection as well as adequate room to see everything.

Every city, town, and community in West Texas is invited to exhibit its resources and appeal to industrial trades, Smith added. Exhibit space is free.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Wilson, Almeta and Gail, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Ferguson, James Hall, and Nova Jean Cox returned home Friday from a vacation trip in Colorado and New Mexico.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Swing Of Southwest Farm Markets

Continued strong trends prevailed at Southwest farm markets last week, according to the Production and Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Most hog markets established new all-time high prices in advances ranging mostly from $1.00 to $2.25 per hundred pounds. Week's top was $27.75 at San Antonio, $29 at Fort Worth, $30 at Oklahoma City, $30.35 at Wichita, and $31.75 at Denver. Sows and pigs shared the full advance to sell at mostly $22 to $28.

Southwest sheep moved at generally steady to stronger prices last week. Medium ewes brought $7 to $7.50 at San Antonio, while medium to good aged sheep sold at $7.50 to $8.50 at Fort Worth. Best ewes brought $8 at Oklahoma City, and $8.50 at Denver. Wichita bought good and choice kinds at $7.50 to $8.50.

Cattle closed the week at steady to 50 cents higher than a week earlier, but weak spots appeared on calves and low grade stockers. Common to medium calves sold largely from $13 to $18.50 at Texas markets. Beef calves brought mostly $22 down at Oklahoma City and Denver, while Wichita paid $17 to $20 for good and choice heavy calves. Stocker and feeder calves sold generally at $16 to $22.

Seasonally scarce fresh eggs and poultry sold at firm to slightly higher prices last week. Cold storage eggs supplied most of the market for best grades. Fort Worth and Dallas offered around 55 cents per dozen for best candled white eggs, and 50 for mixed colors. Heavy hens brought mostly 23 to 26 cents per pound.

Grain markets made further sharp gains last week, with even poorer prospects for feed grain crops and more pressing requests from Europe for relief supplies. Sorghums gained a round 25 cents per hundred pounds at Fort Worth and Galveston, and sold Friday at $2.82. Yellow corn rose 10 to 15 cents per bushel to sell at $2.65 and white corn $3.00. Wheat advanced 6 to 7 cents to reach $2.78.

Both rough and milled rice prices dropped back last week from recent record levels. Most feeds advanced sharply, while hay remained firm. Farmer's stock peanuts sold at support prices and shelled peanuts found little demand at 16 1/4 cents. Texas fall wool sold actively at 40 to 42 cents, 1 to 4 cents more than support levels.

Cotton dropped sharply following the crop report Monday, but climbed back to close Friday only a little lower for the week. Spot sales increased, and demand continued good for strict middling and above of 7/8 to 3/32 staple.

Potatoes, onions, and cauliflower strengthened last week at Colorado

Renovate Lawns In September Is Advised

College Station—Has your lawn failed to come up to your expectations this summer?

If so, there's something you can do about it now, say Extension horticulturists at Texas A. and M. College.

Filling in the low spots to make mowing easier is a good September lawn job. And if there are spots where your grass hasn't grown well because poor lawn grasses like Dallis or smut grass have crowded it out, you can dig those grasses out, and fill in the holes when you do your smoothing job. And while you're at it, you can make yourself a nice green winter lawn by sowing two pounds of Italian rye grass over 100 square feet of lawn area. Just scatter the rye grass seed over the surface of the lawn and cover it lightly with rich loam soil.

In some localities in Texas, say the horticulturists, San Augustine grass has been damaged by a disease known as "brown patch". Areas several feet in diameter turn brown, the grass looks like it is dying out and the general appearance of the lawn is spoiled. A pound of seed disinfectant mixed in eight gallons of water and applied to the browned areas ought to clear up the trouble. A few days later, follow up with an application of commercial fertilizer—one pound to 100 square feet. Best fertilizing time is late evening, when you can sprinkle the area and wash the fertilizer down into the soil.

RETURN FROM CALIFORNIA

Mrs. G. L. Sims and Wendelle returned home Sunday morning after a month's visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mildred Reeves of Porterville, California. Mr. and Mrs. Reeves lost an infant son, Dennis Lee, fifteen hours old about a month ago. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Williams of Plainview and Geraldine Sims, who spent two weeks in California, accompanied Mrs. Sims and Wendelle home.

Ranchmen have found that light, seasonal stocking improves rangeland and boosts beef yield with less stock shipping points. Sweet potatoes loaded in Southern Louisiana at lower prices of $2.60 to $2.65 per 50 pound crate of U. S. No. 1 Porto Ricans. Light receipts met good demand at New Orleans' wholesale market, where potatoes and peppers sold strong. Kansas City and St. Louis saw rather slow trading on mostly light to moderate supplies. Potatoes, carrots, beans, and tomatoes last found good demand at firm prices.
