Light Contract 51 Work Next Month

District Attorney John B. Honts, president of the International Highway which follows State Highway 51 from Dalhart north 34 miles to the Oklahoma line, said that the Dallam county commissioners' court is hopeful that the stretch can be let not later than March, and perhaps by February.

The highway department crew surveyed the first 15 miles and the commissioners expect to see the right of way on the segment next month. The highway crew will push its work right on to the Oklahoma line and the commissioners will continue their work till all right of way is complete, but Honts doubts that the 34 miles will be paved before the spring of 1942.

The Oklahoma Highway Commission has several times indicated it would pave south from Boise to connect with Highway 51 where it was paved.

The 34 miles are being paved, as explained, under the Texas Bond Assumption law which requires the state to assume repayment of bonds, interest and principal that have been sold to provide money for the construction.

The $290,000 in bonds, part of an issue voted by Dallam county in 1932, have been sold and the $290,000 is in a bank in escrow, said Honts. It will be paid out to the highway department as construction work on the 34 miles is completed.

Under an agreement between Dallam county commissioners and the Texas Highway Commission any balance left from the $290,000 will be used to pave the 6 miles of U. S. Highway 287, that cuts across the corner of Dallam county, on the route from Stratford to Boise City.

TURPIN-BEAVER CAGERS WILL PLAY FRIDAY

Turpin, Jan. 2.—The Turpin boys and girls Friday night will entertain the Beaver basketeers. It will be the first time the clubs have faced one another this season.

Road Bond Issue To Get Threshing

By Gordon K. Shearer

Austin, Jan. 2.—Recent developments indicate that Texas legislators, convening Jan. 14, will face a lively battle again over the State gasoline tax distribution. The Texas Good Roads Association which has launched a campaign to prevent use of gasoline taxes for purposes

One Box Of Cigars And One New Trial

Guymon, Jan. 1 — A box of cigars has resulted in a new trial in the civil suit, Hull vs. Nall, tried in the December district court here.

District Judge F. Hiner Dale granted the new trial. The Panhandle Herald said, when records disclosed that during the December trial the defendant bought a box of cigars, instructing the dealers to give them to the court bailiff, who in turn presented them to the jury foreman, and that jurors smoked them.

Rites Held Monday For John Hanson

Clayton, N. M., Jan. 1.—Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the Baptist church for John C. Hanson, 22, who died instantly under the wheels of a heavily loaded truck at Texline Sunday morning. Interment was in the Clayton cemetery.

Mr. Hanson was waiting at a service station on the outskirts of Texline for a truck he was to help unload. The truck, heavily loaded with cottonseed cake and driven by Jess Dees, cousin of the dead man, was slowing for a stop when Hanson attempted to step on the running board and fell. The rear dual wheels of the large semi-trailer passed over his body, causing instantaneous death.

Young Hanson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hanson of near here; his wife; and five sisters, Mrs. Andrew Tumlinson of Clayton, Mrs. Earl Cavin of Dalhart, Mrs. Larry Kehoe of Texline, Mrs. Leo Hagan of Denver, and Miss Leona Hanson of Clayton.

2 Capital Cases Face John Honts

John B. Honts, who became district attorney of this seven-county 69th judicial district yesterday after serving Dallam county as judge two years, already has two and perhaps three capital cases facing him for prosecution, it was learned today.

His first court term will open at Farwell in Parmer county Jan. 13, where reportedly there is a possibility of a capital case. In Deaf Smith county court at Hereford he will prosecute a rape case; and in Dalhart he will face re-trial of Charles Smart, charged with murder. Smart was convicted last spring and sentenced to life imprisonment, but the court of criminal appeals at Austin reversed the case and sent it back for re-trial.

No Successor For Walter Holland

The Texan regrets its error in listing the name of Walter Holland, deceased, in Wednesday's issue as constable of Precinct 1 at Texline. Mr. Holland, who died several weeks ago, was elected constable last fall and the office has not been filled to date. Dallam county commissioners will appoint his successor if the need arises.

Group To Attend Children's Clinic

Mrs. E. R. Stewart, Dallam welfare head, will take a group to Amarillo Saturday for a crippled children's clinic conducted by Dr. Clayton, Fort Worth orthopedic specialist. All children in Dalhart or Dallam county who should attend are asked to contact Mrs. Stewart immediately.

Crawford Atkinson Is BCD Official

Crawford Atkinson, formerly of Dalhart and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Atkinson, also formerly of Dalhart, has just been elected second vice-president of the Pampa Board of City Development. Young Atkinson has lived in Pampa several years, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Atkinson moved there a little later.

NAMES ARE SPELLED DIFFERENTLY BUT THEY ARE BROTHERS

You might not guess it—because the names are spelled differently—but H. T. Collman, the Amarillo weather man, and John Coleman of Dalhart are brothers. The Amarillo brother spells his name as the family has spelled it for years. The change was made by John, H. T. Collman and his wife yesterday visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Coleman.

Mobile Ala. (UP)—Assistant Solicitor Alvin McConnell, and police officers Morris Pollard and John Casey paid fines of $1 each for overtime parking near the city jail.

German Help To Fascists

(By United Press)

Premier Mussolini of Italy for the first time today publicly admitted that he had to have help to meet the Greek drive in Albania and the British campaign in North Africa.

Rome announced that Germany is sending powerful air squadrons to aid Italy. Apparently these squadrons will go direct to Albania. It was also announced that several hundred Fascist planes are being recalled from Channel raiding on the Isles to be used against the British in North Africa.

J. W. T. Mason, United Press war expert, said that this does not mean that the Axis will be able to wrest the offensive from either the Greeks or Italians, because air power has not been a very decisive factor in either campaign, and Germany will have to restrict her aid because of pressure elsewhere.

5000 Italian Planes

Italy reportedly has 5000 warplanes yet they have done little in the Greek war, except that early in the campaign they bombed several Greek cities. When the Greeks carried the war to the high peaks and deep valleys of the mountains the Italian planes were stymied.

Greeks today continued to press forward, and reported at noon that they had fortifications of El Basan under fire. Planes, they said, had bombed and set an Italian ship afire.

British meantime drew their iron ring tighter around Bardia and raided Italian bases and air-dromes over a wide area.

Turkey Takes Action

Apparently fearing that Germany is going to take over Bulgaria as a "cooperative" move, Turkey ordered all German nurses and governesses to leave immediately. Turkey feels she would be forced into the war, in some measure at least, if Nazis occupy Bulgaria.

Berlin claimed today that 100 million pounds of bombs had been dropped on Britain since last August 8—at least 25 times more than had been dropped on Germany. They said the RAF has lost three planes to one for Germany; that Germany the past six months has sunk 3,900,000 tons of Allied shipping, damaged another 2,000,000. (Turn to Page 12—Column 2)

WASHINGTON.—The most important question discussed in inner Administration circles before the President made his recent defense speech was that of using American warships to convoy supplies across the Atlantic to Irish or British waters. This question probably was in the President's mind also when he wrote the speech.

The problem has been debated among some of Roosevelt's close advisers ever since British emissaries brought word that while England could withstand airplane bombardment it could not withstand the continued sinking of its merchant vessels. The British also made it clear that more over-age U. S. destroyers would not do the trick, because the Royal Navy was running short of trained crews.

So far, the President has shied away from any such drastic step as using American naval vessels to guard supply ships across the Atlantic. Some of his advisers have leaned toward the idea, but Roosevelt has argued against it. He maintains, first, that it would be in violation of the Neutrality Act and could not be done without an act of Congress; second, that if an American naval vessel were sunk it would mean war.

Some of Roosevelt's advisers contend that the last thing Hitler wants is to bring the United States into the war; that the effect on the German people (who remember how the United States tipped the scales in the last war) would be devastating. However, the President hasn't fallen for the idea yet, though he is watching carefully the effect of his speech on public opinion.

NOTE—One of the British emissaries who put American entry into the war bluntly up to Roosevelt was the Duke of Windsor. However, the President replied that he had given a firm pledge to the American people not to take them into war and he did not intend to be another Woodrow Wilson.

Unexpected Honesty Is Gratifying

There is a gratifying amount of honesty in the world, believes O. K. Curry, chief clerk with the Rock Island lines here.

While walking home to lunch Tuesday, he unknowingly dropped his fountain pen from his coat pocket. A stranger sitting in a parked car nearby saw the pen fall and hailed him down, Curry said. It was a valuable pen, but with nothing on it to identify the owner, and the man could easily have kept it.

Austin, Jan. 2 (UP) — Unless the legislative passes stricter traffic safety measures, an all-time street and highway slaughter can be expected in 1941, says George Clarke, executive of the Texas Safety Commission.

The national defense program, he said, will cause greatly increased traffic on Texas highway.

He estimated 1940's Texas toll at about 1700 killed; 50,000 injured and an economic loss of $46,000,000. The over-all traffic toll was up about ten per cent and showed increases in drunken driving and grade crossing accidents. Fast driving accidents increased 28 per cent over 1939.

'Twas The Week After Christmas

"My dad is the greatest daddy in the world, but I guess mother was right when she said he was just a kid, too.

You see my dad is a 'canical genius. He told me so Christmas morning when he started playing with my 'lectric train. It took us a long time to get the track fixed, but my dad fixed it up and we got that Rock Island Rocket to running around that track like blue blazes.

"Well, I guess it was my mistake, for I asked dad what made the 'lectricity that made the train go. I'll always be sorry I asked him, for instead of telling me he started taking the train engine apart to show me. He got all the parts loose and scattered them around the room, but when he started to putting it back together he said I lost some of the parts. He couldn't get it going and mother said 'I told you so'. And then my dad almost got mad. I guess if it hadn't been Christmas morning he would have, but he just got up off the floor and got his paper and his new pipe and started reading and smoking.

"I sure wanted my train to go again and I didn't care what made the 'lectricity. Mother came in and helped me and we worked and worked but couldn't make it go. After a while mother said, 'Honey, you know what daddy does when anything goes wrong with his Farmall. He takes it down to the Fox Hardware Company and they fix it up while he sits around and smokes and talks. Now if I were you I would take my train down there and get them to fix it.'

"I been going with dad down to Fox Hardware ever since I can remember and he always got what he wanted down there and it never did cost very much to fix his old Farmall, so I'm going to take my train to them and get it fixed. And when I do I'm not going to let daddy play with it, even if he is a 'canical genius."

Mrs. Hylton Will Be Honored With Tea-Showers On Sunday

An interesting post-holiday event will be given Sunday afternoon when the members of the Entree Nous will entertain with a tea-shower complimentary to Mrs. Bill Hylton, the former Lydia Fountain. The affair will take place at the Lyle Johnson home, 905 Rock Island, from 3 to 7 o'clock.

The membership of the club, in addition to the honoree, is composed of Mesdames Maurice Chernosky, Henry Peeples, Lyle Johnson, J. W. Moreman, Jr., Harry Conner, Moody Alexander and Bill Clinkenbeard.

TRIGG-McCARLEY RITES IN CLAYTON

A very pretty home wedding took place Saturday, December 28, in Clayton when Miss Billie McCauley, daughter of Mrs. Ressie McCauley, became the bride of Ralph H. Trigg of Albuquerque.

The service was said at 6 o'clock at the McCauley home with Rev. R. L. Willingham, officiating.

The bride is a graduate of the Clayton high school and attended the University of New Mexico where she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Trigg, the son of Mrs. Blanche Trigg, of Albuquerque is chairman of the State Merit System. He is a graduate of the University of New Mexico.

DICK COONS ARE DINNER HOSTS

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Coon were hosts last night at a dinner party honoring Dr. and Mrs. Karl Pieratt.

A centerpiece of gardenias was used in the table appointments.

The guestlist included Dr. and Mrs. Artis Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Scott, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Mann, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wanser, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hugins.

Ambassador Club Election Tonight

The Ambassador club's annual election of officers, scheduled to be held at a stag dinner at 7 o'clock tonight in the De Soto Hotel banquet room, is waxing hot and there should be intense campaigning in tonight's session, states Henry Peeples, banquet chairman.

A number of candidates are being discussed for club offices, and there is a probability that several dark horses may be introduced at the last minute. However, everything was in the rumor stage this morning, Peeples said. Every club member is urged to attend the dinner, and Peeples notified members today they would be charged for the affair whether they are present or not.

Miss Louise Macon has returned to her home in Laredo after a holiday visit with her mother, Mrs. T. S. Macon and aunt, Mrs. August Hesse and family.

IN AND ABOUT TOWN

Mrs. Dick Stout is in the General Hospital, Enid, Okla., where she will undergo an operation for the removal of an inward goitre, as soon as her strength will permit. Although Mrs. Stout had not been feeling well and was rapidly losing weight the past three weeks, she was not aware of the seriousness of her condition, until last week-end when she underwent an examination at an Enid Clinic.

Mrs. Lillian Fountain is recovering from the shock of a fall this morning at the West Texas Utilities Co. office, but will probably be confined to her home for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Coats came home yesterday from Plainview, where he was seriously ill with pneumonia following an attack of influenza. The pioneer cattleman was stricken, Dec. 14, soon after his arrival on the South Plains, on a business trip. Mrs. Coats said he stood the journey home well and his condition this morning continued to show gradual improvement.

Miss Barbara Garth departed today for her home in Booneville, Ark., after a holiday visit with her sister, Mrs. J. H. Miles and family, and friends.

Chas. Woods, president of the First National Bank, is receiving treatment at Loretto for the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Newby and son and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, spent Christmas in Tullia.

Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Ewbank are home from Austin where they enjoyed Christmas at the home of their daughter, Mrs. F. F. Edwards and family. They were joined there by another daughter, Miss Orrell Ewbank, of Houston and their son, James Ewbank, and wife of Corpus Christi.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jacques took their son, Lamar, and Miss Lois Vincent Sell to Texas Tech yesterday.

F. E. Thomas, Jr., returned to Austin to resume his law course at University of Texas.

The James Wilson family moved today from West Seventh St., to the Tennie Monroe residence, 822 Rock Island.

Bobby Eldridge is recovering from the flu and attack of bronchitis. He and his mother, Mrs. T. K. Eldridge of Kansas City are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Arnberg.

Mrs. Marie Bell, Rock Island telegraph operator at Nara Visa, N. M. who was seriously ill at the local hospital for several days is much improved.

Mrs. A. W. McLain is reported as improving from an attack of the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Wilbanks and daughter, Margaret, Dumas, will arrive tomorrow to spend the weekend with Mrs. Wilbanks' sister, Mrs. J. E. Rainey and family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Casey, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Fortune of Kansas City, will arrive home this week-end from Evergreen, Colo., where they spent the holiday season with Mr. and Mrs. John Casey.

Mrs. Ham Scott is in Amarillo visiting the Harry Long family.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY

pering that he or she got tipsy on a certain occasion.

Just looking the situation over it might be well for some of us oldsters to follow the examples set by the youngsters that we too often criticise.

Echos From The President's Speech

Few have been the occasions, since the development of two strong political parties, that an address of the President of the United States has received the unanimous approval of all the people that Mr. Roosevelt's Sunday night speech received. Republicans and Democrats, labor capital, and business, big and little, united in praising the definite stand taken by the President.

Even those who have consistently disagreed with the President on all his policies could find little in the speech that did not truly represent the opinion of the mass of the people. A few, including the appeasement leader, Mr. Wheeler, did criticise the speech and others were quick to applaud the stand taken by the Senator while remaining silent regarding the talk heard around the world and delivered by a leader who has never pussy-footed about his position on foreign affairs. That Mr. Wheeler and his cohorts received so little support is truly indicative of the people's approval of Mr. Roosevelt's stand.

Of course there was some disagreement from some quarters on the speech. The mustached-man, author of "Mein Kampf", evidently didn't like it and those German newspaper editors who were privileged to read only that portion of the speech that their leader permitted found occasion to criticise it. The President of the United States was called a liar and even God was called upon to punish him, this coming from a vegetarian who has consistently denied the existence of a Supreme Being.

In this country, where the voice of the people is still heard above that of an individual, there arose a mighty shout of indorsement when the closing words of the President were heard or read. That was national unity as expressed by a people who still have the freedom of expression and are willing to make sacrifices to maintain it.

WHO'S TAKING THE FASTEST ROAD?

A sure sign of age creeping upon the average individual is his often-heard expression that "the younger generation is taking a fast road to Hades". Perhaps this opinion comes along with the old adage that "with age comes wisdom". It would appear therefore that it is wrong to disagree with those who have reached the age that they firmly believe that the youth of today is heading in the wrong direction.

While we take a lot of pride in our own youth and firmly believe that boys and girls in Texas, and particularly the Panhandle, are slightly above the average in both mentality and behavior it is safe to say that their general conduct is in keeping with the youth of today, whether they be from the shores of the Pacific or the farms of Minnesota.

Anyway it shouldn't be necessary for us to call your attention to the conduct of our youngsters during the holiday season, especially that group that so ably represents us in colleges and universities of the nation. They observed the season with their parties, dances, and general get-togethers. They drove automobiles, walked, rode airplanes and perhaps a few of them even drove airplanes, but to date as far as we can learn few have been involved in accidents and no one is pointing an accusing finger at some college youth and whis-

Police said Whittington was drunk. Whittington said he was tired.

"How much will you charge to do another portrait of me facing the opposite way?"

Right on the heels of the good news that Gus Coats is back home comes the disappointing report that E. R. Stewart is not improving. Here is another pioneer Dalhart citizen about whom all of us are deeply concerned and hope for his speedy recovery.

It was Wednesday morning and he sat with bowed head over a cup of coffee. Aroused up for a minute he said, "I wish they'd quit ringing those New Year's bells."

Does Dalhart need many new homes? Talking with a man who has made a close study of the needs of this community over a period of several years I listened to a new slant on home building. What got us started talking was my bringing up the fact that so many more FHA loans have been made in towns of similar size and location as Dalhart than here. And I asked for an explanation.

This man said that we simply had not gone after the FHA plan. That those most interested in it had not pushed it here as they had in other towns. Now I was under the impression that a few vacant desirable houses in any town was not in need of new homes, but this man contended that the situation was no different than in the automobile business. "You wouldn't think of everyone keeping the same car for twenty years, would you?" he asked.

My argument then was that perhaps instead of more new homes we needed more repair work going on. But he answered that "you would not think of trying to repair a twenty-year-old car, would you?" He believes that everyone interested should get in the harness and take advantage of the FHA plan; that more new homes are needed badly in Dalhart and that their construction would bring a certain degree of prosperity to the town.

It is something to think about. I got a new slant on the entire situation but I'm not entirely sold on this fellow's idea. Just wonder what you folks think?

Answers to our questionnaire are coming in more rapidly. Here a reader says we have too many grammatical errors, too many line-type mistakes, too many shady stories in this column and need to adopt a more conservative policy toward matters of public interest. He also says that "a little more tact and forethought would have prevented a lot of criticism as well as saved the Texan the ill-deserved credit which it did receive" in the milk campaign. He says we were not unfair, however, and that our cooperation with organizations has been above the average. He says, "The Merry-Go-Round" is by far the most interesting single article in The Texan."

A "subscriber by carrier" approves most everything but he gets his paper late at times and The Texan is a better paper.

H. C. Davis believes we are better, wants a six-day-a-week paper and adds, "Stand up and fight for the clean milk ordinance and other things for the welfare of Dalhart."

And here's a letter from the bank which says, "You are getting better for you were overdrawn just once a month in 1940."

After reading some of our criticism I have made my New Year's resolution. During 1941 I ain't going to say, write or talk nothing bad about nobody at no time. I'm going to be the nicest writer in the country and I ain't going to like or dislike nuttin' or nobody and at the end of a year, if I can stay on, I'm going to ask again what you folks think about The Texan. I use the personal pronoun because practically all the criticism has been directed to me and this column, which incidentally is where it belongs.

Thanks to all who have answered and here's hoping you did better in 1940 than you believe I did.

Don Locks left yesterday morning for Abilene where he will enroll at McMurry college.

Sport Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 1 (UP) — When a man has a little strength of character as I have he is foolish to make New Year's resolutions. I have tried it in the past and always managed to break them before the horns and whistles stopped blowing.

But I know that lots of folk do have the will to keep resolutions so I am going to list a few suggestions for others.

My readers: To quit using up energy writing McLeMORE mean letters and direct my efforts toward some worthwhile cause such as the development of a $100 counterfeit bill that can't be detected. The passing of legislation which would prohibit the use of sage in cooking and the selection of All-America football teams.

Tommy Harmon: To remember once every twenty four hours that silence is golden, even if everyone except Minnesota does agree that I am the greatest football player since Jim Figg.

Joe Louis: To keep on behaving the way I have, even if a quiet, modest, fellow who knocks out any opponent named for him isn't the American ideal of a heavyweight champion.

Del Baker: To pitch Dizzy Trout more during the regular season and less during the world series.

Golf Stars: To play a little faster. No one yet has ever willingly paid money to watch a golfer take five minutes to line up a putt. If the boys don't improve the P. G. A. soon will have to include a box lunch and a sleeping bag with each ticket of admission.

Wrestlers: To quit the business and buy a Jimmy and a pair of sneakers and get into a more honest game.

Henry Armstrong: To quit fighting before my last one is a benefit.

Bob Crosby: To consider a sand trap a friend who wants to cooperate with my sand wedge and help me get down in two, and not as an enemy who wants to wreck my life.

Philadelphia Nationals Baseball Club: To change the name of the team from the Phillies to the "Philadelphia Farm for the development of players to be sold as they get good enough to help us give our customers a decent Team".

Lary MacPhail: To do my best to quit being such a modest, shirking fellow, and get out and assert myself.

Sammy Sneed: To try in one National Championship to think one fifth as well as I play. If Sammy ever does this he'll win by fifteen strokes.

United States Lawn Tennis Association: To hold the Women's Championship behind locked doors with admittance by password only, and the password to be given to no one.

Guy Kibbee: To quit sinking long putts when playing a certain fellow who is getting almost as fat as I am.

To The Man Who Wrote The Story on Alabama Football in Colliers: To look at myself in a mirror and ask myself if the money was worth blowing the whistle on a school which accepted me as a teacher without first plugging the keyholes.

Henry McLeMORE: To be grateful that I live in a country where they still play for cups and not for keeps.

Earl Dew Is Top Jockey For 1940

Arcadia, Cal. Jan. 2 (UP) — Earl Dew, 19, has copped the 1940 national riding honors. He proved himself the year's top jockey with 287 winners while his closest rival, Walt Taylor, finished with one less after tumbling from his mount at Florida's Tropical park.

Dew says he intends to continue riding until he has enough cash to buy an Iowa farm. He's well on the way, having salted away $20,000 the past two years.

Ring Backs Up Baer As No. 1 Heavy Contender

New York, Jan. 2 (UP) — The magazine, Ring, says it proclaimed Maxie Baer the No. 1 heavyweight contender, ranking him even above Billy Conn, because of Baer's knockout victories over the outstanding heavy threats: Tony Galento and Pat Comiskey. Editor Nat Fleischer of Ring calls Baer's kayo over Galento "the thrill of the year."

Pittsburgh Billy was mollified somewhat at having won Ring's Fighter-of-the-Year award, which was voted the light-heavyweight king because of his victories over bigger men.

Commenting upon Conn's chances against Louis, Fleischer said: "It is my prediction that he won't last long against Louis' powerful wallop, and that the Bomber may forever ruin the career of the classiest boxer in captivity."

Noted Miler Has Bad Leg Injury

Kansas City, Mo. Jan. 2 (UP) — In his 15-year career as a miler Glenn Cunningham never had a leg injury, but yesterday he was nursing a torn ligament in his right leg. Cunningham, now a member of the physical education department of Cornell College, Mount Vernon, Iowa, was hurt Tuesday while working out at his old alma mater, the University of Kansas at Lawrence.

Though retired from active competition, Cunningham works out almost daily and had planned to make occasional exhibition appearances during the winter indoor track season.

MERRY-GO-ROUND—

is with her housekeeping money, the state ought to set a new record for economy.

Visiting in a Washington hotel not long ago, where Edison once lived while serving as Secretary of the Navy, Mrs. Edison telephoned Mrs. Chip "Evie" Robert, who lives in the same hotel:

"I want to order a bottle of milk," explained Mrs. Edison, "and I wondered whether you and Chip ordered yours from the drug store across the street or from the room service, where it's more expensive."

"I usually have it sent up from the drug store," replied Mrs. Robert, who although Washington's No. 1 glamour girl, has a frugal turn of mind herself.

"But in that case," decided Mrs. Edison, "you have to tip the bell-boy for bringing up the milk, so I guess I'll buy it in the hotel!"

HOTTEST ISSUE

To congressional insiders the hottest immediate issue of the new session is not the war, aid to Britain, defense taxes, or any of the other big national questions. It is filling seven vacancies on the Labor Committee.

This committee has long been the most liberal in the House. In the last Congress, it held off a furious drive by powerful Old Guard leaders to scuttle the National Labor Relations Act, thus enabling the equally liberal Senate Labor Committee to pigeonhole the amendments.

Now, with labor's role in the defense program certain to be a battleground during the session, control of the House committee is of key importance. Behind the scenes, a sharp tussle already is in progress.

Of the seven vacancies, three were the result of Republican election casualties—Bruce Barton of New York, Gross of Pennsylvania, and Rutzohn of Ohio. They were hostile to the New Deal labor laws, and GOP leaders are certain to replace them with equally hostile members. So what happens on the other four Democratic openings is the crux of the situation.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Wolves To Open Home Cage Games Against Conlen

The Dalhart high school Wolves, coached by E. A. Kimmins, will open their home basketball season tonight with a game at 7:30 against the Conlen Dragons. It will be in the high school gym, and will be a conference game.

A second game will be between Dalhart and Conlen town clubs. Season tickets are good for the card, said Kimmins.

These seats were held by four staunch New Dealers—Dunn of Pennsylvania, Fries and Keller of Illinois, and Wood of Missouri. Frequently they were the balance of power. If they are replaced with Old Guardsers the whole complexion of the committee will be changed, with possible far-reaching effect on the NLRB and other labor laws.

Under House rules the Ways and Means committee fills committee vacancies. But in actual practice selections are made by the party chiefs: GOP Floor Leader Joe Martin and his lieutenants making up the Republican list; with Speaker Sam Rayburn, Floor Leader John McCormack and Ways and Means chairman Doughton picking the Democratic slate.

What these three generalissimos do to the Labor Committee will largely foreshadow its record for this Congress. If four new liberals are named, the committee will remain liberal; if others are appointed, the labor laws are in for a pummeling.

In an effort to capitalize on this opportunity the anti-labor bloc, led by Virginia's high-collared Representative Howard Smith, author of the Senate-ditched bill to hamstring the NLRB, and Georgia's Representative Gene Cox, sharp-shooting foe of the wage-hour law, have been putting heavy undercover on Rayburn, McCormack and Doughton to load up the committee with antis.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Helen Essary, having persuaded Roosevelt to address the Women's Press Club for the first time in history, is now bent upon having Herbert Hoover appear before the club to give his idea on feeding Europe. Club members are hoping she doesn't let the two men bump into each other. . . . Roosevelt's second Supreme Court appointee, courtly Justice Stanley Reed, has caused a lot of eyebrow raising in inner New Deal circles by lining up with the anti-New Deal bloc in four major decisions recently. . . . One factor which helped put reverse English on the State Department's consideration of a loan of $100,000,000 to Spain was unfavorable newspaper reaction. James S. Twohey Associates, which accurately gauges the press, estimated that "practically all comment evidences distrust of Franco, and the majority of the press appears inclined toward disapproval of the loan."

***

Republican Defense Appointee
Another prominent Republican will shortly join the swelling ranks of the GOP in key defense posts.

John Lord O'Brian of Buffalo, N. Y., Assistant Attorney General in the Hoover regime and opponent of New Deal Senator Jim Mead in 1938, will be named general counsel of the new super defense board. O'Brian was chosen after Navy Secretary Frank Knox turned thumbs down on brain truster Tom Corcoran.

Navy Under Secretary James Forrestal proposed Corcoran. Although a Wall Street banker, Forrestal has a high regard for Corcoran's legal ability and they have been personal friends for a long time. But Knox voiced vigorous objection and O'Brian, who is a close friend of War Secretary Stimson's, was agreed on as a compromise choice for the tremendously important post of legal advisor to the four rulers of defense.

This will be the second time O'Brian has served under the New Deal's banner. A few years ago he was assistant to Lawrence Fly, now chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, when Fly, as general counsel of the TWA, beat a score of leading Southern utilities in a historic legal battle to junk the great power project. Fly had served under O'Brian in the Justice Department during the Hoover Administration, so when he went to bat against the army of utility lawyers, he hired O'Brian as his right hand man.

But a year later, O'Brian was back in the GOP corner trying to keep 100 per cent New Dealer Jim Mead out of the Senate. Mead defeated him overwhelmingly. O'Brian followed this with another New Deal attack, this time as attorney for big insurance firms put on the griddle by the monopoly investigating committee.

Secretary of the committee at the time was Leon Henderson, now a member of the SEC and also of the Defense Commission. New Dealer Henderson clashed repeatedly with O'Brian during the insurance probe.

Note—Henderson and laborite Sidney Hillman are the only New Dealers occupying key places in the entire defense set-up. Practically every other important place is filled by a Republican, a number of the bitter foes of the principal domestic measures enacted by Roosevelt.

Hoyt's Answered Two Great Needs States Mrs. Koch

Amarillo Mother and Daughter Say Hoyt's Compound Mended Broken Health, Regulated Vomiting Spells, and Renewed Appetite.

"Hoyt's Compound worked like magic for my 12-year-old daughter and me," says Mrs. A.

MISS LOUISE KOCH
J. Koch, 705 Jefferson St., Amarillo, Texas.

"A year ago, my health broke. I had sour stomach, gas bloating, indigestion and dizzy spells. There was a knotty sensation in my stomach. I was nervous, couldn't sleep. My daughter Louise had no appetite and was bothered with vomiting spells. She was underweight, and often had to stay home from school. "Hoyt's Compound regulated my stomach and bowels, ended my nervousness and dizziness. Now I sleep well, have a good appetite. It controlled my daughter's vomiting spells, helped her regain weight and color. She eats well. She likes Hoyt's, and even asks for it!" Hoyt's Compound is sold by the Wolf Drug Store, and for your convenience, by druggists everywhere.

M. L. Young and children and Ida Bell Moore were in Amarillo Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hurtt and children, M. L. Young and children, Miss Florence Webb, Ida Bell Moore and Boyd Moore attended the Hartley P. T. A. program Monday night. It consisted of numbers by the first and second grades; a song by some high school girls; a solo by H. H. White, Hartley; a talk on "Child Psychology" by Alton Weeks of Boys' Ranch, Tascosa; and a study on foreign neighbors by Mrs. Forrest Roberson and Mrs. R. B. Blair, Hartley.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Knight, Conlen, announce the arrival of a son at Loretto hospital, Dalhart. Mrs. Knight is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baskett of this community.

The community Christmas tree and program at the schoolhouse was well attended. After the program Santa distributed gifts and candy to all.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilson entertained with a dinner at their home Sunday. Guests were Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Wilson and son, Pampa; J. E. Mitchell, Conlen; La Forrest Whittier and children, Hartley; and C. P. Whittier and Mrs. Ola Byrd, Hartley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baskett had as dinner guests Sunday Messrs. and Mesdames Ray Baskett and children, Amarillo; Marvin Kline and children, Dumas; A. E. Knight and son, Conlen; and Rev. Bowman, Rev. Lloyd Garrison, Al Myers, Edd Murphy, and Glen Baskett.

Mrs. A. E. Knight and infant son have returned to their home near Conlen after some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Baskett.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fuson and children are visiting her mother and other relatives in Jackson, Miss.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Young and children spent Christmas with her mother and other relatives at Dacoma and Cherokee, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hurtt and children spent Christmas at Roswell, N. M., with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hurtt. He and his brother, Charles Hurtt from Monterey, Calif., spent their first Christmas together in eleven years.

Messrs. and Mesdames Bill Huls and daughter, John Huls and children and Mr. Barney Huls and children spent Christmas visiting relatives in and near Baileysville, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Buechner,

Oklahoma Draftees To Be Entertained

Guymon, Jan. 2.—A big basket dinner, speeches, plenty of music and lots of fun are scheduled for the program Saturday night that will honor the 16 Texas county young men who leave Jan. 5 for a year's military training under the Selective Service Act.

It will be held in the high school auditorium. All schools in the county have been invited, and all county bands will be on hand, sponsors said. Speakers will be Rev. A. F. Click, Methodist pastor of Texhoma and Legion Commander there; and Wallace G. Hughes, state representative of Guymon.

Perryton, spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morris. Mrs. Morris is their daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Morris and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rankin had spent Christmas at Perryton with Mrs. Morris' parents.

R. E. Cramer and Orvel Buechner, Perryton, hunted coyotes here Saturday.

"TRIAL WITHOUT JURY"
By JAMES RONALD

SYNOPSIS

Two misfortunes have befallen the otherwise happy Osborne family within twenty-four hours. First, its head, Stephen, age 50, lost his job; then, the next morning, a telegram from Aunt Octavia announces the visit that day of this rich but decidedly unpopular relative. Mr. and Mrs. Osborne urge their five children "to be nice to her." Dorothy, 23; Ann, 19; Michael, 17; Marjory, 14; and Peter, 12, agree to "be like cats around a saucer of cream." The Osbornes have a veteran servant, Hannah Gale; and a visitor, "Uncle" Simon, elderly bohemian and author of parts. When he learns of Octavia's coming, he decides to leave after telling Ann what a terror her aunt is... how bitter Octavia has been in legally keeping from Stephen his moral share in their father's large estate.

CHAPTER NINE

Marjory sat on the wall which divided the garden from the fields, her long legs dangling down its mossy sides. Her brooding eyes gazed at the distant hills, but she did not see them. She saw sparkling blue water, laced with white ruffles; and the spreading sails of yachts, swelling in the breeze. She saw a terrace dotted with tables at which gay, sophisticated men and women were sipping cocktails under striped umbrellas; and an immense white casino, shining beneath the sun, against a background of tropical foliage. Tall, slender, and very beautiful, and gowned to perfection, Marjory sauntered gracefully along the terrace and all the males turned their heads to look after her.

Marjory was at Monte Carlo—or as nearly at Monte Carlo as an imaginative young girl can be who is sitting on a wall in an American suburb.

A sudden clamor broke in upon her day-dream. She rushed around the nearby corner to stop a fight between her little brother, Peter, and another boy. Gone were her dreams of the romantic Riviera, even further were they gone when Marjory and Peter heard Hannah call: "You're wanted, right away! Hurry!"

"I know what that means," muttered Peter.

"So do I," groaned Marjory. "We've been picked to meet Aunt Octavia."

They were right. In spite of their protests, they were made to wash and change their clothes and dispatched to the railroad station. For days Hannah had been too busy to bake, so Marjory was given fifty cents and instructed to buy a cake in the village.

At first they walked along almost primly, but Nature won't have boys and girls behaving like ladies and gentlemen on a winding country road. Peter produced a tennis ball and they tossed it back and forth as they sauntered along. And so they arrived at the station looking about as untidy as they had before they were called in to wash.

There was a quarter of an hour to wait for the train, of which they spent five minutes gazing in the window of the bakery, wondering which of the limited assortment of cakes to buy. Peter favored one coated thickly with chocolate icing but Marjory pointed out that it wasn't an Aunt Octavia kind of cake. Regretfully she declared that a plain, solid-looking loaf would be much more in Aunt's line.

"Well there are seven of us and only one of her," said Peter, in a tone of utter reasonableness. "Seems to me we ought to please the seven. And I don't see how anyone could help liking the chocolate one."

"Aunt Octavia wouldn't touch it."

"All the more for us, then."

"Mother will be cross if we get something, Auntie won't like."

"Well, she didn't tell us what to get. She said to get something nice—and you can't call that loaf thing nice."

Marjory wavered. "Let's toss for it," coaxed Peter. "Heads, the chocolate cake; tails, the other."

The gamble was irresistible. Marjory capitulated. She tossed the coin and both bent quickly to look at it as it fell. Tails!

"Best two out of three," said Peter quickly.

They tossed again. Heads this time. Anxiously, Peter watched Marjory spinning the coin for the

be a little ruder, in a ladylike way, of course.

Octavia wore a black hat and dress of serviceable dark grey material, grey woollen stockings and grey leather gloves. And in one hand she clutched a handbag quite large enough to hold the average person's week-end requirements.

Behind her stood a tired-looking thin creature, a human mouse, who had received the three large suitcases which the porter handed down and who now waited patiently for orders. Clad in a drab suit which had been cast off by her mistress and "made over," Miss Mimms seemed third time. "Heads! heads! heads!" he muttered under his breath.

The coin dropped on its edge and rolled across the sidewalk. With a mocking tinkle, it fell down the sewer, disappearing in thick black mud.

"Now we've done it!" cried Marjory, in a stricken tone.

Peter went down on his knees and made frantic attempts to salvage the coin. With a long face, he rose at last.

"No use," he mumbled. "Sorry, Marje. It was all my fault."

"It was as much my fault as yours; more, because I'm older. Oh, Peter!—just look at your hands and knees!"

Peter looked. They were a sight! He wiped off some of the dirt with his clean pocket handkerchief. . . . Crestfallen, they hurried to the station in time to see Aunt Octavia descending from a Pullman.

Miss Osborne was a tall, erect old lady with a dominant nose, a thin, tight mouth and a pair of icy blue eyes whose scornful gaze (one could readily believe) would make a raging lion slink dejectedly back to the jungle. Most people, even strangers, were only too willing to let her have her own way. She gave one the instant impression that no matter how rude one was she could always to serve as the humble shadow of Octavia Osborne.

Marjory and Peter timidly approached their aunt. She eyed them coldly from head to foot. They were agonizingly aware that she was itemizing the defects in their appearance. She pecked at each smooth young cheek with pursed lips, sharp and chill.

"Well, I must say you don't seem very pleased to see me. Where are your tongues? You're not always so quiet, I'm certain."

Marjory blushed and Peter scraped one shoe over the other.

"You might at least have washed before you came to meet me. And surely your mother didn't send you out with shoes like that?"

"We—we played along the road," gulped Marjory.

"That," said Miss Osborne grimly, "is obvious. You made mud-pies as well, by the look of you. Surely you are both a little old to enjoy wallowing in dirt?"

"I—I'm sorry, Aunt. We—we didn't think—"

"You didn't think. I can quite believe it. I should be greatly surprised, indeed, to find either of you showing signs of thoughtfulness."

National Legion Commander To Be In Amarillo Soon

Jim M. Johnson, Canadian, eighteenth district commander of the American Legion, today reminded all Legionnaires and ex-service men and their ladies of the district that they are invited to be in Amarillo next Tuesday, Jan. 7, to help entertain Milo J. Warner, Toledo, national commander of the Legion.

Commander Warner will arrive at 5:50 a.m. He will be taken through the helium plant and the Veterans hospital, and at 10:30 will speak at the high school auditorium to school children and the general public.

The Lions club will sponsor a noon luncheon to which everyone is invited. Plates will be 60 cents, or persons may come in after the luncheon to hear Warner speak.

Warner will leave early in the afternoon for Lubbock where an evening program has been arranged for him. Johnson said he is trying to arrange an 18th district delegation to accompany Warner to Lubbock.

Two Couples Tie For Waltz Prize

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hammack, and Sam Hale and Mrs. George Moore last night tied for the $5 prize offered by the American Legion New Year's dance for the best old-time waltz.

"We had a good crowd and an exceptionally good time," declared Roy Noland, commander of the Roy Rhoades Legion post. The dance was held in the Legion's new home, with Johnny Lasswell and his playboys furnishing music. The grand march was led by Mrs. Hammack and her brother, H. A. Haskins, a member of the Joe Carson American Legion Post No. 1 in Tulsa, Okla., who is here visiting.

The Legion, Noland said, will continue its program of Wednesday night dances and is asking suggestions for a dance next Wednesday night. One person has already suggested an old barn dance, with straw on the floor. After a couple of hours the straw would be swept up. Persons would come in overalls and aprons and everyone would be invited.

Legion Meeting Will Be Tonite

The American Legion and Auxiliary will hold a joint meeting tonight at 7:00 in the county court room, Legion Commander Roy Noland reminded this morning.

"We're going to get the membership drive started tonight," he said. "We've got to". He asked that every Legionnaire and ex-service man in the area served by the Dalhart Legion post be on hand.

The Legion and Auxiliary, he said, would also plan to cooperate with the Annual Birthday Celebration for the President, all proceeds from which go into the fight to eradicate infantile paralysis and to aid those who have been or may be stricken by it.

"We will also arrange a delegation to Amarillo next Tuesday to help entertain National Commander Milo J. Warner of Toledo who will be there early morning to shortly afternoon.

Mrs. Charley Mauldin is ill at her home with the flu.

GERMANS—

000 tons and sank 100,000 tons in warships while Nazi losses have been "infinitesimal."

Beaverbrook's Figures

Lord Beaverbrook, in charge of British aircraft production, told newsmen today that a steady stream of American-made bombers are being flown across the Atlantic to Britain and that British air power is at the highest point in history.

Three unidentified planes today bombed neutral Ireland, killing three persons. Fragments identified one bomb as of German make.

It was revealed today that Britain and the U. S. are discussing a plan under which the U. S. would take over British trade routes in the far Pacific, releasing British ships, now plying those routes, for carrying vital war supplies to the British Isle in the Atlantic. The plan is to be discussed between U. S. and British representatives in Washington.

Persons who have just arrived at the Island of Martinique from France say that unoccupied France is becoming increasingly incensed at mounting Nazi demands and restrictions. They are reportedly fully behind Premier Petain who recently rejected Nazi demands that would have virtually put France into the war against Britain.

The French feel, the passengers said, that defeat of Italy in Albania and Africa, has restored

French prestige in the Mediterranean, and that the defeat wipes out the last vestige of criticism of England for failing to aid her allies.
