Mrs. Lucille K. Smith

Testifying in a divorce suit in Los Angeles court, Mrs. Lucille Rawleigh Smith, daughter of an Illinois millionaire, told how her husband, Quentin R. Smith, a bond salesman and film actor, "shot up" the Smith mansion while she barricaded herself and her two children behind locked doors. She claimed her husband smashed furniture and art objects and sent frightened servants scattering in confusion.

Auxiliary Poppy Sale Is Saturday

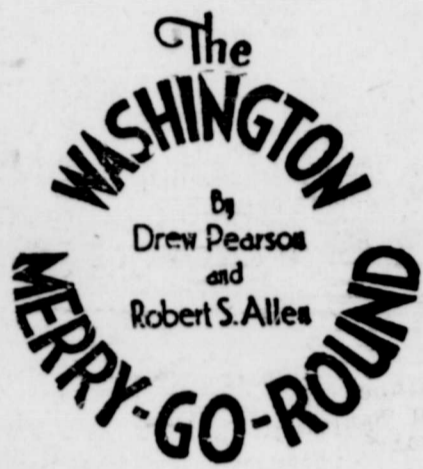

The American Legion auxiliary and children will sell poppies on National Poppy Day Saturday, Mrs. John Rish, president of the auxiliary, said. Any amount will buy a poppy made by disabled veterans of 81 hospitals and 41 work rooms of the nation, it is reported. The main stand will be in front of the Gushwa hotel, Mrs. Rish said.

Seventh Grade Rites Tomorrow Morning

Promotion program for seventh grades of Kella Hill, North Ward schools will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the high school auditorium, Eddie Jones, principal of the Kella Hill school, has reported.

Principal speaker will be John O. Colquitt. Miss Naomi Slay will play the recessional; Rev. C. C. Dooley of the Presbyterian church will pronounce the invocation. Barbara Gaines of South Ward will give a reading; and Barbara Lee Durham of North Ward, a piano solo. Kella Hill girl's trio—Betty Lee McClendon, Mary Jean Farris, and Betty Enfield—will sing.

Superintendent Blake Bolton will present certificates to 98 students being promoted into high school. The benediction will be by Rev. Jno. E. Eldridge, pastor of the Central Methodist church.

WASHINGTON.—It takes no profound expert on international relations to see cogent parallels between the country of this country today and that of certain European countries yesterday.

For instance: Five years ago this column gave the inside story of the French dilemma on March 7, 1936—the date Hitler sent his troops into the remilitarized Rhineland. All that fateful day the French Cabinet deliberated. Whether to send the French army into the Rhineland to stop Hitler's very small, very inexperienced, young army was the question.

Chief of Staff Gamelin notified the Cabinet that to oppose Hitler might not actually mean war, but it meant the risk of war. Hitler's new young army might fold up and retreat. But if it took a stand, it meant war.

The Cabinet debated this all day long. Finally it decided that the country could not risk war. The political reaction would be bad. Also the defense program was not complete.

Later it was disclosed that Hitler had given his troop commanders double marching orders. One order was to advance. The other order was to retreat in case of French resistance.

NOTE.—One year later, when Hitler took Austria, France was better prepared. But Germany was even more so. And far more important, Germany now had protected her great industrial area of the Ruhr and moved into the strategic Rhine valley, for which an attack on either France or Germany is absolutely essential.

USA AND WEST AFRICA
On Thursday, May 15, 1941, it became known that France had signed a deal whereby her colonies in West Africa (and elsewhere) were turned over to Hitler's uses.

On Friday, May 16, 1941, the White House and the State Department debated all day whether President Roosevelt should send a message to Congress warning the nation what German troops and bombing planes at Dakar, on the western bulge of Africa, meant to the Monroe Doctrine.

The day passed and nothing happened. This delay is now being rectified. But previously many other precious days had passed.

Last autumn, after the capitulation of France, General Weygand had an army of 300,000 men in North Africa, plus a fair number of airplanes and artillery. At that time Admiral Leahy, new Ambassador to France, suggested a joint Pan-American naval expedition to Dakar, jumping-off place to South America, to prevent such a jump-off.

At that time General Weygand's army, cooperating with the British in Egypt, could have applied the pincers on the Italians, (Turn to Page 4, Column 1)

Duke of Aosta

Leader of the Fascist forces in Ethiopia, the Duke of Aosta, viceroy of Ethiopia, surrenders, according to a report from Cairo, Egypt. The duke, cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, has sent emissaries to the British as to terms on which he might yield his troops, estimated at approximately 38,000 Italian and colonial soldiers. The duke is shown in his field quarters in East Africa.

Ten Jurors Are Chosen To Try Charles Smart

At 2:40 this afternoon a jury was completed for the Chas. Smart murder trial, and District Attorney John Honts said testimony would start at 3:00. W. D. Pinkerton, West Texas Utilities Co. employee, and M. A. Myatt, highway department worker, both of Dalhart, qualified respectively for the eleventh and twelfth jurors.

At noon today there were still more jurors to be chosen for the Chas. Smart murder trial which opened Monday morning.

Two special venire — one of 144 men, the other of 80 — had been exhausted last night, and at noon today attorneys had questioned more than half the men summoned on a third venire of 60.

Some of the veniremen were excused because of being 60 years old, because they had served on the grand jury that indicted Smart a year ago; because they had disqualified when summoned on the special venire in Smart's trial a year ago, because of illness or other reasons so that at noon today only 172 men had actually been questioned.

And 12 men had actually been chosen. But two — John R. Bridges of 28 miles west of Dalhart, and Sam Hale of Dalhart — were dismissed by agreement of the State and defense after they had been sworn as jurors.

The defense at noon had used 13 of its 15 peremptory challenges, and the State had used six.

The defense had used six. Gilbert Pirkle and J. C. McClendon, both of Dalhart, were chosen as jurors this morning. Two farmers — A. G. Chesnut of the Ware community, and Lee Bishop of west of Dalhart — were selected yesterday afternoon. The others, chosen earlier are: T. B. Presley, F. C. Weatherford, Conlen; Grady Edge, Perico; Frank James, Kerrick; Doyle Giles and Claude Witt, both of Dalhart.

NAZIS HOLD AIR POWER OVER CRETE

England has lost all air bases on Crete and ordered all its planes to leave there.

Thus, the Nazis have complete control of the air and the British and Greek ground defenders must rely entirely on anti-aircraft guns and what cover they can find.

They are spejected incessantly to dive and level bombers, and machine-gunning planes.

Nazis also have captured the largest city on the island; and have taken the big airdrome just off Suda Bay, which is still held by the British.

Nazis are still bringing in troops by air, but London says the British control the sea around Crete. British vessels assertedly have sunk two Nazi transports and a flock of Greek fishing ships, presumably filled with German troops from the nearby Greek mainland; also have driven off a 30-ship German convoy.

While British are not striking at the Germans by air over Crete itself, they have turned their fleet of heavy bombers in North Africa against the Greek air bases from which air-borne troops are taking off for Crete.

Neither side today is claiming to have the situation in hand, and Germans are so uncertain of the outcome in Crete that they have not even told their own people that the battle is in progress.

British have tanks and artillery, while the Nazis do not. Neither side can retreat very far.

Widely circulated and undenied reports today said French Syria had shipped 500 tons of munitions into Iraq to be used by the Iraqis or Germans or both against the British.

London said Germany has both fighter and bomber planes, also air-borne troops and technicians in the rich Mosul oil fields in the Near East and could blast apart the big pipeline through which the British (Turn to Page 4, Column 3)

Levelland Bank Is Robbed Today

Levelland — A man described as about 28 years old, 5 feet, 10 inches tall, and wearing a tan shirt with a white one underneath this morning robbed a Levelland bank of $20,000 and fled in a car that had been noticed in front of the bank since about dawn.

He smashed into the bank through a window and captured the employees as they entered. His first captive was the negro janitor who arrived about daylight. The others came in about 8:00. He forced Woodrow Cobb teller, to open the safe and dump out the bundles of currency, most of it in bills of small denomination. He scooped it up, and herded the eight employees into the vault. He dropped 3,700 as he left, bank employees said.

Using a phone in the vault, the employees notified officers and roads were promptly blocked. The combination was finally worked on the vault and bank workers released.

Employees said the youthful bandit kept his face swathed in a towel, and appeared to be nervous. However, he assured all employees that his guns wouldn't go off if they did what he told them.

An Open Letter To The Weather Man

Dear Sir:

We understand there are some complaints about your service to this territory, and being a friend of yours (even if you are a low-down bum sometimes) we thought it our duty to advise you of the situation here.

Understand, we don't believe in gossiping or repeating stories and we don't carry tales, but since we've been personally acquainted with you and had lots of experiences in doing business with you, both pleasant and unpleasant, we see no reason why it won't do some good to let you in on the feeling that seems to exist here.

You've always been the most talked-about subject we know anything about. You've been called a lot of dirty names in our presence and we admit that the other fellow hasn't been the only one to do the talking. Frankly, a lot of us would be doing business with other concerns if we could, but you've always had us on your hip and never had any competition.

There's a lot of talk going around in the Dalhart territory that unless you let up on this rain, and bring back those black dusters, that you are going to have this country so dog-done pretty that everyone from California to Florida is going to try to come here. You've already fixed it so that there will be plenty of grass, lots of crops (if the farmer is properly equipped with a Farmall and other International Harvester farm machinery) and now folks are talking about fishing right here within a cane pole's length of Dalhart's main street!

Of course you've fixed this country up in swell shape before, but we've talked with lots of the old-timers and they say they've never seen it so perfect. Now if you want to continue sending these wonderful rains every ten or fifteen days we are not ones to complain. We'll just keep getting new farm equipment as fast as we can; stocking our bins with all parts and repairs and keeping our mechanics busy helping these happy farmers keep their equipment rendering the maximum service at the lowest possible cost.

We hope you won't get offended about this because it is constructive criticism and we believe you'll appreciate it.

Very happily yours,

THE FOX HARDWARE CO.

P. S.—Please let us know about this old story they tell about "paying the preacher so the weather man will be nice to you."

squeezed them out of Libya in on time.

But Admiral Leahy's suggestion was not seriously considered. Political sentiment in the United States, he was told, never would stand for it, and besides the United States was not prepared.

Today, the German-Italian armistice commission has dismantled all of General Weygand's airplanes, blown up his forts, disarmed his men, taken away his artillery. And what is left of the French army in North Africa, tired of waiting for the United States and Britain, has thrown in its lot with Hitler.

HITLER'S ENCIRCLING EMBRACE

The way Hitler has conquered most of Europe has been through encirclement. In that strategy there is an important lesson for the United States. The United States has little need to worry about attack from across the Atlantic and Pacific, but it does need to worry about being encircled via South America.

For instance: Hitler's first move in Europe after the Rhineland was to take Austria. Czechoslovakia didn't like it, but her peace groups counseled against risking war; her two allies, Rumania and Yugoslavia, decided that it was not their funeral; and France had been rendered impotent by Hitler's occupation of the Rhineland.

So next day the Czechs woke up to the fact that they now had a border two-thirds surrounded by Germany. North, south and west they faced Nazi troops.

Therefore, a year later, when Hitler got ready to take the Sudetenland, it was relatively easy to apply the pincers to Czechoslovakia—especially since he had the help of Poland and Hungary. Those two countries both wanted slices of Czech territory, mobilized their armies on the rest of the Czecho-slovakia.

STEPS TO TURKEY

Next day Poland woke up to find itself two-thirds surrounded by Germany. By gaining Czechoslovakia, Hitler now could station troops north, south and west of Poland. So a year later, the pincers were applied to Poland and she was swallowed.

Meanwhile, Hungary wanted a slice of Rumania, cooperated with Hitler by sending troops across her borders. Rumania was taken, Hungary found herself surrounded, a vassal state. Her premier committed suicide.

Yugoslavia was a Little Entente ally of both Czechoslovakia and Rumania, but ignored the alliance when they needed help. Later Yugoslavia found herself surrounded on three sides: by Italy on the west, Nazified Austria, Rumania and Bulgaria on the north and east. The Axis applied the pincers and now it was Yugoslavia's funeral.

Turkey was an ally of Yugoslavia, but decided to remain an isolationist nation. Today, Turkey is completely surrounded: by Nazi-occupied Syria, Nazi-occupied Greece, and Nazi-occupied Bulgaria—plus uncertain Russia. Whenever Hitler gets ready to pluck her, it will be Turkey's funeral.

USA AND BRAZIL

The United States, it might be repeated, has little to fear from direct attacks across the Atlantic and Pacific. Neither did Yugoslavia or Turkey two years ago fear direct attack. At that time Germany was many miles distant.

But should Germany get a toehold in Brazil, Venezuela or the Guianas, then it is but a few hours

Catholic Troop To Get Scout Charter Rex Beene Will Be TCU Graduate

The Scout charter will be presented to the Catholic Boy Scout troop tomorrow night at 7:30 at St. Anthony's church, Fr. J. L. Daly announced today.

Fr. Tom Drury, rector of Sacred Heart Cathedral in Amarillo, will preach on "Scouting and Religion." The ceremonies will close with benediction and "Holy God We Praise Thy Name."

Relatives and friends are invited, Fr. Daly said.

REX BEENE

Rex Beene, son of C. W. Beene of Dalhart, will be among the 200 Texas Christian University graduates at Fort Worth June 2—the largest class in the history of the institution.

Beene is a music major, and has been a member of the Horned Frog band and TCU orchestra four years. He has been assistant director of the band and president of the Music club this year. He also belongs to Los Hidalgos, campus Spanish club, and was a member of the famous TCU Glee club his freshman year.

C. W. Beene is director of the Dalhart high school and XIT bands. For years he has been outstanding as a band director, and his pupils have won national recognition.

Dr. O. L. Shelton, pastor of the First Christian church in Wichita Falls, will preach the TCU baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning, June 1, at the University Christian church. President-elect M. E. Sadler of TCU will deliver the commencement address Monday evening, June 2.

Senior class officers this year are Charlton McKinney, Sulphur Springs, president; Jack Billingsley, Kilgore, vice-president; and Miss Earleen Polk, Fort Worth, secretary-treasurer.

7 Million Acres Are Cut Off U.S. Wheat Allotment

Washington. — The AAA wheat allotment for the coming year was announced today as 55 million acres for the nation. Because export markets have declined, due to the war; and surpluses are mounting, due to better crops, the allotment was trimmed seven million acres from the one this year.

NAZIS HOLD—

However, Iraqis themselves shut off the supply in this line several weeks ago. British said they had anticipated such an occurrence and had ample reserves.

Berlin claimed today that Nazi Stukas had sunk one British cruiser and damaged two others in the Eastern Mediterranean.

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden today warned that if Unoccupied France goes through with its proposed closer collaboration with Germany it will be subject to British bombing. The enemy, Eden said, must be attacked wherever he is found.

Speeches of Secretary of War War Stimson, made today, and of Secretary of the Navy Knox, made yesterday, are being construed by Washington observers as possible indications that the administration will seek repeal of the neutrality law. This law now prohibits U. S. ships from going into combat zones. If it is repealed, U. S. vessels can carry war supplies direct to England.

A House committee today started paving the way for a Presidential request for additional vice-admirals to carry out special missions. No details have been given.

Dalhart Country club officials this morning also reminded that a one-day golf tournament will be held at the Liberal, Kan., Country club Sunday, June 8.

Entrance fee is $1 and "there will be plenty of prizes," according to tournament officials. The event tees off at 9:00 a.m.

bombing flight to Columbia and the Panama Canal, or a short step to Central America and Mexico.

Today, Brazil, Colombia and Venezuela, very friendly countries but proud of their sovereignty, sympathize with the United States in regard to Germany—except that like every other Latin-American nation, they absolutely oppose admitting U. S. troops on their soil in advance to help block a Nazi invasion.

Of course they have excellent precedents, Belgium, for instance, refused to permit French troops on her soil or even to have general staff consultations with France in advance of the Nazi invasion.

Brazil, Colombia and Venezuela may change their minds tomorrow. Belgium changed its mind—but too late.

(Editor's Note.—How the U.S.A. delayed too long in Spain and in Japan will be told in subsequent Merry-Go-Round columns.)

LAFF-A-DAY

"Cheesy material, ain't it?"

Some more booklets we have received and won't read: "The American Jewish Committee on Research Institute on Peace and Post-War Problems" and "Jewish Studies of Peace and Post-War Problems" and "Shall We Repeat Russian Recognition?" And if you want to learn something about the importance of Timken bearings in national defense we have an elaborate pamphlet on that, too.

Mrs. Lee Atkinson is nobody's sissy: While in Florida she proved to be an expert fisherwoman and practically became an aviatrix, flying in one of those big bomber planes. "Oh, it's a beautiful country and a wonderful place to spend a vacation, but Dalhart and the Panhandle is still the most beautiful place to those of us who have lived here," is the way Mrs. Atkinson puts it. Wish we could prevail on her to write some of her experiences in fishing and flying for The Texan.

Sid Mitchell: "Until O'Daniel entered the race, I felt sure Jerry Mann would win, but now I don't know." That same doubt seems to exist in the minds of lots of folks, including mine. But it may be that the people of Texas will examine Jerry Mann's record carefully. Maybe they'll look into the past life of this young self-made man and figure what kind of stuff a fellow is made of who can educate himself, become president of the Student Council in his college, then pay his way through Harvard University at the same time taking care of a wife and child, then become Secretary of State and Attorney General. And be elected to a second term of Attorney General without opposition, Texas, as a rule, will promote young men like Gerald Mann.

Just after writing the above, I

He agreed that it might be tough for and we stopped Ben Kendall asked him the same question. "Looks like Mann will be when the votes are counted," former Mayor said. "I'm strongly in favor of Mann. I believe his chances against the are slim. They'll both vote. Mann, however, and will other votes.

You can expect some big to break for Dalhart soon, as big as the rain. And please ask me about it, because I given my word that it was told because something might pen to prevent it. Anyway sell Dalhart short.

No Pessimism Can Be Justified, Says Babson

(By ROGER BABSON)

Babson Park, Mass., May 22.—In view of the changed situation in Washington following the collaboration between United France and Germany, the war will be shorter than most people think. Although we may, directly or indirectly, convey shipments to England yet, with Congress in its present mood, there is no chance of the United States now declaring war.

New Dealers Weakening

For this, and other reasons, there is no cause for the pessimism which is about today in Washington, New York, and most of the large cities. It is true that huge sums of money are being taken from the rich through terribly high taxes. This money is being given either to labor in the form of high wages or short hours, or is being distributed to the unfortunate through various forms of relief. Billions are being spent on tanks and airplanes; but are these any more wasteful than pleasure cars and crime? Crime alone, last year, cost this country $15,000,000,000.

I got a new idea in Washington the other day. Here it is as put up to me by one of the New Deal economists. Said he: "Give us two or three years longer and these economic operations will not be necessary, as the patients are constantly dying off. Isn't it just as humane to keep the economically-inefficient businessmen, farmers, and unemployed free from pain and let them die naturally as it is to eliminate them now through bankruptcy? They have only a few more years to live anyway." This is a new thought to me; but there may be something in it.

Liquidating Labor

Sure, labor leaders may have seen their best days for some time to come. During the past eight years labor has had the sympathy of not only the administration, but also of a large part of the public. Even the newspapers of the country found it bad business to combat labor. Hence, labor leaders have been riding "high, wide, and handsome." This situation has greatly changed during the past few days. Strikes have become unpopular and labor leaders have been put on the defensive.

President Roosevelt and Mr. Perkins may not have the guts to get after these labor leaders as they did the bankers and the utilities; but things move very fast these days. Who would have thought that memberships on the New York Stock Exchange—which sold for $650,000 twelve years ago—could now be bought for only $20,000 when they carry $20,000 life insurance! Wage workers will be protected in their desire to organize and bargain collectively; but they will not be allowed to defy the anti-trust laws or hold up American consumers.

What About Inflation?

Congress has increased the debt limit to $65,000,000,000. Unless there is a negotiated peace within a reasonable time, this debt will approach $100,000,000,000. Whether we will come to the printing of the currency, I do not know. Washington insists that dangerous inflation will be prevented through high taxation, price fixing, and forcing wage workers to put a portion of their money into government bonds instead of spending it. This might keep people from bidding up prices. Things which are largely wasteful or harmful will be taxed especially heavily.

On the other hand, it must be realized that inflation in some form will be one of the methods to be used for defraying the expenses of a long war. Some readjustment of the currency will be needed in order to hold our foreign trade and compete with foreign nations where inflation has already gotten well under way. A mild form of inflation might be quite helpful to business and offers one way of reducing our public debt.

Young Men America's Hope

Most of the pessimism now floating about comes from the older businessmen who cannot forget the "good old days" when taxes were very low and they could do as they pleased. The nation owes these bankers, manufacturers, and merchants a tremendous lot, and should treat them with respect. Statistics show, however, that they are rapidly dying off, and their places are being taken by younger men who never knew those good old days. These younger men accept present conditions as normal and do not worry about taxes, government regulations, and other handicaps.

As I travel about the country, it is interesting to note the difference in the attitude of members of our regular chambers of commerce from the attitude of the members of the junior chambers—the "Jaycees" as they are called. Most of the resolutions passed by the older groups are AGAINST something; they are trying to sweep back the ocean with a broom. The resolutions passed by the Jaycees are FOR something; they are interested in launching a ship to sail the seas! Every year more and more of these Jaycees are coming into a position of authority. After returning from a speaking engagement before a sedate chamber of commerce, I am a blue pessimist, but after speaking to a group of these Jaycees, I am a rip-roaring bull.

Conclusion

I am not pigheaded about economic conditions; nor have I rose-colored glasses on while writing this column. Some day America and the world will witness another very severe depression; but this may also wipe out the impractical features of the New Deal and again put industry, thrift, initiative, and courage back into the saddle. This, however, is some years off. In the meantime, World War II is to be finished and—after a short, sharp readjustment period—we should have several years of prosperity during the Reconstruction Period which is to follow.

IN THE ARMY NOW! WHY AND HOW

By S. T. Williamson

The people at selective service headquarters in Washington have a lot of things more immediate to do than flip slide rules and punch adding machines merely to give the likes of us conclusive figures on the progress of the draft. They have, however, brought some important calculations up to March 1, which may be a good-enough tape measure to show whether the age limits for drafted men should be changed or remain where they are.

These figures show that ten times as many 23-year-olds are found available for military service as 35-year-olds. Being younger, they are in better physical condition, few of them can afford a wife, if they are ready to settle down, and those who have jobs have not gone far enough in their chosen trades to warrant deferment as men necessary for other national defense work.

Two-thirds of all the men blown into the Army by the draft are between 21 and 25. Nearly 80 per cent run from 21 to 28. This means that some 9,000,000 men registered for selective service furnish about four-fifths of the jeeps now learning their military ABC's. Out of roughly 7,000,000 men between 29 and 35, local boards have been able to fill only one-fifth of their quotas.

If the elder half of the selected service age groups can furnish merely one-fifth of those taken into the Army, the question naturally arises, "Why take them?" That question is now being asked of Congress by the top flight selective service administrators.

What questions in the mail?

B. H., New Castle, Pa.: 1. Excluding "wine, women and tobacco" what per cent of a draftee's monthly pay has to be spent for expenses at camp? 2. Some boys who have been drafted have debts. Could some money be saved for such debts or will they lose money invested in articles bought on the installment plan?

1. A soldier has only personal expenses to meet while in the service. A few camps have laundries, but elsewhere a man either pays for his laundry or does it himself. 2. Of course, some men make allotments to their families out of their pay. Under the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act of 1940 no man in military service may be sued unless

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Deadline for entries in the free Photo Contest, sponsored by the Dalhart Camera club, is June 7, club officials reminded today.

The contest is open to all amateur photographers residing in the Dalhart trade territory—which includes the Texas and Oklahoma Panhandles and Northeastern New Mexico—except Camera club members and their families.

The only restriction is that the photo subject must be "People At Work or Play." Any size black and white print will be accepted, though 5x7's are preferred.

Any person can enter as many pictures as he likes, provided each is accompanied by an official entry blank which can be secured free from any dealer in photo supplies, or at the chamber of commerce. They are also available at the West Drug store in Channing, club officials said, or can be written for.

However, pictures which have been published in any magazine or newspaper in the U. S., and pictures entered in any other photographic contest are not eligible.

Club members will be judges, and will exercise every possible care over the pictures but will not assume responsibility for loss or damage. Pictures will be returned only if called for at the 400 Drug within two weeks after winners have been announced.

The contest offers six attractive prizes. Top prize is $3 cash, or one year's membership in the Camera club, given by the club. Second prize is an 8x10 portrait given by Rita Blanca Studio.

Forty-Two Tourney Still Possibility

A group of forty-two enthusiasts met last night in the Joe L. horns barber shop to discuss holding another tournament in Dalhart.

One held a few weeks ago, on the auspices of the North Ward, drew nearly 50 entries and aroused widespread interest.

No decision was reached last night, it was reported, this morning, but there was so much interest that another meeting will be held.

Army engineers' boat on Conchas
Lake.
The lake has an area of 26 square miles; holds a maximum of 600,000 acre feet of water, and was constructed for flood control purposes.
An $8,500,000 irrigation project is under construction to irrigate 49-000 acres near Tucumcari.
The lake in May, 1939, was stocked with 903 adult crappie, just before spawning time. Each female spawns from 25,000 to more than 100,000 eggs, so the lake should have a good stock of crappie.
In June, 1939, 100,000 fingerling large-mouth bass from the Dexter Federal Hatchery were put in the lake. In 1940 another planting of bass and crappie was made, and in addition 500,000 pike perch fry were placed in the lake. There was an abundance of yellow channel catfish in the Canadian river when the lake began filling and excellent natural spawning of these species has reportedly taken place.

"Spoiled Girl" by LUCILLE MARSH JOHNSON

SYNOPSIS

Gabrielle Snow, lovely 18-year-old daughter of wealthy Samuel Snow, oil magnate, falls in love with Peter Parsons, a handsome young soda clerk. Peter, however, is a talented singing pianist and aspires to become a composer. Gabrielle's parents object to the match because Peter has no social background. So one night, while out riding with Gabrielle's friend, Dorothy Mackey, and the latter's fiance, Tony, Goby and Peter decide to get married immediately. Tony prevails upon Dot to make it a double wedding. After the ceremony, Gabrielle recalls that her uncle's will stipulated that if she married before she was 21, she would not get her inheritance until she became 35. "I'm glad of it," Peter announces. "I'd never have married you if I'd known you would have so much money. Now you'll have to be dependent on me!" They return home to face the music. When Gabrielle introduces Peter as her husband, her mother nods coolly, then excuses herself and goes upstairs. At first, Mr. Snow is all for having the marriage annulled, but when Gabrielle convinces him that she really loves Peter, he gives them his blessing. Mrs. Snow also relents. Peter declines their offer of financial help, insisting on supporting his wife himself, so the young couple rent an unpretentious $25-a-month apartment. Despite its plainness, Gabrielle awakens the first morning with a feeling of supreme happiness. She calls Peter who, upon seeing her, says, "Then it wasn't a dream!"

CHAPTER NINE

Gabrielle went back to sleep when Peter left for work. He had shaved and she had witnessed the ritual from her bed, so tiny was the apartment. She had loved the flaming feeling of wifeliness this gave her. She loved his telling her there was no need of her getting his breakfast, as he could grab it at the fountain.

The apartment did not look so enchanting by daylight as it had by the light of the lamp. Upon investigation she discovered the reason the divan had been placed in such an awkward position across the corner of the room. It was not, as she had supposed, because of the poor taste of the person who had arranged it; alas! there was a large hole in the exact corner of the rug which made this imperative.

Straightening up as best she could, Gabrielle then took a bath, noting with alarm the low pressure of the water system, as well as the lack of a shower. There was no bath powder, and the towels were of appalling smallness. Well, she soliloquized, she could remedy these latter things.

She walked down to the nearest grocery store when she had dressed and called a taxi. At home again, she began, with Helen's help, to gather up all the things which she felt would beautify her living quarters. She refused nothing which her mother offered her.

Trip after trip was made to the little apartment on Apple Tree Street. One gnarled old apple tree presumably gave it its name, although the landlady offered the information that once, long ago, there had been a large apple orchard here. The one lone tree stood at the corner close to the apartment house and seemed the only venerable thing of beauty in the short thoroughfare.

Violet, much against her will, was talked into going over to the small place and doing the heavy work. A new rug was laid, curtains were hung, and the rooms fixed up to the extent that it was hardly the same place. With the flower pictures from Gabrielle's own room, and many pillows of gay taffetas and damasks, the apartment soon resembled a toy living room.

Odd, the Boston, was duly installed and food was bought. It was when one of the last trips home was made by Gabrielle that she was summoned to the telephone. She thought it would be Peter, but it was Dorothy.

"We're leaving the first of the week for Bermuda, Gaby. Tony and I. Mother's giving a luncheon and shower for you and me at the club tomorrow afternoon. I've been trying to get you all day!"

Gabrielle explained excitedly what she was doing, although she experienced a small feeling of envy over Dorothy's trip.

Dorothy giggled: "I don't know where we're going to live, but the fireworks are over anyway, thank goodness! My hat, Gaby, I don't know where we got the nerve to do what we did!"

work overtime because of being off the day before. But at 11 o'clock he would be able to come to her.

Odd came up to the divan and whined, gazing up at her questioningly. His eyes looked more sorrowful than usual.

"Come on up, Odd," urged Gabrielle. "So, you don't like this place, is that it? Well, it's your home for the time being, old boy!"

She rubbed Odd's glossy brindle back, scratched around his upstanding ears, and finally he curled up beside her, giving a deep sigh of resignation.

Gabrielle began reading again. Much later, when Gabrielle could

"Who was on the phone, mother?" Gabrielle asked.

"I'm so happy, Dot!"

"Happy! I'm delirious—I'm an idiot!" announced Dorothy in her always flat sounding voice. "Well, about the luncheon. Your mother is expected, of course. I hope we get lots of swell things, Gaby!"

While Gabrielle was in her room getting a few of the clothes out of the clothes press, she heard the phone ring again, and her mother answer it. She wouldn't have paid any attention except that Helen dropped her voice very low. The conversation lasted only a minute, and then Helen called up saying she was ready to go.

"Who was on the phone, Mother?" she inquired, coming down the stairs with two hat boxes and hangers loaded with dresses.

"Your father, dear, but what he said is a secret," answered Helen. "I'll take you to the apartment, then I simply must hurry and get him."

When they reached the apartment they were met by Violet, and her eyes were shining brightly in her black, mirror-like face.

"Go look in dat bit of a kitchen, Miss Gabrielle, honey," she cried.

Hurrying into the kitchenette, Gabrielle found a large porcelain refrigerator of expensive make standing in the place of the old, golden oak ice box. She turned back to her mother, after reading the attached card:

"Mother—oh, I do thank you and Daddy so much! This will help heaps. I hated that old ice box—it dribbled on the floor all the time!"

Her mother and Violet left, and she sat down on the divan amidst the pillows and viewed her surroundings with satisfaction. Why in the world, she wondered to herself, did people make such a to-do over being poor?

Taking up a magazine, she turned on a reflector lamp near the divan and began reading. Peter had to scarcely keep her eyes open, Peter came. He opened the unlocked door quietly, as though fearing to wake her, and when he saw she was still up he came into the room, grinning happily.

"I've a letter from my cousin in New York, Gaby!" he exclaimed.

Then—he stopped. A queer expression came over his face as he looked around the newly furnished apartment. Gabrielle thought, with a somehow guilty feeling, that he looked bewildered and hurt.

"Don't you like it, Peter?" she asked, trying to smile.

He stood gazing at the rug, his face a study. Suddenly he raised his eyes to hers and there was cold fury in them.

"I suppose your mother did this?" His tone was low and he seemed to be breathing with difficulty.

"Of course, Peter—she and Daddy!" Gabrielle had gotten up. "Surely you like it much better than the horrid old stuff that was here?"

His eyes were glued to hers and he sat down in a chair, still gazing at her. The chair was the only remaining piece of furniture, she thought half angrily, which had belonged in the apartment. His mouth was a firm line, his black brows drawn together, his eyes questioning.

"Oh, for heaven's sake, Peter!" she cried irritably. "Don't be so silly! Surely you don't mind the folks helping us a little."

"But—you know I do mind," Peter said. His happy expression was definitely gone and in its place was a discouraged look. "I explained to you how much you could expect of me before I married you."

"Well—it's you that's complaining—not I."

Six New Citizens From This Sector

Among the 44 new citizens naturalized in an impressive ceremony in federal district court in Amarillo Friday were six from Dalhart and vicinity.

In the largest class in Amarillo history were Elsie Reimers McMurry of Dumas, who was born in Germany; Abram Abel Wiebe of near Dalhart, a citizen of Canada; Clarence Ray Stanley, of Dumas, who was born in the United States but had become a Canadian citizen; George Fountas, Dalhart, born in Greece; Lucas Feliciano Gaona, of Conlen, a citizen of Mexico; and Bazel Leonard Stanley, Dumas, a Canadian by birth.

After the new citizens had taken oath, Amarillo Girl Scouts filed into the court room to welcome them. All raised right hands and recited allegiance to the flag. The roll was called, and each new citizen received a small United States flag.

Emory Cantrell is back from a business trip to Kansas City.

Houston visited with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gibson last week.

Texline sophomores were honored at a party in the homemaking rooms of the high school last Thursday night. Attending were Juanita Wilson, Willene Claborn, Dapane Walpeep, Jean Brister, Victor Jones, Eugene Welling, Mary Elva Hayes, Gene Day, and the teachers, Misses Helen Shirley and Mildred Keen, and Superintendent E. Better than 25 per cent of all Retail Sales in Dalhart are made by Food Stores* Roughly, grocers account for approximately 25 per cent of Local Retail Newspaper Advertising. Grocers lead the field as a classification in consistency of advertising and of purpose.

Dalhart Grocers More Than Hold Their Own Against Outside Competition!

The Grocery Classification is the only one which leads the same classification in a nearby city in average sales per store. Dalhart Food Stores average almost 10 per cent greater sales per store than the food stores of the city mentioned.* (The drug store classification is second—only 8 per cent below the average per store in the same city.)

There must be reasons for Dalhart Food and Drug Stores' splendid comparative showing! Consistency of advertising by the classifications as a whole—along with their modern retail methods—undoubtedly help explain the answer.

More rain has fallen over the Dalhart area and southward along the New Mexico and Texas line where the fall ranged up to two and a half inches.

The fall in Dalhart started early this morning and at 7:30 had totaled .83 of an inch, according to the U. S. field station. The station had recorded .06 of an inch Tuesday night and yesterday; and Monday night and Tuesday recorded 1.38 inches.

The Canadian River Gas Co. plant two miles east of Dalhart had recorded 1.43 inches at 9:00 this morning.

Rain, about the same as here, fell from Tucumcari through Dalhart to Stratford, Rock Island officials said. Tucumcari is 93 miles west of here, and Stratford 30 miles east.

Rock Island section men at mid-morning estimated three feet of water flowing in Rita Blanca creek under the R. I. bridge a mile and a half west of Dalhart. This is just a few hundred yards from the extreme upper end of the four and a half mile long Rita Blanca lake which stood slightly above 41 feet at 8:00 this morning.

The lake stood at 41 feet even yesterday morning and has been receding about four inches a day. SCS employees expect the lake to rise slowly as a result of the water in Rita Blanca draw.

Persons coming in from the country say every little ditch and gully was tearing along like a miniature river early this morning.

Parade Of Movie Hits Is Announced

Look at this parade of star-studded movies for this weekend in Dalhart:

"She Knew All the Answers," starring Joan Bennett and Franchot Tone, is at the Mission tomorrow and Saturday. On the same two days the La Rita will show "The Roundup," headlining Richard Dix, Patricia Morrison and Preston Foster. Both shows are 10 and 15 cents.

Bette Davis and George Brent are featured in "The Great Lie" which prevues Saturday midnight at the Mission and continues Sunday and Monday. Starred with them are Mary Astor, Lucile Watson, Hattie McDaniel.

Director is Edmund Goulding, who also directed "Dark Victory" and "The Old Maid." Brent starred in both these films, and Miss Davis in "The Great Lie" is said to be even finer than in "The Old Maid," one of her grandest triumphs.

The La Rita Sunday and Monday is returning an old favorite to Dalhart—"San Francisco." Jeanette MacDonald, Clark Gable and Spencer Tracy are the stars. This picture has turned out to be one of the darlings of American movie audiences. They never tire of it.

Gable is the hard-boiled Barbary coast dance hall proprietor and he nevertheless likes Spencer Tracy, who plays the role of a Catholic priest. While the pair are friends, Tracy is never backward about whaling the tar out of Gable in their boxing workouts.

Miss MacDonald plays a highly dramatic and sympathetic role. The film includes the San Francisco earthquake, and rises to a crescendo of drama that marks it as one of the finest stories of all times.

THE RECORD... Facts That Concern You

No. 29 of a Series

It's always the SORE thumb that sticks out...

Odd, isn't it—the way everybody notices the sore thumb?

It's the same way with the retailing of beer. Everybody knows about the one undesirable place...everybody seems to forget about the thousands of worthwhile retailers who operate clean, decent, law-abiding establishments.

To protect the good name of beer, we of the beer industry want the few... but noticeable... "black sheep" retailers eliminated.

That's not all. Such retailers endanger an industry that brings important economic benefits to the community. Right here in Texas beer provides employment for 31,165 persons, supporting annual payroll of $22,076,182 and distributed $2,273,968.64 last year in taxes.

This state, too, has an important part in the beer industry's purchases—materials, equipment, and services from more than 100 other industries.

You can help us protect these benefits in two ways—by (1) patronizing only the law-abiding places where beer is sold and (2) by reporting any irregularities you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

BEER...a beverage of moderation
