ANTI-AXIS REVOLTS STEADILY GAIN

Gene Worley Fete In Dalhart Tonite

Delegations from Channing, Dumas, Texline, Stratford, and probably several other centers will be in Dalhart at 7:30 tonight for the Ambassador club's public banquet honoring Congressman Gene Worley of Shamrock.

The event will be in the Central Methodist church basement dining room. Worley, the principal speaker, will discuss latest defense developments and other significant happenings and trends in the national capital.

Worley, accompanied by his wife, Ann, is on his first leave from congress since he took his seat last January. He will return to Washington Sunday. However, he and Mrs. Worley are managing to visit a lot of towns and a lot of friends during their brief stay.

Worley formally opened Arrarillo's week-long Tri-State Fair Monday and tomorrow returns to the exposition grounds for an address which will be carried over the radio.

The Shamrock Booster and Rotary clubs yesterday combined their meetings to pay honor to Shamrock's own Gene Worley. The congressman this afternoon is being honored at a meeting and program in Dumas and will come direct from there to Dalhart.

He will arrive here about 6 or 6:30, according to the latest word received by Lyle Johnson. He wants to see Rita Blanca lake and two motorboats have been engaged to carry him and his party.

Chairman Lyall Murdock said the Dallam County CCC committee has asked for a brief conference with him.

CONGRESSMAN WORLEY

Ralph Gray will be master of ceremonies at the banquet tonight. Mayor Herbert Peoples will formally welcome Worley. Entertainment will include numbers by Bill Nite and the Dalhart Girls Trio—Cleo Hanson, Irma Jeanette Karnes and Betty Steele.

Dalhart Druggists Event Is To Open In City Tomorrow

Dalhart druggists begin their observation of Nationally Advertised Brands Week tomorrow, offering many nationally advertised brands at their only special price of the year.

In cooperation with the druggists, The Texan will present a free theatre pass, good Friday or Saturday to every person bringing a sales slip from Wolf Drug, McGee Drug or Wanser Drug to The Texan office on either of those days, showing a total purchase of $2.00 or more, excluding liquor and prescriptions.

Hospital Ball To Be On October 17

The annual Loretto Hospital Benefit ball, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Jim C. Hammack, will be held Friday night, Oct. 17, it was announced today.

It will be held in two halls. A. L. Hills has donated the Trianon, and the Legion and Auxiliary have donated the Legion hall.

The orchestras will be Hertrick's Rhythm Clowns and Bill Newman and his music-makers, both of Amarillo.

The ball, as usual, will be a Golden Heart event, which means that a per cent of the total proceeds will go to the Golden Heart Charities for Children which serves both Dallam and Hartley counties.

The Golden Heart Charities was organized to extend help, when needed, to sick or crippled children who were not eligible for aid from the Dallam-Hartley Counties Chapter of Infantile Paralysis. The chapter can help only when the child is a victim of infantile paralysis, or when his troubles come directly from infantile.

Grains And Stocks Both Slip Off Today

Chicago grains and New York stocks are lower today, while New York cotton gained 5 to 8 points.

Wheat at noon was a half to three-quarters off: Dec. $1.22 5-8. Corn was down a quarter to three-eighths: Dec. 31 5-8. Oats dropped an eighth to five-eighths: Dec. 52 5-8. Soybeans declined two to two and seven-eighths: New Oct. $1.75 1-2.

At the end of the second hour in New York, Dow-Jones industrials were off a dime. Third-hour volume was 300,000 shares.

Next Dallam County Electees Announced

Roy Allison Reeves and Alva Anderson McAdams are the next Dallam county electees, the local draft board announced today. They are due to leave Dalhart the morning of Oct. 14 for Fort Bliss for induction into the Army for a year's training.

Revolt and sabotage today became increasingly menacing in Axis-controlled nations, while Britain and Russia planned to help organize anti-Axis forces in Italy. Britain and Germany, through an unnamed third party, also arranged for an exchange of 1500 sick and wounded prisoners Saturday and Sunday, during which war in and over the English Channel will be suspended.

The German Gestapo is making thousands of arrests in the Balkans where the spreading revolts and sabotage are becoming of real concern to the Nazis. Most of the arrests apparently were in Czechoslovakia, where reportedly 130 have been executed by firing squads. But the anti-Axis resistance continues.

Britain and Russia announced openly that now is the time for them to help organize opposition to the Axis in Italy, which might have collapsed long ago except for what amounts to German occupation.

Either anti-Axis activities have subsided in Norway or the Nazi censorship is screening them from the world's view. However, saboteurs are still stabbing the Germans in the Low Countries. The Gestapo is making numerous arrests, and death sentences and prison terms are being imposed.

Paul Collette, French youth who several weeks ago nearly succeeded in assassinating former French Premier Pierre Laval with a pistol, has been sentenced to death, a French report said today.

Laval was ousted from the Vichy government months ago because of his strong pro-Nazi leanings.

Germans are minimizing the Balkan unrest. Informed observers insist, however, that suicides have reached an alarming rate; that hundreds dodge the Gestapo by staying away from their homes while other hundreds have fled to the hills where anti-Axis guerilla bands are operating.

The exchange of British and German prisoners will begin Saturday morning. The air forces, sea craft and shore artillery units of both nations will be inactive. Two big hospital ships, carrying 1500 Germans, will put out from England Saturday morning, discharge their cargoes at a French port and pick up (Turn to Page 4, Column 4)

3 Suspects Held In Miley Murder

Lexington, Ky. — Police today held three Kentucky youths and perhaps their first lead to the killers of Marion Miley, woman golf champion, who was shot to death at the Lexington Country club Sunday. Her mother was fatally wounded by the robbers who made off with $145. Two of the youths, picked up on vagrancy charges, vehemently denied knowledge of the Miley affair.

New Mercury And Fords Will Go On Display Tomorrow

The new Ford and Mercury go on display tomorrow at the Scott Motor Co., where motorists have been extended a special invitation to view these cars. For a preview, however, turn to pages 9 and 16 in today's Texan.

The WASHINGTON BY-DRAW GO-ROUND by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

Note—The Washington By-Draw-Go-Round, whose brilliant stories on the Louisiana games have won national fame, here gives summary of the two great armies engaged in the mimic battle. Robert S. Allen was on duty service covering the up of regulars, National Guardsmen, inductees and reservists from every part of the country is a true cross section of the S. A. and a very inspiring and patriotic, high-spirited, eager to learn.

THE THIRD ARMY—The Army is the largest and one of the best of the new citizen arm-

Throughout the big Louisiana games the men of the Third Army in heat and downpour, over swamp and woodland, had a spirit of scrappy aggressiveness and tenacity that kept the enemy (Second Army) content on the defense. From reconnaissance patrols to Army every unit of the Third was in a fight and determination to carry out the feats of this new still a fledgling force learning the arts of war, were remarkable for example:

The first two days of the first of the maneuvers the 43rd and 38th Divisions of National Guardsmen marched over 50 miles and went immediately into battle. This is an outstanding performance and on a par with the best displayed by crack infantry, which underwent such for seven years. It graphically demonstrates the superb physical fitness and esprit of these soldiers.

Another example was the extraordinary feat of the 1st Cavalry in fording the Sabine River with all its heavy motor equipment (400 vehicles) to pounce early in the morning on the unsuspecting west of the enemy and capture a part of its gas supplies. To this treacherous stream the 1st Cavalry Division had to haul over trucks and 155 caliber guns weighing 4,500 pounds.

Strikes Going On Everywhere

There's a big strike on in New York.

Some seventy thousand workers are striking every afternoon.

Some thirty-odd ball players are striking at a white pellet.

Hundreds of school children are striking against afternoon classes.

This "strike" occurs once annually and regardless of wages, hours, or laws to the contrary it can't be prevented. In fact they even start the world baseball series with "The Star Spangled Banner," the newspapers and radios tell the world everything that takes place, and heroes and bums are made while the "strike" is taking place.

Over in Europe they are having a strike, too.

There are millions of human beings involved.

Some are being struck with bombs that fall in the cover of darkness, others by machine gun bullets, thousands by long-range guns. It is the most terrible, most tragic "strike" in all history.

That this country is so far not involved in this tragedy is something for which all of us are grateful.

Over here at our establishment we are having a "strike," too. It has nothing to do with wages or hours of employment, for we are working all hours and doing the best we can for wages. But the "strike" is the sound of hammer against steel, the tightening of nut to bolt, the cranking of a tractor, the sound of farm machinery being set up ready for the big harvest, the "strike" of farmers against outmoded and worn-out farm equipment.

And with our "Late-Frost Department" we are also striking against a frost of any kind during October. We have hopes of having a friendly settlement with Old Man Weather, but this week we thought he was going to let us down. In fact we can't say he made us feel too well, but then the frost hasn't come yet.

We'll be glad to have you join our "strike" against an early frost and against worn-out and outmoded farm equipment.

MERRY-GO-ROUND— (Continued From Page 1)

The Third Army has all the elements of a great combat force in the finest American tradition. It isn't that yet, but it is well on the way. It still has a lot to learn, from buck private to commanding general.

But what distinguishes the men of the Third is their will to learn, their aggressiveness and pride as citizen soldiers.

NOTE—As is the case in the other citizen armies, chief deficiency of the Third Army is lack of small unit (platoon and company) training. This is primarily due to inexperienced non-commissioned and company officers.

"The Old Man"

Principal credit for the excellence of the Third is due Lieut. General Walter Krueger, commander, and his crack staff of assistants.

Slender, of middle height and incisive, Krueger rose from the ranks and is a military practitioner of the Stonewall Jackson dictum of "surprise, mystify and mislead the enemy." During the war games it was his troops who three times attempted the daring stroke of capturing the opposing commanding general and did succeed in "killing" his chief staff.

Although very much a man of action and constantly on the go, Krueger also is a scholar. He speaks four languages, is an alert student of foreign military techniques and modern methods. When well over fifty he took a flying course at Brooks Field and travels almost entirely by plane. Krueger was long known in the Army as one of its top organizers and executives; in the Louisiana war games he also demonstrated that he is a very able and forceful field general.

One of the best indications of his high caliber is the crack staff with which he has surrounded himself. It is without peer in the U. S. Army and has some of the best tactical brains of the army.

Chief among the younger aces is Colonel Dwight Eisenhower, chief of staff, who conceived and directed the strategy that routed the Second Army. Eisenhower has a steel-trap mind plus unusual physical vigor. To him the military profession is a science and he began watching and studying the German army five years ago.

Eisenhower's deputy chief of staff is another crack Army brain-truster. He is Lieut. Colonel Al Gruenther, leading bridge ace of the Army and a shining star of the General Staff until Krueger wangled him for his staff. Both Eisenhower and Gruenther are destined for bigger things in the Army. They are men to watch, with Major General R. C. Richardson, commander of Second Army's 8th Army Corps, and one of the most brilliant field generals of the service.

NOTE—Richardson, Eisenhower and Gruenther are of that rare military species, regular army officers who can think in terms of the civilian and the citizen soldier.

"Cajun" Soldier

The historic Arcadian ("Cajun") section of Louisiana in and about which the war games took place was a never ending source of interest to the thousands of citizen soldiers.

The local people were extremely friendly and hospitable and were as intrigued with the soldiers as they were with them.

Practically all doors were open and the two weeks of maneuvers were a delightful experience to both groups. The towns in which the two armies operated hotly took sides and celebrated or despaired a the tide of war fluctuated.

But locally the real heroes were the "Cajun" soldiers. They were the pride and glory of the "Cajun" country and stories abounded about them. One regaled with great relish throughout the Third Army, which prides itself on its military discipline, was about a young "Cajun" recruit who failed to salute his colonel. The colonel stopped him and said, "How long have you been in the Army?"

"Two months," was the pleasant answer, "and you?"

Cock O' The Walk

WITH THE SECOND ARMY—

Cock o' the walf of this man's army are the men of the armored forces. Husky, hard as the armor of their clanking machines, deeply tanned and dashing, they combine the swagger of the old cavalry, the breezy recklessness of the airmen, and the pile-driver forcefulness of the heavy artillery.

Wherever they appear, in camp, in maneuvers or in town, the armored men dominate the scene.

The way they stand, the way they walk, the way they carry themselves even when lounging, sets them off in a class by themselves. There has never been a morale problem among the armored men. Their morale is sky high and the model for the rest of the army.

They Don't Call Him "Yoo-Hoo"

Contrary to general belief, the men of the Second Army do not refer to General Ben Lear as "Yoo-hoo." It is either "the General" or "the old man."

This is significant because it shows the genuine esteem in which he is held by the men he commands.

A tall, rugged old cavalryman, the commander of the Second Army is a man of unusual physical vigor and decisiveness. He may make mistakes, but they are not those of inaction. Also, there is no guile or "soft-soap" about him.

He shows what he thinks frankly and directly. Everyone under him knows where he stands. There is no politics in the Second Army. Lear also can see a joke on him. The hullabaloo over the "Yoo-hoo" incident startled him, but he talks about it genially and is very proud of the manly way the soldiers took their disciplining.

Lear's great passion is soldierliness, the essence of which he considers to be discipline. To him an army without sound discipline is a mob; an army that has it, one of the finest creations of man. As commander of the Second Army all his efforts are bent toward making it that kind of an army. His forte is definitely the training of troops.

NOTE—Lear rose from the ranks and one of his greatest prides is that he was once a crack first sergeant.

"Shavetails" and Generals

Greatest personnel problem of the new army is second lieutenants and field generals.

Most of the former are too green to know what it is all about and the latter to old to learn. Being young, eager to learn and bright, most of the "shavetails" can be taught. Some of the generals will be replaced by younger and more adaptable officers.

NOTE—During a day of hot fighting in the maneuvers, one general commanding a division at the front calmly stretched out on two chairs in the shade near his tent and read a newspaper while enemy bombers made a dive attack on his headquarters. If they had been using live bombs the general and his headquarters would have been blasted to smithereens.

NEW AMARILLO MANAGER

Amarillo — Austin P. Hancock this midweek became Amarillo's new city manager. He came here from a like post at Kerrville where he earned a brilliant record for efficient government.

Mrs. E. J. Goatz arrived a few days ago from Abilene to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Clary, and family.

Free. This week when you buy two dollars worth of merchandise (except liquors and prescriptions) at your druggists ask for your receipt, bring it to the Texan and receive a free pass to see that great comedy, "The Bank Dick" with W. C. Fields. This starts off Nationally Advertised Brands week and your druggist is featuring merchandise that you know is good. A two dollar purchase gets your free pass. The show is Friday and Saturday only.

Got the big head today. Just learned yesterday that this column on "being forty" was read over radio station KGNC last Sunday morning in the first of a series of programs given over to newspapers in the Texas Panhandle. Lewis Nordyke, conductor of the program, told me that "almost" all of the column was read.

And yesterday charming Miss Betty Mae Carlberg asked for space in this column to say something about the high school pep rally. It's been a long time since anyone wanted anything mentioned in this space. Most of them ask that this column not mention anything they are connected with.

At Amarillo yesterday I talked with E. R. Duke and Frank Stubbs, both former county agents of Dallam and Hartley counties and now heads of the Tri-State fair at Amarillo. They were high in their praise of the agricultural exhibits placed at the fair by Ed Crabtree and E. L. Dysart for our two counties. I went around and looked them over and found the newspaper photographers taking pictures of them. Evidently Crabtree and Dysart put a lot of work into those exhibits and they are a credit to us.

And John McCarty, as usual, was high in his praise of the Dalhart band and delegation that came to the fair. "One of the largest and best bands and delegations to come to the fair this year" was what the former Texan publisher said. Of course he may be a little prejudiced in our favor but it was nice to hear him say it.

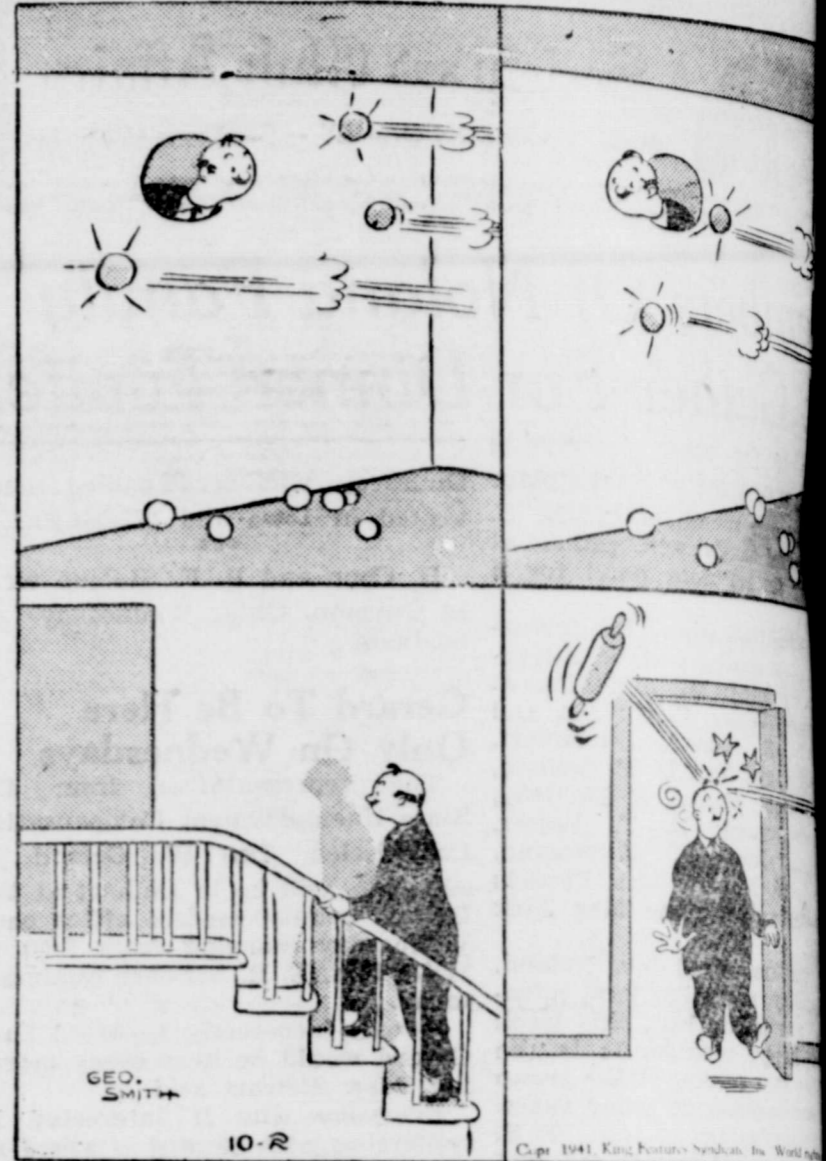

E. R. Duke said he approached some members of the Dalhart band out at the fair grounds and asked, "Where are you kids from?" And they all answered in one breath, "DALHART," just as though their home town was the biggest city in the world. Maybe some of us oldesters should absorb some of the kids' enthusiasm.

A little speed and faulty brakes will help you through the Pearly gates.

Gene Worley comes to Dalhart tonight for his first visit since going to Washington as our new congressman. By this time Gene has gotten a pretty good grasp of the situation up there and it will be most interesting to hear him.

One of the biggest problems that face all Congressmen is this national defense program. Naturally, wherever they can they would like to get as much of this money spent in their district as possible and they would like to have it scattered around the district, giving small towns as much opportunity as the larger ones. But they are at a disadvantage it seems when all the effort from the district comes from only one or two larger cities. If they are to help the smaller towns they are going to have to have the lead taken by those towns, and then the same service they render the cities can be rendered the smaller communities.

Today's news states that Roswell, N. M. is to receive an air training school, with some 3,000 officers and men located there. The government will build the homes for the officers and men and the housing problem is taken care of. It now appears that the smaller towns are coming in for more consideration on the part of those determining the location of these government plants.

Personally I still contend that Dalhart should have some part of the national defense program and that we can get it by going after it. And even though we don't get it there's lots of satisfaction in knowing that we tried, isn't there?

The new type student body pep squad in high school is truly a success. Because there is not a limited number and no uniform is required everyone feels that they really have a part. School spirit is the thing, everyone has it.

Tonight there will be a huge pep rally downtown at 7:30, and a bonfire on the old football field. Come out and yell and then go on out to the old football field for the bonfire.

up 1500 British prisoners. The hospital ships will be the first on the channel in many months to show their lights. Hospital trains, both in France and England, will carry the men to the seashore under protection of the temporary cessation of hostilities. It is the first such exchange of this war.

Germans tacitly admitted today that General Budyenny's Soviet army in the Ukraine has been making some successful counter attacks. The Nazis today said Hungarians had thrown back a Red attempt to cross to the west bank of the Dnieper river in an unspecified Ukraine sector. It was the first Axis admission that the Reds held any part of the Dnieper's east bank.

Finns last night claimed new gains on the Karelian Isthmus, north of Leningrad, and captured a new point on the Leningrad-Murmansk railway. Reds today said they were continuing successful counter thrusts around Leningrad, being led by tanks and an armored train. They claimed routing of 15,000 Nazis in one action. Germans, referring apparently to the battle, said the Russians were pulsed. Germans said last night were driving steadily toward Donets Basin, but there are details. Moscow said the front was in a fluid state. indication is that Russian defenses are holding.

The British-U. S.-Russian ences in Moscow closed last two days ahead of schedule. ipants said there had been mous agreement on how to war materials to Russia and dicted they would be moved almost unbelievable dispatch.

Secretary of State Hull, 70 today, worked actively problem of repeal or revision Neutrality Act. Senator nally of Texas, speaking American Bankers Association Chicago today, urged immediate of the Act.

The American Bar Association day rejected almost unanimous proposal to impeach President Roosevelt on the charge he ing the U. S. to war.

Dramatic Letter From Britain Is Given To Lions

Dramatically describing the war situation as it affects the smaller towns and communities of Britain a letter to Judge James W. Witherspoon from a friend in Hereford, England was read by President Ben Richards at the Lions Club Tuesday. The letter was a part of a program presented by Chas. Youts and J. C. Parker.

Rex Mahoney, chamber of commerce secretary, told plans for the Fall Festival and the annual trip to the Tri-State fair. He urged local business men to take an enthusiastic interest in the festival and if possible to attend the fair.

Chas. Youts asked various members of the club questions dealing with the Lions International organization and collected fines from those unable to answer correctly.

L. L. Swim was introduced as a new member of the club. Almost sixty members were present.

New Books Wanted In County Library

Discussion of plans to gradually place the bestsellers of fiction and non-fiction on the shelves of the Dallam county library was held last night at a meeting of the association board.

Meeting at the home of the president of the board, John B. Honts, the book committee — Mrs. Bob Chatelain, Mrs. C. C. Coombes, and Mrs. Harry Miller — was urged to select several of the latest books each month for library distribution.

Transaction of routine business and reports on other phases of the library management were made.

Board members attending the meeting were J. W. Burrow, Mrs. Coombes, Ora Mae Harvey and Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Earl McIlroy, librarian, was a visitor.

Street Junctions Will Be Completed

The City is studying means to complete the junctions of East Fourth and East Seventh Sts, with the through route of U. S. Highway 87 which parallels the east side of the Fort Worth & Denver railroad, Mayor Herbert Peoples disclosed today.

The city council's Street and Alley committee probably will report on the project next week.

As the junctions now stand they accommodate only that traffic which is coming from the south. Traffic coming from the north has to cross a stretch of dirt or mud to get from U. S. 87 to either Fourth or Seventh Sts. Peoples said the council had been working on the problem several weeks.

He also said there is a strong probability that all of the East Fourth St. pavement from Scott St. east to U. S. 87 would have to be torn up and replaced. "It has been down only a short while, but seems to be tearing up rapidly," he said.

Sunday Is World Communion Day

World Communion Day will be observed Sunday in several Dalhart churches, ministers have announced.

The First Presbyterian church has announced that, in connection with the special program, an opportunity for membership will given to a group planning to unite locally. Sunday will also be Rally Day in the Sunday school. Rev. C. C. Dooley, pastor, reminds.

Rev. R. H. Campbell, pastor of the Pine Street Methodist church, announced today that a special service will be held Sunday morning at 11:00. All friends and members of the church are urged to attend, the pastor said.

Commerce Favored In Gridiron Race

Commerce — Though the Texas conference flag chase is still more than a week away, grid observers are saying that the winner is going to have to beat East Texas State Teachers of Commerce.

East Texas State opened with a 14-0 win over the Southwest Texas Bobcats, and followed with a 35-0 win over Abilene Christian College. They meet Howard Payne's Yellow Jackets Saturday night in Commerce.

Southwest Texas State this weekend in San Marcos will tackle Schreiner Institute which lost to Southwestern University 6-0 last Friday. Stephen F. Austin, which beat Trinity 6-0 last week, will meet Arkansas State in Nacogdoches.

Other games will see Sam Houston State, which lost 54-0 to the Texas Aggies last week, battling the Rice Owls in Houston. The Denton Eagles, after a 54-0 beating by SMU last Saturday, will fly in the face of Hardin-Simmons of Abilene.

Law's Badge Not Respected

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Deputy Sheriff Vernon La More is le-moaning the lack of dignity and authority which is always conferred on a peace officer by the wearing of a sheriff's badge. He was talking with the inmates of the sheriff's office when a released prisoner walked out. The latter picked up the deputy sheriff's badge, which happened to be lying on the table, and still has it.

From One War to Another

HAMILTON, Ontario (UP)—John Southgate, 32, is a firm believer in democracy. Just home a few months from Spain where he fought against Franco forces, he had enlisted with the Royal Canadian Service Corps.

Raiders To Play Sooners Friday

Lubbock — Texas Tech's Red Raiders Friday night in Oklahoma City will tackle the Oklahoma Aggies. Their No. 1 objective is to wipe out the memory of that 6-6 affair in Oklahoma City last season.

Big Charlie (Devo) Dvoracek, who Tech claims has All-American fullback possibilities, spearheaded the Raiders to a 34-0 victory over Abilene Christian college, and will lead the attack against the Sooners.

Coaches can pick running mates for Dvoracek from among a bevy of blistering backs, including Thayne Amonett, Don Austin, Tom Douglass, Rogers Smith, Maxey McKnight, and J. R. Callahan.

Smith circled the ACC end for 34 yards and a touchdown on the third play of that game. Don Austin, a few minutes later, galloped around end for another Tech score. And Callahan, though a sophomore, tossed 36 and 24-yard touchdown passes to Bing Bingham and Clarence Tillery.

Lubbock fans are high on the Raiders this year.

Here's a Preview of 1942 Ford

The car above gives an idea of the new and brilliantly designed 1942 Ford and Mercury lines which are on display at the Scott Motor Co. in Dalhart. Fords this year continue with the famous V-8 engine, but they also offer a sparkling new "six." Either motor may be had in the DeLuxe or Super Six lines and in addition the Six is offered in a Special line. A rustless steel radiator grille on the front blends gracefully with an entirely new front contour which features a new arrangement of parking lights and parking lamps. Each line of cars offers a distinctive trim. Engineering improvements insure comfort and safety.

Foxworth Funeral at Stratford

Funeral services for Mrs. J. T. Foxworth of Stratford, will be held at the Stratford Methodist church this afternoon at 4:00. Mrs. Foxworth died Tuesday at the home of relatives in Stratford, Miss., where she had lived for the past two weeks. The funeral will be in the Stratford cemetery by the side of her home, long associated with the Dalhart-Galbraith Lumber company, which died ten years ago. Mrs. Foxworth had lived in Stratford for 19 years.

Survivors include three brothers, James and James Scarborough, of Foxworth, Miss., a town named in her honor; a prominent Foxworth in Stratford for the funeral home in Scarborough, a niece, Mrs. Powell also of Foxworth, and Mrs. Walter Foxworth of Dallas, and Mrs. Fred Foxworth of Augusta, Kansas.

IMMEDIATE NAZI LOSSES

Official Soviet sources announced this midweek that German soldiers and Rumanians have lost 10,000 men in the Leningrad and Odessa regions. Red also claimed that Leningrad defenses are being gradually strengthened and that repeated German assaults had not succeeded around Odessa, the Black Sea port at which the Germans have been pounding for weeks.

Atkinson is in Amarillo with her daughter, Mrs. Pete Atkinson and family.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 13 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Ruth Miles Is Taken By Death

Miss Ruth Miles, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Miles, well known in the Conlen area, died at 8:00 last night in a Dalhart hospital. She had been in poor health a number of years, but was seriously ill only a few days before her death. She was a teacher in the Palo Duro rural school.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Central Methodist church in Dalhart at 10:00 tomorrow morning, with Rev. Joan Eldridge, pastor, in charge. Pallbearers will be H. A. Ritchie, A. R. ### 50 Dalhart Cars To Tri-State Fair

Chamber of commerce officials, who made a careful check, said at least 50 cars of Dalhartans attended Dalhart Day at the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo. The fair opened Monday, will close Saturday.

Less than half of the cars, the officials said, were in the Dalhart motorcade which left here at 8:30 yesterday morning, headed by the Dalhart High School-XIT band under direction of C. W. Beene.

John McCarty, editor of The Amarillo News, led a group of well-wishers which met the Dalhart group at the north edge of Amarillo. The motorcade was given a motorcycle escort into town. The grounds where the musicians were band, staging its special Schottische, New Shoes and other marches then led the motorcade in a parade along Polk St. The band got back in cars and the motorcade went to the exposition. Read the Want Ads for profitable results.

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

"Well, young man, you were all for sending me to the chair," Breanu began genially. He swished his stick against his leg. "I think we'd better call a truce, don't you?"

David glanced at Fan, who nodded imperceptibly. He straightened, and said, his frank blue eyes on Breanu, "I never meant you any harm." His original admiration returned. Breanu was a square guy, and big—"a big shot," indeed.

Breanu tapped David on the shoulder with the handle of his stick. It wasn't the same stick which had been shown at the inquest. David noticed with a peculiar shock. This one had a thin gold ring at the elbow bend of the handle. "Just to show we're friends, then," Breanu pursued, his teeth white against his olive skin. "I'd like you and your charming fiancée to dine with Mrs. Rubley and myself tomorrow, at my apartment. Or any other night you prefer."

Something phoney about this, David thought. He caught Fan's eyes again, misty with pain. He remembered the way Breanu had looked at Jane. So that was it! The heel was after Jane!

"No!" David exploded. Muscles worked in his face; veins drummed. "Miss Rider wouldn't care to dine with you."

There was a silence that made its own sound in the polite air of the shop. Breanu's eyes shone on the surface, fathomless behind his look. "Perhaps you and Miss Rider will be glad to dine with me some day," he said, and turned away. Fan went with him.

David stood rigidly where he was. If Breanu made one more crack—

But Breanu didn't. Oblivious to the display around him, he went up to Slagan, murmured a few words, walked out with Fan.

Proprietor Slagan, his cheeks em-purpled, motioned to David. He could hardly speak, as if some pressure still strangled him.

"You're fired, with two weeks' pay!" he said. He looked old. "I'm sorry, my boy. Mat Breanu could hurt my business. Perhaps later we can fix it up."

"That's all right, sir." David was stunned. Why, old Slagan really liked him! He straightened his shoulders, and gave a ghost of his grin.

David knew he certainly was in a jam now.

Through her window early Wednesday morning, Jane Rider heard a sound which transfixed her. She would know the beat of that horn anywhere. It carried in the clear country air.

They were bringing back her car sooner than she expected, after Monday's inquest. "The Rumble Seat Murder," they called the tragedy that had put a violent end to lovely Carlie Breanu. What hadn't it done, Jane thought bitterly, to herself and David!

The old farmhouse was silent. She and her mother had breakfasted soon after dawn, in the cheerful kitchen. But Jane couldn't shake off the lassitude, the numbness she had felt ever since she lashed out at David before he left for town Monday night; she had driven him away from her.

"I'm not his type," she told herself. "He needs a girl who adores people and thrills." She smothered the dull ache that throbbed inside.

The horn gave rubbery tongue again, much nearer this time. Jane turned swiftly from the window, and did her hair over, with a few brush strokes on either side of its parted brown waves. She snatched up a brown beret with an orange tassel;

a checked sport coat. Then she stood breathless, waiting.

She had made a decision which was to alter her life.

Trooper Ed Blagden had asked permission of Sergeant Weyne to return Jane's car when the experts finished their vain search for clues in the rumble seat where the body had been found.

Ed argued that Jane and Mrs. Rider were obviously innocent of a crime that had rocked the county. In its mystery and absence of motive, you couldn't pin a knife murder on two kids like Jane and her redheaded boy friend. Thus Blagden staunchly insisted to his superiors, and the stony-faced detectives sent from New York to cooperate with the state troopers.

He thought of all this, as he drove the aging coupe at a mild thirty from his headquarters at Bardonia. A feeling of spring moved through the September day. The brilliant maples, the gold of birches and copper leaves of oaks were like a supreme splurge, a flaunting of color to the evergreens.

The trooper swept from the highway onto the dirt road. At least he was giving Jane a chance. She had her job in the library. How could she get there every morning without her bus?

He parked the car at the bottom of the path sloping to the brown-stone house, isolated now from the fields and orchards Jane's father had sold bit by bit to city folks. The road was still trampled by car tracks and footprints, at which Ed Blagden frowned.

He paused, listening to the smack of an axe in the woody grove opposite. That fellow Kurt Helm was a queer duck. A writer—so they said!

Jane opened the door. "I heard you coming, Ed. It's awfully nice of you to bring back my car."

She looked past him, her stare widening, as if she were seeing the whole ghastly thing again. But it was David she thought of; his eager blue eyes, his eager mouth on hers, his voice saying "hon", sitting close beside her on the now empty seat next to the wheel.

"I thought you might need it," Ed fingered his broad-brimmed hat; six feet of trained brain and muscle smartly outlined in his greenish-gray uniform. He stooped to pat the broad head of Timmy, the pup, whose shaggy body gave frantic welcome.

Jane softly closed the front door. Her mother didn't want her to go to work just yet. She had said so last night.

"I'm driving in right now to the library, Ed," Jane said urgently. "Mother would make a fuss if she knew."

She went on, "Of course, one of the Bardonia cars will come for you soon. Go around to the back door. Mother will love giving you coffee, and she's made lots of popovers." Her hand clutched her friend's arm. "But don't tell her, Ed—don't tell her I've gone, until I'm on my way. She—worries."

"Well, I—" Ed began uncomfortably.

Jane smiled. "Please." She ran from him down the path, calling over her shoulder, "Hold on to Timmy."

Ed's whistle summoned the pup. He and Timmy went together to the back of the house. Popovers and that swell strawberry jam! But Ed, shifting his holstered gun at his belt, didn't feel quite right.

Jane's determined chin jutted out, as she stared at her old car. She braced herself, and slipped behind the wheel.

Then Kurt Helm's lithe figure, in his old leather jacket and corduroy trousers, stepped out from his trees, like a hunter. He waved at her, starting to cross the road.

Jane shook her head and drove away. Her instinctive distrust of him seemed as muffled as the rest of her emotions. She took the South Mountain Road, blind to the pleasant houses on either side. Her hands were steady, her head high.

"No one is in here with me," she kept on moodily saying . . . Carlie, the woman she had never known in life, was no longer in the rumble seat. Poor Carlie . . . Nor was David sitting beside her. David—

Why hadn't he telephoned? Even if it was all over between them, he could have phoned. His secret was hers . . . the sealed envelope he hadn't mentioned at the inquest, the sealed envelope Carlie gave him on the ferry—for Richard Garrison.

Should she bury her pride and ring him up? Never! He had often told her not to telephone him at Slagan's Sport Shop, unless in great emergency. Her pride refused to admit emergency. Jane didn't know that David had been fired, yesterday, from Slagan's.

Driving down Main Street, Jane felt her car a target for stares. But she imaged other faces: Mat Breanu, smiling at her, swinging his ebony stick; Garrison, distinguished, reticent; Fan Rubley, the tall, creamy blonde, whose round eyes were so acquisitive when she looked at David.

The library stood at the end of the street, opposite the new post office. Everyone seemed surprised to see Jane. They were good to her, too good, all day. Women who exchanged knitting stitches and recipes with Mrs. Rider, treated Jane somewhat like an invalid. Children who usually swarmed about her, gaped at a distance. Jane went quietly about her work.

It was Emmy Lou, a snub-nosed child of ten, who paralyzed everyone.

"Miss Jane, are you a murder girl?" Her inquisitive tone soared. Jane turned away, until her shoulders straightened.

Miss Lucia Sims, the head librarian, led Jane into a side room. Miss Lucia was a person of minute proportions, with lilacs in her eyes, frustrated romance in her heart, and a rigid sense of duty. But she was kind, very kind.

She took Jane's reluctant hand in both of hers. "We had a meeting of the Board yesterday, my dear," she said. "I telephoned your mother. Didn't she tell you?"

"No. Mother didn't know I was coming here today." Jane drew her hand away, standing tall and rigid.

Miss Lucia was—oh, so tactful. "We think it wiser, dear, that you take a rest for a while. A few weeks may help you forget the truly horrible experience you've been through." Her words filtered vaguely into Jane's blurred consciousness.

No indeed, she was not being dismissed. In fact, despite the lack of funds, she would receive the customary two weeks' full pay, and, considering her dear mother and all, Jane could take a long vacation, on half pay, until such a time as—well, the Board felt it wise for her to resume work.

Miss Lucia looked up at that set young face. "Don't take it hard, my child," she murmured. "Of course none of us think that you nor Mr. Farland had anything to do with— with what happened. But the publicity—"

"I understand. Thank you, Miss Sims."

Voice of the People

Mr. Ed Bishop
Dalhart Texas

Dear Ed:

I have had a statement in your write-up of the Tucumcari-Dalhart game called to my attention, in which you state that there is no age limit in New Mexico. In the interest of New Mexico high school athletics, I wish to correct your impression on that point. It is true that our age limit is not as low as in Texas, but we do have one. A boy to be eligible must have not reached his 20th birthday on the first day of the semester. We also have other rules similar to those in Texas. We have the eight semester rule, the parent residence rule and a rule that if a boy is permanently ineligible in the state he transfers from, then he is also permanently ineligible here.

I receive many letters each fall from Texas boys who have played out their eligibility there, wanting to come to N. M. and play football. They are ineligible of course, and I do not believe any New Mexico schools try to use them. I do not at least.

I feel that your statement could lead many people to believe that Tucumcari has a much older team than your Wolves. As a matter of fact, only one boy in my starting lineup was 18 at the opening of this semester. Seven were 17 and three are 16. Thus every boy except one would have been eligible in Texas on the age rule.

Your story was more than fair in every other way. I do not think we got any bad breaks, at least no more than our share. I could not use my reserves as much as I had hoped to, because that Gallett boy was too dangerous.

The Tucumcari-Dalhart game is an old and traditional affair and we would not like for it to be discontinued due to a misunderstanding as to difference in state rule.

Yours Sincerely,
Jimmie Ruddle

Coach Tucumcari High School

Thanks, Jimmie, for correcting me on this point. During the half at Tucumcari I asked superintendent Rhoades what the age limit in New Mexico was and understood him to say that there was none. However, I was in a hurry to get back on the field and its possible he intended to explain further, and I did not give him the opportunity. I'm sorry any join you hoping that my statement does nothing to mar the traditional Dalhart-Tucumcari game.—Ed.

Layden Talks To Monday Morning Signal Callers

Monday morning quarterbacks, here's a word for you straight from Elmer F. Layden, commissioner of the National Football League:

"Go slow on panning the coach," he says. "Invisible factors are not perceptible from the 50-yard-line position, or from any other spectatoposition. I suggest," Layden writes in the current Rotarian magazine, "that you (the spectators) ignore strategy. There are other bits of evidence you can check up.

"Check the players on these points: Do they tire quickly or do they appear in good physical condition? Do they block hard and tackle crisply?

"The most important item in rating a coach," he said, "is not the win-or-lose record of the team, but whether its members play clean football, are alert, well conditioned and proficient in fundamentals. If the coach is a capable man,"

Layden has every right to speak forthrightly on the coaching game. He succeeded the famed Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, and coached the Fighting Irish to 47 victories, three ties and only 13 defeats.

Less than 50 coaches, he emphasized, draw the "headline" salaries. High school coaches get mighty small pay. Some of them coach so that the boys won't have to go to college. They get paid little if any extra.

"Think that over, Mr. Spectator, some evening after your favorite night's out a tough football game, and then speak kindly of the coach. "After all," Layden concluded, "a coach ought to be judged ultimately by the men he produces."

Meyer Clum Over Kansas Joust

FORT WORTH. — Coach Dutch Meyer said Monday that unless TCU shows marked improvement over its performance against Tulsa last Saturday it will take a two-week "show" drubbing from the Arkansas Razorbacks in the conference joust at Fayetteville next Saturday.

Since then he hasn't said anything about the situation, but he has been doing a lot about it.

The Frogs last Saturday flattened Tulsa 6-0, showing a good defense, but only a fair running game and a poor aerial attack.

Meyer is concentrating on passing, offensive and defensive this week. The Porkers have a brilliant aerial assault that's hard to handle. Barring injuries, Meyer said, "we use against the Porkers about the same crew we started against Tulsa."

Silver Dollars Pay Tuition
SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (UP)—Miss Mary Crockett, Springfield, who started her first year classes at Wittenberg college here, paid her tuition with 125 silver dollars.
Mary had a hobby of saving the silver dollars during her high

School Disgusts Newcomer
REGINA, Saskatchewan (UP)—A disgusted Regina boy, just starting school, returned home unexpectedly one morning. He complained: "Why should I spend all day there just to learn 'Hi Diddle Diddle?' I can learn that at home."

'Non-Barking Dogs Do Bite'
DANVILLE, Ill. (UP)—Interviews with mail carriers in this city do not necessarily confirm the old sage that "barking dogs seldom bite" but twist it around a logical point to read "non-barking dogs bite most often."

Oyster Yields $450 Pearl
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP)—
Harry Lehman, oyster opener at a

Who Will Help Deserving Boy?

Who will help a deserving boy?
He's a senior. He wants to finish
Dalhart high school, but he can't do it unless he can find work. He will do anything before school, after school, or both. He has a place to stay at night, but he could stay wherever his work required.

Persons interested are asked to contact Mrs. E. R. Stewart at the Dallam County Welfare office. She knows the boy and his family well.
None of them, she said, have ever been in the slightest trouble. They are thoroughly dependable.

The boy has real promise as a football player, but he won't allow football to interfere with his work which he needs so badly to help him finish school.

"The boy deserves a lift," Mrs.
Stewart said this morning.

Ford, Mercury Will Be Shown Friday At Scott Motor Co.

Automobile enthusiasts in the Dalhart area will get their first view of the new Ford and Mercury tomorrow, when they go on display at the Scott Motor Co.

The 1942 Ford will offer a choice of V-8 or 6-cylinder engines in all models and body types except the "Special" line which is available only in the "6", while the Mercury has captured the design of the airplanes which Ford is building extensively for the Government.

"Beauty" is a word that must be used extensively in describing the Ford Motor Co. products—new exterior beauty; new interior beauty; new streamline beauty. The popular massive design has been captured from nose to tail, with lights blended into the body design, combined with lower chassis and wider tread.

The interior features an entirely new instrument panel, with clock-type speedometer and a matching clock, new fabrics, new trim and new appointments.

Several improvements contribute to easier steering.

A redesigned front axle gives the wider tread (2 1-4 inches in front and 1 3-4 inches in rear) with a lower center section bringing the chassis one inch nearer the ground. It was pointed out that because of the new design, the road clearance remains the same despite the lowering of the chassis.

Other features of the new Ford include: Faster engine response, an improved cooling system that has raised the radiator and fan considerably higher, improved brakes, push-button starting, totally concealed running boards and center-plate ride.

The Mercury features its new "aeroplane design" which gives it the massive appearance of a stream-lined locomotive plus the flowing grace of an airplane. Its 100 horsepower motor gives a higher rate of horsepower per pound—one horsepower for every 32 pounds in the sedan. It has many of the same features of the Ford, although it is an entirely different and larger automobile.

Engineers point out that although the national defense program has brought about a substitution of some materials in both Ford and Mercury, they have developed new materials that are as good or better than the original.

For 1942—a Beautiful New

FORD

"6" OR "8"

IN THESE UNUSUAL TIMES we invite you to inspect an unusual new car—new in its beauty, its comfort, its choice of two fine 90 horsepower engines, 6 cylinders or 8.

See it and you sense at once that here is new style that will stay good for years. On a lower, wider chassis, we have designed new long, low, wide and modern lines.

Interior treatment is entirely fresh, distinctive, pleasing. The beauty of this Ford will more than hold its own in any company.

Inside, the car is big—wide across the seats, generous in knee-room, leg-room, elbow-room.

On the road this year you find the "new Ford ride" still further advanced in its softness, quietness, steadiness and all-round comfort.

At the wheel, you will find driving easier than ever. Steering, gear-shifting, action of the big and sure hydraulic brakes have all been made smoother and easier.

In quality, the car is sound to the last detail. Defense requirements have all been met without a single reduction in the basic and lasting goodness of the Ford mechanically. Some new materials have replaced old ones, usually at a greater cost to us, but in every case the new is equal to or better than the old.

If your family needs a new car, go see and drive this Ford. For what it is today and for what it will be through the years ahead, we believe that you will find in it more and better transportation for your money than you have ever found before.
