Important C. of C. Meeting Is Tonight

Number of commerce directors meet at 7:30 tonight to map plans for their annual banquet, participation in the Dust Coiner hunt party in Dalhart the middle of this month, and hear a discussion on fire department equipment needs in the Annual chamber of commerce banquet and business meeting will be held this month or next, officials

Search for the person who coined the term Dust Bowl will be held this weekend, with the exception of a little certificate work, and the party for the coiner will probably be held Tuesday, November 18.

The coiner that day will be taken out of what was once known as the dust bowl and be shown a row crop, finest grass since the open range, brimming with sleek cattle.

Party that night will be open to the public, men and women, at $1.00 per plate. Radio Station at Amarillo has already agreed to carry 30 minutes of the program by remote control. It is a possibility that a Lone Star hook-up will be arranged.

It is also a possibility of a hook-up because among the leading coiner possibilities are two national figures—H. H. H. chief of the Soil Conservation Service in Washington; and Landon, former governor of Texas and GOP candidate for president in 1936.

Other leading candidate is C. Helm, free-lance newsreel man, writer and photographer who is doing a year in prison at McAlester as a penalty for mixing up in Oklahoma politics in 1938.

Proof, showing which one of the three is actually the coiner, is expected before this weekend.

Plans May Be Requested For State Highway No. 51

Construction of State Highway 51 from Dalhart north to the Oklahoma state line is one of 20 projects which the Texas Highway Commission may seek bids.

Road is paved from Dalhart north. The new project is 14.5 miles of grading, concrete structures, flexible base and preservatives which will complete it to the Oklahoma state line 12 miles south of Boise.

Plans have been completed for the projects, which would cost $600,000, according to Austin

Band Plans Big On Canyon Trip

Members of the Dalhart High School XIT band are making big plans for attending the West Texas State College homecoming at Canyon Saturday, and Director C. W. Beene is trying hard not to disappoint them, but he still needs more transportation.

Persons who can go and take a carload of band members, who have room for only one or more are asked to call Beene of leave word for him at Dalhart high school or his home; or they can phone the chamber of commerce, No. 3.

The band was all set to go to the Dalhart-Canyon football game in Canyon last Saturday, but at the last minute had to cancel their plans in order to play for the Annual Fall Festival and the Annual Lions club carnival in Dalhart, chamber of commerce officials reminded today.

"We are just as anxious as Beene," said the C. of C. officials this morning, "that the youngsters get to make the trip this weekend. They were mighty good sports about staying and helping out in the community events last weekend."

Of course, a dark and dusty horse might enter the picture any time and race home with the coining honors.

Fire Marshal O. W. Raillard tonight will discuss equipment needs of the Dalhart Volunteer Fire department, C. of C. officials said.

No Federal Oil Control Planned, Ickes Declares

San Francisco—Secretary of Interior, Ickes, speaking as federal oil coordinator, today told the American Petroleum Institute's 22nd annual convention that the federal government has no intention of taking charge of the petroleum industry as a defense measure. He said he had neither the power nor desire to do so.

Wolves Are Ready For Friona

The Dalhart Wolves went through a vigorous field workout yesterday afternoon, and are not only in fine condition but are in fine spirits for the District 1-A conference tilt with Friona in Rita Blanca stadium tomorrow night at 8:00, Coach E. A. Kim-

The grand jury for the fall term of district court in Dallam county last night reported 15 indictments and adjourned until November 24, Sheriff H. D. Foust said today.

Indictments include Walter James Maehr, forgery charge; S. M. Marks, forgery; and Framp Green, theft of an automobile. Arrests have not been made in other cases.

District court adjourned yesterday until 10:00 Monday morning.

DANGER TO WORKER IS FDR POINT

"The first acts of Fascism and Nazism were to abolish trade unions, the right of collective bargaining, and the free association of employers," President Roosevelt told representatives of the International Labor Order gathered in New York City today. The President's message was delivered in the East room of the White House over a nationwide radio broadcast. He was introduced by Francis Perkins, secretary of labor.

"Berlin today is the principal slave market of the world," the President stated as he bitterly referred to the enslavement of labor in Europe, particularly in Germany and the conquered countries. He sent a message to labor leaders lying in concentration camps saying, "You have not been forgotten, you will not be forgotten."

"While we have begun to feel the pinch of war we still have not made the large sacrifice like the people of Britain, Russia or China in their fight for freedom." He referred to the heroic struggle of those people and said, "that struggle shall not have been in vain."

The President made frequent reference to those opposing the national defense program, calling them misguided, uninformed individuals of whom "Thank God there are not many." He mentioned leaders in both labor and industry who place profits above their obligations to national defense and said, "They are few and do not represent the mass of laborers and workers." He said that no individual or group would prevail against the mass of the people.

"Our laborers know we must furnish arms to Britain, China and

Two Grass Fires In City Yesterday

The Dalhart volunteer fire department was called to extinguish two grass and weed fires yesterday afternoon about 3:00, both caused by wind blowing burning trash.

A. O. Swofford reported a fire at 910 Olive. Two small boys had been burning trash in the backyard.

The grass fire south of Loretto hospital was caused by trash burning at the hospital blown over on the grass east of the Legion hut. Loretto sisters with buckets of water, brooms and sticks helped extinguish the fire.

Incidentally, fire department officials ask that anyone reporting a fire call the telephone operator—not the fire station. The operator turns on the fire whistle which calls the volunteer firemen to the station. The person calling in is asked to merely report where the fire is, then hang up the receiver.

Rail Walkout Is Possibility

The West coast welders' strike hampering defense shipbuilding is partially settled, but welders' trouble has flared in California airplane factories, and there is mounting concern over a general railroad walkout.

Associate OPM Director Hillman yesterday promised to arrange a meeting among representatives of the West coast welders, OPM and AFL if the welders would return to work while negotiations proceed. Part of the welders have agreed; others want Hillman's terms in writing.

Three California plane factories reported strike trouble today, and there were indications the welders' walkouts might spread to six other plants.

The five railroad operating brotherhoods have already announced dissatisfaction with the proposals of President Roosevelt's fact-finding commission, while the 14 non-operating brotherhoods are expected to make their statements today.

The commission made its recom-

Russians claimed successes in the Leningrad, Moscow and Donets sectors today, and Premier Josef Stalin declared German strength is falling while Soviet reserve power is mounting steadily.

Stalin spoke in connection with the 24th anniversary of Bolshevism which will be observed tomorrow.

Chancellor Hitler of Germany earlier this week announced a new all-out drive on the capital, designed to put Nazi goose-steppers instead of Soviet troops in Moscow's famed Red square tomorrow.

Russian troops on the anniversary always parade in Red square before the Kremlin, seat of the Soviet government.

Stalin's radio address today was the first since early in the war when he called on his people to destroy everything in the path of the enemy and leave him nothing but scorched earth.

He said today that German losses in dead, captured and wounded have been 4,500,000 compared with Red losses of 1,748,000. Russia, he continued, has lost 350,000 dead, 378,000 captured and a little over 1,000,000 wounded.

Stalin said Germany planned to crush Russia in not more than six weeks, and to reach the Ural mountains quicker than that. He accused mentations last night after a month's study of the brotherhoods' wage-increase demands. Officials of the five operating unions said they could not endorse the recommendations to their members.

Many observers construe this attitude as indicative of a strike in the making, but informed sources today said they felt sure President Roosevelt would call union and management chiefs into a parley if a walkout appeared probable. Under the law, a strike is forbidden for at least 30 days after the commis-

Dust Bowl Coiner Hunt Nears End

Remember, if you have any information on who coined the term Dust Bowl and want to qualify for the $50 reward, you must at least get your entry into the hands of The Texan editor not later than midnight tomorrow night, November 7.

The Texan will pay $50 cash for information leading to positive identification of the person who coined Dust Bowl as applied to this Southern Great Plains area.

A tour, banquet and party, honoring the coiner, are being tentatively planned in Dalhart for November 18. Radio time already is assured and one or more chain radio hook-ups are possibilities.

You Go To Sleep. We'll Sit Up The Rest Of The Night.

It was a fine old Bishop who, years ago, worrying his heart out over what seemed to him the evils of a doomed world, tossing on his bed at midnight, thought he heard the Lord say, "Go to sleep, Bishop, I'll sit up the rest of the night."

You and I cannot end this war or bring peace to a world threatened with universal disaster, but we can refuse to let anxiety and fear rob our nights of sleep and darken our days with despair. We can hope and pray and pay our taxes and, with gratitude for living in this land and not across the sea, take what pleasure life has to offer, and greet our friends with a smile whether we feel like it or not.

The above two paragraphs, clipped from a small publication seems to have some mighty sound advice. So many of us forget the best things of life and apparently try to remember all the evils of the world. We are reformers by nature, wanting the other fellow to see and do as we believe things should be seen and done.

It might be well for us to go back to our regular night's sleep, quit worrying about whether Hitler is going to move into Moscow; whether "there'll always be an England" and if our own boys are going to soon be singing, "The Yanks are Coming." In reality there isn't much we can do except join our government in making preparations for the worst, pay our taxes, take the bitter with the sweet and try to pass the sweet on to our neighbors and friends.

We don't ask you to spend half the night worrying about your farm equipment. We'd really like to do that worrying for you, as we have done for so many others over a long period of years. Suppose you "go to sleep now and we'll sit up the rest of the night." And with the rising sun, if it's farm equipment that kept you awake, don't be surprised to find that new FARMALL H or M sitting in your front yard, or that repair work done to your used FARMALL. That's our job and we want to do your worrying for you in this connection.

Nazis of ruthless killing of women and children, but warned that the USSR was never so strong as now. He told how 30 new divisions, about 450,000 men, had been formed and how the stream of reserves is constantly being widened.

He said Germany sent Rudolf Hess, deputy fuhrer of the Nazi party, to England to try to persuade Britain and eventually the U. S. to join Hitler in an extermination war on Russia. Instead, he said, Britain and the U. S. have joined Russia, and Hess is a prisoner of war.

Reds reportedly have smashed a German ski troop assault on Leningrad and are holding their own in the newest all-out German drive on Moscow. Nazis are hammering at the capital from the north, west and south, but Russian lines are holding everywhere and in some sectors the Germans assertedly are being thrown back with counter attacks.

Reds claim successful counter-attacks on the Donets front, and say they are slowing down the German-Rumanian drive in the Crimea.

Nazis said they have Sebastopol, Black sea base, under air and artillery assault and are only 20 miles away. However, other reports indicate that only thin advance units are within 20 miles of the base and that moreover they are just now contacting its outer ring of formidable defenses to which Reds have been retreating.

There were strong indications today that Finland would like to bow to U. S. demands and get out of the war by making a separate peace with Russia, but there were equally strong indications that Germany will never allow her to do so. Informed sources said also that Germany can control the Finns.

W. L. Hamilton was with his sister several weeks before her death. Miss Hamilton was also the sister of the late Mrs. Ennis Sherrill, an early day resident of Dalhart. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hawkins and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stucker, close friends of the family for many years, plan to attend the funeral.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—U. S. diplomats are not shouting it from the rooftops, but there have been two important occasions when the British put a very restraining hand on American foreign policy, and checked major moves in the South Atlantic and the Pacific.

One move was last May when it became conclusively apparent that the Vichy government was the tool of Hitler, and when many U. S. strategists favored the taking of Martinique and the Azores, and perhaps even a landing force at Dakar in French West Africa.

But the Churchill government protested that this would take U. S. ships away from transporting supplies to the Battle of Britain; would focus American attention upon another part of the world. So Roosevelt kept out of the South Atlantic.

The second move was about two weeks ago when Mr. Churchill telephoned the President to advise Japanese in the Pacific. His advice came shortly after the new pro-Nazi cabinet took office in Tokyo. Churchill urged that the battle in Europe was in the main show and the United States should not get absorbed with side-shows.

Regarding this Churchill advice, there continues to be a wide rift inside the Roosevelt administration. And incidentally, there is not complete unity on this point inside the British government.

Australian sentiment leans toward a cleaning up of the Pacific situation, after which all parts of the British Empire, plus perhaps the United States, could concentrate on Europe.

RIFT IN ROOSEVELT ADMINISTRATION

Inside the Roosevelt administration, the men who urge a go-slow policy toward Japan are Admiral Strack, chief of Naval Operations, and the State Department. On the other side are many of the other admirals, including Admiral Ernest King, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, who says he can get along in the Atlantic merely with his present consignment of destroyers and light cruisers, which are all that are needed for convoying.

The first big point of the "Strong policy" admirals is that every day of delay weakens the Russians, and the Russians are the big potential allies of the United States against Japan. With Russian bombing planes operating from Vladivostok against the paper and bamboo houses of Toyko and Yokohama, the Japanese would be up against it.

The second big point urged by these admirals is one which not many people realize: When the United States went into the last war Japan was on our side. There was no need to worry about the Pacific. But this time, the minute the U. S. A. becomes embroiled in Europe, it has to guard its back door against a traditional and very potent rival.

Therefore, argues the Pacific school within the Navy, let's face our enemies one by one rather than have two jumping on us later and from opposite directions.

There is nothing the Navy dreads more than the idea of attack in two oceans at once—attacks aimed at Alaska on one side and Brazil on the other. That is why some of the admirals so resent the phone calls from Winston Churchill.

U. S. DESTROYERS

The submarine situation which forced the Reuben James and now threatens all U. S. destroyers in the North Atlantic, is far different from that of the last war.

Today, German submarines operate in gangs or wolfpacks of three to five, lurking in the path of a convoy, and without putting their periscopes out of the water. They do not even run their engines. Thus the approaching destroyers cannot pick up the subs with its sound detector, but the subs, on the other hand, can hear the engines of the approaching convoy.

Then when the convoy is within range, the subs release their torpedoes, sometimes blind. In other words, they do not lift their periscopes but frequently fire merely in the direction of the approaching engines. Because convoys travel so close together these days, hits are almost certain.

Submarines fire blind chiefly in the daylight. At night, on the other hand, when the submarines cannot be seen, it comes to the surface.

This is one reason for the increased number of merchant vessel casualties since September, for as the nights become longer, U-boats have longer hours to operate on the surface.

Winter weather also has made the U-boat more difficult targets from the air. All summer, the British and American air fleets patrolled the north Atlantic. In calm weather the planes could easily spot submarines well below the surface. But with rough, choppy weather, aircraft have a hard time seeing very far under water. In addition to rough weather, there is the problem of fog.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

President Roosevelt is being bombarded with urgent requests from midwestern Democratic leaders urging him to visit that section and make several speeches. He has not been in the area for more than a year and then didn't go further than Cleveland. The politicians want him to make a trip with major stops at Detroit, Chicago and Indianapolis. . . . James Rowe, smart young White House secretary handling patronage matters, is leaving to take a new job as Assistant Attorney General. Rowe's White House duties will be taken over by veteran secretary Marvin McInyre, who used to have charge of the President's callers. . . . Administrationites preparing speeches on foreign affairs are priming themselves by reading "Is Tomorrow Hitler's," brilliant new book published by H. R. Knickerbocker, Pulitzer prize-winning foreign correspondent.

October 18, 1941

Dear mom:

We got here Wednesday morning, all okay. Six of us left Oklahoma City Monday morning. Eight of us started from Amarillo; one was rejected, and one was held over at Oklahoma City. The six of us sure had a good time on the train; they did not send an officer with us.

This sure is a big base. I haven't been all over it yet, and won't get to for eight weeks yet. New recruits are put into what is called a boot camp, and can't leave the barracks unless an officer tells them to. We have plenty to eat and is well cooked and clean. Today for dinner we had beans, spinach, roast, lettuce, tomatoes, gravy ice cream and cookies, with lemonade to drink.

The buildings here are practically new. They sure take good care of them. We hadn't been here 10 minutes until part of us were washing windows and the rest were sweeping floors. We have to make our own beds and wash the bed clothes. We have to wash our own clothes, too.

A big army field is located just south of here. Planes are taking off and landing all day, nights too. A big four-motored bomber plane just took off. Sure makes a lot of racket.

For the next three weeks we will learn to march and conduct ourselves in a military manner. The next three weeks we will spend in tents on the rifle range learning to shoot. The next two weeks we'll be spent in review.

"Here's health to you and to our corps

Which we are proud to serve;
In many a strife we've fought for life

And never lost our nerve.

If the Army and the Navy
Ever looks on heaven's scenes,
They will find the streets are guarded

By the United States Marines."

LAFF-A-DAY

"I'm afraid I owe you an apology. I didn't show tonight!"

"Dusty" Law, they call him. "Dusty" Law, the dizzy, daring, double-crossing devil who dubbed this a desolate desert, damned for days of dust. "Damit," deploras "Dusty," "I didn't done it."

Evidently there is a demand here for the better type of children's books. Several of the books I bought recently have already been sold; although we just put them out yesterday. Wish now I had bought more than one copy each, don't know that they can be secured now.

This month's dues to the Dalhart Country club are payable and the secretary sends out statements showing that Uncle Sam wants an additional 11 per cent of the amount due. And anyone who can afford to belong to a country club can afford to pay the tax; there'll be no complaining.

'Sfunny how folks were talking about taxes before the defense program; tax meetings were being held, anti-tax organizations created, etc. Now the people have buckled down, realizing how badly the money is needed, how well it will be spent and what it means. No complaining, no grumbling, no cussing or criticizing.

But organizations are springing up everywhere with the slogan of "No more non-defense expenditures." They want the government to cut out everything that requires expenditures unless it is for national defense, on the theory that so much spending will mean either inflation or national bankruptcy. Lots of common sense in the argument, but one wonders just what is meant by non-defense spending. Does it mean a curtailment of road construction in counties that do not have bomber plants, aviation factories or Army camps? Does it mean curtailment of public construction of towns and cities sent out to every town, city, Navy or Marines? Does it mean that they want the farm payments to stop? Do they relief expenditures discontinued communities where the government has not dumped several hundred thousand dollars in national defense funds?

At the same time a plea is sent out to every town, city, community, every chamber of merce, county official, city and other community leaders ing them to discontinue effort get the government to money in their community. gressmen are being asked encourage their constituents seeking munitions factories, ing camps, etc., and to let the control spend wisely and without influence of politics we have been told all along are no politics attached to ment spending for national fense. It is a patriotic move, all those who think the towns and communities, which growing smaller and smaller cause their people are being into cities to work in plants and munitions factories, going to quit pleading for help keep their communities alive stand on your heads.

November 25-26 are the dates set for the letting of a contract for the completion of the road Boise City in Dallam county can't be justified under the national defense program and may be layed again unless we convince State Highway Department of need.

And if you really want to why fifteen miles of that road already completed, you can man most responsible out of Dalhart Laundry. August fought a lone battle for that years ago, tried to get it in county bond issue, insisted seeking state designation, stood for it when others sending a No. He insisted on sending a to Austin to seek its designation and stay there until it was nated, conditionally or otherwise. That was done, and the road designated a state highway tioned upon the state taking over when it was completed. made it eligible for construction under the present plan, others it would still be just another county road and could not be under the present set-up.

How Stock Market Is Touching John Public

By ROGER BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., Nov. 6. With all the activity and confidence existing abroad, we see lethargy and fear in Wall Street. Where the Dow Jones Average was 138 at the outbreak of the war, and later reached the high of 157, it is now at 122. Let me give you the reputed reasons for this situation and my comment thereupon.

Defense a New Industry

1. "Although the present industrial recovery is now 60 per cent above the level at the outbreak of the war, practically all of this increase has been on war business." My Comment: What of it? Our industrial increase has always been due to something—the automobile industry, the radio craze, buying on installments, or a political victory. The defense industry is a legitimate and permanent industry.

2. "Although gross profits are very high, yet taxes are terrific. In many cases the gross profits have increased 100 per cent, while the net profits, after the payment of taxes, show an increase of only 16 per cent." My Comment: If these companies had had an increase of only 10 per cent in net profits and no increases in taxes, investors would be very happy. Yet what is the difference, especially as income taxes cannot be collected except upon dividends paid. A comparison of today's dividends with the prices at which the stocks are selling make them look ridiculously cheap.

Taxes Can Be Passed On

3. "Notwithstanding the huge taxes that are now being paid by our corporations, Secretary Morgenthau talks about an 'all out' tax program which will take all profits above 6 per cent." My comment: Employers have always feared increased taxes. Turn to the history of any nation and you will see a continual wail over "taxes." Of course taxes at times have been almost confiscatory to investors who live idly on inherited wealth. Those in active business, however, have always found that they would pass on the taxes to the ultimate consumer.

4. "Although there have been no panics in the stock market since World War II started in September, 1939, yet there has not been any definite trend one way or the other. People like a market which is moving." My Comment: The fact that the average speculator does not like today's market is one of the reasons for my liking it. As a rule, most speculators are wrong. They are enthusiastic about the market when they should stay out of it; and they are discouraged with the market when they should enter it.

Commodities Are Low

5. "Most commodity prices have gone up so much recently, many chart readers have become bearish. It is an old saying in Wall Street that high commodity prices precede lower stock prices." My Comment: Although commodity prices have advanced considerably during the last year, they are as nothing compared with what they were during World War I. For instance, in World War I wheat sold at $3.00 per bushel; cotton sold at 38 cents per pound; copper sold at 37 cents per pound; steel sold at $100 per ton; and sugar you couldn't buy, beg, or steal.

6. "The fact that money rates are controlled by the Federal Reserve banks makes many wary of buying securities dependent upon money rates. They claim that the low rates received on good bonds, savings, etc., are a great detriment to the situation." My Comment: For 40 years I have been watching securities. Until the past year a surplus of money and low money rates have always been given as a basis of a bull market. Why the change?

Inflation Is Coming

7. "Although the stock market can never safely be forecast by charts, yet there is something in studying the technical position of the market. These market technicians claim that their charts do not now look very good." My Comment: If these chart technicians could tell by their charts whether the stock market is going up or down, they wouldn't be working in back rooms in Wall Street offices for thirty-five dollars a week! Enough said!!

8. "The bears insist that the public have been fed up on the inflation argument and are no longer interested in it. Hence, they refuse to accept this as an argument for higher stock market prices." My Comment: I don't look forward to any radical inflation that is going to wreck this country; but I do believe that we are experiencing some inflation all the time and that it is going on at the rate of about 10 per cent a year. Certainly, anyone with common sense will try to hedge against inflation by now buying certain common stocks.

Don't Worry About Labor

9. "The market situation is sufficient reason for the present stock market inactivity." My Comment: It is true that corporations as a rule, do not make as much money after they are organized under a labor union as they did before. On the other hand, investors are free to shift from companies that are organized to companies that are unorganized. Instead of squawking about the stock of some company which has recently been organized by the C. I. why not sell that stock and buy stock in some chain merchandising corporation which will benefit from these increased wages?

10. "Finally, there is the war. Investors are now selling stocks because they are afraid that Russia is to get a licking, where a few years ago these same people were selling stocks because they thought Russia was going to control all of Europe!" My Comment: I am 100 per cent for Great Britain, but I have sense enough to see that this entire war is a great paradox. The only hope for world peace is to have Europe controlled under one control, and we are fighting the man who is trying to bring this about! Hitlerism will be smashed; but some of his ideas will live and World War II will be worth all it costs. The truth is that the world has been at war and investors who look at war as one of the most important events of life will fare best in the end.

Fair Prices Pledged In Food Program

By B. F. Vance,
Chairman, Texas USDA Defense Board

College Station—Texas farmers answering American's call for increased quantities of vital foods in the Food-For-Freedom program have the protection of federal farm legislation against price collapse of these commodities.

The new act of congress, known as the Steagall amendment, requires that whenever it is necessary to encourage the expansion of non-basic agricultural commodities in the present emergency the secretary of agriculture must issue a public notice of the expansion.

Through the same law the secretary of agriculture supports the farm price of the commodity at not less than 85 percent of parity. Before the price-supporting program can be discontinued, the secretary must give sufficient public notice of the termination so that producers may make readjustments in production.

Secretary Wickard has already given public notice covering hogs, eggs, evaporated and dry skim milk cheese and chickens until Dec. 31, 1942. Cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice are supported by law through loans at rates based on 85 percent of parity, but surpluses of these crops already exist and no increased production is needed.

The new protection is not needed now, since prices of the non-basic commodities named are well above 85 percent of parity level, but farmers can plan their 1942 production in the knowledge that prices can and will be supported should it become necessary.

Carl Zimlich was in Lubbock the first of the week.

Chester L. Schultz is in Dennison on business.

Alan F. Furman, W. C. Humble and Phillip F. Allan, Amarillo, were in Dalhart Wednesday.

RAIL WALKOUT—

The operating brotherhoods asked wage hikes of 30 per cent from the current minimum of about $5.06 a day. The commission recommended a 7½ per cent raise. The non-operating unions asked that their present wage levels of 35 to 85 cents per hour be raised by 30 to 40 cents. The board recommended an increase of 9 cents, or about 12½ per cent.

The commission's wage-increase recommendations would be made retroactive to September 1 and would expire December 31, 1942. Besides proposing wage hikes for 1,250,000 workers, the commission suggested paid vacations for 900,000.

The total cost to railroads would be $270,000,000 annually. Carriers said they couldn't stand the extra load, but the commission said freight and passenger rate increases of about 5 per cent would take care of the proposed increases and paid vacations.

WOLVES ARE—

Thomasson, stellar backfield men, have gone into the line, giving it more punch and power. Roy Kenison and Afton Martin, backs, are rounding into effective and able passers. The chunking previously been done by Gallett and Thomasson.

Direct comparisons indicate that Dalhart tomorrow night should chalk up its second stright District 1-A victory. Friona and Canyon battled to a scoreless tie, but the Eagles won on penetrations. Dalhart of course, beat Canyon 19-0.

Tulia romped over Friona 20-0, and edged out Dalhart only 7-0, and did that in the last few minutes of the game after Dalhart lost the ball on its own eight-yard line through a fumble. Friona also dropped a 13-0 game to Hereford, while the Whitfaces nipped Dalhart only 14-6.

Floyd Wise, winner of the national cornhusking contest at Tonica, Ill., is pictured near the finish of the contest in which he tossed 45.37 bushels of husked corn against the bangboard in 80 minutes. Floyd is a 31-year-old bachelor from Prairie Center, La Salle county, Illinois.

W. H. Fitzsimmons is recovering from an attack of flu.

Grains And Stocks In Decline Today

Grains in general, declined today. So did stocks, and cotton at noon was irregular.

Soybeans were unchanged to one and five-eighths higher; Dec. $1.69. All other grains were off. Wheat at noon was a half to a cent down. Dec. $1.16. Corn declined three-eighths; Dec. 78; while oats skidded three eighths to a half; Dec. 50 5/8.

At the end of the second hour on the New York stock market, Dow-Jones industrials had declined $1.12. Utilities were down 77 cents, rails had dropped 15, leaving the entire list off 54 cents.

Cotton in New York was 3 to 5 points higher, and in New Orleans was 3 points lower to 4 higher.

Dr. Barcus Goes To New Pastorate

Dr. T. S. Barcus, Perryton district superintendent of the Methodist church, will leave tomorrow to conduct services Sunday at the First Methodist church in Alamogordo, N. M.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt recently appointed Dr. Barcus pastor of the Alamogordo church. Mrs. Barcus moved into the new parsonage there last week.

Dr. Barcus came to the Perryton district, with headquarters in Dalhart, from St. John's church in Stamford two years ago.

Next Wednesday he will go to annual Northwest Texas conference in Big Spring to complete his work in Texas for the year. Tonight he will conduct quarterly conference at Texhoma.

Latter Day Saints Meeting To Begin

The Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ, Latter Day Saints in Dalhart has announced a 10-day series of meetings to begin tomorrow night at 7:30 in the John Schrader building, 316 Denrock.

Rev. A. M. Baker of Thayer, Mo. will conduct the services.

Rev. Baker has held meetings in Dalhart twice before. Mrs. J. C. Farr's said today. The public is cordially invited to attend the services.

Warren R. Landrum, of the SCS offices in Perryton, was a business caller in Dalhart yesterday and this morning.

R. P. Hutton, pioneer Dalartan, who has been ill for several weeks, has regained enough strength to be up and about his home.

PUPPET LOVE by Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

SYNOPSIS

In all his twenty-four years, Christopher Allen Bishop had stood in awe of his family name and all it represented—bluebloods and millions! But today, he had gotten fed up with the whole artificial set-up, given up his $25-a-week "job," sent a farewell note to his aristocratic mother, and started out on his own in a roadster he had won in a radio contest. On the road to adventure, he picks up a hitch-hiker.

CHAPTER TWO

"You're a soldier?" Christopher asked, eager to get the conversation of his chatting friend away from himself.

"Now, CCC... but I'm through now. The old man's back on his old job with the railroad, at eighteen a week!"

"Eighteen... eighteen dollars?" Christopher repeated. "Why that's not very much."

"Not much? Well, no... not for him that had been workin' fifteen years for 'em already—before the depression. You know what they said? They wuz waivin' the age limit, but he'd have to start from taw."

"Where is Taw?" Christopher asked.

"Taw? Gosh, didn't you ever play marbles?"

"No, but I always wanted to—terribly."

"I bet you're a Limey but you're holdin' out. I knew 'n Eyetalian once that way. Wouldn't let on to nobody. But, I sez," he took another cigarette, "you can't help where you're born."

"You're right about that," Christopher agreed heartily. "But I really am an American, if it matters."

"You bet it matters. I couldn'ta got in the CCC if I wuzn't. Gotta be native born. You know that was pretty good... the CCC, I liked it fine. But we're off relief now. The old man's got his job, the factory at home has opened up and my two sisters is workin', and now I'm goin' down Baltimore way to work, in a tourist camp. Got a job through a guy at the CCC. I like this outdoor stuff. An' now that mom's used to me bein' away from home, she won't kick about me goin' again."

"Your mother really came around to feeling all right about your being away?" Christopher asked. Perhaps all mothers were alike. They wanted to keep their children close to them whether or not they had a million dollars.

Listening to his passenger—his name was Joseph Francis Kane, but everybody called him Joe—Christopher's excitement rose. He knew about things. At nineteen he seemed years older than Christopher's twenty-four. Then Christopher would remind himself that he actually was only a few hours old really—he'd never been himself until nine that morning.

An hour later they had come closer to the Susquehanna River and mill towns edged into the farm country. At the outskirts of one of these, Christopher slowed down.

"I'm low on gas, Joe, and I really am a bit hungry. Won't you join me for lunch?"

"Eat?" asked Joe. "That'd be swell, but don't stop in this dump."

"But why not? This place has Western sandwiches. I've always wanted to try one."

"A Western'd go good all right, but this is a tough burg, fellow. Suppose'n I bring 'em out to the car?"

Joe was going solicitous on him. Already there had been much too much of that in Christopher's past. Determinedly, he locked the car and opened the door. "Let's go," he said.

They went. As he crossed the sidewalk, Christopher had to admit that even in the bright sunlight of mid-afternoon, the place was unsavory looking. Clean enough, viewed through the window, with a white lunch counter and a few stools, the little building was wedged between a calico-curtained pool parlor and a dingy building, its windows covered over with paper in imitation of stained glass and occasional gilt letters announcing it to be the

DI MON SPORT NG CL B

Joe walked very close to his heels.

Then Christopher really went into action.

He was a good six inches shorter than Christopher but powerfully built.

"Maybe they'll think I'm your body-guard," Joe murmured as they crossed the sill.

"And why should I need one?" Christopher demanded over his shoulder.

"I don't know who you are, but you sure look like somebody waitin' to be took," Joe sighed, as they settled on stools, near the window.

Christopher discovered he was quite hungry. The Western sandwiches were excellent, distinctly different—so, unfortunately this time, was the coffee. The counterman was very friendly and after they'd eaten, he showed Christopher the bagatelle games at the back of the place. Joe seemed unusually eager to get on the way, and kept nudging Christopher anxiously. But Christopher was thoroughly enjoying himself, pulling back the little lever and sending the ball spinning. He'd had a game like that as a boy but his mother had sent it away—not instructive.

Perhaps this wasn't instructive but it was amusing, at least, until he became conscious of quite a gallery. Certainly there was nothing here to draw spectators.

"Will you hurry up an' get out o' here before you get slugged?" Joe whispered between his teeth.

It was right then that someone pushed Christopher, brushed rather than pushed against his hip pocket. He knew with a strange constriction of his throat that his wallet had been lifted.

The speed of the pick-pocket didn't match Christopher's when he swung and caught the thin fingers, still hooked over the leather wallet.

"I beg your pardon, but that's mine," he said quietly, retrieving

DEFENSE Quiz

In a payroll-allotment plan, is employee committed to purchase stated amount of Defense Bonds—say, $100, $300, or $500?

No. The payroll-allotment plan is part of the voluntary Defense Savings Program for encouraging employees to save systematically. An employee may drop out of a payroll-allotment plan at will. There is no compulsion.

Where are Defense Savings Bonds on sale?

At post offices, most banks, and loan associations, great numbers of stores. Look for the Defense Savings Stamp on the stamps.

How to buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to your nearest post office, bank, or savings association; or write to the Director of the United States Savings Bonds, Washington, D. C. Also Stamps are on sale at retail stores.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—
Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty urinations with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills. Used successfully by millions for over 30 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

He Was Busy All Right But Poppy Day He Helped Boy And His Dog Is Saturday

R. S. (Bob) Chatelain, Dalhart cafe owner, is as full of business as a dog is full of fleas, but like every other All-American hard-headed businessman he's got a soft spot in his heart for a boy and his dog.

A few days ago Chatelain, hurrying along the street, stopped abruptly when he saw a four-year-old boy tying his dog to the rear bumper of a car in front of the La Rita theater.

The boy had been sent on some errand and had brought his dog along with a short rope tied into the dog's collar.

He explained to Chatelain that he didn't want the dog to run away, and he didn't know whether he should take him into the store.

Chatelain explained that the car might be driven away, or another one might drive in behind it and hurt the dog.

The boy said he couldn't find any place else to tie the dog, so Chatelain—thought he had plenty else to look after—helped the boy solve his problem.

Free Show To Be Given Saturday, 10 A.M.—La Rita

A free show, a new serial and four bang-up feature films are on the Mission and La Rita menus for this weekend.

The free show will be at the La Rita theater, Saturday morning at 10:00, and is for all kiddoes in this tri-state territory who are 12 years of age or under.

They will be shown the first chapter in what is known as Hollywood's first million dollar super serial. It is titled "Riders of Death Valley," and will show at the La Rita tomorrow afternoon and night, and Saturday afternoon and night in connection with the western thriller, "Man from Montana," starring Johnny Mack Brown.

The serial features such stars as Buck Jones, Noah Berry, Jr., Dick Foran, "Big Boy" Williams and Leo Carrillo.

The Mission Saturday only will offer a new filmization of Errol Flynn's "The Sign of the Cross."

John D. Biggers

President Roosevelt has granted a "leave of absence" from government service to John D. Biggers, Toledo glass company executive, who has spent 17 months in defense administration as a $1-a-year man. Biggers recently returned from a London trip as special minister in charge of expediting lend-lease supplies and previously held a key post in the Office of Production Management.

Digger's immortal Chinese detective, Charlie Chan. Sidney Toler is in the title role and the picture is "Charlie Chan in Rio."

The Mission for prevue Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday will offer another glorious technicolor production, "Smilin' Through." It headlines Jeannette MacDonald, Brian Aherne, Gene Raymond and Ian Hunter.

The La Rita Sunday and Monday will show one of the stand-out Western of all time. "Santa Fe Trail." Erroll Flynn and Olivia de Havilland are top stars. The supporting cast reads like a who's who of Hollywood satellites.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary will stage the annual Poppy Day Saturday, Mrs. G. C. Painter, chairman of arrangements committee, announced today.

Buddy Poppies will be on sale all day by members of the auxiliary and Girl Scouts. The Girl Scout troop will receive a portion of the proceeds. Four and a half cents from each flower goes to the veterans who made the poppies; one cent to national veterans home in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

The sale will begin at 8:00 Saturday morning with headquarters at McIlroy Furniture company.

Byron Cumming, who underwent an emergency appendectomy the first of the week, is reported as doing nicely at Loretto.

Library Tag Day To Be Saturday

The annual Dallam County Library Tag Day is Saturday.

A New Books shelf has been installed in the library, and proceeds from the tag sale will go to a fund for buying the latest books on the market. Mrs. Earl McIlroy, librarian, said today.

As in previous years, the Sub-Deb club will assist the librarian and the library association board in the tag day sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore are in the New Mexico mountains on a deer hunt.

Sinking of Reuben James May Embolden Japs

Trouble in the Pacific is considered a distinct possibility as a result of the sinking of the Reuben James. Frequent German attacks on U. S. war and merchant ships in the Atlantic is seen as undoubted encouragement to Japan to join the Axis war in Asia, thus preventing further transfer of Eastern Siberian troops to European Russia, and diverting General Wavell's attention from the Caucasus to Eastern India.

Scout Mobilization Plan Is Prepared

A plan of mobilization for Boy Scouts was worked out by scoutmasters at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce office Wednesday afternoon. It was in line with the general national defense program and was attended by Field Executive Chester Dunlap, Rex Mahoney, E. F. States, H. H. Horton, Bill Clinkenbeard, Dr. L. D. Porter and Raymond Holmlund. In case of prairie fires, local fires, floods, and other emergencies the service of the scouts would be available without undue delay if plans for training and individual troops are carried out as recommended. Practice by each troop will begin soon, Dunlap stated.

Jimmy Wells And Sister Made Costumes And One Took Prize

Since the businessmen's Annualbrother except when she is in Hallowe'en Parade for youngsters last weekend, two of the happiest kids in town have been James A. Wells, two and a half years old and his sister, Mary Jo, 12, children of Mrs. Helen Wells. Mrs. Wells is employed and didn't have time to fix Hallowe'en costumes for the parade, in which prizes are awarded to the best get-ups, so the children designed and fixed their own. The mother didn't get home from work till 6:30 the evening of the parade and got down town with children just as the procession started moving at 7:00. The judges found Jimmy's costume one of the 30 most appealing in the parade and awarded him one of the prizes. Mary Jo, who takes care of her school, ordinarily doesn't go to the Trans-Canadian clinic while her mother is at work there, but when she read the list of prize-winners in The Dalhart Texan her childish enthusiasm wouldn't be denied. She left her little brother with a neighbor and just barely hit the high places in getting to the Clinic to tell her mother the good news. "We've got to write and thank the businessmen who made the parade possible, the judges and— and everybody," she said breathlessly. 'Dad' Morris Better From Two Bad Falls Mrs. Florence Potteiger's father, affectionately known as "Dad" Morris, 88, is recovering from two falls within the past week. Last week he fell and hurt his knee. Last weekend, as a result of the knee injury, he fell again. His head struck the refrigerator cutting a long gash that required 7 stitches.
