It has been said time and time in the press of the state and through other mediums of publicity that the vast resources of Texas have not been accurately located. The Times believes that this is so, for do we not see daily in the newspapers of some new oil field in the Lone Star State? Just as true is it the Ranger field is by no means at the end of its production. The production of the Ranger field is as strong as it ever was, and when figures show any decrease it is due entirely to the fact that sufficient pipe line facilities cannot be secured or due to the inability of the driller to get sufficient material for the erection of their derricks, as it seems the freight embargo on Ranger is going to be a permanent thing.

The search after the fluid continues in all sections of the state. While waiting is the order of the day everywhere and success has been attained at numerous places. That part of the state west of Ranger is receiving the most thorough test that has every been known and if there is a big field out there somewhere it is going to be found some day. That there is oil in paying quantities in the counties west of Ranger there is small doubt, for in every last well that has been put down to any depth oil has been found, though so far no big field has as yet been opened up.

The search for oil will continue. Big companies are fast getting into the game and West Texans believe that there is plenty of time yet for the making of a big discovery.

If anybody ever opposed the paving of the business streets in Ranger, let him forever keep his mouth shut. The vast benefit that accrues to the city through the paving was never more conclusively demonstrated than it has been this week and last, following the heavy rains. Of course, all the streets are not paved, but those that are, are proving a boon both to the pedestrian and the heavy haulers. Naturally where there is rain, there will be mud, and Ranger has her full share of it. Time was when about the most difficult thing one ever attempted was to get across a street here, whereas now it is indeed an easy matter, for the majority of the streets have either been graded or paved.

There is still need of contributing to the aid of the storm sufferers at Corpus Christi and other towns along the coast. Easily one million dollars is needed to relieve the suffering of the people there. Many cities of the state have contributed and contributed liberally, but the cry comes that there is need of more money, more clothing, more food. Texas must not fall her citizens in the hour of dire need.

EXHIBITS PLANE WHICH WILL RISE VERTICALLY

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The model of an aeroplane which will rise vertically is being exhibited at the rooms of the Aeronautical society here by W. J. Beach, an inventor.

The fundamental principle of Mr. Beach's invention is that it is lifted straight from the ground by means of revolving aerofolios rotated from their outer periphery. Horizontal and longitudinal stability are assured by revolving ailerons and stabilizers.

Because of the revolutionary effect such a plane would have upon the airplane market, the exhibit is attracting more than passing attention.

RICHMOND, WOODEN SHIP OF FARRAGUT'S FLEET, DOOMED

International News Service.

BOSTON, Sept. 22.—The famous old wooden warship, Richmond, one of Admiral Farragut's fleet of "Damn the torpedoes" fame, is to be towed here from Philadelphia. Here the wooden warrior will be burned to repress the moral used in its construction. The ship was wrecked its country through three wars.

"THAT LITTLE GAME" --- A Debtor Arrives

OIL ACTIVITY AT BIG SPRING IS BOOMING

All that Big Spring's dream of becoming an oil town in the near future lacks, is the oil itself, according to reports from that busy little metropolis of Howard county. The amount of development work in Howard and Glasscock county is extending rapidly and there are now four companies operating out of Big Springs. The General Oil company, incorporated at Houston, is the largest operating company in this portion of the west Texas district and has over 100,000 acres under lease in Howard, Glasscock and Ector counties. There are three derricks up, the McDowell being down 500 feet and having encountered an oil showing at 100 feet; the well on the Neal ranch has just been spudded in and the Road track derrick is up and will be spudded in very soon. The company has recently secured 40,000 additional acres, much of it near the city and four rigs, all in the company's name now, will be set up on four different locations, arising on this new acreage. General Oil has production in Burkhead, drilling wells in Rock-Etchemon, at Jolly and West Columbia. It also has a refinery at Wichita Falls which will be increased to 2,000 barrels capacity immediately and a casinghead gas plant installed. A pipe line will also be run from Burk to Wichita to handle its own and the production of other companies. A fleet of tank cars has also been purchased and the company's activities speeded up generally. It is the intention of General Oil to make a thorough test of its holdings in West Texas and it is rumored that additional acreage to the extent of over 150,000 acres will be secured in Midland county.

There was some little excitement at Big Springs Saturday when gas was encountered at 500 feet in the well of the Big Springs Development company. This well is southwest of the city out towards the McDowell well. Several wells of the other operating companies including the Texas Production and McCarty, have been forced to suspend operation awaiting shipment of pipe and other material. Monday a car of pipe and other oil well supplies for the General Oil company were located in Ranger and sent on their way.

There is no doubt about an increasing interest in this part of West Texas and the operations of the companies now on the ground being watched closely but desirable acreage is being sought constantly. Set-backs and parties despatched $10,000 in a Big Spring's bank to be taken care of by the demonstrators when they had 1,000 feet and to be finished in case operations were not started within 60 days. The land involved consists of 32 sections near the Road location of the General Oil Co.

Desdemona Is in Need of Railroad

STEPHENVILLE, Sept. 22.—The largest oil field in the United States has been developed at Desdemona and there is imperative need for immediate railway connection to provide facilities for handling the material to be used in the rapidly widening field and also to care for the passenger traffic.

Desdemona consisted of a few ramshackle buildings on the wayside one year ago, since which the new oil town has grown into a city and new buildings are going up with feverish haste. The whole section is dotted with new derricks and more are being added daily. All the big oil companies are operating there.

The demand is so insistent that that an expedited delegation of capitalists came to Stephenville Wednesday evening and held conferences with a committee of Stephenville capitalists and the result was that necessary data and put into concrete form for immediate use, and already an envoy is enroute to get in touch with one of the biggest construction firms in the United States. The engineers will make preliminary surveys. The plan is for a standard-gauge road to be operated finally by electricity.

The committee from Desdemona brought engineers who were thoroughly conversant with the needs of that section, hence little time was consumed in reaching definite conclusions and the machinery is already in operation to bring into full realization all that section needs.

The Desdemona committee met with hearty co-operation at the part of Stephenville and when they returned home it was with the conviction that their mission had been successful. Desdemona wants railway connection with the world through Stephenville and it is not going to be disappointed. The road is to be built and that, too, without delay.

CLUB FOR THE BIG SERIES

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—The Chicago White Sox, pennant winners of the American league, who battle the Cincinnati Reds, winner of the flag in the National league, next month, appear to be practicing hitting in preparation for the titular games. The White Sox, who topped the Reds last week in batting, added another point to their average and are leading their bitter rivals by 20 points. The team batting of the American league club is .284, compared with .264 for the National. Both clubs are toping their respective leagues in batting. The Reds had a four-point advantage in team fielding last week and each club advanced a point this week, remains unchanged. Five Reds showed a gain in their batting during the past week. These include Renah, who boosted his mark from .319 to .324. Eller, Kopf, Mace and Sallee. A like number of the White Sox has added to their average and of these Eddie Collins leads the quintet with .327, compared with .316 last week. The others who climbed are Liebald, Felsch, Risberg and Orr. Jackson dropped a few points. Eddie Collins is topping the base leaders of each club with 31 thefts. In nearest rival on the Reds is Sallee, with 27. Heinie Groh, captain of the Reds, cracked out five homers, which is the high mark for his club, while Sallee is topped by two White Sox—Jackson and Felsch—who have cracked out seven and six, respectively. Each club has a trio of players who are batting above the .300 mark. The Reds have Roush, .324; Roh, .311, and Eller, .302, while the White Sox have Murphy, .478; Jackson, .345, and Eddie Collins, .323.

Cotton Warehouse for Every County Now Being Urged

DALLAS, Sept. 22.—A warehouse for every county in the cotton belt wherein the cotton of the county could be stored and protected from damage was one of the proposed plans of assisting the farmer in getting a better price for his crop, made at the recent meeting in New Orleans of the American Cotton association. This plan already has been developed in numerous counties in South Carolina and because of the fact that the warehouses are owned by the farmers themselves the storage and insurance charges are minimized and every farmer utilizes the warehouses for his crop. The warehouse receipts issued under government bond are negotiable and the farmers have little trouble in borrowing money on them at the banks. By close calculations it has been shown that the deterioration in the crop from country damage is approximately enough each year to provide a bonded warehouse for each county. By the adoption of this method the farmer is able to sell his cotton at his option and is not forced to throw it upon the market. The price is sustained and the grower saves money. By a thorough development of this system it was thought that one method of providing independence of the cotton producer from the speculator would be provided. The plan carries into effect the government's warehouse campaign and would make effective the plans they have been fostering for building warehouses in each community. Government figures show that annual loss through country damage and deterioration runs as high as 10 per cent in some periods. They have been urging the farmer to warehouse his cotton instead of leaving it in the weather. The American Cotton association, after a thorough discussion of the proposition, acted upon it only so far as to leave it optional with the respective counties to consider for their adoption or rejection. Representatives from various states expressed the opinion that this plan was already in effect in many sections. The American Cotton association, however, is considering other plans for bettering the condition of the cotton grower. It already has urged congress to require correction of fallacious figures given out by the United States department of agriculture and to require publication at more frequent intervals during the cotton season. The publication of acreage abandonment, as well as a correction of the "carry-over" figures is demanded in resolutions introduced in the senate and house of congress. A membership campaign to make the American Cotton association an organization of one million members is planned and will be opened at once. Into every county of a state "bearing cotton" effort will be made to place the organization and to form county organizations which will be a part of the state division of the American Cotton association. In eleven other cotton growing states the same plans are being worked out with the result that the entire south will be united in its fight against speculators and those who have resisted the individual efforts of farmers to secure fair and just prices for their crops. "The cotton producers are the only people in the world who are not organized," according to Nathan Adams, chairman of the Texas division. "With their organization into a state unit and the entire south into a cotton-producing states unit, the south will be respected as it never has been respected. Prosperity that for fifty years has belonged to them will make its rightful place."

Germany Short Much Food Now

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—The German deficit in food, the difference between the amount produced in Germany and Germany's normal needs, amounts to 3,500,000 tons of wheat, 1,000,000 tons of meat and 1,000,000 tons of fats, says the imperial food ministry. Immediate payment for those necessary foodstuffs with inland resources is unthinkable, the ministry asserts. Only a long term of credits can help and the acceptance of such credits is possible only if Germany works, for

Harvard Medical School Swamped With Applicants

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 22.—The greatest number of applications ever made for admission to the Harvard medical school—three times more than the school can accommodate—have been received. Of the 400 applicants 280 must be refused, and even with this culling there is an increase of thirty students over the previous limit of ninety for first-year students. Harvard officials explain the great increase by the work of Harvard medical men in the war, which they say has brought the school to a position of pre-eminence among the colleges of medicine and surgery.

FIRE DEPT. HAS PICTURE 'TOOK;' WEEK IS QUIET

The fire department enjoys the enviable distinction of having made only one run in the last four weeks. During this period the amount of damage from fire has been only about eight dollars.

The fire department had its picture "took" Sunday, this time by a fire. Of course, the new fire truck and the new engine and equipment figured prominently in the picture.

Fire Chief Ed S. Smith is carrying on a campaign against persons who park near fire plugs. A city ordinance forbids this practice and Chief Smith says he intends to prosecute all who violate the ordinance.

American Oil Shales of Big Import to All

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—Possibilities for the development of a "great and profitable industry" in American oil shales are seen by Prof. Charles F. Brantley, director of the chemical laboratories of the College of the City of New York but he asked the delegates to the fifth national exposition of the Chemical Industries to take steps to safeguard and foster the new business.

Referring to "flamboyant advertisements" in connection with the shale oil industry, to which his attention had been called, he declared it "is no business for an individual who expects quick returns." "Too much brag," he continued, "cannot be laid upon the fact that it is a manufacturing industry requiring ample capital for large operations, with the very best of technical skill."

He predicted that the oil shales of the country would solve the deficiency in the petroleum supply, quite during and since the war. The annual production of crude petroleum within the United States for 1918 he estimated at 300,000,000, but the 477 refineries operating to capacity require 490,000,000 barrels annually.

Full utilization of the by-products of the oil-bearing shale would put the industry on a fair profit paying basis, Mr. Brantley said.

These Children Aid in Health Crusade in Iowa

DES MOINES, Sept. 22.—Three million American children, all Modern Health Crusaders, washed behind their ears every day for fifteen weeks last year and performed fourteen other health chores daily for the honor of the organization to which they belong and for the benefit to their health. Miss Grace Osborne, director of school activities of the Illinois Tuberculosis Association, told delegates to the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis here today.

Stressing the importance of properly performed childhood habits, she declared that most of the physical defects of the men rejected by the American army could have been remedied in their childhood. She enumerated the fifteen rules governing the Modern Health Crusaders, all of them fundamental and some of them impossible. They include: washing the hands before each meal; sleeping long hours each night with windows open; drinking plenty of water and no tea or coffee; eating slowly; washing the teeth thoroughly at least twice a day; taking deep breaths—at least ten a day; playing out of doors at least half an hour each day; sitting and standing straight; taking at least two full baths a week; and keeping neat and cheerful.

Credits are given for obeying the rules and the class average is computed and written on the blackboard each day, she said, and the movement has influence not only classes and rooms, but whole schools and communities. Miss Osborne told of one 11-year-old boy who took nine baths in one day after the "kids" had upbraided him for cutting down the class average by previous negligence. The crusade, she said, is growing rapidly.

'THE MIRACLE MAN' AN UNUSUAL PICTURE

Hailed by critics as one of the greatest motion pictures ever produced, the Paramount-Artercraft feature, "The Miracle Man," will be displayed at the Liberty, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is the screen version of George M. Cohan's play that scored so emphatically on Broadway some months ago. The original stage production was based upon Frank L. Packard's famous novel. No picture in recent months has had so much praise lavished upon it for the dramatic quality of its story and beautiful photography.

The story of "The Miracle Man" centers about an old patriarch who has gained a reputation for his power to heal the sick and the crippled. To him come a band of unscrupulous crooks from the slums of New York, who have conceived the scheme of capitalizing the healer's gift and taking the money for themselves.

What follows is one of the most absorbing stories ever unfolded upon the screen. In the hands of such players as Thomas Meighan, Elinor Fair, Betty Compson, Lon Chaney and W. Lawson Butt, the development of the chief characters under the influence of the deaf and blind patriarch is portrayed with admirable skill.

HAYAKAWA CAST AS HINDU IN RECENT FILM

Sessue Hayakawa, the eminent Japanese actor, plays the part of a Hindu in his most recent picture, "The Man Beneath." Hayakawa, who toured India with his Japanese dramatic company before he entered the silent drama, is a deep student of Oriental mysticism and tells many interesting stories of his experiences with the "rakirs" of India.

"All along the Ganges the sacred river of India, these Indian ascetics can be seen squatting upon their haunches, lost in abstraction and oblivious of their surroundings. One day I saw a man so emaciated and sphynx-like, sitting with his head against a wall and a glassy look in his eyes. I thought he had passed away, and so reported to the authorities."

"I learned to my astonishment that he would sit thus for days at a time, partaking of no sustenance whatever. While in this condition, I was told, his soul was in communion with Buddha."

BOLT TURNS INTO DEADLY BATTLE BETWEEN FOES

A good many people may be surprised to know that boxing is rapidly becoming a popular evening amusement at fashionable gatherings. In the new World picture, "The Battler," a crowd of society people are shown at a private exhibition in which the host of the evening is to meet an East Side professional. The fight doesn't go as the host had arranged. Hart brutally beats his wife just before the opening of the bout and she in despair and rage appeals to Fortune, the prize fighter, to kill her husband. Fortune is not the man Hart had arranged to fight, the other fighter having been bribed to let Fortune take his place. Fortune and Hart are deadly foes. The fight commences and soon a terrific fight is in full swing. All boxing rules are thrown aside. The guests, surprised and alarmed at the turn of events, leave. Hart is knocked out after a tremendous battle. See this great fight, one of the best and most realistic ever staged, at the Hippodrome today.

MARY PICKFORD

Popularly known in this and other countries as "America's Sweetheart," Mary Pickford is the most famous girl in the world. This is a result of her great motion picture art and her personal charm. When one considers that this little girl has achieved the wonderful success, starting her career with nothing but her own accomplishments and progressiveness, the magnitude of her success is appreciated more fully. When not quite the age when children first enter the public schools, Mary was beginning to attract local attention as an actress in amateur productions. Soon the ambition was developed—she would be a professional actress and relieve her mother of the burden of taking care of her and her small brother and sister, Jack and Lottie, now also popular film stars. Slow and leisurely of gait, but certain in their ability to get there, the old-time oxen have their place in the varied traffic of the oil fields, which shows vehicles from the latest modeled high-power pleasure car to the clumsy and noisy caterpillar tractors, which no roads can stop. Oxen are slower than any other traffic animals of the field, but have a world of endurance and keep on going when the mud halts mules and horses.

The A. & O. Team Contracting company will have posed for the camera the different traffic animals which they are using in the field, at 9:30 Saturday morning in front of the Frick-Reid Supply company's office.

The lineup will include twelve yoke of oxen hauling three boilers; a four-up team with bull-wheel for load; a team with 40-foot stem; a four-up team with steam engine complete; a four-up team with 500-barrel flow tank, and as many more teams as the space will allow.
