THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

The editor hereof has kept pretty well up with the party platforms and standard bearers since the election of James Buchanan in the year of 1856, and is prepared to say, and to demonstrate whenever necessary, that none of them has ever approached in excellence the one adopted last week at Kansas City. Never has his optimism been so greatly stimulated as at present—nor his hopes more perfectly burnished for the triumphs of democracy—not alone for the democratic party, but for concrete, absolute democratic achievements in the near future. Space forbids even a tithe of praises of the platform, and congratulations to our over-burdened countrymen in the most excellent work at Kansas City. There is not a plank too many, not one too few. It is the most progressive and excellent platform the party has ever constructed—indeed contains more—possibly, than all the prior one put together. As for the chief standard bearer, no former one—not excepting Jefferson—has ever excelled him. Now, on to victory.

The article to day from Louis F. Post's Public on the Declaration of Independence is heartily commended to our readers. It was published before the meeting of the national Democratic convention, and possibly had its influence in the construction of the platform. There are too few voters in our country who fully know and properly appreciate the meaning and importance of that immortal document. Now that it is emphasized in the Democratic platform let us all take the Public's advice and get familiar with the Declaration of Independence. It is essential to the perpetuation of what little freedom we now have, and the only hope of advancement, at all.

A PORTO RICAN SONG.

Providence Journal.

The Porto Ricans do not take gracefully to the evasion of plain duty, as a recent yarody on "America," in the San Juan News, gives proof. Two verses of that song run thus:

My country, 'tis of thee
That set Hawaii free,
Of thee I sing!
I am a slave no more,
I've dumped the load I bore
And ceased to kneel before
A queen or king.

Land of the brave and just,
Land of the sugar trust,
How sweet to be
Held up outside the gate
And made to pay the freight—
I tell you what it's great
And tickles me!

It is apparent that nothing humiliates the natives of Porto Rico more than the contrast of their government with that granted to the Hawaiians by the same Congress that planned their legitimate system and their tariff.

B. T. Ware is in the city.

Mr. Sisk, who has the telephone franchise for Amarillo called on the Evening News yesterday and reports the enterprise as moving up to a conclusion. The posts and wire are here, and work will be begun very soon. He is quite hopeful, thinking the patronage will be ample to sustain it.

The Lightburne brick and store building is progressing finely. Mr. Lightburne is congratulated by everybody on the excellence of the material, and the substantial foundation and the thickness of the walls, and in fact everything pertaining thereto. What he undertakes is surety of excellence.

Up to the hour of going to press, after diligent inquiring we have been unable to find a single democrat that is not delighted with both the platform and the nominees of the Kansas City Convention.

Judge Plemons has been shouting ever since the Kansas City convention.

Mr. Hullm, a well posted man, says he has read the proceedings of the National Democracy, and thinks if he is not now called to preach nobody is.

Rev. Whitehurst's household has been blessed with an additional son and brother—being the eighth—in the fulfillment of the promise to make, in the order of Abraham, as numerous as the sands of the sea shore.

Co. commissioner W. T. Pottinger doesn't care much for persons dubbed "Colonel" for prosperity sake; but wants genuine merit rewarded, and that, plain "Mr." is enough for such of them as deserve it.

UNDERSTAND THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

The American declaration of independence, is a document which every truly patriotic man should read, at least once a year, with intelligent affection. For the declaration of independence is the real chart of the American ship of state.

That place has been assigned to the constitution; but the constitution is subject to amendment for the good of the republic, whereas the declaration of independence cannot be amended without destroying the republic in all but form. It gave birth to a nation which, conceived in liberty, was dedicated to those immutable truths that all men are endowed with equal rights and that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. Since that sacred dedication the nation has steadily advanced toward the goal of its high purpose. One by one it has been casting off the evils that in spite of its dedication have clung to it from the past. And never until now has it been forced to face the issue of repudiating its dedication.

But that issue the nation does now face. The truth of the declaration of independence are denied by powerful interests and from high places; no longer timidly in extenuation of old inequalities not yet swept away, but boldly, as obstacles to the establishment of new inequalities necessary to splendid career of imperialism. In this emergency, universal reading and reflection upon the declaration of independence should be encouraged. It should be read next Wednesday in every household, and at every public gathering. Especially should it be read at the democratic convention at Kansas City. If the clergyman who is to pronounce the invocation at the opening of that convention should, in place of improvising a prayer of his own, simply, but with true religious fervor, repeat the Lord's prayer, and be immediately followed by an impressive reading of the declaration of independence—both democratic to their heart's core—a new inspiration would thrill the public mind and elevate political thought. There could be no more appropriate and hopeful beginning for the elemental fight against imperialism. When democracy is assailed at the source, let democrats go to the source for inspiration and courage.—Post's Chicago Public.

THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

There is a more subtle misrepresentation in that part of the platform which assumes credit for bringing on prosperity. The fact of prosperity might be very effectively disputed. It is certainly very sincerely doubted. But even if the false statement of the platform that "capital is fully employed and everywhere labor is profitably occupied," be conceded, it is not honest to claim this as a result of the election of McKinley and the defeat of Bryan. The best argument for that claim is that whereas the democrats were in power during the hard times, the republicans are in power in the good times; and that would be bad logic even if it were a fact. The democrats in power during the hard times were not Bryan democrats, and if they had been, the argument that would make them responsible for the hard times of the 90's would make the republicans themselves responsible for the hard times of the 70's, for they were in power all through that terrible period which introduced the tramp to American civilization. And they had been in power for years before.

The platform drops from misrepresentation to something worse when it calls for—legislation which will enable us to recover our former place among the trade-carrying fleets of the world.

For these mild-mannered words mean much more than they express. What they mean was revealed last winter in congress when the ship subsidy bill, supported by Senator Hanna until the stench of it compelled even him to let it go, proposed to open the public treasury to the tune of millions of dollars annually to an eastern shipping ring.—Post's Chicago Public.

TO THE PUBLIC:

We take pleasure in announcing to the public that we have associated ourselves together in the wholesale and retail grain and coal business at Amarillo, Texas, under the firm name of Maddrey, McGee & Co.

At an early date we will erect at this point on the railroad right-of-way an elevator equipped with modern clipping, cleaning, shelling and chopping machinery, and we will also place our coal bins on the right of way.

With the facilities thus provided, we will be much better prepared to serve the public and on a less margin than we have heretofore been able to do. We will also be prepared to make any kind of a chopped feed on short notice that may be desired from grain grown in this country.

There is now every indication of coal being scarce during the coming winter, as all the mines have been and will run to their full capacity during the entire summer and as there will be a very heavy grain crop to move, together with the usual cattle shipping, will make cars very scarce in which to ship coal. With these facts staring us in the face, we will begin receiving and storing coal during the month of July, and we would advise all those who can to buy their coal as early as possible.

We fully appreciate the patronage of the public received in the past and trust that it will lead to a larger business in the future much to our mutual satisfaction.

The wagon-yards heretofore run by N. S. McGee & Co. are now closed and we will continue the wagon-yard business at W. S. Maddrey's old stand, and we will at all times keep on hand a full and complete stock of feed stuffs and field seeds; and we will be pleased to receive your orders for what you may want in the way of feed and coal.

While the coal will be handled from the track, orders may be left at the office of the wagon-yard or at the coal bins, which will be located just east of the bottling works.

Our terms will be as they have been since the first of May, SPOT CASH when the order is placed or when the goods are delivered.

Very truly yours,

W. S. MADDREY

Ex-Confederates.

POSSIBLY the old heroes of "the war of secession", residing in the panhandle, will never have a better opportunity of meeting together again this side of the grave, than at CANYON CITY, JULY 24-28th, 1900.

The editor hereof expects to be there, with his blanket, wagon sheet, bacon, corn bread, canteen, haversack—no gun—but a real confederate flag—and Peale & Brittain say they will keep that canteen full of stuff that will turn as black as it used to do—but then, we don't need it now, you all know, any more. It is to be hoped that the Plains will be well represented, and, too, not by the men only but by their wives also.

We want our names to "go on the rolls" while yet on the stage of action, in order that our children and their children and their children's children in their day and generation may see them in our own hand writing. Besides we want a word in the history that is yet to be of us. We may regret, but are not ashamed, and want our reasons on record for our more than Spartan strife and sacrifices.

The editor hereof will have a record book on the ground and wants, with every name, a short biography, which should be written before hand and ready to be handed in when name is given.

Yes, let us all try and be at Canyon and enroll. There are many good reasons for doing so, not worth while to mention here

Remember July 24th to 28th.
