thousands of Americans gleefully read the figures on the little foreign imports during the past few years.
A general feeling seems to be growing that Detroit has gotten its comeuppance.
Everyone who professes to be a tapper from a ring gear to the national periodicals have called American cars "big toilet boxes, fit only for hauling groceries down a straight avenue." And it generally seems that everyone has gone
so far with their hypothesis,
the entire nation—even people not here—are beginning to look with curiosity and interest
at little bugs from Germany,
France, England, Sweden, Italy,
Japan.

The little American public is glad to pay $2,000-plus for a little bucket after being told that thousands of their brothers are on relief in the nation's producing centers. They pay as much for a lot less automobile than American makes.
There's a lot wrong with American automobiles from an engineering standpoint but from the economist's angle, they're the best production industry ever devised by man.

If you go to buy one of these things just remember that the people who make it have considered nothing but an import to the betterment of this country. A nation, just like in a small town, it pays to stick together. And any kind of car you possibly want is produced in United States today.

very pained conscience and eloquent orator who can find a box has been screaming to heaven about the injustices done by the federal government to Stanley Yankus, a farmer
from Dowagiac, Michigan.

It seems the government invested almost $5,000 in fines on 1954 on this farmer for planting wheat which he claimed was for his own consumption.
The wheat in their eyes, proponents of farmers freedom to starve taken the case of Yankus to luck-clucking public.

His sympathizers have stated that Yankus was persecuted for standing on his own two feet,
that he has never accepted
government price support.

He is a poultry farmer who atched up a bigger cloud of wheat than ever did a feeding operation. The wheat in question was planted to feed his poultry.

Now we don't go along with government programs all the time all the way any time. But the able who point to Stanley Yan-kus and try to make him out as a tyrant are just pulling the chickens over the nation's eyes.
It is true that it's a shame that farmers can't raise their own to feed their own chickens without being penalized. It is easy enough to justify in condoning Yan-kus actions just as it is easy for opponents of government
price supports to feel justified in shouting free enterprise, freedom and country. Anyone who just a little of their wrinkled brain can understand that if he planted wheat, or cotton,
sorgho, or beans for their own use,
a farmer who raised things to eat would be holding the short end of the stick. Suppose all stock raisers were Stanley Yankus types. Who would buy milo and cotton? Suppose everyone who made saw their own cotton? This would be nice for the stock feeding and shirt producers because they can certainly raise these things cheaper than they can buy them. Naturally many feeders do raise their own milo because this is unrestricted crop, but if all did, then farmers who wanted to sell wouldn't find many buyers.

Everybody's got to play the game. Anyone wanting a bigger share of the pie is greedy and not very good or cooperative citizen—which describes Stanley Yankus.

Anyone who raises his own feed
for his chickens is not only breaking a law of the land—he is helping legitimate wheat go into the market by not using it. It is hard to explain Yankus' fallacy of argument, because there is no precedent to give the aroma of fairness to the government's action.
It is easy to criticize the government farm control theory and to say many things wrong with it, but it's still the only way to get out of holding our farm
together until demand comes up with production. The Yankuses who want to take their ball and go home believe they can't make all the downs should be allowed to along and nurse their wound-ride.

bursts (Continued on Page Seven)

Third of County Farmers Share Cost In Government Conservation Plans

Slowly, almost imperceptibly, the landscape of Castro County is being changed by the nation's Agricultural Conservation Program.

The visible effects of the program are ponds for watering livestock and protecting vegetative cover; sod waterways established to control runoff; terraces; diversion terraces; concrete irrigation pipe systems; land leveling; and irrigation ditch lining.

Other things—done by the farmer on a cost-share basis with the government—are not so apparent. Just the same, they are considered important in keeping land productive for future generations. They include such practices as bindweed control; listing and chiseling to control wind erosion; stubble mulching; establishing legumes; chiseling to improve water penetration; and deferred grazing to improve land cover.

Ordinarily these conservation practices would not be done by the majority of the farmers if they had to bear the entire cost themselves. Thus Castro County has adopted over the years some fourteen government practices which the farmer, since most conservation work is extremely expensive, especially where heavy land-moving equipment is involved and where pipelines are laid, there would be few farmers who could stand the entire cost alone without economic hardship. Since each farmer, in reality, is a temporary resident of the land only during his lifetime, the conservation program has been carried out to keep his land intact for future farmers.

The conservation program in Castro County is administered by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and the Running Water Soil Conservation District with the help of other state and federal farm officials.

Castro County and its neighbors probably have more soil conservation practices being carried out than anywhere in the nation. Most of the county is tillable and has, in fact, been nearly 90 percent broken out. In South Texas hills, creeks, woods, and other natural land situations make most counties less than 50 percent tillable. The Federal Department of Agriculture has said "The purpose of the program is to help achieve additional conservation on land now in agricultural production rather than to bring more land into agricultural production. The pro-

New Water Recharge System To Face Trial In Castro County

A new process, being tried for the first time with a recharge well anywhere, is being experimented with on the Bill Sutton farm five miles southeast of Dimmitt.

Secret of the process is a substance developed by Dow Chemical Company for settling out suspended particles in water used for hydraulic mining. Called a flocculating process, the substance causes some 85 to 90 percent of suspended materials to settle out leaving nearly clear water.

The recharge well on the Sutton farm, while not the first in the county, is unique in that it is set up to use the flocculating process. Between the lake and recharge well, which is about a quarter of a mile away, there is a settling basin. As water enters the settling basin it is subjected to the flocculating treatment and the suspended dirt settles out. The water moves on to the recharge well where it is run underground to help resupply water pumped out for irrigation use.

Cost of the chemical is considered negligible by representatives of the High Plains Under-ground Water Conservation District. It will run about 1.50 per hundred acre feet by today's prices. This price would mean that probably less than $250 per surface acre would be needed to settle out the average playa lake they were more expensive than the average farmer could be expected to afford.

Laboratory tests have shown the process will work. It has also proven effective in reclaiming water for hydraulic mining operations. But whether it will work efficiently or not will be put to the acid test early this month when Dow Chemical research scientists put the first of the substance into the settling basin on the Sutton farm.

There are many ifs, ands, and buts concerning the chemical, but High Plains Water Conservation District officials are optimistic about the possibilities. "We believe it will work," White said this week, "and if it does prove to be effective and economically plausible, then we will have scored the first big breakthrough in underground water recharging of the High Plains."

Persons who have worried about the supply of underground water on the High Plains have pointed to the numerous surface, or playa, lakes which dot the High Plains everywhere. They have maintained that if these lakes could be effectively drained into the underground water sands before extensive evaporation took place, then the irrigation water reservoir could be replenished about as fast as it is used up. Some scientists have predicted that the underground water on the High Plains will not last much over 20 years or so before it becomes uneconomical everywhere to pump. Wells in some sections south of here have already become uneconomical.

Draining of playa lakes would also capture some of the tremendous run-off of tail water from irrigated farms since most of it runs to these lakes. If this flocculating process proves effective, it will wind up some ten years of extensive work by water engineers of the High Plains to halt the decline of the water tables in this area.

A complete account of the experiment on the Sutton farm will be carried in a later issue of the News.

SAFFLOWER MEETING PLANNED AT HEREFORD
Deaf Smith County Farmers Union has announced it will sponsor a safflower planting meeting at the Bull Barn in Hereford on Monday, April 6 at 8 p.m. Purpose of the meeting will be to allocate acres to farmers wishing to plant safflower for a processing plant to be located somewhere in the Panhandle area. All farmers in the Hereford area are invited to attend.

1. Constructing pits, or ponds for livestock water as a means of protecting vegetative cover.
2. Initial establishment of permanent sod waterways to dispose excess water without causing erosion.
3. Constructing terraces to detain or control the flow of water and check soil erosion.
4. Constructing diversion terraces to intercept runoff and divert excess water to protected outlets.
5. Reorganizing farm irrigation system to conserve water and prevent erosion.
6. Levelling land for more efficient use of irrigation water and to prevent erosion.
7. Lining irrigation ditches to prevent erosion and loss of water by seepage.
8. Establishing winter legumes in the fall of 1959 for winter protection from erosion.
9. Establishing legumes for summer protection from erosion.
10. Stubble mulching to improve soil permeability and to protect soil from wind erosion and water erosion.
11. Contour listing, contour chiseling, cross slope chiseling, or listing or chiseling not on the contour for wind erosion control.
12. Control of bindweed as a necessary step in the control of wind erosion.

County Little League Receives First Push at Meeting Tuesday

About one hundred adults and eighty-five young boys attended the first meeting to form a Little League corporation in Castro County Tuesday night.

As a result of this meeting there will apparently be a Little League here this summer.

Five men were elected to the Board of Directors to head up the organization's first year of operation. They are Boyd Prather, who was instrumental in forming the Little League; Jack Flynt, Dimmitt; Willis A. Hawkins, Jr., Hart; and A. C. Klemm and Andy Schumacher of Nazareth.

Mr. W. D. Moore of Muleshoe, field representative for Little League, told of the rules and regulations of the Little League and answered questions at the end of his talk.

He emphasized that any local Little League organization must follow a strict set of rules and regulations. The National Organization set up the Little League to conform as closely as possible to actual adult major-league teams. Every team must follow these rules for conformity.

During the course of the meeting Mr. Moore pointed out that Little League baseball rules would not permit home-town teams, so there will be four independent teams from Castro County which will not represent either Hart, Nazareth or Dimmitt although the teams will be made up of boys from these towns. Besides the major league, there can be any number of minor leagues for younger boys. Age of Little League players ranges from 8 through 12.

The board of directors will meet at Nazareth Saturday night to make application for a franchise and to take care of other business. At the same time they will name the teams, select managers, games will be scheduled, time for first workouts set and the registration date for all boys interested in playing will be set.

A copy of the minutes of the meeting of the board of directors will be printed in next week's issue of the News.

Funeral Services For Bill Caldwell Held at Hart

Funeral services for A. D. (Bill) Caldwell, 56, of Hart, were conducted at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church at Hart. Officiating was the pastor, Rev. Lynn P. Wood, assisted by the Rev. R. O. Bowdler of Darrouzett, former pastor at Hart.

Burial was in City Cemetery at Lubbock under the direction of Dennis Funeral Home of Dimmitt. Mr. Caldwell was found dead in his car Monday morning in front of the Ed Bennett home at Hart, shortly after he had presumably suffered a heart attack. Justice of the Peace Bruce Wooddell returned an inquest verdict of death from natural causes. Caldwell had been in ill health for several months, and had lived in the Hart vicinity for more than 40 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bennett of Hart discovered the man slumped over the steering wheel of his car in the street in front of their home in Hart. The engine still was running. Castro County Sheriff Jack Cartwright said Caldwell probably had been dead only a few minutes when found.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Giberson of Rhame, Texas, and Mrs. Martha Ogles of Amarillo.

School Board Elections Set For Saturday

School board elections over the county will be held Saturday (April 4) in the following places: Dimmitt High School, Hart American Legion Building and the north part of Nazareth High School. Balloting time will be from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

On the ballot for county school board member at large is Lester Dowell. For the Precinct 4 place is Ed Drerup and for Precinct 3 is E. H. Youts.

Nazareth School Board candidates are Andy Schumacher, Leo Dobmier, Wm. C. Hochstein, Greg Hoelting and George H. Book. Incumbents are Vincent Braddock and Dobmier.

M. L. Aven and Glyn Reed are candidates for re-election to the Hart School Board.

In the Dimmitt board race are J. G. Davis and Jim Elder, incumbents running for re-election and Woodrow Killingsworth, Charles Burks and M. L. Simpson, Jr.

JayCees Banquet Monday, April 13

He emphasized the need for caution against overproduction of the crop, and stated "Sesame prices are lower than previous years, in sympathy with lower oilseed and grain prices all over the world. The competitive position of Sesame is probably better than ever," he commented, "because of lower price supports for other crops."

The 1958 Sesame harvest was the biggest in the six-year history of commercial production of the crop in the United States. Average price to all growers for No. 1 Quality white Sesame Seed was 9.99¢ per pound; price for No. 1 Tan was 9.87¢ per pound, No. 2 Quality seed average 8.09¢ per pound.

Children haven't changed much in the last 40 years—and that's what worries parents and teachers.

PAT'S PATTER

Ed Dena Boozer and Mickey Polley are in St. Joseph, Missouri, playing with the Doozell's Dolls in the AAU Tournament. They won their first game. The Bobcat Tales wishes these girls the best of luck.

Gwen Dunn won first place in the Annual Panhandle Science Fair at Amarillo. Mougeotia was her exhibit, which showed the uses for which this algae can be used.

FHA Plans Special Days, Birthdays

The coming week of April 4-11 will be a full one for all of the FHA members because it is National Future Homemakers of America Week. Activities have been planned for every day to help carry out the week's purpose.

Observance of the week will begin when all the FHA members attend church together on Sunday morning. Monday will be the day for the "cupid books" and "twirl tags." On Tuesday the girls will attempt to set an example for the student body with "The Kind to Teachers Day" followed by "No Grudge Day" on Wednesday. Thursday will be set aside for our FHA meeting while Friday will be Fix-Up Day dedicated to the reconditioning of our wardrobes. Our week will end on Saturday with individual efforts to earn money for FHA.

GWEN DUNN IS FIRST PLACE WINNER

Gwen Dunn with an exhibit on Mougeotia brought home a first place trophy in girls biological division from the Panhandle Science Fair. Gwen is a junior student in Mrs. Robinson's chemistry class.

Mougeotia is an algae that grows in the area. Gwen has found that the algae can be used as insulating material and heat resisting objects. The algae will not burn, can be bleached, and can be dyed easily. Gwen experimented with the food value of mougeotia this year. She plans to take up its medicinal qualities next year. The staff wishes Gwen luck.

TWIRP WINNER

There is a Texas yarn about the woman who called her husband and asked: "Will you get the car out, Tex, and drive the kids to the backyard so they can play?"

Professor: "Now, can you give an example of wasted energy?"
 Student: "Yes Sir, telling a hair-raising story to a bald-headed man."

Jack: "Martha, will you marry me?"
 Martha: "No, but I shall always admire your good taste."

One afternoon a boy came home from school and said to his dad: "Tonight a special PTA meeting—just you, my teachers, and the principal."

Hug—a roundabout way of expressing affection.
 Junior: "Mommy, when can we have a new dog?"
 Mommy: "Shut up, kid, we haven't finished this one yet."

Add Traditional Charm to Modern Outdoor Living... with GAS LIGHTS

From the nostalgic years of the last century re-appear the lights that have the entire country talking... Gas Lights! Authentically styled, they add appeal to any home, regardless of architectural design. Practical, as well as picturesque, Gas Lights DO NOT ATTRACT BUGS... provide no-glow illumination that is inoffensive to neighbors yet acts as a deterrent to trespassers or burglars. On the patio, along driveways, sidewalks and steps, around swimming pools... Gas Lights cast a soft, magic glow that is graciously inviting and relaxing. Call Pioneer Natural Gas Company tomorrow about an installation in your yard.

THE DISTURBING CHRIST

Christ is a disturber of the peace. Matt. 10:34-37. He constantly disturbed people during His life on the earth. A rich publican, who probably had exacted too much, was content with ill-gotten gains until he dined with Jesus. He corrected his mistakes. We ought to.

Don't you know people were disturbed when Jesus cleansed the Temple, driving out the sheep, oxen and poured out the Changer's money and overthrew the table? Jno. 2:13-18.

The many-married woman was at ease until she talked with Jesus. Jno. 4:14-30. Her interest and concern for her own soul and the souls of others was awakened.

Loyalty to Christ will get us into trouble, Matt. 10:24. In Apostolic days, loyalty to Christ meant death sometimes. Acts 7.

The purer life cannot begin until truth, like consuming fire comes and creates divisions among men, destroying the corrupt, and making a new order. Christ is the dividing line between the two classes of people in the world today—the saved and the lost.

Mrs. Sheffy To Review Book
Mrs. Pearl Sheffy will review "A Pageant of Hats" by Ruth Edwards Kilgour, April 8, at 4 p.m. in the Community Room of the First State Bank.

Mrs. Kilgour, who lives near Worcester, Mass. started her quest for hats 20 years ago. Her husband went along on most of the trips, which reached into practically every corner of the world. They estimate that the material for "A Pageant of Hats" cost about $100,000 to accumulate. Scientific and exact in her research, Ruth Kilgour tells the history, legend and folklore of each hat she presents. The writer notes that each hat style, ancient and modern, is in its own way a window to the past and shows its history in the making. Her collection includes headgear made of every imaginable material. "From jewels to precious metals, leathers and furs to skins, wood and horns. Each hat gives a color-up of exciting people, whose very names are history."

The public is invited to attend.

Sharon Ann Wesson, Richard Blackmore Wed In Baptist Church Ceremony

Miss Sharon Ann Wesson, daughter of Mr. N. L. Wesson of Hereford and Mr. Richard Scott Blackmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Blackmore of Perryton were married in a double-ring ceremony solemnized Sunday, March 29 in the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt by Reverend Earl R. Lantrop of Clovis, New Mexico. Vows were exchanged before an altar draped in white satin and flanked with large arrangements of white mums, gladioli and emerald greenery. Candelabra holding tall white tapers tied with red bows formed an archway. The kneeling bench was covered in white satin and accented with red satin bows, and the bridal path was marked with red bows. Miss Mary Lynn Hendrix played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Joe Nelson, who sang "Whither Thou Goest," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Indian Love Call." Maid of honor was Melba Curry of Lubbock. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry Noble and Mrs. Jimmie Johnson of Lubbock; and Mrs. Ed Baucum and Mrs. Bobby Brock both of Amarillo. They wore identical dresses of red peau de orr fashioned with v-necklines and brief sleeves. Each of the bridesmaids and maid of honor carried lace fans with white gardenias and carnations.

Miss Keri Kirkpatrick, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She carried a white satin basket with red carnations and white candytuft. Ringbearers were Miss Meri Kirkpatrick and Master Charles McLean, a niece and nephew of the bride. Keri and Meri's dresses were red silk organza. Charles was dressed in the same manner as the bridegroom's attendants. The two ringbearers carried white satin pillows with the rings placed upon them.

Mr. Benny Ray Low of Lubbock served as best man. Candelighters were Steve Wesson of Dimmitt, nephew of the bride; and Ronnie Blackmore brother of the bridegroom, Perryton. Serving as ushers were Bobby Latham, Lubbock; Charles Rae, Abilene; Jerry House, Lubbock; and Edward Sawyer, Amarillo. The bridegroom and his attendants wore dark slacks and white jackets. The groom wore a white boutonniere of stephanitis and his groomsmen wore red carnations boutonnières.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white peau de sole full length gown with lace overskirt. The scooped neckline was accented with a lace applique and pearls. Her tiara held a veil of French illusion and she carried for her bouquet a cascade arrangement of Fringed carnations, gardenias and stephanitis on a white Bible.

Immediately following the ceremony guests were received in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob McLean.

Greeting the guests at the door were Mr. and Mrs. McLean, the bride and groom, and members of the wedding party.

The dining table was covered with a white taffeta and net cloth. The center arrangement was red garlands of carnations on a crystal stand placed around a memory candle. A four tiered wedding cake decorated with white roses and lilies of the valley and a crystal banchowli flanked with red carnations and fern graced the ends of the table. Each corner of the table was marked with a red carnation.

Members of the bride's house party were Mrs. Bob McLean, Mrs. Jo Kirkpatrick, and Mrs. N. R. Wesson all of Dimmitt; Mrs. C. H. James of Hereford; Mrs. John Peeples of Mesa, Arizona; Mrs. R. P. Wesson of Levelland and Mrs. Bob Estes of Dimmitt. All of the houseparty were sisters or sisters-in-law of the bride with the exception of Mrs. Estes.

For traveling the bride wore a white and black tweed suit with black patent leather accessories. Her corsage was a white gardenia, taken from her bridal bouquet. Following their wedding trip to Santa Fe, New Mexico and Salida, Colorado the couple will be home at 2624 22nd St. Lubbock on April 13.

Mrs. Blackmore attended West Texas State College and Texas Tech. She is employed at First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Lubbock.

Mr. Blackmore is a graduate of Texas Tech where he was a member of Alpha Epsilon Chi. He is now assistant manager of Citizens National Bank.

Undergoes Examination
Mr. C. G. Miller has been selected by the Northwest Texas Hospital for extensive examinations. Mr. Miller has been in the hospital for some time but it was not press time whether operation would be necessary.

A Tribute To Our Florists!

Flowers, they say, have a message all their own. If you would understand what they are saying, visit your favorite florist today. He is a man who lives with plants and blossoms. As tenderly as a mother cuddles her child, he nurtures wondrous seeds and slips and brings forth their exquisite beauty. Wintertime and Summer, he works long, patient hours. His green thumb potters in the good earth, his modern hothouse is his fragrance laboratory. Dahlias, daisies and daffodils love his tender touch and respond as if to please him. He is a scientist, a specialist, a man whose products can carry any message. We salute his ingenuity and say, "Bouquets to you, Mr. Florist!"
