Lotief Says Too Many Bills Up in The Legislature

(Editor's Note: Legislative letter from Cecil A. Lotief to the people of the 107th district.) Up to this good hour there has been something like 1,500 bills introduced in both houses and most of them are of no importance to the people of this state, and up to now there have been something like 200 resolutions introduced. Most of these bills have been introduced by some of the corporation lawyers in order to prevent some useful legislation from passing.

The most important bills we have had before us, in my judgment, are the sulphur tax bill by Mr. Spears from San Antonio, the intangible assets bill by Mr. Tenney and myself and the income tax bill by Mr. Bradbury and myself. These bills would be of benefit to the state had we been able to enact them into the law.

Of course the sulphur companies and other special interests are maintaining strong lobbyists in Austin, and they are spending plenty of money to see that these measures are killed. They realize that these measures will pass the house of representatives if they are given a direct vote; therefore, they are using all dilatory tactics possible in order to keep these measures from coming before the house and senate for consideration.

The special interests can always find members of the legislature who are willing to work in their behalf and some members were elected by the special interests in order to serve them in the legislature. Of course I prescribe to the old Biblical saying that no man can serve two masters at the same time.

On yesterday we voted down house joint resolution by Mr. Wilson Fox of Williamson county, calling for submission of one house. In other words to abolish the senate and maintain the house. This resolution was voted down by a vote of 60 to 66. I was one of the 60 who voted for the resolution and I am proud of my vote for the following reason:

I think if the people of Texas realized what was going on here in Austin they would vote solid for this resolution because every time we pass a measure in the house it is killed in the senate. Each and every time we consider a bill some member will say the senate won't pass it anyway so why go on with it? I think if we only had one house we could find out where the trouble is. Had we just had one house in the past, we would not be in session today.

The lower house had already passed the old age pension resolution submitting this question to the people of this state to be voted upon on Aug. 24 of this year, but the senate has not acted on this important piece of legislation up to now and I do not know whether they will or not. I am proud to say that I have supported this old age pension resolution, and I will do so again when the opportunity presents itself. I really and truly hope the senate will act upon it before we adjourn, however, I doubt if seriously whether they will or not. This is one of the reasons I am a strong advocate of the one house proposition.

I want to further say to the people in my district that I have already complied with my promise that I would vote to cut down on the expense of the government and not to place any additional burden on the home owners in our state.

OLDEN HI-BROADCASTER

Published By the Students of Olden High School

EDITORIAL EL MERLE

We, the Seniors, wish to say a few parting words now that our school days are numbered. No, we haven't much more time to be in school; that time is drawing near to which we have looked forward for so many years. We have dreamed and planned of the day when we would be free from school. No more working at difficult problems or wearisome studying for us, we said. But now, when we see this long-anticipated day just ahead of us, we somehow seem to have lost the desire to be out of school. We begin to wonder if it will be so wonderful to be out on our own without the companionship of the old school friends we have known so long. Will we not feel rather lost without the old schedules, rules, kind teachers, and friends we know? We begin to realize what a great readjustment lies ahead of us. Will we be able to do the things we wish to do and be the things we wish to be? We can see how we have wasted time in vain regrets and in many other ways and we wish we had used our time to more advantage for only now are we able to realize the value of time. And so to the other classes we wish to say, "Use your time while you have it." What is lost can never be regained. You may think that your work is hard and wish that you were through with it, but later you will realize the value of it, see what it has done for you and then you will be glad that you spent your time wisely and only wish that you had more time to devote to your studies.

SENIOR NEWS

We have received our invitations and caps and gowns, but no one really wishes to receive them, for our school days are nearly over, and we will have to leave this grand old school, all our teachers and friends.

Our junior-senior banquet will be held Friday night at the roof garden of the Conn-lee hotel. We are all making preparations for a good time.

JUNIOR NEWS

The junior class is preparing for the annual banquet to be given by the juniors for the seniors. The banquet this year is to be given on the roof garden of the Conn-lee hotel. The juniors feel that this banquet will be bigger and better in every way than any other that has ever been given in this school.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

At a meeting of the sophomore class Betty Gray Nix was chosen as the sophomore representative to attend the junior-senior banquet. The sophomores enjoyed a picnic at the Olden lake on Tuesday, April 30. Everyone reported a good time although Mr. Smith, our sponsor, says he ate too much for comfort.

FRESHMAN NEWS

We are glad to see Charles Young back at school again. We are sorry that Kevin Holt, our freshman reporter, is ill at this time.

Wilbert Norton was elected by the freshman class to go to the junior-senior banquet as their representative.

SPORT NEWS

The track team who went to Denton brought back honors of fourth place. We are all proud of these boys and especially A. C. Gibson, Max Anderson and G. W. Curry, who brought back medals. A. C. won first in the half mile, Max won second in the 220 low hurdles, and G. W. won third in the 220 low hurdles. These boys made this good showing in spite of the downpour of rain and the muddy field.

The other members who went were: Howard Young, Charlie Butler, Johnny Jarrett, Lemar Whisenant, Elzo Gullett, Vernon Patterson, and Bobbie Collins, manager. Every one of these boys responded nobly and with just a little bit of luck would have won the meet. These three fifths were accompanied by Coach ESSE. The boys were accompanied by Coach Scruggs, Mrs. Scruggs, and Mr. and Mrs. Gibson.

Spring training is in progress and all boys interested in football will receive their uniforms for spring training this week.

HOW DUST BLOTS OUT WORLD AS INKY PALL ROLLS UP

Black rain billowing up out of the southwest's great dust bowl here rolls slowly over the Panhandle town of Pampa, Tex., a suffocating wall of dust shutting out daylight and moving on to wreak havoc on the sparse crops remaining in the blighted district. Like an impenetrable screen of smoke it appears in this remarkable picture, with buildings standing out in relief against the inky blackness. Rain has brought some hope to the stricken area, but over a vast zone the pall has left devastation in its wake, with scores of cases of pneumonia aggravated by the choking dust.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

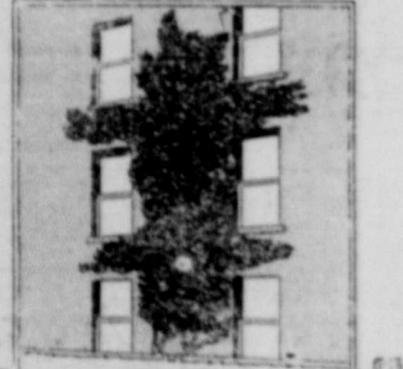

SOME OF THE SMALLEST COMETS ARE LARGER THAN THE EARTH! THE "GREAT COMET" OF 1811, WAS LARGER THAN THE SUN, AND HAD A TAIL OVER 10,000 MILES.

BULLS ARE COLOR-BLIND! A RED FLAG CANNOT MAKE A BULL ANY MORE THAN A BLACK ONE.

BOSTON IVY CREW IN THE SHAPE OF A BEAR RUG!

THE head of a comet is believed to be a large collection of meteoric bodies, or stars ranging from that of sand grains to masses as large as the asteroids which sometimes strike the earth. The tail is not an appendage, but is more like smoke.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE

NEA SERVICE STAR WRITER
A should give a lift to the spirits of everybody, including the hostess. The only way to get the hostess in on this is to have a meal that can be mostly cooked the day before.

There's nothing like a jellied salad to add charm to a luncheon plate. Vivid colors set in a pool of translucent jelly against a background of varied greens look almost too good to eat, but everybody does. Knowing that the salad is replying in the ice-box at least twenty-four hours before it will be needed is what adds to the hostess' joy of living.

Meats for Slicing

Paper thin slices of baked ham, delicately seasoned veal loaf and cold boiled tongue are good for the cold plate, but cold breast of chicken is best of all. Cook fowl in boiling water well seasoned with hot herbs, until tender. Add salt the last half hour of cooking. Let cool in stock. Then remove breast and divide in two parts, entirely free from skin and bone. Wrap in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator until ready to serve.

Although one chicken furnishes only two filets and one must plan with this in mind, the rest of the chicken and the stock will make many delicious meals for the family.

Jellied Vegetable Salad

One tablespoon granulated gelatin, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 1-2 cup vinegar, 4 tablespoons lemon juice, 4 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, few drops tabasco sauce, 1 cup boiled beets cut in fancy

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Shredded fresh pineapple, cereal cooked with dates, cream, fried dried beef, crisp toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Waffles with creamed salmon and buttered peas, shish-kebab, cottage cheese, toasted crackers, milk, tea.

DINNER: Roast shoulder of lamb, browned new potatoes, gravy, mint sauce, asparagus on toast, frozen tomato salad, Spanish cream, milk, coffee.

shapes, 1-2 cup sliced carrots, 2 hard cooked eggs.

Cut eggs into eight slices and put a slice in the center of each individual mold. Fill with prepared jelly and let stand in refrigerator over night to chill and become firm.

To make jelly: Soften gelatin in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar, vinegar, lemon juice and salt. Let stand until cool and beginning to stiffen. Then add tabasco sauce and vegetables.

U-mold on a bed of lettuce and garnish with watercress and parsley.

Serve the cold plate with a variety of hot muffins—flax whole wheat, cornmeal and rye muffins make a good assortment. Or, if you're a popover expert have them piping hot with plenty of butter and add to your culinary reputation.

For dessert nothing can surpass strawberry ice-box cake or pineapple charlotte. Both the desserts are seasonal and must be prepared the day before wanted for serving.

France Plans New Lures for Tourists

By JOSEPH D. RAVOTTO
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS.—With the memory still vivid of the rich harvest reaped by the tourist trade during the bonanza years, France is ever devising new schemes in an effort to lure back another stream of foreign visitors.

The latest one is the move to great special extra-quota licenses to the countries which have signed commercial compensation agreements with France.

This is to be proposed in a bill before the Chamber of Emile Perin, Deputy of the Nièvre, Mayor of Nevers and president of the Groupe France-Amerique du Sud.

Between France and a number of other countries there exist commercial compensation treaties by which every franc of imports from these countries must be compensated by exports from France.

The new bill, which aims at encouraging foreigners to come to France on French ships, proposes to grant special licenses to these countries, permitting them to export to France, outside of quota limits, amounts of merchandise equal to the amount of money spent by their citizens in France, or on French ships.

These licenses would only be issued, however, for merchandise which France does not produce in excess of her needs.

In his explanation of the bill, Deputy Perin points out the gravity of France's consistently unfavorable trade balance and stresses the fact that the best way to diminish the deficit is to attract visitors to France, where they may have a better opportunity of getting acquainted with French products.

DESDEMONA

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis have been busy this week reminding people of the cemetery working to be here Friday, May 10. It is expected that a good crowd will be present and help to beautify the resting place of loved ones. Mr. and Mrs. Davis donate water for flowers and shrubs at the cemetery. A basket dinner will be had and some who cannot come and work will send dishes of food for the dinner.

Their many friends were delighted to see them.

Friends here received news a few days ago of the marriage on Jan. 12, 1935, at Santa Rosa, N. M., of Miss Jimmie Lee Woodard to Mr. A. W. Smith. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Woodard and has lived here all of her life except for several years when her parents were homesteading land in New Mexico. The parents of the groom homesteaded an adjoining section of land and the romance began during those years. The immediate families of the bride and groom knew of the marriage but did not announce it as Miss Jimmie Lee is a senior in Santa Rosa high school and will graduate next week. Her many friends here are sending congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple.

Mrs. Mattie Henry was car hostess and chaperone for Miss O. T. Arthur, Walker Henry, Mr. Weldon Rushing (history teacher), T. C. Robinson and Bud Anderson. Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Cisco Sunday afternoon over the remains of D. D. Lewis, who had passed away after a year of ill health. After the services the body was brought to Desdemona and interred in our local cemetery. The decedent was the father of Bob Lewis, who lives on his farm east of town. A large crowd of sorrowing relatives and friends from many other places as well as Cisco, came with the family and brought beautiful floral offerings and placed on the grave in token of the love and esteem in which this pioneer settler of Desdemona and Cisco was held. Sincere sympathy is extended the sorrowing family.

AAA Makes Known Procedure To Guide Farmers in Referendum

WASHINGTON.—The Agricultural Adjustment Administration announced today the general procedure under which county and community wheat growers' committees will conduct the national referendum on May 25. The referendum will involve signers of approximately 575,000 wheat contracts in 1,763 counties in 37 states. A separate vote of non-signers will be taken.

The referendum is to be held for the purpose of indicating to the Adjustment Administration the sentiment of wheat farmers generally toward a new wheat program to follow the present one. The question upon which producers will be asked to vote is:

"Are you in favor of a wheat production adjustment program to follow the present one which expires with the 1935 crop year?"

The county and community wheat committees have the principal responsibility in conducting the referendum. The county allotment committee will have charge of the referendum in each county or for several counties if they are formed into district associations. Community committees will have charge of the actual balloting in each community, which in most cases will be a township or similar area.

Wheat section officials have notified state, county and community workers that the balloting is to take place between 9 a. m. and 8 p. m., May 25.

Before the referendum is taken the county allotment committee is to designate in each community the places for balloting and to give public notice of the time for voting.

In exceptional cases, where only a few farmers produce wheat, the county committee may send ballots to these farmers and the vote may be made by mail, but in each case these ballots must be returned by May 25, under tentative regulations. Provision is also made for producers to vote an absent voter's ballot if they will be unable to go to the polling places, provided arranged in advance with the community committee.

The referendum is open to all bona fide wheat farmers. The county committee will furnish to each community committee a register of the wheat farmers who are contract signers. In addition, any bona fide wheat farmers may come to the polls on May 25 and vote, provided he satisfies the local committee that he is eligible to sign a wheat contract. There is no obligation upon farmers to agree to sign contracts, but each one voting must be eligible to sign a contract.

Duties of Local Committee
The local community committee has the responsibility of providing ballot boxes, of giving public notice of the time and place of the balloting, and of conducting the voting.

The vote is to be secret, and the community committee is charged with providing such voting facilities as will allow the votes to be made secretly, although private voting booths will not be required.

No member of a community committee is to disclose how any particular person voted in the referendum, or to announce the results of the referendum in the community. The results of the community committee are to be forwarded to the county allotment committee, and the county committee in turn will send in county totals to the Extension Director in each state. The Extension Director will then inform the Agricultural Adjustment Administration of the state totals. It is expected that these state totals will be reported to the Adjustment Administration by May 29.

Provision is made for investigation by county committees and State Extension Director in cases of disputes or appeals over the results of the vote. The voted ballots and community summaries are to be filed under lock by the county committees subject to instruction from the secretary of agriculture.

Fourth AAA Referendum
The vote of wheat will be the fourth referendum to be conducted by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. Similar polls on the views of farmers toward adjustment programs have been taken among corn-hog producers, tobacco growers, and cotton farmers.

The wheat referendum is being taken now in order that the Adjustment Administration may have a clear-cut expression of opinion of producers far enough ahead of time to allow preparation of a wheat contract to be offered to farmers before planting of the winter wheat crop for 1935 begins early this coming fall.

Although the referendum is being taken on the single question of the attitude of growers toward a future wheat program, series of meetings are being scheduled now for every community in which the wheat program has been in operation and at those meetings farmers will discuss all phases of the current and past wheat situation, as well as the outlook for the future. Regional and state meetings have already been held in most areas and the community meetings follow.

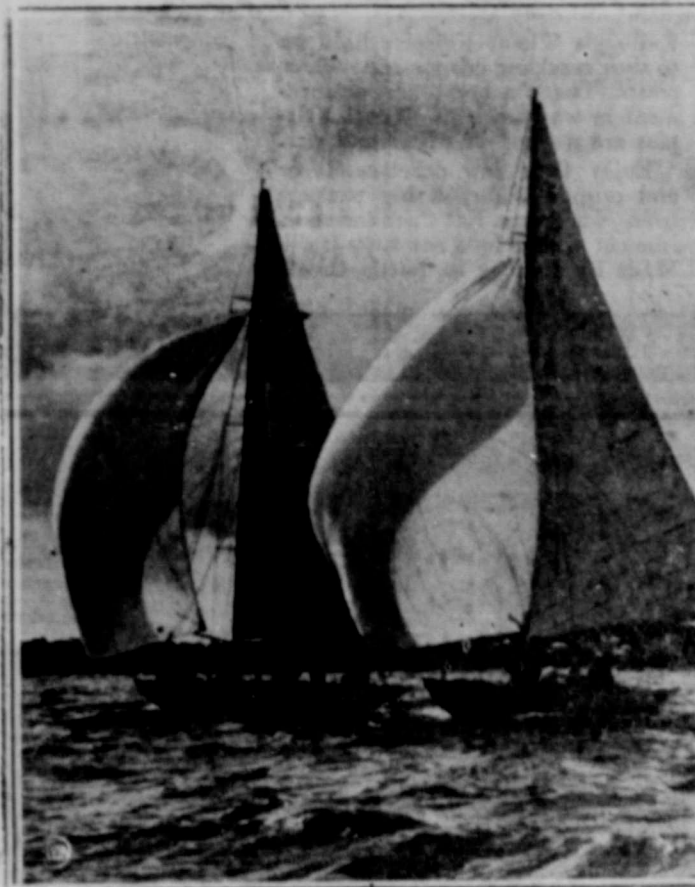

In his encounters with dust storms, the farmer seems to be losing ground.

Shelvador Made At Home of Big Radio Station

With a tremendous power that carries broadcasts to radio listeners throughout the whole of the United States, Canada and Mexico—and, under favorable conditions, throughout the entire world—the new 500,000-watt WLW, owned and operated by the Crosley Radio corporation, makers of Shelvador electric refrigerators, is the most powerful broadcasting station in the world. That this new giant of the air accomplishes the purpose of providing the largest possible number of radio listeners with the best possible radio entertainment is perhaps best indicated in the following facts:

There has been an increase in the signal strength of WLW of approximately 325 per cent at all points over the 50,000-watt station. The effective service area covers a huge circle approximately 5,000 miles in diameter—an increase of approximately 1,000 per cent.

The gigantic 831-foot high vertical radiator antenna of the new WLW is one of the world's highest structures. It is 273 feet higher than the Washington Monument in Washington, D. C., and only 153 feet short of the famous Eifel Tower of Paris. A distinct departure from the traditional type of antenna, this new antenna greatly increases the signal strength.

The design and construction of the new transmitter required more than two years and a total expense of nearly $500,000. Tune in to 760 kilocycles (70 on your dial) and enjoy the thrill of listening to this giant of the air.

Crosley Shelvador electric refrigerators are sold in Ranger by the Ranger Furniture Exchange on the N. H. A. easy payment plan.

Ranger Masons Plan a Mother's Day Program

Plans were completed in Ranger for the Mother's Day program sponsored by the Masonic Lodge to be held at the First Baptist church Sunday evening beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

The committee announces that one of the biggest crowds of the year is expected and special seats will be placed to take care of the visitors.

Rev. E. S. James, pastor of the First Baptist church, Cisco, will be the principal speaker of the evening. Rev. James is one of the best speakers in West Texas and will bring a message on Mother's Day that will be very interesting.

The Cisco congregation voted to give Bro. James a leave of absence from his church for the occasion and the committee is looking for a large number of the Cisco members to come with their pastor.

A part of the seating capacity of the church will be reserved for visitors from Cisco and other towns.

All churches in the city are operating to the extent that services will be dismissed on next Sunday evening so respective members can attend the Mother's Day program.

The tentative program as outlined today is as follows:

Meeting formally opened at 8 o'clock p. m.

Song by the entire congregation under choir leader.

Singing of America.

Invocation.

Musical number by violin orchestra.

Quartet, four young business men of Ranger.

Explanation of meeting and its purpose as viewed by the Grand Lodge.

Cultivate the Art Of Safe Walking, Insurance Man Urges

Humans usually learn to walk before they are two years old and from then on apparently assume that they have mastered the theory and practice of putting one foot in front of the other. In fact, walking is one of the most subconscious things we do. Yet, from the experience of recent years, there is a great deal that we all have to learn about walking if we wish to keep on walking!

In a recent interview with C. E. May on the general subject of automobile accident prevention the conversation turned to a discussion of the pedestrian's responsibility in the matter. Mr. May made the statement, which is undeniably true, that last year more persons were killed by automobiles than by any other type of accident. He stated further that more than one-half of all fatal traffic accidents in cities involve pedestrians. Hence, it is obvious that not only motorists but pedestrians need to use the streets and highways more cautiously.

Mr. May offered a number of practical suggestions which if followed would increase materially a pedestrian's margin of safety.

Briefly stated they are as follows:

Before crossing a street or highway look first to the left and then to the right. Make sure the way is clear before taking the first step.

In cities, cross at intersections only and if there are traffic lights obey the signals.

When alighting from street car or bus go to the right curb before crossing the entire street unless there is a protected safety zone at the stop.

Never let an open umbrella obstruct your view. It is better to get wet than hit.

When street or road is slippery be doubly careful as cars cannot stop as quickly as on a dry pavement.

When forced to walk in the highway, walk on the left side of the road, facing on-coming traffic.

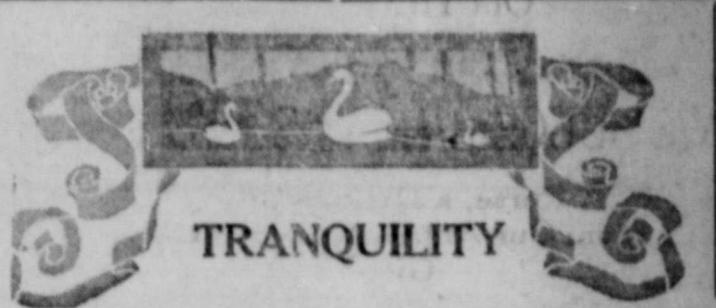

After dark, the pedestrian walking along unlighted country highways should carry a light or wear light-colored clothing or carry something white. Even a white handkerchief fluttering in the hand is better than nothing.

Casualties at the Battle of San Jacinto were: Texans, 6 killed, 24 wounded; Mexicans, 430 killed, 208 wounded, 730 captured.

AUSTIN, May 9.—Twenty convicts at the state penitentiary and prison farms will be released for Mother's Day.

Governor Allred announced today that a list of men whose mothers are living has been selected for release. The procedures freeing them are being prepared.

OLD TIME PICNIC AND FREE
BARBECUE PLANNED FOR JULY
4TH CELEBRATION IN RANGER

A group of Ranger merchants met in the office of the chamber of commerce Monday night to discuss trades days, and after some round table talk, it was decided to have the largest Fourth of July picnic ever seen in this part of the country.

Tentative plans, as outlined briefly at the meeting, and which met with the most enthusiasm of any suggestion made in Ranger in many months, call for all the features of the old picnic.

It was suggested that the affair at the new park on the new Strawn highway, and that the dedication of the park be held at the same time.

Among the special features discussed, and which were approved by all present, called for free barbecue for all who attend, concessions with lemonade and other soft drinks for sale, special entertainment, including sack races, potato races and other old time picnic features, with prizes for the winners.

Baseball games, rodeo features and many other specialties will likely be added, including a fireworks display at night.

After some discussion it was decided that the picnic should be made a two-day affair, opening on Wednesday, July 3, and closing on the night of Thursday, July 4, with all stores in the city closing on the Fourth.

A committee composed of J. C. Smith, A. J. Ratliff and E. R. Gentry was appointed to discuss the plans more in detail and to report to the directors of the chamber of commerce on Monday night, May 13, at which time all the merchants in town will be urged to be present.

The general committee will later appoint special committees to take care of the entertainment, barbecue, concessions, finances and other details, with practically every merchant in town having an active part in making the affair a decided success.

So enthusiastic were those present over the prospects of making this one of the outstanding attractions of the section that it was hoped it could be made an annual occasion, with the plans growing and the features expanding from year to year until they would be-

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Corrects
Constipation*

An enthusiastic and voluntary letter: "We have a daughter who has been troubled all her life with constipation." About three months ago, we discovered ALL-BRAN. From that day to now we have not given her any form of laxative.

We have become "ALL-BRAN" users, and now it is a part of our daily diet. We have told many of our friends and they, too, are getting results. — Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Pope, 562 Maple Ave., Elmira, N.Y.

*Constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals.

ALL-BRAN provides gentle "bulk" to aid regular habits. It also furnishes vitamin B and iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is often more effective than the "bulk" in fruits and vegetables, as it does not break down within the body. Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

LOVE AND MYSTERY IN "STAR OF MIDNIGHT" ENGAGE WILLIAM POWELL AND GINGER ROGERS

Love and mystery form an intriguing combination in "Star of Midnight," RKO-Radio's romantic drama, starring William Powell and Ginger Rogers.

Telling a strikingly different type of love story, in which the delectable Miss Rogers, fresh from triumph in the musical "Roberta," is the pursuer, and Powell the ostensibly wary quarry, the picture deals with a baffling mystery in modern New York's paget and glitter.

A beautiful woman disappears, a newspaper columnist is killed under strange circumstances, and three different factions undertake the solution of the case, each with a separate motive.

Powell and Miss Rogers team as a "Sherlock and Watson" combination in running down clues to the mystery. The two stars, long established among the screen's foremost favorites, appear together for the first time. Although they have worked at the same studios many times and often have acted on adjoining stages, Powell and Miss Rogers were never cast together until RKO-Radio opened the microphones for this intriguing mystery drama.

"Star of Midnight" is based on the serial of the same title by the late Arthur Somers Roche. It ran recently in the Red Book magazine. Howard J. Green, Anthony Veiller and Edward Kaufman are the scenarists.

Stephen Roberts, who directed Miss Rogers and Francis Lederer in "Romance in Manhattan," is credited similarly with "Star of Midnight" while the strong cast includes such prominent players as Ralph Meeker, Gene Lockhart, and Kelly. These ballads must be Kelly, May 25, under tentacles Hopton. Provision is also Farrell M.P. acers to vote an ab-

Mister Runyon's Hoodlums Beat Harvard's Footballers In Hilarious 'Hold 'Em Yale'

In Paramount's "Hold 'Em Yale," a number of Mr. Runyon's "very hard citizens" from Broadway take their cue from a determined little society girl. Here is the cast of the picture now at the Arcadia Theatre.

The Yales take the Harvards at football and half a dozen very delightful people take the cake in Damon Runyon's "Hold 'Em Yale," which opens today at the Arcadia Theatre. This highly entertaining picture definitely rates as one of the outstanding laugh attractions of the year and you're going to be definitely on their side if you miss it.

Such amiable characters as Sam the Gonoph, Louie Liverlips, Sunshine Joe and a few other such Runyon Broadway types. It's the story of Clarice van Cleve, a dizzy little wisp of a blonde with a yen for any male in a uniform, and of her father, who pays off theatre ushers, policemen and chaffeurs to keep his daughter from running off into matrimony with them.

Men of might just naturally a very minor part in the production.

When "Georgie the Gigolo," the smooth pal of Sam the Gonoph, Louie Liverlips, et al., discovers Clarice's weakness, he invents the snappiest uniform he can buy, and begins paying out.

Clarice is bowled over, and Georgie sees his way clear to fame and fortune. But when Clarice's father disabuses her, Georgie's ardor cools, and he ducks out, leaving his companions to Clarice's none-too-tender mercies. She begins trying to make gentlemen out of these tough mugs and they try to marry her off to a college football player, that being the only way they can think of to get rid of her. What follows is the maddest, craziest denouement you've ever seen.

Chevalier Plays First Dual Role

Maurice Chevalier has his first dual role as star of "Folies Bergere," 20th Century's lavish picturization of the famous French musical comedy institution, which comes to the Arcadia Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Chevalier plays both Charlie, the gay, straw-hatted, singing star of the Folies Bergere, and the bemused, be-mustached French Baron Cassini, noted for his comical escapades. This, the personable French actor is both the hero and the "heavy," of this Darryl F. Zanuck production.

No trick photography was required, however, as Maurice never meets himself face to face. As the star of the Folies Bergere, Charlie gives an impersonation of the Baron. It is so good that when the Baron secretly flies to London to raise a loan to cover bank funds he has sunk in a worthless African mine, his associates divert suspicion by hiring Charlie to impersonate him in real life as well.

Try to keep his jealous blonde partner, Mimi, pleased and at the same time carry on a flirtation with the seductive Baroness whose husband he is impersonating, keeps Charlie stepping. The situation reaches a climax when the Baron returns unexpectedly and tests his wife's fidelity by impersonating Charlie. Intrigued, but uncertain, the Baroness enacts an impassioned love scene with him, finally putting him off with an accident kiss, with the result that next morning she flutters distractedly between believing one moment that the man was her husband and the next that he was Charlie. Chevalier sings five songs, supplemented by lavish dance ensembles, staged by Dave Gould in the manner for which the Folies Bergere is world famous. "Singing a Happy Song," "Rhythm of the Rain," "I Was Lucky" and "Au Revoir L'Amour" were written by Mack and Stern, while Lane and Adamson collaborated on "You Took the Words Right Out of My Mouth."

Maple Flooring For Recreation Building Will Be Laid Soon

One truckload of maple flooring for the Recreation building was received in Ranger over the weekend, and work of flooring the stage will be begun as soon as possible, it was announced today by William Bourdeau, contractor on the building.

It was stated, too, that the cross-members to support the main floor flooring would be put down, with a space in the center left to take care of the crowd that is expected for the Lions minstrel Thursday night. Any overflow of this space can be handled in the balcony, it was stated.

Immediately after the Lions minstrel it is planned to start laying the cross-members for the remainder of the flooring in the auditorium, and the work will be completed as rapidly as possible.

It was said that the remainder of the maple flooring was being shipped from the mill and would arrive within a week or 10 days.

Four rural schools have closed for the spring vacation. County School Superintendent Claiborne Eldridge has announced. Schools closing Friday were Flatwood, Grapevine, Salem and Triumph.

Eastland Cattle Under Scrutiny of T. B. Testers

Cattle were to be tested for tuberculosis today to continue through Wednesday, according to announcement of Dr. F. E. Barnes, county supervisor of tuberculosis eradication.

"Cows should be kept until after Wednesday so that there will be no more delay than is absolutely necessary in handling," Dr. Barnes requested.

Farm Project In Austin Hands Now

Project of a maintenance farm colony for Eastland county is in hands of Major E. A. Wood, National Resource Board at Austin, and is being studied, William Boaz, engineer employed by the county, who has returned to Eastland, has reported.

Study of the project should be completed this week, it was stated. Projects for the colony were drawn up from Rising Star, Eastland, Ranger and Cisco.

Lake Hagaman Is Again Almost Full

Ranger again has an adequate water supply.

Following heavy rains of Friday, Friday night and Saturday, the water level in Lake Hagaman rose to within 15 inches of the top of the spillway by late Sunday afternoon, when the flow of water had about subsided.

This is the highest level the lake has reached in two years, the last time the water was at spillway level being in the spring of 1933, according to Leslie Hagaman.

With normal rainfall during the remainder of the summer the present level of the lake will likely be maintained, it is thought, and all danger of a water shortage this summer is now definitely passed.

It is expected that the rains will make fishing had for the next week or 10 days, however, as it will take about that long for the water to clear.

TEXAS FARMS INUNDATED BY HEAVY RAINS

Thousands of acres of farm lands were inundated in Texas as rivers and creeks in Central Texas overflowed following rains over the week-end.

Fair skies and spring-like weather returned to the state today, but rain was falling on the Gulf coast.

Streams were running bank full, inundating low farms and making travel in some sections difficult. The Trinity river at Dallas was at 37 feet and much land nearby was inundated.

At Houston Buffalo bayou was seven and one-half feet above normal and other rivers and smaller streams were swollen after six days of rain.

Mothers Day to Be Observed May 12 By Masonic Lodge

An outstanding speaker will be secured for the occasion. Included in the program will be musical numbers, quartettes and solos, as well as congregational singing.

Final arrangements will be made by Monday or Tuesday and complete announcement made later.

YOU'RE HAPPY WHEN YOU'RE FIT

Think back over the last month. The days you enjoyed most were the days you felt in great shape. Increase these sunny days by keeping fit.

Avoid common constipation due to insufficient "bulk" in meals. It may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy. It dulls your enthusiasm, takes the fun out of living.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes you with "bulk" in convenient form. ALL-BRAN also provides vitamin B and iron. This gentle natural food is much better than patent medicines. Unlike cathartics, it remains effective with continued use.

Two tablespoonsful daily are usually sufficient. Severe cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Relations With Japan
Belie All War Talk

During the last three or four years, the average American came to recognize the word Japan as a synonym for trouble.

Japan was doing this, that, or the other thing in China and Manchuria; Japan was refusing to abide by the Washington treaty; Japan was fortifying mandated islands in the Pacific; some day Japan and the United States would get together and fight it all out.

That was the burden of most public references to Japan in this country. And since cultivation of an attitude like that is a necessary prelude to war, it all had a pretty ominous sound.

But of late the keynote seems to have changed. We are beginning to hear talk about co-operation instead of talk about rivalry. Someone seems to have remembered that Japan is one of our best customers in the matter of foreign trade, and that fixing to fight your best customer is about the poorest known way of promoting a trade revival.

The recent argument over Japanese exports of textiles leads point to this matter.

Japanese textile mills have been working overtime. They have sent finished goods into such traditionally English markets as India and China. They have sent them to South America, where both British and American mills have done business; of late they have even begun to send them into the United States itself.

This has led to protests, and the protests have led to a re-examination of our trade relations with the Mikado's empire.

Now the Japanese foreign office points out that, whatever the Japanese mills may do with their finished product, they at least buy most of their raw material from American producers.

During recent years, for instance, America has sold approximately $100,000,000 worth of raw cotton to Japan annually. These sales constitute the largest single item in America's agricultural export trade.

Last year the United States' sales of cotton to Japan outvalued the total of all Japanese exports to the United States.

In this connection it is worth remembering that Secretary of State Hull and Foreign Minister Hirota last year exchanged letters agreeing that there is no good cause for friction between the nations; and it is also noteworthy that the Japanese are anxious to conclude a new treaty with the United States working out a non-competitive basis basis for the foreign commerce of the two nations.

All this is worth remembering, for the simple reason that it points in the direction of peace instead of war. Our navy may feel justified in holding its maneuvers in the Pacific; these figures indicate that the danger of war is only superficial, and that underneath there are most solid and substantial reasons for keeping the two nations at peace.

Good roads mean so much to a community; they are worth every effort that is put forth to get them.

Common sense should point out to every citizen the importance and economy of buying at home.

Every city has many pessimists—little men with little minds who watch with envy the progressive men of their city.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Quality cucumber pickles have their beginnings at planting time according to Mrs. Lee Foley who, together with 10 other demonstrators in Bee county, has set out to serve her family table with the best.

A special pickling variety of cucumbers has been planted; pure food regulations in regard to sanitation, handling, packing and labeling are being studied and will be observed; and samples of the pickles will be submitted to extension home industries specialists for approval.

After the 10 families have been supplied with quality pickles any surplus that is left over will be sold. Working with these 10 demonstrators every home demonstration club woman in Bee county has a goal of at least two gallons of cucumbers.

Dallas county women are at it too. Mrs. L. E. Orton, pickle demonstrator for the Irving Home Demonstration club, has as her aim bringing at least 50 gallons of cucumbers to be worked up later into good pickles.

Mrs. Orton and the other club women who are working with her are being mindful that not only the right variety of cucumber is important, but that soil preparation and cultivation will have a lot to do with the yield. So, loamy land, well fertilized each year with barn yard manure, is in demand with these gardeners.

Also they have it in mind that the roots of cucumbers lie close to the surface and if they are disturbed in cultivation, knotty, crooked cucumbers will be the result. Any hoeing that is to be done is due to be gentle.

LLANO—Poultry demonstrators in Llano county showed an average flock production of approximately 19 eggs per hen for February, thus exceeding the state average by four eggs per hen, according to D. D. Steele, county agricultural agent. The flock of R. Fishbeck led the contest in production with an average of 26 eggs per hen. His flock of single comb white leghorns have made a consistent record throughout the year. The flock of 90 single comb white leghorns belonging to Robert Boxell was second in production with 21 eggs per hen. His profit for the month was more than 20 cents per bird.

HEBBERVILLE—Home tanned leather is finding a new use, or rather an old one, in Jim Hogg county where young Wilbur Whitman of Hebberville is tanning leather to make his own saddle, ac-

4,485 feet of starchy vegetables; 2,810 feet of other vegetables; and 660 feet of tomatoes, according to Miss Maudie Holt, assistant home demonstration agent.

Bettie Stalarow, garden demonstrator for the Mt. Houston club, has planted onions, Irish potatoes, strawberries, turnips, carrots, beets, pinto beans, baby limas, butter beans, black wax beans, and corn. She has also set stakes for the tomatoes.

LIBERTY—A clothes closet five and one-half by four and one-third feet has been built for a cash expenditure of 69 cents, by Mrs. George Curtis of Liberty county, according to the report of Miss Nettie Smith, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Curtis says that she and her husband planned for some sort of storage space, but at first it seemed that about all they had to start with was a door. By placing the closet in one corner of the room, two walls served as two sides of the closet. A 2x4 piece of timber was found which was used for a brace at the corner. Then a few strips of old boards were nailed on and two layers of heavy cardboard tacked on the outside and one layer on the inside. The money spent was for 1x6 lumber for the base board and door facing, and for nails. After the closet was built it was papered inside and out to match the paper in the room.

der federal control. The board of directors last week opposed an enlargement of the NRA. The petition pointed out the industry had cooperated with government efforts to speed up recovery and said it believed if people who are users of petroleum "are best served when competition is free when the operation of economic law is unhampered and when the profit incentive stimulates initiative. The free operation tends to insure quantity, improve quality, and reduce prices. "Gasoline consumers cannot continue to enjoy these advantages if the responsibility of management is transferred from companies to a federal bureau."

MUTILATION OF PRISONERS INVESTIGATED

AUSTIN, May 6.—Mistreatment at the hands of certain guards was found responsible for self-mutilation of some 23 crippled convicts today at Retriever prison farm, a house of representatives committee said today.

Mutilation had three causes, the report said. They were:
1—Desire to escape work.
2—Agitation by other convicts.
3—Mistreatment at the hands of some guards.

Among instances cited was chaining a man through holes in a floor.
The committee said many convicts said they had been struck with ropes and pieces of hose and kicked and mistreated.

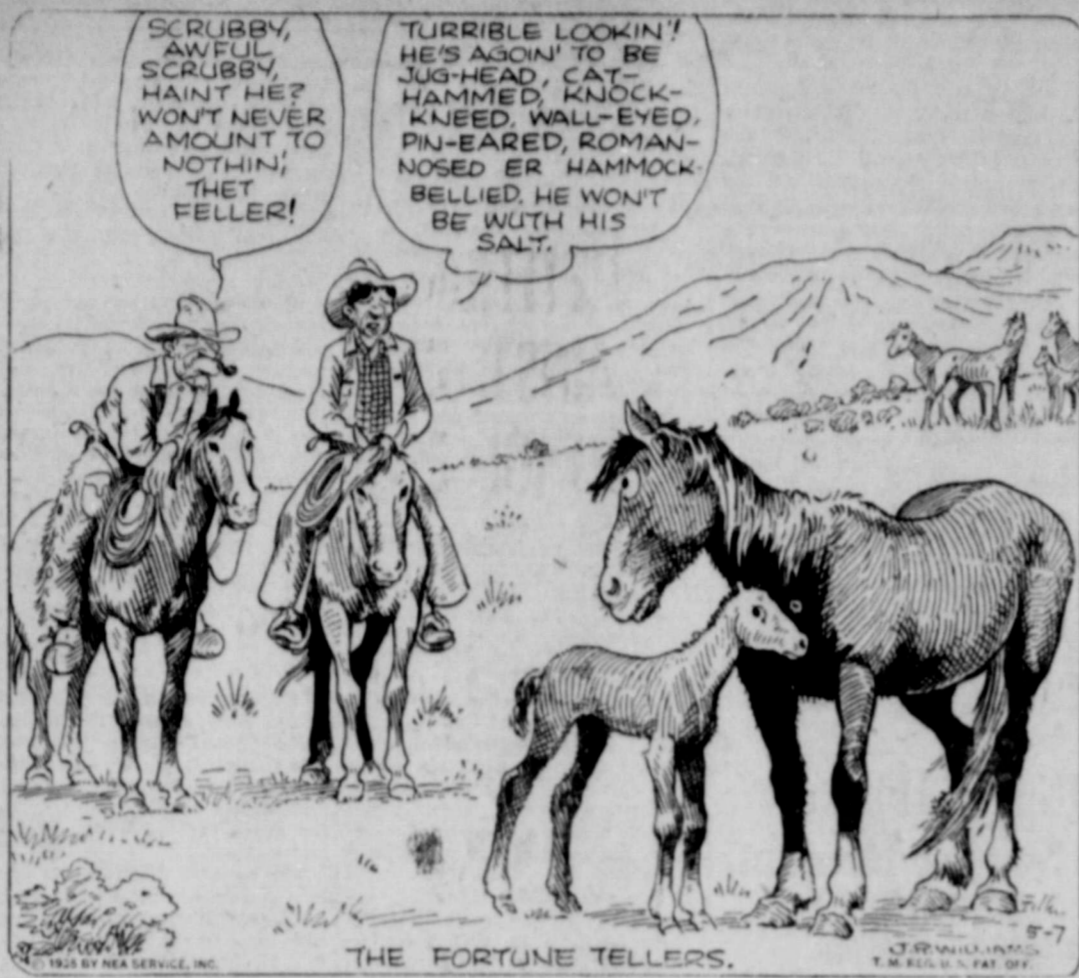

None of the convicts who testified to self-mutilation to escape mistreatment had reported the alleged abuse to Captain I. K. Kelly, manager of the farm.

"It is to be kept in mind many of the inmates are dangerous and confirmed criminals and will stop at nothing to gain freedom. For some of them there is no hope of reformation," the report read in part.

Funeral Held For Ciscoan, D. Lewis

CISCO, May 6.—Funeral services for D. D. Lewis were held here Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church with Rev. E. S.

James, pastor of the church, officiating. Interment was in the Desdemona cemetery.

Mr. Lewis died at his home Friday after an illness of two weeks. He was born August 1, 1865 in Grayson county, near Sherman, and moved to Erath county with his parents at the age of 12. He came to Cisco in 1920 and was connected with the grocery and automobile business.

Later he moved to his farm near Desdemona and lived there for four years, returning to Cisco in the latter part of last December.

Mr. Lewis was married three times, the last time in 1928 to Mrs. Hattie Petty, who survives him.

Peddlers Selling Cosmetics Are the Pest of Housewife

Complaint has been made by many housewives that they are being pestered and interfered with in their daily household tasks by itinerant house-to-house peddlers, who present a cleverly prepared sales talk in selling drugs and cosmetics.

Two Car Crashes Take Heavy Toll

AMARILLO, May 6.—One person was killed and three injured last night in a collision of two cars near McLean in the second serious accident in that town within a few hours. Seven injured in the first accident brought the total to 10. Lee Harlan, 29, of McLean, was killed.

Methods Employed
It is claimed in most instances, if not in all, a deposit is taken by the salesman, the deposit ranging from 25 to 40 per cent of the cost of the materials to be ordered, the balance to be paid upon receipt of the goods to be sent either C. O. D. or to be delivered by the canvasser at a later date.

No Responsibility
Those to whose attention the matter has been called, suggest that no one would call in a complete stranger to prescribe for illness. The state and national laws extend the protection beyond that point and the prescribing of skin treatments is supposed to be done only by those duly licensed and known to be capable of doing it properly. Attention has been called to the fact that if a skin disease should develop, the patron would have no chance for recourse. The peddler will be gone and there will be none other to be held responsible it has been pointed out.

Suggestion has been made by those who have given the matter study, that the housewife is justified in refusing to subject herself to any such hazard and furthermore she is taking unnecessary chances if she permits any one not known to be qualified to sell her any such materials. In many communities, it is stated, the health laws do not permit house-to-house canvassing by such itinerants until they have passed an examination by the local health officer.

GERMANY'S NEW U-BOATS RAISE SPECTRE OF PEACE-WRECKING LUSITANIA TRAGEDY

WAY IS SOUGHT TO PREVENT REPETITION

By WILLIS THORNTON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Exactly 20 years ago, diplomat, statesman and man-in-the-street halted in their tracks to devour the extras that screamed the sinking of the Lusitania.

Today the attention of certain men here, more thoughtful than the day they read the horror of the 1195 men, women, and children who went down with the luxury liner, was fixed on two things:

First, the efforts of the munitions committee and the State Department to carry out a presidential direction to find ways to keep another Lusitania of some future war from dragging America in.

And second, an ominous but apparently well grounded rumor that Germany is assembling and has been building for six months, a new submarine flotilla.

While the bones of 14 Americans were whitening on the bottom of St. George's channel, and round-eyed fish poked their way through the gilded saloons so silent these 20 years under their 40 fathoms of water, a new generation of Americans has grown up. They do not remember the fatal Friday when the Lusitania sighted the Old Head of Kinsale near Queenstown, Ireland.

It had been a rather carefree passage, without accident. But some of the 1237 passengers carried newspaper clippings of the ominous warning, published in New York papers just before the Lusitania sailed:

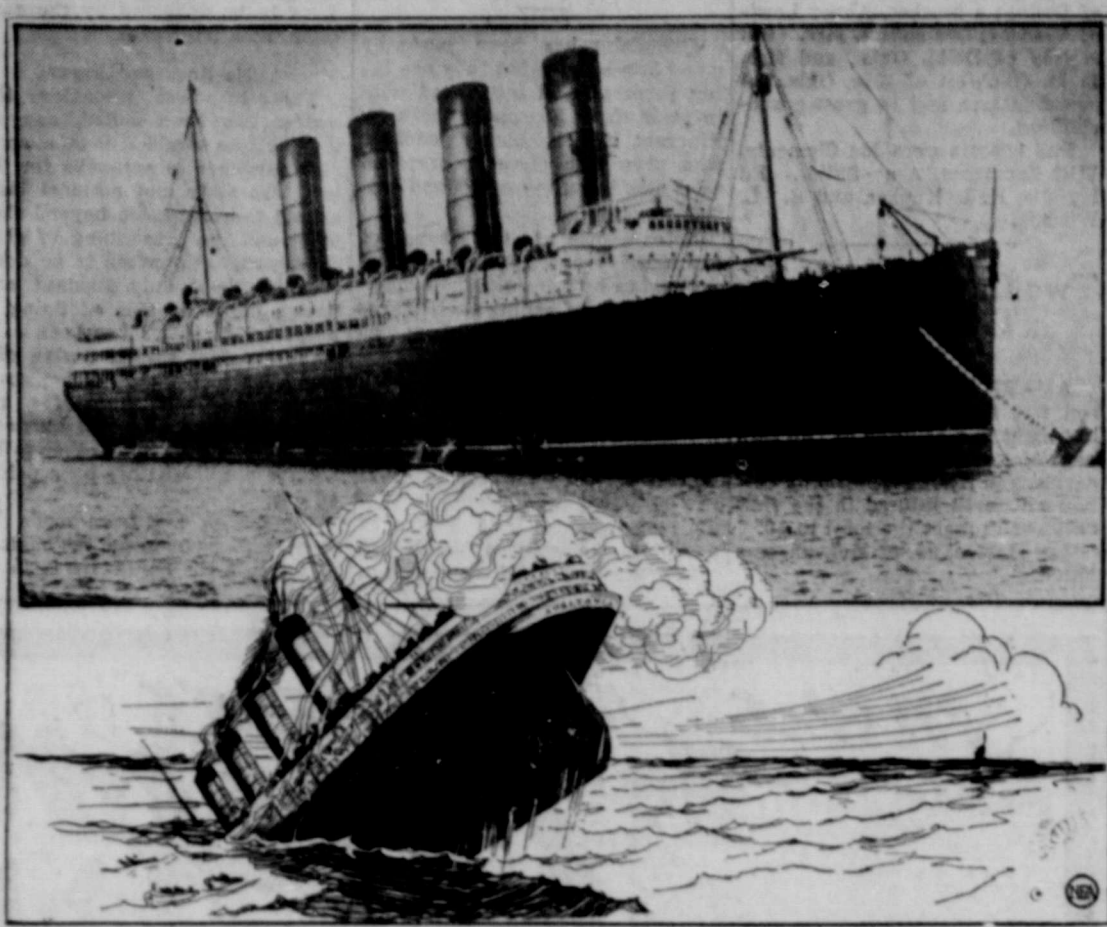

"Travelers (it read) are reminded that a state of war exists. That the zone of war includes the waters adjacent to the British Isles; that... vessels flying the flag of Great Britain... are liable to destruction in those waters, and that travelers sailing in the war zone on ships of Great Britain or her allies do so at their own risk."

IMPERIAL GERMAN EMBASSY

But to the 1935 souls aboard the Lusitania, all this seemed unreal. Unreal seemed the long wrangle over the rights of neutrals, the constant infringement by both sides on what were then considered neutral rights. Far away seemed the strangling naval blockade of Germany by Britain, and the ever more ruthless German submarine campaign against British shipping.

The 109 Americans among them may have remembered Wilson's note three months before, promising to hold Germany to "strict accountability" if American lives were lost. Six weeks before, the first American life had been lost, in the sinking of the British ship Falaba.

But the trip seemed to have

been made in safety. The Irish coast looked comfortable close, only 10 miles off. The great ship emerged from a fog bank before noon, and at 2 p. m. was steaming at 18 knots through a smooth sea under bright spring weather.

Suddenly a lookout cried out, and many eyes glimpsed a seething white streak snaking its way toward the ship. Almost before a word could be uttered, the torpedo exploded, debris leaped to the masthead, and the ship felt a shudder like the slamming of a door. Some said there were two explosions, but this has not even today been settled with finality. The great ship listed almost immediately to starboard and began sinking. There was no confusion, but no panic.

It was hard to launch the lifeboats, though they had previously been uncovered and swung out. Those on the starboard side hung far out from the ship; those on the port side rasped and splintered on the side of the ship as they were lowered. The engine controls having been put out of commission, headway of the big ship could not be stopped, adding to the difficulty.

And the time was so horribly short! Even the Titanic floated nearly three hours after the iceberg stove in her plates. But in 18 minutes the Lusitania went down by the bow. Nobody knows even now why she sank so quickly. Only 761 were saved, including Captain William Thomas Turner, who stood on his bridge until carried away by the rising water.

The German submarine U-20, Commander Walther Schweiger, had fired the torpedo. Schweiger's torpedo did more than any one thing, perhaps, to bring America inevitably into the World War. After the first wave of horror, indignation mounted, newspapers shouted for a firm stand, neighbors discussed hotly the rights and wrongs of a neutral country when others are at war. Few went far as to suggest there were fewer neutrals in America after May 7, 1915.

Three days later, President Wilson made his famous speech in which he said "There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by actual and immediate war. But force that it is right."

To this shining standard, few rallied. The people demand was plainly for more drastic action than the series of notes that throughout the summer passed between America and Germany.

As these few increasingly severe, the Pacifist Bryan, Secretary of State, resigned, saying: "Why should an American citizen be permitted to involve his country in war by traveling in a belligerent ship, when he knows that ship will pass through a danger zone? . . . It is a very one-sided citizenship that compels a government to go to war over a citizen's rights and yet relieve the citizen of all obligations to consider his nation's welfare."

For such views and for resigning his office to maintain them, Bryan was vilified as an "unspeakable traitor." But they are views that are getting the most careful study in Washington today as diplomat and statesman study the possible means of redefining neutrality so that it becomes really possible.

The Lusitania, we know now, was unarmed, and carried no troops, despite German contentions at the time. But we also know that she carried 4200 cases of rifle cartridges and other military supplies destined for the Allied troops. This was quite legal at the time. Was it wise to back up neutrals who sailed on such a ship?

Twenty years later, munitions committee members and state department diplomats are wondering.

Farm Population Largest In History Of United States

WASHINGTON. — The farm population—now the largest in the nation's history—is estimated by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics as of Jan. 1, 1935, at 32,779,000 persons. This is 279,000 persons more than on the same date in 1934. The increase is attributed to a surplus of births over deaths rather than to any marked farmward movement from cities.

The bureau says the movement away from farms last year was larger than the movement to the farms. It is estimated that 783,000 persons moved out of cities, towns, and villages to farms last year, but that 994,000 persons moved from farms to cities, towns and villages.

The net migration from farms was 211,000 persons, but this loss nounced differences are indicated by the estimates for the various major geographic divisions.

Whereas in 1933 each of these areas showed small net gains ranging from 1.4 per cent in the east South Central States to 2 tenths of one percent in the Mountain and Pacific States, in 1934 the Pacific States gained 1.7 percent, the Mountain States lost 1.2 per cent, and the West North Central States lost 1.1 per cent. The drought, it is stated, was responsible for some of these contrasts.

The bureau says the reduction in migration from cities, towns, and villages in northern and north-eastern industrial states "was probably the combined result of a farm housing shortage, somewhat better employment opportunities in non-agricultural industries, and the larger cash relief payments generally available to urban residents as contrasted to rural dwellers."

The bureau's estimates do not include so-called subsistence farms to any extent since local correspondents furnishing information to the bureau tend to overlook most of these non-commercial enterprises.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Text: Acts 2:41-43; Ephesians 4:1-7, 11-16

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for May 12.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

OUT of faith and experience comes fellowship. Such was the origin of the Christian Church, and such has been the origin of every new movement and organization in the history of the Church.

Sometimes the faith and the experience are narrow, and the resulting movement and fellowship are sectional or sectarian. This, also, has been the history of the Christian Church.

But in the beginning the Church arose out of a very definite experience of repentance and salvation. The Church had no great temples. There was no organization with worldly strength which men might join for the sake of social prestige, or for the sake of power.

The Church consisted of small groups of those who had found the new experience of salvation and life in Christ Jesus. These groups met in a measure of seclusion with the threat of persecution constantly upon them.

One can hardly think of anyone joining the Church in those days except from strong conviction and because the Church represented a fellowship in something more precious than anything that the world offered. The marvel is that even under these conditions the members of this early church were not always ideal.

WE need only read Paul's epistles to see how even in this primitive church, where everything connected with it seemed to involve sacrifice, there were those whose lives were not proof against vice and whose spirits were not free from narrowness.

But here in our lesson, in the record of the first gathering and fellowship, we have the revelation of an ideal and practice so glorious that there seems little hope of humanity rising to it. So seriously did these early Christians take the words of Jesus concerning brotherly love and the surrender of all to God, that they were willing to disregard their personal possessions, to have all things in common, and even to sell what they had so that any man who needed might be supplied.

If one could find that equality of Christian character and Christian courage more widely exemplified, the solution of life's problems would be easy, particularly in an age when we have discovered that man's conquest of nature is able to provide an abundance of all that is necessary for human life and far beyond man's need.

To imagine, however, that such a state of society could be organized out of a world of unenlightened men, whose hearts and habits are dominated by self-interest, is to trust to a vain delusion.

YET the ideal in this picture of the early Church is one that should not lightly be obscured. The Church in its true character represents a fellowship of love and service with life on a plane far above that of worldly ideals and motives.

The hope of the world is that, in a society dominated largely by self-interest, there are so many, like these early Christians, who live for higher things. They are in the world, but not of the world. They are subject to the conditions of society in which they live, but they recognize a higher loyalty to a Master who came not to seek his own, but to live for others and for the building up of the Kingdom of God.

The Church, making its growth and progress in a world so different from itself, is often colored and marred by its environment. Yet to the eye of faith there is hope in the number of those who strive with sincerity and earnestness to live according to the teachings of Jesus and who seek through the fellowship of the Church to lighten the world with righteousness, love, and truth.

What real hope is there for the world apart from that?

BRYSON BANK BANDITS SHOT, ONE IS KILLED

BRYSON, May 6.—(Troy) In the First State Bank here today, one bandit was killed and his companion wounded by officers who had surrounded the bank.
