A Salute To 4-H...

NATIONAL 4-H CLUB CONGRESS

A dramatic highlight of the National 4-H Club Congress unfolds as delegates parade before a huge audience at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago.

The 4-H spotlight will again be on Chicago when the top 1,200 boys and girls from all 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico join with guests from foreign countries for the 34th National 4-H Club Congress, Nov. 27 - Dec. 1.

The Congress program consists of discussions by the delegates, tours of the City, banquets and top-flight entertainment features, and is highlighted with talks by outstanding speakers. The 4-H'ers also take part in press conferences and radio and TV appearances. Most of one day is spent visiting the International Live Stock Exposition where during the evening program the 4-H'ers present their annual parade.

Congress delegates are selected from the Nation's 2,150,000 4-H'ers through county, state and national competition. In Chicago, 180 will be named national winners in 29 award programs and will receive $49,050 in college scholarships.

The Congress is made possible by civic-minded individuals, foundations and industries who in 1955 contributed over $750,000 through the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work to support 4-H.

This year, 110,000 4-H members will be honored through National 4-H Award Programs. The awards consist of trips, medals, watches, U. S. Savings Bonds and other merit awards. In addition, funds are provided for leader training with the grants made through the National Committee. The Committee is a citizens' group which has been helping the Cooperative Extension Service further the influence and membership of 4-H for 34 years.

Among the corporations and foundations providing 4-H support are the Nitrogen Div. of Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., Allis-Chalmers, American Forest Products Industries, Carnation Co., Chicago Board of Trade, Coats & Clark Inc., Conrad Hilton Hotel, Cudahy Packing Co., Elgin Watch Co., Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Ford Motor Co., Larro Sure Feed Div. of General Mills, General Motors, Hercules Powder, International Harvester, Kellogg Co., Kelvinator, Kerr Glass, Massey-Harris-Ferguson, Inc., Montgomery Ward, Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., Sears-Roebuck Foundation, Simplicity Pattern, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Standard Brands Incorporated, Sunbeam Corp., United States Rubber, Westinghouse Educational Foundation, and the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Co. and Gene Autry.

Nine oil companies collaborate in the program, including American Oil, General Petroleum, Pan-Am Southern, Pure Oil, Standard Oil Foundation, Inc. (Chicago), Standard Oil Co. (Kentucky), Standard Oil Co. (Ohio), Stanolind Foundation Inc., Tulsa, Okla., and Utah Oil Refining Company.

Railroads cooperating are Burlington, Illinois Central, North Western, Milwaukee and Santa Fe.

Trend In Machine Harvesting Of Cotton Is Given

College Station. —High Plains farmers in 1952 were in a position to weigh the economies of stripping versus hand-harvesting and to select the method that would yield the highest return. The early killing frost made machine-harvest practical. Their decision was neither to handharvest the entire crop nor to harvest it all by machine.

Instead, says a study just released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, most farmers chose to first go over their good acreage by hand and then complete the harvest by machine. Low yielding acreages were stripped by machine the first time over.

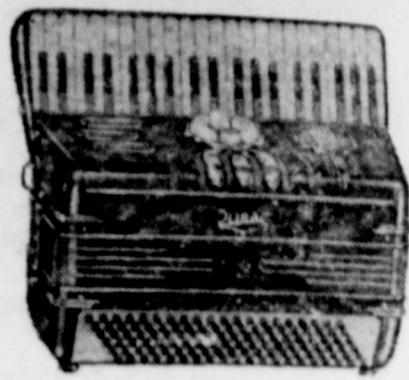

Terancy, report W. G. Adkins and W. H. Metzler, appeared in both the 1951 and '52 surveys as an obstacle to the use of mechanized harvesting. Landlords object to machine-harvesting on the basis of grade losses and lower returns while the tenant profits from the lower harvesting costs. Recent studies, say the economists, indicate that grade losses are a matter of harvesting time rather than of the method used. The earliness of a killing frost was also found to be an important factor in determining which method of harvest would be used.

For the 1951 and 1952 seasons, 40 percent against 52 percent of all bales were machine harvested on the High Plains. Only 8 percent of the farm operators handpulled all of their cotton in both 1951 and '52, but 16 percent stripped all their cotton in 1952 against 8 percent in 1951. The combination of hand and machine harvesting was used by 84 percent of the farmers in 1951 and by 76 percent in 1952.

Fullowners cut back on machine-harvesting while tenants increased their use of machines. In 1952 owners machine-harvested 45 percent of their cotton compared with 68 percent the year before. Tenants on the other hand jumped their use of machines from 26 percent in 1951 to 41 percent in 1952.

The research workers report that apparently little effort is made to use strippers to their potential. Strippers were used by most farmers for cleanup work rather than for harvesting the bulk of their crop. The complete study is given in B-813, "Tenure and Mechanization of the Cotton Harvest, Texas High School Agricultural Experiment Station.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Edgar Hays, Editor
The Lockney Beacon
Lockney, Texas.
Dear Edgar:

At the Lockney Rotary Club last Thursday it was my privilege to hear an address by our Congressman, Hon. George Mahon, who since the adjournment of Congress is having a little breathing spell back at home among us. I was very deeply impressed by this address and was thoroughly convinced that Congressman Mahon is vitally concerned over the plight of Agriculture and the Stockman and that he is sincerely endeavoring to find an answer to this problem which is far more acute and vital than most of us think. That he is ably and assiduously searching for a remedy that will rescue the farmer and the stockman from the predicament they now find themselves faced with, I think all of us will agree.

This situation we are now facing as it relates to farming and stock raising especially, is not something that has just now shown up. This has been in the making for a number of years and it becomes more complex as time passes. Not only is the situation becoming more and more serious a time passes, but a solution of the problem likewise grows more complex also.

The Congress of the United States is made up with a multiplicity of Senators and Representatives from all sections of a great nation. Some come from sections where agriculture is the chief industry; some from the livestock belt; some from the industrial centers; others from various other districts with diversified interests. When these Congressmen sit down to counsel on the needs of the nation we find that no single section has a monopoly on representation and power. It is difficult for the industrial section representatives to be convinced that agriculture plays one of the most important roles in our national economy and that it is vital to national prosperity that agriculture be undegraded and fortified against devastating and destructive price declines.

As we know, and as our Congressmen generally should know, when the farmer and stockman are prosperous we always have a prosperous nation. And when the farmer and stockman are not prosperous, but are on their knees, we invariably fall into slack business and recessions that lead to depressions. I think it goes without saying that most of us well know what a depression can do for the national economy for we have not entirely forgotten the late twenties and early thirties.

It is true that agriculture has able representation in Congress, but it is also true that unless we have a changed attitude on the part of other great interests represented in Congress and they will study and learn and appreciate the important role that agriculture plays in our national economy, we are not likely to get any legislation passed that will solve the dilemma of the farmer and stockman.

My thought is that our Congressmen do not know the answer to this perplexing problem. They are like a drowning man grabbing at a straw in their planning and suggested remedies. Agriculture seems to be one industry that is too complex for the average mind to grasp in so far as production balance, fair price maintenance and kindred subjects are concerned.

Mr. Mahon is meeting with the farmers of his district in an effort to find what they are thinking and what their ideas are for the future of the industry. Likewise the stock raising industry is being contacted and studied. Ideas and plans looking to the stabilization of these industries are about as varied and as numerous as the communities visited, so Mr. Mahon states. Out of the many suggested plans, speculations, and ideas there has not yet been solved a composite or workable solution.

In our search for a solution of this problem, (all of us), we seem to lose sight of the enormous surpluses we now have in storage, held by the national government. Until this surplus is in some manner disposed of there is little chance to accomplish anything toward a restoration of normalcy in agriculture and stock raising. Just how to reduce this surplus is a $64.00 question and the answer is not in sight at this time.

Leaders in Washington are studying a number of plans for agriculture at this time — The Domestic Allotment Plan, bushels and bales instead of acres, pay to the farmers for land taken out of production, and other ideas. My guess is that they have not found a practicable plan up to this time. And my further guess is that until something of a very definite nature is done to remove the unprecedented surpluses of farm products now on hand, costing hundreds of millions of dollars each year in storage, damage, interest, etc., no workable solution will soon be found.

There seems to be a good chance for restoration of 90% parity on farm products when Congress meets in January. But what of it? If 90% parity is restored there is sure to be a corresponding reduction in tilled acres which will put the farmer right back where he is today.

Be it said to his credit that our Congressman, George Mahon, is working day and night trying to get something done for the farmer and the stockman. He knows our predicament and with his loyalty to our cause and with his ability and influence in the Congress he is going to leave no stone unturned to get something done for us as quickly as possible.

Very truly yours,
W. Edd Brown.

George Mahon, representative to Congress from this district, spoke to the student body of Lockney High School on Friday, November 18.

His entire speech was concerning world affairs. He asked the student body several questions about President Eisenhower, members of his cabinet, the Geneva Conference, and the functions of the government.

After his lecture, he gave the student body an opportunity to ask him such questions as: Will President Eisenhower run for re-election; Is another depression inevitable; Should eighteen year olds be allowed to vote. He answered these to the best of his ability.

by Mrs. Wilfred Stoerner

Man is a creature of reason. He has it all figured out that one hour in church on Sunday, with the preacher doing all the work, will take care of his spiritual needs for the other 167 hours of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Quebe and son, Jonny and Mrs. Ben Quebe attended the homecoming of Texas Lutheran College and the dedication of the new girls dormitory on the campus of Texas Lutheran College. They were generous supporters of the new girls dormitory which was dedicated. Mrs. Ben Quebe returned home Friday from a weeks visit in McGregor and Waco, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Stoerner, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Ross Jr. returned Monday from Kansas City, Mo., after attending the 37th annual reunion of the famed 90th Division. There were ten men from Company G, 357 which Stoerner and Ross were connected with. They saw many of the buddies they had not seen since the fighting ceased in Europe. Some of the outstanding speakers the group got to hear were Gov. Fred L. Hall, Gov. Leo Hoegh, Major General Hergert, L. Ernest, Brigadier General J. Earl Rudder. In a Memorial service Mr. H. Watts of Oklahoma gave a glowing tribute to the memory of General McLain. Hobby McCall of Dallas was elected president. The 1956 convention will be held in Dallas in November in the new Statler Hotel.

The tables were beautifully decorated with cotton, feed, fruit, and arrangement of fall colored leaves. The menu consisted of ham, salads, vegetables, pies, hot coffee, cocoa. Rev. Anderson offered a special Thanksgiving prayer.

Memorial Services
As Sunday marked the last Sunday of the church year the annual memorial services were held at Trinity Lutheran Church. Special anthems "Thanks Be To Thee" by Handel and directed by Albert Scheele choir

Thanksgiving services will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 a. m. Members and visitors are especially welcomed. The chancel of the church will be decorated with the fruits of the harvest.

Mexican Relief Drive

South Texas they have been making about a little Jimmy Navarro relief campaign help to more than 200,000 pounds of food and clothing, enlisted the aid of 25 volunteer workers per day, set up other campaigns in nearby cities and prodded the United States Air Force into flying the goods to Tampico, Mexico, in 18 Air Force transport planes.

And the reverberations from the Bayou City campaign haven't stopped yet. "Brother Jimmy" as he is called, is still dictating with the Mexican government and construction workers to get one and two-room houses built for the refugees until something more permanent can be done. He will return to Tampico in a few days.

This is not the first campaign of its kind Navarro has started, however. Last year, he started another crusade that resulted in help for about 30,000 other persons in the Rio Grande Valley floods.

LOOK WHAT I GOT

Here's a child's Christmas gift to make from cotton bags. A "Noah's Ark" toy bag complete with wheels and animals can fill many hours with imaginative play. The "ark" hung on a nursery wall helps relieve toy clutter, for the animals are tucked in at bedtime. Print and plain cotton bags used to package feed, flour, and other staple products offer a wide range of fabrics for making gifts.

Navarro is one of Texas Baptists' strongest links in the bridge of friendship and evangelism between the Spanish-speaking and the English-speaking peoples of the state.

A native of Detroit, Michigan, he started a Houston church in the middle of a street and built it into a thriving congregation under a tree and shepherded its growth from a tent through the construction of its own buildings and facilities. And recently, the little Latin American firebrand helped start still another church in a private residence. Today, he is the pastor of all three congregations and has three offices — two at the churches, one at home.

Navarro receives an average of 50 letters per week, does most of his ministerial studying before 7 a. m. and after 11 p. m., works an average of 18 hours per day and is called from bed often.

His family counselling program — for persons with broken homes, wayward children or young couples about to be married — ministers to 15 persons per week.

The Southern Baptist work among the Spanish-speaking people of Galveston, Freeport, Angleton, Alvin, Rosenberg, Richmond, Baytown, South Houston and Pasadena was started under his leadership.

A former missionary for the Union Baptist Association at Houston, the little preacher founded the Houston Mexican Baptist Association and has been the association's president for the past three years. He is also a member of the executive board of the Mexican Baptist Convention of Texas and a trustee of the Mexican Baptist Orphans Home in San Antonio.

Each year in July, some 300 people gather at Palacios for the Mexican Baptist encampment, started seven years ago by "Brother Jimmy." It has now become a statewide affair. At Easter each year, some 2,000 Spanish-speaking people gather in Houston for their annual sunrise services — another Navarro inspiration.

In 1950, Navarro started and now directs the only daily Spanish-speaking religious radio program in America. It is called La Hora Bautista (The Baptist Hour) and is broadcast from the studios of radio station KLVJ in Pasadena.

It was from this station and on the La Hora Bautista program, expanded to 12-16 hours of interviewing per day, that Navarro conducted the recent "Houston-Tampico Disaster Campaign."

During the 27-day period of calling for help, the little preacher interviewed more than 6,000 persons and raised the 200,000 pounds of food and clothing for the Mexican flood victims.

When the goods were picked up by the 25 volunteers or brought to the radio station by persons listening, Navarro had no place to put them and no way of getting them to Mexico. But the Alamo Motor Lines of Houston came to his rescue and parked its trailer-truck transports outside the station, where they solved both the transportation and the storage situation.

While the volunteers answered the phones, made donor lists and addresses, Navarro talked to the givers over the air and set into motion the machinery which resulted in the other campaigns in virtually every Gulf Coast city from Fort Arthur and Beaumont on the east to El Campo and Wharton on the west, Navasota and Huntsville on the north, Freeport and Galveston on the south.

In the matter of Army transportation, Navarro first started making long-distance calls to the Fourth Army headquarters at San Antonio, was referred from there to another base at San Marcos and finally to Air Force headquarters at Scott Field, Illinois. He talked personally with two generals there and was on the verge of going straight to the Pentagon when the Air Force gave orders that Navarro's campaign was to be given the same recognition and help as those of the Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

The Alamo Company transports carried the goods from the radio station to the Ellington Air Force Base near Houston, where the planes took over and flew them to Tampico. Upon arrival there, the goods were distributed by community forces on the scene to whom ever was the most needy, regardless of race or religion.

The ones who received the most were destitute people then living in the public buildings and schools of Tampico and had absolutely nothing left from the flood.

Navarro is now planning a state-wide network of radio broadcasts which will carry the gospel to the Spanish-speaking people among us. He is one of the state's strongest links between the Spanish-speaking and the English-speaking people within its borders.

Slightly Injured In Car-Trailer Crash

Don Bennett of the Aiken community was slightly injured, suffering some cracked ribs Monday evening when his 1953 Buick smashed into a loaded cotton trailer on a dirt road a mile southwest of Aiken. The accident happened about 7:30 p. m.

Don had just met a car, was blinded by its lights and did not see the parked trailer until almost upon it. It had been left on the road by a Mexican field hand after it developed a flat.

The Buick knocked the trailer some 24 steps from its original position.

The trailer belonged to Jack Robertson of Route 2, Plainview, but the Mexican was believed to have borrowed the trailer and been working for someone else, it was said. The car and trailer both were very badly damaged. The Mexican was Juan Martinez Rodriguez of Edcouch, Texas. Charges were filed against him by Highway Patrolmen.

Seed Of New Onion Now Available

College Station. — Seed of Early Crystal 281, a new, early, white onion, are available for farmer planting from commercial seed sources.

Early Crystal 281 was developed for planting in the South through the cooperative onion breeding program of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the U. S. Department of Agriculture

The new variety matures 10 to 14 days earlier than Eclipse, the most commonly grown wax variety in South Texas. It is resistant to pink root and splits and bolts less than other varieties of similar type.

In yield tests at nine South Texas locations during the past 4 years, Early Crystal 281 made an average yield of 492 50-pound bags per acre.

Researchers recommend the planting of Early Crystal 281 on a limited acre advantage of its maturity and disease resistance or a similar variety as the main crop. The pedigree of Early Crystal 281 involves the varieties, Crystal and Celestine.

Everyone is waiting anxiously for Tuesday, the 22. I wonder why. Well, that is the date of our first basketball game with and at Sudan.

The juniors and seniors are rather worried about some of these hustling freshmen and sophomores. Don't think we are kidding, because we were never more serious. All of us girls had better start training, or we shall "pass out" about the first quarter. Come on, you girls, start watching each other. Everybody be everybody else's keeper, so to speak.

We have had quite a few difficulties this year. However, we can overcome them with much work.

Who was waiting for you after school Tuesday, Peggy and Oddie? Don't those boys ever go to school?

There was certainly some fine talent at the talent show and Serenaders Tuesday night.

Thanksgiving Day

Have you ever thought about the first Thanksgiving, why and when we observe this holiday.

The first Thanksgiving Days were harvest festivals during which time people thanked God for plentiful crops. For this reason, the holiday still takes place in the late fall after the crops are harvested. The American Thanksgiving Day probably grew out of the harvest-home celebration of England.

In the United States, Thanksgiving is usually celebrated with big dinners and joyous reunions. The very mention of Thanksgiving often recalls memories of old farmhouse kitchens crowded with kinsfolk enjoying good food together. Thanksgiving is also a time for serious religious thinking, church services, and personal prayer.

For many years there was no regular national Thanksgiving in the United States. Some states observed the holiday, and others did not. By 1830, New York had an official state Thanksgiving Day, and other states soon followed its example. In 1863, President Lincoln set aside the last Thursday of November of that year "as a day of Thanksgiving and praise to our beneficent Father."

Yes, Thanksgiving Day is here again. Don't forget to count your blessings on this day and remember to be thankful.

Last Football Game For Seniors On November 18

The last football game of the 1955 season was played at Littlefield on November 18th. The following boys played their last game for Lockney High:

Up to this date, the Longhorns have won four games and lost five. This game with Littlefield will determine the second place winner. If Dimmitt beats Olton, it will decide who will be co-champion with Olton.

The Longhorns have come a long way this year compared with last year's team. They have received considerable individual recognition during the season. Jerry Williams was named "back" of the week and Jerry Workman and Kenneth Callaway got honorable mention.

Don't you think our football team is a fine group? Hats off, senior boys, for affording us so much enjoyable recreation and pleasure. We are "mighty" proud of you.

F. B. L. A. Sponsors Vocational Guidance Tests

The Kuder Preference Record Tests, published by Science Research Associates of Chicago, are being sponsored by the F. B. L. A. in Lockney High School. Several F. B. L. A. members have taken the test which reveals high or low interest, on a profile sheet. The manual of interpretation for these sheets then gives the occupations in which probable success may be attained.

Mr. Smith plans to send the profile sheets with the pupil's transcripts of his high-school credits to the college in which the pupil enrolls.

The great value comes now in helping Seniors to decide on the course in which to enroll.

Enter into His gates with Thanksgiving and into His courts with praise; be thankful unto Him and bless His name. —Psalm 100:4.

THE FIRST CROP had been bountiful in the new, strange land; the perils of its wilderness, while present still, were no longer unknown. So the Pilgrims offered prayers of Thanksgiving on the day of the feast — girded spiritually and materially against all dangers. As we today follow, in effect, their example, in the festive turkey, so should we be girded as they were that first Thanksgiving, against all who imperil us and our heritage of freedom.

IT WAS from our Pilgrim Father's grateful prayers in the wilderness that our present Day of Thanksgiving derives. They set an example in word and deed which we well might remember at least once a year. Even before the Mayflower landed them at Plymouth they had written in the Compact: "We whose names are underwritten have undertaken, for the glory of God, to establish in Virginia the first colony for the advancement of the Christian faith." So glorious our heritage, so short our memories.

PERHAPS some of us might say that we haven't much to be thankful for this year—but that's because we haven't stopped to consider the condition of the remainder of the world. Some one has said that two-thirds of the world's population go to bed hungry every night. We venture to say that very few, if any, persons in the South Plains area are lacking in a sufficient diet. Even those who have the very least have enough to eat most of the time. It's a tragedy that most of us don't fully realize how fortunate we are.

PUBLIC SERVICE, for the most part, is a thankless task, whether it be the kind that has a salary or the kind that doesn't. For some reason most of us don't appreciate the efforts of our public officials, regardless of what office they may hold. We are always quick to criticize and slow to praise. Most of us are seldom completely satisfied with any official's efforts but when we are we fail to say so. Perhaps if we were as quick to praise as we are to criticize our officials might be inspired to expend greater efforts in the carrying out of their duties.

THE LUBBOCK AVALANCHE is an excellent newspaper, as we have said here before, but their sports department is biased in some of their stories. Apparently the department has several pet teams over the area, of which Lockney is definitely not one, and they slant their stories to build up those teams while belittling the other. Take the Lockney-Littlefield football game story last Saturday morning. To read it you would think that the Longhorns were practically run off the field. Such was not the case at all. Presuming that they depended upon a Littlefield source for their information, it was still too obviously one-sided to be written the way it was. Neither did the story rate the kind of headline it received. We fail to see the advantage of such conduct on the part of the sports department of a newspaper which is supposed to be completely neutral in its attitude.

WHILE we're on sports we hope that the officials organization which serves high school games in this area will make some effort to improve the officiating in future seasons. We're not griping because we think Lockney was discrim-

THINGS TO WATCH FOR

The car of the future is predicted to be a far cry from the Model T's we are driving today. They are slowly approaching the "don't do it yourself" stage. Notes for the future include the gas turbine engine, eliminating the crankshaft, or perhaps atomic power or sun power and batteries. A car that pilots itself is also envisioned. You merely set the speed and relax with a good book or blonde.

However, 1957 is supposed to bring in the car with Radar Breaks. The breaks will automatically stop the car when confronted with an object in front of it. If it is a car moving ahead of you the radar slows your car to its speed. If you suddenly confront a head-on situation it stops the car.

The radar can make electronically fast decisions for the driver who is inattentive or slow to react. But I want a car that whistles at red heads. It wouldn't be wise to stop—It Sez Here in Claude News.

YOU ALWAYS PAY

A Minnesota newspaper says: "There's always free cheese in a mousetrap but we don't think the mice that get it are very happy."

Those who are always advocating that we go to the Federal Government for "free" handouts should think about that remark. We get nothing "free" from the Government at Washington. We may think we do, but we are only fooling ourselves. We may congratulate ourselves over getting some gift from Washington, but if we look closely, we may find it on our next tax bill. We always pay in the end, and in the meantime, likely as not, we may find we have surrendered some valuable freedom in exchange for the Federal largess. —Lubbock Avalanche.

We Give Thanks

LET the Pilgrims of America's infancy be shining examples to all of us here today. Their courage, their humility, their gratitude for the blessings of freedom and bountiful land are engraved upon the history of our country. And the day they set aside for sincere Thanksgiving... may this day retain its true significance for all of us, always. May we all give thanks.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

GM Parade Of Progress Is Now At Lubbock

One of the largest and most unusual shows of its kind came to Lubbock November 23, for a four and one-half day run. The General Motors Parade of Progress, a huge traveling science exposition, set up at Texas Tech, corner 4th Street and College Avenue. It will open at 7 p. m. Friday, November 25, for three hours, then play from 2 to 10 p. m., Saturday through Tuesday, November 29. All performances are continuous and admission is free.

Non-commercial and educational in nature, the Parade of Progress has 26 major exhibits and a stage show. The stage presentation is housed in a large, fireproof Aerodome tent which was specially designed by GM engineers to provide the maximum in audience safety and comfort.

With all the glitter of show business, the Parade of Progress tells the story of modern science and engineering in industry, and how they have contributed to the high American standard of living.

In addition to the Aerodome, the Parade has a dozen Futurliners, modernistic vans which resemble huge busses in appearance. Animated exhibits are built into these unusual vehicles. On a show lot, the sides of the Futurliners fold out to become stages where college-trained lecturers vividly describe such things as a cut-away jet engine, "The World of Science" and the "Miracles of Heat and Cold" and "The Story of Friction."

These exhibits are arranged midway fashion in front of the Aerodome, scene of the Parade's feature attraction, a 40-minute stage show. Here, in rapid-fire sequence, are shown such scientific oddities as the making of

TWO-IN-ONE

Two skirts are better than one, thinks this provident home sewer. She matches her paisley print cotton velvet jacket with a braid-trimmed paisley skirt and then makes another skirt in solid slate grey. Cheney cotton velvet is used for all pieces of her outfit. The matching pumps are braid-trimmed.

synthetic rubber in a pop bottle, cooking on a stove that never gets hot, a motor that runs on heat and light and a miniature hydrogen explosion, a gas turbine engine in operation and music played on micro-waves.

The Aerodome itself is an unusual structure. Designed by General Motors engineers especially for the Parade of Progress, it is the only tent of its kind in existence. It is built like an inside-out umbrella, with a skeleton of aluminum beams from which its fireproof plastic-impregnated canvas "skin" is suspended. It has no poles, no stakes, no guywires—nothing inside to obstruct vision. It seats 1,250 persons in aluminum and fireproof canvas folding chairs.

Like the tent, the Futurliners also were designed by GM just for the Parade. Painted a gleaming red and white, they are completely streamlined and ultra-modern. The driver's compartment is located high above the road and is almost completely surrounded by a green tinted windshield. The driver sits in the center of the cab and has every modern assistance, such as automatic transmission, power steering, power brakes and automatic electronic headlight timers.

The cabs are air-conditioned.

For added safety the Futurliners have dual wheels on the front as well as the rear. A huge rubber bumper runs completely around each vehicle and each has a short wave radio receiver so that instructions can be relayed on the road from two passenger cars and a service truck which are equipped with two-way radios.

On location at night, the tops of the Futurliners push up to form fluorescent lighting towers, adding to the colorful carnival atmosphere of the parade.

But beneath all this circus glitter, the Parade has a serious purpose, as evidenced by the words of GM's president, Harlow H. Curtice.

"The nation's present place of world leadership depends to a great degree on research and engineering," he said when the Parade was launched at Detroit.

"Our daily lives, too, are deeply influenced by modern science."

"The Parade of Progress tells that story. For we of General Motors are tremendously interested in promoting a better understanding of research and engineering and what they mean to all of us."

"Visitors to the Parade's exhibits and stage show will not only enjoy the many vivid and dramatic things they see and hear, they also will come away with a deeper faith in the American way of life—a system that has encouraged the kind of progress that we in this country have seen take place.

"And that is progress for all. We would like to help folks see, specifically, how research, engineering and American progress are solidly linked together."

"And we want, too, to inspire young people—the youngsters with eyes on the future, the inventors, scientists and engineers, and leaders of tomorrow."

"In short, we hope to present, through this Parade of Progress, a picture of America on the move toward better lives for all of us."

The Parade of Progress has been on tour since April 1953. It has traveled through 31 states in the Midwest, South, Southwest, East, plus Canada. Lubbock will be the 120th city on its nationwide itinerary. The Parade of Progress came to Lubbock after completing a very successful tour of Canada this summer. More than 6½ million people have visited the Parade to date.

Following the public showing here, the Parade will go to Abilene.

From these members, one never hears a word of complaint. The general attitude is, "What may I do to be of more help?" Recently, this attitude was displayed in one of the "after-delivery" meetings we have each Saturday morning. Mrs. Golightly, our librarian, announced that she and Mrs. Farris, the sponsor, would like to plan a party at Christmas time for the members. It seemed that something should be done for them since they give a good portion of their Saturday morning in such a willing manner. Almost at once Glenn Derrell spoke out, "Why don't we give a party for the library books to?" Another responded, "That would be more fun than having a party for ourselves." All the members nodded in agreement. Not a one thought of himself when the opportunity was offered to do something for others.

Their little heads began to buzz. They began to plan how they would decorate the library room for the occasion, and then they set their plans into action. The girls are doing most of the cutting, pasting, designing and molding. Nancy Ann Golightly has been in the workroom two Saturdays supervising their construction. The boys are making posters for publicity and will see to putting up the decorations.

Many people have asked if there is some way they can express their appreciation to the library and to these youngsters for the service and benefit they receive from them. Yes! there is! And as the Christmas season approaches, the time seems to be right for doing this. At the library party there will be a Christmas tree, and under this tree, you may place any book donation or money that you wish to give to the library. If you have a good book at home bring it to the library any time now, and it will be processed and marked as a gift from you. Perhaps you prefer to come to the library or phone Mrs. Golightly to make your selection for you. There are innumerable new books on hand right now for you to choose from. These will be marked as your gift. The boys and girls plan to gift-wrap each book and place it under the tree. If you wish to make a donation of money, a tiny envelope will be ribboned and hung on the Christmas tree for you.

Perhaps we should not have been surprised when the "Books on Bikes" Club members had another thought that so clearly demonstrates their eagerness to do something worth while! They decided that if people were going to be given the opportunity to make gifts to the library this Christmas, they'd like to place the very first book under the tree. No, they aren't going to ask their parents for the money to buy the book; they are going to earn that money doing odd jobs! Then they will put their earnings together and buy the book or books for their gift. They may come around to your house—to rake leaves in your yard, sweep your drive, carry in firewood, baby-sit, Earl Holmes, one of our new members, brought his money Saturday. He had been shining shoes.

With the approval of the library board, we made final plans last Saturday for the party. The members of the "Books on Bikes" Club will be host and hostess to you, the citizens of Floyd County, on Monday evening, December fifth in the library room of the county court house from 6:30 until 9:00. They will welcome you when you arrive, show you your county library, of which they are so proud, and serve refreshments. They plan to make arrangements to bring the friends to whom they have been delivering books; and to those unable to come out, they will take refreshments.

Please keep in mind the time, place and date of the library Christmas party, and

South Plains

By Mrs. Murray Julian

The beautiful weather we have had Saturday and Sunday makes it hard to realize much of our country is shivering under blankets of snow. Farmers here are working every daylight hour trying to get their last cotton from the fields before winter strikes here. Most of them are using cotton strippers in the fields now.

Nine members of the Wayland Volunteer Mission Band from Plainview were here in charge of the worship services Sunday, with Tommy Jones bringing the message in the morning; Norma Corbin at the piano and Darrel Walsler leading the singing. Bobby Lacey, Margaret Hartley, David Hartman, Delbert Serratt, Barbara Evans and Shirley Ellis made up the group who in Training Union gave "The Story of the Cross." Sunday at noon the Young Married Couples Class were hosts at dinner at the school house to their families and all the band members. Rev. and Mrs. Larry Faus served the band the evening meal in the parsonage, assisted by Mrs. McClure. Everyone enjoyed the program with the gospel message and the wonderful music and singing of the group.

Jewell, Wanda and Violet Haggard of Lockney came Sunday afternoon to visit Donita Milton in the Grigsby Milton home.

Mona Cummings, of San Francisco arrived here Saturday evening for an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Zach Cummings. All the children living in this vicinity will be together at the Cummings home to enjoy Thanksgiving dinner. They are Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings and children and Mr. and Mrs. Zach Cummings Jr. and their baby.

Seniors in our community, James Hartman, Bonnie Upton, Elton Karr and Tommy Respondek had a hand in preparing the turkey dinner served in the Floydada cafeteria Thursday night for the purpose of defraying expense for the senior trip, which they hope to make to Osage Beach, Missouri. Many from here attended the dinner.

Rev. and Mrs. Larry Faus and family attended Homecoming at Wayland College Saturday. Little Vassie Beth was entered in the baby contest of the Future Pioneer Contest and was awarded second place. Saturday evening they attended the Associational Youth Rally at Aiken where Mrs. Faus holds the position of president. During election Virginia Taylor was chosen as Associational Secretary. Present at the rally were Virginia Taylor, Bonnie Upton, June Marble, Juanel Wood, Donita Milton with the Faus.

Planning a trip to visit her cousin, Mrs. Earl Willmon on Thursday, for Thanksgiving Day. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fortenberry will go to Clovis, N. M. to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Bean will leave Wednesday for Winters, Texas for a Thanksgiving visit in the home of their son. Mr. and Mrs. Billie Bean and children. Others expected there for the holidays are Mrs. Mc-

Manamus and Irene Bean from Dallas.

Another new irrigation well went in on the farthest southern part of the W. M. Stanforth farms last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Key West will plan their family Thanksgiving dinner for next Sunday when their son, Johnny, will be home. He is expected on November 26 from Fort Ord, Calif. for a ten day furlough.

Donnie Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Young, a junior in high school, had the honor of being elected the sweetheart of the Floydada Aggies Club last week.

Bonnie Upton attended a lingerie shower Saturday morning in Floydada for Sandra Collier, bride-elect of Jackie Jarrett, which was held in the home of Linda Gayle Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wood went to Tucumcari Saturday to spend the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Waller.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Calahan Jr. plan to leave for Abilene Wednesday to attend the State Training Union Convention. Rev. and Mrs. Larry Faus and family will also spend Thursday, Friday and Saturday there while the convention is going on.

While Mrs. Billie Tye, sister of Mrs. Bill Beedy is in a Lubbock Hospital next week, Mrs. Beedy will take care of her children, bringing them here part time and will go to Floydada to be with them other times.

Virginia Taylor was hostess at a slumber party at her home Saturday night. The following girls were in attendance: Donita Milton, June Marble, Bonnie Upton and Juanel Wood.

Mrs. J. D. Webb, Mrs. R. G. Dunlap and Mrs. W. M. Stanforth Jr., who have children attending the grade school in Floydada, were busy helping prepare the carnival given by the P.T.A. on Friday night, and with their families attending the jolly affair.

Mrs. Shelby Calahan is in charge of the float which is planned by the Home Demonstration Club for the Christmas Parade in Floydada on Nov. 29.

HAS OPERATION

Mrs. V. H. Kellison underwent surgery at the Medical & Surgical Hospital Friday afternoon and returned home Sunday afternoon. She is doing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Briley and Kathryn spent the November 6th weekend at Austin where Mr. Briley attended a pharmacy refresher course and all saw the Texas-T. C. U. football game. The Brileys are graduates of Texas University.
