EDITORIAL

Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive. — Acts 20:35.

RELATEDLY we would like to acknowledge the nice special edition salute to Lockney published recently by the Plainview Herald. It was well written and carried many interesting stories about Lockney and its citizens, even mentioning the editor of The Beacon. We appreciate the Herald's efforts in giving Lockney all the favorable publicity. We thought it was very nice all the way through.

REGARDING the Herald's story about The Beacon, we don't actually have 15,000 circulation but we know readers of the story will understand that this was just a typographical error. Someone got an extra zero in that figure. We're not complaining about it. We appreciate the compliment. Besides we have been known to have an error or two in The Beacon occasionally.

THE CITY'S fogging campaign has produced results. Mosquitoes are thinning out in this area and have been scarce for the past two weeks. We must commend city officials for their persistent campaign to rid the city of mosquitoes and also members of the Lockney Fire Department who have been operating the fogging machine each evening. Their labors have gotten the job done.

ALL OF US regret the damage done by vandals and thieves at the fair building in southeast Lockney. We cannot understand why anyone, young or old, would be so thoughtless or so heartless as to destroy something that has been built by voluntary labor for the good of all the county. Nor only has some of the copper wiring been pulled from the conduit lines in the building but vandals have purposely smashed most all of the electric outlets in the building. Now men who are busy in the fields or at work other places must take time to replace the electric wiring and the outlets and make other repairs. If parents knew where their sons were most of the time, and what they were doing, this type damage could be avoided. Some plan must be worked out to prevent a recurrence of this kind of thing. Perhaps the fair grounds will have to be declared off limits to all but fair officials and a watchman employed to stay there. We don't know what plan the fair directors have in mind, but repairs cannot continue to be made year after year because of the thoughtfulness of a few. Drastic measures should be taken if necessary to stop it.

THE BEACON appreciates letters from its readers on subjects of interest to all. However we have a policy that we do not print anonymous letters or letters that are unduly abusive. If you have something you think should be called to the attention of the public, we will be glad to print your letters if you will sign it and keep out of it statements which abuse or deride someone else. We will leave the signature off the letter if you wish, but it must be signed.

SOME MEMBERS of the school district equalization board felt that our mild criticism of the school tax program last week was directed at them. We believe that a close reading of the editorial will dispel any such notion. We did not even mention the equalization board. All of us know that the new valuations were the work of the professional appraiser from Lubbock, not the local equalization board. True the board members were on the spot, and taking the complaints, and in some cases adjusted the valuations to a more realistic figure. Last week we blamed the professional appraiser and the fact that he had to do a "hurry-up" job. This week we're of the same opinion.

PETROLEUM WEEK finds that the oil industry, despite the general economy's vigorous upswing, is continuing its recession-triggered drive to cut production costs. Companies are standardizing equipment, demanding better quality of pipes and other materials, making more efficient use of manpower and machinery and pressing the search for improved tools and techniques. The reasons: profits are being squeezed between rising costs and stable prices, and companies have realized that many economies forced by the recession make sound business sense no matter what the economic outlook is.

ON SAVING MONEY

There seems to have arisen in the past two decades the attitude on the part of bureaucrats and congressmen that the public money is nobody's money merely to be spent with a free hand.

All of us who have a bite taken out of our income to support this sort of spending are bitter about it, but it is frustrating not to be able to do anything about it.

In the news this week were a few instances of what is being done with our money.

In Michigan, a doctor was paid $41,000 for 2½ months work taking X-Rays for the Army induction station. When challenged, he admitted that the same work could have been performed for $5,000 were it being done with private money. Government money is different.

The Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs is another case in point. Already the Air Force has maneuvered around and spent twice as many million dollars on the academy as Congress ever authorized, and is still spending. Where they are getting the tax money appears to be a mystery, except that other Air Force appropriations are being manipulated to provide the cash. It all comes out of your pocket.

The Senate is building a subway to connect the Senate office building with the Senate chambers. This has cost several million dollars, making it beyond a doubt the most expensive subway on the face of the globe, and it was discovered that the money ran out before the subway got to its destination. All they have so far is a tunnel, which will be extended with your money, of course.

Somehow, some way, we are going to have to insist on money conservation. How to do it is anybody's guess. — Oehlthre County Herald.

THAT'S THE WAY IT IS

Paul Butler would be doing the country a favor if he stuck his old gray head in an atomic furnace. He and his "liberal" band are destined to destroy the Democratic party and socialize the country along with it.

When you see old cronies like Butler, ex-Candidate Stevenson, ex-Governor Harriman, ex-President Truman, California National Committeeman Paul Ziffren, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Gov. "Soapy" Williams and their clan getting their heads together for the good of the country you had best beware.

Their idea of "good for the country is social legislation, bigger spending programs via your tax dollar, more left winged freedoms for Red Herring, centralized government via Washington control of states, schools and political subdivisions, not to mention an array of give-aways in the scientific field.

I sincerely hope the Democrats awaken before they reach their "point of no return." If an ultra-liberal group capture the party they can count me out. In fact, they may count us all out.

The "liberal" mind is a political beatnik who would advocate free love, burn down the churches and make playgrounds of the schools if they could control the human personality. Their sole interest is power and these physical guises are used to capture the imagination of the people, at least those wanting everything for nothing, but it is a law of life that from nothing comes nothing.

I'll go along with the middle of the roaders, Johnson and Rayburn any day. — Cecil Waggoner in Claude News.

POOR PUBLIC RELATIONS

One must read the slanted articles in Time and Life to realize just how far off base the family type farmer is as regards public relations. Long since we quit these two periodicals as regular reading diet for the sake of our health. High blood pressure. But we do read them somewhat just to gauge what the other half is thinking. For two or three years it was Civil Rights. Now its agricultural, particularly the farmer subsidy. These magazines have taken a leaf from the Communists. Tell a half truth and the opponent must go to explaining it away. Most of the subsidies which are distributed through USDA never reach the dirt farmer. But the writers have made up their minds and any kind of evidence which "proves" the farmer subsidy program is ruining the country is meat for their larder. The farmer is in great need of good articulate public relations on Madison Avenue. — Floyd County Hesperian.

Dear Editor:

I see where a columnist notes that his year-old neighbor watches all the TV commercials, and takes care of his palyphen chores during the show intervals.

Says this is maybe a sign the ad writers are aiming a little too low in shooting at the national customer mental level.

But my TV-set neighbor says he hopes they keep the commercials geared to child-like minds, as he is already eating his meals in front of the TV and don't want to have to move the bathroom fixtures in there, too.

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans: a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6403 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever!

Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going, without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need.

Mrs. Donie Hansen Writes From Honduras, Central America

Editor's note: We know our readers will find this letter from a former Lockneyite, now living in Central America, very interesting.

Danil, Honduras, C. A. August 3, 1959.

Mr. Hays: I want you to know how much I do enjoy your good "beacon" — especially all your items about my kinfolks and friends there. You gave my Uncle Roy and Aunt Mary Brown, Silvertown, a splendid write up for their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

I was so interested in your information on "The Lockney family" — My people were early settlers, too — and customers of Mr. and Mrs. Baker in their early days. My mother's family was "the H. W. Browns" of the Cedar Hill community. Grandma Brown had a brother, J. C. Fortenberry (Cedar Hill) and four married sisters in the area (Aunt Susie Green, (Lockney); Aunt Mack Brown (Floydada); Aunt Mary Baker (Lockney); and Aunt Thelma Smithee (Haze Center). Grandpa Brown had a brother and cousin that lived nearby. My father's brother, Millidge H. Taylor belongs to Cedar Hill too—all early settlers. Oh, we are many — and carry quite a vote. My people have helped in the growth of the community and I am certain, you find them good neighbors. We are all aware, too, how much the new comers contribute — Floyd County is a good part of the Panhandle, isn't it?

Did you read Time Magazine write up on Lyndon Johnson? I enjoyed it very much and was amused too. Time Magazine paid Lyndon Johnson line tribute for his many accomplishments and gave very colorful description of his "Way of life" — One special paragraph on the L. B. J. ranch in Texas — says Time Magazine, "When Lyndon Johnson entertains with hamburgers on the L. B. J. ranch, he always serves the burgers in the shape of the State of Texas and advises guests to eat the Panhandle first" — I wondered why? (Most of us eat the "choice bits," last). Maybe Mr. Johnson has encountered our lively Washington "farm representatives" through "The Fortenberry of Lubbock" (unusual name, isn't it? — don't know him, but with a name like that he must belong to us). He's a man with earnest convictions and has abundant talent in his handling of Panhandle problems. Washington's Texas congressmen should know him.

I do love my visits "home" and time is always too short on these occasions. (I keep mighty busy trying to get around to have little visits with my relatives. I don't have time to meet the newcomers.) It is such a pleasure to observe the prosperity of the community. Now that I have the Beacon subscription (a lovely gift from Aunt Annie Brown Smith) I can follow your news from week to week. You do put out a very civic minded, lively paper. I read every line — hospital news, community news and even the ads. When you advertise margarine "5 for $1" I simply drool. Here I pay seventy cents a pound for margarine. (This high price is to protect the home products, of course.) The local butter isn't churned (like grandma made butter) but they skim the cream, put it in a sort of cheese cloth sack and let it drip. It is more like a heavy, sour cream. So I think the high priced margarine is a better buy.

Wish I could drop in for some of your dollar day shopping and some day I shall.

I was so interested in this year's senior class. Loved the story of Lawsone's plane trip — so she could catch up with the seniors on their Colorado trip.

It takes the Beacon one month to reach me. Think regular mail must come up by ox cart from the coast, but I enjoy it when it comes. Weren't the June brides pretty? Brides are always pretty, but these were special.

Thank you for your good paper.

Freezing Foods

Freezing is a quick, easy way to preserve fresh vegetables and fruits. Freezing keeps the natural color, fresh flavor and food values of most vegetables and fruits better than other methods of food preservation.

For best results, select fresh, tender vegetables right from the garden or market while they are at the right stage of maturity for eating. All vegetables need to be blanched before freezing.

Other factors that influence quality are preparation, packing, freezer loading and length of storage.

Latest information on how to freeze, and how to cook frozen foods is given in the extension bulletin, FROZEN FOODS. Come by the office or call for a copy if you do not have one.

Use Freshrunk Fabrics For Making New Clothes

When possible, buy fabrics for home sewing that have been thoroughly shrunk by the manufacturer. This saves time and insures continued fit and satisfaction. Cottons, linens and washable fabrics should carry a guarantee on the label of shrinkage not to exceed one percent.

When there is any doubt in your mind as to the shrinking quality of fabric, preshrink the material at home before cutting.

To preshrink washable cottons and linens, follow these directions:
Fold the fabric very carefully into several thicknesses so there are no wrinkles anywhere in the yardage. Place the folded material in a large pan or basin of warm water and then into cold, being certain the water penetrates into every thread.

Press the water out of the folded fabric; do not wring. Then hang the material over a rod to dry. Do not hang on a clothesline with the fabric pinned along the selvage, since this might cause it to pull out

Trade in Lockney

... for happier, better living

Shall We Do Like the Birdies Do?

A dollar that leaves our area means the loss of many more dollars in trade volume as it goes out of circulation here. Every dollar that stays close to home means finer, more complete stores within minutes of our doorsteps . . . when we need them. And it means fuller living . . . here where life is real and more serene . . . and where everybody is Somebody!

We're told that the birds banish their young from the family nest early and completely. A lot of people are doing the same thing to their own children . . . in a round-about way . . . by promiscuous city-shopping.

Spending every dollar that we can as close to home as we can . . . means a great deal more and better opportunities for our young people starting out to make their way in the world. And, incidentally, for ourselves.

Every dollar that we spend in the city, that we send to a mail order house, or let a peddler take away with him, gives our children another push toward the tall buildings . . . and puts more physical distance between us and them.

It Pays to Buy where you Live

YOU get everything that your money pays for . . . merchandise AND a trade-invigorated community to live in . . . when you buy from your home town merchants . . .

WHY NOT BE HONEST ABOUT YOUR SOUL?

Jesus said, "For what is a man profited, if he should gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? (Mt. 16:26) He further said, "Enter ye in at the strait gate: for wide is the gate, and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, and many there be that go in thereat: Because strait is the gate, and narrow is the way that leadeth unto life, and few there be that find it (Mt. 7:13-14).

Many are careless about their soul and about being prepared to meet God in the great day of reckoning. Many religious teachers and leaders tell their listeners that it makes no difference what they believe, teach and practice and that one is as good as another. This causes millions of honest, sincere people to neglect searching the scriptures for themselves to be sure they are right and pleasing to God. This is one way Satan has of keeping people out of heaven. BEWARE OF SUCH TEACHING AND SEARCH THE BIBLE TO SEE IF YOU ARE RELIGIOUSLY RIGHT IN ALL THINGS!

Dear Editor:

I see where a federal judge says deciding whether a book is fit to send through the mail is a matter of judging it as a whole, instead of just looking at individual hot passages.

My stampedeless neighbor says this seems logical, as he has enjoyed many a good apple while eating around a worm.

But he thinks there ought to be some temperance, even in the practice of tolerance, like his easy-going aunt would always throw out the whole batch of butter if she found more than one mouse in the churn.

COUNTY AGENT HAS CROP DEMONSTRATION UNDERWAY

County Agent Cecil Lewis has a number of crop variety demonstrations underway in the county, showing both grain sorghum and cotton. Also an on-fertilizer demonstration was held on the Raymond place south of Lockney. The cotton varieties demonstrations are located on the Farish farm, Lone Star; the Bean place at South; Earl Edwards Jr., Lake; H. S. Porter Jr., at All; and the Fred Jackson near Sand Hill. All five demonstrations have the same varieties, these being Paymaster 101, Blightmaster, Lankart 611 and Gregg.

work up a booklet giving the demonstration results, he said last week.

On the Farish farm eight rows of each variety was planted side by side on April 28. Farish and Lewis have been watching the demonstration closely as to fruiting and stalk growth. Farish has fertilized the cotton with 60 pounds of anhydrous ammonia and sprayed it three times for insects. This is one of the fields which was hurt by 2, 4-D early in the summer but now little damage can be detected. The cotton appears in fine condition and is loading up well.

Grain Sorghums

Lewis has four farmers participating in the grain sorghum demonstrations, these being Walter Taack of Irick community, L. B. Brandes of Providence, Mal Jarboe of Baker and Kenneth Bean of South Plains. Grain sorghum varieties include Amak R-10, Dekalb, RS-610, Amak R-12, Texas 660, and a new variety, RS-608. These will be tested as to yield some harvest time.

Taack planted his grain sorghums on June 18 and sidedressed it with 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre when it was one month old.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hays, Janice and Bill, spent Sunday afternoon and night visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sid Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Fox at Bovina.

1960 Conservation Reserve Program Is Announced

College Station, Texas farmers will receive a basic rate of $12 an acre under announced plans for the Conservation Reserve of the Soil Bank for the 1960 crop season by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A tentative goal of 452,000 additional acres was also announced for the State.

Principal changes listed for the 1960 Conservation Reserve in the USDA announcement include regulations relating to publicly owned land, tenure of ownership, method of setting payment rates and the determination of priorities when more applications are received than can be accepted.

Land owned by a state, county, town or local government will be eligible for the program. This rule is already in effect on federally owned land. Land which has changed ownership (except through inheritance) since December 31, 1956 is ineligible to enter the program in 1960.

If land under a 1960 Conservation Reserve contract is sold, the contract generally may be assumed by the purchaser only after it has been in effect for three years.

The priority system of accepting applications has been modified to assure first consideration to farmers who were unable to participate in the 1959 program because of lack of funds.

Detailed information as to the application of these and other changes to individual farm situations will not be available in county ASC offices until mid-August, stated the USDA announcement.

This will be the fifth year of the Conservation Reserve program. If farmers contract for the expanded 5 million additional acres in 1960, the total acreage in the program next year will be approximately 28 million.

FASHION PARADE!

... For Cotton Has Style!

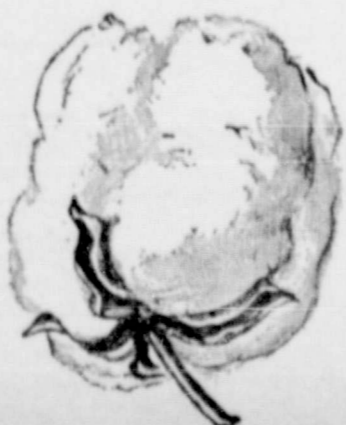

Cotton is a natural pacesetter — out front in the fashion parade. Designers love cotton. Its complete flexibility and versatility make cotton the medium they turn to for expressing their best ideas. Style is a look and no fiber can assume so many different looks. In both decorator and apparel fabrics, cotton stands for casual good taste and a way of life that is today. There is no denying it — nothing looks like cotton, does like cotton, is like cotton. It's in a class by itself.

Cotton is the miracle fiber only Nature could have created.

The place to start promoting cotton is at home. When you buy cotton you not only purchase high quality material but you also patronize yourself.

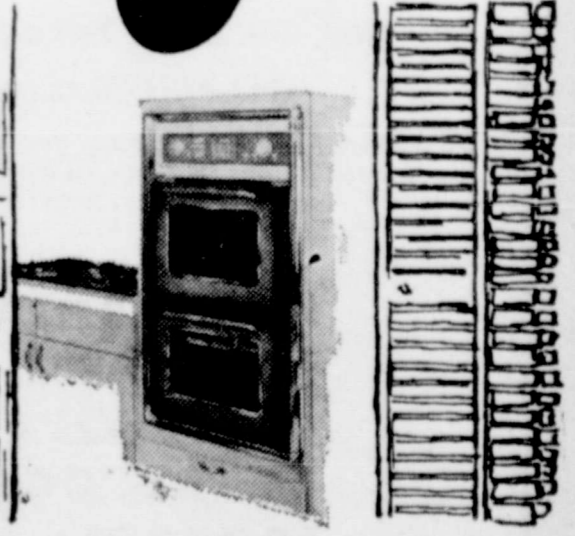

BUY COTTON EVERY TIME!

people who are at home with QUALITY choose GAS appliances

fuel for a growing empire Pioneer Natural Gas Company

Enter the home where choices are made strictly on the basis of quality, and the chances are excellent that you'll find a built-in Gas range in the kitchen. That's because people who are concerned enough to evaluate, discover that a Gas range offers superiority in two ways. The range itself combines precision accuracy with complete automation. And GAS, as a live-flame fuel, does important things that no other fuel can do. It consumes cooking vapors so that you can enjoy closed-door smokeless broiling. With Gas there's no warm-up wait when it's turned on... no lingering heat when it's turned off. And only an instantly responsive Gas flame permits perfect control of the subtle variations in temperature that mean so much to the taste and texture of foods. Gas is the choice of people who insist upon quality at any price... and it's incidental that Gas costs from five to eight times less than any other fuel! Where the finest is truly appreciated... GAS belongs.

Floydada Masons Build New Lodge

Ground breaking ceremonies last week signified the beginning of a third and new home for the Floydada Masonic Lodge 712.

The new home located at Fifth and Mississippi Streets will be 80x100 feet with a lodge room, kitchen and dining hall, all air conditioned. It is due to be finished within six to twelve weeks, according to reports.

Dedication services were held on the site with the youngest member, Rev. Ed Bowles, and the oldest member, R. C. Scott, shoveling the first ground. The site is the past residence of an early Mason, George R. Griggs.

The lodge was first organized there in 1891, a year after the organization of the county. The first lodge was located in the middle of the block on the west side of the square. It burned and later was rebuilt.

In 1911 another fire destroyed the frame building and was again rebuilt being presently used as a lodge.

OFFICE SUPPLIES at The BEACON OFFICE.

Dear Editor:
I see where some folks are getting afraid Congress will chicken out and let the big labor bosses say what to put in the labor bill that is supposed to reform them.

Which may be all right on account of who would know better than a labor racketeer himself what kind of reforming he needs?

My tax cheaters union neighbor says this looks like a good deal, and his organization aims to finance some congressional campaigns next election, so they can write their own loopholes in the law.

FOR BEAUTIFUL
PUMPKIN PIES

Adjusting oven temperature during the baking period will improve on the quality of a pumpkin pie. To thoroughly bake the crust, the oven should be preheated to 450 degrees and the pie should bake 15 minutes at that temperature. Then the heat should be lowered to 325 degrees and baked 40 minutes longer. Lowering the temperature keeps the filling from separating and soaking into the crust. Lowering the temperature keeps the filling from separating and soaking into the crust. For a shiny top, be sure to stir the filling thoroughly so the sugar is completely dissolved. You may substitute maple syrup or light molasses for half the sugar in the recipe.
