

First I must apologize for any news stories that fail to appear in this issue of the News. Our news reporter, Nelda Thomas, became ill Tuesday night and the chore of rounding up the news stories had to be assumed today by other members of the staff. If you have ever had to write stories from someone else's notes you have an idea of the predicament I have been in today. We have done the best we can on short notice and trust that Nelda will be back next week.

Ralph Smith, the world's finest band director, was a guest of the Lions Club Tuesday and made a proposal to the Club that the community should know about. Ralph came up with the idea that memberships in a Sustaining Club for the local American Field Service should be solicited on a community-wide basis. Membership in the Club would carry a dollar-a-month, or $12.00 per year fee. Foreign exchange students are brought to Dimmitt under the sponsorship of the American Field Service with the financial responsibility resting with the citizens of the community. Ralph doesn't only toot a mean horn, he makes sense in his proposals and backs it up with sound reasoning. In pointing out the need for a sound financial program in the Exchange Student project he stressed the incalculable good that resulted from a diplomatic standpoint. His opinion, and it has my endorsement, is that we can't buy the diplomatic service that results from the time spent by a foreign student in the United States. This is person to person diplomacy that will pay off in years to come due to the first hand experience these young people have had in our way of life during their formative years. You will be approached by a worker soliciting your membership in the Exchange Student Sustaining Membership Club, and that will be your opportunity to buy the biggest twelve dollars worth of satisfaction you ever had.

Jaycee Banquet

Jimmy Presley Awarded Outstanding Young Man

In what started out as an annual Jaycee - Jaycee-ETTE installation and awards banquet Saturday night almost turned into a testimonial banquet for the Jimmy Presleys.

One of the local club's hardest working Jaycees, Presley was awarded plaques as "Outstanding Officer of the Club" and "Outstanding Young Man of Dimmitt." He was installed as the 1965-66 president of the Jaycees.

Standing behind her husband and aiding him in his Jaycee work is his wife, Laura Jean, who came in for her share of the honors Saturday night. Mrs. Presley was awarded a plaque as "Outstanding Jaycee-ETTE." She was installed as president for 1965-66. The man and wife team will be working together as leaders in the two clubs.

Based on his record it appears that one of the main reasons Presley received the "Young Man" award was his belief in that tenet of the Jaycee Creed "that service to humanity is the best work of life."

According to reports from his colleagues in the Club, Presley is always willing to work, pull his share and more of the load and aid in any project.

In the crowd of some 100 people who attended the event were the parents of both Jimmy and Laura Jean Presley.

The two Clubs presented several other awards to deserving Jaycees, Jaycee-ETTES and local citizens.

The Rayphard Smithsons another active family in the Jaycee - Jaycee-ETTE organizations were honored with two awards. He was presented a plaque from the Jaycees in recognition of his honor as "Outstanding Young Farmer of Texas." His wife, Mary Lou, was honored as "Outstanding Jaycee-ETTE" of the local Club. The Jaycee-ETTES honored two members as being outstanding this year in the organization.

Robert Benton was given the "Spoke Award." This honor is earned by members through points gained by being active in the Club and promoting ideas through enthusiasm. Jim Cleavinger was honored with the presentation of the "Rooster Award." This award is given to a member who has passed the age limit for Jaycees but has been instrumental in aiding the Club.

Certificate of appreciation was presented to George Bradford, Dimmitt Mayor. The certificate was accepted by E. B. Noble, city manager in the absence of the mayor who was unable to attend. Certificates of appreciation were presented to The News and Station KDHN for support of the local Clubs. According to outgoing president Suzie Wright, the Jaycee-ETTES completed over 30 projects during the year.

Incoming Jaycee Officers are: Jimmy Presley, president; Robert Benton, first vice-president; Glenn White, second vice-president; Bill Henderson, secretary - treasurer; Larry Allen, Inter-Club Director; and Gary Huffines and Bennie Nelson, directors.

Mrs. Dorothy Mayfield, recipient of "Outstanding Jaycee-ETTE" award in 1962 installed the officers for Jaycee-ETTES.

Incoming officers are: Laura Jean Presley, president; Patricia White, vice-president; Nick Culpepper, secretary; Linda Allen, treasurer; and Suzie Wright, State Director.

Leon Hill, minister, humorist, philosopher, author and traveler spoke for 45 entertaining minutes. The Amarillo man was born in North Carolina and graduated from Atlantic Christian College and Baptist Seminary, Einghamton, New York.

Dr. Hill spoke to the crowd on "don't miss the boat to greatness." He said, "If Junior Chamber of Commerce is not on your heart, you can't do it."

He told the Jaycees, "I can go along with your creed, it is one of the finest in the world."

Jaycee Creed follows: We believe: That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life; That the brotherhood of man transcends the sovereignty of nations; That economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise;

That government should be of laws rather than of men; That earth's great treasure lies in human personality; And that service to humanity is the best work of life.

The speaker said, "The man who forgets himself is the man who does something everybody else remembers." He continued, "If you're not satisfied with your lot in life, build a service station on it."

Dr. Hill complimented the Jaycee-ETTES. He said, "I take off my hat to the women, God bless you. You Jaycee-ETTES keep pushing your husbands."

He commented, "Too many of us wish for what we should work for. You can have anything you want, provided you are willing to sacrifice for it."

Hill declared, "If somebody doesn't stop our backward march, we're going to be in a mess."

"Somebody has got to do something now, and that somebody is you," he told the crowd.

"Jaycees start a trek back to sense again. Put your voice together and march on those men in Washington. Start a new revolution."

"Don't wait till your ship comes in, go out and meet it," he concluded.

One of the main undertakings of the Jaycee-ETTES was the promotion of grain sorghum. Larry Allen, outgoing president, announced the Jaycees completed 32 projects this year. These projects included: air show and barbecue, Miss Dimmitt Pageant, Castro County Scholarship fund, maintenance of Little League ballpark, Labor Day Reststop, gathering of grain sorghum for Boys Ranch, Speak-Up Jaycee Club, and conducted community survey.

In installation ceremonies, Bud Miller of Tulla, State Director for Region 1-C charged the Jaycees and officers to help on every project the Club puts on, help Club develop projects which serve man in a better way, find in yourself assets and abilities and develop them to the utmost and don't let the purpose of the Jaycees be lost in the fumbling of organization.

Annual Athletic Banquet Attracts Large Crowd

The Dimmitt High School Athletic banquet was held in the South Grade School Cafeteria Saturday evening with some 250 in attendance. The colorful and entertaining program, as well as the sumptuous meal, made this one of the most successful affairs to be held in the local school.

Highlights of the program for the Athletic banquet was an outstanding speech by Joe Vermonites, basketball coach at West Texas State University, awarding of best player plaques, crowning of football and basketball queens. Frank Pollard, pastor of the Dimmitt First Baptist Church, served as master of ceremonies.

Most Valuable football player award went to Steve Hutton while the Most Valuable basketball player award went to Bob Bradford and Linda McColum. Shari Willis was crowned football queen and Jane Cleavinger was made basketball queen.

Vermonites, the speaker, pointed out that the first aim of a school athletic program is to develop character, with the second aim being the winning of ball games. He also pointed out that West Texas State, as far as possible, is building it's teams from West Texas boys while abstaining from importing boys from more remote areas.

Greetings in the form of plaques were given to each of the coaches by their respective teams.

American Legion Battles To Stop Close Of Hospitals

Some "heavy artillery" support in The American Legion's battle to prevent the closing of 31 Veterans Administration facilities has been fired by a member of the House Committee on Veterans Affairs in response to testimony presented by National Commander Donald E. Johnson during the fifth annual Washington Conference.

Department Commander Lewis W. Emerich of Houston headed a strong Texas delegation of Legionnaires who attended the Conference. These placed special emphasis on the proposed closing of the McKinney Veterans Administration Hospital and the San Antonio and Lubbock Veterans Administration Regional Offices.

Rep. Paul A. Fino (R-N.Y. threatened on March 2 to subpoena the directors of all VA hospitals scheduled to be closed in the near future. His remarks, made following National Commander Johnson's appearance before the committee, were highly applauded by the capacity audience of American Legionnaires.

Representative Fino told the highly interested audience that the hospital heads should be summoned to tell what they knew in advance of the VA order of Jan. 13.

"Certainly none of us knew anything about it in advance," he declared at the half-day hearing. It all helped make March 2 "American Legion Day" in the controversy. Other members of the House Veterans Affairs Committee also assailed the VA action, or praised The American Legion, or both.

National Commander Reiterates Past Arguments

National Commander Johnson reiterated past arguments to keep the VA from closing the 11 hospitals, 16 regional offices, and 4 domiciliaries.

"The suddenness of the decision, the scope and impact of the order, and the incredibly short phase-out period stunned us. Not since the Economy Act of 1933 has such a substantial portion of the veterans program been so abruptly and arbitrarily eliminated," the Legion chief told the committee.

Beginning with the regional offices, the National Commander discussed the three categories of installations being closed. He noted that for many years the Veterans Administration had been the strong advocate of the concept that regional offices should be widely decentralized.

"It is disconcerting to realize that although workloads have increased many fold since 1930, the VA now contends that it can operate satisfactorily with fewer regional offices (50 than it had then (54). It is puzzling to find that the VA has reversed itself and now contends that it is not necessary for each state to have at least one regional office (eight states will have none).

"The VA attempts to justify the elimination of regional offices by saying that the agency is as close to the veteran as the mail box. This position conflicts with the longstanding VA attitude on regional offices and conflicts with the judgment and experience of The American Legion on how best to render service," Johnson said.

DOMICILIARY CLOSINGS
"In the four domiciliaries to be closed there are now over 3,000 men who desperately need the home that the VA has been providing them. The VA plans to relocate 2,200 of them. It is not clear what will happen to the balance. But, even as to the 2,200 it will be impossible for the VA to accommodate them.

"As an example, there are 940 members at the White City, Ore. domiciliary. The VA has plans to relocate only 700. They say they will send 100 to Bonham, Texas, (2,057 miles away). But, as of Dec. 31, Bonham had a waiting list of 140.

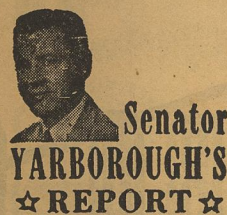

"They plan to relocate 460 at Los Angeles (754 miles away; however, Los Angeles has only 147 operating beds available. How can you put 400 people into 147 beds is not understood.

"The VA explains that the need for domiciliaries will decrease because of Social Security and other general welfare programs; yet, the VA's own study showed less than 25 per cent of domiciliary members have Social Security coverage," National Commander testified.

HOSPITAL CLOSINGS

National Commander Johnson noted that when the VA administrator announced the 11 hospital closings, he said that he had followed four "guidelines in arriving at his decision. They were: (1) obsolescence of physical plant, unduly costly to modernize; (2) limited demand for hospitalization due to remote location; (3) difficulty in attracting the number and quality of staff required to assure a high quality of medical care; and (4) capability of surrounding VA hospitals to expand the boundaries of the geographic area served.

"I have visited several hospitals and domiciliaries since the Jan. 13 order, including a fine institution at Clinton in my home state of Iowa. In addition, my staff has made on-the-spot surveys at nine of the 15 facilities to be closed. We have found that the institutions we have visited do not fall within the 'guidelines' announced, the National Command-

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan:

A volunteer entering a Job Corps Camp to escape poverty can earn more money than a recruit who joins the Army to defend his country. The Job Corps volunteer can make $105 per month; the recruit or draftee starts at $78.

With these facts in mind, I have recently co-sponsored a bill introduced by Senator Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, which would provide a military pay increase to end present inequities and help pull the lower military ranks out of poverty.

By raising the pay of entering servicemen, we will correct a longstanding error noted.

CLOSING DECISION SERIOUS

"The decision by the VA to close 31 installations is serious and disturbing. Even more serious are the long-range implications of the action. The reversal of policy on regional offices portends the elimination of additional offices and tends to confirm the press report that the VA is willing to decrease the number to 15.

"The reasons for the elimination of four domiciliaries can be used to eliminate more, and humanitarian considerations will, apparently, have no influence. The closing of the 11 hospitals suggests a trend toward over-centralization and the withdrawal of excellent medical care from small communities."

ing injustice which has permitted only token pay increases for servicemen, in their first two years of military duty, while providing substantial and continuing raises for all other ranks since World War II.

The entering serviceman has not had a pay raise for thirteen years, since 1952; at that time, he had a paltry $3 raise, increasing his pay from $75 to $78 per month. His last raise before that was in 1946.

Since the middle of the war, all ranks beyond men in their first two years have received raises amounting to 133 percent of their wartime pay; civilian pay has gone up 203 percent, yet the entering serviceman has received a 4 percent raise.

Former Ambassador Kenneth Galbraith has described the draft as "a device by which we use compulsion to get young men to serve at less than the market rate of pay." At the present time, the Defense Department is considerably concerned because of their lack of ability to attract sufficient qualified servicemen.

Yet, at the same time, the Defense Department opposes every conceivable program which might serve to benefit our young soldiers - the Cold War GI Bill has met with fierce opposition from them, although it could serve as a powerful inducement to attract young men who need an education.

So long as we need a qualified, technical, alert defense system to protect freedom around the world, it is essential that we begin to show some basic appreciation for the efforts of our young soldiers.

We must provide them with equivalent pay instead of penalizing them for maintaining freedom, just as we must show our interest in their future as civilians by giving them educational opportunities through the Cold War GI Bill.

Texans Think Big - About Weather And Baseball...

Like most Americans, Texans talk about the weather — and baseball. But the folks in Houston have finally done something about the weather. In fact, they've made every day an ideal day for baseball.

That "something" is the Harris County Domes Stadium, home of the Houston Astros and the first indoor baseball field in history. Covered with a network of close to 5,000 skylights of Du Pont's "Lucite" acrylic monomer, the unique stadium guarantees sports fans perfect pre-packaged weather 365 days a year. Come heat, humidity, rain or even a freak snow flurry, spectators will be able to attend baseball, football, circuses, rodeos, trade shows, political conventions, religious services — all in constant-temperature comfort. For the stadium is fully air-conditioned, with 6,800 rated tons of equipment in constant operation. What's more — the playing field will have natural grass growing on it, made possible because the skylights permit sufficient sunlight to filter down to the playing field to nourish the grass.

An idea literally pulled out of the sky brought about this indoor-outdoor weatherproof roof. Architects took the same concept that Du Pont scientists had developed for the B-17 airplane gunner's dome of "Lucite", brought it down several thousand feet and simply thought big — half a mile big to be exact.

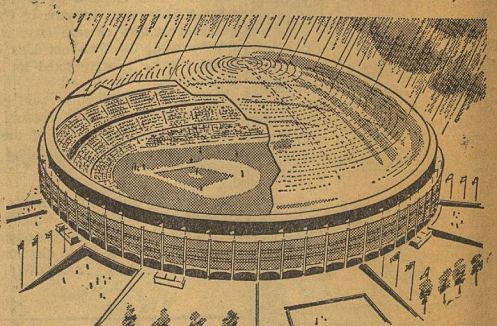

Seen through a fish-eye lens, the Astrodome interior is a study in curves. Grass on the playing field is nurtured by sunlight transmitted through skylight panels of "Lucite".

All this is, of course, a far cry from the sports stadium of old — whose builders tried all sorts of methods of beating the heat and other discomforts. The ancient Greeks, for example, tackled the weather problem by choosing as the site of their games, Olympia, for its thick grove of trees. But, when Zeus let fly with a lightning bolt, everyone, spectators included, donned winged sandals for a cross-country run. Time and progress brought the newspaper held over the head, the plastic raincoat, the portable plastic pup tent, and finally the half-enclosed stadium, where the sports fan observes the proceedings in chilled semiprotection.

But these will be mere relics of the past when the Astros take to the field in Houston this spring and summer — or when the Houston Cougars and Houston Oilers kick off the football season in the fall. Even should mighty Bob Aspromonte strike out, there'll be no gloom in Houston's "Astrodome."

It'll be a rainy day in Texas and a great day for a baseball game at Houston's Harris County Domes Stadium, the world's first indoor-outdoor weatherproof sports arena. Only the sun will be able to penetrate the skylight roof of Du Pont's "Lucite". Inside the stadium 2½-million cubic feet of air will be cooled and circulated each minute.

One of the most famous silhouettes of World War II, the B-17 turret, became the identifying mark of the greatest bomber produced during the war. Protected by three layers of "Lucite", the gunner still had complete visibility. Over 12,000 Flying Fortresses, the workhorses of the bomb squadrons, were produced during the war.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

Sam Rayburn once said, "Legislation should never be written to punish someone. It should always be written in a spirit of fair play, justice, and equal opportunity — This middle road — the road of reason and fair play — is a hard one to walk, but more often than not it is the path of common sense and justice."

It was in this spirit that Sam Rayburn served his Nation for 48 years as a member of the House of Representatives. For more than 20 years he presided over the House as its speaker. The facts of this great Texan's life are well known; how he rose from modest family circumstances to the very pinnacle of this country's governmental power. The House of Representatives has produced no more illustrious figure for history to remember than the late beloved "Mr. Sam."

For six years, during that depression-plagued period from 1931-1936, Sam Rayburn was chairman of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, the committee often referred to in the press as the "House Commerce Committee." Sam Rayburn and those who served on the committee with him forged such momentous legislative measures as the Securities Act of 1933, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, the Communications Act of 1934, the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and the Motor Carrier Act of 1935. Under Sam Rayburn's leadership, the committee's work produced legislation that did much to alleviate economic distress in those troubled years. In recognition of this, I and other members of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce journeyed to Bonham, the late Speaker's home town, to present to the Sam Rayburn Memorial Library framed copies of the major public laws which had emerged from the committee while he was its chairman.

Because of Sam Rayburn's great service on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee it was only fitting that the committee he'd led should be assigned to the most prominently located committee hearing room in the new building bearing his name. The beautifully appointed room is directly opposite the South Capital Street entrance to the Rayburn Office Building. On March 23, for the first time, the committee was convened in the new chamber.

Serving in the tradition of Sam Rayburn and the other great committee chairmen of the past is the Honorable Oren Harris of Arkansas, a member of the committee for 21 years and its chairman since 1957. Congressman Harris led those of us who serve with him on the committee in a brief ceremony dedicating the "new hearing room when the committee came to order that Tuesday morning. The ceremony was a simple one, but it served to remind us all most forcefully of the history and significance of the committee and its accomplishments — and as an inspiration that our work in the future should be done no less well. The Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce was the third committee created by the House of Representatives having been established in the 4th Congress on December 1, 1795, as the Committee on Commerce and Manufactures. The committee thus is beginning its 171st year of concern and action on basic matters: public health, power transmission, communications, and finance — which affect the personal lives of every American. On the day the new hearing room was dedicated, the committee conducted a hearing on transportation with commissioners of the Interstate Commerce Commission as witnesses. This was an appropriate subject for the first day's work in the new chamber because in the view of many the 1887 enactment of the Interstate Commerce Act which es-established the ICC — a law drafted by the committee — was among the most important actions ever taken by Congress.

Every citizen is affected by the decisions made by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Its jurisdiction encompasses interstate and foreign commerce generally; civil aeronautics; inland waterways; interstate oil compacts and petroleum and natural gas, except on the public lands; public health and quarantine; railroad labor and railroad retirement and unemployment; interstate and foreign communications; interstate and foreign transportation; securities and exchanges; and Weather Bureau activities. These are matters that affect the daily lives of every citizen of the United States.

"HARBOR LIGHTS" may be an old, popular tune. But "harbor taste" is a new, very unpopular problem! It is a peculiar taste found in fish caught in polluted waters.

Latest example turned up recently around New York City. Party boatmen described their catch as tasting "something like antiseptic iodiform." Others said their fish—judging from the smell—reminded them of embalming fluid.

Soon scientists traced the cause. They found it came from a small fraction of petroleum distillate in the water. Nearby industries were emitting the chemical and local fish tolerated it. Then "Harbor taste" resulted. To clean up the mess, 24 industries and six municipal plants had to build secondary-treatment plants.

"Harbor taste" is an increasingly unpleasant problem today. But it is the least of the worries of U.S. health officials, say water experts at the National Water Institute. For they know that shellfish harvested in polluted waters can transmit infections, hepatitis. Also, water itself—contaminated by human waste—can spread typhoid, cholera and a host of enteric diseases.

Water pollution then is a real villain! says the NWI. It is the price we pay for living in this modern age. America's population has soared to more than 190-million people and they are crowding into urban areas in ever-increasing numbers. So we are fast outgrowing our traditional sources of supply. And we must reuse more and more of the water already available to us.

According to latest estimates, about 40 percent of our country's population today uses water that has been used at least once before for domestic or industrial purposes, says the NWI. In some cases, tap water has been used previously as many as five times by other human beings.

The Big Problem then is to keep the quality of our water high. Only adequate water-and-waste treatment facilities can provide the answer. So we must plan and build them now. For the reuse of water today is nothing compared to what it will be in the future. Our exploding population will continue to crowd into urban areas.

So what about our community? Is our water clean? It's time to find out! It's up to everyone of us to look into the facts on the water-and-waste treatment facilities in our community; then spread the word, among our friends; but, most important, support the bond issues to finance the necessary improvements to insure good, clean water for all from our taps.

SEAFOODS TASTE GOOD AND ARE GOOD FOR YOU

FISH FILLETS, cooked with tomatoes and kidney beans, are flavored with chili powder for a Lenten main dish.

Seafoods are certainly deserving of their slogan, for Lent—"Taste good . . . good for you." There's no need to extol their virtues of rich flavor, fine texture and all-round appetite appeal. But many people are not aware that seafoods are among the most nourishing foods known to man. They are rich sources of the most valuable kind of protein that is complete in the essential amino acids, in addition to health-protecting vitamins and minerals. As if this weren't enough, fish and shellfish have an added attribute that has only recently come to be appreciated, they are low in fats with those fats present being largely of the desirable polyunsaturated type. This hot and hearty Lenten Fish Chili is proof that foods from the sea taste good, and you can take the assurance of leading nutritionists that they're good for you, too.

LENTEN FISH CHILI

- 1 pound fish fillets, fresh or frozen (haddock, cod, flounder, ocean perch or other white-meated fish)
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 medium onions, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 2 tablespoons chili seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper or dash of cayenne
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 (1-lb., 12-oz.) can tomatoes
- 1 (1-lb., 4-oz.) can red kidney beans

If fish is frozen, let partially thaw on refrigerator shelf or at room temperature. Melt butter or margarine in a large saucepan. Add onions and garlic and cook until tender. Add chili seasoning, pepper and salt; stir to blend. Add tomatoes and kidney beans; cook about 30 minutes, stirring frequently and chopping tomatoes as you stir. Cut fillets into chunks; add to chili and cook about 10 minutes for thawed fish, 12 to 14 minutes if still somewhat frozen. Serve in soup bowls. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Q. Should I refinance my home mortgage to buy a car, appliances, or make home improvements? The interest rate seems very low compared to credit costs for other types of financing.

A. While the interest rate is no doubt much lower, the catch to this plan is in the time you'll be paying the interest. If the refinanced mortgage will run for 15, 20, or maybe 25 years, the total interest you'll pay on the new funds you obtain will be very high. Instead of paying perhaps $250 to $400 interest on the purchase of a new car over the usual 3-year maximum term, you could wind up paying as much for interest as the purchase price of the car.

4-H CLUBS SHOW YOUTH WAYS TO BECOME LEADERS

In 4-H there is a leadership program that last year attracted a record enrollment: 206,000 boys and girls.

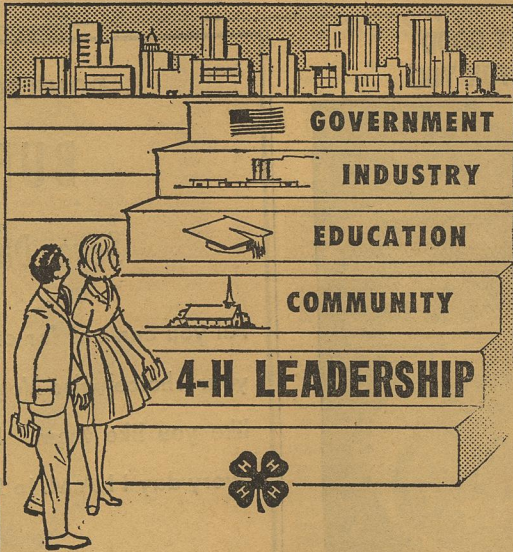

These young people are the citizens of tomorrow, and hundreds have already assumed leadership roles in school, church and community, observes Miss Emmie Nelson, a field representative of the National 4-H Service Committee. The next steps will lead to leadership in their chosen careers, she predicts.

At the present time nearly 140,000 junior leaders are working with volunteer adult leaders in 4-H Clubs throughout the nation.

"Leadership consists of numerous components, and is a term not easily defined," explains Miss Nelson, a former assistant state 4-H Club leader, and who in recent years has conducted leadership workshops in many states.

"Becoming a leader is largely up to you," she observes. "You must be ready to assume responsibilities and be a self-starter. Success in small undertakings will prepare you for larger responsibilities."

Among the ingredients for leadership, she notes, are enthusiasm, friendliness, tact, patience and a sense of humor. "Be adaptable," she says. "Be ready for a fishing trip or a formal dance; be able to preside at a meeting or help a younger 4-H'er correct his mistakes."

At the end of this 4-H Club year, county, state and national award winners will be named by the Extension Service. The awards will again be provided by The Sears-Roebuck Foundation, sponsor of this particular program for the last five years. Altogether, Sears has supported some phase of 4-H work for more than four decades.

Twelve junior leaders will claim $500 scholarships, 50 will receive all-expense paid trips to the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago, and an estimated 10,000 will earn leadership medals.

Historic Mound Near Alto

The home site of a tribe of Caddo Indians who lived about 1000 A.D. near Alto, in Cherokee County, today supports a forest of small trees. This is the site of Texas Forest Service Indian Mound Nursery, located six miles southwest of Alto, along State Highway 21 where it crosses the Neches River.

Only a granite monument atop a 30 feet high, "L" shaped mound testifies to the Indians' having been there. A portion of the mound and surrounding area was excavated in 1940 by the Department of Anthropology of the University of Texas. Although no important artifacts were found, items of pottery, flints and sites of several houses were located. Archaeologists believe the mound was used as a place to worship their sun god. Occasionally, pieces of pottery and flints are unearthed as the area near the mound is cultivated by nursery personnel.

Presence of several constantly flowing springs nearby probably accounts for the Indians' use of the area. Availability of surface water for irrigation was a major factor in selecting the area as a state tree nursery.

To the citizens of nearby Alto goes a large amount of credit for their part in purchase of the 173 acres in 1940.

The nursery produces tree seedlings for reforestation in Texas. Initial production in 1940 was about 10 million seedlings. Maximum capacity is about 21 million seedlings which are sold to Texas landowners at cost.

Trees are to be used for reforestation and windbreak planting; none are sold for ornamentals or for landscaping.

Supplying tree seedlings for reforestation and windbreak planting is but one of the many ways your Texas Forest Service, now celebrating its 50th Anniversary, performs its obligation to Texans.

Farmers, especially those living near large cities, would get a big tax break under a constitutional amendment now pending in a House committee.

Bill by Rep. W. T. (Bill) Dungan of McKinney, calls for farm land being used for agricultural purposes to be taxed on its productive capacity, instead of its market value.

Witnesses testifying before the House Constitutional Amendments Committee said that in some cases taxes exceed the dollar-yield of the land being used for farming or ranching. In those cases, pressure to sell the land for residential or commercial development virtually is impossible to resist.

Testifying in favor of the resolution, Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton said Texas soon may get to the point when only people with city jobs will be able to afford land in the countryside.

Other supporters were representatives of the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farmers Union, the South Texas Milk Producers Association and farm bureaus of Nueces and Hays counties.

Dungan said the proposal provides for land to be assessed at lower rates as long as it is in agricultural use.

At the time the land is taken out of agricultural production, it would have a lien for the difference between the agricultural tax evaluation and the market value the seven preceding years. Tax would be payable either by the farmer or the buyer.

STUDENT LOANS — Texas students from junior college to graduate school level would be able to get state-financed loans to pay for their educations under a proposed constitutional amendment due to go to voters in November.

Senate approved the measure by Rep. George Hinson of Mineola to set up a $75,000, bond-supported loan fund.

State, denominational, private college and university students would be eligible to borrow sums needed for tuition and reasonable living expenses. Loans would be repayable in 10 years at four to four and a half per cent interest.

Gov. John Connally recommended the program in his message to the Legislature last January.

If voters approve the plan, Hinson estimates $28,000,000 to $32,000,000 will be borrowed by Texas students within the next two years.

LONGER TRUCKS PERMITTED — Larger trucks, twin trailer trucks and three unit combinations soon may be traveling Texas highways.

A bill passed and sent to the governor will extend maximum length of single trucks from 35 to 40 feet and tractor-trailer maximums from 50 to 55 feet.

Three-unit combinations up to 65 feet long, now not allowed, will be permitted on Texas highways.

DRINKING HOUR CHANGES — Bars would stay open later and liquor stores close earlier under a House Liquor Regulations Committee recommendation.

Committee okayed a bill by Rep. Dick McKissack of Dallas to extend beer-drinking hours to 2 a.m. seven days a week and make beer available at noon instead of 1 p.m. on Sundays.

Also approved was a bill by L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi to close package stores at 8 p.m. instead of 10 p.m. Exception would be hotel room service which would be permitted until 10 p.m.

Hale said his bill would help curb liquor store burglaries by closing during hours when most holdups occur. Committee also heard testimony on a bill regulating liquor sales to minors.

It places the burden of responsibility on the purchaser rather than on the seller. Bill calls for Texas Liquor Control Board identification cards for persons age 21 and over.

Retailer could require that cards be shown before making a sale. Misuse of identification cards or misrepresentation in acquiring them would subject purchaser to fine and jail term.

ELECTION INVALIDATED — A justice of the peace and a constable elected by write-in votes in Mitchell County last November cannot hold their offices because at the time of the election the precincts for which they were elected did not exist, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr ruled.

An order of the commissioners court changing precinct boundaries had been entered, but it was made effective January 1.

However, Carr added that it is perfectly lawful for persons to be elected to an office which is not printed on a ballot by writing in the name of the office and the name of the persons they wish to vote for. Election in this manner is valid even if only a small number of persons participate.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Four University of Texas regents have been named by Governor Connally. Three of them were confirmed by the Senate a few days later.

Connally reappointed W. W. Heath of Austin. Also named were Jack S. Josey of Houston, W. H. Bauer of Port Lavaca and former Congressman Frank N. Ikard of Wichita Falls. Josey, Bauer and Heath were speedily confirmed. Ikard, who is working in New York, has not yet been interviewed by the Senate nominations committee.

Connally also announced nine appointments to the Texas State Historical Survey Committee. Re-appointees are Patrick E. Taggart of Waco, Charles R. Woodburn of Amarillo, Edward H. Harte of Corpus Christi, and Lewis R. Timberlake of Austin. Others named are R. Don Thorne of El Paso, Thomas C. Unis of Dallas, Harold L. Kennedy of Palestine, A. M. Pate Jr. of Fort Worth and Robert L. Lowry of Houston.

RURAL PHONE SERVICE HIT — Rural citizens are open to discrimination by some telephone companies, House State Affairs Committee was told.

Witness from East, Central and North Texas testified at a hearing in favor of a bill to give commissioners courts or a state commission power to regulate rural area telephone rates.

Bill by Reps. Dick Cherry of Waco and James D. Cole of Greenville was sent to sub-committee.

STATE PARK IMPROVEMENTS — Nearly 100 piney woods residents jointly presented Governor Connally the report of the Big Thicket Park Study Commission.

Included were recommendations that an additional 2,000 acres be acquired for the Alabama - Coushatta Indian Reservation; that a 200-acre camping area be set aside immediately south of the reservation; that a 10,000-acre Big Thicket State Forest be created south of the camp area; that 15,000 acres be acquired and designated as a Wildlife and Wilderness Area; and that 90 percent of the Big Thicket country be retained for private uses, but kept in character with the park project.

Texas Highway Department meanwhile announced plans to construct improvements on FM 1915 to make Caddo Lake more accessible to Northeast Texas residents. Project is part of the department program of working with local areas in developing recreational resources.

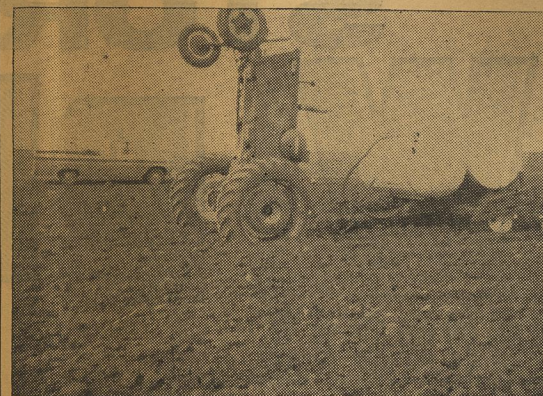

CAR PROPERTY TAX BOOSTED — Auto owners would have to show proof that they have paid their vehicle property taxes before they could get license plates under a bill approved by the House Revenue and Tax Committee.

Bill by Rep. John Traeger of Seguin, familiar to legislators from past sessions, now is on House calendar for debate.

GAMBLING CURB OFFERED — Proponents of legalized race horse betting have a rival in a proposed constitutional amendment sponsored by Rep. Rayford Price of Fraskston to prohibit all forms of organized gambling.

"The unfairness I ever saw to the little ponies," lamented Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio, perennial champion of horse racing.

MEDICAL AID ADVANCES — Bill to set up assistance payments for medical and hospital attention to persons over 65 who are not on the Old Age Assistance rolls is taking a speedy trip through the House.

THIS UPENDED TRACTOR giving the appearance of a missile on a launching pad was strictly accidental. Lester Schulte suddenly found himself peering into the wild blue yonder Saturday at about 5 p.m. when the tractor hitch, pulling a fertilizer applicator, busted, throwing all the weight on the hitch sustaining bars with the resultant downward pull that upended the tractor. Young Schulte, a freshman student at Texas Tech., Lubbock, was helping out with the farming chores on his father's, Clarence Schulte, farm 3 miles west of Nazareth when the accident occurred. The fact that the motor died when it reached the vertical position was believed to be the reason that the tractor did not complete the backward flip. Had the tractor completely flipped it would have been impossible for Schulte to escape serious injury.

Bill makes it possible for the state to take advantage more extensively of federal matching funds available under the Kerr-Mills program.

In the Senate, the bill probably will be held up pending action by Congress on new legislation for medical aid to the aged. Senate may write in provisions allowing Texas to participate in the newer programs before passing the bill. If this is done, then the final details would be worked out by a conference committee of members from both chambers.

FEBRUARY BUILDING DOWN — Total building in Texas during February was eight per cent less than February of 1964. However it was a five per cent increase over January.

Bureau of Business Research at University of Texas also reports that new residential construction of $2, 800,000 for the month was down 18 per cent from the same period last year. Non-residential building totaled $47,600,000.

A proposed constitutional amendment by Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo which would have kept the state and local governments from interfering with discrimination in property sales died a quiet death as a Senate committee holding a hearing on it was confronted with a large group of opposing clergymen.

A Senate committee approved a bill by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg authorizing 18 per cent bank rates for loans up to $12,000.

Senate approved four-year terms for governor and other statewide officials.

State government would go on smoothly if a third of the Texas Constitution were repealed, Rep. Carl Parker argued in support of bill to set up a Constitutional Revision Commission.

Proposal to change the name of East Texas College at Commerce to "East Texas State University" received final legislative clearance and was sent to the governor.

Secretary of State Crawford Martin approved articles of incorporation for Frio-La Salle - McMullen Counties Economic Opportunities Development Corporation to participate in the war on poverty program.

P-TA Workshop Held In DHS

The Forty-second Annual Conference of the Eighth District of the Texas Congress of Parent and Teachers met in the Dimmitt High School Auditorium on Tuesday, March 23, 1965.

At 8:00 a.m. the registration began followed by the First General Session presided over by Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth, District 8 Vice-President. The invocation was given by the Rev. Loren Dickey of the First Christian Church followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the United States flag and to the Texas flag. The Bobcat Band, under the direction of Ralph Smith and Jerry Meyer, presented "America the Beautiful" and several other concert selections. The greetings by Jack Miller, Paul Hillburn, and Mrs. Bob Meyers were followed by Deryl Cleavinger, President of the Hart PTA, with the introductions. Mrs. Bob Izzard of Amarillo began with the Report of the Conference Committees with her group of the Rules Committee; Mrs. Ernest Sheets with Credentials; and Mrs. M. Anderson with the Nominating Committee for officers for the coming year. The program, "The Role of the PTA in the Community", was presented by Mrs. John Toombs, the State Vice President.

The workshop began at 10:45 with a film and group discussion and planning. Recognition of further PTA work followed. Lunch was served in the Colonial Inn to life members and in the high school cafeteria for the delegates. During this time the polls were open for voting on officers for the next year.

At 2:00 p.m., the Second General Session was called to order by Mr. Joe Barnett as the polls closed. The Historian's report was given, and Mrs. Bob Meyers gave the Attendance Award. An invitation to 1966 Spring Conference was given and installation of the new officers highlighted the afternoon's activities. Announcements, PTA song, and the Benediction preceded the adjournment. Mrs. Frank Wise was the general chairman for the Dimmitt meeting.

Clerical-Office Jobs Discussed

Without clerical and secretarial workers few business enterprises could run smoothly. They are the people who maintain the written records, send out letters, file written materials, and receive mail. The estimate of the number of clerical workers tops five million. It is one of the fields of vocational endeavor where employment opportunities have been growing at a fast rate.

Filing, posting of accounts, sorting mail, answering the telephone, acting as receptionist, taking dictation, and typing letters are the commonest clerical duties. The larger the office, the more specialized the clerical work will be. If you aspire to an office job, it will be of great advantage to you to learn more than one skill.

In order to secure and retain an office job, it is not necessary that you have a college education. Average intelligence plus the mastery of an office skill or skills is usually sufficient to get you a job. Good health, of course, is basic to any job, clerical or otherwise. Much of the training needed to perform a clerical job creditably can be secured at a public or private school.

Working conditions and hours are good. Modern offices are well ventilated and provided with good light. Hours of work are usually no more than forty a week. Clerical workers are also afforded a larger number of holidays than those granted to factory or store employees. Vacations with pay are the rule. There are all kinds of office workers, among whom may be listed stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, addressograph operators, tabulating machine operators, statistical clerks, main clerks, mail clerks, switchboard operators, and insurance clerks. Their rates of pay vary with the job, the type of work, the years of experience demanded, and the skill of the worker.

The most important phase of secretarial work and stenography is shorthand and typewriting. The stenographer takes dictation from her employer in whatever form of simplified writing she is proficient (Gregg, Pitman, Speedwriting, or Stenotype), and then transcribes her notes on the typewriter. She may also answer the mail and the telephone. Naturally, a wide vocabulary and a good knowledge of spelling are requirements in such a position.

A commercial high school course will give you the necessary education for secretarial position. There are also many private business and secretarial schools which give intensive commercial training.

Another important office occupation is that of the bookkeeper. Ordinarily, the job of cashier is bracketed with that of bookkeeper. These workers are concerned with the financial aspects of the business operations. The bookkeeper makes records of financial transactions and maintains these records according to a prescribed system. In a small office the bookkeeper may perform all the operations involved in maintaining the financial records. In larger offices these functions are divided among many bookkeepers under the supervision of an accountant.

It is of the utmost importance that you display accuracy, dependability, and responsibility. You must write legibly and must have facility in arithmetical computation. You must like to do detail work or else you will find this work extremely unsuitable. Public or private commercial secondary schools provide the necessary education for a bookkeeper.

As a result of the increased mechanization of office clerical work, there has been developed the field of office machine operation. In addition to the typewriter there are the billing machine, the mimeograph, the multi-graph, and the comptometer. Specialized training is demanded which must be secured in a private com-

Another highlight of the evening was the crowning of the basketball and football queens. Miss Jane Cleavinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Cleavinger was crowned Basketball Queen and Miss Shari Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Willis, was crowned Football Queen. These two girls were crowned by football and basketball captains Dickie Dyer, Steve Hutton and Tommy Nichols.

Entrants Place In Literary Events

Several entrants from Dimmitt took honors Saturday, March 27, in the Interscholastic League Literary Events at Olton.

Johnny B. Linn, the third, placed second in slide rule competition as did Irene Thornton in the spelling and plain writing.

Sandra Coffman took third place in prose reading.

Jack Flynt brought glory to DHS when he won first place and a chance at regional competition in the poetry interpretation.

Congratulations to these and all the students and teachers who did such an excellent job of representing our school.

There are many opportunities for employment as a statistician, for banks, large corporations, and various government agencies need specially trained people to gather facts and figures and to interpret the results in the form of graphs, charts, and tables. The statistician must have thorough training in mathematics and statistical analysis.

American Heritage Highlighted By High School Clubs

The American Heritage Program, sponsored by the Wayland Baptist College, was held March 30, in the high school auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The purpose of the program, is to promote interest in our American heritage. Skits performed by the different organizations and music by the Dimmitt Bobcat Band portrayed some of the great events which have influenced our American culture.

Classes Meet

Tuesday, March 23, the juniors met in the band hall, with Dennis Lytle, president, presiding. The juniors discussed plans for a car wash that will be held this spring. Later, the juniors and the sophomores assembled in the gym to receive their pre-registration blanks for next year.

The freshmen met in the gym March 25, to receive their registration blanks for next year.

Student Senate Members Attend State Convention

Four Dimmitt High School Student Senate members left Thursday, March 25, to go to the State Convention in Midland. The members attending were - Dan Petty, President for 1965; Don Moore, Vice-President for 1965; Donna Summers, and Kay Bradley. Francoise Sturbelle went as a guest.

When the delegates arrived Thursday, a general session was held at which this year's State President spoke to the whole group. He spoke on the subject "I Should Know Myself," which was the theme of the convention.

At the convention, the members divided into groups and discussed different topics that were brought up by the group. In other general sessions, noted speakers spoke on different topics and next year's state officers were elected.

Dan Petty and Don Moore went so that they might gain experience that they will need next year. Kay Bradley and Donna Summers were elected to represent DHS by the Student Senate. Also attending the convention was Mr. Newman, sponsor of the Student Senate.

Around The Campus

Topsy Turvy is back with the DHS student this week. While visiting I found out a few of the happenings:

It seems as though DHS has lost a few more single students. Another quick trip to Juarez left two more of our students united in Holy Matrimony - but not to each other. Nancy Louder married an ex of DHS Dean Kirby and a Bobcat guard; Muriel Bussey with his belle from Hart, Judy Humphrey; decided to make it a foursome.

Maybe some of you wondered why all the Pages were rustling in the halls of DHS Tuesday, March 23. They were members of the F.T.A., showing the Area P.T.A.'ers around during the P.T.A. Workshop.

Ask Mr. Hughtlett when his chemistry classes will be through with their study of sulphur.

All the band members certainly looked stunning in black dresses and suits Tuesday, March 23, to give a concert for the P.T.A. meeting. Reports were that the band helped provide enjoyment for the whole group.

Margaret Catoe, nee Margaret Chapman, was honored with a lingerie shower March 23 in the home of Donna Carmichael. Some thirty girls attended. Margaret received many lovely gifts.

Good-by for this week, hope to see all of you again next week.

Hughtlett Surprised By Birthday Party

"Surprise" was again the theme as the seventh period chemistry class sprang a birthday party on their idol, Mr. Orval Hughtlett, on Friday, March 26, in the chemistry lab. The class presented Mr. Hughtlett with a luscious cake decorated with yellow and green. They also gave him an attractive blue sport shirt. Third period class gave Mr. Hughtlett a set of English Leather cologne.

Our congratulations go to Mr. Hughtlett.

Tree Improvement Research Is Year Round Work

If you see a man scaling a pine tree like a monkey, chances are he is a part of the Texas Forest Service tree improvement team. It isn't unusual for him to spend most of a working day in the top of a pine tree. He's even patient when yellow jackets are on the move since he is usually 80 feet above ground.

His job is part of an over-all Service effort to produce high quality forest trees for Texas landowners. Focal point of this activity is the forest genetics laboratory at Texas A & M University, headed up by Dr. J. P. van Buijtenen. The principle field laboratory is the Arthur Temple Sr. Research Area west of Alto in Cherokee County. However, all the "piney woods" serves as a laboratory to these "tree improvers."

The program is financed by both state and federal governments and by forest products industries.

Interest is centered in developing strains of pines to meet the demands of industry and forest landowners. Much progress has already been made in producing a drought resistant type. This will permit survival of planted pine seedlings on dry sites and during long periods of drought and in extending the range of pine. Also under investigation are quality trees of low and high specific gravity, and trees that are resistant to Southern pine beetles and tip moth.

Work in tree improvement is time consuming and entails much cross pollination. Since most pine tree flowers are near the top of the crown, a worker must climb each tree several times a year. First, he checks on flower growth. When flowers are about ripe, he bags them to keep out foreign pollen. Next, he applies pollen from another selected tree just as the flowers ripen. On his next trip, after the flowers are set, he removes the bags. Eighteen months later, he picks the special cones. With 50 or more flowers in each pine top to care for, this is a time consuming job.

A light sectional alloy ladder is used to climb the tall trees. A climber carries 10 foot sections of ladder with him as he climbs a tree. Near the top, however, he leaves his ladder and crawls with only limbs and a safety belt to aid him. A rope harness is used for the descent. Enroute down, he disassembles his ladder.

Some day fruits of the labor of these Texas Forest Service men will pay off for Texas woodland owners. Already benefits are on hand.

Postal Facilities Go On 24-Hour Duty

More service facilities for the postal customer are receiving new emphasis in the postal system, Postmaster Davis commented today after receiving word from Postmaster General John A. Gronouski in Washington, D.C., of a new improved "self-service post office."

The new experimental 24-hour self-service unit - the second - opened in mid-March just outside Los Angeles, to meet after-hours postage and mailing need of suburbanites.

The first unit was installed recently at a shopping center just outside Washington, D. C. It offers around-the-clock facilities for buying stamps, postal cards and envelopes at cost, mailing letters and weighing and mailing parcels.

In the new model, the vending machines dispensing cards, envelopes etc., have five times as much capacity, and a larger roof over the vending devices and parcel post drops for better protection of the public.

Noting that the self-service units are designed as a supplement to service, and not as a replacement for central postal facilities or personnel, Postmaster Davis added: "While there has been no determination yet of how far this program will be expanded, it has a great potential for helping to meet the tremendous increases in suburban service demands more efficiently, while providing even better service."

line drifted to the pilot light on the water heater and ignited. The flame followed the fumes back to the container of clothes and gasoline, causing the fires that destroyed the homes. So folks, please think of the danger of using gasoline or other flammable liquids in your homes. Think of the financial loss and above all think of the loss of the life of some or all of your loved ones. Give them and yourself a chance to fully enjoy life.

Well here it is spring again. Our minds turn to several things that have to be done around the home. Some of the many things will be raking leaves, raking grass, cleaning trash from around the shrubs and cleaning out the garage and storage rooms. Most likely some will burn off the dead grass and also the trash we have collected. When this all starts we will have several fires burning, at the same time in our city. These fires can cause an enormous amount of damage to your property, and also your neighbors if we aren't careful. So Let's All Think Safety. Have a water hose connected to a water hydrant, ready for use when burning leaves, trash or grass around your home. Always check the wind as blowing sparks and embers can start a fire we didn't mean to start. Don't start a fire close to wooden fences, buildings, late in the evening or a fire that will not burn out before we leave them. Always make sure they are extinguished before we leave them unattended. As children love to play in trash fires, be especially careful if there are some in the neighborhood. Let's all help the little fellows think safety and safety.

Since the last writing your fire dept. made no fire calls. Our reported fire loss in Dimmitt has been very low the first quarter of this year. Our thanks to you. Keep up the good work.

We hope to hear from some of you folks soon. We would like to know if we have any readers and your comments and suggestions on the column.

Class schedule: April 1, weather permitting, pressure test of hose. Guess we better go now, see you next week. Parting words: Think Safety, Live Safely, and Enjoy Living.

Efficiency of Water Use on Grain Sorghum

Water use efficiency definitely can be increased by proper fertilizer use. This is pointed out in a recent release prepared by the Texas A & M South Plains Research & Extension Center at Lubbock. Researchers from this station conducted an experiment on an Amarillo fine sandy loam on grain sorghum and calculated pounds of grain produced per acre inch of water under various fertility rates.

Grain sorghum receiving no fertilizer produced 150 lbs. grain for each acre inch of water. An application of 80 lbs. nitrogen produced 164 lbs. grain per acre inch which is an increase of 9 percent in water use efficiency over the check. At the 120 lb. nitrogen rate, 181 lbs. grain were produced per acre inch of water or a 20 percent increase in water use efficiency over the check.

The most significant increase in water use efficiency was produced when the fertilizer program was properly balanced with phosphorus. An application of 80-40-0 for example, produced 214 lbs. grain per acre inch of water. This is a 43 percent increase in water use efficiency when compared to the check.

Water use efficiency figures can often be misunderstood. The application of fertilizer will not decrease the need for water, instead, it will give you better use and more reduction out of the water which is applied.

Yield increases attributed to fertilizer in this test can be compared to the increases in water use efficiency since fertility combinations that increased grain yield also increased water use efficiency. The check with no fertilizer yielded 4385 grain per acre. The 80 lb. nitrogen rate produced 4701 lbs. per acre with the 120 lb. nitrogen rate producing 5181 lbs. grain per acre. The addition of the phosphorus in the 80-40-0 rate produced 6135 lbs. of grain per acre.

These yields and water use efficiency figures provide a good illustration of the importance of nutrient balance.

Schultes Attend Graham School For Cattlemen

Monday a.m. March 22, Elmer and Leonard Schulte of RR 2, Dimmitt, enrolled as students in the Graham School for Cattlemen (Beef & Dairy), Garnett, Kansas, for a week of intensive training in artificial insemination of cattle and in herd management.

The Graham School was founded in 1909 by Frank B. Graham, Master Breeder, and has attained worldwide recognition as a school for the training of herdsman and breeders by visual demonstrations and actual "on the farm" methods of instruction.

Classes are held the second full week of each month. All students are given individual help and instructions and are provided opportunities to work with live animals and warm carcasses under the supervision of instructors who have had many years of experience and training with cattle.

The school's permanent headquarters in Garnett, is completely equipped to make full use of both scientific and practical demonstrations, and students are transported by the school's bus to the near-by Graham Farm and Ranch for the actual working experience with live cattle.

Since cattlemen come from all parts of the United States, as well as from other countries, Mr. Schulte and Schulte will have many opportunities for an exchange of ideas relating to all phases of the cattle business.

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D.
Commissioner of Health

"It's nothing," a neighbor gossiped to her friend across the fence one day, "I just have a sore throat."

Her flippant dismissal of a sore throat unfortunately reflects the way many people feel. But what most people don't realize is that a sore throat is nature's way of warning you of some disorder in your body.

True, a sore throat often accompanies a common cold and will pass in a few days with no further affect. But it can be a symptom of a wide range of diseases, from diphtheria to influenza.

Allergies can cause sore throats. Cold, dry winter air can trigger a raw throat. So can extreme thirst, excessive smoking or mouth breathing. Anything that dries out the throat and cuts off secretions that normally wash dirt away can make your throat sore.

Virus infections of many types can also cause a sore throat. And anyone who has had flu knows that this particular virus disease often causes the throat to hurt.

"Strep throat" is a serious infection. Scarlet fever is, in fact, "strep throat" with a rash. This type of infection begins suddenly, and the rash - if there is to be any - will appear within 72 hours. Fever, headache, chills and a strawberry-like tongue may be other accompanying symptoms.

The danger in "strep" infections is that they can lead to rheumatic fever and possible heart damage or other side effects. Penicillin, however, can almost always knock the infection if it is diagnosed in time.

If your sore throat persists, see your family doctor. By doing a swab test, he can identify "strep" and other germs that are causing you discomfort.

You can ease the pain of a sore throat temporarily with various preparations and medications. But if the condition continues, don't be a do-it-yourself physician, let your doctor find out what is causing the trouble.

Remember, a sore throat may be your body's signal of distress. Heed the warning, and you may save yourself from serious sickness in the future.

P-TA CONFERENCE HELD HERE

District VIII Spring P-TA conference held in Dimmitt Tuesday, March 23 was well-attended with 225 persons present including state officers, district officers, delegates and visitors.

Two outstanding speakers were scheduled for the morning and afternoon session of the P-TA conference. Mrs. John Toombs, state vice-president spoke to the convention on "The Role of the P-TA in the Community" during the morning.

Joe Barnett, minister of Central Church of Christ, Amarillo spoke to the conference in the afternoon on "We the P-TA, Participate in the Community Story."

He told the P-TA members that necessity is laid upon you to serve. You serve because you see the need of the P-TA in the community.

The speaker said, "The juvenile problem in crime is terrifying to me." He quoted J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI who stated that crime is increasing four times as fast as our population and juvenile crime is increasing five times as fast as our population.

Barnett stated, "It never was easy to provide the perfect environment for the child." He continued, "What the P-TA is doing in the community story includes trying to promote Christian principles above everything else."

"If P-TA was not a vibrant, vital organ participating in the community story it would have died a long time ago."

The speaker asked the audience "What is the best way for an organization or individual to face this insane age we live in?"

"First, we can RESIGN. A lot of people have quit. It is always easier to quit than to obtain quality. We can sink in self-pity or discouragement. Most miserable people I have known are those who quit serving in the community story. Anyone can quit, it takes stamina to go onward."

Second, we can become RESIGNED. Just accept the status quo. I charge you P-TA do not ever lower your standards to accept those people who will not participate in the community story. Life has its inevitables which should be met with calm acceptance. Life has its impossibles which should be met with calm assurance. Life has its inexcusables which should never be met with resignation.

Third, we can RE-SIGN. We can start over and take a fresh look at things. P-TA members, you can resign your contract to fulfill your responsibilities. To make an impact to the community, the P-TA needs strong leadership, good followers and co-operation."

Morning session opened at 8 p.m. with registration followed by program at 9:30 presided over by Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth, District VII president.

Third grade students taught by Mrs. Bill Reisdorph led the "Pledge of Allegiance." Allegiance to the Texas flag was given by Johnny Vick, Senior Scout.

One of the inspirational highlights

Attending the conference were two superintendents, 14 principals, 21 local unit presidents, three state officers, one past district VII president and 136 voting delegates.

At 10:45 workshop was held in the High School auditorium with film and discussion by Mrs. J. David Proctor of Abilene. Film was "The School and Community." Group discussion followed the general workshop on "Program Planning."

Life membership luncheon was held in Colonial Inn Restaurant with a style review presented by the Young Homemakers Club for entertainment. Miss Keith Ann Howard provided dinner music on the organ.

Delegates luncheon was held in the high school cafeteria. A style show under the direction of Mrs. Edd McLeroy entertained the visiting delegates during the noon hour.

Highlights of the second general session in the afternoon included the speaker, announcement of officers, singing of P-TA song and presentation of Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth with life membership certificate and pin to National Congress of Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Toombs installed the new District VII officers. They are as follows: Mrs. Wiley Alexander of Amarillo, president; Mrs. D. L. Allison of Happy, vice-president; Mrs. Bob Izzard of Amarillo, vice-president; Mrs. W. S. Castle of Dumas, vice-president; Preston Martin of Farwell, vice-president; Mrs. E. P. Roach of Amarillo, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Jack Davis of Wildorado, recording secretary.

Mrs. Bob Meyers, Dimmitt P-TA president presented the attendance awards. Winners were first place, Wildorado; second, Texline; and third, North Ward at Dalhart.

Program was closed with the singing of the new P-TA song written by Allen Spurr and benediction by Burr Morris, minister of the Presbyterian Church.

The P-TA song, written by Spurr, talented young musician and composer of Los Angeles who has been blind from birth reads:

Our children are the builders of the world to be,
So I know with me,
You will all agree,
We've found the greatest blessing of humanity,

When we've joined the P-TA.
Second Verse:
Our hearts are bound together with the ties that bind,
And its love we find,
We should bear in mind,
We're marching on together for all human kind,
So we'll boost the P-TA,
Chorus:

P-TA. The P-TA.
United now we stand,
And we've pledged our might,
In the cause of right,
For the children of our native land
So when you see these letters three,
Remember what they say,
We pull together always,
That's the motto of the P-TA.

(1) The name of the Student Senate should be changed to the Student Council.

(2) The grade average of each member of the Student Senate should be at least 70.

(3) A petition of 25 names will be necessary for each nomination, for the President and Vice-President, made from the student body.

These will be read again before the Student Senate for a second passing. They will then be read before the student body for their approval.

New Dimmitt High School Handbooks can be purchased by the Student Senate for approximately $175.

HELP US SPREAD THE "SAFETY WORD," 4H's urge

"Won't you please help us spread the 'safety word,'" cry the eight national winners of $500 General Motors Scholarships for outstanding 4-H safety activities. "We would like everyone to hear more about this life-saving subject."

Promoting safety is almost a full-time job for these young people. Typical of the eight winners is Gwendolyn Zeigler, 17, of Rincon, Georgia. Extremely active in her community, she has presented 157 safety demonstrations to nearly 6,000 people, made many radio and TV appearances, written more than 30 newspaper articles and prepared innumerable safety posters. Gwendolyn has also found time to organize safety clubs for young people and conduct a community-wide fire extinguisher sale.

49 Receive Trip To 4-H Club Congress

In addition to the eight national winners, 41 state 4-H safety winners received all expense paid trips by GM to the 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. General Motors is now in its 21st year of sponsoring awards in the 4-H program.

The national winners include: Thelma Cambridge, 18, Apple Valley, Calif.; Susan Noble, 18, Nampa, Idaho; Michael Hunter, 17, Rochester, Minn.; Marleen Retzlaff, 17, Walton, Nebr.; Leonard Parren, 17, Oneonta, N. Y.; Linda Joyce Richardson, 16, Verden, Okla.; and Susan Burns, 17, Pikeville, Tenn.

Run Off Roadway! What Would You Do

Most drivers feel that they know how to handle an emergency situation that might arise. But when suddenly faced with the emergency situation requiring quick action they find they don't know as much as they thought they did.

Here is an emergency situation. Suppose at high speed your right wheels should drop off a pavement that has a low or rough shoulder. What would you do?

Here is what the defensive driver would do. Avoid any quick movements of controls and especially do not attempt to jerk your car back on to the pavement. Maintain control straight ahead and reduce speed, driving to the right just enough to straddle the pavement edge. When your speed is slow enough and there is no vehicle meeting or overtaking close behind, turn back onto the pavement at a place that is not rough. If you cut back before you slow down you may overshoot your traffic lane and turn over trying to recover control. If a vehicle is meeting you, you may cause a head-on collision or cause the other driver to turn over trying to avoid you. If you are on a four-lane road, you might overshoot the first lane and strike a vehicle in the inside lane.

Cutting the wheels at an angle to a pavement edge which is higher than the shoulder enables your wheels to roll up on the pavement without hanging on the edge of the pavement. If the shoulders are low and rough as far ahead as you can see, reduce your speed to approximately 10 miles per hour, shift to second gear, clear traffic and ease back over the pavement edge slowly. If traffic is heavy or a driver is so close behind you that he may start to overtake and pass you, you should slow down and drive off the pavement. When traffic is clear, make a normal entry onto the road.

Students Encounter Defeat But Take It Like Champions

A heartening experience was encountered by cast members of the Dimmitt one-act play "Goodbye to the Clown" Friday, March 19 at district contest in Olton.

Although the play was disqualified due to technical difficulties, the students turned a catastrophic defeat into a glorious victory individually.

The play was disqualified due to 30 second run over in scene change. Scene had to be changed in one minute.

Before going on stage the students and drama coach joined together in a circle prayer asking God's will be done. They did not ask to win for winning's sake but prayed they would give their individual best according to Miss Betty Griffing, dramatics coach.

Miss Griffing charged the students with this saying, "Enthusiasm and zeal can win over experience." The cast members were inexperienced as they had only participated in one other play which was three-act. Some of the cast members had not been active in any dramatics production before this play.

Miss Griffing said the students gave 10 times better performance at district contest than at Portales, N. M. and they got an excellent rating at Portales Drama Festival.

She said, "Each member did the most outstanding job since they started working six weeks ago. Timing was perfect. Reaction was good."

The coach commented, "Ginger Kemp and Jack Flynt were superb."

At 8 p.m. Friday March 19, the students were given the news that they had been disqualified. The cast members wept bitter tears at the announcement. They had put forth their best in the crucial test and were defeated by 30 seconds in a scene change.

Miss Griffing said, "Not once did the cast members say one cross word or blame anyone for their defeat."

When the judge came in to give the official notice of the loss, the students controlled their weeping and stood to their feet for the judge's announcement.

Before leaving Olton, the students requested another prayer. "We joined hands in a friendship circle and the students looked to me to lead in the prayer. I was too choked up and Robbie Lindsey asked to say the prayer," said Miss Griffing.

He prayed, "God, we don't understand but yet we know it was Your will we were disqualified and we realize there is a lesson to be learned and help each of us to find this lesson."

One student told the drama teacher the next day "I am 10 feet taller today."

Miss Griffing says, "There is hope for tomorrow when the young people can take defeat and turn it into victory."

The cast will give one more performance here for the public sometime in the near future.

Payments To Be Made To Growers Of Sugar Beets

Payments amounting to $412,432 will be made March 30 to sugar beet growers in the Texas and New Mexico districts served by the Merrill E. Shoup factory near Hereford, were announced today by D. W. Lillie, Manager.

The payment is the second, or "spring," payment made to beet growers by Holly, initial payments having been made soon after the 1964 harvest was completed.

The March 30 payment will bring returns thus far received from the sugar beet crop to a total of $6,911,456 in the Shoup factory district. Mr. Lillie states that this amount includes the total Holly payments as well as the Government Sugar Act payment, which is in effect, restoration to the growers of a portion of their crop's value withheld until it was determined that all government regulations applying to beet production had been complied with during the 1964 season.

Final payment for the 1964 crop beets will be made this fall after sugar production from the crop has been sold and net returns on such sales have been determined. Contracting and planting of Holly's 1965 beet acreage is progressing rapidly under the provisions of the Government's restrictive "proportionate share" program.

Texas forests provide Texans with many products for everyday living such as lumber, paper, chemicals, and plastics. They also provide many opportunities for recreation: as a place to hunt, fish, bird watch, or just enjoy the out-of-doors at a picnic.

More than 41,000 Texans work in Texas' forests and mills to produce an annual payroll of $138 million and products worth $500 million per year.

The Texas Forest Service, now celebrating its Golden Anniversary, is dedicated to the perpetuation, protection and utilization of this natural resource.

The following sponsors salute the Texas Forest Service on its 50 years of service to forestry in Texas.

National FHA Week Scheduled April 4 - 10

Facts Given About FHA

(Editor's Note: Following information was taken from the Official Guide for Future Homemakers of America.)

Future Homemakers of America is the national organization of girls and boys studying homemaking in high schools of the United States, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

As an integral part of the homemaking program, FHA provides opportunities for students to have additional experiences in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking.

The national organization is composed of chartered state associations which are made up of local chapters.

Organization of FHA neared completion in the spring of 1945 when high school homemaking students from almost all of the States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii met in 12 subregional meetings.

At each meeting, national officers were nominated (one from each sub-region), suggestions and recommendations were made by each group concerning the name, purposes, symbolism, and basic structure of the national organization.

As long as 25 years before 1945, there were various state and local clubs of high school homemaking students. These were known by different names and functioned under many different plans. High school homemaking teachers guided the clubs' activities.

Home economics leaders from 29 states met in Chicago and started plans for developing the national organization in March, 1944.

The first national convention was held in Kansas City, Missouri, July 9, 1948 with a majority of the states represented. The constitution was ratified.

Membership in FHA is available to any student enrolled in a high school, public or private, who is taking or has taken a homemaking course in junior or senior high school.

The over-all goal of the organization is to help individuals improve personal, family and community living, now and in the future.

To emphasize specific parts of this over-all goal, FHA has eight purposes. They are:

To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking.

To emphasize the importance of worthy home membership.

To encourage democracy in home and community life.

To work for good home and family life for all.

To promote international good will.

To provide wholesome individual and group recreation.

To further interest in home economics.

In working to fulfill these purposes, each year, members of local chapters develop a program of work including projects and experiences which will help them. The local program of work is based on personal, family and community needs. Program planning materials are published by the national organization and state associations to help local chapters develop their program of work.

The pin is worn over the heart on a dress or suit jacket. It is worn with the guard to the left of and on a level with the lower edge of the pin. No other pin should be attached to it because it shows membership in Future Homemakers of America.

The hand on the right represents the husband, father or brother in the home. The hand on the left is the wife, mother or sister. Both hands work together to foster and support strong homes today and provide a firm foundation for homes tomorrow.

FHAers Observe National Week

Over one-half million Future Homemakers of America in states throughout the nation observe National FHA Week April 4-10, announced Ruth Huey, Director of Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency.

The 60,423 members of 1,314 chapters in the Texas Association FHA are celebrating their 20th year of nationwide affiliation.

"In 1945 Texas was the fifth state to receive its charter and adopt their motto, 'Toward New Horizons,'" reported Josephine Pazdral, State Adviser.

FHA Week will find junior and senior high school chapters spotlighting their programs on family living and stay-in-school activities.

One Future Homemaker said it for all her sister-members this way, "To me, FHA means more than just an organization because I feel it is a part of me that will still have when I have a home of my own."

FHA is sponsored nationally by the U. S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association, and guided by homemaking teachers. As part of a large national organization of teens concerned with good home and family life each girl grows through new experiences, new views and new friends.

Members will celebrate FHA Week by attending church together, sponsoring style shows and faculty teas and participating in home and community service projects. Many FHAers will wear the traditional red and white colors to remind their classmates of FHA Week.

The national program of work this year includes (1) You and your values; (2) Focus on family friendship; (3) Marriage calls for preparation;

(4) Stay in school; (5) Action for citizenship.

Three hundred Texas girls were awarded their State Degrees at the State Meeting last May.

Officers, delegates and sponsors of the Texas Association will convene for their 1965 state meeting in Dallas April 23-24.

What Are The Degree Symbols?

Some FHA chapters may recognize members' personal growth through Degrees of Achievement. Participation in the degrees program is carried out in the three Chapters in Castro County. As each of the three degrees is received, the symbol of the degree is presented to the member. Degree symbols are worn on the chain between the pin and guard.

Junior Homemaker Degree - the key

Chapter Homemaker Degree - the scroll

State Homemaker Degree - the torch

What Are The FHA Colors?

The FHA colors are red and white. Red, an intense color, suggests strength. White is recognized as the symbol of sincerity. These colors inspire Future Homemakers of America with the courage and determination to succeed.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

Imports have long been a source of bitter controversy in our country. Throughout our history we have generally found goods, wares, and products available from foreign sources at a price cheaper than prevailed in this country. This is so primarily because of the high standard of living that we in this country have built up under our philosophy of government. This standard of living is not confined to one group or one segment of our economy. It is available to all, regardless of the economic strata in which they find themselves, as compared to counterparts in all other countries of the world. Our particular 18th Congressional District of Texas is directly affected by this import problem in oil, in cattle, and in sugar. All of these are national problems of great consequence, but are of particular interest to our Panhandle because any adverse action relating to any of these products is immediately felt in our local economy.

The oil import problem is presently under study by the Department of the Interior. A sweeping review of U. S. policies under the "Mandatory Oil Import Control Program," now in its sixth year, is underway at the present time. Hearings last week in the Department of Interior auditorium brought more than 130 witnesses, including State governors (Governor Connally appeared not only as Texas' governor but also as Chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission). Our own Panhandle was represented by R. P. Herrmann and Don Watson, who appeared on behalf of the Panhandle Producers and Royalty Owners Association. The appearance of government officials, organization officials, spokesmen for oil industry associations, executives of oil companies, leaders in associated segments of the oil industry such as labor organizations, business groups, etc., helps measurably.

The inquiry seeks to determine whether the program is meeting its objectives. It was originally designed to maintain strength in the domestic oil industry by keeping imports in satisfactory proportion to domestic petroleum production. Everyone recognizes that the national security requirements of our nation demand a strong and vigorous domestic oil industry. Such an industry cannot be maintained unless incentive is present for our own citizens to be willing to risk their money in further exploration and development of oil and gas deposits in our nation. The number of exploratory wells has been falling far below prior years. Domestic production has not been increasing at a pace equal to demand. Adequate reserves are not being located. Operation of drilling rigs dropped sharply. When these things happen, all associated businesses in and around oil development areas suffer, whether they be the corner hamburger stand, the doctor's office, or the department store. Many U. S. oil experts feel that the Mandatory Oil Import Control Program has not gone far enough to bring imports into proper balance with domestic production. Many of the independents in our area have most impressive statistics to prove their position in support of curtailment of imports. Unless this problem can be worked out within the Department of the Interior, it can be expected that import control legislation will be sought.

The oil import problem is only one facet of the larger problem of imports generally. In the past it has been the practice of those affected by imports to remain separate and apart from other segments of the economy and to try to press for action on their own separable problem. This meant that there was no coordination between the domestic producers of cattle with the domestic manufacturers of pottery or bicycles or clothespins or steel, or the farmers trying to produce sugar, to name only a few of the groups that find imports a constant threat. The percentage of imports varies with the different products, even as regards those products in which this country could be wholly self-sufficient. For instance, it would not be necessary for this country to import cattle, yet between 10 percent and 15 percent of the beef consumed in this country is imported. This country could produce all of its sugar and enough to export, yet it is importing from foreign countries approximately 43 percent or almost half of our domestic consumption. One person admonished me for supporting a reduction in sugar imports. He told me that the foreign sugar could be acquired much cheaper than domestic sugar. My reply to him was that the same rule would apply to everything from oil to automobiles and from hairpins to cattle, which happened to be this fellow's business. I told him about a former Member of Congress who made a speech almost every day advocating "Buy American." Every afternoon this same member would pass me on the way home, driving his Mercedes-Benz.
