"THE GOLDEN TOUCH."

Esop tells of a person who was gifted with the "golden touch." As the story goes, everything this individual laid his hands upon immediately turned to gold.

While not literally true of any person in these days, still from time to time there comes under our observation people who, no matter what they undertake, succeed in it. In the ages of the world when people looked to Athens for wisdom, this valuable asset of bringing success was said to have been the gift of the gods; in our time people call it "luck." At any rate, let it be as it may, it is peculiar to no class of people and seems to be no respecter of persons. Many a child of the gutters has it lifted on the benches with the multi-millionaires and not a few of decided plebian extraction has this "touch" elevated among those of earth's favored who wear the imperial purple. The familiar lines, "Some are born great, others have greatness thrust upon them" is not altogether out of place here.

But candid now, haven't you seen this "golden touch" exemplified in everyday life among just ordinary, common folks, like ourselves for instance? See here a man, there a woman, educated, refined, gifted intellectually and of fairly good business acumen, over whose lives are written in great big letters the words, "financial failures." The many reefs of misfortune and the long shores of despondency all over and around the great ocean of human life are strewn thickly with this class of wreckage; on life's highway they were capable, worked well and were helpful to others, but invariably when they invested in business lines, prices were high and when they sold the bottom was out. Thus it is with the great mass of humanity; it is struggle, struggle day in and day out, not always, perhaps, in dire need, but never very far removed from it because, forsooth, it doth appear that "luck's agin 'em."

"Man wants but little here below, Nor wants that little long."

These lines from Burns don't begin to apply to the man of the present day but rather:

"Man wants but little here below, This statement causes mirth; It might have been in ancient times, But now he wants the earth."

Modern people have educated tastes far beyond those among whom the bard of Scotland moved. In the frugal days of "auld lang syne" people were content with simplicity in both food and dress and at all times studious and caretaking to confine their expenses within the bounds of their income, not for getting a liberal allowance for the old stocking against a rainy day. The golden period these good old fashioned folks looked to was when they should enter the pearly gates of the New Jerusalem and walk its streets of gold. But all this is changed now; a rapid pace is being set along the lines of living and about the only way an ordinary working man can keep up with it is to have the "golden touch" or something close akin to it. "The golden touch," practiced within lawful bounds, is a mighty good thing to possess, but the craze of today in the attempt to acquire it is certain to have mountains of misery against mole hills of fortune in its wake.

Teddy, the Terrible, has faced bullets on the heights of San Juan, hunted bear in the Rockies, toyed with death in a submarine boat at the bottom of the sea, killed rattlesnakes with a two-foot quirt in Oklahoma, slapped yellow jack silly in the swamps of the Mississippi and there now remains but one thing to be done and that is come to the Panhandle of Texas and pull the badger. If the president bankers for tons of excitement, double distilled and compressed into a small wad, just let him yank one small light grey badger, when the ferocious little animal is impatient. Once in a lifetime satisfies even as great lovers of danger as his excellency.--Collinsworth Courier.

It had been generally reported that Jerry Simpson was making money in New Mexico, but it developed after his death at Wichita that he was a few thousand dollars worse off, when he died, than he was four years ago when he left Kansas. He carried no insurance and left only about $1,500 for his wife and family.--Quanah Tribune-Chief.

How to Cure Corns and Bunions.

First, soak the corn or bunion in warm water to soften it; then pare it down as closely as possible without drawing blood and apply Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice daily rubbing vigorously for five minutes at each application. A corn plaster should be worn a few days to protect it from the shoe. As a general liniment for sprains, bruises, lameness and rheumatism, Pain Balm is unequalled. For sale by S. V. Wirt, Druggist.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees--the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes--and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee. Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a" tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot. First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

3. Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. DON'T use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

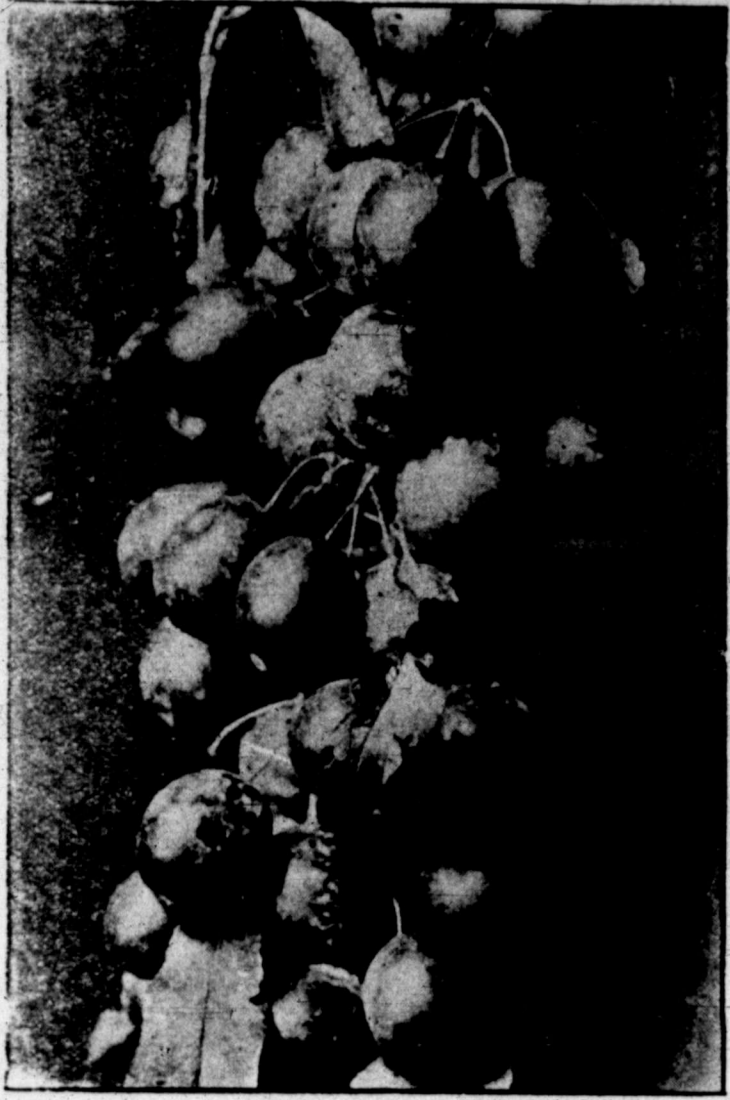

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)

(Lion-head on every package.) (Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

This tree is about five years old and is one of several all loaded as this one and growing about a half mile west from the Court House in Canyon City. In Canyon City this fall Plains grown apples readily sold at $1.75 per bushel when Roswell apples right by the side of them sold at 50 cents per bushel. Need we say more?

FIELD OF ALFALFA

This picture was taken on C. T. Word's farm on the Terra Blanco Creek, 1 mile east of Canyon City. Mr. Word has in about 200 acres of alfalfa on this farm and has had four cuttings this year, of an average of about one ton per acre to the cutting. This farm is creek land, sub-irrigated, of which there are perhaps 10,000 acres in the county about one-tenth of which is already "set" in alfalfa. It makes on these lands every year and the term, "Is better than a gold mine," is not at all misapplied in this case.

Here we have what the camera takes in of the residence and a portion of the family of J. E. Rogers. This place is 17 miles southeast of town.

REGISTERED HEREFORDS.

This shows a bunch of registered Hereford cattle belonging to John Hutson of Canyon City. It was taken on Mr. Hutson's Ranch 1 1/2 miles north of town and shows the cattle just as they stood about the lots. This herd, which Mr. Hutson calls his "Outdoor Ranch," contains about 200 head. The prize winners at the recent Kansas City Fair were Plains grown cattle.

These Pretty Pictures.

Agreeable to promise The News gives two extra pages this week showing some Randall county scenes.

The photos from which these cuts were made were taken by our Canyon City photographer, M. S. Lusby, at the instance of the Canyon City Real Estate Co.

The cuts are the property of said Canyon Real Estate Co., and were kindly lent to The News for this occasion. These cuts were used to illustrate a four page immigration edition of 2000 copies, printed in this office for said real estate firm to be distributed in the "old States."

This edition will prove a good thing for the country; it is by men who are thoroughly identified with it; men whose homes are here, and men who are especially pushing the interests of Canyon City and Randall county. The News wants to see them profit by it, and to this sentiment of The News we feel sure our readers will say amen!

The cut showing some of Hutson's Herefords is not as good as it might be. The photographer, M. S. Lusby, failed to get a good picture owing to the high wind which disturbed the camera.

PLAINS COTTON.

The turnout for this season on the Plains is unusually good. The grade, amount necessary to make a bale and the quantity produced per acre all go to prove what The News has persistently contended for—that cotton can be profitably grown here.

This week, bales of cotton, big loads of it, perhaps a hundred bales in all, have been coming to the depot here, from as far south as Lubbock and from the east as far as Lockney and Silverton.

And not only south and east of us is cotton turning out well but west of here also. Speaking of the situation in Deaf Smith County, the Hereford Brand says:

"Everybody who has brought cotton in is more than pleased with both the turn-out and the price received. In almost every instance 1400 lbs. in the seed has produced a bale weighing 500 lbs. In other words, three pounds in the seed will produce one pound of lint cotton. This is a record which cannot be broken anywhere and we doubt if it has ever been equaled in Texas.

"Every bale thus far has graded well and sold in some instances for more than the Houston market would warrant.

"We understand from those with whom we have talked that, while the acreage was small this year, the yield is good, ranging from one-fourth to one-half bale per acre. A conservative estimate of this year's crop in the vicinity of Hereford is 100 bales."

I. W. McClure returned from his Kansas City market trip Tuesday looking and evidently feeling "blue as blazes." Questioned as to the why of it, he stated that when he left the pens, Monday, everything was off a cent and that he would lose at least $300 on his two cars. His calves, for which he was offered $10 here, he says will not net him over $7.50 at Kansas City.

Our correspondent "Umbarger," has a long letter in this issue which is well worth not only reading but digesting. The News would be glad if others would give their experience. Write it down—on one side of the paper only—and we will see that it goes in right.

The Plainview Herald says: "W. E. Bradshaw, living 6 miles from town brought in the product of one pumpkin vine as follows; 1st pumpkin, 115 lbs., next, 70 lbs., next, 50 lbs. and two of 40 lbs. each; total from one vine 329 lbs. This yield was made without irrigation."

A Reliable Remedy for Croup.

With the dry, cold weather of the early winter months, parents of croupy children should be on the alert for ominous symptoms. There is no cause for anxiety when Chamberlain's Croup Remedy is kept in the home. If this medicine is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the croupy cough has appeared, the attack may be warded off. Mrs. S. Rosenthal, of Turner, Michigan says: "We have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for our selves and children for several years and like it very much. I think it is the only remedy for croup and can highly recommend it." For sale by S. V. Wirt, druggist.

TOWN & COUNTY

PERSONAL AND OTHER MATTERS THAT CONCERN OUR CITIZENS.

THE WEATHER ETC.

Monday and Tuesday were pretty days, clear and just cool enough to be bracing. Wednesday morning it set in to raining and kept it up without intermission throughout the day and continued all night and all the next day until last night when the wind which had been in the northeast shifted to the north and the clouds rolling away, our beautiful starry firmament, unrivalled in lower altitudes, was again presented to our appreciative vision. Last night we had a fair hug from the ice king and this morning the ground was covered with the biggest frost so far this season, but old Sol is now out in all his glory and the prospects for fine weather are excellent today.

This rain upon the fall sown small grain will be as fine as can be, but unfortunately the acreage devoted to this crop in Randall County is small. The News says unfortunately advisedly, because the experience of past seasons has proved this to be a fine wheat county. An average of twenty bushels of 62 pound wheat to the acre; such was the record for the county this year, while our sister county on the west, Deaf Smith, claims an average of 30 bushels on exactly the same character of land, is something to grin at even in a wheat country.

While the good to the small grain by these torrential rains is much appreciated, the damage in other directions is simply immense. Owing to the scarcity of help to gather the big crops of maize, Kaffir, cane, alfalfa etc. and the deplorable lack of provision in the way of suitable shelter for that already cut, the loss occasioned by this continual wetting is going to be something awful. Its extent, of course, cannot well be determined for several days, perhaps weeks. If followed by dry, clear weather for several days much can be done in the way of lessening the loss by throwing off the top of piles, it wouldn't do to call them stacks judging from what The News has seen of them, and scattering out the shocks. There is lots of work about this way of doing to be sure, but to leave them as they now stand means a total loss.

When will our West Texas people learn that there is more in taking care of what they make than in trying to cover the whole earth with their products?

"A little farm well tilled" And we might add, well provided with good shelter for all its occupants and its products, is, in the opinion of The News, when it comes to contentment in this life, next thing to Heaven itself. Of cold cash, only that which we can use to wholesome advantage during our pilgrimage on this earth is necessary to our well being and the same rule, with equal force, applies to our ownership of land.

The present great need of Randall County, as in fact all this great Plains country, is more homes and fewer territory holders; a people who come to stay, live, die and be buried here, and the complete and final departure of the bonus hunting squatter and the raw land speculator. No prairie country offers more in the way of substantial and goodly returns to the home builder and practical farmer than does the Plains country and by and by he is coming and coming to stay, and prosperity, a prosperity but dreamed of now will spread itself all over this favored land.

The President has issued his proclamation naming Thursday, Nov. 30th, as Thanksgiving day.
