

about dimmitt and castro county

by b. m. n.

I found out something Saturday, something that I had been wondering about lately but hadn't had an opportunity to investigate. I found out that while I have been collecting uppers and lowers, arch supports, bi-focals, extension of the mid-section and other indications of the Hadical Age, that others who also graduated in the Roaring Twenties have been undergoing the same changes, of course in varying degrees. I was accompanied to Rogers, that's my old home town, by the family who I honestly believe made the trip just to see some of the people in my age group to see if I was a fair sample of the production of the black land belt. I can't say that their reaction was altogether favorable. The occasion was the annual homecoming of ex-students of the Rogers schools and which was one occasion that I was well qualified to attend—I probably attended school at Rogers longer than any other student, in fact I think I had established a record for attendance, in the matter of years, before I got out of grade school that was in the early twenties and it looked like the depression was going to catch me still in high school for sure. Several members of the faculty were leaving and they decided that they didn't have anything to lose anyway so they let me graduate.

Many of the folks in my age group attended the home coming and the changes in appearances were so vast and far-reaching that recognition came a little hard. The only redeeming factor was that I noticed that they were having the same trouble.

Rogers is in historic Bell County, one of the first settled sections of the state. Bryan Station on Little River, some eight or ten miles from Rogers, was an old stage coach station. Descendants of the family for which it was named are still living there. There are many families living in the community who are direct descendants of the first settlers.

I can remember, as a farm boy, when the deep black soil in the Rogers area produced bumper crops year after year. At one time there were as many as eight gins in Rogers it has been said that more cotton was shipped from there than any other port on the Santa Fe. There was a cotton oil mill. The town was booming. At its peak there was in the neighborhood of 2,500 people. All businesses flourished. Farm land, if it could be bought at all, was bringing a premium price. Rogers and Bell County were riding high.

And then, as in all things, there was an end to mother nature's resources. Production starting falling off and the wave of prosperity began receding from Rogers, even more rapidly than it had come. Today instead of eight gins there are no gins, instead of 2,500 people in the city there is probably six or seven hundred. The rich black soil was mined and what was thought to be an inexhaustible source of income had been depleted, there is probably not over a tenth as many business firms now as there were in the heyday. Nobody is to blame. The people didn't know until it was too late that they were killing the goose that laid the golden egg. Now, however, following a period of despair, there are signs of a comeback in the area. Better farming practices are being used. Many farms are being terraced, stock farming is coming into its own, diversification is being practiced and eventually it will again take its place among the thriving agricultural areas of the state. The road back will be hard and long, however.

There is an object lesson in the comparison of agriculture in the Rogers and Dimmitt areas. Every possible conservation practice should be used here to escape the costly experience of the Rogers farmer. This is comparatively new soil and its productivity can be held at a high level only if diversification, fertilization, and other types of conservation are practiced throughout the years.

Rogers is one of the few towns in the state that has apparently solved its municipal water problem. Some three or four years ago a city well was drilled a short distance from the townsite. Pure artesian water came booming out, and since that time the well has been flowing about 800 gallons per minute. The water at first is

Last Rites Held For Mr. J. W. Hendrix

Funeral services for Mr. John W. Hendrix, 89 years old, one of Castro County's oldest pioneers, were conducted Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church in Dimmitt, with a former pastor, Rev. Earl Landtrock, officiating, assisted by Rev. E. Lee Stanford of the Methodist Church and Minister L. E. Bishop of the Church of Christ. Burial was in the Dimmitt cemetery with the Dennis Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Hendrix died Saturday afternoon at the Plains Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt. Active pallbearers were grandsons of Mr. Hendrix: A. J. Noble, Denver City, Texas; Tip Koneczak, Globe, Arizona; Hugh Fox, Brownwood, Texas; Carl Fox, Amarillo; Earl Davis, Amarillo; Hubert Wallace, Seminole. Honorary pallbearers were Messrs. Sam Cooper, Kenneth Turner, William Gollehon, George Burch, Dave Shepard, Cleve Tate. Six of his granddaughters served as flower girls.

John Williams Hendrix was born in 1861 at Sherman, Texas, and on March 2, 1890, was married to Miss Dollie Cox at Bowie, Texas, to this union was born six children. They are Mrs. Elmer Noble, Dimmitt; Mrs. E. H. Noble, Seminole, Texas; Mrs. C. H. Fox, Amarillo; Mrs. Harry Scown, Denver City, Texas; J. J. Hendrix, Greenough, Mont.; and Mrs. R. L. Hurst, Trinchera, Colo. In addition to his wife and six children he is survived by 14 grandchildren, 15 great grand children and three brothers, Joe and Jake Hendrix of Amarillo and Elvis Hendrix of Fresno, Calif.

Mr. Hendrix moved from Bowie, Texas, to Castro county in 1901 and was one of the oldest settlers in this area. One of the true pioneers of the old west, Mr. Hendrix was a retired stock farmer who lived to see the ranch spreads of the county converted into modern farms.

Irrigation Well Spacing Needed

Locating irrigation wells too close together is a costly business, the High Plains Water Conservation and Users Association points out. A farm loan official tells this illustrative story: His organization loaned a farmer enough money to put down an irrigation well. It stretched the farmer's credit to the limit, but he got a good well. Not long afterwards a neighbor drilled a well about 60 feet away. The two wells set up a mutual interference, with the neighbor getting most of the water. The only thing our farmer can do now is lower his pipes. But that costs another $1,000, and his credit won't stretch that far. And if he does lower his well, chances are that his neighbor will have to do the same thing.

The point, one that water conservation experts have long stressed, is that proper spacing of irrigation wells not only saves water, but also saves time and money—and sometimes saves hard feelings. One of the main functions of the proposed underground water conservation district is to promote proper spacing of all new wells. This would be done under a permit system, and while no person could be denied a permit to drill a well, issuance of the permit could be conditioned on the recommended spacing, thus protecting both the new driller and his neighbors who are already pumping.

very hot but after passing through a cooling system it is pumped directly into the stand-pipe. I climbed to the top of that stand-pipe one time and have never been scared any worse, I lost any desire to ever get off the ground again.

Construction of the new Dimmitt gin got underway this week thus ushering in a new industry for the area.

Farmers have been irrigating for the past several days with a full pipe.

E Bonds Will Begin Maturing in May

Ten years ago on the first of May, 1941, the United States Treasury sold the first Series E Savings Bonds. Americans now hold around 500 million E Bonds, worth some $34½ billion, present cash value. On May 1, 1951, E Bonds begin to mature.

The first E Bonds were titled "Defense Savings Bond, Series E" until after Pearl Harbor when the title became "War Savings Bond," followed in 1946 by "U. S. Savings Bond." Since mid-January the Treasury Department has been referring to them as Defense Bonds. However, under all these names it is the same Series E Savings Bond, the most widely owned security in the world.

About $1,096,000,000 of Series E Defense Bonds issued in 1941 are still outstanding and will mature month by month between now and the end of 1951. In 1951-54 the amounts maturing will markedly increase, reflecting the heavy wartime sales of E Bonds in war loan drives and on the Payroll Savings Plan during 1942-44. In 1955, maturities will begin to come down to peacetime levels.

In a statement embodying these facts, Chairman H. W. Goldert of the Castro County Savings Bonds Committee, reminds owners of Series E Bonds that under a recent act of Congress (H.R. 2268), they now have three options at maturity, two of which are new privileges:

(1) CASH. The owner of any Series E Bond may receive, if he wishes, full cash payment by presenting his matured bond to any qualified bank or other paying agent. This has not changed. The new options are:

(2) EXTENSION. The owner may retain the matured E

Many Wives Eligible For Social Security

Many wives will no longer have to wait until their 65th birthday to become eligible for monthly insurance payments under social security.

John Sanderson, Manager of the Amarillo social security office, calls attention to the provision in the new law for benefits to wives of retired workers who are now receiving old-age insurance payments. The wife of a present beneficiary who has under her care a child under 18 qualified for benefits may now have monthly payments herself.

In these cases, the wife's payments continue until the child under her care reaches 18 or is otherwise disqualified as a beneficiary, according to Sanderson.

He suggests that wives who believe they are entitled to benefits under this provision of the new social security law get in touch with the Social Security office in Amarillo.

ANNUAL MAY CEREMONY HELD

On the evening of May 30 the Holy Family church was the scene of the annual May Crowning of Our Lady. The windy, rainy weather made it necessary for the procession to form in front of the church. Last Rites Held For Mother of Mrs. E. Ramey at Plainview

Funeral services for Mrs. W. Y. Buchanan, 90 year old, pioneer Hale county farm woman, were conducted Monday afternoon in the First Presbyterian Church in Plainview with the pastor, Dr. G. K. Rogers, officiating. Interment was in the Plainview cemetery beside the grave of her husband who died in 1942.

Mrs. Buchanan, who had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Edgar Ramey, in Dimmitt since 1944, died in the Plains Memorial Hospital Saturday following a lingering illness. She had only recently returned home from Dallas where she had been receiving medical treatment.

Mrs. Buchanan, born Dec. 24, 1860, at Murfreesboro, Tenn., moved to Texas 82 years ago. Her parents acquired headright title to land in the vicinity of Farmers Branch, Dallas County. She and her husband were married in the first church wedding held in Webb's Chapel in Dallas County on August 2, 1886.

The couple later moved to Richardson and after four years they came to Hale County. They purchased land in the Ellen community south of Plainview and lived there until later when they moved to Plainview. Mrs. Buchanan had made her home in Dimmitt since 1944. She had returned to Dimmitt from Fort Worth a week ago where she had spent the winter. She died early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Buchanan was a charter member of the Presbyterian Church at Midway in Dallas County. For many years she was active in church work in Hale County rural communities.

Survivors are four children, Mrs. Fred Farrell, Fort Worth, M. B. Buchanan, Friona, J. O. Buchanan, Plainview, and Mrs. Edgar Ramey, Dimmitt, two brothers, John Lillard, Dallas, and S. J. Lillard, Fort Worth.

Robert D. Truelock Has Seen Action In "City of Death"

The enemy port of Wonsan is aptly called the "City of Death" and Robert D. Truelock, machinist's mate, third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Truelock of Dimmitt helped make it so.

He is serving aboard the destroyer USS Walke which recently bombed military targets in the city for 27 consecutive days.

Along with other UN units, the Walke has completely destroyed three of five main enemy supply lines to the front. Wonsan is one of the most important links of the enemy's vital transportation system in funneling troops down to the front line.

The ship is now in a United Nations port for replenishment of supplies and ammunition.

Sgt. Leon Taylor Is In Reclamation Crew of the Army

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Manning, Dimmitt, may well be proud of their son's "robbing" which he is conducting very profitably at headquarters of the Far East Materiel Command (FEAMCOM) supply and maintenance depot, for the Far East Air Forces supporting the Korean effort.

Sgt. Leon Taylor, by being a "robber" is one of a crew of FEAMCOM airmen who sent more than $92,000 of the American taxpayer's money back to the nation's pocketbook during one single year of filching semi-precious metals, cardboard, and wood from the scrap cans and salvage dumps of a materiel center such as FEAMCOM.

And Sergeant Taylor and his "robber" buddies, who work in the command's Salvage Section, receive the greatest pleasure in scratching salvageable items from the ignomy—and less profitable fate—of some obscure dump pile. These men at FEAMCOM are proving the economic paraphrase that "big savings from a little scrounging grow."

The Salvage Section at FEAMCOM disposes of all government materials which are no longer usable in their present state; quite frequently these items are modified for other uses or for sale.

Salvage and scrap materials from all over FEAMCOM, and certain other Far East Air Forces installation, come to this central depot, where the "robbers" immediately begin their filching to determine just how many dollars' worth of material can be claimed for selling. A large majority of this incoming property is reclaimed and sent back to warehouses for re-issue.

In this manner, since the beginning of the Korean war, an estimated $604,000 worth of items has been reclaimed and routed to warehouses for re-issue.

Using the motto that a dollar in any other form, be it cloth, metal, paper, or rubber, is still a dollar, and goes a long way in easing the load on the American taxpayer, Sergeant Taylor is helping extract precious greenbacks from the economic drain-within the standard 100 that they scarcely deserve a separate name.

The list can be reduced still further by knowing the flies that work best in a certain locality. A fly that is a killer on brook trout in Quebec seldom will be effective for brook trout in Pennsylvania.

Through knowing timetested flies that are best for a locality, the fly fisherman can slash the number of patterns that will see him through a season to not more than 10.

This can be achieved only by using stiff hackle fibers to represent the tail and legs of the insect. Look for a very fine wire hook in a good dry fly; its purpose is to reduce weight and to float well. A wet fly is tied on a heavy wire hook with comparatively soft materials, which are absorbent.

Durability is important, too. You don't want a fly that is quickly chewed apart by a trout. A good fly, dry or wet, should last indefinitely without unraveling.

THE LAW AND YOU

by Robt. (Bob) Kirk

DO YOU KNOW what a "citation" is?

If some day the sheriff were to come to you and tell you that he had a citation for you, and hand you some papers, would you know what you had and what to do about it?

In all civil suits, when a case has been filed asking for damages, or other relief within the authority of the Court, it is necessary that all parties to the suit be notified that a suit has been filed. This notice is called a citation.

The clerk of the court prepares the notice, and gives it to an officer to be delivered to the parties to the suit. It is the duty of the officer to deliver to each of the parties to the suit a copy of this notice. Having delivered the copies of the notice to the parties, the officer then makes a report of these deliveries on a duplicate copy of the notice and returns this to the clerk of the court to be filed with the papers of the suit.

A citation requires that the party receiving the same take notice of the filing of the suit, and to make his answer to the same within a specified time.

Upon receiving a citation, a person should take it immediately to the attorney of his choice and discuss the same with the attorney.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION ON THIS SUBJECT, SEE YOUR LOCAL ATTORNEY.

Sports Afield

Of all the forms of angling, there is none that requires greater finesse than fly fishing for trout. Like most arts, it is mysterious only to the uninitiated. The only complex thing about it is the bewildering variety of fly patterns.

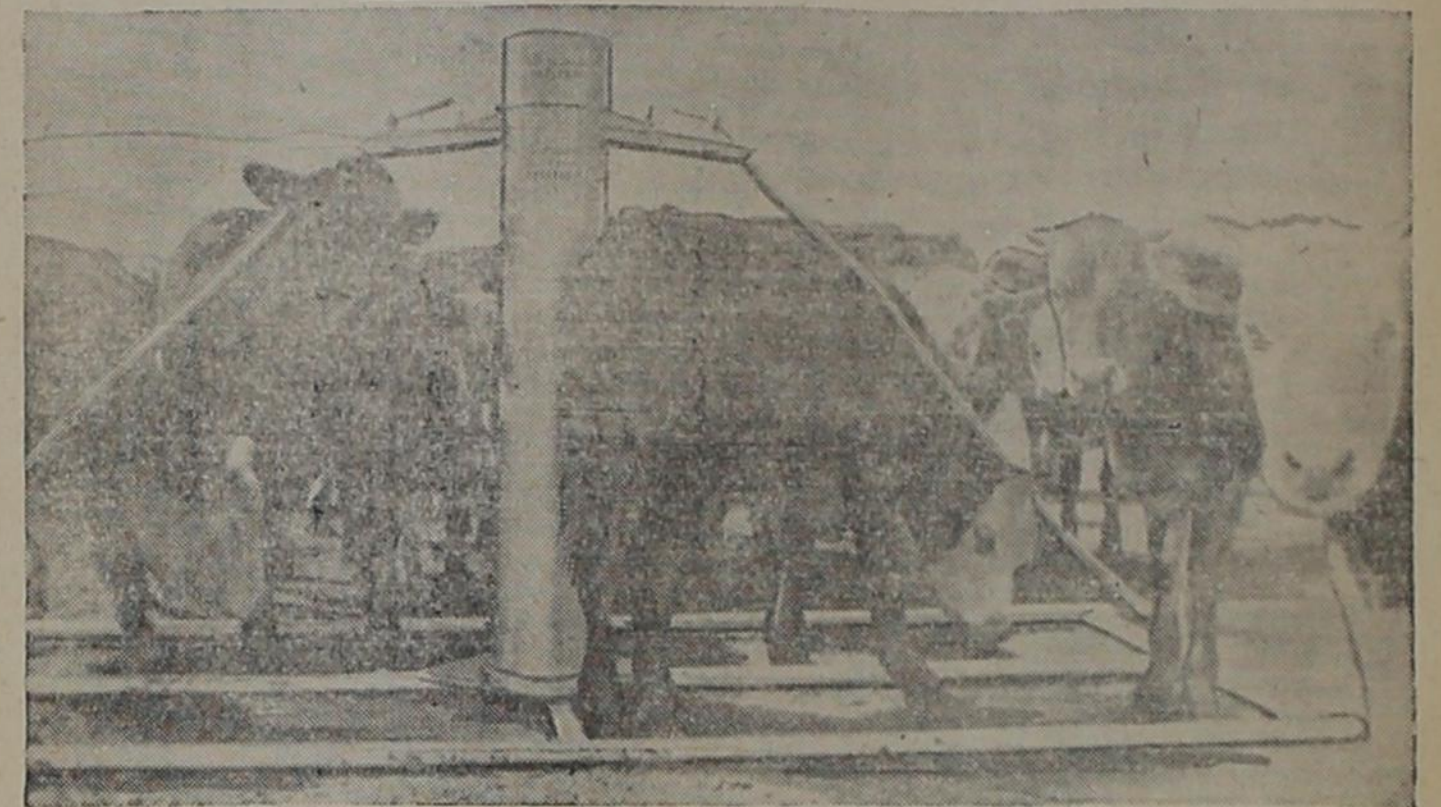

There are 500 in any good standard list and another 500 could be added without difficulty. And although any single recognized pattern usually is as rigidly fixed as the design on a dollar bill, there are permissible variations in wing styles and such which increases the thousand or so patterns by tenfold.

A thousand patterns with about 10,000 possible variations may look like utter, hopeless confusion, but it needn't be. According to Bill Wolf you can melt down that number quite easily.

First, the list of common, popular and useful patterns can be narrowed to less than 100. All the others are simply occasionally useful flies, or so similar to flies

State Health Officer Defines Public Health Socialized Medicine

Socialization has no place in either public health or the private practice of medicine, State Health Officer George Cox has said in a statement aligning himself with the medical profession against socialized medicine.

Public health is a separate, distinct field from private medicine, Dr. Cox said. Both professions have their separate objectives, and distinctive methods of accomplishing them.

He declared public health's objectives to be:

1—Public education as to how to avoid disease by such means as vaccination against smallpox and typhoid fever and immunization against diphtheria.

2—Investigation of disease outbreaks.

3—Quarantine and isolation of communicable disease cases, thus preventing its spread.

4—Inspection of water supplies, and control over the safe production and sale of milk, drugs, and food products.

"But," the health officer added, "people get sick and accidents happen, and the job of curing and patching up is the business of the private practitioner of medicine—the family doctor and the specialist."

Doctors in private practice advocate public health principles when they urge mothers to have children protected against diphtheria and smallpox, and public health officials "need their help in the vital work of maintaining a high level of well being for all Texans," Dr. Cox asserted.

We aren't in competition with doctors in private practice. Public Health people deplore the idea of socialized medicine as unworkable, cumbersome, and totally inefficient.

"There is no place on earth that has a better system of medical administration than the United States. Private doctors deserve the credit.

"And there is no place on earth with a higher standard of public health. Public health people deserve credit for that," the doctor concluded emphatically.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bradford moved to Dimmitt from Lubbock Friday. Mr. Bradford is overseeing the construction of his new gin in Dimmitt.

BOARD OF THANKS

I wish to take this means of expressing my appreciation to Dr. James and other members of the hospital staff, my Sunday School class and the W. M. U. and others for all of the services, courtesies, and kindnesses shown me during my stay in the hospital.

Sincerely,
Mrs. W. M. Howell

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil" says Arnold B. Bangerter, Jr.

Owner, Radio Cab Company
Salt Lake City, Utah

"Since I changed my 14 cabs over to Conoco Super, I've cut oil consumption almost 50 per cent. With at least 85,000 miles on each, there's no sign of needing new engines yet!"

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a 50,000-mile road test, with proper crankcase drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000! This test proved that Conoco Super can keep your new car new.

NEW CAR DEALER

"It's a pleasure to have satisfied customers, thanks to Conoco Super," says Walt Winters, Chrysler-Plymouth Dealer, Westside, Iowa. "My customers depend on my judgment about the oil to use in their cars, and Conoco Super is the one I recommend."

TRAVELING SALESMAN

"When I purchased my new Pontiac, I put in Conoco Super," says Melvin L. Beyer, Traveling Salesman, Pampa, Texas. "I average about 4,000 miles a month and Conoco Super has given me the best of service—even helped to increase the miles per gallon of gasoline."

Rogers' Mail Indicates People Favor MacArthur Over Truman

The MAIL: The mail is still coming in on the MacArthur matter and continues to run in about the same ratio as reported heretofore. Out of about 400 communications received by my office, 390 were in violent protest to the President's action. Six approved the President's action, and four were to the effect that both the President and MacArthur were wrong. In addition to these, I received approximately 750 replies to the Fulton Lewis questionnaire. These have not been completely tabulated as yet but the ratio reflects an overwhelming majority against the Administration. I should have a final tabulation on these within the next two weeks. The great amount of mail coming in from these two sources, in addition to the regular mail, has prevented the office from keeping up with the correspondence as promptly as we would like. However, those who have written me will receive replies within the next few days, as we are doing our best to get the mail out as quickly as possible.

APPROPRIATION BILLS: You are reading in your daily and weekly papers of the present activities of Congress in appropriation matters, but there are a few things that I would like to bring to you which are not contained in some of the regular news stories. It is interesting to note that in all departmental appropriation bills and other appropriation bills not directly connected with national defense there are many amendments cutting down expenditures for national defense. The appropriations bill that was before the House yesterday authorized additional expenditures for defense purposes of approximately six billion dollars. This bill was ably explained by the Honorable George Mahon, from the Lubbock district, and the Honorable Albert Thomas, from the Houston district. There was probably a great deal less debate on this measure than has been the case on defense appropriations matters involving less than one percent of the six billion-dollar bill. It certainly proves that this Congress is not going to be pennywise and pound-foolish in so far as preparedness is concerned, but is going to cut non-defense expenditures to the bone. During the debate on the defense appropriations bill it was brought out forcibly that this country is not prepared at the present time to wage a full scale war against a major power and that in order to remedy this situation, the defense program is a matter that cannot wait. It was also said that there might be some consolation in the fact that no other major power is at present prepared to wage a full scale war against us; the logic being that if Russia was so prepared, she would have already commenced hostilities on a full scale measure. There is no definite assurance that this logic is correct. No one knows just what Russia has. We do know that she has proceeded in the past by the infiltration method and by instigating internal strife and turmoil. It is against these weapons that we must be ever vigilant. We cannot let down our guard for an instant.

TRIAL OF RUMLEY AND PATTERSON: A District jury here convicted Dr. Edwin A. Rumley for contempt of Congress for failing to fully disclose the source of the funds used in carrying on his lobbying activities. He will be remembered as the head of the "Committee for Constitutional Government", and the same man who was convicted after World War I for violating the "Trading with the Enemy" Act. His conviction there grew out of his activities with the Imperial German Government during the war. He has been called one of the leading proponents of facism in this country. William L. Patterson, the negro communist leader, was also tried here, but his trial resulted in a hung jury, which was 9 to 3 according to the reports. His counsel consisted of Vito Marcantonio, a former member of Congress from New York, and also one of the lawyers who represented the eleven communists who were tried and convicted before Judge Medina. A great deal of the testimony in Patterson's case centered around a heated argument in the Congressional hearing between him and a Georgia congressman by the name of Henderson Lanham. The argument of course was on a recital basis. It is my understanding that Patterson is to be retried.

DISCREPANCIES IN GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS: In a previous news letter I called to your attention some discrepancies that had been discovered in payroll matters in connection with the Sampson Air Force Base in New York. These discrepancies were uncovered by the Appropriations Committee. Here are some more that were brought out at one of the hearings, and I quote from the record:

"The administrative payroll for the period (week) ending January 6, 1951, of the original contractor (Five Boro Construction Corp., and Malan Plumbing Co., Inc.) shows salaries at regular rates as follows:

Arnold Kagan, president, construction corporation, general policy determination in charge of subcontracts, corporation liaison with U. S. Government on job $1,000.

Sid Feldman, vice president, construction corporation, general policy determination in charge of subcontracts, general manager plumbing and heating, corporation liaison with U. S. Government on job: $1,000.

Nathan Coheen, secretary of construction corporation in charge of New York office in conjunction with Irving Feldman in charge of purchases and expediting of general construction materials and supplies for job: $600.

Edward Feldman, assistant project manager in charge of plumbing and heating and purchases of plumbing and heating materials and allocation to sites, progress schedules re-plumbing and heating: $500.

Hyman J. Feldman, assistant project manager in charge of plumbing and heating, supervision of field operations plumbing and heating: $500.

Sol Feldman, assistant office manager New York branch office; assistant purchasing agent and expeditor of plumbing and heating materials: $250.

Irving Feldman, treasurer of corporation, in charge of New York branch office in conjunction with Nathan Cohen in charge of purchases plumbing and heating: $250.

Nathan Prashker, assistant secretary of corporation in charge of finance, liaison with banks, etc.: $200.

"The payroll for the period ending January 13, 1951, appears to be the same as the one indicated above with the exception that at the end there is added the names of Robert J. Frankel, resident counsel-administrative representative in charge of subcontracts labor relations and other legal matters, for which no salary is indicated; and Raymond Borge (last name in doubt), office manager in charge of office personnel and operation at $150 per week.

"The payroll for the period ending January 20, 1951, appears to be the same as the preceding one, including the last two names mentioned in the paragraph above.

"The payroll for the period ending January 27, 1951, appears to be the same as the preceding one with the exception that on this payroll Robert J. Frankel received the sum of $300.

"The payroll for the period ending February 3, 1951, appears to be the same as the preceding one with the exception that the salary of Raymond Borge is $175 instead of $150 as shown for the preceding period, and there was added the names of Frank A. O'Hara, project manager at $300; Joseph Henrichs, assistant project manager in charge of progress schedules and general construction purchase orders subcontracts at $300; and William J. O'Hara, assistant project manager in charge of general field operations at $300.

"The payroll for the period ending February 10, 1951, appears to be the same as the preceding one."

You will note that the figures shown are on a per week basis and not a per month basis. It was practices of this kind that cost the taxpayers during World War II, and this Congress is not going to stand for any recurrence of this sort of thing. The "Renegotiations Act" this time is going to have teeth in it and is going to be used, and leeches on the Government are going to be shaken loose and required to answer for all shady practices. I am sorry that space will not permit me to go further into this matter, but will do so later on.

Around N. H. S.

By Martha Burt

The annual Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom were held on April 24. At 6:00 the juniors and seniors assembled in the school gym to have their pictures taken.

At 6:30 the entire group and their guests filed in colorful couples to the school cafeteria. There they enjoyed the annual class dinner served in courses by the sophomore girls all in sparkling white dresses and aprons made in the form of a bright pink flower in bloom. The banquet of fried chicken and cherry pie a la mode and several other courses was prepared by Mrs. Joe Guggemos and Mrs. Godfrey Binzegger.

After the banquet Irene Brockman, junior class president, gave the welcome address. She was followed by Harold Kleman, senior class president, who acted as master-of-ceremonies. Each of the senior girls then gave a short address: Jane Albracht, class prophecy; Rose Mary Conrad, class history; Emely Ann Pohlmeier, class will; Georgiann Schacher, class poem; Lois Book, toast to the pastor; Cecilia Aichlmayr, a toast to the juniors; Marion Schaefer, toast to the school; Imelda Heck, toast to the teachers; Father Peter Morsch, chief speaker of the evening, spoke on the duty of each individual in the nation towards the government of our country and the importance of religious freedom. Father G. A. Boeckman, a guest, wished the classes success and luck. Sister Victoria announced to the group that the Misses Rose Mary Conrad and Cecilia Aichlmayr are to be class Valedictorian and Salutatorian for the year '51.

The banquet was followed by the prom dance at 8:30. The two blue and carried white gladioli. Little Evelyn Birkenfeld carried the crown and walked before the Queen's two attendants, Juanita Hoelting and Nora Kleman. They were clad in blue gowns and carried bouquets of pink carnations. Last came the prefect, Clemie Aichlmayr. Stephen Schacher carried her train. It was her privilege to crown the statue of Our Lady with her May crown while the procession sang the hymn, "O Mary, We Crown Thee with Blossoms". A large number of the congregation attended the crowning and Benediction which followed. A fitting sermon was preached by Father Peter Morsch, the pastor.

Bond and for a period not to exceed ten additional years the cash value of the bond will increase each six months, interest accruing at the rate of 2½% simple interest for 7½ years, and then at an increase rate for the remaining 2½ years, to bring the aggregate interest return to approximately 2.9%, compounded semi-annually (the average rate as for the original ten-year period.) This choice requires no action by the owner of the bond; any E Bond which is not turned in for cash at its original maturity date will be extended automatically until such time as the owner does present it for payment. At the end of the extended period of ten years, interest ceases. The extended E-Bond may be redeemed at any time for the full face value plus interest which has accrued at the new rates.

(3) EXCHANGE. Those who prefer to receive interest as current income, rather than having it accrue and add to the cash value of the bond, may exchange maturing E Bonds in amounts of $500 or multiples thereof for Series G Savings Bonds. Series G Bonds are registered bonds issued at face amount (selling at par.) They bear interest at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually from issue date until their maturity in 12 years. There is a time limit after maturity of E Bonds for exchanging them for G Bonds; ask at any bank for details. G Bonds may be redeemed at any time after six months from the issue date on one calendar month's notice from the owner. If issued in exchange for maturing E Bonds, they will be redeemable for full face value whenever they are presented for payment—a new privilege. The options outlined apply to all outstanding E Bonds as they mature and will apply to all new Series E Savings Bonds issued in the future, Mr. Golden added.
