

Sugar supply management is necessary, says Bunker

Leaders of the nation's beet sugar processing industry today assessed the future in light of action by the US House of Representatives which last week failed to renew the Sugar Act under which the American sugar industry has operated since 1937.

THE INDUSTRY'S general reaction was voiced by Holly Sugar Corporation President John B. Bunker who declared that the beet sugar industry had "consistently supported a federal sugar program over the years and did, indeed, support the extension of such a program as proposed by the legislation which was defeated last week."

Bunker said that there is a strong belief that for the short term, the industry will operate at capacity irrespective of whether or not there is a Sugar Act. The present act expires Dec. 31, 1974.

According to Bunker, the beet crop currently in the ground will make growers eligible for conditional payments and growers will be subject to other provisions of the act through the harvest of their 1974 crop.

Bunker said, however, that it is in the long term interest of consumers to have some system of supply management for sugar. "Before we had a federal sugar program, supply and price were up and down like a yo yo," he said.

BUNKER pointed out that since the difference between over-supply and under-supply in the world is so thin, sugar is an extremely volatile commodity.

"The price can double or triple in a relatively short time span and then just as suddenly drop like a rock," he said.

He pointed out that history has shown that as soon as supply catches up with demand around the world, the price of sugar drops dramatically.

"A supply management program insulates consumers from such volatility," the sugar executive said. He further stated that sugar is now in tight supply around the world. He also said that 80-90% of the world's sugar is under management programs.

Wheat crop is trickling in

By JIM STEIERT
News Editor

The county's 1974 wheat crop continued to trickle in early this week while local elevator operators agreed that harvesting operations will probably get into full swing late this week and early next week.

COUNTY farmers have been harvesting "dried up corner patches" and plots of lower quality grain this week while most of the better irrigated wheat is still a little green. Wheat received this week has been testing light, due to an extremely dry fall and winter.

Ed Woodard of Bruegel & Sons Elevator reported that some of the early irrigated wheat is "pretty good" and that dryland and irrigated wheat has been coming in slowly most of this week. He reported that the average test weight of grain received at that elevator has been 57-58 pounds.

"We haven't received enough grain from anyone to figure yields yet, the only figure we have come from a dryland farm where the owner was harvesting about 15 bushels per acre," said Woodard.

"The wheat has been light so far, but has been coming in well," said C. J. Johnson of Castro County Grain Co. "Most of the wheat we have been receiving suffered some hail damage. This year's wheat crop should all be ripe at about the same time and the grain will probably really start coming in any time now," he added.

AT THE Nazareth branch of Dimmitt Agri Industries, about 15 loads of wheat have been coming in each day according to Kenneth Slough. "Test weights have been running from 52-59 pounds, and we're receiving irrigated wheat now," he said. "Yields have ranged anywhere from 10 to 39 bushels per acre," he added.

Slough reported that the better wheat in the Nazareth area is not ready yet and harvesting of the higher quality grain will probably start later this week.

"Farmers have been cutting their sorrier patches up until now," Slough commented. Bill Clark of Dimmitt Agri Industries reported that the Dimmitt facility has received only a small amount of wheat and speculated that harvesting operations for his customers "may be real strung out."

"Everything we've received so far has been poor quality, testing 55-56 pounds. The normal test weight is 60-62," said Clark.

Flagg Grain Co. manager J. R. Brown reported that the initial wheat yields are bad in his area, but anticipated receiving higher quality grain late this week or early next week.

"All the grain we've received so far has been testing real light, anywhere from 52 to 56 pounds and we've been receiving See WHEAT CROP, Page 14

ROBERT LOPEZ scores Dimmitt's first run against Sudan in the first inning of Friday night's Senior Babe Ruth League game here. Lopez, who got on base when he was hit by a wild pitch, stole home on a passed ball. At the time, Dimmitt was down by three runs but the locals tied the game at 3-3 in the first inning and went on to win, 8-3. At left is Umpire Jimmie Chapman.

The contest for a new Dimmitt slogan is still open for anyone who has an idea. Let's stay away from the Big "D", Little "D" or Middle Sized "D" theme, that's only the fourth letter in the alphabet, we can dig deeper than that. I can think of a number of appropriate slogans for our city, but it wouldn't be fair for a professional to compete with amateurs.

Just for starters, because we don't have any type of public transportation, such as rail, bus or whatever, how about "The Best Place in the World to be Stranded," or "Buy a House, Brother, We've Gotcha." Actually the Chamber of Commerce has been making a valiant effort to secure bus service for our city and at last report the possibility of getting limited service was good.

The lack of public transportation is not as necessary for the development of a community as it once was. Fact of the matter is very few people ride trains or buses anymore. They just don't like that business of so many comfort stops, they had rather ride in their own car or fly in one of the several planes based here that make charter flights.

Wheat harvest is underway, and on the brighter side we have fine prospects for a bumper corn crop.

I don't think anyone would want to take anything away from Mr. Kissinger, the president or the State Department, if through their efforts we really do have good relations with Egypt and a number of other Arabic nations. I think it might be well, however, to remember that some of those people slipped a well lubricated petrol stiletto between our fourth and eighth gasoline burning cylinders just a few months ago. I am sure that Mr. Kissinger has done a good job in the Middle East, especially since the death of Mr. Nasser. It would be my guess that if Nasser was still alive the Secretary of State of the United States wouldn't be allowed to land in Egypt. The thing that has done the most to improve relations between our countries was the opportunity for Mr. Sadat to become ruler of Egypt.

Another strong reason for a number of the Arabic States to decide that they wanted our love and friendship was because there were getting to be too many Russians all over the place.

FATHER OF THE YEAR — Mrs. Fred Bruegel, second vice president of the Castro County CowBelles, presents a large roast to Bill Gregory, who was named by the organization as the county's "Father of the Year." Gregory was nominated for the honor by his son, David, who wrote a letter telling why he thought his father should be named as the county's top father. The naming of the "Father of the Year" is held in conjunction with the CowBelles' "Beef for Father's Day" activities. The CowBelles urge all homemakers to serve their families beef Sunday, and hope to make beef on Father's Day as traditional as turkey at Thanksgiving.

Rites held Tuesday for Joe B. Andrews

Funeral services were held Tuesday in the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt for Joe B. Andrews, 38. The Rev. John Street, pastor, officiated.

MR. ANDREWS died about 7 a.m. Sunday in Lubbock Methodist Hospital.

Born Oct. 11, 1935 in Lubbock, he had been an employee of C&S Equipment Co. here for the past 15 years.

He is survived by his wife, Brenda; two daughters, Becky and Sanya of the home; his father, Bert, of Dimmitt; a brother, Jerry, of Houston; and a sister, Mrs. Katie Rowan of Acuff.

Active pallbearers were Tommy McCulister, Goldman Dyer, M. E. Cleavinger, Jim Cleavinger, Martin Young and Charles Axtell.

HONORARY pallbearers were Bob Myers, Joe Johnson, James Alexander, Ronald Rickert, Fred Annen, Cecil Crum and all the deacons of the First Baptist Church.

Burial was in Castro Memorial Gardens under the direction of Dennis Funeral Home.

Safety features planned at park

Officials of Dimmitt's junior baseball programs are planning two major safety improvements to the Little League park.

A TOP NET will be installed above the backstop to catch high fouls and keep the ball away from the highway.

And a chain-link fence will be put up parallel to the highway to help control the baseball traffic and keep children away from the high-speed pavement.

Officials of the Dimmitt Baseball Commission and the junior baseball leagues are planning to do the work, with whatever help they can get.

"WE'VE HAD three or four near misses on accidents from kids chasing foul balls onto the highway," said Bill Behrends, Baseball Commission president.

"The fence alone is going to cost $2,000," he added. "We don't have the money, but we're just going to have to go out and get it, or borrow it. If a kid got killed, we'd be sorry we didn't do all we could to make the park safer."

County coins to be minted

Castro County will soon have its own issue of commemorative coins.

AND EVEN before they're designed or ordered, they're going like pennies as residents sign up in advance for four-coin, numbered sets of the limited issue at $100 per set.

The Chamber of Commerce will issue the commemoratives. Bill Behrends is in charge of the project, which is expected to net the chamber $5,000 per year to help finance its activities.

The coins will be designed locally. The chamber is launching a design contest for both sides of the new coin. One design will be on the "permanent" side, and will remain the same on all future issues of the coin. The "flip side" design will change from year to year.

LOCAL artists should submit black-and-white design sketches to the Chamber of Com-

GOLD, SILVER AND BRONZE — These are the types of commemorative coins Castro County will soon have, but the design will be different. This is Swisher County's Bicentennial issue in a four-coin, serialized collector's set. The coins, from left, are 24k gold-plated merce office in the city hall. The winner's prize will be a set of the first issue.

The four coins will be minted in three precious and semi-precious metals. In descending order of value, they will be (1) 24k gold-plated silver, (2) .999 pure silver, (3) brushed (antique) silver, and (4) bronze.

The gold coins will all carry serial numbers, and will be available only in the serialized four-coin collector sets.

TO PROTECT the value of these serialized sets, the number to be issued is being fixed at 112. The same number of sets will be issued every year, and the original purchaser of a certain serial number will be guaranteed the same serial number each year as long as he wants it.

"From the response we've had just planning out the project, I expect these four-coin sets will be sold out before they're even minted," Behrends said. He reported that 27 persons ordered sets the first day a chamber committee gathered at the First State Bank to study sample sets.

If you want a serialized set of the commemorative coins but don't want to spend $100, you can still get one of two other serialized sets. Fifty three-coin sets will be issued, consisting of silver, brushed silver and bronze coins; and 130 sets of numbered two-coin sets — brushed silver and bronze — are being ordered.

ALSO, individual unnumbered coins will be available in brushed silver and bronze for businesses and individuals to present to county visitors and friends.

America the Beautiful... From the time that Columbus discovered America... men have thought of this country as something special. It was here that Ponce de Leon sought the Fountain of Youth, and men have long admired America's majestic mountains and beautiful valleys. However, the real beauty lies not in the land, but in the people. The people came... seeking a land where they could worship God in freedom, and under God developed a kind and loving spirit. This is what makes America beautiful. Attend church regularly... help keep America beautiful. The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God. Wheat crop proving short

By MRS. AGNES BROCKMAN

The weather here has been wonderful the last day or two, according to what we had last Saturday. We were still very fortunate as it was much worse in Amarillo, Oklahoma and Kansas. The crops look quite sick since the storm, some farmers are harvesting wheat but they say it isn't turning out very well at all on account of the dry weather and the Mosaic Virus that hit most fields.

MRS. BILLIE Schacher, her folks Mr. and Mrs. Ragland, and her sister and her husband were vacationing in Colorado last week.

Florence Albracht is home after being in the hospital in Denver for treatment for arthritis.

Mary Beth Ramaekers and Kimberly Wilhelm left Monday night with other girls from this area by charter bus for Austin to attend Girls State for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schmucker and family spent the past week in Colorado Springs and Denver visiting the Dennis, Marvin and Leroy Hoelting families. They reported snow and sleet Saturday morning in Colorado Springs.

LORI AND Jenny Huseman went back with the Sam Burts to Longview for a short vacation.

Mrs. Francis Wilhelm attended the funeral for Rhea Smith in Amarillo Friday.

The Al Sinclair family has been visiting the George Books the past week. They live in Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wilhelm attended the Fourth Division Convention of the American Legion in San Angelo Saturday and Sunday.

THE ROBERT Husemans, Ed Ramaekers, Albert Hartmans, Fritz Gerbers and Greg Hoelting went to Slaton last Sunday for the third degree initiation of the Knights of Columbus which was held there.

Last week Lon and Marie Brockman went to Etter to visit Marie's sister Rose Freimal of Buffalo, Mo. who had come out to visit her son there. Max Acker spent a couple of days in Lubbock visiting the Jack Dea's. The Edmund Backus family spent the weekend in Nazareth visiting Helen Backus and the Leonard Gerbers.

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX
SUMMER READING PROGRAM! We have registered 145 boys and girls in the Summer Reading Program and this is just the end of the first week. The program lasts until August 20th so there is still time to come in and register and read at least 12 books.

Gay Roland, a former employee of the Castro County News who now lives in San Diego, Calif., came in last week to see the new library. She likes it well enough out there to go back to work! Also Frankie Reed, who is employed in the Sheriff's office, came in with Beral Hance to see the new library. Her husband M.J. was here for the dedication of the library but this was Frankie's first visit.

MORE ABOUT my vacation! We rode the train from Oberammergau back to Munich, Germany. This was a lovely ride through the country. The grass was so pretty and green and the mountains were covered in snow. Some of the houses were built along the railroad track and everyone had a vegetable garden as well as flowers. Some larger towns had places for community gardens all along the tracks and the women were out there hoeing or gathering vegetables or flowers. It seems that flowers are very important to the European people. We saw fresh cut flowers in the markets along with the vegetables.

From Munich we took a plane to Vienna, Austria. My niece, Pam, had read an article by a New York reporter saying he had walked through the Vienna Woods along the Beethoven Trail so that is the reason she wanted to go to Vienna. We took a trolley out to the edge of town, then walked through the Vienna Woods, along the Beethoven Trail, then climbed the steps up the mountain through all the grape vineyards. We walked and climbed for about three hours — with no place to sit and rest. Two German women (one was 69 and the other one was 74) came along and walked with us, showing us a few shortcuts. They said they walked up there often. We finally made it to the top of the mountain where there is a beautiful view of the city below and the Danube River. We ate lunch on the balcony of the restaurant and then took a bus back down. The bus was crowded so we had to stand at the back of the bus and the driver took the curves so fast that we were having a terrible time trying to stay on our feet! The hotel in which we were staying only served breakfast so since we were so tired we went to bed without our supper! Let me warn you — don't ever go to Europe with a 24 year old!

We went through the Saint Stephen's Cathedral which is located in the center part of the city and another palace in Vienna, but by this time I was becoming confused because we had been through so many palaces and cathedrals that I don't know if it was the Hofburg palace or something else! Anyway it was pretty and the courtyard was unusual since the tall trees had been trimmed to grow like a huge hedge.

NEXT WE went to Cologne, Germany where Pam's cousin John Bilodeau and his family met us at the airport, also an English friend from London. John had an itinerary all typed out for each of us to keep. Since he had to work, his wife Sharon took us to Bonn, Germany where we saw Beethoven's birthplace and shopped some. They were having a festival and instead of the usual fruits and vegetables in the Market Square there were platforms with bands and other musicians. All the buildings were decorated with the largest balloons I have ever seen, in all bright colors and I have never seen so many people unless it was on the streets in Paris!

On the weekend, John took us to Berncastle about 150 miles from Cologne where we saw 60 miles of grapevines growing all the way up to the very top of the mountain and right down to the edge of the highway. We shopped in some of the quaint little shops, came back by another castle and had Black Forest Cake and coffee. We stopped at Coblenz and walked along a beautiful broad walkway along the Rhine River. Again there were pretty flowers and shrubs and tall trees. We would have enjoyed this more but we were so tired and it seemed everyone had dressed just to come down there to walk and there we were in our pant suits.

John took us to Comern to see a model old German city similar to the "Ranch Headquarters" in Lubbock where they are restoring old ranch buildings. There we saw several of the early day homes including the furniture and dishes. There was a doll museum there too. We also saw two windmills like the ones in Holland. In fact, we were about 40 miles from Holland.

We went through another castle, then took a trolley up a mountain to the ruins of an old fort where we could see a beautiful view of the Rhine River.

Another thrill was our flight home on a Boeing 747!

STAND UP TRIPLE — Donald Ewing of the Giants pulls up safe at third after slamming a triple in last Thursday night's Jr. Babe Ruth game against the Tigers. Ewing hit the ball to left field where it took a couple of crazy hops before an outfielder could nab it. Bill Goldsmith, third base umpire, is giving the safe sign while coach Shorty Barlow is observing whether Ewing should slide or not. The Giants won the Thursday contest 6-4.

IN SEVEN cattle growing states (Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas), there were 8-351,000 head on feed as of May 1.

4-H'ers do well at meet

By IRENE KEATING

We had a nice trip to College Station last week and our 4-H'ers did real well. Agnes Acker was 10th in the state with her wildlife conservation demonstration, Norman and Elaine Acker were 9th with soil and water conservation and also 9th were Carol Hochstein and Donna Acker with tornado safety. We had a fun trip by Six Flags on the way home.

Remember that the 4-H record workshops will be held all day on June 18 and 19. Come by anytime on those days to get your record completed.

THE DUST storm last week made extra dusting for us all. It made me think of dust cloths too, so I'm going to share methods of making your own dust cloths with you. There are four preparation methods:

— Pour two tablespoons of furniture polish or liquid wax into a one quart jar or coffee can. Rotate jar or can to completely coat inside surfaces. Pour out excess liquid to avoid getting too much on the cloths. Paste wax also can be used by coating inside of the jar or can with a light film of wax. Then place two or three dustcloths in the jar or can. Let them stand a day or two — they will absorb the liquid or wax evenly.

— Another method combines one-fourth cup lemon oil with one pint of boiling water. Add six to eight cloths and let them absorb as much liquid as possible. When the water cools, wring out each cloth and hang it up to dry thoroughly.

For all dustcloths, use old soft cotton cloths. Always store treated dustcloths in a covered glass jar or can to prevent a fire hazard. When they become soiled from use, wash in warm suds and treat them again if necessary.

— A third method calls for one tablespoon of kerosene mixed with one quart of hot water. Dip squares of soft clean cloth into this solution, wring out, dry and store in covered jar or can.

— For the fourth method, mix one quart warm water, one tablespoon of household ammonia and two tablespoons of boiled linseed oil or a good furniture polish.

Mix well and dip soft cloths into the solution. After cloth is saturated with mixture, squeeze out, dry and store in covered jar or can.

Mrs. Susan Royal presided at the guest book. Mrs. Craig Fuller and Miss Suzanne Merritt served coconut roll cake and punch from a table covered with white cloth.

The center arrangement of white daisies and baby's breath was made by Mrs. Carol Lantz. Some 23 ladies assisted Mrs. Polson with hostess duties.

BEN AND DICKIE HOLCOMB OF AAA FLYING SERVICE, INC. ... In background: Two of firm's three Grumman Ag-Cats

Fast-growing spray company shoots for same-day service

Ben and Dickie Holcomb started AAA Flying Service, Inc., in 1969 with one Piper Pawnee spray plane.

TODAY, the energetic young company has three big Grumman Ag-Cat spray planes that dust crops in a 30-40 mile radius of home base.

Ben is sold on the Ag-Cat: "I feel the Ag-Cat is the Cadillac of spray planes," he said. "It's got the best safety record of any plane in the field."

AAA Flying Service bought its third Ag-Cat just before the current crop-year started.

PILOTING the Ag-Cats are David Ellison and John Autry. The firm's ground man is Gene Autry, who's in charge of aircraft maintenance and refilling. Ben is the company's general manager ("I work wherever they need me"), and Dickie is the office manager — the lady whose voice you hear when you call AAA for service.

The company's office, hangars and landing strip are located at the Holcombs' farm eight miles south and 1 1/2 miles east of Dimmitt. From this location, David and John fly in all directions to dust crops throughout Castro County and in several adjoining counties.

"We try to give service the same day it's asked for, depending on the weather," Ben said.

To be able to do that, a company has to make "service" its byword, and gear its chemical inventory, communications and entire operation toward quick service.

Considering the growth that AAA Flying Service, Inc., has enjoyed during its first five years, its customers have been pleased with the service they're getting.

VETERANS' SERVICES

By BEDFORD W. SMITH
County Service Officer

We've received the following news release from the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco, Texas to pass on to those concerned:

"IF YOU haven't done so, tell your survivors what benefits they might be entitled to in the event of your death," the Veterans Administration periodically reminds the nation's more than 29 million veterans.

Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director, insists there are good reasons for this advice.

"Too often," he pointed out, "the veteran and his wife neglect to discuss the subject of death, resulting in unnecessary burden on survivors in times of great emotional stress."

Not only should the veteran and his wife discuss locations of important family documents, they should make sure they are protected from fire, theft and damage. It also was emphasized that survivors should be briefed on what to do in case of the veteran's death.

The veteran's family should be told of possible survivor's benefits such as VA's dependency and indemnity compensation for service-connected death, or non-service-connected death pensions for widows, or just for children in cases where a widow may be ineligible because of excessive income.

Burial benefits for wartime and certain peacetime veterans should not be overlooked. These include a maximum $250 burial allowance, plus a plot allowance not exceeding $150 for veterans buried outside national cemeteries. In lieu of these benefits, there is an $800 burial allowance for veterans who die of service-connected disabilities.

COKER further stressed the importance of keeping track of GI insurance policy numbers, claim numbers for inclusion in all correspondence with VA, commercial insurance policies, social security numbers and naturalization papers — all important in claiming various sur-

More Could Be Saved
More than 110,000 Americans who will die of cancer this year might have been saved with earlier diagnosis and prompt treatment. Fight cancer with an annual health checkup and a generous check to support the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education, and service.

WE HAVE more food per person than any other country in the world. And more diets to keep us from eating it.

WHOA! — Dimmitt's Travis Hampton Jr. applies the brakes at third base after stretching a booted single into a triple in the second inning of Friday night's Senior Babe Ruth League game against Sudan here. At left, Coach Larry McMinn gives Hampton the hold-up sign as Sudan's third baseman scoops in the throw from the outfield. Dimmitt won the game, 8-3.

Youths in Austin for Boys State this week

MARLA MAYFIELD, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Mayfield of Dimmitt, has been named to the dean's honor list at Texas Tech University for the spring semester. Miss Mayfield is a 1972 graduate of Dimmitt High School and is an advertising arts major.

The thirty-fourth annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the Department of Texas and held on the campus of the University of Texas, got underway Wednesday as 872 high school boys from all parts of Texas, and two from Mexico, began registration, Lynn Steward, Department Commander, announced.

AMONG THOSE registering from Castro County were Lance Loudder representing Dimmitt Post 445 and Bernie Huseman and Keith Birkenfeld representing Nazareth Post 528.

Following registration each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties — the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party, he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

Boys State helps to develop civic leadership and pride in American citizenship. This program arouses a keen interest in the detailed study of our government. These civic workshops stress the importance of maintaining our form of government and bring better understanding of our national traditions and beliefs to the more than 28,000 young men who are participating this year.

In Boys State, the American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol on Tuesday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 18,351 high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

ON THE GO

Mr. and Mrs. Lester McDermit are home from a fun trip to Southern California. They visited daughter Janie and Richard Walker at San Diego, went out to Disneyland, and the zoo. The boat trip around the bay was good. They saw the Naval vessels and aircraft carriers that are giants. Richard is a car salesman out there. Of course they rode over 1500 miles of desert and mountain roads to and from.

Additional AI clinics slated

Texas livestock producers will have an opportunity to participate in four additional clinics on artificial insemination (AI) and pregnancy determination during the coming months.

THE CLINICS, each four days in length, are a joint effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Curtiss Breeding Service. Thirteen similar clinics involving the American Breeders Service were announced earlier in the year.

The clinics are designed to provide highly technical field training in AI and pregnancy testing in addition to detailed information on managing the breeding herd, according to John R. Beverly, animal reproduction specialist for the Extension Service. Discussions will cover nutrition, disease prevention, selection and records.

The clinic schedule is as follows: Aug. 12-16, San Angelo; Sept. 9-13, Mercedes; Sept. 23-27, Bryan; and Nov. 11-15, Midland.

In addition to Beverly, Extension livestock specialists providing training at the clinics will include Dr. Jerry J. Cowley, Weslaco; Dr. Leroy Hoermann, Uvalde; and Dr. Tom Woodward, San Angelo.

INFORMATION on advance registration is available from Wes Robinson, Route 1, Box 341-A, Anderson, Texas 77830 (713-873-2772).

BEFORE moving to a new location, have draperies, rugs and slipcovers cleaned. Also get furniture re-upholstered — if needed — and do a general overhaul of belongings, suggests Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Coaches All-America Game set for June 22 at Jones Stadium

The 14th annual Coaches All-America Game will be played for the 5th straight year in Jones Stadium, Texas Tech University, Lubbock on Saturday, June 22. Tickets are on sale at the Texas Tech Ticket office.

FOR Lubbock and the Texas South Plains, this grid classic has become "All Americans on the Line for Handicapped Americans". Many needy charities in Lubbock, on the Texas South Plains and throughout the Lone Star State have benefitted through over $160,000 of the net proceeds shared in the first four years of the game's Lubbock site by the co-sponsoring non-profit Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Lions District 2-T2 (2700 Lions in 67 West Texas Lions clubs).

The Lubbock State School for the Mentally Retarded received a large amount of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce net game fund share for the school's new $61,000 specially-designed enclosed swimming pool. Other non-profit humanitarian causes helped are: the South Plains Kidney Foundation (kidney dialysis machines - $25,000); and Girltown USA, a home for displaced girls in Whiteface (new $40,000 gym). Also receiving a helping hand when they need it most include: Little League Baseball, eyecare patients of all ages, Girl Scouts, Meals on Wheels, the Texas Lions Crippled Children Camp at Kerrville and the Texas Lions Club Diabetic Camp at Friendswood.

LUBBOCK businessmen, on their own volition, separately underwrote $117,000 in lighting replacement for lights damaged in the May 11, 1970 tornado. Jones Stadium thus became one of the best lighted stadiums in America, ideally suited for nighttime color television and better spectator viewing.

Tickets for the Coaches All-America Game are $2, $5 and $7.

Head coach of the West team in this year's game will be Barry Switzer, coach of the Oklahoma Sooners and the AFCA's coach of the year from District 6. In his first season as coach Switzer led Oklahoma to a 10-0-1 record.

Switzer will be assisted by Jim Carlen, head coach at Texas Tech, who led his Red Raiders to an 11-1 record including a 28-19 win over Tennessee in the Gator Bowl. He was selected Southwest Conference coach of the year.

Dave Maurer of Wittenberg will also be on the West coaching list. His team won the NCAA Division III national championship with an 11-0 record.

JOHNNY Majors of the Pittsburgh Panthers will handle the head coaching duties for the East squad. His Panthers were participants in the Fiesta Bowl.

Assisting with East coaching duties will be Bennie Ellender who led Tulane to a 9-3 record and a berth in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. Also assisting will be John Merritt of Tennessee State. His team was undefeated and advanced to the NCAA college division playoffs.

Dimmitt girl goes to twirling camp

Laurie Herber of Dimmitt recently attended a twirlers camp at Panhandle State University.

THE CAMP was under the direction of the National Baton Twirlers Association. Renee Tarbet was the camp director, assisted by Jean Tarbet of Borger.

Student teaching instructors were Patsy Malone from Borger and Teri Gabert from Amarillo.

Approximately 40 twirlers were enrolled in the week long camp.

Program provisions set for 1974

By CHARLEY E. HILL
County Executive Director
GENERAL PROVISIONS OF 1974 WHEAT, COTTON AND
FEED GRAINS
To be in the program you

1. Sign an Intention to Participate, certify to the acreages of wheat, cotton and feed grains prior to harvest or July 15, whichever is earlier.
2. Report any disaster condition within 15 days of the final planting date, or disaster, or when you decide to abandon the particular acreage planted to the affected crop.
3. Provide a record of total production for partially failed program crop. Keep separate records for each farm.

PROGRAM PAYMENTS
There are two kinds of payments:

1. DEFICIENCY payments when the average price drops below $2.05 per bushel on Wheat; 38 cents per pound on Cotton; $1.38 per bushel on Corn and $1.31 per bushel on Grain Sorghum.
2. DISASTER payments are (a) Prevented Planting; and (b) Abnormally low yields.

Payments for these program crops are wheat 68 cents per bushel; Cotton 12.7 cents per pound; Corn 46 cents per bushel; and Grain Sorghum 44 cents per bushel.

A producer must make every effort to produce a normal crop and normal farming operations must be performed. Prevented Planting will most likely cover a general area rather than a single farm.

To qualify for a low yield on wheat you must produce less than 2/3 of the established yield for your farm due to a natural disaster. To be eligible, production records must be brought to the ASCS Office immediately following harvest and the harvested acreage measured prior to the destruction of the crop residue.

The Final Planting date for Cotton is June 1; Corn, May 31; and Grain Sorghum, June 20. You may plant or replant later than these dates, but you are required to plant until these dates to be eligible for program benefits.

PAYMENT LIMITATION
Payments under both the disaster and deficiency programs will be limited to a total of $20,000 to any one producer for all programs in 1974. When you certify to your crop acreages be sure to show your correct interest in each crop and show all other producers and landowners interest. Payments, if any, will be divided in the same way the crop is divided.

CROP REPORTS FROM FARMERS NEEDED
During the last half of May, some 24,000 Texas farmers will receive a crop acreage questionnaire from Mr. Charles E. Caudill, Agriculture Statistician in charge of the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Austin. Reports are needed from each farmer receiving the questionnaire for statistical purposes so that our county will be well represented.

WOOL PROGRAM STILL IN EFFECT

The Wool Program is still in effect for 1974; therefore wool producers should file their sales document on wool and unshorn lambs at the ASCS Office. Payments will be made on 1974 wool if the National Average Price received by all producers falls below 72 cents per pound. The final determination of National Average Price will be made in March, 1975.

REMEMBER: You must file for Prevented Planting within 15 days from the Final Planting Date for the affected crop to be eligible for disaster payment.

THOUGHT: Middle age is when everything starts to wear out, fall out or spread out.

On Wall Street
By Bob Hill
Lentz, Newton & Co.

People in the town of Exeter, N.H. (population 8000 plus) recently tried an unusual experiment in the battle against inflation. For a year and a half 180 of the town's inhabitants pooled their dollars, ranging in amounts from $50 to over $15,000 in a huge joint checking account. People could make dollar deposits and withdrawals and the administrator, Arbitrage International, handled all the paper work and bookkeeping. The dollar value of all the accounts fluctuated with the monthly changes in the Consumer Price Index. This is "Indexing". The participant could liquidate his Constants (100 Constants were issued for each $20 initially) or add to his account at the current value of the Constants. Arbitrage International stood ready to redeem the Constants at any time according to the current monthly values which were printed and widely distributed around the town.

SOME HOLDERS regarded their Constants as only an investment to hold while they appreciated in value. The majority of participants used their Constants to pay bills, buy groceries, dining out, even paying traffic fines.

Each participant who paid $20 for 100 Constants in June, 1972 received $23.30 in January, 1974 when the experiment was closed out 18 months later. If one of the experimental commodity indexes developed by Ralph Borsodi, originator of the idea, had been used, 100 Constants could have been worth over $35 as a result of the tremendous rise in commodities prices during the 18 months.

The Secret Service looked into the experiment to make sure that the Constants did not in any way resemble US currency and was satisfied that they did not. The Securities & Exchange Commission got into the act over whether the Constants were technically "securities". So, the originators decided to terminate the experiment since the important point had been proved. There is a form of inflation-proof money. The governments of the world wouldn't be too happy with the idea, though, since the whole system can be run by the banks and it takes the creation of money completely out of the hands of the governments.

Swine industry confab slated at Brownwood

Prompted by deteriorating hog marketing conditions in Texas, the directors of the Texas Pork Producers Association along with representatives of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas A&M University are sponsoring a marketing conference June 28 in Brownwood. The sole aim of the meeting is to determine ways to reverse the downward trend in marketing opportunities, according to Dr. Gilbert Hollis, Extension area swine specialist.

INCLUDED in the conference will be producers, packers, market representatives and allied industry officials. They will study all the major aspects of marketing and try to develop a positive approach for dealing with problem areas, Hollis reports.

Pointing to the declining number of hog slaughtering plants in Texas, Hollis explains that some plants which are multiple species operations (slaughter several types of animals such as cattle, hogs, etc.) are faced with suspension of operations due to economic difficulties and antiquated facilities. That, combined with low prices for hogs on today's markets, has created a pessimistic attitude among producers, he notes. This meeting will give producers and industry officials a chance to exchange information about these problems and what can be done about them.

The conference is set to begin at 9 a.m. at the Holiday Inn. A pork producers panel gets the program underway, with representatives of local swine associations across the state discussing their marketing situation.

A marketing panel made up of representatives of packers, auctions, and central markets are on tap to describe buying and marketing practices.

ANOTHER panel will focus on market analysis, including topics on prices, competitive positions, plant locations and outlook.

A session on market alternatives begins the afternoon program, with deliberations covering such topics as auction and terminal markets, direct selling, forward contracting and integration.

Rounding out the one-day event will be an open forum on feasible alternatives and a plan of action.

Hollis emphasizes that the meeting is designed to study hog market conditions in Texas and to bolster a cohesive plan of action among the state's swine producers and allied industries.

ALL TEXAS swine producers are encouraged to attend, he said.

Precise irrigations can boost corn yields

Because corn uses more water than most major crops grown in West Texas, precise irrigation practices play an important role in boosting yields, says an irrigation specialist.

LEON NEW, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explains that irrigations during high water use stages of plant growth contribute heavily to high corn yields. Only slight increases are obtained by watering during stages when the plant's water use is less.

"It is important to keep the plant's seasonal water use pattern in mind when planning irrigations," New advises. "This can boost yields and at the same time cut pumping costs."

The engineer explains that water use is low during the plant's vegetative growth when the first five to six leaves are unfolding. It is best to have only moderate soil moisture to support plant growth at this time. Usually, he adds, pre-plant irrigation or early rainfall is adequate for this early stage. Any irrigation normally contributes little to corn yields and tends to encourage shallow rooting and excessive vegetation growth.

In fact, lush plants grown under high soil moisture levels early in the season often require more water later and compete for moisture that is important in producing top corn yields.

THE PLANT'S water use increases rapidly after six to eight permanent leaves have appeared, he says. Plants are likely to be about knee-high but will grow four or five feet during the following five to six weeks.

Miss Parker named to ACC honor roll

Here are week's best food buys

Poultry is a key word now in economical food buying, one authority says.

SHE'S MRS. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Fryer production is three percent larger than last year, and bargains appear on whole birds, cut-ups and select pieces," the specialist reported.

"Turkey and turkey parts with attractive price tags are feature items in many markets."

Fresh fruit and vegetables in good supply include cabbage, carrots, corn, collards, mustard greens, dry yellow onions, soft shell squash, radishes and green onions, Mrs. Clyatt said.

"DURING this 'between seasons' period for fruit, peaches are priced high, and much of the fruit has not sized well. Cantaloupe and watermelon prices are dropping as supplies increase.

Turning to pork, the specialist said best values are shoulder roasts and steaks, smoked hams and picnics, end-cut loin roasts and steaks.

Beef values are chuck roasts and steaks, ground beef, round steaks and roasts.

HESSTON'S StakHand® 60-A lets you put up to 100 tons a day in compressed Hesston HayStaks that protect all the quality you can grow!

The Hesston StakHand 60-A is the high capacity way to build compressed stacks so weather-resistant they serve as their own non-taxable storage structure or self-feeder. And now, new improvements add even greater efficiency. Synchro-mesh press arms power the vertical compression chamber, compressing the crop evenly to about half the density of bales.

The 60A comes in two models—one with a fixed spout and rotary paddle pickup for use in hay and in standing or lodged stover, the other with folding tine pickup for hay or windrowed stover. The StakHand can field-drop stacks or haul them to feeding or storage areas. In either case, properly formed stacks can keep the crop green and fresh for a year or longer.

With the companion StakMover 60-A, available in both Farm & Ranch and Highway models, you alone can load, move and unload stacks without leaving the driver's seat. A StakFeeder® attachment simplifies what once was a backbreaking chore. To open your fields, rely on the Hydro-Static 6600 Windrower.

There it is! The profitable one-man hay system for big acreages anywhere... plus the versatility of handling stover. Go ahead, buy a Hesston. For a Stak of reasons!

Farmers seeking alternatives for hailed-out cotton crops

A Texas Agricultural Extension agronomist stationed at Lubbock said that the weekend storms of June 1 to 3 over the South Plains damaged more than a quarter of a million acres of crops. Cotton was hardest hit with thousands of acres totally destroyed in Hale, Lamb, Floyd, Swisher, Briscoe and Crosby counties.

DR. JAMES Supak said that farmers are now faced with a tough decision on whether to replant cotton or shift to an alternate crop.

"Wet fields may delay replanting operations until mid-June or later," he predicted, "crowding the latest practical date for planting cotton, especially in the northern regions of the South Plains."

Supak suggested that farmers consider replanting grain sorghum, pinto beans or soybeans as alternate crops.

Cotton producers who incorporated Treflan or similar pre-plant herbicides have eliminated the possibility of growing sorghum on that land this year. Even if they used a pre-emergence herbicide, he said, they would be running a risk to plant sorghum. The surface-applied chemicals are leached into the soil by rainfall, though the depth of penetration varies with the type of herbicide, texture of the soil and amount of rain. To circumvent the problem, on the heavier textured soils a buster planter set to displace the top four to five inches of soil can establish a seed furrow in herbicide-free soil, he recommended.

"RECORD high market prices and tolerance to herbicides such as Treflan make pinto beans an attractive replacement for hailed-out cotton," the agronomist suggested. "Although varieties such as Luna and Idaho III yield well when planted in mid to late June, there are several problems associated with pinto bean production.

"To begin with, planting seed is currently in short supply and quite expensive. Much of the seed that is available is of questionable quality and may be infected with Halo Blight.

"In addition, planting of pintos needs to be restricted to fields where dry beans, peas and soybeans have not been grown for at least three years," he said.

"Finally, efficient harvesting involves knife and windrowing operations followed by the use of bean combines equipped with pickup attachments. Direct harvesting with grain combines usually results in significant shattering losses and excessive splitting of the seed passing through these machines."

SUPAK NOTED that soybeans are frequently used as a replacement for hail damaged cotton. This crop is tolerant to most cotton herbicides and can be planted over a wide range of dates.

Pointing to results of a four-year study conducted by scientists at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, he said that good yields may be obtained from late June to early July plantings.

"Since soybeans are sensitive to day length," he added, "late plantings result in short stalk growth of all varieties and the combines miss a good portion of lowest seed pods. This problem can be partially circumvented by the use of varieties that fall into the late Group IV and Group V maturity groups.

"Columbus (late Group IV), Hill (early Group V), and York (late Group V) are among the better varieties which fall into this grouping; their later maturity tends to promote more stalk growth than that obtained with earlier varieties such as Clark 63 and Patterson. In addition to good yields, these varieties have also exhibited excellent seed holding characteristics (low incidence of shattering at maturity) and good resistance to lodging," said Su-

FIRE DESTROYED this pumphouse and all its contents Saturday evening on the Reese Kesler farm six miles northeast of Dimmitt. Here, volunteer fireman R. W. Morris opens the nozzle on the blaze as P. O. Goodwin brings up more hose, although it's too late to save the building. Destroyed in the fire were a pressure tank, washing machine and two deep freezers.

Conserve Soil With Minimum Tillage Method

AUSTIN--Agriculture Commissioner John C. White recently suggested that farmers who are still planting crops employ minimum tillage practices to conserve soil and fuel.

The method combines tilling and planting into a once-over operation. Some farmers also supply fertilizer, herbicide and insecticide in a single trip across the field.

It can reduce soil loss from 40 to 90 percent and cut down on fuel use by 50 percent or more.

"With dry conditions in the High Plains, it is more necessary than ever to practice sound soil conservation measures," White said.

Recent reports indicate that cotton and sorghum planting are active on the High and Low Plains. Soybean planting has started on the Upper Gulf Coast, Northern High Plains and in East Texas.

You plastic-worm fanatics will find this hard to believe, but it happened. Bass after bass ignored a seductive plastic worm to chomp on a homely, homemade streamer fly! The pattern is so simple even a beginner at the art of fly tying can make one up in a few minutes. To add to the incongruity, it is made of comparatively cheap, plain black synthetic yarn.

The creator is Leon Martuch, of Scientific Anglers, leading maker of quality fly lines. He saw no reason why a plastic worm should catch more big bass than a properly tied, proficiently fished streamer fly.

"I agreed," says Angling Editor Homer Circle of Sports Afield. "But I added, challengingly, there's been a lot of chatter about it but that's all."

That's how it happened that the streamer fly and the plastic worm were put to a test on one of Homer Circle's ponds. Glen Lau, veteran angler and photographer, wielded the plastic worm and Leon Martuch fished with his new invention.

While Leon was digging into his duffel bag for his secret weapon, Glen made several casts with a black plastic worm. He tried every trick in the book... crawling, hopping, swimming, yo-yoing, twitching and super fast. The bass just eyeballed it, nothing more. They had already indicated that they were through for the day.

Leon then hauled out his outlandish-looking fly. It was a generous six inches long, with a body of tightly wound synthetic floss. The tail flumed out just before the hook took its bend and extended a good four inches behind the hook. A two-pronged wire weedguard was tied in just behind the eye of a 4/0 Aberdeen blued hook.

Leon tried an extremely slow, bottom-crawling retrieve. One bass picked up the fly by the tail, chomped it a few times and spat it out. A nonfishing observer asked, "Why don't you cut the tail off closer to the hook? Maybe then they'll grab the hook."

Leon reluctantly trimmed the fly to within a couple inches of the hook bend. The moment that bobtail fly hit bottom and began its barely perceptible movement a big bass shot from the watching school and engulfed it. The lunger's jaw moved as if it were munching on the fly. Leon set the hook and had himself a first-class brawl before landing and releasing a six-pounder. This was repeated a number of times.

"You know what I think those bass are doing?" asked Glen. "If you ever watched bass chew on the wispy roots of hyacinth, or matted hair grass, to crush out the hiding freshwater shrimp and crabs, you'd know what I mean. I think they are doing the same thing to that fly. They definitely aren't striking it."

Glen's theory may be the right one. The bass weren't striking the streamer fly, but they were taking it with obvious enthusiasm when they had just repeatedly turned down a plastic worm fished by an expert.

It is hard to beat Maine, the Pine State, for variety and quality in recreation. When you think of fishing and hunting camps, Maine comes instantly to mind.

"With the possible exception of Alaska, no state has more of them or can match the wonderful turn-of-the-century atmosphere of the down-east Maine camps," says Robert O'Byrne in his Travel Guide column in Sports Afield. "To lie at dawn in one of these log camps on a remote lake, is to understand with Thoreau, 'It is life near the bone where it is sweetest.'"

While canoeing is popular, camping is the big attraction for many families. Hundreds of state and privately owned campgrounds offer every possible facility. Some are located in primitive areas reached only by boat, plane or trail. Others more suitable for family groups are located off major highways and are often on or near good fishing and hunting areas.

Boating is extremely popular with a 3470 miles shoreline within a direct distance of 228 miles. There also are about 2600 lakes. Hikers will find Maine a delight with the famous Appalachian Trail ending (going north) at Mt. Katahdin in 200,000-acre Baxter State Park. Arcadia National Park with its wild mountains coming down to the sea, is another mecca for walkers.

Maine is not famous as a golfing state, but the courses have four great virtues. They are scenic, inexpensive, relatively uncrowded and, for the most part, open to all. Hunting for deer, bear, upland game and waterfowl can be very good. Hundreds of thousands of acres are managed for lumber and the companies in recent years have opened most of the land to hunters. Despite the previously mentioned attractions, most sportsmen coming to Maine have one thing above all in their minds. That is fishing.

Landlocked salmon are to be found in a number of the lakes. The Canadians, especially in Quebec, call this fish ouaniniche. There is no question that the scientists first identified the species in Lake Sebago, Maine. It has now been propagated and thrives in hundreds of lakes in Maine.

When you talk about black bass in Maine, it is usually about our acrobatic friend the smallmouth. Hundreds of lakes in the central and southern parts of Maine provide the cold, clear, rock water that spells home sweet home to the bronzeback.

Maine's Atlantic salmon fishing by no means compares with Canada's. The time is long gone since the first salmon caught in the famous Bangor Pool was annually sent to the President. Still, it is the only place in the United States where you can still catch salmon. That alone may make it worth a try. The three best rivers are the Dennys, Machias and Naraguagus.

The days of six-to eight-pound brook trout in Maine are mostly in the past. However, a lot of four- and five-pounders are still taken and a number of places still provide fly-fishing of top quality.

The State of Maine Publicity Bureau, 922 Gateway Circle, Portland, Maine 04102 has the following free publications: Motoring Through Maine, Fishing In Maine and Tenting in Maine.

Fire, storm insurance may be out of date

Fire and windstorm insurance for farmers and ranchers is usually about two years out of date, points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"DUE TO rapid price increases, machinery, equipment and buildings insured at common prices two years ago are probably under insured by about 25 percent today while grain in storage is probably under insured by 50 percent," notes the specialist.

Besides knowing the coverage value of a policy, Hayenga also stresses the importance of knowing how the company intends to pay losses.

"Many farmers assume they will collect the full amount specified in a policy if a loss occurs, although this is not necessarily the case. It is usually the intent of the company to cover losses up to the policy limits or the 'actual' value of the property lost. Determining the actual value of lost or damaged property is a difficult job with different companies using different methods," explains the economist.

"Most disappointments with insurance companies in establishing loss values come because the policyholder did not read the policy or ask how losses will be determined," notes Hayenga. "The only sure way to know what you are buying is to read your policy."

Cotton Growers Play 'Wait And See' Game

AUSTIN—Forward cotton contracting for the 1974 season is currently at a standstill with growers seeking 60 cents a pound and buyers willing to pay only 45, reports Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

As a result, only about five percent of Texas growers have contracted as compared to 16 percent this time a year ago.

In the Lower Rio Grande Valley, which grows six or seven percent of the state's cotton, 99 percent of the crop was contracted earlier in the year at 65-70 cents a pound. Upper Gulf Coast counties contracted some acreage at around 60 cents, and in the Winter Garden area acreage was signed up for 60-65 cents.

Since then, however, prices have dropped. Warehouses and processors are stacked up with the 1973 crop. For the time being, farmers, confronted with rising costs, and buyers, facing a drop in the market, are playing a waiting game.

On the High Plains, where around 80 percent of the state's cotton is grown, no one is even talking the subject, White said. "Compresses and warehouses are 90-120 days behind schedule in processing and shipping. When that crop starts to move, maybe then buyers will start thinking about the new crop."

White expressed some concern about High Plains' cotton, which is currently being planted. "If they don't get more rain, there could be a drop in harvest," he said.

Flagg HD Club hears Gimbel

Gib Gimbel, president of the Panhandle Division, West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, presented a program recently to the Flagg Home Demonstration Club on arthritis.

MR. GIMBEL said arthritis is often called "everybody's disease." It affects everyone in some way, directly or indirectly, physically or economically. Most people have only hazy ideas and often incorrect ideas of what it is all about. The result is that people become crippled unnecessarily. And they stay crippled unnecessarily.

Gimbel added, "A great deal can be done about arthritis. Much is being done. But much more could be done." He said now you can help by giving memorials to The Arthritis Foundation, West Texas Chapter, Panhandle Division, P.O. Box 3096, Amarillo, Tx. 79106.

Farmers can save on taxes in summer

"The summer months offer farmers a chance to save on income tax by paying their children for farm work and by combining vacation and business trips."

THIS WORD comes from Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist in agribusness management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A farmer can deduct wages he pays to his children and still claim them as dependents as long as he provides over half of their support. The wages must actually be paid for work performed. To establish an employer-employee relationship, definite jobs should be performed, regular hours should be established, and wages should be agreed upon and paid by check."

The support test is not hard to meet if the children are living at home or are in school, notes Hayenga. "As long as they earn less than $2,050, the children will not have to pay income tax. Also, dependent children working for parents do not have to pay social security taxes, but then they do not gain social security credits either."

A farmer can also deduct business related expenses from business-vacation trips as long as business is the primary purpose of the trip, points out the economist. To do this, records of activities and costs of the trip should be maintained. Before going on a major business-vacation trip, it may be worthwhile to check the Internal Revenue Service publication No. 463, "Travel, Gift, and Entertainment Expenses," adds Hayenga.

consumption levels can take care of approximately 30 to 35% of this country's total consumption.

"American farmers will be quick to recognize the need and opportunity for increased American production with all of the restrictions and other impediments of the sugar program now removed," he declared.

"However, companies might be hesitant to commit heavy capital for expansion without some assurance that added production would not find itself competing with sugar produced in foreign areas where wages are below those received by sugar workers in this country," Bunker said.

Castro County has 6,000 acres planted to sugarbeets. There are 65 growers in the county. A supply management system would be in the long range interest of consumers by inducing growers to make further commitments for increased production.

ing a lot of 15 bushel wheat. One of the better yields reported so far has been 30-35 bushels. The early wheat is a casualty of this year's dry weather and hot winds that caught the grain just as it was maturing. A lot of the wheat needed another watering, but farmers couldn't get to it because they were taking care of their corn and sorghum," said Brown.

TEST weights and yield figures will be upped once harvesting of irrigated wheat gets into full swing, but both elevator operators and farmers agree that this year's yields will fall far short of those logged in last year's outstanding harvest.

Woldert Canning Co. is now contracting CHINESE RED PEAS

1. Peas are only 70-80 days from planting to harvest. Not like grain crops and soybeans, which tie up the land for much longer periods. Growers, it takes less moisture for peas than for most crops including cotton.
2. Peas require relatively small amounts of fertilizer and do not require high nitrogen analysis fertilizer which is so very costly today.
3. Peas on our contracts can be harvested with moisture up to 30% giving the grower maximum yields and ability to choose his own harvest time.
4. Peas are an ideal crop in which to rotate from grain, wheat, cotton and other row crops as they impart far more nitrogen and nutrients to the soil than they take out.
