

Hopes for Lakes on Running Water Draw May Be Nearing Realization

If West Texas and Eastern New Mexico farmers along the watershed of Running Water Draw want it, there is every indication now that a series of Flood Prevention Dams will be established down the tributary in the not too distant future.

Preliminary surveys have already been conducted and tentative plans are for three structures in New Mexico, three in Farmer county, two in Castro County, one in Lamb County and three in Hale county. It will-if realized-be a 2 1/2 million project.

A field examination team of three men appeared at a meeting in the First State Bank Thursday night to lay before a group of conservationists and interested persons proposals for the control of the floodwaters of the draw which annually causes thousands of dollars of damage to land and municipal property.

This was the first official study of the watershed and the first concrete recommendations. Actual sites have not been chosen, although they will depend mostly on drainage at specific points and the degree of silt expected.

The team was composed of Jim Cunningham, SCS economist, Leland Barnes, engineer, and Bud Norton, engineer. The entire plan calls for ten to twelve structures with maximum capacity of each structure for flood control purposes of 5,000 acre-feet of water (Example: a lake a square mile in size with an average depth of about 5 feet.) These lakes would catch water during rains and it would be slowly drained down the draw within twenty to thirty days.

The basic proposal is for flood control to halt damage in both rural and urban areas. In this particular case the investigators felt that damage was about 50 percent each way, a proportion they consider ideal.

Variations upon the basic plan are possible. A planned structure could be designed to make a larger one if local people wanted to do so and the site is such that the original set for the flood control structures would have to be borne by the local government unit having jurisdiction over the area, in this case the county.

If no public action is taken for a large recreational lake, then the original plan of flood control structures will prevail. Owners of property who give easements for the lakes can use it pretty much as they like, for sport, stock watering, or irrigation. However, if the local sponsoring organizations must buy lease or rent the land the structure is on, the property owner will have no more use of the lake than anyone else.

Local sponsors-in this case the county and soil conservation district-will be responsible to help obtain land easements and right of ways; administering contracts, and setting up a plan of operation and maintenance of the structures. The state and federal government provides the engineering and a cost-share program on the construction of the dams.

Of particular interest to sportsmen of this area are the sediment pools behind each dam. These sediment pools will, when new, form substantial small lakes themselves, containing full level some 200 acre feet of water. These sediment pools are expected to collect sediment from runoff waters for fifty years before filling up. Water in motion is capable of carrying tremendous amounts of dirt and silt which it deposits when slowed down as it will when running into a lake. These sedimentation pools will be located to catch most of the sediment and can be excellent breeding grounds for fish and could conceivably be large enough for limited water skiing.

Municipal usage, and recreation can be incorporated into the structures if local people will bear the additional cost. The Fish and Wildlife Commission will bear half the cost of such projects, although outright purchase of the land and improvements are necessary, which could result in an expensive project for the county.

Irrigation storage can be added, although the landowner must se-ure a permit.

The dams would be 25 to 40 feet in height and the longest would stretch for 4,000 feet, according to current plans. These structures will be built under the provisions of Public Law 566. A technicality which limits this ruling to apply to watersheds of not more than 250,000 will necessitate declaring an upper watershed in New Mexico and Texas and a lower watershed in Texas only. Required will be joint application by Texas and New Mexico counties affected for flood control on 150,000 acres in each watershed.

Mr. Norton, a State SCS engineer, felt certain applications for the project would be approved by the State Soil Conservation Board. Certain requirements must be met. These include active participation by a unit of local government with power of taxation and eminent domain; the cost must be less than expected damage over next fifty years by flood waters; fifty percent of the land above the structure must be under basic conservation agreement with the local Soil Conservation District; and easements and right of ways must be obtained. Other factors considered are interest of people, benefit to people, and the existence of watershed.

There are two planning parties in the state and more than 50 applications now pending so considerable time must pass before much actual work on the project can take place. The planning parties will survey the watershed and actually pick the dam sites.

County Clothing Consumer Date Is March 1 In Courthouse Here

Homemakers of Castro County will have an opportunity to learn the latest information about fabrics and to study laundering tips at a clothing consumer information day set for March 1 in the Assembly Room of the Courthouse in Dimmitt.

This word comes from Sybil G. Stringer, Castro County home demonstration agent. Registration for the program will be from 9:30 to 10 a.m. A talk on "Laundering Tips," including the selection of laundry aids, how to use the washing machine and other home laundry aids, will be given by Miss Lily Johnson, home economist with the Philco Corp., Dallas. The management phase of clothing work will be discussed by Mrs. Argen Draper, Deaf Smith County home demonstration agent, whose subject will be "Your Clothing Dollar."

Miss Wilson will be moderator for the question and answer period which will follow the talks.

Local merchants will assist with the program by setting up exhibits and displays of clothing. Members of Future Homemakers of America Chapters groups and extension service also will have exhibits. "Spring Fashions, 1962" will be the theme of a style show to be presented as the concluding activity of the afternoon. Local merchants will cooperate by loaning fashions for the show.

Hutto, chairman, an HD club member; Mrs. Donald Wright, a young homemaker who has served as leader in clothing construction workshops; Mrs. Edd McLeroy, a home economics graduate who does custom tailoring for friends; Mrs. Leo Witkowski, 4-H Club leader; Mrs. Lucille King, home economics teacher at Nazareth; Mrs. Estella Hottel, home economics teacher at Dimmitt, and L. G. Manning, clothing retailer.

B. M. Nelson is candidate for State Legislature. This newspaper has been authorized to announce the candidacy of B. M. Nelson, publisher of the Castro County News at Dimmitt, for the office of State Representative of the 91st Representative District of Texas subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. The 91st district is composed of Deaf Smith, Parmer, Bailey, Lamb and Castro Counties.

In announcing for the office of State Representative Nelson stated that it would be his purpose to see as many of the voters in the district as possible, and to personally solicit their vote and influence. However, he would like for everyone to consider this announcement as a personal request for earnest consideration of his candidacy for the office of representative.

In making his announcement, Nelson said "I grew up in central Texas, Bell County, the son of a cotton farmer, where I learned of the hardships and risks involved in the farming industry. After working as a printer for a number of years I moved to West Texas, Bell County, where I established a commercial printing plant at Paducah. Since then I have published newspapers at Roaring Springs, Amherst, Olton and Dimmitt.

"My qualifications, to serve as state representative would be the result of my experiences as a publisher thrown into almost daily contact with every facet of town and community life which in turn, of course, is affected by every phase of state government.

"Nelson further stated, "My experience, naturally, has been to support all sound projects designed for the betterment of the community we served, and it has been our pleasure to witness basic and permanent development and growth in each of the towns I have mentioned.

"I have always been a staunch Democrat," Nelson said, "and have worked in and for the Democratic party for many years. In my opinion, the nation has made its greatest advances, both economically and socially under administrations of the democratic party. "I will support the enactment of legislation that will help Texas grow, to expand within itself to the extent that it can again assert its leadership in the United States. Texas must advance with the changing times and it is up to your state government to see that progress is made before we are lost in a bog of antiquity."

Nelson is a member of the Dimmitt Methodist Church, The Dimmitt Lions Club and the Castro County Chamber of Commerce. He has served in official capacities in each organization as well as serving as manager of the Chamber of Commerce for three years.

The Nelsons are the parents of three children, Escam, editor of the Castro County News; Don who is news editor of the Arizona Record at Globe, Arizona, and Mrs. Herbert Burnham of Albuquerque, N. M., whose husband is a public school teacher in that city.

Presbyterian Church First Formed In Long Line of Country Churches

Last week the News carried an introduction from Minister D. C. Lawrence's thesis titled "A Religious History of Dimmitt, Texas, 1891 - 1959," with the statement that the history of each of the churches presented by Mr. Lawrence would be printed in ensuing weeks, beginning with the Presbyterian history. Since the Presbyterian history is rather lengthy it will be presented in a three-part series.

By D. C. LAWRENCE
Minister, Ralls Church of Christ

To a great extent, American Presbyterianism owes its existence to the coming of the Scotch-Irish, although there were feeble efforts which antedate their immigration. This emigration from North Ireland began in the early eighteenth century, during the years 1714 through 1720 it came largely through the port of Boston.

"The father of the Presbyterian Church in America, the one who, more than any other, deserves the honor of laying the foundations of organized American Presbyterianism, is Francis Makemie." By 1706 a number of congregations had been established, and in that year six ministers met in Philadelphia and there formed the first American presbytery with Makemie as moderator.

All Presbyterian bodies in the United States subscribe to the principles and theology of the Westminster Confession. Some modifications or enlargements have come as the church has developed, but the confession is its cornerstone. The Presbyterian Church . . . proceeding from the confession, puts its main emphasis upon the sovereignty of God in Christ in the salvation of the individual; and the salvation of every individual believer is recognized as a part of the divine plan.

Before 1900, there was a community in the southern part of Castro County, known as the Shive Community, named for the Shive family. Strictly speaking, it was a Presbyterian Colony. The Shive name is found among the charter members of the Dimmitt Presbyterian Church and also among those who served as the first elders.

Until the church was formally organized in 1901, the Presbyterian worshipped and served diligently in their community. Miss Hester Bell who taught in the Shive School reported that a clause in her contract required her "to read the Bible and engage in prayer every day." In addition to her school duties, she was required to teach a Bible Class each Sunday. The teachers made their own literature for the Bible lessons by drawing pictures and printing Bible verses for the children.

Deeming it wise and advantageous to organize formally, the Presbyterians made the necessary arrangements to form the Dimmitt Presbyterian Church.

The organization of a particular Presbyterian Church is usually conducted by a Committee of Presbytery appointed for the purpose. This Committee is appointed, if the Presbytery deem proper, after the sub-

Boys Ranchers fill their grainery with Castro County grain sorghum.

Jaycees Collect 75,000 lbs. Of Grain for Boys Ranch

An honorary grain club has been formed by the Dimmitt Jaycees with it's main objective being to collect and deliver grain sorghum to Boys Ranch at Tascosa to be fed to the ranch livestock. The 1961 grain club committee consisted of Ewing L. Mathis chairman, and Bob DuLaney member with Buddy Byrnes assisting earlier in the year.

To become a member an individual or business must donate 100 lbs of grain sorghum or more or furnish equipment or donate their services in collection, storing or delivering the grain to Boy Ranch. The Dimmitt Jaycees will arrange to have the grain delivered to the ranch free of charge through partial donations of trucks by local farmers and truckers and from Jaycee Treasury Funds.

The original idea was conceived in a meeting arranged by Calvin Lippard between a non salaried booster of Boys Ranch, Mr. Ray Noble of Amarillo, and State Jaycee's Vice President of Region 2, Charles Armstrong of Dimmitt, and Pete Wright, Dimmitt Jaycee President. Armstrong and Wright introduced a motion at the Jaycee Tri-Regional Convention in Plainview in August 1961, "that all of the 30 clubs in the Panhandle and South Plains of Region 1-2 and 3 endeavor to deliver at least 20,000 lbs. of grain sorghum per club to Boys Ranch after the 1961 Harvest." The motion was discussed and did carry. Larry Kaul of Hereford, Jaycee State Chairman of Agriculture was the Tri-Regional coordinator for the grain.

The first caravan of trucks loaded with 75,000 lbs of grain sorghum reached Boy's Ranch February 11 by arranged schedule.

Donating trucks were Calvin Lippard, Bob DuLaney and Nelson Brothers Trucking. Bill Dowdy drove the Nelson Bros. Semi-truck. Thirty Five people from Castro County attended the grain delivery ceremonies and ate the noon meal with the boys. The visitors were also given guided tours of the ranch in the afternoon by the boys.

Lorenzo, Pampa, Hereford, Plainview, and Petersburg Jaycees also delivered 125,000 lbs of grain sorghum making a total of 200,000 lbs of milt that has been delivered by Jaycee Clubs.

Cal Farley and the Boys Ranch Staff has expressed their gratitude to everyone who donated grain, equipment, or services to the 1961 program.

"The Dimmitt Jaycees recognize the fact that there are pros and cons in any kind of program of this nature but feel that a tremendous job is being done at Boys Ranch by many dedicated people and have voted unanimously to continue the program for 1962," Mathis said.

"It should be pointed out that many elevators, individuals, and businesses from Castro County have contributed money, grain, and other services to Boys Ranch in 1961 not connected with this project," he said.

"The Junior Chamber of Commerce is very grateful for the fine cooperation given by Castro County and wishes to thank everyone who participated," Mathis concluded.

J. Frank Ford Jr. Enters Race for State Legislature

The News has been authorized to announce the candidacy of J. Frank Ford Jr., of Hereford for the office of State Representative of the 91st District, subject to the action of the Republican Primary. In making his statement, Mr. Ford said:

"As history goes, 200 years is a brief span. And yet, during these last two centuries, there has been more progress made toward individual dignity and freedom than was made during the previous 7,000 years of recorded civilization. There were many bright spots in previous civilizations, but they were rather isolated, compared with today.

"What are some factors which have made this progress possible? During the late 1600's, the philosophy of John Locke, in England, was helping to point the way. A century later, in 1776, Thomas Jefferson wrote a Declaration which reinvigorated around the world, and a new era for mankind had begun.

"Jefferson had confidence in the individual and a firm belief in States Rights as opposed to a powerful central government. "Give the people light," he said, "and they will find their own way." Isn't this idea, which had been responsible for our unprecedented progress, as true today as when it was first conceived?

"The problem is that freedom, like all other blessings, is often taken for granted, our frontiers were conquered, the industrial revolution presented new social problems, and the world has been torn by two world wars. During this process, the pendulum of our government has simply swung too far.

"It is my firm conviction that all Americans who believe in individual worth, whether they have termed themselves "liberal" or "conservative," must recognize the inherent dangers in centralized power. The future of the next generation depends on us.

"It is the nature of man to react courageously and well to a challenge. Our failure of the past 15 years has not been lack of courage, but lack of interest. Many of us have been "too busy" to take an active part in our political affairs. The results are now apparent.

"If all of us will stay informed, use the power of our reason, maintain fairness to debate when we differ, and act with courage upon the resultant decisions, then we will have a state and nation of which we can be proud. It is worth the effort.

Mr. Ford is a 1955 graduate of Texas A. & M. in Agronomy and served for thirty months with the U.S. Army, holding the rank of captain on discharge. He and his wife Marjorie Anne are Methodists and they have a son Davis, 4, and a daughter, Cindy, 2.

He is chairman of the Agriculture Committee of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and a director in the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau. He farms 23 miles west of Hereford and is associated with Arrowhead Mills of Hereford.

Mr. Ford plans to run a series of articles in this newspaper during the month of October which will deal with his views on state and national politics.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

Signs are appearing daily indicating that the sugar trust has not been asleep. It was thwarted three in a row in its attempt to gain a long-term extension of the Sugar Act. It was forced on each of these occasions to resort to scare tactics and "emergency" talk and unfair procedural tactics in order to obtain short-term extensions to further hide the complete truth from the American people. They do not want the Sugar Act or the sugar problem debated openly on the floor of Congress. They know that the American people and the American farmer have been hoodwinked and that if all the facts are made available and are understood by the people of this country, their heyday is at an end.

They are a powerful group, with control of several hundreds of millions of dollars annually, out of which they reap huge profits. By virtue of the power associated with these tremendous sums, they have been able to retain a law that requires the importation from foreign sources of approximately 45 percent of the sugar demand in this country. This means that approximately 5,000 tons of sugar are imported into this country each year. At a value of five cents a pound, this would mean an overall transaction of approximately $500-million. This half-billion dollar business is handled through approximately 12 refineries and it is generally assumed that the ownership of these refineries is by a lesser number than 12. This will give you some idea of the small, compact group that has a throttle-hold on the sugar needs of this country.

All of the sugar, with a very minute exception, must be channeled through these refineries because it is raw sugar and could not be imported into this country if it had already been refined. Hence, these refineries are guaranteed a refining process business of half a billion dollars worth of sugar each year. The next question is, where does the sugar come from? Not from American farmers, either in the continental United States or any of our possessions or other States. It comes from foreign countries under the provisions of the law. It is this law that the sugar trust does not want amended.

Up until about two years ago, Cuba furnished this country three million tons of sugar of a value of approximately $300 million. When Cuba went Communist, we stopped purchasing sugar from Cuba, or thought we did. At that time it was the hope of the American farmer, who had long clamored for the right to grow more sugar beets, that he would be allowed to produce some of this sugar allotment that we had taken away from the communist country. However, he failed to reckon with the half billion dollar sugar trust. These fellows had not been asleep. They immediately went to work and procured the extension of the Sugar Act through the Congress without debate in the House of Representatives, and without hearings before Committees, as is the proper procedure. This extension included a term which denied to the American farmer the right to produce as much as one pound of the sugar that had formerly been purchased from Cuba. It did not even give the President of the United States the right to authorize the American farmer to produce any of that sugar, because in each instance where this sugar was referred to in the Act, the authorization to purchase contained the term "from other foreign countries" or "from any foreign country."

The use of the word "foreign" successfully blocked the American farmer from participating in the market of the American consumer to any further extent than he had participated prior to the discontinuance of purchases from Cuba. A small but vigorous minority group of Congressmen who know and understand this situation have been fought bitterly to obtain fair treatment for the American farmer and for the American consumer. If the American farmer were allowed to produce in this country one-third of the amount of sugar formerly purchased from Cuba, it would enable 400,000 acres of land now being used for growing surplus crops to be used for growing sugar beets; it would help to stop the outflow of American dollars; it would invigorate the agricultural communities in a number of areas throughout the United States it would make it possible to build at least ten additional sugar processing plants in this country at a cost of around $12- to $18-million each. This latter would help measurably in solving the unemployment problem not only in the factory areas but in the rural areas where these plants would be located.

It must also be remembered that this would all be possible, yet we would still be able to import 35 percent of our sugar needs from these other countries; countries which heretofore have furnished us less than 15 percent of our sugar needs.

The big question in the minds of those who have studied this matter is why the sugar trust is so determined to deny the American farmer the right to grow sugar that is sold on the American market, even in a limited amount; yet they are willing that the sugar allotment formerly held by Cuba can be handed over to countries like Mexico

Mr. Armstrong, Nurseryman from Hereford spoke to the group, about the general principles of effective planting and uses of plants for beautifying the home. and Brazil, who vigorously fought the United States in the move to oust Castro from the Organization of American States, and to such countries as British Guiana, headed by one Cheddi Jagan. It will be remembered that this Cheddi Jagan and his wife have been linked on numerous occasions in the press with Communism, both in this hemisphere and elsewhere. A large part of this could be transhipped Cuban sugar. The whole matter appears to me to be a case of material greed that could do as much damage to this country as any other one factor.

I can assure you that the small band which has fought so long and so hard is not going to give up, and that the battle will continue without cessation.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan: One of the major and most pressing legislative matters to come before the 87th Congress is S-1241, a bill to provide increased college academic facilities and more scholarships to students.

One part of this bill authorizes the appropriation of $50 million for each of five years, a total of $250 million for matching grants to states to assist in the building of public junior colleges.

Texas has 30 of the nation's 331 public junior colleges. These 30 Texas schools served a total of 30,377 students working for degree credits in '61. This was an increase of almost seven per cent over the 1960 enrollment in public junior colleges in Texas, a growth percentage that is impressive evidence of the need for these community schools.

The cost of getting a higher education is the biggest single roadblock to high school graduates in Texas, as well as the rest of the United States. Community junior colleges allow a student the opportunity to higher education to thousands upon thousands of young Texans who otherwise would be unable to advance beyond high school.

Of the $50 million annually that would be authorized for grants to the 50 states, Texas would qualify for $2,401,135. To get this amount for its junior colleges, Texas would invest $4,044,476 in matching funds.

Leading education authorities have testified before the Senate Education Subcommittee, of which I am a member, that the American technological economy requires an increasing number of persons trained at an intermediate level—not full fledged engineers or scientists, but high-level technicians or semi-professionals.

Junior colleges provide two years of training that can lead to further study, or preparation for employment immediately on completion of the two years. These community colleges perform a vital role in upgrading the personnel demanded by industry, either by advanced technical, scientific and managerial training, or through advanced general education.

These community colleges are relatively inexpensive to build, since they do not require massive expenditures for graduate and post-graduate training facilities. Their primary concern is education, which in my opinion is one of the primary concerns of our nation at a time when knowledge is a source

She's helping her rural electric do an "impossible" job!

She doesn't mind reading her electric meter because she, with thousands of other people who live in this area, owns this rural electric system.

This is just one way these owner-consumers cut costs to make possible modern, dependable electric service to widely scattered rural homes. Through cooperation, they're doing the job many considered impossible.

Reading meters doesn't faze these do-it-yourself Americans. At the start of rural electrification, local citizens pitched in to sign up members and secure rights of way for power lines. They borrowed money from the Rural Electrification Administration to build their own electric system.

Today these people are using ever-increasing amounts of electricity to live and farm better.

And all over our country, user-owners continue to take part in the operation of their electric systems which now serve 17 million people. For example, they hold annual meetings, elect directors from their memberships to oversee their businesses. Working together, they are turning the "impossible" job of electrifying rural America into one of the greatest success stories of our day.

Already they've repaid $1½ billion in principal and interest on $3¼ billion REA loans . . . further proof that rural electrification is one of the best investments our nation ever made.

By Vern Sanford

Candidates flooded this capital city as the filing deadline arrived.
Politicians came to town to pay filing fees for state offices at both the state democratic headquarters and the republican camp.

Thousand dollar fees were paid in many ways: One thousand one-dollar bills, one hundred ten-dollar bills, and varied contributions from friends of the candidates.

A former athlete brought a handful of ex-football stars along, to show that he had a sporting change.

There were very few surprises
at the State Democratic Executive Committee; gubernatorial candidates John Connally, Marshall Formby, Will Wilson and Maj. Gen.
Edwin A. Walker had paid before the deadline; Don Yarborough was expected, and everyone knew Gov-Pric Daniel would show up after his TV announcement.

Austin Attorney Bob Looney arrived at the last minute to join Tom James, Tom Reavley, Waggoner Carr, W.T. McDonald and Les Procter in the attorney general's race.

Keith Wheatley, 27-year-old Stamford oil operator, decided to oppose Railroad Commissioner Ben Ramsey in the May primary.

Both Looney and Wheatley filed without paying, but phoned down their $1,000 fees by the Feb. 8 deadline.

County and rancher Phil Willis of Kaufman County, made the same sort of financial transaction as candidates for congressman-at-large.

of Fort Worth is the only non legislative candidate for lieutenant governor.
"Rebirth of the republican party in Texas" has been widely discussed. It was quite evident when filing time was over that considerable progress had been made. If the party wasn't reborn; it certainly was revitalized.

Breckenridge oilman Jack Cox-former democratic candidate for governor who announced for the GOP months ago got two opponents at the countdown. One was Amarillo rancher-publisher Roy Whittenburg, who polled 185, 926 votes
when he opposed Ralph Yarborough for the U.S. Senate in 1958. The other was Harry Diehl, Houston factory representative, who was one of the 71 who ran for Lyndon Johnson's senate seat last year.

Republican line-up for house and senate seats is imposing. Fourteen republicans are campaigning for 10 of the 31 senate seats. And 74 republicans have filed for 70 of the 150 representative offices. Two already are members of the House.
They are George Korkmas of Texas City and Kenneth Kohler of offices they won in recent special elections.

Agriculture workers "frozen" from jobs by the recent freeze in the Valley caused a stir of activity in the commodity distribution division of the State Department of public Welfare.

Division Director W. M. Herndon
has just returned from two trips to the Valley to talk to county commissioners in Cameron, Zavala Willacy and Hidalgo co. There the need for emergency distribution of government surplus foods is desperate.

DPW is distributing food for 5,000 in Cameron County, 4,000 in Willacy County, and 2,500 in Zavala County. Also it is adding 20, 000 people to the program at Hidalgo County, which provides food for 600 needy people on a regular basis.

Most commissioners look for the emergency to end within 30 days, when business in that area is expected to recover.

Attorney General Will Wilson has more windmills to tilt at than Don Quixote.
In his "spare time", he's fighting five opponents in the governor's race.

outside of help. He filed a brief citing Supreme Court ruling and legislative authority to prove his contention that only the attorney general can represent the state in appellate courts.
UT's private attorneys pointed to another regents' case where they noted "with much interest that a distinguished array of counsel head ed by former Gov. Dan Moody represented the Board of Regents."

Wilson produced evidence that Governor Moody was the Attorney General of Texas at the time of the suit referred to, and "the distinguished array of counsel" were his assistant attorneys general.

Governor Daniel's announcement that he hopes to amend the sales tax structure probably caused groans in the Comptroller of Public Accounts' office, where they're constantly busy interpreting the two per cent sales tax as it now stands.

Most recent interpretation involves advertising agencies which finance their operation on a 15 per cent commission basis, rather than by charges.

Comptroller ruled that the tax
does not apply to intangible services and therefore excludes the commission from taxation.

But clients must pay tax on drawings, paintings, lettering and printed matter, and with the fantastic volume of this type of production involved in a campaign year, the state ought to net a fair-sized income from advertising agencies.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Department of Public Safety, stated that major crime in Texas increased 2.2 percent in 1961
over 1960 with an estimated 203,285
offenses for the year.

Murder and homicide cases increased from 1,080 to 1,088; theft from 108,869 to 117,619; rape from 1,196 to 1,264; and aggravated assault from 12,128 to 12,166.
He said it also indicates a 60 per cent increase in major crimes in the state since 1955.

Health Column

Following two decades of fairly steady decline—except for brief periods—diphtheria has thrown a slight increase in the past two years.

In 1961 there were 209 cases of diphtheria in Texas compared to 239 cases in 1960 and only 163 cases in 1959. The same trend is followed in the death column of the disease.

Prior to 1960 there had been a steady decline in the number of fatalities in Texas attributable to diphtheria—in 1959 there were only seven.

However, the figure jumped to 20 deaths during 1960. The latest figures available for the first nine months of 1961 indicate that there were 15 deaths through the end of September.

Two sad facts highlight these cases. First—most deaths occur among children under nine years of age. Second—most cases, and almost all deaths of diphtheria
could be prevented by early immunization with diphtheria toxoid.

Texas outbreaks during the past two years have been characterized by the fact that the families involved had not been properly immunized or had received no protection whatsoever.

Diphtheria used to claim a high toll of victims years ago, and a higher percentage died.

After diphtheria immunization became fairly common, the incidence of the disease dropped off to the low figure in 1959.

Physicians generally inoculate infants with a combined triple vaccine composed of diphtheria and te-tanus toxoids and pertussis vaccine ensuring protection against all three diseases.

Transmission is made by person to person contact with a patient or carrier or with articles soiled with discharges of such persons.
The diphtheria organism is contained in discharges and secretions
from mucous surfaces of the nose, pharynx and nasopharynx.

The disease strikes most often in the fall and winter months and complications involving the heart and occasionally occur.

A physician should be consulted for further information about immunization.

Miss Pat Norris-Tommy Brockman Marry in Holy Family Church

Miss Pat Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Norris of Dimmitt and Tommy Brockman son of Mrs. Agnes Brockman of Nazareth, were wed Thursday February 15 in a nuptial mass in the Holy Family Church of Nazareth. Monsignor Peter Morsch officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Vows were exchanged before an altar flanked with baskets of American Beauty roses. The family pews were marked with large, satin American Beauty bows.

Organist was Mrs. Leonard Conrad who accompanied Mrs. Ilene Gerber, and Mrs. Rita Clamen when they sang "Ava Maria" and "Mother Dear, Oh Pray For Me."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a formal gown of bouffant, chandelle lace over crisp taffeta. The full skirt swept into a chapel train in back. A fitted bodice was fashioned with a sabrina neckline, trimmed with tiny seed pearls and iridescent sequins; the close fitting sleeves were long and tapered. A tiara of sequins and pearls held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. For a bouquet she carried a cascade arrangement of American Beauty roses and frenched carnations with maline puffs and satin streamers.

Miss Carole Norris of Dimmitt attended her sister as maid of honor. Mrs. Mitzie Brockman of Nazareth, sister-in-law to the groom was bridesmatron and Miss Sandra Norris of Dimmitt, sister to the bride was bridesmaid. The maid of honor wore a pink, full skirted dress of brocaded taffeta with matching satin slippers. She wore a tiny pink hat with matching net forming a short veil. For a bouquet she also carried American Beauty roses and frenched carnations. The bridesmaid and bridesmatron were attired identically to the maid of honor. They carried long stemmed American Beauty roses.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Ceril Brockman of Nazareth. Groomsman was Phillip Brockman. Nuptial mass servers were Francis Backus, Joe Benhaus, and Jimmy Brockman all of Nazareth. Ushers were Jerome Brockman, brother of the bridegroom and Gene Irlbeck both of Nazareth.

FIGHT CANCER

Here's what QUALITY has done!

At last count there were 1,499,927
Chevrolet trucks over 10 years old still working—424,381 more than any other make.

1962 CHEVROLET JOBMASTER TRUCKS

built better...work longer!

When Chevrolet builds a truck, it builds a quality truck. This policy makes sense. Chevrolet trucks work a long time... cost less than many other makes to operate and maintain over the years... consistently bring a higher trade-in price... and, as a result, are bought by more people.

We invite you to come in and examine this quality closely and to take a 1962 demonstrator out for a good long test drive. Note the cab comfort, the good visibility, the smooth ride, the solid feel of its quality. Compare Chevrolet truck features with those of other makes. Then decide which are your wisest investment. We're sure it will be Chevrolet's.

Note how this Chevrolet cab roof is made of two sheets of metal, instead of one, with a layer of felt in between for insulation against cold, heat and noise.

A Chevrolet truck tailgate is sturdier because it has double-wall construction and strong steel chains in tough rubber casing to support it.

Quality independent front suspension fights road shock more effectively than other types—provides more protection for the truck, load and driver.

The standard 235-cu.-in. 6-cylinder Chevrolet truck engine has worked more miles than any other. There are nine more engines to choose from.

It Just So Happened

Valentine's Day is celebrated on February 14 as a festival of romance and affection. Valentine's Day comes on the feast day of two different Christian martyrs named Valentine. But the customs connected with the days may have nothing to do with the lives of the saints. They probably come from an ancient Roman festival called Lupercalia, which took place every February 15. The festival honored Juno, the Roman goddess of women and marriage, and Pan, the god of nature.

Years ago there were many beliefs and customs held in connection with this day. For example, an old English superstition warned that it was bad luck to bring snowdrops into the house before Valentine's Day if unmarried girls in the home hoped to be married by the end of the year. Single girls had many ways of learning the identity of their future husbands. Sometimes a girl wrote her boyfriends' names on bits of paper and rolled each name in a little piece of clay. Then she dropped it into the water. The scrap of paper that came to the top first was supposed to contain the name of her true valentine.

The Romans celebrated their feast of Lupercalia as a lovers' festival for young people. Young men and women chose partners for the festival by drawing names by chance from a box. Then the partners exchanged gifts as a sign of affection. They usually continued to enjoy one another's company long after the festival. Many such courtships ended in marriage.

After the spread of Christianity, churchmen tried to give Christian meaning to this pagan festival. In 496 Pope Gelasius changed the Lupercalia festival of February 15 to St. Valentine's Day on February 14. But the sentimental meaning of the old festival has remained to the present time.

Historians disagree on the identity of St. Valentine. One St. Valentine was a priest who lived in Rome during the 200's under Emperor Claudius II. The Romans jailed him for aiding persecuted Christians. People believe that he cured his jailkeeper's daughter of blindness. About A. D. 270 the Romans beheaded him on Palatine Hill at the site of an ancient altar of Juno. Many years later, Christians named a gate in Rome Porto Valentini after St. Valentine.

Another St. Valentine was a bishop of Terni, about sixty miles from Rome. One source says that he was persecuted for converting a Roman family to Christianity. He was beheaded in Rome about A. D. 273.

Little is known about the early celebrations of Valentine's Day. According to a book published in 1877, England observed the holiday as early as 1446.

In the 1700's social groups met in the homes of the gentry on the eve of Valentine's Day. After drawing lots, each young man wore the paper with his lady's name on his sleeve for several days. The expression "He wears his heart on his sleeve," probably came from this custom.

In the United States, Valentine's Day became popular in the 1800's at the time of the Civil War. In a magazine of 1863 it said, "Indeed, with the exception of Christmas, there is no festival throughout the world which is invested with half the interest belonging to this cherished anniversary."

CAMPUS CHAT—

Ge Whiz, its a lonely life! Nobody wants me. I know, they're just jealous 'cause I'm the empty beer can in the street. Well! I'll fix them. I'll tell everything I know. They'll be sorry, well, here I go!

Just wait 'til I tell on everyone Friday! It seems that there was a ballgame at Dalhart. I don't know if their mothers knew it, but I saw Janice C., Sue C., Janis D., Shari Willis, Suzie D., Suzanne D., Linda D. with the Shackelford's. Then this car hit me, then another hit me. I noticed who they were and where they were going. They were Arlene R. and Steve W., Alene B. and Gerald T., Carlanne C., and Gary M., Sherri W. and Mike G., Kitty R. and Aaron H., Wanda H. and Donny N. Then some nutty girls added a couple of dents to me they were: Carolyn G., Mary G., Sharon T., Georgene B., and Driscilla D. I hope their mothers give them a dent. Pat Rials hit me as she was going to Floydada. Then Teresa C. and Raymond hit me. I thought it was all over until Wanda S. hit me when she was with Virgil. At least I didn't have to worry about those silly boys that went on the ski trip bothering me, its just those girls that went to Patty George's party. They were: Linda S., Pat M., Linda D., Alice A., Kay H., Glenda S., Janis M., Jeri K. D., Robert Mc., Dick D., Craig F., David V., Dennis C., AND Kent G., I hope they had an enjoyable time while I was being banged around.

Then came Saturday, after I had straightened out all my dents, the kids started coming again. First came Sue H. and Dale L. then Gary W. and George B. Oh yes! I mustn't forget Lynda H. and Eugene O. Those two are really hitting it off good. And there was Ramona H. and Kent G. I'd really like to get even with them.

Then came Carlanne C. and Gary M. speeding by, they really hit me. Jim R. and Gayle E., and Sandra S. and Jim C. didn't even hit me once. They had a steak supper at the Schreck's house. I had collected my senses when a car really hit me with speed, it seems it was Gerald S. and Suzie D., and Marjorie Mc and Jim Aldridge going skating at Plainview. Ronald Y. and Louise C., Wanda H. and Donny N. and others were there seeing the Comancheros. I was really glad they were gone. At least Deborah and Darless didn't hit me; they were at Hereford. Some just went to the show here like good kids, they were Sheri W. and Mike G., Ina M. and Jacky N., Lynda D. and Jimmy C., Kitty R. and Aaron H., Linda S. and Clints., Suzanne D., and Dwight. I guess I won't tell on them. You know those boys that went skiing really had a time of it. Boy, am I glad they didn't hit this poor bottle. Boy, Jim B., can really catch those girls, even if he's on skis. At least I haven't gotten picked up by the Ski Patrol like Glen B. and Kent G. or fallen so deep in the snow that only my skis showed like Lowell N. I'd hate to think of what would happen to me if I did that. I was glad that there weren't too many kids to tell on 'cause I can't remember too much.

After a peaceful night of sleep, Sunday came. I don't like to get people in trouble on Sunday, but they just kept on running over me so here goes. They wouldn't let me in church since I was a beer bottle, but I waited outside so I could see all the kids. Boy! Do I have a list, Carlanne C. and Gary M., Glenda M. and Glen E., Cecelia M., and H. S. Fuller, Gayle E. and Jim R., Arlene R. and Steve W., You just wait til I tell on them. Boy are they in for trouble. Then the mad rush hit me. They really made me mad and I intend to tell on everyone I saw. The first to deliver the blow was Valeria M. and Gary C. Then came Gary W.

Politics Comes to D.H.S.

Last Monday morning at exactly 10:45 Mr. B. M. Nelson, Publisher of the Castro County News, appeared at D.H.S. to make a speech on politics. Mrs. Avis Smith asked Mr. Nelson to help the Civics students to understand just what was being done in the community in the way of politics.

Some points of the speech are as follows:

We have a republic and a democracy, Russia has a republic but not a democracy. The difference is in the representation.

Mr. Nelson expressed his opinion on the two party system of the U.S. I am sure that we will agree with Mr. Nelson. A two party system gives the majority the rule. This is the way it should be in any democracy. France has a many party system that has given them nothing but trouble since all the parties have come into being. In France the minority has a chance to rule.

Some people think that politics are dirty, but once you get to know just what is being done and why it is done, then you would have no doubt that some politics are dirty but it is that way because people do not have enough interest in politics to keep it clean.

The system of politics starts at the grass roots of the country. You the individual, can have a part in politics. You may not go to the state convention and you may not even go to county convention, but you can elect a person who will express your views at the higher convention if you will go to the precinct convention.

In Castro County there are 15 voting precincts. When a precinct is founded you have to consider the Commissioner precinct.

Our party precinct conventions are held on election day and just one week later the county convention is held. The precinct convention sends delegates to the county convention. The county convention sends delegates to the national convention. Our Presidential nominees are the only ones that are selected in the convention.

We all enjoyed having Mr. Nelson speak to the class. Mr. Nelson also told us that we, the students of D.H.S., could attend the precinct conventions. Why don't you tell your parents when they attend the next convention of their choice?

Limelight Lad—

If I were to describe this week's Limelight Lad as a tall, dark, handsome sophomore, immediately you would think of Jim Axe. Jim made his debut in the world on November 19, 1945, in Hereford, Texas, a small town just north of Dimmitt.

If you were to ask Jim to go to a movie, he would probably jump for joy if The Alamo was showing, or if Elizabeth Taylor or Charlton Heston happened to be starring in it. Don't ask him to supper, for he would probably make you take him in a Chevrolet, and he would most likely order Steak! Jim enjoys listening to the music of Billy Vaughn, and he likes the song Mexico. Jim is interested in all sports, which he says is his favorite pastime. By the way, always speak to him, for he doesn't appreciate "stuck-up people".

To be in high school only two years, Jim has racked up quite a few honors. He was elected Most Valuable of his freshman class, and Best All Around of his sophomore class. He is the president of the F. F. A. He is also a member of the Student Senate.

Jim's future plans include becoming a farmer. Congratulations and good luck to our Limelight Lad this week.

Spring Fever

The sun was shining brightly all week-end and looking over Dimmitt you could see people taking advantage of the pretty weather. Everywhere people were outside, especially after being indoors so long during the cold weather. People were working in the yard, riding bicycles, playing tennis, and enjoying the day.

Monday school went on as scheduled and students dragged themselves into school. There seemed to be quite an epidemic of Spring Fever spreading throughout Dimmitt High School. In the classes students would stare out the windows and daydream of what they could be doing in the great outdoors.

Many were dreaming of how nice it would be to be swimming in a nice, cool, clear pool and sitting under shade trees with a big picnic lunch. Others just wanted to be outside and try out that new tennis racket they got for Christmas or see if they still knew how to ride a bicycle.

This is the time of year when the days seem to just creep by and studies just do not want to be done. But when you think you can not wait another minute to get outside, just remember that for many, many years students just like you have had spring fever, and so far I haven't heard of a fatal case!!!

Senior Boy of the Week

As you walk down the halls of D.H.S. you are sure to notice a tall, smiling boy. His name is Gary Huntingford. November 30, 1943 was a most important day to this boy and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Huntingford, because he made his first appearance in this world in Dakenham, Victoria, Australia.

Green is Gary's favorite color, and he especially likes to eat Mexican food. Gary's pastime is writing letters. This cheerful Senior's pet peeve is poor sportsmanship.

Garry's activities include sports football, basketball, tennis F.T.A., Thespian Club, National Honor Society, and others as a foreign exchange student.

Garry's ambition is to go to Melbourne University and to work with people and serve them. Good luck in your worthy aim, Garry.

MEET THE PRESS

"Good morning! Today I'm going to take you behind the scene to the desks of many reporters."

"The first desk we come to this morning is that of the sports writer. It is the job of the sports writer to be on the scene when a great Bobcat star player makes another touchdown, or when a Bobby makes her fifteenth basket. This is certainly not all the sports reporter has to do. He has to be on the job at all sports events and to turn out a complete and correct sports column in the newspaper each week for the Bobcat Tales."

"Now we are approaching the desk of another very important reporter. He is the survey reporter, and it is his job to make various types of public surveys during the week. This particular reporter has one of the most interesting and exciting columns to write. You would probably be surprised to learn of some of the funny and odd little habits or beliefs that some people have. Many times a public survey can be helpful in some ways, such as making a survey of how people feel about the sportsmanship of their town or school, etc. The survey reporter has to keep on his toes to see that he gets the opinion of a number of people and not just a few people or the same ones all the time. There are usually two or more survey reporters. This aids in getting a good over-all public opinion."

"The next desks you will come to are the desks of the miscellaneous and special feature reporters. These reporters are very important to a newspaper because they are the ones who keep the public informed on all the little incidental and the miscellaneous events. They are also the ones who keep their eyes and ears open to all the goings on in order to create their interesting and exciting human interest stories and special features."

"Well, this concludes our adventure behind the scenes to meet the press at work. I hope you enjoyed it and learned something from it as well."

Senior Girl of the Week

Tiny Motee Terami bounced into this world on February 11, 1944 in Kobe, Japan. Mr. and Mrs. Shinji Terami were the proud parents of this cute little baby girl.

Motee is unsure of her height, but she is about 4' 8". "South Pacific" is black-haired Motee's favorite movie, and her favorite actor and actress are Charlton Heston and Mitzi Gaynor. She doesn't have a favorite song, but Doris Day ranks first as a singer. Motee hobby is listening to music. The colors red, black and white are sure to please her, just as American food and Mexican food do. A white convertible also satisfies her taste in cars. Writing letters to her boyfriend or to Japan takes up most of Motee's time, but she does enjoy reading Gone With the Wind. However, in spite of all these likes, Motee has one particular dislike, she dislikes a person who looks back and talks while he or she is driving.

As a foreign exchange student, Motee is a member of all clubs, including F.H.A., F.T.A. Thespian Club, National Honor Society, Pep Club, and she was also elected "Mostly Likely to Succeed" of the Senior Class.

When Motee was asked her ambition, she answered, "To go to college and do something which contributes understanding between Orient and Occident all through my life with my future husband." All of our best wishes go to this little senior who has captured our hearts.

The Lighter Side

Husband, looking over bills, to wife: "Well, we're at the bridge we were going to cross when we came to it." One man to another at lunch counter: "If this is a restaurant chain, I'll bet we're eating in the weakest link." A woman who had been married many times had her towels monogrammed "Hers" and "To Whom It May Concern."

Thought for the Week—

"To smile tall-social, to think tall-wisdom, to stand tall-physical, to live tall-religious character." In this world today, more than ever, we need to smile, think, stand, and live tall. Just exactly what do all these things mean? "To smile tall" - our world would be a very dreary place if it were not for the smiles, the happy thoughts and moments that make our efforts and hardships all worth while. "To think tall" - only through deep thought, tall thinking, can an individual or a nation progress. In the ordinary person's mind is born the goals and dreams for the future. "To stand tall" our bodies are not replaceable. They are gifts, and should not be misused. The way we treat our bodies is the way we show others what we think of ourselves. Stand tall, and show others that you respect yourself. "To live tall" - living tall is a challenge to be met by everyone. We can not ignore this challenge, we must win or lose. Through all of time, man has needed religion, a reason for being, and a code to live by. We can live tall by finding our particular faith and striving to live up to it's beliefs. Throughout this week, and the weeks ahead, challenge yourself to "smile, think, stand, and live tall." By doing so you will strengthen your home, community, and nation.
