

THE SECRET TO SAUSAGE COOKING
... Is to sit back, relax, and leave it alone, as the official sausage cooks for the Nazareth German Festival take it easy as German Sausage simmers at Joe Drerup's residence Saturday.

Government denies Azodrin clearance

Barring possible last-minute intervention by the head of the Environmental Protection Agency, Texas farmers will not be able to use Azodrin to control Banks' Grass Mites and Southwestern Corn Borers in corn fields this year.

Texas farmers had received a special Section 18 clearance from the EPA for the past five years to use Azodrin, manufactured by Shell Chemical, but the EPA gave notice July 14 to the Texas Dept. of Agriculture that Texas farmers would not receive clearance to use the product in 1986.

Oklahoma farmers had earlier been denied use of the chemical, which, according to farmers, entomologists, and others, is the only chemical which can arrest Banks' Grass Mites in crops.

The mites can cause severe damage in corn plants, and are especially dangerous in dry areas.

Carl King of the Texas Corn Growers Association was attempting to set up an appointment with Jack Moore, chief of the EPA, in Washington this week in a last-ditch effort to obtain emergency clearance for Azodrin. King said he was hopeful the denial for the chemical would be "temporary."

"Texas Corn Growers and Texas Corn Producers Board has been a driving force on getting EPA clearance for Azodrin for five years, but this time we lost... We started in March of this year in applying for a permanent label for Azodrin, or at least another Section 18. Each year it has become more difficult to deal with EPA regarding (Azodrin), but we know it is the only insecticide that will control Banks' Grass Mites in corn.

"Since Sen. Phil Gramm scored well for us last year (on the emergency clearance), we let their office carry the ball for us on advising us when we should meet with EPA, if we had to. When Oklahoma was denied a Section 18 clearance for Azodrin in early July, I requested a meeting with EPA officials in Washington.

"We presented an excellent case for why we should have the continued use of Azodrin. Last year, we agreed to a bird monitoring program, paid for by Shell, on two sites in Texas and one site in New Mexico, and showed there were no bird kills (related to Azodrin).

"The EPA extrapolated on possibilities that Azodrin might be killing birds — in short, the ecological people got to EPA. We could have used more help from our own Texas Dept. of Agriculture — Elvis Cozart did a fine job representing TDA, but we have had some problems with the regulatory division.

"As far as we're concerned, EPA didn't have a leg to stand on but still denied use of this very important product. We make no apologies—we did a good job—and this is very disappointing.

"This was nothing but a judgment call, and we got fouled and nobody called it."

Alternatives available, but more expensive

If efforts aren't successful this week to get a last-minute clearance for Azodrin in Texas, area corn growers will be looking for alternatives, and looking at a much higher bill for spraying.

County Entomologist Allen Knutson with the Extension Service said that rather than paying $13 per acre one time for Azodrin application, growers will most likely be paying about $13 per acre for two applications of Supracide and another $9 per acre for another application of an insecticide for corn borer control.

"A bill of $35 per acre for insect control would not be economical," Knutson said. "We're still looking for alternative miticides, but right now the most important thing for producers to do is scout their fields.

Wait, don't we play football?

Yes, football season is just around the corner, but the pressure is already on Castro County basketball teams!

That's because the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches has already released its preseason poll of who is going to win state championships this year, and wouldn't you know it, at least two county teams are near-unanimous choices to win it all next March—less than seven months from now.

The Nazareth Swiftettes have been picked to gain revenge in Class A almost unanimously, while the Dimmitt Bobcats are a near-unanimous choice to earn the championship in 3A.

The Nazareth boys have been chosen as the third-best team in 1A boys next season, with Paducah (who will open the season by hosting the Bobcats four months from now) chosen to win it all in 1A boys.

The poll was completed by several hundred TABC members this spring and was released Monday.

On school board

Petty picked for vacancy

Arle Petty has been named to succeed Don Gregory on the Dimmitt School Board, filling Gregory's vacated spot until next April's election.

Petty was selected by the board at Monday's meeting. He had finished a close fourth in last April's election, and will serve until next April, when he could run for election for a full, three-year term.

Gregory, who has moved to Amarillo, resigned his spot on the board Monday.

The board could have chosen to leave the spot vacant, but decided to offer the seat to Petty, who accepted the position Tuesday morning. The board felt it would be best to offer the seat to Petty instead of leaving the seat vacant, which would have left the board with just six members until April and created problems, especially in case of a tie vote which would be the same as defeating a motion.

Also Monday night, the board voted to purchase insurance at a cost of $9,400, insurance for all students participating in UIL-sanctioned events, stock shows and industrial arts contests for the coming school year. The insurance will be "blanket" coverage for students in grades 7 through 12 participating in athletics, literary events, and many other activities, and will cover about 400 students.

All DISD students will have a choice of insurance plans as well. All of the insurance is offered by Keystone Insurance.

The board also:

- Made minimal changes in the Discipline Management plan as recommended by the Texas Education Agency;

- Accepted the low bid from Henderson Construction for concrete work at Dimmitt Middle School and Dimmitt High School;

- Accepted a bid for milk from Plains Creamery, although the bid was .6 cents per unit higher than a bid from Borden's. The board said they would rather the bid be awarded locally, and pointed to delivery problems in the past from Hereford during bad weather;

- Voted to hire Rose Ball, science, Paul Bell, assistant high school coach, Cheryl Corran, assistant band director, Katy Ivey, DHS social studies, and Susan Merritt, computer science and business at DHS;

- Accepted the resignations of Glenna Cornett, Philda Dudgeon, Corky Lockmiller, Jan Metcalf and Rick Wallace;
- Promoted Gainell Minnick to curriculum director, and appointed Kay Gfeller as assistant curriculum director.

Okays decorations

City restores firemen's budget

The Dimmitt Board of Aldermen dug into the city's bag of unused salaries Monday night to buy firefighting equipment and new downtown Christmas decorations.

Dimmitt was without a city manager from mid-June to mid-July and has been without a fire marshal since mid-May and without a police chief since May 30. It was those unspent salaries that the aldermen voted to apply to the fire department budget and the Christmas decoration project.

The aldermen doubled the city's 1986-87 capital-outlay allocation to the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Dept., from $2,500 to $5,000. The additional money will be used to buy such items as replacement hose (at $600 or more), at least one new air tank ($1,200), lightweight plastic suits to wear when fighting toxic spills (at $50 per suit), and three or four belt-clip pagers (at approximately $325 each).

Representing the DVFD at Monday night's meeting were Assistant Fire Chief Tommy Cleavinger, Acie Boyd and C.D. West.

"We submitted a pared-down request for $5,000 for capital outlays at budget time," Cleavinger explained, "and the board told us they'd have to cut it in half because the city was going to come up short this year in money from franchise taxes and other things. But they said then that if we came up short during the year, to come back and they'd see what they could do."

Boyd told the aldermen that the fire department usually buys 500 to 1,000 ft. of replacement hose every year, but hasn't bought any this year because of the budget cut.

Cleavinger added, "I'd say we used all but 500 ft. of our hose in the recent ammonia incident. We went two or three days without enough hose on our trucks; it was wet and was laid out to dry."

The firemen said they plan to take the least expensive route in buying suits for fighting future spills of toxic substances. A permanent suit costs about $1,200, they said, but disposable plastic suits are available for $50 each.

Cleavinger said the air-tight suits "wouldn't necessarily be just for use during an ammonia spill; there's no telling how much toxic material goes up and down the highways here nowadays. These suits may stay in storage for years, then we may need a bunch of them at once."

The board adopted a motion by Alderman David Hays to apply $2,500 in unspent salaries to restore the fire department's capital-outlay allocation to $5,000.

The board increased its allocation for downtown Christmas decorations from $500 to $1,238 for the current fiscal year at the request of the Chamber of Commerce, which oversees the Christmas project.

The County Commissioners' Court already had approved an increase in funding to buy new decorations for the courthouse square.

Chamber Manager Delores Heller also requested that the city commit $1,179 per year for the next two years to help finish paying for the new pole decorations. The chamber has struck a bargain with the manufacturer to take the old decorations in trade-in and to spread the total cost of the new (Continued on Page 12)

Amendment could halt n-dump work

An amendment was expected to be presented on the House floor Wednesday that would delete $291.2 million from the Dept. of Energy's budget for site characterization and land acquisition for the department's attempt to establish the nation's first, permanent nuclear waste repository.

The amendment to the 1986 Appropriations bill was to be presented by Rep. James Weaver (D-Ore.) in Washington on Wednesday morning to delete the funding from the bill for the 1987 fiscal year, and, if approved, would eliminate funding for the next expected steps in DOE's plans to locate a site for the nuclear waste dump.

Delbert Devin, chairman of the Nuclear Waste Task Force, said Tuesday he had spoken to several members of the Texas congressional delegation, including area Reps. Larry Combest and Beau Boulter, and House Majority Leader Jim Wright, as well as Democratic Whip Tom Foley (D-Wash.), who is in support of the amendment because it would further delay work at the Hanford site, which, along with Deaf Smith County and Nevada are the three finalists for the nuclear dump.

Devin said a congressional aide told him chances were about 50/50 the amendment would be approved.

Rep. Larry Combest, of Lubbock, is supporting the amendment, according to Press Secretary Trudi Lewis, but had not signed on to the amendment nor signed a "Dear Colleague" that was being circulated in the House Tuesday afternoon.

Lewis said, however, Combest is supporting the amendment, whether or not he actually signs on to the amendment, because "DOE is not following the spirit of the law — the Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982."

Lewis said Combest has been named as a special member of the House Science and Technology Committee because one of the three finalist-sites for the repository is in Combest's 19th District.

Amarillo College sets pre-registration

Amarillo College will hold advance registration for fall 1986 Monday through Aug. 8.

First-time students are given special attention and care at AC with freshman intake sessions providing assessment where indicated, counseling and academic advising and assistance with actual registration.

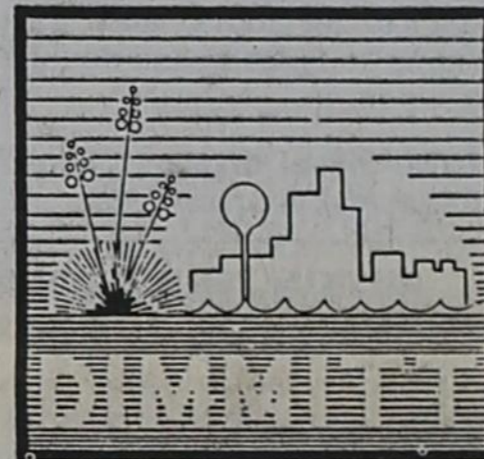

The advantages to students choosing to advance register over the normal registration procedure are many. They are given a two-week time period in which to sign up at their discretion for classes as opposed to a specific day at a designated time.

They have the option of delayed payment of tuition and fees while still retaining class scheduling. Availability of desired classes is much greater as is the time for personalized counseling, aptitude and interest testing and academic advisement.

Panhandle-area high school officials are asked to encourage students with a desire to attend college but with no definite plans to attend Amarillo College to receive help here.

Complete information regarding attendance at Amarillo College is available by calling the Registrar's Office at 371-5030.

Crime Line

The Castro County Crime Line is offering a $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the person or persons involved in the theft of a 16-foot W&W brand stock trailer taken from the Dan Bruton farm five miles northwest of Dimmitt on the night of July 11.

Anyone with information on the trailer should call 647-4711. Persons calling Crime Line do not have to give their name — a code number will be assigned, with payment made through a drop system.

By JOHN BROOKS

Why not have an all-school reunion in Dimmitt?

Back in the dark ages (while I was still in high school) I understand there was such a thing, sort of—there would be a few festivities for all of the exes who returned during Homecoming. The old Ex-Students Association has been inoperative for the past few years.

The idea originally popped into my head while I was on vacation in Arizona last month. I just happened to land in my hometown the day before the big all-school reunion. There was time during the weekend for the individual classes to get together, plus time for meeting with friends who graduated in different years but were in high school at the same time, and a couple of general assemblies for everyone.

There were dances at some of the big clubs (VFW, Elks, American Legion), with buses running every 15 minutes from club-to-club, helping prevent congested parking lots and cutting down on the chances of drunk drivers. There were also some strictly non-alcohol events so everyone could have at least some fun without drinking.

I wouldn't want to volunteer to head up such an effort, but it's something that might merit some attention. If it can be a big success in Coolidge, Arizona, it should be an overwhelming good thing here in Dimmitt.

Speaking of good things in Arizona, isn't it time we had a lottery in Texas?

You can't imagine the amount of fun you can have with a state lottery, and you can't imagine how much interest there will be from all over the state, and you can't imagine how much money could be made in a place the size of Texas with a state lottery. There were some people in Dimmitt who played the New York state lottery until someone decided they didn't want any out-of-staters playing with New York's money.

And look how much good it did the immigration authorities in California after the state lottery was started on the west coast—something like 8 of the first 10 big winners in the California lottery were illegal aliens. 'Course, we might have a similar problem in Texas, but think how much money it would save in the long run.

Arizona has been fighting for many years for highway and education money, and they have found the solution—a state lottery. Their worries aren't completely over in Arizona, with the federal government on the state's back to enforce the 55 MPH speed limit on I-10, I-17 and I-8 (if you think it's a ridiculous law in Texas, drive through the wide-open spaces of New Mexico and Arizona at 55 MPH), but the lottery sure helped things out.

I've seen and heard estimates of $600 million in new, annual revenue for the state if we just had a weekly jackpot game. Throw in lotto and instant winner games, and I'd betcha there would be over $1 billion a year.

On top of that would be commissions paid to local agents, i.e. merchants, who would serve as outlets for lottery tickets. Plus, if you get someone in the door, they might buy something (surely our drive-to-Hereford grocery shoppers wouldn't drive 40 miles just for a lottery ticket).

Plus, lotteries wouldn't be touched by organized crime, which always seems to be able to eventually wind its way into parimutuel-betting sports.

A state lottery in Texas wouldn't be a fix-all cure for our state's budget woes, but it would surely be preferred over a value-added or (gagghh) state income tax.

Letter Classmates searching for student

Dear Editor:

We are trying to locate a Hazel Chambliss, who attended high school in Dimmitt in the late 1930's.

We are planning a business college reunion of Amarillo Commercial College, which she attended in 1940.

Any information on Hazel's whereabouts would be greatly appreciated.

Thank you very much for your kind attention.

Social Security

...in Castro County

Some of the advertisements that appear in newspapers and magazines may lead some people to believe that Social Security asks for a fee in exchange for the services it provides.

This is simply not so. Social Security never requests and would never accept a fee for any of its services; conversely, anyone who does request a fee in exchange for Social Security-related information does not represent us. Yet, some people do pay for information that is freely available from any social security office.

The confusion stems from the fact that some private businesses that do provide information for a fee use the words "Social Security" in their names. Whether or not this is a deliberate effort to confuse the public, the result is the same: many people are led to believe that these companies are affiliated with the Federal Government, and, in fact, represent Social Security.

These businesses often operate in a gray area that may be difficult to define as either legal or illegal; however, Social Security can and does take action when it appears that the public may be confused about whom or what these companies actually represent. For example:

- We ask an organization to change its name to avoid any confusion about the fact that it is a private entity and is not affiliated with any governmental agency;

- We can ask an organization to print a disclaimer (in type at least as large as its name) in which it states very specifically that it is not affiliated with any governmental agency and has no connection with Social Security;

- If the organization does not respond to these voluntary efforts, we can enlist the assistance of the United States

Postal Service, which has the responsibility to act when it finds that an individual or organization is attempting to obtain money through the mails by false representation. Since these efforts to eliminate misleading advertising take time, the public should bear in mind that Social Security never—NEVER—asks for a fee to get a Social Security number, to change a name in our records, or provide a statement of earnings or a benefit estimate.

If you have any questions you may contact us at 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview, or call us at 293-9623.

Sunnyside

By Teeny Bowden, 647-5703

It is a little difficult to write the news from Amarillo but I will try.

L. B. Bowden was admitted to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo Friday afternoon, July 11, and underwent emergency surgery Saturday night, the 12th, for a perforated diverticulitis. A section of the diseased colon was removed and a colostomy replaced it. According to all three doctors he is recovering satisfactorily, but he will not be out of danger from the peritonitis infection for 10 to 14 days. He was moved from Medical Intensive Care to a private room Friday afternoon. He experienced severe pain while on the kidney machine Friday. Dr. Murphy came and gave him a shot for pain so he could hopefully get in at least 3 hours dialysis before having to go in, but before the shot had eased him he started vomiting profusely so was taken by ambulance to Dimmitt emergency first and then Amarillo. His blood pressure and pulse were very high on dialysis Monday and Wednesday, but was better Thursday when he had to have an extra dialysis because of the excessive amount of drugs intravenously which resulted in a fluid overload.

Cleo and J. W. Carr returned home from M. D. Anderson Hospital in Houston Saturday, July 12, and she was able to come to Sunday School the 13th. Her surgery has been postponed indefinitely since the cancer has already spread into her upper chest. It is the slow-growing kind, but the doctors didn't think her heart could stand the extensive surgery that would be required.

Carrie Sadler was in Dallas

Monday, July 14, and Tuesday, July 15, for her graduate nurse's state test for her license as a registered nurse.

Pre-registration for Vacation Bible School was Saturday, July 19, from 10 to 12 noon. VBS and the Library Summer Reading Program began Monday 10 a.m. to 12 noon and will continue through Friday.

Noah and Ruth Spencer of Lubbock visited with several in the community Monday, July 14. They have returned from a two-week vacation and visit with her sisters in Colorado and Oregon. Her other sister, Cyble and D. N. Gamblin of Avery went with them and D.N. did all the driving for Noah. Their sister in Colorado, Eva Mae Wall, went on to Oregon with them to visit with Dorothy and family.

Ezell and Verba Sadler left Wednesday the 16th for Hubbard Creek Lake to prepare for the McWilliams reunion there over the weekend. They first went to Big Spring for a short visit with Raymond and Lucille Lilley to help him celebrate his birthday.

Judy Waggoner is now working at the Flower Patch in Dimmitt.

Sharon Sadler went with her mother, Norma Conard of Dimmitt, and her grandchildren, Cory and Kacie Windsor of Fort Worth to Farmington Sunday the 6th to spend the week with Jim and Stacy Norman while Norma and the kids went to Chama and other points of interest in that area. Stacy came home with them Sunday the 13th to visit a while.

Larry Sadler also attended the funeral services of Mary Shultz in Abilene the 7th along with the Ezell Sadlers.

and Goldie Thompson visited with them Friday afternoon just after he was moved to a private room.

Rev. Larry Brittain and Roy Phelan from Weatherford arrived Thursday evening for a visit in the community. They had supper Thursday night with Gale and Verna Sadler and Embree Roy and Willie Mae Sadler and spent the night with Gale and Verna.

Willie Mae Sadler visited in Dimmitt Friday with Mary Francis Hestand.

Lela Harden of Oklahoma City and Eleanor Baker of Canyon visited in St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo Saturday morning with Teeny and L.B. Bowden.

Nazareth

By Uirge Gerber, 945-2669

The annual German Festival celebrated Saturday at Nazareth was well attended by area residents. The Arts and Crafts show, music, games, refreshments, German sausage meal and dance with music furnished by the Maines Bros. were all enjoyed. Thanks to all who worked or contributed as asked and especially to the Hall Committee and their wives for many long hours of planning and working.

Toney and Mary Gerber hosted a get-together Tuesday evening, July 15, at their home for Sister Maureen Schmucker, who recently celebrated her 50th jubilee as a Benedictine Nun. Those attending were the Schmucker cousins, Fonsa Huseman, Joe and Amy Schmucker, Vincent and Louise Braddock, and Leonard and Alvina Gerber. All enjoyed the evening visiting.

Jerome and Margaret Ann Brockman's family were all here this weekend to visit and attend the German Festival. This included Jim and Kathleen Brockman and family of Hereford; Gerrie Russell and family of Lubbock; Calvin and Kathy Yarbrough and family of Fredericksburg; Joe and Margie Brockman and family of San Antonio; Paul of Canyon; Ken of Phoenix, Ariz. and Theresa of Odessa.

Georgie and Nicole Kleman, Gail Kleman of Houston, Jill and Colby Pohlmeier spent several days in Fort Smith, Ark. with their family, Kelvin, Julie and Seth Kleman. While there they celebrated Seth's first birthday.

Laura Gerber, daughter of Mick and Jane Gerber, has been in Northwest Texas Hospital for a week. She is still being treated. We hope she will soon be well.

Leonard and Alvina Gerber visited their granddaughter, Laura Gerber, last Tuesday in Northwest Texas Hospital, also visited with Math and Rozena Albracht and Henry and Ginger Gerber while in Amarillo. On their way home they visited with Jerry Gerber and Bill and Frances Gerber in Umbarger.

Granny Hankins of Plainview has been visiting with her family, Bill, Val, Sis and Ambrose Seurer in Hinton, Okla., with her niece Barbara and Louis Staas and Albert and Rita Hartman. She drove with Albert to Nazareth Monday morning and visited with relatives here before returning to her home in Plainview.

Two of Charley Hill's grandchildren are spending a week here with Charley, Bev, Todd and Traci. They are Shawn and Stacy Schwartz of Scott City, Kan.

TFB sponsoring Hart fireman

Jay Wescott, volunteer fireman of the Hart Volunteer Fire Dept. of Hart is attending the 57th annual Texas Firemen's Training School this week. The school, attended by nearly 2,000 students representing about 750 cities from more than 25 states is being held on the Texas A&M University campus this week.

Firemen can choose their course at the school from a list including fire fighting, fire prevention, fire department officer training, fire department pump maintenance, specialized fire protection and disaster rescue training.

Fireman Wescott is being sponsored by Castro County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire fighting and fire prevention, 100 county Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the state-wide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

"The Farm Bureau Insurance Companies believe volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas," said President S. M. True, Jr. of Plainview. "It is our hope in sponsoring this program that the fireman will help the Hart Volunteer Dept. to better serve the residents of Castro County."

Cowboy camp starts today

The ninth annual Mesa Redondo Cowboy Camp Meeting is scheduled today through Sunday south of Tucumcari, N.M.

Camp pastors will be Bill Burch, district superintendent of the Arizona District Church of the Nazarene from Phoenix, and Claude Cone, former longtime pastor of the First Baptist Church in Pampa and currently the executive director of the Baptist Convention of New Mexico.

Activities begin this afternoon at 5 o'clock and will continue through noon Sunday, and will include the fifth annual Youth Roundup during the entire camp. The activities will include chuckwagon-style meals, campfire fellowships, prayer meetings and twice-daily worship services.

The interdenominational camp is held 11 miles south of Tucumcari on SH 18 at the foot of Mesa Redondo in a secluded canyon.

Clarification

In a cutline on a photo on page one of the News last week, the Easter 4-H Club was said to be presenting a check for $620 to the Derik Harkins fund after the money was raised at a recent performance of the Easter Opry.

Instead, the money was raised during a cookout held by the club, while the Easter Opry recently raised over $2,600 for the medical fund.

The News regrets the error.

Terraces, pipelines save water, dollars

By CLAYTON JOBE

Terrace systems and pipelines are two of the most cost-efficient conservation methods farmers can use today, and cost-share programs are available for both.

When terraces are mentioned, many farmers don't like to talk about them. However, the parallel terraces that are built in modern times are rapidly gaining popularity.

These terraces are modernized to a wide base width; in fact, they are tailored to each farmer's equipment size. These terraces are easily farmed since they are built parallel to each other, eliminating point rows which were so common on the old standard-type terrace.

Of course, the purpose of terracing a field is to prevent or eliminate gullies, and to hold on the land as much rainfall water as possible. This keeps the soil where it belongs and increases crop production, and keeps the farmer from worrying about whether his field is going to be washed away during a heavy rain.

There are many parallel terrace systems already established in Castro County, and one may be seen at the Jim Elder farm five miles north of Dimmitt. Elder established this terrace system through the Great Plains Conservation Program, receiving both technical and financial assistance. 75% of the cost of constructing the terraces is offered through the program, while cost-share assistance is also available through the Agriculture Conservation Program from the ASCS office.

USDL reported out in force this year

The Federal Migrant and Seasonal Agricultural Workers Protection Act (MSAWPA) has not gotten much attention on the High Plains since last summer. But that could well change as hoe-hands invade this year's weed-infested fields.

There's a beefed-up staff of US Dept. of Labor (USDL) Wage and Hour Compliance officers in the area, and reports to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, indicate they are beginning to make their presence felt.

All employees who used 500 man days of hired labor in any quarter of the previous year are covered by the law. A man day is defined as any day in which an employee does agricultural work for not less than one hour. Employment of immediate family members, however, does not count as man days.

Farm labor contractors also are subject to the law, including a requirement that they obtain and, on request, display a valid USDL certification of registration.

For farmers the main caveat here, notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, is that it's unlawful for producers to hire an unregistered contractor. According to Tony Price, Executive Vice President of the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association and a director of the National Council of Agricultural Employers, most of the violations recorded to date have been in this area, including contractors cited for hiring or offering for hire illegal aliens.

A USDL checklist of potential violations provides no less than 17 ways in which covered agricultural employers can run afoul of the law.

Producers not using a contractor, Johnson says, may best avoid conflict with the law by a reverse application of the "rights" granted workers under the MSAWPA. These are detailed on a yellow poster, available from the Labor Dept. The poster must be prominently displayed "at the worksite," a requirement that in itself will pose problems for High Plains employers in many instances.

Workers, the MSAWPA says, have the right to receive, in writing, accurate information about the wages and working conditions of prospective employment, and to receive written, itemized statements of hours and earnings for each pay period. Employers therefore, have the obligation to provide such information. Also, Johnson advises, records of these statements should be kept by employers, "because without them they'll be hard-pressed to defend themselves if a complaint is filed or if there's a question about the man days used to determine whether they're covered by the law.

When transportation is supplied by the employer, workers have the right to be transported in properly insured vehicles, operated by licensed drivers, which have met federal and state safety standards.

If housing is provided, workers have the right to be housed in property which meets federal and state safety and health standards, and to be given written housing information at the time of recruitment.

Requests for additional information, required posters and/or other compliance materials should be directed to the USDL, Wage and Hour Division, 1205 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, telephone 743-7666.

Check lawns now for grubworms

By ALLEN KNUTSON

Castro County residents who want to protect their lawns need to keep close lookout now for white grub worms, cautions Allen Knutson, Extension Agent-Entomology.

May or June beetles have been emerging from the soil and swarming in lawns in the evening, he noted. Females laid eggs which have hatched into white grubs. These grubs are beginning to feed on roots of home lawn grasses. "Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken," Knutson said.

Treatment time varies with the area of the state. Homeowners in the South Plains need to treat between mid-July and early August. Timing of chemical application is critical for adequate control.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of four inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 feet of lawn area.

Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod. Diazinon, Dursban or Ofatol provide adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical container label. The granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than are liquid or spray formulations. "After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or water hose to knock them down into the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules into the soil," Knutson advised. The insecticide should be watered in with a half inch to an inch of water immediately after application, he said.

Diazinon sprays should be applied at the rate of 25 gallons of water, including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to wash the chemical into the soil. Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps. "Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry," the Extension agent stressed.

The key to controlling white grubs in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where the grubs are feeding.

1987 wheat, other provisions announced

The provisions of the 1987 wheat program and other programs were announced this week by Charley Hill, County Executive Director of the ASCS office in Dimmitt.

Signup for the wheat program will begin Oct. 1 and continue through March 30.

The wheat program includes an acreage reduction requirement of 27.5%, Hill said, which means 37.93% of the planted wheat acreage must be devoted to ACR. The target price will be $4.38.

1987 Cropland Acreage Bases (CAB) will be determined using the same rules as in 1986, except the base period will be 1982 through 1986 for wheat, feed grains and upland cotton. 1987 yields for wheat, feed grains and upland cotton will be the same as 1986 yields, with the additional yield provision applying only if the 1987 yield is reduced from the 1985 yield by more than 5%.

Grazing of ACR will be permitted upon request by the state committee except during any five-consecutive month period designated by the committee.

Limited cross-compliance requirements will be in effect for 1987 wheat, feed grains and cotton, Hill said. To be eligible for benefits for a participating crop, the acreage planted for harvest on a farm to any other program crop, including any ELS cotton, may not exceed the CAB of these crops. The 50/92 provisions will apply using certain guidelines including:

- Non-program crops may not be used;
- Only Conservation Use acreages may be used;
- Haying or grazing, or both, of designated CU will be permitted if approved by the state committee;
- The grandfather clause will not apply in 1987.

Farm Acreage Bases will be established although no adjustments of CAB's will be permitted under the authority to increase a CAB by up to 10% of the FAB with a corresponding downward adjustment of other CAB's on the farm, Hill said.

SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENTS

Students receive Cargill scholarships

Four 1986 graduates of Dimmitt High School have been awarded $1,000 college scholarships by the Cargill Foundation.

The four, all from the Dimmitt area are:

Ben Benton, who will enter Texas A&M University, College Station, in the fall to study science;

Denise Smith, who plans to attend West Texas State University, Canyon, to study nursing;

Jill Smith, who has enrolled at Texas A&M University to study pre-veterinary medicine, and Donna Behrends, who will study biology at Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

The $100,000 Cargill Scholarship Program for Rural America is designed to recognize and encourage academic achievement, accomplishments and talents of young people from farm families, according to Wayne Burrell, superintendent for the Cargill molasses terminal in Dimmitt.

The four scholarships are among 100 awarded by the Cargill Foundation to 1986 high school graduates from farm families in 20 states. The Cargill Foundation is the charitable arm of Cargill, Inc., Minneapolis.

More about

...Azodrin alternatives

Grass Mite is not real critical right now, and very few fields need treatment. The big problems generally don't start until late July or the first two weeks of August. We're not seeing many borers yet, but we may have some very shortly in many more fields. It's just going to be very important for farmers to scout their fields, and determine whether or not it's going to be economical for them to spray."

According to Knutson's Pest Management Newsletter prepared last Friday, EPA determined the environmental risk of Azodrin application exceeded the risk of the alternative, which was determined by EPA to be 2 applications of Supracide for mites and 1 application of Furadan for borers.

Supracide has limited activity against the corn borer, hence the need for the additional treatment with Furadan. If Azodrin had been approved, only one treatment would have been needed in most cases, since Azodrin controls both mites and borers.

Knutson said in his newsletter that research conducted by Dr. Tom Archer at Lubbock, leads Archer to recommend that Supracide be applied twice, with the second application going on 5 to 7 days following the first application if mites are still present.

No more than one pound of Supracide may be used per acre during the growing season, with no more than .5 pounds per acre during any single application. The acaricide may be used no later than 30 days before harvest, and there is a 48-hour re-entry interval.

"One big problem we have with our mites is they are tougher than mites in other states," Knutson said. "That may sound like Texas bragadoccio, but tests on mites from Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas show Texas mites are tougher, more tolerant to miticides than mites from other states. Some of these chemicals are able to control mites in other states, but Texas mites are tougher than mites in other states."

Aeration important for top grain quality

Aerating stored grain can be important from the standpoint of grain quality, particularly in hot, humid areas such as southern and central Texas.

An aerating system, in which air is forced through the grain, will remove harvest and dryer heat, hold undried grain, remove small amounts of moisture, and maintain the quality of dry grain during storage, says Richard Withers, agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Grains harvested during the summer pick up considerable heat from the sun, and additional heat may be added if grain is dried before storing. Aeration can effectively remove this heat after grain is stored, Withers points out. A minimum airflow rate of 1/20 cubic feet per minute (cfm) per bushel is recommended, but a rate of 1/10 cfm per bushel is preferred.

A producer can use aeration to hold undried (high-moisture) grain in storage for short periods prior to drying, adds Withers. By reducing spontaneous heating of grain, short-time storage is possible. For this purpose, operate fans continuously regardless of the weather until the grain is moved through the dryer, recommends the engineer.

US Department of Agriculture tests have shown that aeration reduced the moisture content of sorghum (initially at 15%) by about 2% during a storage period of five to seven months, Withers points out. However, aeration does not remove moisture rapidly, so a more rapid method of drying must be used to remove excess moisture when grain is stored for only a short time prior to marketing.

When removing small amounts of moisture, the fan supplying 1/10 cfm per bushel should be operated continuously for about 20 days, suggests the engineer. That much time is required to move about five cooling zones through grain when aerated with air supplied at a rate of 1/10 cfm per bushel.

After 20 days, automatic controls should be used to operate fans when outside air is 10 or more degrees cooler than the grain. Outside air temperatures at night usually are low enough to keep grain cool and in good condition, but additional fan operation may be necessary if grain starts to heat. As air becomes cooler in the fall, fan operation should be the same as for maintaining stored dry grain quality, says Withers.

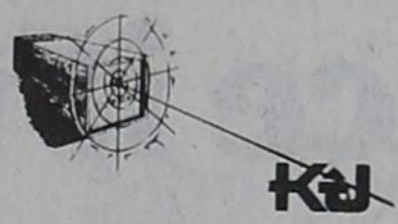

Airflow rates higher than 1/10 cfm per bushel are advantageous, but the cost of installing such systems may be prohibitive. However, Withers does not recommend a rate as low as 1/20 cfm per bushel when small amounts of moisture must be removed from the grain.

Keeping grain cool during storage is a big factor in maintaining its quality, adds Withers. Grain cooling controls moisture migration by equalizing grain temperatures, retards mold development and decreases insect activity.

What's in a name? Hanem Family Hair Care Center in Dimmitt is owned by Alex and Lupe Eleskandarany. Now, that isn't as complicated as it looks or sounds. Alex is originally from Alexandria, Egypt. "Eleskandarany" is the Egyptian equivalent of "Alexander."

The beauty shop which Lupe operates is named after Alex's mother, whose first name is Hanem.

Lupe is the former Lupe Garcia, daughter of Amos and Soila Garcia. Her late father was well-known here; he worked many years for the city and also operated Amos Janitorial Service.

Alex and Lupe also own a janitorial service in El Paso, which Alex manages. The name of their company there is — you guessed it — Amos Janitorial Service.

Only 28% of single American men consider themselves attractive. That's a little surprising. After all, most guys aren't all that ugly.

But get this: Only 13% of single American women consider themselves pretty.

Now that's ridiculous. About

87% of you gals must be suffering from low self-esteem. Either that, or you have a very restrictive definition of "pretty."

I think most men would agree that most women are pretty. There are varying degrees of pretty, of course, but nearly every woman is pretty in one way or another. In most cases, what's in the face is more important than what's on it. For example: if you've got your makeup on and your hair just like you want it and still don't think you're pretty, look in the mirror. Now smile. Now you're pretty.

Get your self-esteem up, girls.

decorations (more than $7,000) over a three-year pay-out period, interest free.

"You understand that we can't commit money now on the next two years' budgets," Alderman Wayne Proffitt said. He wondered aloud whether the city could afford to pay its entire share of the cost now.

After the board adopted a motion by Jack Thompson to grant the increased allocation for this year, Mayor Wayne Collins commented, "It's somewhat futile to make a down payment and not carry it through. I would think a resolution would be in order to state our intent to budget for the balance of the money needed for Christmas decorations."

Thompson followed up by proposing such a resolution, and the board approved it.

"I think these decorations are something that would benefit the entire community," Thompson said.

City Manager Reeford Burrous told the aldermen that the city is losing its battle against weeds, and asked about renting a tractor during the rest of the summer.

"The city has a big double-gang mower and two little mowers," Burrous explained. "If we could rent or lease a big enough tractor to pull that double-gang mower, it would release our little mowers to do their job in town. We're spending too much time mowing out at the airport with the small mowers while they need to be busy in town. And the weeds out at the city dump are terrible right now."

"Wasn't that (double-gang) mower demonstrated with the city's tractor when we bought it?" Hays asked.

"The city's tractor has been breaking down — it just can't handle the load," Burrous answered.

Saying that tractor rentals are "seldom satisfactory," Hays suggested the city study the possibility of contracting the weed-mowing at the airport.

The aldermen went into executive session to study applications for the fire marshal's and police chief's positions.

Be sure it's a 'free' offer

Have you ever responded to an ad for a "free trial" offer and then been surprised when you received extra un-ordered merchandise — and a bill?

Some companies count on the fact that many consumers mistakenly believe they are obligated to pay for the merchandise or to return it at their own expense, says Nancy Granovsky, a family economics specialist.

"If you're sent things in the mail that you did not order, you have a legal right to keep the shipment as a free gift, according to Federal Trade Commission (FTC) rules," explains the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

Although it's not necessary as a requirement for keeping the merchandise, you may want to write a letter to the company saying you plan to keep it as a free gift, she notes. This may discourage the seller from sending you repeated bills or dunning notices, and from sending you other un-ordered merchandise in the future.

Granovsky says if you don't want to keep the merchandise as a gift, you can write "Refused — Unordered Merchandise" on the package and return it to the sender. You don't have to pay postage to have the package returned.

The specialist points out that some "free gift" offers come with strings attached.

Final testing underway on new Contel switch

Final testing is now underway for a new $1.4 million telephone switching system for Continental Telephone that may be in service for customers in Dimmitt, Hart and Nazareth by Aug. 5.

Director of Network Services Ed McPherson, of Dumas, told the Dimmitt Kiwanis Club Monday that final testing of the new, digital switch is currently underway, with technicians calling every number in the 647, 938 and 945 exchanges over the new system, attempting to talk with each customer.

"In the event we are not able to contact someone at a home or business," McPherson said, "we will connect a ringer board to the number so we can make sure it is ringing the proper number."

McPherson said the company is currently shooting for the early August date because of the threat of a strike by the Communications Workers of America against Southwestern Bell that could affect operations in Amarillo and delay implementation of the new switch here.

"We can't cut the system over unless the technicians are on hand in Amarillo because of work they have to do in Amarillo. (CWA) could go on strike Aug. 9, so things are a little iffy."

The new system, being installed by technicians from Stromberg-Carlson, would cut the new system in during the early-morning hours of Aug. 5 if the current schedule is maintained, and will mean some changes for Contel customers immediately, McPherson said.

"It will sound different. The dial tone, ring-back and busy signals will all sound different because Contel is adopting nationwide frequency tone standards with the change. That usually leads to a lot of trouble reports because it sounds different."

"Actually, we should have fewer trouble reports because most of the electro-magnetic devices will be out of the system, and the new system will be able to identify trouble spots on its own."

"You should also have fewer incidents of an operator coming on your line and asking for your number (ONI) when you make a long-distance call if you have a single-party line. Four-party lines will still have to be ONI for long-distance calls some of the time."

Another change will require all customers to dial all seven digits of the number they are trying to call. Currently, some customers may dial only the last four digits, or may dial only "67," "98" or "95" plus the last four digits.

McPherson said new services will also be available with the digital switch's implementation, including Call-Waiting, Call-Forwarding and Speed Calling, and all customers will have access to touchtone lines (only a limited number of touchtone lines have been available with the current switch).

Police Calls

A 1981 Buick Regal driven by Steven Boyd Haberer of Earth sustained heavy damage when it was struck by a 1986 Ford 100 pickup driven by Francisco A. Guerrero of Mercedes last Thursday night.

The pickup had been traveling west on Bedford and attempted to make a left-hand turn onto Broadway when it struck the car, which was traveling east on Bedford.

Guerrero was cited for failure to yield the right of way and Haberer was cited for having no proof of liability insurance.

Another two-vehicle accident left a 1978 Ford LTD heavily damaged while a 1979 GMC Sierra-35 pickup-trailer received only light damage.

The LTD, driven by Wayne Roy Schultz of Dimmitt was westbound on Bedford when it struck the pickup-trailer combination.

Reports indicate that the pickup was parked in the Allsups parking lot and the trailer that was attached to the vehicle was sticking out, blocking the right lane of the roadway when Schultz' car struck it Sunday afternoon.

Dwayne Talley of 306 NW Fifth told police he was watching his brother's house at 307 NW Fifth, while his brother, David Talley, was on vacation.

Talley stated that at 9 p.m. on Sunday he was informed by an unknown juvenile that his brother's house had been broken into.

Investigations by police revealed the culprits had gotten into the house by tearing the southwest back window screen out and opening the window.

Once inside the house, they reportedly scattered several items about the house and spread paint and toothpaste on the floors.

Several household items were found in the back of the yard and in a treehouse in the backyard of 309 NW Fifth. Also located in the area were an alarm radio, box of dominoes, decks of cards and an unknown amount of books.

Officers reveal that they talked with a young child who said "he knew who had broken into the house."

Police then confronted the parents of the accused juveniles who in turn talked to their children.

Reports state that the parents told police their children "had been involved in the burglary."

The parents were advised to take their children to the Sheriff's Office.

Investigation is continuing in the case.
