LISTEN TO LUKE

We heard the song several weeks ago, we saw the coon-skin hat soon afterward, later other voices lauding the hero have hit the markets with a bang and disappeared from the counters with a thunder BANG. The show of the hero was a big success and the personal appearances of the movie star that portrayed his life were received with glee and excitement by the kids of the nation. Even autographed pictures, we are told, were sold by the thousands.

We thought at first it was just a fad, that he kids would soon forget, when some other hero came along with a more exciting background.

But not so.

Davey Crockett is here to stay! But what could be better?

Time was, not long ago, when the small-fry of the nation, had such things as the "skeleton man" or the "blood-drinking ghoul" as their hero and the antics of these characters were mimicked time and again in horrible murders and obscene and treacherous crimes.

Davey Crockett has had a few tales told on him, which while not entirely true, probably, only lend color and laud braver and more heroic deeds to the historic actions of the frontiersman.

The fact that he was a defender of truth and justice, that he was a brave man in fighting and dying, is strong enough for the kids to grasp the meaning of his life and attempt to mimic his actions. If only the ideology of the hero could be more solidly instilled in the hearts and minds of the small-fry, there would be many future Davey Crocketts of the "Black Witches" or something of the sort.

We hope that those who are making and selling Davey Crockett items have a long and lucrative business.

The kids need a hero, and they have found one. It's a very good sign.

Long Live Davey Crockett!

It is indeed a pleasure to see some greenness on the hills surrounding Sanderson as well as on many hills in other parts of the county. We don't know if the vegetation is of the best character, but we can see that it is green and it looks good.

Some of the ranches in the north part of the county have been blessed with more moisture than others and the effects are showing.

The weather continues to be unsettled with thunderheads appearing periodically.

Rain can do more to this country than many would suppose who have never had the privilege of seeing the verdant hills and lush valleys.

We just have not been able to get over the fact that so many local business men are doing so much in improving the appearances of their businesses.

We wonder what charm has possessed them, what knowledge they have, or what has happened to them to cause such goings-ons.

Don't get us wrong, we are glad to see it. We would like to see more of it. We appreciate the forethought they have. We appreciate more than that, the faith they have. But being in the newspaper business, we are, by trade, nosy, and would still like to know what they know.

People of the town may as well prepare for a large crowd here on the 16th. We feel sure that one is coming.

A large delegation from Pecos County, Fort Stockton particularly, will be here for the day to visit with friends here and take in many of the festivities.

The word has been expressed to us that the people of Fort Stockton are more than glad to come

CALL OUT FOR ARTICLES FOR ALL EXHIBITS

The sixteen exhibits which are being arranged for the birthday celebration on July 16 will be on display all of that day in the high school building on the first floor. The Sanderson Culture Club is coordinator for all of the exhibits.

Persons having articles to be used in the various exhibits are requested to bring them to the high school building on Friday, July 15, between 9 and 12 in the morning so the committees can have the exhibits ready for Saturday. The articles will all be catalogued and they must be plainly marked with the owner's name. The hours for removing articles from the exhibits will be announced in next week's Times.

Printed guide lists to all of the exhibits will be furnished for all at the registration desk.

The Culture Club's exhibit of articles pertaining to American heritage is being arranged by Messrs. J. H. Loehausen, W. H. Savage and W. G. Downie and they are requesting anyone having articles which may be used in the exhibit to notify a member of the above-named committee in advance as space must be provided for the display which is expected to be the largest one. Antique objects of the period of fifty years ago and longer, especially those from this area, are needed. Household articles, costumes, camping equipment — anything that was in use in homes or on ranches during that period — may be used but the committee is stressing the fact that the articles do not necessarily have to have been used in Terrell County.

Mrs. Downie has also issued a call for photos of old settlers of the county of that period to use in a display and has requested that they be left at The Times office.

Old Grade Offered Air Force Enlistees

Former Air Force personnel can re-enlist with their old grade regardless of length of time out of the Air Force, according to announcement made last week by Sgt. Hyde, Air Force Recruiter.

The U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service announced that they have vacancies for enlistment into that branch of the service for the month of July.

There are over 400 schools and trades now offered by your U. S. Air Force to young men and women with high school diplomas, Hyde stated.

Further information can be obtained from Sgt. Hyde at 310 San Francisco St., El Paso, Texas.

Park Installing Basin Water Line

Construction of a 3-inch steel water line from well No. 2 to the reservoir at park headquarters has been initiated and will be completed in the near future. The water line is about three miles long and its construction will eliminate hauling water for park headquarters, which has been necessary each year for the past several years.

The work on the water extension for the basin area has been discontinued pending receipt of required materials at the spring end of this water line. These essential items should be received by the early summer and water lines will then be completed.

Masonic Installation, Barbecue and Address Enjoyed Friday Night

About 80 Masons, O.E.S. members and their families and special guests were present at the Masonic Hall last Friday evening for a barbecue supper and address preceding the installation of officers of the Masonic Lodge in closed services.

The barbecue supper consisted of barbecued beef, beans, salads, tomatoes, cakes, onions, pickles, bread and iced tea.

Following the supper, R. S. Wilkinson, secretary of the local lodge, presented a life membership to Chester Smith, a past master of the organization. Twenty-five year membership pins were presented to 30 eligible members.

Dr. Thomas E. Brewster, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Fort Stockton and Grand Chaplain of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters, was the principal speaker and spoke on "25 Years as a Master Mason" bringing into his talk much Masonic history and many references to the Masonic ritual.

Following the benediction by S. D. Thompson, members of the Masonic lodge held their installation of officers. Ruel Adams was the installing officer and R. S. Wilkinson, the installing marshal.

The following officers were installed for the ensuing Masonic year: W. S. Forth, worshipful master; H. M. Beckett, senior warden; F. G. Hardin, junior warden; R. R. Veterans Win 13-9 Over McCamey Nine

The V. F. W. baseball team, revamped from last year's aggregation and aided by boys of the high school team, went into their first game here Sunday with a bit of old-time enthusiasm. Their first was with McCamey here at 2:30 Sunday afternoon.

The locals took an early lead, but a six-run inning for the visitors in the fifth made the locals hustle to the last play of the game. Joe Vasquez did the mound duty for the Vets. Stutes and Ochoa led in runs batted in. All the Vets showed good at the plate, but a few errors were marked up against them in fielding. Fans were pleased with the first game showing.

The V.F.W. team will meet Monahans here next Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

HOUSING COMMITTEE ASKS FOR LISTINGS

Citizens of this area who may have spare bed rooms which would be available for the week-end of the celebration are urged to list them with the housing committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

L. H. Gilbreath, chairman of that committee, stated that most of the available courts have been reserved and it will be necessary for individual homes to be opened if the committee is able to house the visitors on that week-end.

If you have an available room to let it will be appreciated by the committee if you will contact Mrs. C. P. Peavy who is assisting by keeping files of available rooms.

Parade To Lead Day's Program In 50th Birthday Celebration

Plans for one of the biggest parades ever staged in Terrell County are being made by members of the Sanderson Garden Club for the July 16th celebration of Terrell County's 50th birthday.

Members of the club have catalogued entrants to date and are interested in getting all who plan to enter floats or exhibits at the earliest possible time. The parade committee has been assured that the Pecos County Sheriff's Posse will be on hand to lead the parade through town. There will be three units mounted and the commercial, civic and individual entries will be dispersed between the mounted units.

Bicycle riders may enter if they decorate their vehicles.

It is planned to start the parade at 9:30 at the power plant in the western part of town and proceed east on Oak Street to Fourth, then north on Fourth two blocks to Hackberry, then west to First, where the floats will be parked between First and Second Streets.

Those desiring to enter floats must contact Mrs. O. T. Sudduth in order to get placed in the line of the parade.

Western style barbecue and all the trimmings will be served on the courthouse lawn after which the group will be given time and an opportunity to see the various exhibits at the high school building and participate in the class reunions in the various classrooms set aside for that purpose.

The big rodeo, sponsored by the Sanderson Roping Club, will get under way at 2:30 at the arena in the eastern part of town and the V.F.W. will meet the Fort Stockton Veterans in a baseball game at the field west of town at 3 o'clock.

Two big dances are on schedule for the evening with Jimmie Fletcher and his Drifting Ranch Hands playing for the American Legion sponsored dance on the school grounds and the Vasquez Orchestra from Monahans furnishing the music for the V.F.W. sponsored dance at the V.F.W. Hall.

Vacancies Exist For Patrolmen In Highway Dept.

Austin — Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, announced this week that the Texas Highway Patrol will accept applications between now and July 25 from young Texans for appointment to the Texas Highway Patrol.

Garrison said that examinations for appointment to the Patrol recruit training school will be given at various points in the state early in August. Some 100 vacancies, due to action of the Texas Legislature in increasing the Texas Highway Patrol personnel, will be filled from the roster of those qualified.

The Public Safety Director invites all young men who are interested in a career of law enforcement to make application as early as possible. He pointed out that they must be between 21 and 35 years of age, inclusive, have a high school education, be at least 5 feet 8 inches in height and weigh not less than two nor more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height.

Garrison emphasized, too, that applicants must have been citizens of Texas for at least a year and they must be of good moral character and in perfect physical condition and able to withstand a rigid character investigation.

Garrison further emphasized that these applicants, if accepted for this service, will receive vacation time, sick leave, if necessary, and will be covered by the State Retirement Act and the Federal Social Security Act.

Application forms, Garrison said, may be obtained from all Texas Highway Patrol Offices or by writing directly to W. J. Elliott who is chief of the Texas Highway Patrol in Austin.

James Word Motors Dodge Truck Dealer

James Word Motors is the name of the business which this week is announced as a factory-authorized dealer to sell and service Dodge "Job-rated" trucks.

The business name of James Word Service Station and Garage has been changed with the appointment of the new dealership.

Word stated that he will handle the full line of trucks offering seven engines ranging from 103 to 202 gross horsepower and gross weight capacities ranging from 4,250 to 40,000 pounds.

Both V-8 and 6-cylinder engines are offered in the conventional series of Dodge trucks. A wide-range of panel, pick-up, express and stake bodies are available.

A display room has been built at the business for the new line of vehicles and Word plans to enclose the back and sides of the shed as soon as possible and add a glass front to the building.

Business Changes Made This Week

Many changes and moves in local businesses have been effected this week, similar to those sometimes noted in the residential section.

The Smith Grocery is vacating the Newton building and going out of business; Border Feed Store is moving to the Newton Building; the Magnolia gravity meter crew is moving to the building next to the White Auto Store, formerly occupied by the feed store.

Chester Smith, who opened the grocery store about six years ago, has sold his stock and fixtures to George Turner and states that he will retire from business.

He had been in the grocery business for many years in Terrell County, formerly operating a grocery store and market in Dryden.

The Magnolia crew had been occupying the Brown building next to the fire house.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Petroosky and children visited here with friends Monday. They have been residing in Kent and are in Alpine for the summer session of Sul Ross College.

LST Named For Terrell County

Word was received recently by the Terrell County Chamber of Commerce that the USS LST (Landing Ship Tank) 1157 will be officially named the USS Terrell County in honor of Terrell County, Texas.

The official naming ceremony will be held aboard ship at the US Naval Repair Facility, San Diego, California, at 1:30 p. m. on July 1.

The ship was commissioned in Bath, Maine, on March 14, 1953, and travelled to the West Coast in October 1953 where it is now a unit of the Amphibious Forces, US Pacific Fleet.

Citizenship at the Grassroots

Many signs point toward a continuous danger from encroaching, "back door" Socialism in America, but the bright, encouraging signs, I think, offset the gloomy ones. As this column is written I have just returned to my office from Purdue University after having participated in the annual American Farm Bureau Institute. What I know about the Farm Bureau's nationwide work among the farming population, together with what I saw and heard at the Institute, gives me a comforting feeling about the future of our great nation.

At Purdue I addressed 300 Farm Bureau national, state and regional officials. They were representing more than 1,600,000 Farm Bureau families in 48 states, or nearly 10,000,000 Americans. And the keynote of their week-long Institute was American citizenship education — with particular discussion on how the Farm Bureau can activate the people at the grass roots to fulfill their citizenship responsibilities. My subject was "Basic Concepts of Government."

Desire for Understanding

The impressive thing at the Institute was the earnest desire of the Farm Bureau's national leadership to get across to its field workers and member families the very clearest understanding of our American political and economic system, as well as an awareness of the dangers confronting it. My colleague at Harding College, Dr. Clifton L. Gann, Jr., dean of Harding's pioneering School of American Studies, dramatized the elements in our unique system by actually building for the 300 conferees a 16-foot-high pyramid representing the political and economic structure of the "American Way of Life." Other speakers on the citizenship subject were Charles E. Shuman, president, American Farm Bureau Federation; D. B. Varner, vice-president, Michigan State University; and Harry I. Reed, Dean, School of Agriculture at Purdue University.

Another impressive thing was the well-organized program for carrying American citizenship education to the grass roots through the Farm Bureau's more than 3,000 county organizations. There is an excellent kit of materials which has been in the process of development and refinement for a number of years. Training in the use of this kit was one of the chief purposes of the Institute.

The Motives

The educational project has two frankly-stated motives: (1) to improve the welfare of America's farm families; and (2) to strengthen and protect the basic elements of our American system. The Farm Bureau leadership feels that No. 1 depends on the success of No. 2. And for this reason, the Bureau's grass roots educational project is of great worth to all of us in America.

Here is what the Farm Bureau is preaching and teaching in every phase of its citizenship education project: "We believe in the American competitive enterprise system; that man's search for progress should be encouraged by maintenance of opportunity, not hindered by illusions of security; that a person should be rewarded

Supply and Demand

(and to continue) that property rights cannot be taken away without infringing on rights guaranteed by the Constitution; that the Constitution is the basic law of the land and that its interpretation should be in accordance with the intent of its authors; that government should operate impartially in the interest of all; that government's regulatory powers should be based on law; that government should provide a minimum controls and aids only; that government should stimulate, not discourage individual initiative.

The Bureau's fundamental agricultural economic concepts are stated thus: "Grow for profit what the market wants. Get bigger markets at home and abroad. Cut costs on and off the farm. Perpetuate the earning of honest dollars. Any program that has the result of expanding agricultural output in the absence of a comparable increase in effective market demand is contrary to the interest of farmers."

Since I was born and raised on a farm, operate a farm today and have been close to the agricultural scene all my life, I am confident that our farm population is inherently self-reliant; and that when given all the facts, it will be a potent force against encroaching Socialism.

Austin — Selection of a successor to Wright Morrow, Democratic National Committee from Texas is imminent. Because he voted for Eisenhower for President in 1952, Morrow was barred from serving on the Democratic National Committee.

But, Gov. Allan Shivers doubts that anyone can be found to fill the prescription laid down by Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler.

It must be someone, Butler told Shivers in his now famous Washington "kitchen conference", who never bolted the party. It must be someone who worked for Adlai Stevenson's selection. And it must be someone who can be approved by Shivers, House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson.

Possibility of replacing Morrow became a by-product of activity by top-level Democratic and Republican figures in the preliminary skirmish toward Texas' role as a battlefield in the 1956 presidential contest.

Chairman Butler spent six days in Texas, mostly under the guiding hand of the "Democratic Advisory Council," a group of liberal-loyalists appointed to take over Morrow's duties.

Butler declined an invitation by Governor Shivers to visit the executive mansion; Shivers did not accept Butler's invitation to come to some of his meetings.

Republican National Committeeman Jack Porter followed Butler promptly with a state workers' rally in Austin. He announced he was extending "not only an invitation, but a challenge" to the conservative Democrats who carried Texas for Eisenhower, to join up formally with the Republicans.

Porter predicted that President Eisenhower will be renominated, will carry Texas, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee again — and win in 1956.

"The Conservative Democrats," he said, "were invited by Butler to quit their party. They know they will have no more to say in selecting a nominee next year than they had in 1952 or 1948."

Porter believes the Democratic party split is permanent.

ther he might figure in next year's governor's race as the conservative's choice. Or possibly be in line for a place on the national Democratic ticket. This despite his service in a Republican administration.

Another name that crops up when conservatives are mentioned as likely candidates in the governor's race is that of Sen. Otis Lock, of Lufkin. He already has been referred to as the "jet age candidate" since his talk to the Jacksonville Rotary Club last week.

Senator Lock pointed out the need for streamlining state administrative agencies; urged improvement in spending methods, and "a sound, fair code protecting each person from excessive taxation."

Wit hits population increasing and its economy expanding Texas can not meet its jet age governmental needs with a Model-T vehicle, he stated.

Johnson for President

There has been a remarkable array of national comment, in such publications as the Wall Street Journal, Newsweek, and the Washington Star, about Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson's success and his "availability" as the Democratic standard-bearer for President.

Governor Shivers himself came back from Washington recently praising Johnson, a loyalist.

A speech early in the week by Governor Shivers, before the New York Sales Executives Club, is another in the national network of his appearances in which he restates the basic doctrine of the dissident Dixie and conservative Democrats.

Governor Shivers had pointed suggestions for Texas schools, faced with the US Supreme Court desegregation decision.

"I do not think it necessary at this time for any district to take any step its board does not want to take, beyond studying the problems and its solution," he said.

He will name a statewide committee, to study problems of the desegregation ruling, and recommend that school districts appoint their own committees.

According to the Governor, the decision leaves a large measure of control to local districts, "where the problems should be worked out."

Short Snorts

Efforts of former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles and of B. R. Sheffield of Brady to have a lengthy court of inquiry on the Travis County indictments in veterans' land cases quashed were rejected in district court.

Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder said he will start a shakeup of the General Land Office in July. His decision follows testimony in land office's operation under former Commissioner Bascom Giles.

John C. White, commissioner of Agriculture, denied that Texas overpriced by $162,670 federal drought aid money in 1953, as claimed by the US Department of Agriculture. Congressman Clark Thompson and Homer Thornberry announced a tour of Central Texas counties, by a House Agriculture sub-committee to study acreage allotments for rice and cotton.

Governor Shivers paid tribute to Amon G. Carter as "one of the most dynamic Texans of his generation." Carter, long-time publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, died on June 23.

Trials for George B. Parr, south Texas political czar — and 11 others from Duval County — on charges relating to school funds, have been set for July 5 in New Braunfels, on change of venue.

A Texas committee to plan the state's part in the White House Conference on Education, Nov. 28-30, Dec. 1, was named by Gov. Shivers, Dr. Erwin L. Ripplly, president of the Dallas School Board, is the chairman. Its first session will be in Austin.

and express their friendliness on that day. The city officials, the Chamber of Commerce big-wigs and business men of that neighborhood are all friends of the people of Terrell County. That friendship has been expressed in numerous ways over the years. There has always been a fine spirit of cooperation between the two towns in business, sports, civic and even social events.

We hope that such a spirit will always continue and that the people of Terrell County will throw open the doors to our neighbors to the north.

The people of Pecos County never have seemed to mind that they lost this portion of their county. We don't know if it's because they didn't care to claim the land or the people, or both.

Naturally, they kept the top end of the pickings and got a big dust bowl on their west side, some dry spring holes in the central part and some sand dunes to the north.

They can brag about the oil wells they have cluttering up the countryside, and some of the lush farmland to the west and north of Fort Stockton; they will brag about the location of Fort Stockton as the hub of West Texas as highways. But they couldn't have known 50 years ago that Pecos County would have all of that. Or could they?

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Robertson of Pecos spent the week-end here with his sister, Mrs. Ruby Duncan.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
If You Can't Lick 'em—Join 'em
Just back from visiting with my daughter's family—and playing Grandpop to two of the cutest kids you ever saw. While there I picked up a couple of new ideas on child raising:
If your child's learning to use a pen, provide an old fountain pen—filled with bluing. Looks and writes like ink, but won't stain clothes or furniture.
Maybe you have a boy, like my grandson, who thinks he's too old for a bib—but isn't. A big cowboy bandana works just as well, and looks he-man to boot.
From where I sit, getting along with children is like getting along with grownups—it requires an effort to see things from the other person's point of view. At my age, there's no accounting for tastes. Take my neighbor who keeps a parakeet and drinks hot coffee in the summertime. That seems strange to me . . . a man who's partial to round dogs and a cooling glass of beer. But I'd be "childish" to say it was wrong.
