VOLUME 48 SANDERSON, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1955 NUMBER 34

LISTEN TO LUKE

...we asked for it and we got it. The seniors came through with their themes on "The Hometown Paper - Its Place in the Community." There are no names signed and the number of the paper is all we have to select the winner, basing selection on our opinion of the papers expressed.

It is interesting that some of the seniors thought this a good opportunity to pick out an individual hometown paper rather than a group and expressed their likes and dislikes of this particular hometown paper. And some of the criticisms can be used to our advantage.

We had good criticism and some good suggestions. Our opinion of the winner will be the paper which most aptly pointed out the hometown newspaper should do for and mean to the community. Whether or not we are meeting that standard will not be considered.

Some of the suggestions could be used because of libel laws, but would be impractical because of space. Editorial suggestions would be from a people rather than an individual or editor which is what an editorial is. Suggestions for more national state coverage is impractical because of the place of daily newspapers and the radio.

...I, however, agreed on the extension of thanks for the guarantee of freedom of the press.

Thank you, seniors, for your cooperation. We hope we can give the community a better paper because of your interest in this project. Since this is National Newspaper Week, we hope your time in reading these studies will better enlighten you on the responsibilities of a newspaper to its community and the power of the press in the exercise of its freedom to print news, ads and editorials.

Each paper turned in was an editorial in itself - you wrote your opinions, and many of them were excellent - and we write ours.

There was a town meeting call for Monday night for the purpose of naming new directors and officers in the fire department. Five were out for the meeting. There was no business transacted.

The firemen, four of the board, and the executive board, the one present, to assume that is the total amount of interest in the fire department?

They expressed the opinion that they were more interested in forgetting the meeting which was called by the sounding of the fire alarm.

The firemen work hard at the training and preparation for and actual work of putting out fires, and they feel that there should have been more interest in the meeting which was called. The firemen fell down on the job of putting out fires the same as the public when they were called out for the election and discussion of needed funds, then we did not have any fire protection or good fire credit on insurance policies.

Everybody's job to support the fire department in one manner or another, and it takes a lot of cooperation to keep the financial end of the burden above the ground.

When the time comes for their money for funds - and very soon your cooperation will be sought - let us hope, for your own sake, that you will meet that obligation and do your best in supporting them financially.

They are the boys that protect your personal and real property and are responsible for the lower insurance rates because of the fire credit.

A tax bill of $122,263.56 was presented to Terrell County taxpayers this week when 1955 statements were placed in the mail. The total amount represents the amount due the county, the schools and the state of Texas by landowners, livestock producers, and business men of the county and corporations operating in the county.

This year, as in several years past, a discount is again being offered to the taxpayers who pay their taxes early. To those paying in October, a 3 per cent discount is offered, 2 per cent for November payment and 1 per cent for December payment. Taxes become delinquent if not paid before January 31.

Terrell County taxpayers are reminded that their poll tax payments should be included with the payment of the taxes on the notice. Poll tax assessments are not included in the discounts, however.

Those potential voters who attain the age of 21 years during 1956 will be entitled to an exemption and the right to vote, but application must be made for an exemption certificate. Those who reached the age of 60 before January 1, 1956, may vote without a poll tax receipt.

Mrs. W. E. Stavley was awakened by a noise in her bedroom and awakened to see a man standing near her bed. She screamed, frightening the prowler away, and called local officers who came immediately to search for the culprit.

The Hometown Paper: Its Place in the Community

Ed. Note: This paper was selected as the best pertaining to the topic assigned. It is paper No. 13.

Our home town newspaper is a business in the community. It manufactures a product, news, which is sold to the public in hopes that so many readers will like it that business men can be induced to rent space in the paper to advertise their merchandise. This, of course, provides the newspaper with its chief source of income.

The newspaper is a public servant to the extent that the public demands it shall be. The newspaper has three duties. The first duty is that of communication. It provides information about public affairs that is "food for opinion". Secondly, it is a "leader" and in some instances a pamphleteer, intervening in public affairs to warn and protect the citizens against public dangers. The fact that the home town paper has the characteristics of a private business is the third duty.

One of the most widely read columns in the hometown newspaper is the editorial. It is thought-provoking, offering "food for opinion" or "food for thought". In a small town, the very fact that a man on the citizens' own level can delve into international, national, state, and community activities and problems might arouse thinking on the part of some. Others who would keep up with these things might be driven into beneficial action by some controversial matter. Most editorials are good and sound. Perhaps those persons who do not particularly care about thinking and are not interested could just read the editorials and stay partially "up" on current events. Anyhow, the point is to stay up. Our towns need people who are up on their toes. To keep our nation sound and free each individual must be informed. That is a big duty of editorials - to light the minds of those in the dark. I am sure practically everyone reads the home town weekly. I shall go even further to say that practically everyone reads the editorials. Even if the readers know every single thing in the paper before it comes out, the editorials will be a surprise, a surprise and a challenge. Editorial's subject matter ranges from presidential elections to current community clean-ups. The content of editorials is not just a lot of "hot air". Editorials are true facts presented to the public in a way which the editor thinks will succeed. He has a right to his opinions and his readers have a right to theirs. But he does not want to be sued because of printing false accusations; therefore he gets the facts. He reads not two, but dozens of exchange newspapers a week. Actually, the editor is one of the best informed persons in a small town.

Another chief function of the newspaper is to stand vigil for the public, to guard it against unscrupulous exploiters, demagogues, and other real public enemies. The reporter of the home town paper, therefore, is responsible to both the newspaper and the public. Should the people writing for the paper happen to discover some practice, graft or other unethical practice during their news-gathering, I think they should expose it. That is one of the three duties of a newspaper. The reporter, also, has three duties. They are to get the news, tell the truth, and never be dull.

There are other ways in which I think the home town newspaper could be of service to the community. I think they should avoid all together, or at least never give first place, to obscene stories concerning scandals which are bound to happen at one time or another in any town. These things are widely aired without the aid of a county-wide newspaper. Stories of this sort only serve to harm a town and do not raise thinking standards of the people. I do not think home town newspapers should be mercenary. There are always jokes about small town papers. "They never get anything right, misspell names, too small-townish", and the like. These things are not all true by any means, but I do think proof reading, spelling names correctly, and

EAGLES LOSE TO BUCKS BY 46-0 SCORE; TO PLAY MARFA THERE FRIDAY NIGHT

The Sanderson Eagles lost to the Alpine Bucks last Friday night on Eagle Field by a lopsided score of 46-0. A capacity crowd witnessed the ball game.

The Alpine scores were under the auspices of Jimmie Davis, fleet halfback, mostly. He carried the ball for long runs on each of his TD gallops, save one, which was from the 2-yard line, he scored all but two of the Buck touchdowns.

In the first quarter an 83-yard run by Davis on a punt return began the scoring. He later ran for 70 yards and another score in the same period and kicked the extra point.

In the second period Davis ran 83 yards for a score with the extra point being converted by Manuel Espinosa on a placement kick. McLaughly also scored on a 36-yard run.

Davis scored from the 2-yard in the third quarter and converted the extra point and ran 99 yards through the Eagles for his final touchdown of the game.

A Turner to Burgess pass ended up with a score for Alpine in the fourth frame and McLaughly kicked the extra point to end the game by a 46-0 score.

Alpine made only three first downs to nine for the Eagles. They tried three passes and completed one, the touchdown pass while the Eagles tried 14 passes for two completions and one interception.

Sanderson drew three 5-yard penalties and Alpine drew two 15-yard penalties.

The Eagles were in close scoring position on two different occasions but failed to have the final drive necessary for scoring. Their second close call came just before the end of the game.

The Bucks two-platooned the Sanderson Eagles during the final quarter further adding to the advantage of the visitors.

The Eagles will play the Marfa Shortborns in Marfa Friday night. All local fans are urged to attend the game in support of the Eagles in their first conference game.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:

"As ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Matthew 25:40.

Always bear this in mind. To hurt one of God's is to hurt Him personally; to do good to one of His is to show your devotion to Him directly. It isn't what we know but what we sow that does the good. - H. B. Dean.

Mrs. Roy Harrell is visiting in Sanderson with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robbie Locke.

Attending the meeting of laymen and educators from the 20 counties of West Texas in the 25th Senatorial district were Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Downie and Mrs. W. H. Savage. The meeting was in San Angelo Saturday and delegates were named to the state conference on education in Austin on October 31.

Mrs. C. F. Cox and daughter, Mrs. Tex Martin, are occupying one of Mrs. Roy Harrell's apartments for several days in San Angelo last week on business.

getting the exact facts should be encouraged, especially in society write-ups. I could never stress my feelings enough on not letting personal feelings, personal friends, or personal enemies enter into the news part of the paper whatsoever. The public likes figures and statistics. I think it is good to print how collections for funds are progressing. Perhaps some would wake up and give, and others who have already given might feel a satisfaction for having done so.

I imagine being ethical, interesting, friendly, and a servant to three thousand people is trying. That is what the home town newspaper which certainly has its place in the community, has to be.

Remember when the only difficulty in parking was getting the girl to agree to it?

Hack Willis had just stopped the tractor so's he could cool off at the pump, when a young insurance salesman came up the drive.

Hack was tired of plowing, and needed insurance on his new barn. But he also needed to get that winter rye in fast. The salesman, an eager kid, noticed hesitation. "I come from a farm," he said. "Why don't you look at these booklets—get all the dope—and I'll take that plow a couple of rounds for you."

Young fellow laid off a pretty straight furrow, too. It was almost dark before Hack—sitting in the shade—was able to decide just what kind of policy to get.

From where I sit, to be a good salesman—or a good citizen—it always helps to "put yourself in the other man's place." He may have a different sort of job with different problems... he may prefer to close a deal over, say, a friendly glass of beer while you might prefer something else. But both of you can co-operate if you make it a "policy" to try.
