Hopes Boosted For Patrolman Stationed Here

Hopes have been boosted by recent correspondence from the office of Capt. Wilson E. Speir of Pecos for prospects of a State Highway Patrolman to be stationed here.

Members of the Sanderson Lions Club who initiated the move and wrote letters to the Pecos office and Austin office, have received prompt and courteous answers to their appeal.

The Austin office wrote that the local appeal would be taken into consideration when new officers were assigned soon.

Capt. Speir was out of town at the time the letters were received in his office, but correspondence from the office stated that the captain or his assistant could both be in Sanderson soon to make a survey and ascertain the need of a patrolman here.

County Workmen On Clean-Up Job Over Sanderson

Frank M. Weigand, commissioner of Precinct 1, has hired several boys of high school age to work this summer in cleaning up the drainage ditches and other property in Sanderson. The precinct crew has also been very busy in keeping trash barrels emptied regularly to help keep down flies and mosquitoes.

The courthouse yard and all other county property in this precinct has been cleaned and weeds and trash in the ditches are being hauled off to give the town a neater appearance.

Many local residents are following suit in the clean-up and are giving boys summer employment by ridding their premises and some vacant lots of all weeds and trash.

The yards in Sanderson have an attractiveness that has not been equalled in many years. The lawns, shrubbery, flowers and trees indicate the interest of local citizens in the appearance of their premises.

'Crazy' Fox in House At Hagelstein Ranch

Eli Hagelstein reported another "crazy" fox story that happened at his ranch north of Sanderson this week. The story is printed to further warn area residents of the danger of the animals and cause all people to exercise extreme alertness at all times.

Hagelstein stated the fox came into the house of a Mexican family that lives at the ranch. The woman put the children in a bedroom and chased the fox out into the yard with a pair of blue jeans. She kept the animal whipped off until Chris Hagelstein could bring a shotgun and kill the animal.

The fox walked into the house while the occupants were there, Hagelstein stated.

The animal was very poor and, according to Hagelstein, made no effort to bite or snap at the blue jeans as he was being flailed.

TS&GRA To Meet In Mineral Wells

Possible bitter weed control operations can be carried on in spite of the weed will receive considerable attention at the Mineral Wells meeting of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, T. A. Kincaid, Jr., Ozona, the association president, has announced.

The meeting will be at the Baker Hotel on June 29.

"Recent heavy rains over the bitter weed infested area, welcome as they were, have brought out an almost solid growth of the plant," Kincaid said. "We must do something about it."

The Ranch Experiment Station as well as the main Texas Experiment Station have solved other problems for the industry, and the members of the Department of Bio-Chemistry and the Department of Animal Husbandry of Texas A&M College have been invited to attend the meeting of the College, Research and Extension Committee, Kincaid said.

Reports covering activities in Austin and Washington will be made by association officers. Kincaid said he had just returned from attending a meeting of the executive committee of the National Wool Growers' Association and would report on that also.

Committees will meet beginning at 9:30 a.m. The general meeting will be at 1:30 p.m.

Interest Boosted In Youth Program By Additional Boys

Robert Carle, supervisor of the summer youth program here, announced Tuesday that an increase in attendance had boosted activities for the morning and afternoon recreational program for local boys between 9 and 14.

He said that there were about 30 boys out this week and with the return of Boy Scouts from the summer camp, he expected even more later in the week.

Carle stated that the boys who were coming out showed lots of interest in the days' activities and he felt that all the boys of the community within the age limitations would enjoy the program if they would participate.

The 9, 10, 11 age group meets in the high school gymnasium at 9 a.m. and the 12, 13 and 14 age group meets at 1 p.m.

The $1 per week fee for each boy is not mandatory for their participation, but is asked only of those who are in position to help defray the cost of the summer program.

Use of Vaccine Urged To Help Prevent Polio

New York — With a jump in May of a million in the monthly rate of Salk vaccinations, the total number of persons in the U.S. with one or more polio shots reached an estimated 65,000,000 on June 1, it was announced today by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Basil O'Connor, president of the March of Dimes organization, said 10,000,000 children and adults had been vaccinated in May, as compared with 9,000,000 the previous month. A record of 14,000,000 were vaccinated last March following an intensive educational campaign.

"While we are proud of achieving this level of immunizations," Mr. O'Connor said, "it is important to remember that the unvaccinated do not gain protection from whatever immunity vaccinated persons possess. With this vaccine there is no herd immunity; everybody must obtain his own."

"Furthermore," he added, "it must be pointed out that only a small percentage of persons vaccinated in this country have completed the necessary course of three shots and long-lasting protection is best assured when the required three shots are taken."

Of the 65,000,000 persons vaccinated, Mr. O'Connor said, 15,000,000 have had only one shot, 32,000,000 have had two and 18,000,000 have had all three shots. Of the total number vaccinated, 54,000,000 are persons under 20 or pregnant women, and 11,000,000 are 20 to 39, excluding pregnant women.

Diablo Dam Project Plans Progressing

Del Rio News-Herald

Col. L. H. Hewitt, commissioner of the United States Boundary and Water Commission, said Monday morning in Del Rio that he is preparing the report recommending construction of Diablo Dam and will present it to the nation's legislators. Col. Hewitt's offices are in El Paso and he visited in Del Rio Monday and left later for down-river places to visit in his capacity as commissioner.

Hewitt told a group of Del Rio citizens Monday that the United States and Mexico have agreed on the type of dam to be built, on its construction and on its site.

Diablo Dam will be located 11 miles upstream from Del Rio below the confluence of the Rio Grande and Devil's River.

Hewitt is enthusiastic over the project and feels that ultimate construction is "getting closer".

Preliminary studies covered a total of 45 sites in the 345-mile reach of the river above Del Rio-Ciudad Acuna and agreement on the site was made in July, 1953 by engineers and technical advisors of the U.S. and Mexican sections of the commission.

The dam will be approximately eight miles long and 260 to 280 feet high, providing about 3.5 to 4.5 million acre feet of conservation storage and about two million acre feet of flood control capacity, a total capacity of some 6.2 to 8 million acre feet including dead storage and super storage.

The purpose of the dam will be flood control, generation of hydro-electric power and conservation of waters for beneficial uses.

In addition, the reservoir would offer advantages of recreational development, boating, and fishing of importance to the entire area.

Braves Lose 6-0 To Alpine Ints

The Sanderson Braves lost their game Sunday to the Alpine Internationals by a 6-0 score. The game was played in Alpine.

The Alpine scoring was four in the first and one each in the second and third.

Juan Ramirez pitched his last game for the Braves Sunday. He will leave this week for duty with the U. S. Army.

The Internationals will return the game here Sunday with the Braves. Game time is 2:30 and a good exhibition of baseball is promised local fans.

METHODISTS TO HOLD REVIVAL IN DRYDEN

There will be revival services in the Dryden Methodist Church next week, according to Rev. Kelsey Scott, pastor of the Sanderson-Dryden churches.

Services will be held at 8 p.m. beginning Monday and continuing through Friday night with the pastor doing the preaching. The public is invited to attend.

IT SAYS HERE:

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Harrell and children of Presidio visited here the first of the week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Harrell and with other relatives and friends. They are moving to the Miles Pierce's Altuda ranch about July 1.

If automotive engineers could put horse-sense behind the steering wheel as easily as they put horse-power under the hood, there would be little concern over the present power emphasis on cars.

Though still four months off, Gov. Daniel's plan for a special legislative session in the fall is already generating lively discussion around the Capitol.

There is sentiment both for and against.

A memorandum was reportedly circulated asking persons to write Daniel and ask him not to call the special session. It predicted the bills the governor wants would fare no better than before.

But if the session is held, Rep. Tony Koriath of Sherman says he hopes the governor will submit small loan regulation as an emergency measure. Koriath's "loan shark" control bill died in committee last session.

New "States" Formed While Texas lawmakers take a break, some probable leaders of the future are trying their hands at government in Austin.

There are nearly 1,000 high school students from over Texas who came to the Capital City for Boys' State and Girls' State. Texas Department of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary sponsor the "states" annually as citizenship laboratories for outstanding youngsters.

Participants hear talks by top officials from the governor down, then form political parties, nominate candidates and elect officials of their own.

Aim is to give students a firsthand understanding of politics and government.

Road Building Speed-Up

Texas Highway Commission is moving swiftly to take advantage of new laws designed to speed up highway construction.

A meeting of the Commission and key personnel was to be held in Houston this week. Objective: to hasten the day when heavy traffic can move safely and smoothly along multi-laned super-highways with no crossroads.

Principal legislative changes are (1) provision for the state to go 50-50 with the cities and counties on land buying costs and (2) new authority for the state to obtain land for and have control of super-roads through cities.

Goal for 1970, according to Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, is 900 miles of expressways linking Texas' population centers.

First of the new laws means car and truck owners will pay 10 per cent more for their next license plates. Second means state will set speed limits on state highways through towns - no local speed traps.

But one "speed-up" law failed. Legislature decided against raising present 60-mile-per-hour limit, no matter how good the road.

Tougher for Teens Law enforcement officers will in effect, have a new hickory stick for teenage troublemakers after August 22.

New laws to go into effect then provide:

1. Youngsters 14 and over can be fined $100 for speeding, DWI or driving without a license.
2. Parents will be liable up to $300 for property damage by minor children.
3. Drivers licenses for youngsters under 16 will be harder to get. Department of Public Safety, rather than local county judge, will have say-so.
4. A special "license" will be needed for driving motor bikes and scooters.

Taking a more optimistic view of the same were the more than 100 experts, educators and parents in Austin for the Texas P.T.A.'s youth development work shop.

Today's youth seems to be sailing along, they opined, but suggested more interest by fathers might help.

Building Bogs Down

Continuous rain has brought construction to a "virtual standstill" in many parts of Texas this year.

Building authorizations for the first four months of '57 were one per cent higher than last year, reports the Bureau of Business Research. But actual construction was four per cent less due to the weather.

Increase in the authorization totals was attributed to higher costs rather than more building. Goodbye to Chips

Texas gambling has got to go says Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. An all-out effort to shut down the multi-million-dollar empire in Galveston was called just the beginning.

Wilson and Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., cooperated in planning a massive raid on Galveston's illegal establishments. But the gamblers got word, closed up and cleared out ahead of the raid.

Wilson's staff followed up by fling padlock suits - boxes full of them - to try to prevent the places from re-opening.

Wilson and Garrison said they would follow the same pattern in other areas. First, local officials will be called on to suppress gambling and state cooperation offered. But said Wilson, "if local officials fail to do this job, we will do it from the state level."

Gov. Daniel gave his full backing the crackdown, hailed it as the "beginning of a new era in law enforcement."

More Science for Teens More study, with emphasis on science, will be required of future high school graduates.

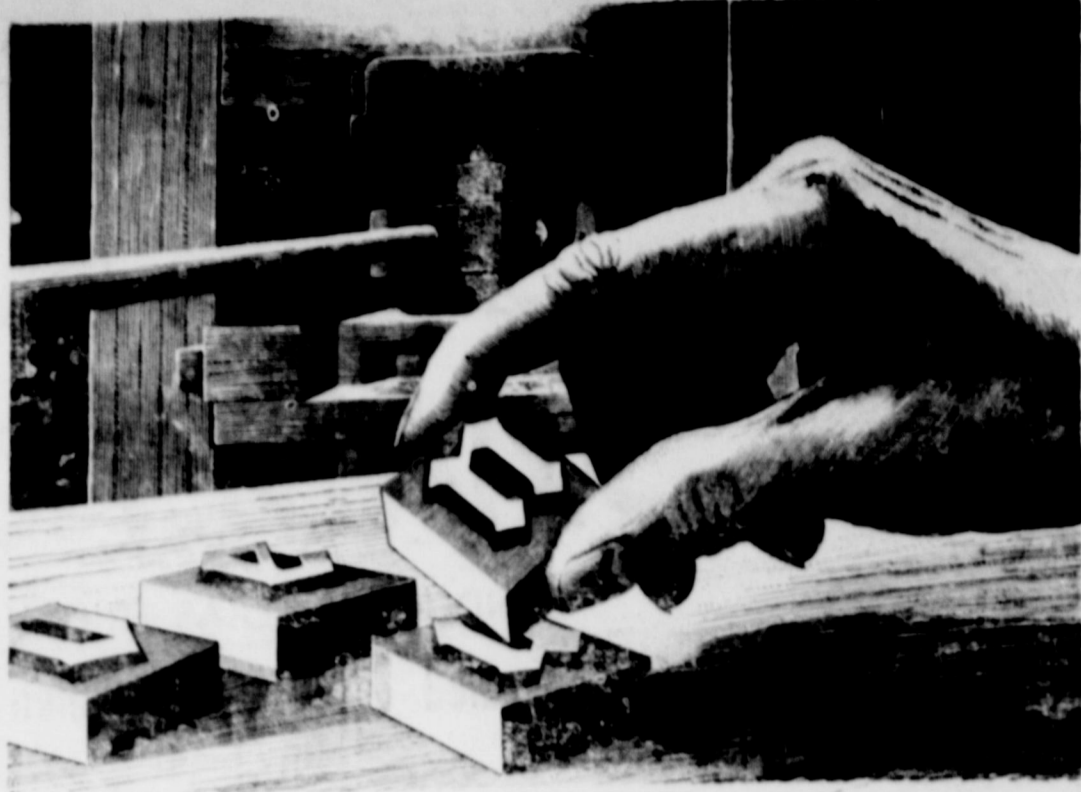

New standards set up by the State Board of Education direct that:

1. Graduates complete 16 units of study, rather than the present 15, including two years of laboratory science.
2. Physical education cannot be counted in compiling the units.
3. Not more than one class period of the day may be used for competitive athletics.

New rules will take effect during the 1958-59 school year, but are to be applied to ninth graders next fall.

SPARKS FOR MINDS

ALMOST five centuries ago, Gutenberg's invention of movable type started a revolution. It has been going on ever since.

For five times five centuries—and eons before—a few men were the privileged rulers—by accident of both of circumstance. The people were subjects, supporting those thus kept in authority.

However, movable type, by cutting the cost of printing, began the process of making knowledge more widely available. People's understanding then grew. Sparks of hope were awakened in the minds of men. When it became apparent to entrenched authority that promising wide dissemination of information and ideas might in time destroy their ascendency, censorship was exercised.

In a search for greater freedom, men of many races and creeds crossed the ocean to establish homes here a nation dedicated to a new principle: government by the people, and for the people. And knowing that liberty could be overthrown only by subduing freedom of speech and the press, they provided further that this basic freedom should never be abridged.

This system of government created an opportunity for all men to advance, limited only by their efforts. In but a few generations it won for this people a higher standard of living and of human welfare than had ever before been dreamed possible.

America's freedom of the press has proved to the world that the patriotic instinct of an informed plain people can be relied on to govern wisely and well.

as business moving slowly ahead of what it was in 1956.

University Bureau of Business Research reported April 1957, was 7 per cent better than April of 1956. Retail trade was up 8 per cent over last year with family clothing stores showing the biggest jump - 39 per cent.

Bureau analysts foresee "good" retailing for the rest of the year, but with "fierce competition" and a ruthless squeeze on profits and margins.

Effects of Radiation Studied at Hearings

For the past two weeks the Senate Atomic Energy Committee has been holding hearings in Washington in an attempt to unravel one of the knottiest problems of the day — the dangers of mass radiation exposures in this atomic age. The committee is interested chiefly in the effects of radioactive "fall-out" from nuclear weapons tests, but there is much more to the story than that. The very nature of radiant energy makes it at once a boon and a peril to human health. Let's look at the "boon" side first. For 60 years radiating devices in the skilled hands of technicians have been tools of unparalleled importance in diagnosing and treating various diseases. X-ray and fluoroscopic machines actually permit the physician or dentist to "photograph" the interior of the human body, and "aimed" beams of deep penetrating rays — sometimes pushed by 2 million volts of electricity — have long been among the most effective ways of treating disease in practically any body organ.

With the harnessing of the atom, the physician of A.D. 1957 can remove tumors without surgery, by using isotopes of radioactive materials, and other tumors can be located with still other isotopes. And while the medical field was jumping on the isotope bandwagon, industry was climbing into the drivers' seat. Isotope uses in industry have grown to phenomenal proportions. In commercial art they give truer copy than a photographic print. Oil men use them to locate underground leaks. With isotopes engineers can accurately test the strength of structural steel or measure the life expectancy of cutting tools. The efficiency of washing machines can be checked with isotopes. So can the rate at which plants absorb phosphorus from fertilizer.

These endless advantages are the reasons for possible peril. Radioactivity can accumulate in the body, on little exposures from day to day may add up to big exposures after weeks or months. However, physicians take total exposures into account when they use radiation.

Since last September the State Health Department has controlled radiation exposure by requiring registration of all radiation devices and materials used within the state. So far more than 1500 devices have been registered, some 1400 of them in the realm of medical practice and research. Meanwhile, there are two sources where you can get information on the hazards or excessive radiation — your family physician or the State Health Department.

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

Action of the Supreme Court this week came as no surprise to this column when the decision was handed down freeing five of the 14 Communists convicted in California and granting new trials to the other nine.

The Supreme Court has never let the Communists down in many decisions in recent years. Their action in this most recent decision practically kills the Smith Act. They have ruled that "preaching abstractly" the forcible overthrow of the U. S. Government is no crime under the 1940 Anti-Communist Act. Those convicted in the California case in 1952 after a six-months trial, of plotting to teach and advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. Government were sentenced to five years imprisonment and fined $10,000. The ruling was on a technical point that the judge failed in instructing the jury to properly "distinguish between advocacy of forcible overthrow as an abstract doctrine and advocacy of that end."

Justice Clark of Texas was the only dissenter to the ruling.

Thurman White made a trip to Dallas last week to have his eyes checked. Mrs. White and Cliff and Nancy Ann visited with friends in Abilene. En route home, they visited relatives and friends in Big Lake and Winters, and Carol Gene Bishop of Sonora. Mr. White's niece, accompanied them home.
