SANDERSON, TEXAS, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1958

NUMBER 1

LISTEN TO LUKE

The Times this week hangs on volume 51 to its masthead, to note the beginning of the 51st publication year.

SanderSON, to date, has not realized any relief from the efforts to get a change in the policy of FHA in their refusal to consider loan guarantees for potential builders here.

Fort Stockton went to bat with them and got results which included the firing of an FHA chief architect.

Representative Rutherford also took the ball for Sanderson and has done everything in his power to get something done about the situation as it stands at present.

The two proposals were listed in this column a month ago. We are indebted to our Congressman for his efforts in our behalf, but we insist that the FHA authority, was inconsistent with the ruling inasmuch as they backed out one single utility as the reason for their refusal to guarantee loans here.

Such practices could lead to FHA's operation only where they wished to operate with discriminatory practices elsewhere. Con. Rutherford has been asked numerous times to help in expediting local GI loans and always with success.

Austin — One of the hottest topics at next July's precinct conventions likely will be whether such conventions should be held any more.

Gov. Price Daniel has suggested abolishing the precinct conventions. His premise is that much of the fighting that afflicts the Democratic Party in Texas originates in these neighbor-against-neighbor squabbles. He proposes instead the electing of delegates (one per precinct) to the county conventions by direct vote at the primary.

Gov. Daniel pointed out that the conventions are sometimes controlled by a minority group within the area. Many more people, generally, vote in the primaries than bother to come back to the voting place a second time in one day for the precinct conventions.

Electing delegates by direct vote, contended the governor, would do away with "rump conventions" and contests over which precinct delegation is entitled to seats at the county conventions.

Gov. Daniel's recommendation made at the State Democratic Executive Committee meeting came as a surprise counter-offensive to the DOT's "code of ethics" campaign. DOT is a liberal group openly backing the governor for control of party affairs. Spearhead of its drive is the "code of ethics" proposal designed, according to its sponsors, to eliminate much of the fighting and give everyone a fair shake at conventions.

DOT members were immediately critical of the no-precinct convention plan. It would eliminate "grass roots" gatherings, they said, the only chance every citizen has to get up and speak his piece. But the governor had an answer for that, too. He suggested that the new law provide that any qualified party member could propose a resolution at his county convention.

Both the governor's and the DOT's suggestions are to be studied by the SDEC. Governor Daniel said if his plan meets the approval within the party, he will submit it to the Legislature next year.

Tax Facts

Texans paid $2,600,000,000, or one-fourth total income, in state, federal and local taxes in 1956.

In a fact-packed (its first) Texas State Tax Study Commission traces the history of Texas taxing patterns from 1932 to 1956. Next in an expected series of about ten reports will compare Texas taxes with other states. Findings are to be presented to the Legislature in 1959 to serve as background for revenue-vesting.

At present, says the report, Texas taxes are derived 45 per cent from property, 22 per cent, sales; 16 per cent, severance, 17 per cent, all other sources. Basic pattern has not been changed since 1941, but all categories except the property tax have increased at least 10 per cent since 1950.

Price of Progress

Relocating utilities in the path of the new interstate highway system is going to cost Texas cities more than most officials had originally thought.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that state-federal funds may be used only in a limited way to pay for utility moving. Specifically, said Wilson, they may be used to pay for relocating sanitary sewers and for other utilities, such as water and power lines, only if they must be moved completely outside the road right-of-way. Cost of relocating water, power, and gas lines within a right of way must be paid for by the city or utility company.

Texas League of Municipalities protested the interpretation, said it would cost Texas cities as much as $20,000,000 to comply. Chief source of disgruntlement to the city officials is that under the same federal building program, cities in other states are not required to meet this cost.

No Prices For Specs

No mention of price can be made in an advertisement for eyeglasses until the State Supreme Court clears up questions about the new optometry law.

High court turned down the request of an optical company to suspend the temporary injunction against price advertising until the test case is heard on March 5.

Rival groups of optometrists are at odds as to what kind of advertising should be permitted. One group contends the law passed last spring clearly prohibits certain types of solicitation. Another agrees with the Nov. 18 Attorney General's opinion that the law is unconstitutional because improperly drawn.

Contests Questioned

Texas merchants who like to conduct contests or drawings as business builders, were set back temporarily by an opinion handed down by the Attorney General's office. Based on the state's laws governing lotteries, the opinion, at first glance, seemed to rule out any type of drawing for prizes.

However, Assistant Attorney General Cecil C. Rotach, who wrote the opinion, says that the ruling does not change, in any way, the law as it always was interpreted in Texas. He merely cited earlier court opinions and his recent opinion does not alter what always has been considered the accepted procedure in connection with drawings or contests.

Short Shorts

Ballot positions for the nine proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 4 have been determined by a drawing in the Secretary of State's office. No. 1 position went to the amendment which would give legislators a $7,500 annual salary.

Framing of legislation to cut down juvenile delinquency is being discussed with a view toward the '59 session. Gov. Daniel will ask new State Law Enforcement Commission and the Texas Youth Council to make recommendations.

P.T.A.'s to Celebrate Founders Day

11-Million Members Mark Organization's 61st Year

On February 17 the world's largest voluntary service organization will celebrate its 61st birthday.

This is the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, whose nearly eleven million members are active today in P.T.A.'s throughout the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, and Hawaii. They will mark the organization's Founders Day with a variety of activities aimed at strengthening and expanding parent-teacher work in their own communities.

Mrs. Rollin Brown, of Los Angeles, president of the National Congress, points out that these 43,000 P.T.A.'s have set the pattern for parent-teacher associations in areas where U.S. armed forces have established American communities overseas. And parents of school children in other nations have sought help from the National Congress in forming similar groups to promote education in their countries.

Founders Day activities, scheduled for February 17, will honor two women whose imagination and concern for children planted the seed for this still-growing organization.

It was in 1897 that Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst conceived the idea of a National Congress of Mothers to promote the health and welfare of children by helping their parents learn more about how to fulfill a child's physical and spiritual needs.

They worked hard to interest other women in their aims and approached the date they had set for the organizing meeting with hopes of seeing a hundred or so delegates arrive at Washington's Arlington Hotel. But "if only twenty-five are there," admitted Mrs. Birney, "I shall be satisfied."

More than two thousand men and women turned out! Their enthusiastic reception of the aims, as outlined by the Founders, and of the lectures, discussions, and conferences that made up the first meeting set the pace for a great national movement. Soon state congresses were founded, and before long the original "mothers' congress" was broadened to include the concept of parents working with teachers.

Since that founding meeting, the National Congress of Parents and Teachers has written an impressive record of achievement. It includes these activities in behalf of children:

Donated hundreds of thousands of dollars in scholarships to students planning to enter the teaching profession.

Initiated a program for the periodic health appraisal of well children from birth through high school—an extension of the Summer Round-Up campaigns under which nearly three million pre-school children have received physical examinations.

Promoted successfully thousands of school building projects, including preliminary surveys, educational campaigns, and school bond issues.

Alerted the public to violations of child labor statutes, stressed the need for improved juvenile detention facilities, and supported sound adoption laws.

Helped establish child-care centers for children of working mothers and worked to raise the standards of all child-care establishments.

Established and supported public kindergartens until public support could be secured.

Pioneered in establishing and maintaining thousands of hot school lunch programs long before the public in general became aware of their importance.

Helped to keep the schools open during the years of war and depression—an achievement for which it received a special citation from the National Education Association.

The first Board of Managers of the National Congress of Mothers (the National Congress of Parents and Teachers since 1925). Left to right, seated: Mrs. John R. Lewis, vice-president; Mrs. Adlai Stevenson, vice-president; Mrs. Theodore W. Birney, president and Founder; Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, vice-president and co-founder; Mrs. William L. Wilson, chairman of the Reception Committee; and Mrs. F. Benjamin Johnston.

Standing: Mrs. Henry J. Finley, chairman of the Press Committee; Mrs. James H. McGill, chairman of the Entertainment Committee; Mrs. A. A. Birney, chairman of the Committee on Arrangements; Mrs. H. W. Fuller, chairman of the Transportation Committee; Miss Mary Louisa Butler, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Harriet A. McLellan, chairman of the Literature Committee.

Headquarters of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers stands today at 700 North Rush Street, in Chicago. The building, dedicated in 1955, won an award from the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry for excellence in architecture.

Banish this chore forever!

Get an ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYER

You're freed forever from clothespin drudgery when you have an Electric Clothes Dryer. Instead of spending wearisome hours at the clothesline, you simply put freshly-washed clothes into your Electric Dryer, set the controls, and the dryer does the rest... automatically. Your clothes dry clean, soft and fluffy in precision-controlled electric heat... and they come out so nearly wrinkle-free you save hours of ironing time.
