LISTEN TO LUKE

From week to week the job of getting the little news items of the county faces us and the big news hardly ever happens in Terrell County.

So we just keep right on trying to get all the little news that to some seems to have no value. For instance, in a small community everything that happens is news. Everybody in the community is a personality and we have to understand them as they are.

In a metropolitan paper the newspaper folks just have to be sure they spell the names correctly and have something to say frequently about the mayor, police chief and Mrs. Gotrocks. We are forced to know of the number of galstones, and oftentimes other intimacies — but we are glad to know that there are those here who are interested in the number of gall stones we have and other intimacies.

We are always glad to publish the personal news of the community because it does so much to keep the people here in the togetherness that makes for such comforting fellowship. We would hate to see the time when we were not acquainted with our neighbors and could not be concerned with our neighbor's business.

Ranchmen who have been fighting dogs for the past several years finally appealed for help and, beginning February 1, they will have it. We commend the men who have taken these steps for protection of their own rights and publicly condemn all who would oppose it.

Citizens in town would raise the roof if a sancho lamb got into their bed of 25c pansies and ate up about two dollars worth of leaves, but they should not be upset when their dog fails to come home after raiding a flock of $15 or better sheep and taking half of some eight or more sheep.

There is no way in the world, justifiably, to blame the ranchmen for this and stronger action is a costly thing to them and we hope, for their sake, that the registration law does some good.

There will be a committee from the Terrell County Chamber of Commerce going to see all the business people of the county in the next few days and for a good reason — they will be seeking memberships — and for a good reason — there is a lot of good to be done by that organization and they have a program for it and they need the help of the members.

If you will study their program and look at the thing from a citizen's point of view, you will have to go along with them.

There is no county in the state more important to the people of this area than is Terrell County. Join up with your Chamber of Commerce and help in their program.

Congress is now in session and there seems to be many differences of opinion that a line is definitely drawn between the conservatives and liberals in both major parties that cannot possibly lead to constructive legislation.

It is a sad state of affairs when there is so much disunity. The President in his state of the nation speech to Congress, made it clear that balancing the budget was his major goal. Congressmen who have pledged to spend far beyond any budget will be hard put in an attempt at a reasonable balance. The Congress, unless there are some changes in the purpose of many, can never come to reducing federal spending. The President can do some things and there are some things he cannot do.

On February 18, 1953, the President wrote that he regarded as

Chamber of Commerce Plans Big Things for Current Year

One of the most enthusiastic meetings of the directors of the Terrell County Chamber of Commerce for several months was Monday night. The meeting was the first for the group for this year and officers for the current year were elected and plans made for a specific program of action for the group.

N. M. Mitchell was named president of the Chamber. Greene Cooke was elected 1st vice-president; John W. Byrd, treasurer, and J. A. Gilbreath, secretary-manager. Mitchell and Cooke were first and second vice-presidents last year and Troy Druse is the retiring president.

Following the election, Druse voiced his appreciation for the cooperation of the membership during his tenure of office and thanked his help and support in the endeavors of the group during the current year.

Extensive discussion was held on feasibility and practicability

POLL TAXES DUE BEFORE FEB. 1

January 31 is the deadline for the payment of poll taxes for residents of the state. It is also the last day for payment of taxes for last year without penalty.

Local citizens will be given a number of opportunities to vote according to information now on hand and all qualified voters are urged to buy a poll tax in order to exercise one of their most important duties as citizens.

There will be an election of seven school board members this year; there will be a bond election probably for the purchase of the local water utility by the local water board; there is also a good possibility that there will be a school building bond vote.

Other elections yet unknown are always a possibility and every citizen of voting age, who has established residence here, should purchase a poll tax before the January 31 deadline.

Poll taxes are available at the office of the county tax assessor-collector for $1.75 each.

Any citizen between the ages of 21 and 60 must have a poll tax receipt and be a resident of the county for six months prior to an election and a resident of the state for one year prior to an election in order to be eligible to vote.

Production Connected On Conoco's B-B No. 1

The Continental Oil Co. No. 1 Brown-Bassett is the first dual producer in the Terrell County Brown-Bassett gas field with completion of equipment for production in both the Silurian and Ellenburger.

Absolute open flow in the Silurian produced 13,200,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Operator corrected Ellenburger potential to 29,400,000 cubic feet of gas per day.

This is the fourth Ellenburger producer in the field and was completed Jan. 2, 1959.

Several projects in the field indicated Wolfcamp production but none have been completed in that pay.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN LOCAL COURT

Margil L. Bergara, Jr., 37, was found dead in a local tourist court Sunday morning. No address was available on the man and identification was made by papers in his wallet.

It was later learned the man had a sister in Nebraska and she was notified of her brother's death.

Investigating officers and a local physician and the coroner stated that the cause of death was apparently asphyxiation. The body was found on the bed, naked, with no signs of foul play apparent about the room, and a small heater in the room was burning high with all doors and windows shut when the body was discovered.

Graveside services were held at Santa Rita Cemetery Tuesday afternoon for Bergara, a Latin-American.

The James & Magill Funeral Home was in charge of the body and funeral arrangements.

The group also decided to form a welcoming committee and make detailed plans for meeting and welcoming newcomers to this area.

Some preliminary plans were made for special recognition of those people connected with the oil industry who have moved to the county in recent months. Details will be worked out later.

There was a unanimous approval of the directors to work collectively in a unified effort to boost Terrell County in every way possible during the coming year.

Besides the directors elected to office, other present were Carlos Dunn, E. J. Hanson, Ray Hodgkins, Dudley Harrison, and Matt Bader.

A membership committee will be named this week to contact as many business men in the county as possible to seek their cooperation in the plans of the organization. Dues are $25 annually for business members and $12 annually for individual members.

Anyone interested in the progress and improvement of the county within the realm of the Chamber of Commerce is urged to join the organization.

TOM M. MILLER DIES IN DEL RIO

Tom M. Miller, 71-year-old insurance agent in Del Rio, died in that city suddenly at his home early Monday morning. He had not been ill and had returned Sunday night from a trip to San Antonio with Mrs. Miller.

He was well-known in this area. A native of Austin, he had resided in Del Rio since 1918. He had made an outstanding success in the insurance business being top salesman, nationwide, year after year and this year was one of the top thirteen Aetna salesmen in the United States.

Funeral services and interment were in Del Rio Tuesday afternoon. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kathleen Miller.

Traffic Safety In Communities Is Urged By TSA

This is the time of year for the communities of Texas to take a good, hard look at their traffic safety picture, and make a realistic appraisal of their safety efforts, according to information received from J. O. Musick, general chairman of the Texas Safety Association, as he discussed community responsibility in the overall traffic program of the state.

"Many towns and cities are already engaged in a fulltime program for the safety of its citizens. And, in town after town, the story is the same: Wherever vigorous law enforcement is taken, traffic accidents reduce.

"The conclusion is obvious. We can lick our state's traffic accident problems by community action," Musick said.

The safety expert said he was of the opinion that Texas was headed in the "right direction" in its traffic accident program, and that when final figures are in for the 12 months of 1958, he believed the state could show at least a six per cent reduction in total traffic fatalities.

This would amount to a savings of about 152 lives, since 2,539 persons were killed in traffic accidents during 1957.

Musick credited this improvement to more widespread community interest in local accident prevention programs and more strict law enforcement.

Ranchers Push Enforcement Of Dog Registration Law

A group of men who ranch near Sanderson were at the Commissioner's Court Monday morning to appeal for aid from that group to stop the death loss to their sheep from dogs. They reported individual losses above $1,000 during the year just past from sheep-killing dogs.

The men were reminded of an existing law which requires the registration of dogs in the county and Sheriff Lee Billings was called in for conference with the ranchers.

The Commissioners stated that the existing law was all possible protection for the ranchmen that body was able to give and enforcement of the law was the next step.

Sheriff Billings stated that beginning February 1 of this year, all dogs in the county without a tag affixed to a collar would be destroyed. Sheriff Billings stated

Razing Roundhouse Plans Are Told

Plans are in the making for the razing of one of the oldest buildings in Sanderson — the T&NO roundhouse, according to reports. The roundhouse is south of the depot across the tracks.

Repairs and remodeling are in progress at the depot now to make room for offices for the water service department, the roadmaster's office, roundhouse foreman's office, special agent's office, trainmaster's office, traveling engineer's office, and the roundhouse supply room. Several changes will also be made in the offices now in the building.

An elevated section will be constructed for freight loading and storage.

The building to be razed has served its purpose and is moving in the march of progress. It was erected soon after the railroad being constructed from El Paso to San Antonio joined at Sanderson in 1883. At that time, the roundhouse was considered to be a very large shop and, with Sanderson as a terminal, many coal-burning engines and other rolling stock were repaired here.

The stalls in the semi-circular building proved too short when the engines were converted and in 1926 a brick section was added to lengthen the stalls and an all-electric turn-table was installed.

With diesel engines replacing other types in recent years, only minor repairs are now made here and engines are sent to Houston for repairs.

A pit and tracks will remain in the area of the roundhouse for minor repairs to be made. The railroad tracks to the roundhouse are now spiked and out of use. There will be adequate room in the depot building for all offices and supplies incident to the maintenance of and business pertaining to the railroad equipment here. There will also be an advantage of having it all housed in one building.

The rip tracks will be moved about 200 feet to the north, bringing them nearer the depot and the fire plug will also be moved closer to the property. The last remaining water tank and spout serving well in by-gone days, are being removed. Four tracks will be completely removed, two tracks to the roundhouse and the two tracks to the water tank.

KIRK PERRY DIES IN SAN ANTONIO

Funeral rites were held in San Antonio Saturday afternoon for Kirk Perry, 69, who died in that city Thursday following a stroke suffered at his home the night before.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Lillian Perry; a son, Kenneth Giles Perry of Jackson, Mississippi; a daughter, Mrs. Frank Hescok of Dallas; two brothers, two sisters, and four grandchildren.

Mrs. Turk fractured her hip in a fall at her ranch home.

ANOTHER SOAKING?

State Capital NEWS

Texas' 56th Legislature soars off of the launching pad this week.

Predictions are that it'll be orbiting around the Capitol for many months to come—certainly long enough to put to good use the air conditioners newly installed in the Legislative chambers.

Many have suggested the 56th will have to have one or more special sessions before it can solve all its pressing problems. Certainly before they can leave the lawmakers will have to perform the thankless task of levying many more millions in state taxes.

Additionally, they'll be beset on all sides for new spending programs which would call for even more taxes.

After several months of this outer space may look invitingly calm compared to the Texas Capitol.

Thin Kitty State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's official revenue estimate for 1960-61 is more of a storm warning than a forecast.

Calvert expects the state's general fund deficit to hit $65,234,733 by the end of this biennium next August. Under the present tax set-up he estimates revenue to the same fund during the next two years would total $186,637,245.

After the deficit is taken care of, only $115,000,000 would be left for 1960-61 spending. It's a pretty thin kitty when compared with the $282,000,000 appropriated from general revenue for 1958-59. It means the state will have to raise $167,000,000 more just to maintain its present "standard of living."

Comptroller Calvert's official revenue estimate this year is a far cry from the one he made two years ago for the 55th Legislature. In that well-heeled era Calvert forecast approximately a $50,000,000 surplus. No one paid too much attention to outgoing House Speaker Jim Lindsay's prophecy that spending needs would outrun this figure.

In good years and bad, the Legislature is bound by law to hold its appropriations within the comptroller's revenue estimate.

A number of economies plus stricter levying and collecting of present taxes might net the state as much as $74,569,957 without new taxes.

This report was made by a financial study committee headed by Secretary of State Zollie Steakley. Committee was named by Governor Price Daniel last summer.

Its six cash-raising ideas: (1) put more tax-collecting personnel in the comptroller's office; (2) cut out tax exemptions for beer and cigarettes sold on military bases; (3) increase franchise tax rate; (4) consolidate state "house-keeping" services, such as telephones; (5) increase fees charged by state agencies and (6) establish a "conservatorship" for the state to take over unclaimed money (such as bank accounts) and personal property.

Senate investigating committee also inquired into the comptroller's work, was told that additional personnel would make it possible to collect millions more in taxes.

Hope for Creditors

State Liquidator C. H. Langdeau reported his office is making progress toward clearing up some of the stickier problems resulting from insurance company failures.

Langdeau told the Senate Investigating Committee that if some of the proposed property sales go through, creditors of US Trust and Guaranty will get a 10 per cent payment. They have previously received a 31 per cent payment.

Cecil Rotseh of the liquidation division told the committee that ordinary life policies of bankrupt Estate Life Insurance Co. had been returned and the unsound industrial policies cancelled.

In an earlier report the Senate committee had charged Insurance Commissioner William A. Harrison with negligence contributing to the downfall of Estate.

Battle Lines Drawn

Representatives of Texas Municipal League and spokesmen for the State Firemen's and Policemen's Associations tried to have a friendly get-together. Purpose: to share views on future legislation on firemen's and policemen's wages, hours and pension plans.

Municipal League wanted to talk about its plan to put more control of wages and hours in the hands of city councils, rather than the Legislature. Firemen and policemen were more interested in their plan to get the Legislature to limit working hours in cities over 10,000.

After a stormy session the two groups admitted they were "polarized."

Each gave notice they'd stick by their guns and fight it out at the Capitol.

At It Again

Texas Employment Commission which is a frequent battle ground for labor-management hassles, is caught in the cross-fire again.

It was touched off at a meeting of TEC's advisory council called to consider proposed changes in the unemployment compensation laws.

Commission Chairman Perry Brown is recommending that the weekly checks be upped from $28 to $35, the 24-week pay period to 56 weeks, and that there be a one-week waiting period before payments begin.

R. F. Newman, labor's representative on the Commission, recommended payments pegged at 85 per cent of the average salary. At present $78 weekly average benefit checks would be about $43. Newman also recommended the unemployment law to firms with only one employe.

Labor spokesmen on the council were critical of Brown's one week waiting period proposal and even more critical of Brown and Commissioner Maurice Acers. State AFL-CIO President Jerry Holleman accused the two com-

Scotch Shortbread Cookies

One of the best holiday cookie recipes we have come across in a long time is for Scotch Shortbread, a uniquely textured, good-tasting cookie. It's an old-fashioned treat that's made with plenty of butter, sugar and flavored with spices and lemon juice.

Easily shaped and decorated to fit the holiday picture, Scotch Shortbread is a cookie whose wholesome deliciousness also makes it a likely candidate as a cookie jar staple.

1 cup butter or margarine $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon nutmeg
 $\frac{3}{4}$ cup confectioner's sugar $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon lemon juice
2 cups sifted flour
 Cream butter or margarine. Add sugar and mix well. Sift together flour and nutmeg. Add to first mixture and stir well. Stir in lemon juice. Roll the dough to a thickness of $\frac{3}{8}$ inch. Cut into stars or other fancy shapes. Bake on ungreased sheet in moderate oven (350° F.) 20-25 minutes.

Note: The tops may be brushed with a mixture of $\frac{1}{2}$ tea-spoon cinnamon and 2 tablespoons sugar before baking.
 Yield: 18-20 2 inch cookies.

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

JOHN O. MEUSEBACH
Seeker of Liberty for All Men

The story of the founding of beautiful, historic Fredericksburg is the story of another German-born champion of freedom and independence for all. Like Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels, John O. Meusebach gladly gave up a life of security and ease in the homeland to lead thousands of his oppressed and needy neighbors into a new and better life. Iron of will, calm of judgment, with an unyielding sense of justice, Meusebach was one of the wisest and ablest of all the colonizers of the Southwest. When he arrived at Indianola, on Matagorda Bay, in 1845 and headed for the banks of the Pedernales River, he found many of his German immigrants ill and the project's treasury empty. But, on April 24, 1846, Meusebach and his colonists set out for the Hill Country, then largely unexplored. Exposure, hunger and exhaustion took a heavy toll, but idealism and determination kept them going. On Friday, May 8, the weary hand stopped their heartbreaking march and began the building of their new homes. They called their colony Fredericksburg, honoring Prince Frederick of Prussia. John O. Meusebach had written another chapter in the history of Texas, the history of fearless pioneers, seekers of freedom.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland — "Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self Regulation program.

Inappropriate that he should express his views on proposed constitutional amendments. Such amendments are solely matters for the Congress and the states, not for the President. Nevertheless, since then he has on a number of occasions actively and vigorously opposed such amendments in legislative matters, too the presidential and administrative officers not only interfere but become the chief proponents of legislation — the chief source of propaganda, publicity, and releases to affect public opinion. This has been particularly noticeable recently in determining policy and appropriations in the issue of federal aid to education. We have had a first-class demonstration of what thought control is by Government in this the President and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare have become active proponents and extensive propagandists and publicists. They have had conferences and made speeches and handed out releases and untold quantities of publicity and arguments to bring pressure to bear upon Congress. They propose to reverse the longtime policy of regarding education as the executive concern of the states and of the people in the local school districts.

OUR NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION TO YOU
Happy New Year to everyone in Sanderson from all of us at the Telephone Company.
Since this is the season for resolutions, I thought you might want to know a little bit more about a resolution that we try to follow 365 days a year in providing telephone service to you and your neighbors.
Here it is —
WE DEFINE OUR OBJECTIVES
"Our objective is to furnish the best possible telephone service at reasonable cost — a cost consistent with financial safety and fair treatment of employees.
"Service ranks above everything else in this policy. And for only good service is one that is continually improving. To furnish this service we need the best people, the best equipment, the best methods, and the best management we can develop.
"Reasonable cost has been defined as one that produces an ever-growing public demand. Our equipment, training, and methods would net us nothing if the cost of service became so high that people would not buy it.
"Financial safety should not be endangered by setting the price of service too low. In the long run, a price that provides profit enough to undertake new research and development results in better, cheaper service to the public.
"Fair treatment of employees means good pay, good working conditions, reasonable job security, and opportunity for advancement based on merit. It is people — the employees — who are the most important element in the success of any business.

WE ACCEPT THESE RESPONSIBILITIES
"TO THE EMPLOYEES— provide machines, methods, equipment, direction, leadership, job training, incentives to progress and selection for promotion.
"TO THE PUBLIC— more and better service at a reasonable cost. Contributions to public welfare and national development in a sound manner.
"TO THE OWNERS— run business in a sound, profitable manner.

LOOKING AHEAD
"Progress has long been the keynote of the telephone business. And, if business forecasters are anywhere near correct, the next 20 years will bring more growth and development than we have ever seen before.
"The future can be faced confidently with a policy of constant consideration for owners, employees, and the public."
That's probably the longest resolution you've ever heard about, but it takes a lot of effort to give you the best telephone service.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
