LISTEN TO LUKE

Do-Nothing session of the legislature is now going to try something done for the people after spending a full session listening to the whines of the alligator lovers and the snobs. It is said they did an appropriation (without expending the funds) for advertising in Texas for a good job of advertising for Texas in the lack of any worthwhile legislation.

is a sad state of affairs when legislators side-step important matters to work out some change election dates in the name of the benefit of our senators who want to run for office at the same time.

Johnson may think he will get the nomination for President of the United States — and he thinks anything can happen in Texas. But we can't believe the Democratic Party has come to get.

After two successive sessions in Adie B. Stevenson's desperate enough to try anything.

any rate we now have the situation taken care of in the East Texas alligators can live in peace henceforth until the Texas population gets so big in Texas the alligators will be exterminated by the Big Bend National Panther Reserve and East Texas Alligator Farm, might preserve those two species of native Texas fauna.

is the talk in some circles around town and may well be the talk in many circles soon. The board of equalization is depending all that time going to share the tax rolls for nothing and is likely to be some change.

is something looked upon by most people as one of the plagues of humanity. It sometimes there is no way to look at it.

if everyone would only pay their share, there would be less burden on the rest of the taxpayers.

the matter of school taxes, for example, there is a lot of party — real and personal — and there would be only a small amount of money for each property owner, comparatively, go in the fund to support our schools. That's why it's called a value — on the value.

before you gripe about your taxes, be sure you have a reason.

summer time looms ahead of us and it's liable to get hot. Some of our neighbors have more moisture than we have, but they had some hail with it too. And sometimes the hail does more harm than the moisture good.

we have had some clouds that did as though they might do forth something, but they were dry clouds.

the northern and eastern parts of the county have received considerably more rain than we have locally. And I guess they are around here that could use the moisture and in a hurry.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Atkinson of Bell, Texas, were visitors here last week to attend the graduation of their granddaughter, Patricia Gray. They returned home Monday.

Old Spanish Trail Adds Attractions

Additional tourist appeal has been provided the Old Spanish Trail by Disneyland and Marineland, directors of the OST were told at the meeting in Tucson, Arizona, John Dodson, Jr., OST vice-president, said on his return to Del Rio last week.

Disneyland is to tie in with the Old Spanish Trail, advertising it as "the route to Disneyland," according to Dodson. "The conquistadores adopted for use on Old Spanish Trail billboards and literature will be used by Disneyland and by Marineland, near Santa Monica, Calif. They'll advertise the Old Spanish Trail and OST will advertise them," Dodson said.

Disneyland is between San Diego and Los Angeles on Highway 101, and on that same highway the Mission of Capistrano, where swallows always go back and another mission built in the days of the original Spanish conquistadores are tourist attractions. The groups advertising these old missions have also agreed to advertise the Old Spanish Trail, according to Dodson.

OST directors voted to place 50 signs between San Antonio and San Diego, Calif., advertising the route which is Highway 90 from coast to coast and was designated the Old Spanish Trail to give it cross-country recognition.

Eighteen of these signs will be erected in Texas, 16 in California and 16 in Arizona, according to Dodson.

Later, signs will be placed between San Antonio and Jacksonville, Fla., but this is a long-range plan the director said.

The signs will begin at San Antonio and will be placed west of there through the state. The signs, all using the same emblem, the Spanish conquistadore, will be of the smaller type with very large signs to be erected at places where tourists may otherwise take another highway, directors decided.

One of the larger signs will be erected at Van Horn where traffic along the Old Spanish Trail may be diverted otherwise. Similar large signs will go up at Gila Bend, Ariz., and Lordsburg, N.M.

Dodson, one of three Texas directors of the OST, was named vice-president of the association.

THEY'VE DONE IT AGAIN -- Pecos River Dam To Be Built at Alpine, — Bill Is Project Of Con. J. T. Rutherford

The following is a news story released Wednesday under Associated Press lease. We quote it verbatim: —

"The House Flood Control Subcommittee approved Tuesday resolutions to authorize surveys of 21 proposed flood control projects, including one of the Pecos River in far West Texas.

"This is subject to approval by the House Public Works Committee.

"The surveys would cost about $5,000,000. Approval of resolutions by the Public Works Committee is all that is required for Army engineers to undertake such surveys.

"The Texas survey would be on the Pecos River at Alpine at an estimated cost of $65,000. Rep. J. T. Rutherford (D-Tex.) sponsored the project."

TB Legislation Updates Laws

An updating of laws to a disease almost as old as mankind was accomplished last week in Texas by the signing of the Texas Tuberculosis Code by Gov. Price Daniel.

The bill makes plain the enforcement of compulsory isolation upon those who have contagious tuberculosis and who refuse to isolate themselves and protect others. Such enforcement has been had in various parts of Texas for two years but it was felt procedure for enforcement needed to be clearly spelled out. This act does that.

Also contained in the code is provision for penalty of fine or imprisonment of anyone — physician or otherwise — for failure to report a case known to them as contagious tuberculosis.

Also provided is that premises occupied by people with infectious tuberculosis shall be disinfectected before the property is sold or rented to anyone else.

Hicks Child Better According to Reports

Lindsey Paul Hicks, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lin Hicks who ranch in the Independent country, is reported to be out of danger and recovering satisfactorily in a San Angelo hospital after suffering a 22-calibre bullet wound through his stomach.

The boy was shot early Sunday night, May 17th, when he somehow caused a 22-calibre pistol to be discharged while alone in a pickup at the Hicks ranch house. Mr. Hicks, with Cy Banner, a neighbor, was unloading some barrels from the pickup while the baby remained inside the vehicle.

Neither man heard the shot and discovered the child's injury when he fell from the pickup and started toward his father holding his stomach and crying. The powder burns on his clothing revealed the shocking truth.

The child was rushed by car to San Angelo where he had surgery immediately.

Random House Representatives Here On Trip Throughout North America

Ivan T. Sanderson, noted science writer, radio and television personality, animal importer and zoo owner, and trained zoologist, botanist and geologist, was here Sunday night en route to the Big Bend National Park and from there to Colorado after an extensive trip through Mexico.

Mr. Sanderson was of the impression that the town of Sanderson was named for his great-uncle who came to this country from Scotland many years ago. His family had some records of his being in this section of Texas just before the turn of the century.

Sanderson is being accompanied on the trip by Wendell W. Skousen, geologist, from Phoenix, Ariz. Representing Random House, Inc., famous New York firm of publishers, these gentlemen are making a study of nature's OIKOS or houses which is a new science of ecology. This is the first expedition to travel the length and breadth of the North American continent to look at and report upon all its 40 natural "houses" or ecological provinces.

Mr. Sanderson said they are doing this for one very good reason. Namely, to see what is left of the country before all of it is knee-deep in empty beer cans, pop bottles, used car lots and atomic energy plants. "We are writing a 150,000-word book, two feet wide when opened, illustrated with 500 original photographs, 250 in full color, to be published by Random House, Inc."

The entire expedition is contained in a single station wagon, especially adapted and equipped with generator, special lights, typing table, extra baggage compartment on roof, a canoe. All portable equipment is contained in 40 small cases — 20 for the photographer and 20 for the writer.

Joe O. Cox, Del Rio, Retires From RR

Fifty-two years and 11 days of railroad service came to an end last week when Joe O. Cox retired. He has worked as yardmaster in Del Rio for the past 44 years.

He was employed originally by F. H. Anderson in 1907. Within three months he had a regular job and six years later, in 1913, he took the examination for yardmaster.

Cox recalls working in early days of railroading with E. D. engines that were coal burners. Then the S.P. bought 800 Consolidators, then it was Makdo engines, the Mally F5 and now they have the large diesels.

He said that 52 years ago the box cars had only 15 per cent braking power and today they have improved as much as the engines, the braking power on such cars today being about 85 per cent.

"In the early days, when the cars didn't clear, they used prod poles to put the cars in the clear. I think the young men of today have it easy working on the railroad. During one period I worked four years without losing one day and I was making only $18.20 a week," Cox stated.

Changes he has witnessed range from the old wooden coaches with oil lamps to the new streamlined Sunset Limited, each a step in the progress and growth of the line.

Soon after he became a regular switchman, Cox married Sid die B. Murray of Del Rio. The couple have three children, a daughter, Mrs. P. H. Whitney of Del Rio; two sons, Harold O. Cox of New York and G. W. Cox of Del Rio.

Riggs Win in Hobbs Rodeo

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Riggs and daughters, Ada Lee and Jackie Bob, went to Hobbs, N.M., Friday of last week to participate in rodeo events there.

Mr. Riggs won third place in the second-day money calf roping; Ada Lee was third in the second-day money barrel race and fourth in the average; Jackie Bob won third place in a little kids barrel race.

The family returned home Sunday afternoon.

New State Map Available From Hiway Department

The new 1959 official highway travel map was made available last week by the Texas Highway Department. Copies of the "travel encyclopedia" of Texas, as it has been called, may be obtained by writing the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, or at the highway district offices and travel information bureaus. County tax offices have map cards available for requesting copies of the map.

The new map is the answer to today's demand for more and more travel information. The steady growth of Texas from a state with a population of slightly over seven million just ten years ago to its present estimated population of more than nine million is reflected by the information appearing on the 1959 map.

Nine more cities and towns are shown than on last year's map making a total of 1,821. The increased mileage in U.S. state and farm-to-market roads is much in evidence. The map reflects some 1,600 miles of multilane divided highway now completed in Texas, included the completed sections of the National System of Interstate and Defense highways located in the state.

The map now shows approximately 61 major lakes and reservoirs, and includes countless rivers, creeks, and streams. Roadside parks, long cherished as rest stops and picnic areas by Texans and tourists alike, now number 1,046 as compared to the 1,025 shown on last year's map.

City route maps are provided of the state's 12 largest cities — Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Waco and Wichita Falls.

The reverse side of the map with a theme of "Texas, Land of Contrasts," reflects in 20 full-color pictures, some of the outstanding scenic, historical, and recreational attractions in Texas. A section entitled "Facts About Texas" gives facts and figures on Texas' natural resources, recreational opportunities, state and national parks, historic points of interest, flora, farming and ranching, terrain features, and climate.

The official map is used by all state and governmental agencies in the state for determining the highway distances, mileages, zones and like information. The same map is equally as useful to tourists seeking roads leading to good times in Texas.

Mrs. J. W. McKee Hospitalized Mrs. J. W. McKee was taken to a Fort Stockton hospital Sunday for medical treatment. She is recovering satisfactorily and was brought home Thursday. She will be confined to her bed for complete rest for ten more days.

Her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Savage, who had gone to El Paso, to visit with her son, Lt. Jack Savage, and family, returned home Sunday night to be with her mother.

Texans Produce But Don't Eat Mutton or Lamb

Texas is a prolific producer but a poor consumer of lamb and mutton. The 5.2 million sheep and lambs on Texas ranches in January of 1957 constituted 17 per cent of the 31 million in the U.S. and were almost twice that of California, the next largest producer.

However, only about 1.6 per cent of the U.S. consumption of lamb and mutton is consumed in Texas, which ranks 32nd among the states in consumption per person. The average Texan consumes less than one-third as much lamb and mutton as the average consumer in the U.S. The consumption per person in Texas was 1.4 pounds compared with 4.5 pounds for the nation in 1954.

Many reasons for our lack of lamb and mutton consumption are given in a bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station entitled, "Consumer Attitudes and Handling Practices of Retailers for Lamb, Mutton and Goat." The bulletin was written by Randall Stelly, assistant professor in the Department of Agricultural Economics and Sociology, Texas A&M College.

Only 53 per cent of the 116 fresh meat retailers interviewed in San Antonio had handled lamb, mutton or goat anytime during the 12 months previous to the date of the interview, said Stelly. Of the 366 San Antonio housewives interviewed, 35 per cent reported using lamb an average of once every 12 days and 16 per cent of the 1,721 Waco housewives interviewed used lamb an average on once every 24 days during the 12 months before the interview.

Consumption of lamb, mutton and goat is higher among the Latin-Americans than it is among the Anglo-Americans. Irrespective of nationality, housewives in the older age group, those with higher education and those Gordon A. Gibb, party chief for the Magnolia Seismic Co., left last week with his family for Shreveport, La. where he had been transferred. They had resided here over a year, coming from Ozona.

Bob Peacock has been named party chief, successor to Mr. Gibb.

Those husbands who have higher incomes, are more likely to eat lamb.

Stelly discusses the reasons why a percentage of retail stores do not handle lamb and also discusses ways to increase consumption.

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

"BIGFOOT" WALLACE

Friend and Defender of the Young Republic

Loyalty to his clan brought William Alexander Anderson (Bigfoot) Wallace to Texas, and his loyalty to Texas enriched the history of his chosen country. Born in Lexington, Virginia, in 1817, Wallace set out for the Southwest in 1836, to avenge the massacre of a brother and a cousin at Goliad. Later he told his friend and biographer, "Texas John" Daval, that he believed the account had been squared.

Wallace was a magnificent physical specimen... 6 feet 2 inches tall in his moccasins, 240 pounds of bone, muscle, courage and humor... a melon-headed giant except when it was time to fight Indians, Mexicans or outlaws. He loved to sit in the shade and tell about such sights as the last buffalo run down Austin's Congress Avenue. But Texas history records him as a fearless soldier, scout, hunter, Ranger throughout the years of the Republic and those of the Civil War and Reconstruction. For many years he lived as he liked, and relived in tall tales the old days of free ways and free land. Bigfoot Wallace died January 7, 1899.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland—"Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self-Regulation program.

Wool Producers Note Market Climb From Promotion

Sheep producers are finding that promotion of their products is paying off. The sheepmen three years ago embarked on a program of advertising and promotion to build up the sagging sheep industry. With sheep numbers on the increase and improvement in the lamb and wool market, the outlook for the sheep industry is good.

Sheep producers first organized their own promotion organization, known as the American Sheep Producers Council, headquartered in Denver, Colo., as authorized under Section 708 of the National Wool Act. The Wool Act itself provides for an incentive payment to sheep producers on the wool they produce. From these incentive payments, the sheepmen contribute 1 cent per pound of wool and five cents per 100 pounds of lamb sold into the promotion fund. This small contribution builds up a promotion and advertising fund of approximately $2.5 million annually.

Don Clyde, Heber City, Utah, president of the ASPC, said, "This promotion program is a sincere effort on the part of the sheep grower to do something for himself and his industry. The Wool Act seeks to increase production of sheep in America; Section 708 gives him the opportunity to conduct a self-help program to build markets for this expected increase in production, Clyde declares.

"This is a long range program of education," Clyde said, "and while results are not always easy to measure, it can safely be said that advertising and promotion of lamb and wool is doing a job of expanding the demand for these products."

The American Sheep Producers Council is supported and governed by sheep growers from throughout the country. Every sheep producer who receives an incentive payment on wool is a member of the ASPC.
