Austin — Within a few weeks the tourists and school children who flock to Austin will be able to get a lesson in Texas history by visiting the most beautiful of all the new buildings on the state capitol grounds.

It is the State Library and Archives Building, now nearing completion on a site directly east of the Capitol.

For many years history-minded Texans decried the fact that the priceless early documents of the state had no real home. Finally, these documents were moved from a mouldy basement to a Quonset hut. There many feared for their safety.

Now, the new edifice provides the state's historic documents with a magnificent home. In addition there are quarters for the State Library and the General Land Office.

More interesting to the visitor will be the way in which Texas history is dramatized in the architectural decor of the building. On each side of the entrance are six large flagpoles. From them will fly the flags of the nations which have ruled Texas — France, Spain, Mexico, the Republic of Texas, the Confederate States of America, and the United States.

Embedded in the stone of the front are bright-colored mosaic shields. These also represent the same six nations. Smaller bronze emblems decorate the heavy metal doors at the front. Across the back of the structure, even larger shields, bearing the six nations' seals in colored ceramics, are mounted on the face of the building.

Pink granite, the "official" stone for state buildings, is used for the entire exterior. Carved in the granite across the left front are these words:

"The People of Texas do now constitute a free sovereign and independent republic and . . . we fearlessly and confidently commit the issue to the decision of the Supreme Arbitrator of the destinies of nations." (Texas Declaration of Independence, 1836.)

On the right front side is carved: "All political power is inherent in the people and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their benefit." First Constitution of Texas, 1845.

Although the building has four floors, there are seven "stack floors" where the building is divided for storage of books and documents.

One end of the main floor will be devoted to the library. There you will find a charge desk and a large reading room.

Another large room will house the archives. In it there will be a large work room where researchers may look at old papers.

Land Office, to be on the third and fourth floors, will have a separate entrance at the south end of the building. (Building faces west.)

First floor lobby, like the Capitol rotunda, will be a Texas showcase. In its terrazzo floor is the familiar wreath and star emblem of Texas. Main walls are polished granite and upper wall is sandstone. Above the center of the area is a huge, spectacular oval light fixture of red, white and blue colored glass in a sun-burst design with a border of 50 stars.

Museum cases, recessed and lighted, are built into the walls around the lobby. Opposite the lobby entrance is a large bronze screen with 15 blocks on which are wrought designs that present a panorama of Texas development. There's an Indian with tomahawk, branding irons, dueling pistols, the first Capitol (a small frame house), an early locomotive, and a windmill on the prairie. Last block shows a gushing oil well.

Building of the State Library and Archives Building was authorized by the Legislature in 1957 with an appropriation of $2,500,000. Project has been carried through by the State Building Commission for which E. E. McAdams is chairman and Gov. Price Daniel and Atty. Gen. Will Wilson are members.

State Archives Building is the fourth of the new edifices erected since the building program began in 1957. It is neither the largest nor the most expensive but because of the historical designs, it is attracting the most attention. Those who have had an advance peek believe that it will as intended, be a fitting residence for the heritage of Texas' 125 years.

Toledo Bend Dam Studied

Texas Water Development Board has given tentative approval to a $15,000,000 state loan for the building of a $60,000,000 Toledo Bend Dam on the Sabine River.

The dam will create the largest man-made lake in the south and supply water and power for residents of both Southeast Texas and Louisiana.

One of the first obstacles to be faced is obtaining a permit from the State Board of Water Engineers. In this, the Sabine River Authority is opposed by the owners of timberland which would be flooded by the reservoir.

Louisiana will be a partner in the project if it materializes. Louisiana voters already have approved a $15,000,000 loan to meet its share of the cost.

End of An Era

One of the most colorful and controversial names in 20th Century Texas politics passed from the scene with the death of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

Though she preferred house-keeping and flower raising, Mrs. Ferguson was the first (and only) woman governor of Texas. Also one of the only two women governors ever to be elected in the nation.

Beginning of the "Ferguson era" was in 1914 when her husband, Jim Ferguson, was elected governor, as the champion of the Texas tenant farmer. He was re-elected in 1916 but impeached in 1917.

In 1924 Mrs. Ferguson ran for governor, with the announced purpose of clearing her husband's name. She was elected in 1924, defeated for re-election in 1926, but won another term in 1932.

With her to the last was the nickname she disliked — "Ma". Her husband (who died in 1944) was known as "Pa" or "Farmer Jim."

Rate Increase Explained

Texans who are irked at the prospect of an auto insurance rate increase should take note that they've had a year's reprieve since the increase was indicated says the Insurance Board chairman.

Claim costs indicated that a rate increase was justified last year, says Chairman Tom Ferguson, but the Board postponed making it because the safe driving plan had just gone into effect.

In that 12-month interval, said Ferguson, drivers actually have paid $20,000,000 less in insurance premiums that cost figures show they should have. As a consequence, he said, companies absorbed $20,000,000 deficit.

Last Round

Legislators waxed both heated and hopeful in the last round of public hearings before the committee appointed by Governor Daniel to study all tax plans and suggest a compromise.

Committee, mostly made up of board chairmen of state agencies is to select ideas or merge them into a recommendation to be offered at its final meeting July 6 and 7. Special session to enact a tax plan begins July 10.

Rep. Reed Quilliam of Lubbock said he felt the people should see clearly what their choices are — a sales tax, income tax, or a sharp reduction in state services.

Reps. Charles N. Wilson of Trinity and Maco Stewart of Galveston suggested a plan that would combine a 2 per cent general sales tax, with exemption, and a 6 per cent corporation profits tax.

Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo apparently favored a sales tax. He told the committee he thought the governor had been asleep, Rip Van Winkle fashion since 1939, when Governor Daniel, then a House member, was one of the "Immortal 56" who blocked a sales tax. Hazlewood pointed out that the state had had a population explosion and an 800 per cent increase in cost of government since then.

Child's Arm Turns Hard, Stony; Medical Treatment Slows Process

Christine Versluis, who is nine and lives on the shores of Lake Ontario at Hilton, N.Y., is unable to straighten her right arm because of rheumatic disease.

Her arm and parts of both shoulders are becoming increasingly calcified, which means change of the muscle tissue into a hard stony substance.

This somber-faced child is the tragic victim of dermatomyositis, one of the forms of rheumatic disease. Another form is rheumatoid arthritis. The majority of people don't know that children suffer from arthritis; they believe mistakenly that arthritis afflicts only the aging—someone's grandfather or grandmother, surely not the very young.

But there is urgent reason today why grownups and parents especially should be intelligently informed about arthritis among children. Dr. William S. Clark, director of medical care of The National Foundation, whose expanded program embraces arthritis, birth defects and continued work in polio, said this week:

"Rheumatoid arthritis is a type that can make children very ill indeed. They may become severely crippled. Their joints may 'freeze.' Happily, we can now demonstrate today that with proper treatment and care, most of the crippling caused by juvenile rheumatoid arthritis can be prevented."

But the cardinal point, Dr. Clark emphasizes, is that thousands of children have rheumatoid arthritis without knowing what the disease they suffer from really is. Their parents may dismiss the aching in neck, knees, wrists or elbows (or, more rarely, in all these joints simultaneously) as "growing pains"; or for a variety of other reasons, the right diagnosis is not made.

Nine-year-old Christine Versluis must hold her right arm in this awkward upright position because it is turning into hard, stony substance. But there's hope for her in research sponsored by The National Foundation.

"We now estimate that in the United States, more than 50,000 adults who suffer from rheumatoid arthritis had their actual onset of the disease in childhood," Dr. Clark added. "Had they received modern treatment at that time, most of the crippling in maturity could have been prevented. That's one reason why The National Foundation's program in arthritis and patient aid for the young is so significant."

Child victims of rheumatoid arthritis are estimated to total 30,000 in this country alone, with 16,000 a year ill enough to need medical care. About 5,000 or 6,000 of these may require treatment as intensive as the rehabilitation needed for those stricken by paralytic polio.

There are at least 11 millions in the nation today who suffer from some form of rheumatic disease, including arthritis. Rheumatoid arthritis victims total about 1,500,000. The disease is the nation's No. 1 crippling.

To return to Christine, the little girl with the arm and shoulders turning into a stony element, she is receiving treatment at the March of Dimes-supported Arthritis Study Center at the University of Rochester School of Medicine—one of four National Foundation arthritis centers around the country. Her doctors hope they are slowing the advance of calcification but the outlook at this time is not certain.

Uncertainty, then, is the disquieting prospect facing this little girl. Her mother, Mrs. Eugene Versluis, hopes that if enough people support National Foundation research, perhaps in time Christine's right arm will fall back where it belongs and the stoniness will disappear; and that eventually the appalling figure of 30,000 children with crippling rheumatoid arthritis each year will decline.

her daughter, Mrs. D. R. Grice and family for a few days while she has a medical check-up.

Mrs. Larry Heintz and children of San Marcos are visiting here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Moore, and Buddy.

Mrs. Frank Rodriguez Jr. and two children of San Antonio are visiting here with her father Dario Cardenas, and family. Mr. Rodriguez will visit here this weekend and return his family to San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Turner and three children, Mack, Barbara, and Cliff, visited in Monahans Sunday with Mrs. Turner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Eastman, and her sister, Mrs. M. H. Powers, and family. Mr. Eastman is recuperating from cataract surgery performed in a Hobbs, N.M., hospital and they are staying in the home of their daughter until he returns to Hobbs on July 15 for a check-up. Mrs. Turner's aunt, Mrs. F. M. Hinton, accompanied them to Monahans and left Wednesday for her home in Vallejo, Calif.

M. and Mrs. H. E. Fleether returned home Friday from their vacation which included a visit with her sister, Mrs. T. E. Brynne, and her mother, Mrs. Ida Bodkin, in Fort Worth and wita relatives and friends in San Antonio.

Mrs. Carlton White and granddaughter, Karen Hovel, took her mother-in-law, Mrs. C. H. White to El Paso Tuesday to have her eyes checked by an ophthalmologist. Linda Birkhead of El Paso, who had visited here with Karen for two weeks, accompanied them to her home.

Jose G. Daniel, Thelma Castro Marry Sunday

A double-ring ceremony in St. James Catholic Church Sunday morning united in marriage Jose Guadalupe Daniel and Miss Thelma Castro, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Castro. Mr. and Mrs. Edilberto Daniel are the parents of the bridegroom. Bouquets of white tulips decorated the altar.

The bride's dress was of Chantilly lace over white satin. A Mandarin collar and yoke of net was featured on the fitted bodice buttoned in the back with tiny satin-covered buttons, and having long petal-pointed sleeves of the lace. The bouffant skirt of tiers of lace and pleated net had a lace panel in the front and a chapel-train of the lace in the back.

Her bouquet was of pearlized flowers, fern, and white satin streamers. She also carried a rosary and prayer book bound in imitation mother-of-pearl. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion edged in lace was attached to a pearl coronet.

The members of the wedding party were Miss Gregoria Castro, sister of the bride, maid of honor; Mr. and Mrs. Matias Gutierrez, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Rubio and Mrs. Jose Benitez, Miss Armanda Benavidez, Melba Flores, Tita Flores, Tere Postas Lupe Mendez, Johnny Benavidez, Billy Garza, Beto Escamilla, Rudy Arredondo, and Tato Casillas. Grace Castro, sister of the bride was the flower girl, and Rudy de la Rosa was the ring-bearer.

The feminine members of the party wore strapless dresses in white and pastel shades of silk organza with full-gathered skirts. A cape of the organza with matching binding and ties of satin ribbon was worn and they carried bouquets of carnations in matching colors.

A reception and dinner for friends and relatives followed at the Castro home.

There is nothing that says that men cannot be active in the organization - they can. We are not saying that they should take over from the ladies and keep them out - but they could get into the organization with them.

ANOTHER BIG REASON BEHIND THE BIG BOOM IN FORD SALES:

No other wagon can match Ford's features (or popularity!)

There's a whole wagonload of Ford features that only America's station wagon specialists can bring you.

First, there's more room. Ford's extended load deck is the longest and widest in its field. The tailgate opening is seven inches wider than last year, too.

There's more convenience. You can have an electrically controlled roll-down rear window in any Ford wagon . . . it's standard in all Country Squires and 9-Passenger Country Sedans. In their field, only Ford wagons have all seats facing forward.

There's more distinction. The Country Squire (shown above) is the one and only wagon in its field with body panels that look like mahogany, wear like steel.

There are more savings, too. Ford's Ranch Wagon is America's lowest-priced,* full-size wagon. And like all Fords, every Ford wagon is built to be more service-free: goes 30,000 miles between chassis lubrications, 4,000 miles between oil changes, brakes adjust automatically, mufflers are made to last three times as long as ordinary mufflers, and the finish never needs waxing.

STOP putting off that station wagon you've always wanted. SWAP for a '61 Ford wagon now while your Ford Dealer's celebrating record-breaking sales. SAVE with the wagon America loves most . . . made by FORD . . . America's station wagon specialists for 32 years!
