LISTEN TO LUKE

Albert: —
We have been wondering, and heard others comment on delay in beginning the stopping project.
It's simple. The company that the contract hasn't been able to get the aggregate here yet!
Seems there's something about getting the cars that are going to haul it.
It is scheduled to begin immediately, if not sooner, and begin soon, now probably.

There seems to be a lot of fur over the state about the new governing the procedures to be followed upon the arrest and arraignment of individuals suspected of crimes. These "processions" that are being given to criminals are making effective enforcement more and more difficult.

We have cut out and are going to try to save a release from the state comptroller stating that there is a surplus of more than $100-million more than the state officers had anticipated when the 1966-67 budget was written by the legislators about six months ago.

According to Calvert, the general revenue fund started the month — August — with a surplus of $74.3 million. It took in $25 million more than was paid out, leaving the surplus at $136.8 million. The report also showed that the total state revenue for the fiscal year ended August 31 was 1,849,689,754, which is nearly $50-million more than was taken in during the previous fiscal year.

The report goes on to say that on the basis of income over the past year, there should be more than enough to meet this total with some to spare considering even the possibility of the lack of an increase in state revenue.
And if state revenues continue to increase, as they have in the past, total income should be approaching the $2-billion mark by the end of this bi-ennium.

But we are willing to make a "done" that there is a call for a possible increase in state taxes in the meantime.

The school year seems to be a beginning of lots of things in Sanderson. Activity begins after a relapse of the summer months and the bringing of the school kids together brings adults together in many ways.

Everything seems to be getting off to a good start this year in school and the tone of things general seems to be good.
Everyone has noticed that because of the flood, the summer seemed to be gone before it arrived. Everyone's plans were torn into a thousand parts and it was a very disjuncting event, in every respect.

The effort of helping others that prevailed by outsiders, also was taken up by home-towners both prior to and after the outsiders came in. This fact is a good attitude to carry over with us into years and years ahead for our own self-improvement.

One of the self-help and others-help programs that has been kicked around some time

Jr. High Gridders Lose To Del Rio

The Sanderson junior high school gridders lost their first game of the season to the Del Rio Wildkittens here Saturday afternoon by a 12-0 score.

The game will be returned next week when the 7th graders and 8th graders each will play in that city.

The starting lineup for the local lads put Mike Turner at left end; Roy Urias left tackle; Oscar Lopez, left guard; Ramon Diaz, center; Emelio Martinez, right guard; Walter Shoemaker, right tackle; Johnny Freeman, right end; Manuel Olivas, right halfback; Oscar Rodriguez, quarterback; Junior Garcia, full back; Rudy Villarreal, wing back; and the following boys saw some action in the respective positions: Travis Spann, quarterback; Bill Littleton, end; Lea Elrod, end; Sam Bell, half back; Raul Ybarra, tackle; Randal Louwien, center; Jim Hill, halfback.

Coach Roger Goertz said that he was proud of the way the that the boys showed up in their first game. He said that outside of the two long runs which resulted in touchdowns for the Del Rio team, that the boys played a pretty evenly-matched game.

The first Del Rio score was on the return of the kick-off at the opening of the game for 60 yards and the second was late in the third quarter on a run of about 65 yards.

District Play Begins Friday, Ozona Here

District play for the Sanderson High School Eagles will begin Friday night when the Ozona Lions come to Sanderson. The game starts at 8:00 p. m.

There were some bad bruises received by Eagles last week playing against the strong Bucks but Bill Adams is the only player to be out of the lineup this week and he is expected to be able to begin workouts Monday.

Buddy Joe Hahn, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hahn, has gone to Austin where he will be a senior at the University of Texas.

Citation Given Mrs. B. R. Stavley By Postal Dept.

The Postal Department has made the following citation commending Mrs. B. R. Stavley for the work she did in the post office on June 11:

"On June 11, 1965, Sanderson, Texas, was hit by a torrential rainstorm followed by a flash flood causing considerable damage to property and at last report 28 lives.

"While much of the town was under water, this varied in depth and the post office had only approximately two feet of water inside the building. Even so, if it had been neglected, this would have caused considerable damage to postal equipment and mail.

Postmaster Hodgkins stated that Mrs. Stavley, an employee of the Sanderson Post Office, reported to the building as soon as the water receded enough for her to get there, which was about 10:00 a.m. and with broom and squeegee mop began pushing mud and water from the building. She worked until it was too dark to see and returned at 7:00 a.m. June 12 and began again. To show her devotion and concern, she worked the whole day of the flood without even stopping for lunch and when her shoes became too wet and soggy to wear, she removed them and worked in her bare feet. Although it was suggested several times that she stop and rest, the only time she would put down her cleaning tools was when the mail trucks finally got

Lions Club's Supper Nets $400 for Firemen

The supper sponsored and staged by the Sanderson Lions Club last Thursday night netted almost $400.00, according to J. R. Hodgkins, president. This was sufficient to take care of the needed repairs to the pump on the Dodge fire truck, Hodgkins stated, and all of the proceeds of the supper go to that cause.

Hodgkins stated that the Lions Club was taking this means of expressing their gratitude for the help and cooperation of all who had done anything to make the project a success.

Mrs. B. R. Farley Dies Friday, Burial Sunday

Mrs. B. R. Farley

Mrs. B. R. Farley died Friday morning in an Alpine hospital where she had been receiving treatment for a heart condition for a week, according to reports.

Her body was brought to Sanderson Saturday by the Geaslin Funeral Home of Alpine which was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

The rites Sunday afternoon were in the First Baptist Church with Rev. J. C. Hancock, pastor, officiating. Burial was in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

Mrs. Farley, the former Beula Burdwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burdwell, was born in Eagle Pass on September 14, 1893. She and her husband had made their home in Dryden for over 20 years where he was postmaster until his retirement, and she served as postal clerk.

County Votes As State On Adding Senators

The election on the proposed amendment to expand the Texas Senate from 31 to 39 members was voted down in Terrell County with a very light vote, to follow the trend in most of the other counties of the state.

In precinct 1 there were 38 votes against the amendment and 23 for; precinct 2 had three votes each for and against. No votes were cast in precincts three or four.

Golf Course At Chandler's Ranch Opens Saturday

Joe Chandler announced this week the opening of the 9-hole golf course at his ranch on Independence Creek. The course has grass fairways and greens and is said to be in good condition. All golf enthusiasts in this area are urged to visit the Chandler Ranch and try out the new golf course.

Bucks Whip Eagles 50-0

The Class AA Alpine Bucks whipped the Sanderson Eagles 55-0 in an impressive display of force Friday night here. It was a non-conference game.

The Bucks received the opening kickoff and returned the ball to their 32-yard line. The following series of downs put the ball on their 48-yard line and a pass play carried it to the 35 in Eagle territory. On the second play following, from the 32, Eraclio Espinosa received a pitch-out and went into pay dirt. Weston booted the extra point.

On Sanderson's first turn with the ball they went from the 21 to the 33 on the kick-off and with the help of a 15-yard penalty had the ball on their own 48 when they received another penalty to the Alpine 42 without ever running a play from scrimmage after the kick-off. They quick-kicked on the third down and Alpine gained possession on their 22 and Leyva ran all the way back for the second Alpine TD. Weston again converted.

Sanderson began offensive play on their own 28 and made a first down and gained the Alpine 46 where they fumbled and Alpine recovered on Sanderson's 48. Alpine's punt later from their 35-yard line was put into play on the Sanderson six and the Eagles quick-kicked on third down to their 17. Two plays later Espinosa was on a TD run for 14-yards and Weston supplied the extra point on a kick. A few minutes later Sanderson had their backs to the wall and the Eagle ball carrier was tackled behind the goal line for a 2-point safety for the

Flood Control Study Bill Passes House

The House Public Works Committee last week reported an Omnibus Public Works Bill which provides the first authorization for a complete study by the Corps of Engineers of a flood control program for Sanderson. Some twenty six lives were lost in a flash flood in Sanderson last summer. Congressman Richard C. White visited the scene of the disaster, and upon his return to Washington, he introduced the legislation for the study of the project. The bill provides for no construction, but authorizes a study and recommendations by the Corps of Engineers.

Congressman White said the study will then be presented to the people of Sanderson for review of cost estimates and possible benefits. The Congressman said: "Since no flood control facilities exist in Sanderson, I think every avenue of action should be explored to prevent the repetition of a disaster such as I witnessed last summer."

Bucks. The Eagles had a kick from their 20 and in two plays the Bucks were again over the goal line. Weston again applied the extra point.

The quarter ended 30-0 in Alpine's favor with the Eagles in possession on their own 16-yard line.

The second quarter opened with the Eagles fumbling and Alpine getting the ball and going steadily from the 23 to the goal line with J. J. Espinosa doing the honors. Patillo converted the point-after on a kick.

Three plays after receiving the kick-off Sanderson punted and three plays later Alpine had another score, this time by Drewry with Davis furnishing the point-after.

Alpine was working on an other scoring drive when the first half ended.

The half-time score was 44-0. The Bucks' J. J. Espinosa made another score early in the third period and the try for the extra point failed. This ended the scoring of the game.

Coach Joe Boyd was liberal in the use of substitutes during the last three quarters of the game with the Bucks punting on first down, trying field goals were deep in the field with their second-string kicker, etc.

The win was the second for the Bucks who rambled over Big Lake 41-6 two weeks ago.

It was the first home outing for Coach Clay Barrow's Eagles. He is assisted by Ray Senterfitt, Jack Cosby, and Roger Goertz.

The statistics were:

the mail through to the post office. She would then work the mail and upon completion, return to the job of cleaning immediately. It is felt that due to her efforts, the post office was in shape the next day so that almost normal operations were resumed. The inspection report of June 17, 1965, states the postmaster estimates less than $50 would be used to completely and thoroughly clean the building. This would have been much more had Mrs. Stavley not voluntarily gone beyond the call of duty. While this is a leased building and, therefore, the floors and walls would not be the post office responsibility, the box nests and equipment inside the building were saved from unnecessary water and mud damage by Mrs. Stavley's action.

"Because of her special act of service in performing duties that involved overcoming unusual difficulties in saving postal equipment, Mrs. Stavley is given an emblem, certificate, and $100 cash award."

Jack Hardgrave took his son, David Hardgrave, and Claude Chisholm to Lubbock Monday. David will be a freshman at Lubbock Christian College and Claude is a sophomore. Joe Chisholm, minister of the Church of Christ, accompanied them on the trip to have a check-up by a cardiac specialist.

Petition Seeks Expansion of Water District

The Terrell County Water Control & Improvement District No. 1 Board of Trustees received a petition at their regular meeting Monday night seeking expansion of the district.

The new addition would include a portion of land north and south of U.S. Highway 90 and west of the bridge over 3-Mile Draw west of town. The land could be described to include the homes of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Vawter, the Livestock Motel, the Barton Massey Service Station and the home of Mr. and Mrs. Massey on the south side of the highway, and the north side of the highway from the 3-Mile Draw west to the west side of the area cleared by Mr. Massey for possible future development.

Mr. Massey presented the petition to the board and they discussed certain aspects of the proposal.

According to the law governing the expansion of a water district, there must be a decision by the board of directors that the expansion is feasible before they call an election for the decision of the qualified voters of the existing district to approve or disapprove the expansion.

James Caroline, manager of the district, stated that the board members have begun a study of the proposal to gather facts and figures so that they may be able to make their decision on the feasibility of the expansion.

Man Over Beast

The Bible tells us that mankind was given dominion over the animals of the land and the fish of the sea. But, as any sportsman knows, it isn't always easy for one particular man to gain dominion over one particular animal or one particular fish.

In the eyes of the law, when do you become the owner of a wild creature?

To start with, the state "owns" all the wild animals and fish that dwell permanently within its borders.

But the state owns them only in a very general sense, holding title in trust for the benefit of the people. Any person—subject to the fish and game laws and private property rights—may acquire ownership of any animal or fish simply by reducing it to his possession.

But just what is possession? Consider this case:

A hunter was in hot pursuit of a deer when another hunter, appearing suddenly from a different direction, felled the animal with a fatal shot.

In short order the two men went to court to settle ownership of the deer. The judge duly ruled in favor of the second hunter, holding that pursuit alone, no matter how close to success, was not enough to give title to the pursuer.

But in another case, a hunter who inflicted disabling wounds on a wolf won over a second hunter who stepped up close and administered the coup de grace. The court said the first hunter had acquired possession, hence ownership, by making the wolf's escape just about impossible.

Even as you may gain ownership by gaining possession, so you may also lose ownership by losing possession. Clearly you have no rights in a fish which, although briefly hooked, squirms free and regains the safety of the water.

In one unusual case, the owner of a sea lion that escaped into the ocean was held to have no claim against a man who caught the same sea lion two weeks later, 70 miles away.

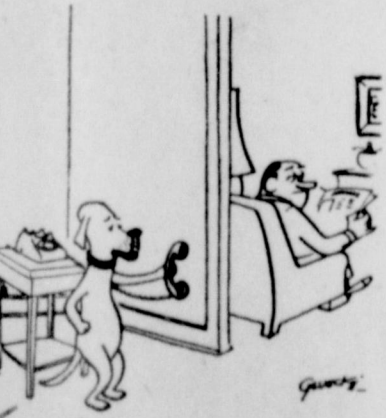

On the other hand, if an escaped animal is trained to come home again, then the owner retains title. The habit of return, like an invisible leash, ties the animal to its owner.

A woman's pet canary, having escaped from its cage, was caught and kept by a neighbor. But in a court test, the first woman was held to be the owner still. The court pointed out that the bird answered to her call, had not gone far, and had previously come home voluntarily after an outing.

"Such a bird could not be considered fair game for capture, said the court, because it had not truly gone 'back to nature.'"

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Every once in a while a reader will ask why so-called industrial captains are not more prominent in decrying the politically motivated economic fallacies of the times.

The answer is best found in the fact that so many of these big industrial captains have government as a major customer. They just do not want to lose this business.

It was therefore quite interesting to note recently that in a special report, Kaiser Steel, which is not one of the giants in the industry, reports tin plate production will be curtailed this year due to the policies of Labor Secretary Wirtz.

By refusing to permit Mexican farm workers to come into the country, the need for tin cans to pack tomatoes, asparagus, and other crops, largely grown in California, has substantially diminished.

With the uncertainties created, bankers were not prone to loan money to put in crops that probably would not be either cultivated or harvested.

It is most difficult to accurately appraise the economic loss to the nation created by this bureaucratic stand.

To afford just one example on one product, it now appears that the California tomato harvest could well be over a million tons short of last year. The acreage planted is substantially reduced, and in addition

© National Federation of Independent Business

due to delays in getting any kind of word out of Washington, plantings were delayed, which means that the crop will mature later, because with a great irreverence for bureaucratic nonsense, tomatoes just won't hurry to ripen to please anybody, and if they should delay until the first rain or frost hits, they are garbage.

Of course, after damage was done, causing an economic loss in one state of more than $50 million to growers, to labor, to truckers, et al, there was announced another fantastically dreamed up plan.

That is the idea of high school athletes for harvest.

While this may impress city folk, it falls flat elsewhere.

There is one big flaw in the entire opium-like dream. Tomatoes are harvested in September and October, when schools are in session.

Thus the nation's high school boys are in a painful dilemma. They are urged to study to prepare themselves for useful roles in the Great Society. In accordance with the President's Fitness program, they are supposed to also continue to play football this fall along with the studies. And now in addition to all else, they are urged to pick tomatoes as a patriotic duty to cover up the stupidity of Secretary Wirtz. If the high school athletes try to cover all these bases at the same time, the conflicting stresses will create severe emotional disturbance. But of course, this resulting situation will then justify greater tax expenditures for an expanded national Mental Health program.

The Rio Grande Electric Cooperative, Inc. has filed with the Federal Government a Compliance Assurance in which it assures the Rural Electrification Administration that it will comply fully with all requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Agriculture issued thereunder to the end that no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination in the conduct of its program and the operation of its facilities. Under this assurance, this organization is committed not to discriminate against any person on the ground of race, color or national origin in its policies and practices relating to applications for service or any other policies and practices relating to treatment of beneficiaries and participants including rates, conditions and extension of service, use of any of its facilities, attendance at and participation in any meetings of beneficiaries and participants or the exercise of any rights of such beneficiaries and participants in the conduct of the operations of this organization.

dividuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, the Rural Electrification Administration or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Identity of complainants will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations.

Any person who believes himself, or any specific class of individuals, to be subjected by this organization to discrimination prohibited by Title VI of the Act and Rules and Regulations issued thereunder may, by himself or a representative, file with the Secretary of Agriculture, the Rural Electrification Administration or this organization, or all, a written complaint. Identity of complainants will be kept confidential except to the extent necessary to carry out the purposes of the Rules and Regulations.

Pictured above is a view of the new roadbed from the top of "Big Hill" looking north. The cut is 35 feet deeper than the old road which can be seen as the white patch on the right and the cut on the left and winding from left to right in the distance. Crews moved over 2,500 cubic yards of dirt daily from the cut scheduled for completion before October 1, according to Kenneth Plunkett, resident engineer on the project.

Local Ministers Sponsor Program of Bible Reading

The local Ministerial Alliance is sponsoring the Worldwide Bible Reading Program this year.

The program is observed each year between Thanksgiving and Christmas as a spiritual bond to unite the peoples of the world. The theme for 1965 is "Faith For a New Age".

Each day all parsons participating read exactly the same verse from the Bible. Selections are printed in advance on bookmarks and distributed to all who request them.

Any person who will participate may get a bookmark with the list of scriptures from their church or from any member of the Ministerial Alliance.

A booklet containing the Christmas Story may be obtained without charge from the American Bible Society, 450 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10022.

Rev. Moises Yanez, pastor of El Buen Pastor Church, was welcomed as a new member.

The Alliance voted to take up the study of pastoral counseling, and Rev. J. C. Hancock will be in charge of the study.

Richard Schwalbe, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Schwalbe, went to Austin Monday to enroll at the University of Texas for his junior year. He has had two years at McMurray College, Abilene.

Mrs. W. H. Savage left Tuesday for Chicago, Ill., to visit her son, Jack M. Savage, and family. She plans to visit in Richardson en route home with another son, W. H. Savage Jr., and family.

Committeemen For County ASC Are Re-Elected

The tabulation committee declared all incumbent Terrell County ASC committeemen duly re-elected last Friday. Under the new election system, to establish the election of only one committeeman yearly, E. E. Harkins was elected to a three year term; Herbert Brown to a two-year term; and Clarence Jessup to a one-year term. Jack Hardgrave and Jack Harrell will be first and second alternates respectively for one-year terms.

In next year's election, one committeeman and two alternates will be named. Alternates serve only if regular members are unable to serve. An alternate replacing a regular member does not assume the member's term of office; rather the alternate's term would still expire at the end of his one year term.

The organizational meeting will be held October 6, at which time a chairman will be selected. The committee handles the local administration of the federal farm program, such as agricultural conservation, wool, and mohair incentive payments, and emergency feed.

Tabulators were S. D. Harrison, Vic Littleton, and W. H. Goldwire.

or again is the possibility of re-building the old clinic facility or providing something to take its place.

The merits and de-merits of this venture have been kicked around verbally, but it seems that the need continues to exist or even grow greater with the passage of time. The de-merits do not seem to lessen, either, with the passage of time.

According to information received last week, Cong. Richard C. White signed the home rule for the District of Columbia discharge petition because "President Johnson asked me to sign it". He went on to say, according to this source: "In a large measure, good relationships between the federal government and my district depend directly on the White House. I do not believe in the practice of signing a discharge petition. But the President asked me to."

He further added: "If normal usual procedures were followed this year" there would be no money at all for the El Paso flood control projects this year. But he hoped, after talking to the White House, to get $350,000 in preparatory funds for the El Paso project stuffed into some supplemental public works appropriations bill which might come along before the month is over.

This is too much coercion and too much acquiescence.

Bonhomie Club Meets In Home Of Mrs. H. P. Boyd

A centerpiece of jack bean blossoms was on the table in the living room at the home of Mrs. H. P. Boyd when she was hostess to the Bonhomie Club last Wednesday afternoon. Mesdames Marion Batson, F. G. Grigsby, E. F. Pierson, L. R. Hall, Ray Caldwell, and O. J. Cresswell were present.

Mrs. Boyd served home-made pineapple ice cream, cookies, and coffee after a period devoted to handwork and visiting.

THAT BIG-GOVERNMENT HEADACHE

BLOCKING JOB CREATION

Private industry has been urged by the Federal Government to help solve the economic problems of Appalachia. Yet, when a private company announces a multi-million dollar construction project that would create thousands of jobs and accelerate the progress of a wide area, what happens? A federal department tries to block the project.

The Duke Power Company filed an application last January with the Federal Power Commission for a vast steam and hydro-power complex in the western tip of South Carolina. Eventually it would cost $700 million, bring an estimated $18 million into state and local treasuries, and add some $24 million to federal tax revenues. The entire project would be financed with private funds; not one cent would be required of taxpayers.

Now the Department of the Interior has come forward with a petition to the FPC to compel Duke to purchase its future energy requirements from federal power projects. Where would the federal power come from? It would be generated at a proposed hydro plant to be built with nearly $100 million of the taxpayers' money at a site which would take 23,000 acres of land off local tax rolls.

In addition to generating power, the private enterprise project planned by Duke would provide water supply, recreation facilities, and flood control. The federal projects would not.

Question: Does the federal government really want private enterprise to provide the jobs that solve economic problems? If it does, it might be well to pass the word to those who are inclined to spending tax funds as the cure for every social or economic ill.
