LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert:-----
There was some high praise for the way the recent drivers' school was conducted and for the good information that was learned by those who were able to take advantage of the opportunity. There were some who were able to make some of the meetings; some, who like us, had other meetings to which they were already committed; and some who were not able to go for some other reason. It would have been good if everyone could have gone.

It is a feather in the cap of the Ranch Home Demonstration for getting up the school.

We rightfully should be aware of and concerned with the loss of lives through crime and violence, through wars, through drowning, and through automobile accidents. We feel sure that it was brought out in the school in some way or another, that most of us think that it cannot happen to us, so we don't seem to be bothered much with defensive driving. We might practice our water sports that way, we take precautions of all kinds when we think there is violence in the offing, but when we get in our cars, we mash on the accelerator and GO-O-O!

This is not to imply that accidents are all caused by speed, but we cannot deny that less speed would make all accidents less likely and would certainly reduce the hazard.

Congratulations to all who took the course and to those who offered it, and we would add our thanks to those who came here from the Midland Department of Public Safety to teach the course.

Many of the fruit trees of town probably lost all chances of making any fruit this year with the heavy frost we had Wednesday morning of last week. We noticed in our neighborhood that there were lots of apricot and peach trees blooming before that. We don't know if we are fortunate or not, but our apricot tree did not break out a blossom until Friday of last week. Time will tell! But if our tree does manage to miss the frost and make some fruit, we doubt there will be enough to go around to all our neighbors. We had a good thing going for a while, one our neighbors who has only peach trees likes apricots exceptionally well, and would trade fruit for fruit.

We got word recently from a couple of readers in far-away towns who flattered us by saying that they were enjoying the paper and especially were they enjoying the old pictures we were publishing and that was the first thing they looked at when they opened the paper. We sent word to them, and continued to second page.

Cookes' Silver Found in N.M.

Sheriff Bill C. Cooksey and Greene Cooke went to Tucumcari, N.M., Tuesday to identify and return the articles stolen from the Cooke home two weeks ago.

The articles had been located in a pawn shop in that city.

Deputy Sheriff Dalton Hogg reported that the report of the theft had gone from the Texas Department of Public Safety and that two men and two women, all young in age, had been apprehended in Tucumcari after they had pawned the articles for $1.

The quartet is to be returned to New Orleans, La., where they are wanted on a serious felony charge, according to Hogg.

El Buen Pastor Church Building Project To Begin Soon South of Present Parsonage

The building project for El Buen Pastor Methodist Church is slated to begin within the next few weeks. Contracts were awarded to The Kerr Mercantile Co. last week for the construction of the building. There were two other bidders on the job, according to Rev. Moises Yanez, pastor.

The building will be situated on the property just south of the present parsonage.

Rev. Yanez stated that the building project had started and begun several times during the past several years, but the congregation now had more than half of the cost of the building on hand and a loan was made with the Methodist Board of Missions for the balance. He stated that the help for the project had come from various sources within and from outside the church and ran from $1 to $15 per month on the building fund.

"The members of the local church are very happy that the project has reached this stage of development," Yanez stated, "and there is much enthusiasm about the completion of the building now. The building is a demonstration of the faith of the members of the church in the future of the town and members of the congregation.

The east end of the church will be the sanctuary, with the pulpit and choir area at the extreme east end. Immediately behind the sanctuary will be the Fellowship Hall, which will also double as a classroom for adults; the rest rooms and kitchen will be between the Fellowship Hall and the other classroom and office space. Plans are for central heating and cooling.

The church building will be brick with 2,304 square feet, and will be toward the south side of the church property to permit possible expansion to the north side of the building.

we send word to you, that the string is about to run out if we don't get some co-operation from some of our readers who have some old pictures.

We are going to have to stop calling them old pictures when some of the people about our age can recall easily the people, places, or events. And that is about where we are now in our picture collection and we don't have many of those.

The local CAP unit is planning a big show on April 20 that could bring a lot of people to this area. They are printing 3,000 tickets and 3,000 programs as the word is out that there will be a bunch there.

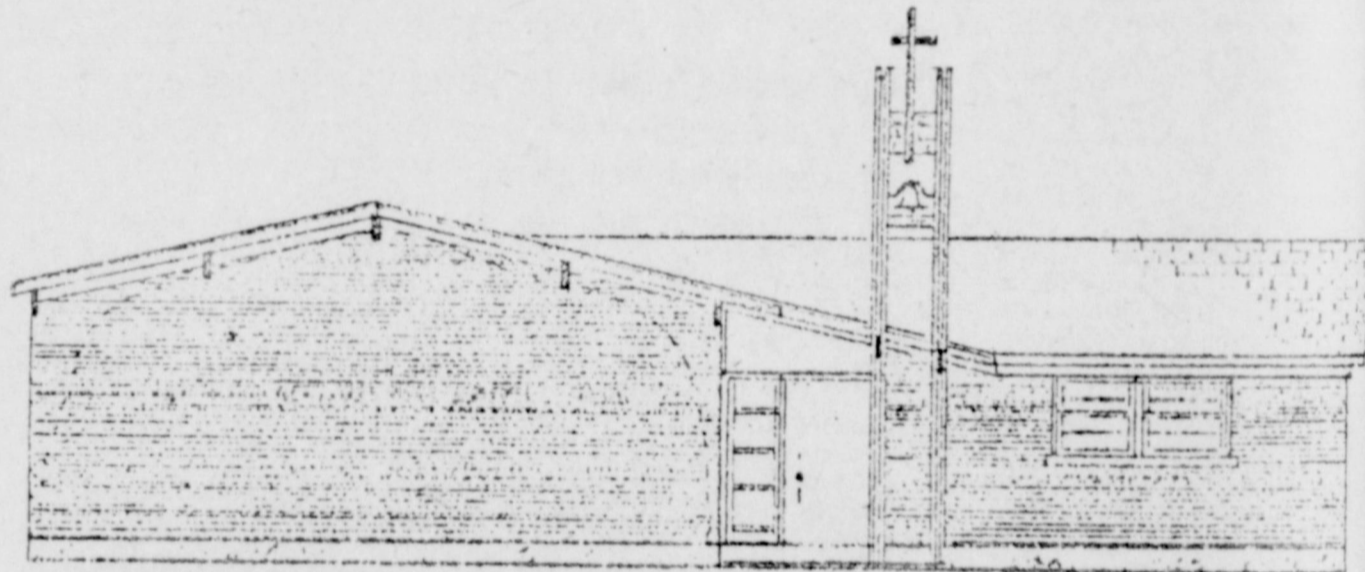

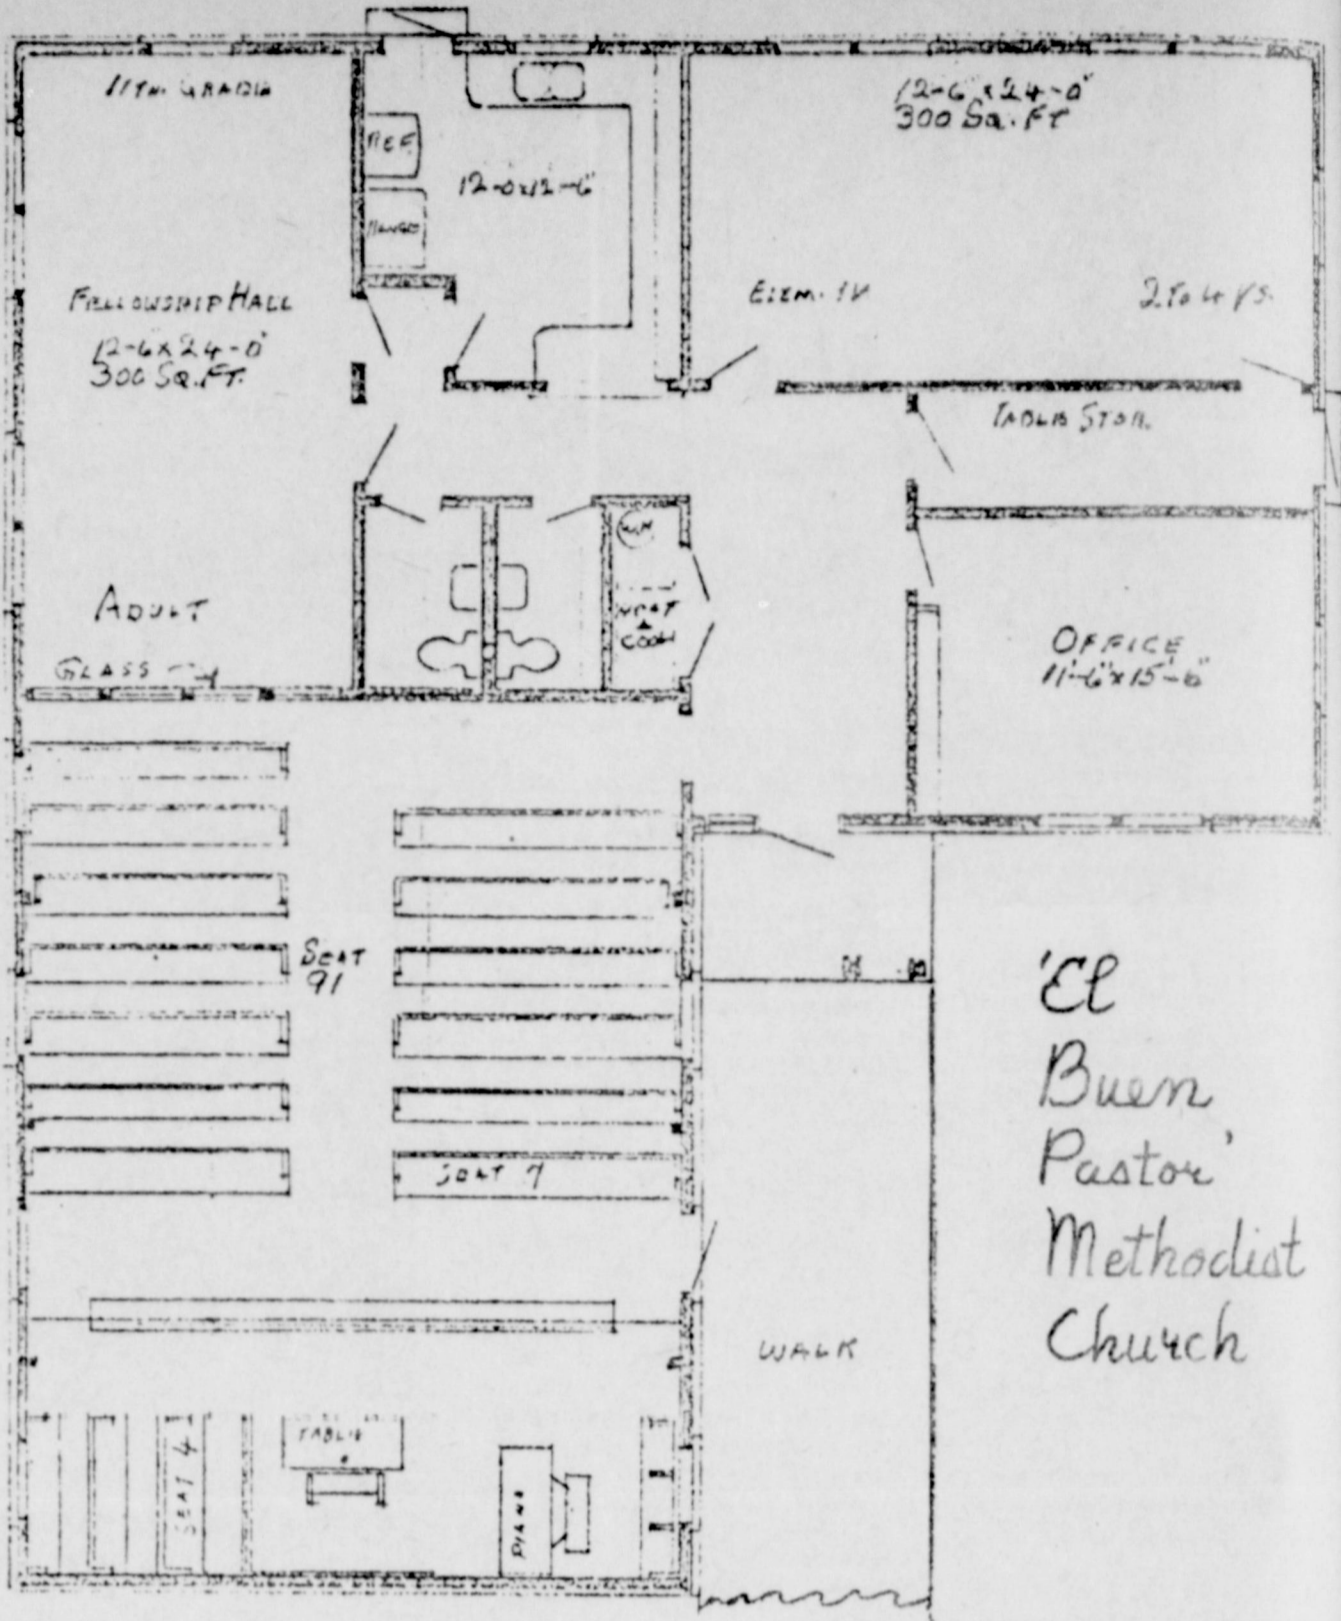

It should prove a very interesting day for all of the residents of the area as very few have ever seen an air show.

The group has been working painting the buildings at the air strip west of Dryden, where the show will be. Lots of weeds and grass has been cut and the area cleared for the parking of airplanes and automobiles during the show. Plans have begun on building a hangar so that the unit can receive an airplane from the government for their use. It is said that the hangar is one of the prerequisites. The group is quite large - about 50 young people and about 25 adults - it is said!

There will be more information about the air show within the time between now and April 20.

If you haven't been up to the Terrell County Public Library - even to just look around, you owe it to yourself, and to the ladies who have worked so hard to make the facility possible, to do so at the earliest convenience.

Heart Fund Drive Nets $739.73 Here

Returns from the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign in Terrell County totaled $739.73 as compared with $670.00 in 1967, it was announced this week by Mrs. Clyde Higgins, local Heart Fund Campaign chairman.

This is the second consecutive year that Terrell County has exceeded its fair share.

"The splendid response of local people to the Heart Fund appeal is dramatic evidence that they understand the seriousness of the heart problem," Mrs. Higgins said. "It also demonstrates their strong conviction that the Heart Association's program of research, education, and community service constitutes the most effective way to combat and eventually to control this leading health menace and America's No. 1 killer."

In addition to applauding the public's support of the drive, she also extended the Terrell County Heart Fund's thanks to those who gave of their time and effort in the 1968 campaign.

Kite Flyers Are Warned of Dangers

Kite-flying is a traditional sport that never seems to lose its appeal to young and old alike, and, whether young or old, smart kite-fliers will observe the basic rules of safety, according to Jimmy Caroline, Community Public Service Company manager.

"One of the most important rules," emphasizes Caroline, "is to never fly a kite where there is a possibility of its getting entangled in electric wires."

Other dangerous practices in kite-flying include using metal string or wire, making the kite frame of metal, flying kites in the rain when even a cotton string can become a dangerous conductor of electricity, and trying to retrieve a kite if it becomes tangled in electric wires.

As reminder, CPS has distributed kite safety posters for the school bulletin boards.

Amistad Tower Planned

Still in the planning stage, huge Vista de Amistad Tower, expected to loom 650 feet high on the shore of Amistad Reservoir in the vicinity of the new highway bridge spanning Devil's River, has been found economically feasible and work is underway on a structural feasibility study.

The $6 million project will involve a complex including the tower, a marina, marina motel, golf course, club house and various recreational facilities on the shore of the reservoir.

Andrew King, CPA who specializes in feasibility studies, is working for Harwath and Harwath in Washington, D.C., on the structural feasibility study.

The Economic Development Administration in Washington approved a grant of $90,000 for the feasibility study.

The tower is planned for a site 50 feet above the water level of the lake, making the tower itself rise an estimated 700 feet above the lake.

Two restaurant levels are planned for the tower. They will be some 12 stories from the ground, resting atop eight supporting arches that form the base of the tower. These arches or legs form a giant framework 320 feet in diameter covering 80 feet above the ground level.

The roof of the top restaurant forms an observation deck and recreational area 170 feet in diameter, consisting of an indoor air conditioned area surrounding the center core but with the major part being the outdoor perimeter, the plans of Edward Gondeck of San Antonio, architect, indicate in the drawing.

This level will have swimming pools, lounging areas, recreational areas such as shuffleboard, ping-pong and other amusement facilities. The level will serve as a facility to the patrons of the 125-unit motor hotel situated immediately above, providing facilities for relaxation and recreation, and, in addition, affording guests an opportunity to enjoy a complete panoramic view of the entire area, partly visible from individual rooms.

Plans call for the tower structure to converge above the motor hotel complex, forming a sweeping span for 210 feet to reach the uppermost portion of the tower. This will consist of a high level public observation area; above it, a two-level cocktail lounge and supper club and atop this, a high-level observation area for proposed government use for surveillance of the lake region. It will provide accommodations for radio and microwave equipment and the uppermost portion of the tower will consist of a 160-foot radio and microwave tower.

Three glass-walled elevators housed inside glass tubes will form the center core of the entire structure and will serve all levels. A fourth quadrant will house a spiralled safety-stair. Two additional elevators will serve the restaurant levels and the motor hotel, according to the plans.

Approximately 570 acres of land make up Recreational Area D, proposed site for the Vista de Amistad Project. It is situated almost directly between the Devil's River Basin and the Rio Grande Basin of the lake and is expected to provide a dramatic view of the entire lake and Amistad Dam. Its location will provide almost equal opportunity for observing Mexican and Texas portions of the lake and region.

Architectural plans call for the project to include a marina motel of approximately 250 units located on the cliffs of the lake immediately north of the base of the tower. A floating marina complex including mechanical boat launching facilities, dry land and inwater boat storage is also planned for construction at the foot of the marina motel.

The area under consideration is composed of two peninsulas, the smaller being the location for the tower, marina and marina motel. The larger peninsula is approximately 8,000 feet long and projects northeasterly into the Devil's River Basin. It is considered an excellent terrain for an 18-hole golf course.

The total project will cost an estimated $16,000,000. Early plans and specifications for the tower structure have been completed and an estimate of $9 million for construction of the tower has been made by contractors.

The hazard of putting an unopened can of peaches in a trash barrel and burning refuse around it, is graphically pictured above. Mrs. R. R. McDonald threw the can of fruit away and when the trash was set afire the heat caused the can to explode blowing out the bottom of the barrel as shown in the picture. The can was unrolled and in one large flat piece as a result of the explosion. Deputy Sheriff Dalton Hogg, who lives near the McDonalds, ran over to see what caused the explosion just before noon Tuesday and later took the picture. The McDonald children who were playing nearby, were hit by some of the flying refuse, but were unhurt.
