LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert---

We thought we might just be quiet and not say anything about daylight saving time and nothing would be done about it locally. But we have it!

By the time we get to town at 6:30 to do early-morning chores and work on our rock pile until can't-see, that makes pretty long day.

There are those who are betting (really, more of a bound) that we don't get that project finished before summer is over. And we're about to agree!

We happen to have some neighborly who are a bad influence by keeping such a nice yard, that we feel that we should be out working in the yard doing something.

The Rotary Club members met an ambitious spree at their regular meeting last Wednesday and decided to clean up around the Medical Center building. And they did just that. And the results are quite apparent.

Mention was made of weeding that needed doing in other parts of town, and it may be that something will be accomplished in other places soon.

The beginning of the activities that go along with the closing of school have begun and the summer vacation time will be upon us before we realize it. The choice of college narrows almost daily with the increase in college unrest and disturbances. There has been little of this in Texas, another fact for which we can be proud up to now.

We heard a view expressed in a way by a college professor which makes much sense to us. When we as a nation or as individuals fail to disagree then our minds will be dead and no good for colleges or universities will exist. It is in the area of agreement that we must learn to live.

We heard this has been expressed another way: "It is not difficult to love someone who loves you. Love those who despise you and do all kinds of things against you; those who say all kinds of false things about you; those who despise you; those who persecute you."

Regardless of the reason for attending a college or university, certainly, in our humble opinion, it should not be for the purpose of destroying that institution.

When voters in Texas go to the polls on Nov. 5, 1970, they will not be voting on whether to permit the sale of liquor by the drink in Texas, as assumed by some in Texas. The intent of the legislators in wording of the proposed amendment to the constitution is clearer or befuddled than will appear on the ballot. According to information received, the voting will boil down to a request by the legislators to define an "open sale" a responsibility given to the legislators in the Texas constitution in 1876.

Mr. Dies emphasized that Notaries Public should not send requests for re-appointment or commissions directly to the Secretary of State inasmuch as the law specifically requires that the County Clerk receive the Notary Oath and Bonds and forward copies of the application to the Secretary of State.

Earwood Fund Up To $6,500 Mark

Officers of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association announced Monday contributions to the Fred Earwood Memorial Fund have reached over $6,500. The fund will be invested in such a manner that revenue produced will make possible an annual award to some individual whose goals or efforts exemplify those of the late Mr. Earwood.

The Earwood award was one of many topics discussed at the Association spring quarterly meeting in Brownwood, April 18-19. The directors recommended that the membership drop the spring quarterly meeting in the future, as it interferes with attendance at district meetings and creates added hardships on officers and staff.

Recommendations were made that pending legislation concerning commodity check-off be supported. Also, predatory animal problems were discussed in detail. Lynn Nabers, state representative from the 64th District, was keynote speaker for the meeting. He briefed the assembly on current legislation which would affect the industry.

Gene Whitehead, TS&GRA president, has invited any interested person to submit nominations to the Association for the 1969 Earwood Memorial Award. "We wish to recognize and honor some outstanding individual each year who has contributed to our industry in those fields in which Fred Earwood worked so successfully," said Whitehead.

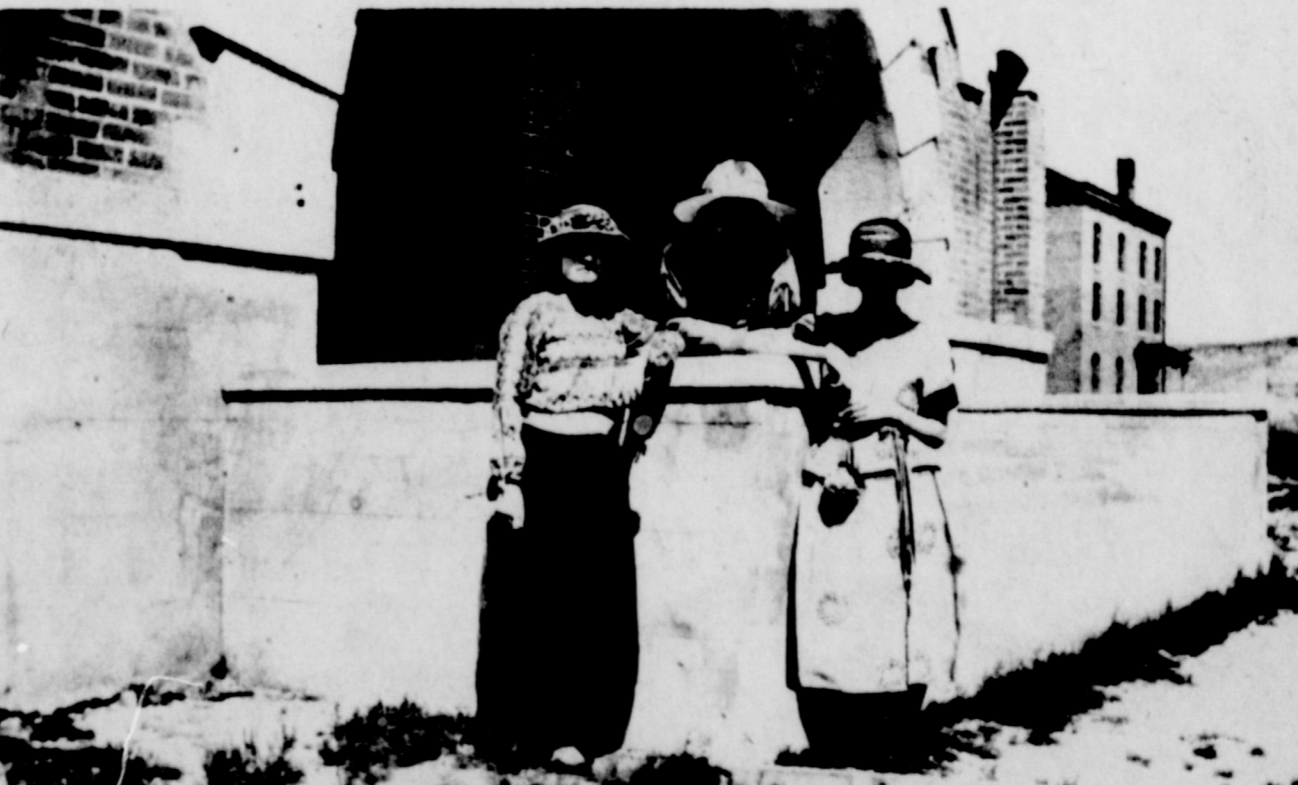

Nominations for the Earwood Memorial Award should be forwarded to the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, Box 1486, San Angelo, 76901.

Junior-Senior Banquet Served Last Friday In Hawaiian Series

The basement of the Masonic Hall was converted into a beautiful Hawaiian scene Friday for the annual junior-senior banquet with "Hawaii" as the theme.

As the guests entered the building, they found the stair railings wrapped with green crepe paper and decorated with tropical flowers. As they stopped to register, the decorations of large bright colored paper flowers in huge vases were noted, also varied Hawaiian objects including grass skirts, beach towels, hats, etc. A lei was placed on each guest.

The room had been decorated in the same motif with a large mural across the south wall and palm fronds, birds with brilliant plumage in cages, bamboo canes, tropical flowers, and other foliage decorating the other walls. The ceiling was covered with strips of red and white crepe paper. In one end of the room was a large statue and fountain with flowers, grass, and shells at its base. Pupa trays were arranged on a table covered with fish net and delicacies of whale meat, shrimp, clams, and oysters dipped in periyakiki sauce, and other hors d'oeuvres were available.

A U-shaped table was arranged for the banquet. Over white cloths were net cloths in varied colors, large and small shells were strewn the full length and also large paper flowers and baskets filled with tropical fruit added a further decorative note. Tiki lights at intervals on the tables provided the light. The Hawaiian theme was noted in the decorations on the place cards, program booklets, etc., and inscribed on the sand-colored napkins was "Sanderson High School 1969, Junior-Senior Banquet".

In one end of the room was a Hawaiian scene with a tent, rocks, musical instruments, nets, grass mats, and driftwood. On the shelves were arranged bottles, masks, shells, etc. Bamboo matchstick curtains were on the windows and the walls were covered with brown fishnet over bamboo poles.

Tom Allen was Master of Ceremonies and the invocation was given by Lali Olivares. Hector Chalambaga extended the welcome from the Juniors and Buddy Carr gave the response. The class will was read by Barbara Brown and the class prophesy by Candace Cooksey. Several numbers were sung by the Hula Maids: Marsha Monroe, Christine Downie, Gina Hardgrave, Gwyn Mansfield, and Susan McSparran. All joined in singing the school song: "For Sanderson, We Will".

Today's challenge for large companies: To provide old-fashioned service in a miniskirt world.

Phone Company Adopts New Advertising Slogan

Concern for "the little guy" is a built-in characteristic of American life. We cheer the underdog and admire the man who gets to the top against all odds.

Therein lies a challenge for large companies to avoid being cold and impersonal - to treat "the little guy" like the individual he is.

One such business, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, has launched an all-out effort to avoid acting like the only phone company in town - which it is in Fort Stockton.

"Our new advertising slogan says it best," said Bill Blaney, manager for Southwestern Bell. "We call it WMBTOPCITBWT-NTALL. We've been accused of having a secret code or mysterious key club, but those letters really just stand for, 'We may be the only phone company in town, but we try not to act like it.'"

But Blaney said the company is trying to make the WMB... letters mean more than an advertising slogan.

"We realize that, although we have competition in some phases of our business, there's no one else in Fort Stockton a customer can turn to for basic telephone service," he explained. "That's all the more reason for us to avoid acting like the only phone company in town."

"We're examining all aspects of our service to make sure we're treating our customers as fairly and courteously as possible," he went on. "And when we're not, we want our customers to tell us."

Blaney admitted the WMB program could boomerang. He said - as the saying goes - you simply can't always please everybody. And a customer who feels he has been treated unfairly might very well throw the WMB... slogan back in the telephone firm's corporate face.

"But we think very highly of the people we serve," Blaney added. "We've learned that when we're fair and courteous to our customers, most of them are just as fair and understanding toward our problems and mistakes."

"We have a lot of machines, equipment and computers," he said. "But our company still consists of people. In fact, we have some 60,000 of them in the territory our company serves. We're human, and sometimes we drop the ball."

"Yet the WMB theme means that we want to correct our mistakes fast, because the public is our boss."

He said the WMB... advertisements are being seen now in newspapers and also are appearing on television. They will be heard on radio later this year.

"We may be the only phone company in town, but we're going to try not to act like it," Blaney assured.

The days are not only getting longer but they are also getting warmer. With the change of weather, children are playing out-of-doors more. Playing outside is good for the children but it is hard on their clothes. They are dirty and often stained. Homemakers have the problem of trying to keep these clothes clean and spot free. It is always easier to remove fresh stains than old ones. Identify the stains if possible. However, on children's clothing it is sometimes impossible to recognize the stain. When in doubt, always sponge the area with cold water. Hot water has the tendency to set many stains. Therefore making them very stubborn to remove. Stains can be grouped into three categories:

1. Greasy stains . . . such as lipstick, four or grease
2. Non-greasy stains . . . such as blood, grass, or mildew
3. Combination greasy and non-greasy stains . . . such as chocolate, cocoa or milk

The type of stain remover you select should not harm the fabric on which it is used. Always test the material or on a seam allowance, hem, the inside of a pocket, on the tail of a blouse or shirt.

Absorbent powders such as cornstarch or talc are good to use on fresh spattered grease stains. Spread the powder over the stain before it dries. Then remove it, as it absorbs the stain by shaking or brushing.

For the extra soiled area or the stubborn stain on Permanent Press use a pre-treatment solution. Using a small soft brush or sponge rub liquid detergent or a paste of detergent and water over the soiled spot. Prepare the paste by mixing your regular laundry detergent with a small amount of water. Allow time for it to penetrate into the stain. If possible, on Permanent Press garments, blot the stain immediately. If it is allowed to work into the fibers, they may resist removal. Having the proper cleaning agents handy is part

 There have been many Texas legislative sessions when "liquor by the drink" was discussed, and all of the pros and cons did not cause serious consideration of the measure until the 1965 and 1967 sessions. And these two sessions did nothing about the law even after the insistence of Gov. John Connally.

The legislative thinking probably is best expressed in their wording of the question: "For or against repeal of the prohibition against open saloon found in Section 20, Article XVI of the Constitution".

If the amendment is approved Section 20 referred to above which now states: "The open saloon shall and is hereby prohibited. The legislature shall have the power and it shall be its duty to define the term 'open saloon' and enact laws against such" shall then read "The legislature shall have the power to enact a mixed beverage law regulating the sale of mixed alcoholic beverages on a local option basis."

"The legislature shall have the power to regulate manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of intoxicating liquors . . ."

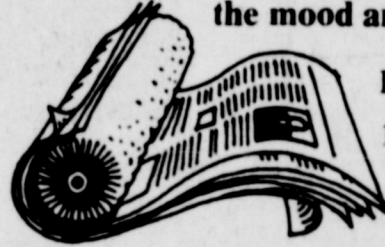

"Should the legislature enact any enabling laws in anticipation of this amendment no such law shall be void for reason of its anticipatory nature."

And also, if approved, someone will have to try to figure out what will have to be done before liquor can be sold the drink in Texas.

How to get your husband to paint.

Most husbands think of painting as a lot of fuss and bother.

They don't realize how nice and easy it is with Cook Paint. Therefore, we suggest this Two Phase Plan to 1) Get him in the mood and 2) Make him glad he got there.

PHASE I

1. Before he gets to it, insert a paint roller in the morning paper. Say nothing if he mentions it.

2. Into his brief case, lunch pail or whatever he takes to work, place a paint color card. If all goes well, he'll discover it at an inopportune moment.

3. Involve his favorite pastime. Attach a paint brush to his 9-iron/casting rod/gun stock/whatever. This should clinch it, but

4. As added insurance, place a paint roller or brush under his pillow, taking care that the bulge will prevent his getting to sleep. Do not awaken during Step 4.

5. The next morning, when he announces his intention to paint, keep cool and move into

PHASE II

1. Offhandedly suggest that Cook Paint has done away with all the troublesome things about painting and that he just might enjoy it.

2. Just happen to have the address of your friendly Cook dealer and mention casually that you've already picked out the colors and combinations with Cook's Color Center.

3. Kiss him lightly, tell him he's your hero and wave goodbye proudly as he goes to pick up the paint.

4. When he starts painting, look on admiringly. As he begins to enjoy it, steal away quietly and let him revel.

5. When he's finished, admire his handiwork, tell him how wonderful he is and how glad you are that you married him instead of Harry Freeland.
