LISTEN TO LUKE

By Albert: ---
 If anyone has been waiting for winter, they no longer have to wait!
 The temperature Monday was not so low, but the high winds that accompanied the cold put the chill factor down to "uncomfortable".
 There was heavy ice Monday morning, but there was also some moderation later in the day.

We don't know how many people have been talking about it, but we had duplicate conversations last weekend about a local need or desire.
 It has been expressed again recently that Sanderson would be a good place for a retirement center and several local places and advantages were cited as lending toward the advisability of such a venture.

The climate is free of pollution, probably as is most any place in the southwest; the water is exceptionally good; the pollen count is low; the air is dry; it is quiet; the atmosphere of the area is peaceful; and there are several locations in town that would be attractive or could be made so for retirement living.

This fact is and has been known for some time and there has been much conversation in past years about the possibility, but like the weather, there has been a lot of talk, but no one does anything about it!

One of the facts that is always brought up is the fact that there is no hospital here, and it is said by some that a hospital is almost a "must" for such a facility as a retirement center. We would agree that it should be a very desirable thing. And then another hitch comes along - which comes first?

In more or less re-hashing the conversations, and thinking out loud, so to speak, the question would arise that if one had the hospital, then it would be much easier to attract those who are living the retired life. By the same token, if we had a larger population, retired or not, then it would be much easier to get a hospital. The same thing holds true with the personnel to staff a hospital. Certainly, it would be difficult to get them without a hospital, but a hospital does not assure a staff of adequately trained people to operate a hospital.

And the same is true in a building to house retirees, a necessary item, for sure. Would it be simple to assure occupancy if one had the facility built, or if one could see the need for such a building only after the retired people moved to town.

Which comes first?
 And who would want to foot the bill for the beginning of the gamble?

Some have said that there is help available from the government always in building a hospital. The town has been through this before - and this is true, but there are some circumstances other than just filling out the check for the cost of what people think they would need in hospital facilities.

We didn't come up with any answers, did we?

Alien Address Reports Are Due

J. B. Bannahan, deputy district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in El Paso, reminded today that the annual alien address report program is again under way. "Federal law requires all non-citizens in the U.S., with a few exceptions, to report their addresses during the month of January each year," Mr. Bannahan pointed out. "This is true even though the alien's address is unchanged since the last report. Wilful failure to comply with this requirement could result in serious consequences," he added.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and at all post offices. Trained personnel in all offices of the Immigration service are available to assist aliens in complying with the law, but this assistance is not available in all post offices, according to Mr. Bannahan.

The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must fill out the form for the child, and a person who is ill may send for a form by a friend or relatives who can return it to the clerk after it has been completed by the alien.

"To caution aliens as well as employers that possession of a Social Security card by an alien is not evidence of permission from the Immigration and Naturalization Service for the alien to work in the United States. Only those aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence (immigrants) and those aliens temporarily in the United States

'Cougar Country' Film To Show Sunday, Jan. 17

In the still, rugged high elevations of Colorado there is nothing more real than a young cougar as he stalks his prey. And there is nothing funnier than the actions of a curious cat as he awaits a cold and hungry night... wondering how it got away!

"Cougar Country" is the real story of the first two years in the life of a mountain lion in the beautiful mountains of the West. It is the latest release by American National Enterprises, Inc., an outdoor and adventure film company located in Salt Lake City, Utah.

A huge cast of wild animals provides the action as "Whiskers", the cougar, grows up under the careful tutoring of his mother. Background is the natural splendor of the Rocky Mountains. Nature provides the special effects; American National Enterprises, Inc. provides the film and cameras.

"Cougar Country" provides fun entertainment for the entire family as "Whiskers" moves farther and farther from his mother's lair and meets more of his neighbors, including a somewhat offensive skunk, a mean marmot, a not-too-friendly American Eagle, giant moose and elk, beaver, badgers, and coyotes - and all the other animals which share the territory.

The film is showing at the Princess Theatre Sunday only, January 17.

1971" was imprinted in blue on the white napkins.

The bridegroom's table was laid in a lace cloth over ecru. Mrs. Frank Elliott of Roswell, N. M., served the Swedish tea ring and Mrs. Walter Armstrong was at the silver coffee service.

A blue organdy cloth decorated in bells, bows, and other bridal motifs on the gathered skirt was laid over blue satin and centered with an arrangement of the mums for the bride's table. Golden punch was served by Miss Sheri Allen of Dallas. The three tiers of the all-white bride's cake was separated by white collonades and topped with wedding bells. It was served by Miss Lellee Mitchell.

On a table in the hall was a wooden bread bowl of the bride's great-grandmother, the late Mrs. R. A. Farley, and it contained rice with which the guests generously showered the bridal pair as they left by car for Santa Clara, Calif., to reside. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. L. G. Hinkle, organist, who also played the traditional processional and recessional wedding marches.

The altar was decorated in a color scheme of white, bronze, and blue. In the background were two tall candelabra decorated in pom pom mums in those colors and brass candelabra were in the foreground. White tapers burned in each and were lighted by Clay Mitchell and Tom Whistler.

Bouquets of mums were at intervals among the Kommodore fern banked across the chancel rail to hold swags of white satin rope looped and tied in the center.

On the table in the foreground was a large white memory candle flanked by two lighted white tapers which the couple used to light the memory candle after the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Van B. Farley, of Odessa and given in marriage by her mother. Her gown of white satopeon was designed with a raised waistline and a slight sweep train. Narrow cuffs were on the full sheer sleeves. Scalloped Venise lace detailed the scooped neckline, cuffs, and hemline. Appliques of the lace trimmed the bodice and sleeves.

Mrs. Haley Haynes of Canyon, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The floor-length skirt of her dress was of brown peau de soie and the bodice of ecru lace over ecru organza. The long puffed sleeves had a narrow cuff. She carried a nosegay of the bronze and white mums with touches of blue.

David Shoemaker was the best man. Ushers were David Lee of Eldorado and Bill Turner of Dryden.

A reception in the fellowship hall followed the marriage ceremony.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Change. That's what it's all about this year. And that's what we mean by putting you first.

These are uneasy times. There are major concerns. About pollution. About safety. About the economy. About your hard-earned dollar. We know. For the past 10 years Chevrolet research people have questioned thousands of people on every subject from rising taxes to the size of the glovebox in their cars.

We've found that price and maintenance costs, trade-in value and quality have become tremendously important.

Your car has to work. It has to last. And each new model must have more built-in value.

At Chevrolet, we understand. You want meaningful change. And our aim is to give that to you, as you'll see in the 1971 Chevrolets.

Caprice. The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change.

Bigness in itself is nothing. But if it allows you to lengthen the distance between the front and rear wheels (which we did), then you've got something.

You've got a smoother ride. The idea in the 1971 Caprice was to give you the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, without asking you to pay anywhere near that much for it. And above all, to build in as much dependability and security as possible.

So we changed the body structure for 1971, too. We made it stronger. And we made it quieter by putting a double layer of steel in the roof.

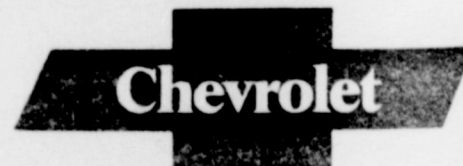

Caprice, as you can see below, is a lot of luxury at a Chevrolet price.

Vega. The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything.

Before building Vega, we read everything we could get our hands on about little cars. We talked to owners. We studied little cars up one side and down the other and, literally, tore them apart. We found out what made them tick, or why they didn't tick.

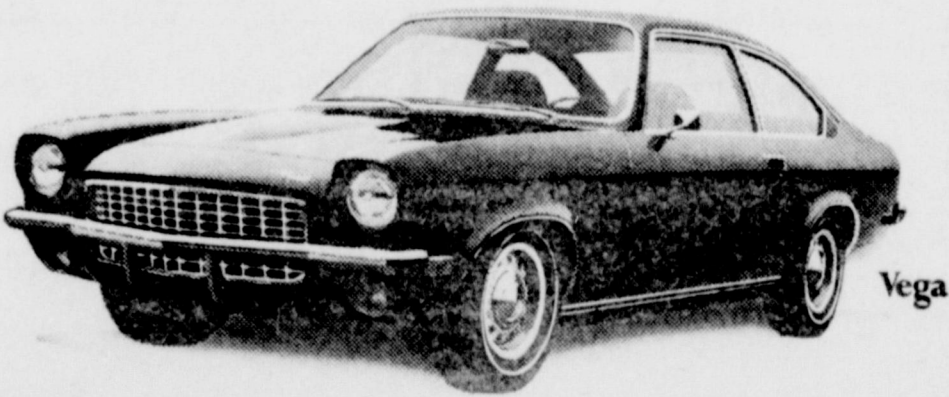

What ticked were gas economy and dependability. What didn't were underpowered engines, cramped quarters and getting blown around in the wind.

In our little Vega, everything ticks. It's not just another little car. You didn't want that. It's one little car that does everything well.
